Tidbits and News of Jewish Personalities
By DAVID SCHWARTZ

Goethe and Ochs

Goethe once sagely observed: Beware what you pray for in your youth. You will probably get it later in life—and then, well, it may not be so pleasing.

That was the thought. If you want the exact words, ransack the twenty or so volumes of his works.

But what I wanted to say is, that Mr. Adolf S. Ochs must be thinking along these lines just now.

The Price Goes Up

Mr. Ochs has increased the price of the Sunday Times to ten cents. Now, that is a very strange thing to do—particularly in times when we are told there is a depression in the land.

And the reason for the raise in price, I conjecture, is probably no less strange. Mr. Ochs wants to cut down a bit on the circulation of the Times.

And the reason for this, in turn, is the fact, that when you get above a certain circulation, it is next to impossible to increase the advertising rate, so that increased circulation, instead of meaning added profits, above a certain point, means more in the red ink.

In other words, there comes a time, when too much success can lead you to the poorhouse.

In the Old Days

Yet, Mr. Ochs can remember the time when he had to reduce the price of the Times to make a go of it. When he first took hold of the paper, some thirty or forty years ago, Ochs introduced any number of innovations to get it off the rocks.

Everybody applauded, but Ochs lost money.

The Times was then selling for three cents. While it was losing money, Mr. Ochs decided that maybe if he lost more money, he would succeed, so he cut the price of the paper from three to one cent. Immediately, the circulation of the Times jumped. It turned the corner to prosperity.

And now, the Times is getting even a little more circulation than Mr. Ochs prayed for in his earlier years. Still, in the present case, it is not so bad. It's easy to cut down circulation. It's quite another matter to build it up. And as long as the trouble is, too much circulation, why, I suppose Mr. Ochs will not worry very much.

It's the Other Fellow, Say Both

Speaking about the play, "Once in a Life-Time," work of a young Jewish boy, which is at present one of the hits of the stage, they say that Adolph Zukor and Samuel Goldwyn visited the show the other day, independently of each other.

You remember the show is a take-off of Hollywood, depicting the antics of the cinema barons.

Well, anyway, first, it is said, Goldwyn was seen coming out of the show. As he passed, he was heard to remark: "Say, it's a great show, but that character, Glagauer,—well, I feel sorry for Zukor."

Shortly after, Mr. Zukor filed out. As he passed, remarked:

"Say, that was a great show, but that character, Glagauer, well, I feel sorry for Goldwyn."

Condensation and Economics

There has probably been a library of books written on the Einstein theory. And yet Einstein presented the whole theory in about three pages of mathematical symbols.

USSISHKIN GREETED BY MAYOR WALKER'S COMMITTEE TUESDAY

Is "Grand Old Man of Zionism" and Head of Jewish National Fund

New York, Dec. 5—(JTA)—While Mayor Walker's committee and scores of prominent New York Jews stood on the windy deck of the Mocom, singing "Hatikvah," the Jewish National Song of hope, Menachem Ussishkin, called "the grand old man of Zionism," stepped from the Bremen on Tuesday and clambered down the side of a buoy, to be received literally in the arms of the welcome committee.

Rabbis, Zionist officials and municipal officials were waving American and Jewish flags. They cried, "Live! Ussishkin!" and the burly, 67 year old leader, was taken into the cabin of the official reception boat.

Inside, men and women were singing "Am Yisroel Chai!" (The Nation Israel Lives). Photographers called to Ussishkin to "greet America with a smile!"

"Let America greet me with a smile!" he responded.

Hon. Samuel Levy, member of the New York Board of Education, answered with the official smile, as head of the reception committee appointed by Mayor Walker. He made a short speech of welcome. Ussishkin responded in Hebrew, which was translated for the committee:

"This is not the first time I have had the honor of being on this boat. Ten years ago I came with a committee to America. I am glad that in America our welcome has not worn off."

Mr. Ussishkin referred to his presence here in 1921 as a member of a Zionist delegation, which included Prof. Albert Einstein, Dr. Chaim Weizmann and Dr. Shmarya Levin.

Menachem Ussishkin is President of the World Jewish National Fund, which is the organization of the Jewish nation, within the Zionist movement, for the purchase and holding of land in Palestine. The Jewish National Fund owns at present more than 300,000 dunams of land; it has done much draining and afforestation work. The land is given for use to settlers, but belongs in perpetual trust to the Jewish nation.

During his stay of several months here Mr. Ussishkin will consult with Zionist leaders and address many meetings to strengthen the work of the Jewish National Fund.

He is sturdy, and does not show his advanced years. A close-clipped beard emphasizes the round contour of his face. His eyes are blue, and remain wide open and quiet while he speaks.

His first concern was for news of Palestine. "I have been away two weeks," he said. "Has anything important happened?"

He was given the latest details, and then he was questioned in turn. "Of course there is absolute refusal among the Jews of Palestine to accept the White Paper," he said. "There will be no change from that stand."

He was greeted by Emanuel Neumann, President of the Jewish National Fund of America; Montrose Strassburger, assistant corporation counsel, and Bernard A. Rosenblatt, chairman of the New York Zionist Region. The "grand old man" admitted that his passage had not been of the best. "But I am feeling better," he said.

HADASSAH PRESENTS GIFT TO MR.-MRS. A. SILVERMAN

Presentation Made on Thirtieth Wedding Anniversary by Board Members

In appreciation of their untiring efforts in behalf of Palestine, the Executive Board members of the Providence Chapter of Hadassah presented Mr. and Mrs. Silverman with an English dinner-gong on the observance of their 30th wedding anniversary.

The members met at the home of Mrs. Archibald Silverman on Blackstone Boulevard, on Thursday afternoon to complete plans for the annual linen shower to be held Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 9, at Zinn's Banquet Hall, on Mathewson street.

SIR ISAAC ISAACS APPOINTED GOV. GEN. OF AUSTRALIA

Great Britain, for First Time, Gives Honor to Non-Protestant

London, Dec. 5—(JTA)—Sir Isaac Alfred Isaacs, recently appointed Chief Justice of Australia, was Wednesday named Governor-General of Australia. The appointment of Sir Isaacs marks the first time that a native Australian has been chosen for the highest office in the Dominion. Sir Isaacs was born in Melbourne in 1855.

This is also the first time that a non-Protestant has been selected as the representative of the British Crown in Australia.

JEW REFUSES TO SWEAR ON KING JAMES BIBLE

Philip Meirowitz, Witness in Anti-Trust Suit, Demands Hebrew Bible

New York, Dec. 5—(JTA)—Refusing to take the oath on the King James Bible, which is customarily used in court rooms, Philip Meirowitz, witness for Rabbi Moses Weinberg, Inc., in an anti-trust suit in the Federal Court against certain matzoh manufacturing companies, demanded that a Hebrew Bible be procured for him. Only after a Hebrew Bible was brought into court was Mr. Meirowitz sworn in and the trial proceeded again.

The suit was brought by the plaintiff company, which deals in matzoh and matzoh meal, against Horowitz Brothers and Margarten, Inc., B. Manischewitz Company and members of the three families, the plaintiff demanding $50,000 damages.

YIDDISH THEATRES TO CLOSE UNLESS WAGE CUT ACCEPTED

Nine New York Theatres Give Notice of 40 Per Cent. Wage Slash

New York, Dec. 5—(JTA)—Nine Yiddish theatres in New York will close on Sunday night unless their employees in all departments are willing to accept a 40 per cent. reduction in wages immediately. This was the ultimatum delivered by the managers of these theatres to the 700 members of the Jewish Stage Unions on Tuesday.

About 150 Yiddish actors are included in this ultimatum. The theatres which are threatening to close their doors are the National, Second Avenue, Folks, Public and Odeon in Manhattan; the Lyric, Roland and Hopkinson in Brooklyn, and the Prospect in the Bronx. Other unions who are affected by this ultimatum besides the actors, are those of the stage hands, musicians, doormen, ushers, dressers and chorus.

Jewish Reply to White Paper Condemns Many Misinterpretations

Misrepresentations of Mandate, False Views of Simpson Report, Modification of 1922 White Paper to Disadvantage of Jews

TEN PRINCIPAL POINTS IN JEWISH AGENCY'S DETAILED REPLY TO BRITISH WHITE PAPER

1. Claims Misrepresentation and Misinterpretation of Mandate.
2. Charges Modification, to Disadvantage of Jews, of 1922 White Paper.
3. Says False Impression Given of Findings of Simpson Report.
4. Claims Jewish Agency Discredited and Jewish Achievements Disparaged.
5. Denies Jewish Immigration Deteriorated Arab Position.
6. Questions figures on "Landless" Arabs, Rural Arab Population and Unemployed Arabs.
7. Criticizes Attack on Federation of Jewish Labor and Jewish National Fund.
8. Refutes Charge Jewish Immigration Causes Arab Unemployment.
9. Sees Arab-Jewish Relations Exacerbated.
10. Calls White Paper Unfortunate in Tone and Content.

London, Dec. 5—(JTA)—The Jewish reply to the White Paper, which was issued by the British government on Oct. 20th, and which aroused world-wide criticism, is contained in a memorandum which has been submitted to the British government. The memorandum, which constitutes the first official Jewish reply to the White Paper, has been prepared under the auspices of the Jewish Agency by Leonard Stein, well-known expert on Palestinian and Zionist affairs and former political secretary of the World Zionist Executive.

The document, which characterizes the White Paper as "unfortunate in its contents and not less unfortunate in its tone and outlook," criticizes the White Paper under the following five summarized headings:

"1. The White Paper misrepresents and misinterprets the Mandate.

"2. It lays down principles which, in vital particulars modify, to the disadvantage of the Jews, the policy embodied in the White Paper of 1922, and which are incompatible with the normal development of the Jewish National Home as contemplated in the Mandate.

"3. Though it purports to be based on the report of Sir John Hope Simpson, it gives a false impression of his findings on a number of important points, and, while emphasizing those features of the report which can be turned to the disadvantage of the Jews, fails to bring out the true nature of the constructive proposals which are the essence of Sir John Hope Simpson's final recommendations.

"4. While ostensibly designed to promote 'cordial co-operation between the Jews, Arabs and the government,' it loses no opportunity of introducing injurious, and in some cases quite irrelevant allegations, of which the effect, if not the purpose, can only be to discredit the Jewish Agency, to disparage Jewish achievements in Palestine, and to encourage the ill-disposed elements of the Arab population.

"5. Quite apart from its specific proposals (which are, indeed, so vague, confused and ambiguous that it is not easy to be sure of their precise significance), the White Paper is conceived in a spirit which is not that of a government seriously interested in the establishment of the Jewish National Home, and conscious of having in this regard responsibilities implying, not merely a reluctant and grudging acquiescence, but active and positive co-operation."

Mandates Body's Report Cited

After quoting the Balfour Declaration and statements by Lord Balfour, Lloyd George, General Smuts and Lord Robert Cecil on this document, all of them testifying that the establishment of the Jewish National Home was the main purpose of the Mandate, the memorandum takes issue with the contention of the White Paper that the policies it pronounced are based on the following recent statement of the Mandates Commission which the Commission conceived to be the essence of the Mandate that, namely,

"that the obligations laid down in the Mandate in regard to the two sections of the population are of equal weight; that the two obligations imposed upon the Mandatory are in no sense irreconcilable." While land and immigration bulk most largely in the White Paper, the obligations which the Mandate imposes upon the Mandatory power and which are of equal weight as formulated by the Mandates Commission are as follows: "(1) Placing the country under such . . . conditions as will secure the establishment of the Jewish National Home. (2) Placing the country under such conditions as will secure the development of self-governing institutions." From this the memorandum concludes that the quotation in the White Paper from the Mandates Commission's report is irrelevant and misleading.

Obligations Are to Jewish People

In this connection the memorandum points out that while Article 2 of the Mandate speaks explicitly of the "establishment of the Jewish National Home as laid down in the preamble," making a reference to the preamble essential to an appreciation of Article 2, the preamble explains that what is meant is "a National Home for the Jewish people." From this the memorandum draws the conclusion that the obligations undertaken by the British government regarding the National Home "are obligations to the Jewish people, and not, as might be supposed from various passages of the White Paper, merely obligations to the local Jewish inhabitants as one of the two sections of the population of Palestine."

The memorandum is also critical of the omission from the list of passages making "special reference to the Jewish National Home and to Jewish interests," of the most important of all such passages apart from the preamble, namely, Article 2, which opens by enjoining the Mandatory power to create "such political, administrative and economic conditions" as will ensure the establishment of the Jewish National Home. Article 2, the memorandum notes, is referred to only among those articles bearing upon the "safeguarding of the rights of the non-Jewish community."

The detailed reply to the government then goes into an analytic examination of the various articles of

One Out of Every Twelve Is a Jew

By MEYER LEVIN

Once more a Jew has won a Nobel Prize. Mr. Levin's pen portrait of the little known Dr. Karl Landsteiner reveals the genuine scientist whose discoveries have made him one of the world's benefactors.

His only recreation is a cigarette, his only interest is his work, his only desire is to make more discoveries about blood; if he knew something worth buying with the $48,000 given him as a Nobel Prize award, he would buy it, but as there aren't many things in the world that appeal to him—a wave of his small, nervous, but finely controlled hand. He will probably put the money into science.

That is Dr. Karl Landsteiner, this year's winner of the Nobel Prize for medicine. A scientist, and a Jew.

Dr. Landsteiner has for the past eight years been doing medical research for the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. Before that, for ten years, he was pathologist for the University of Vienna. He was not made a professor in Vienna, it was said, for the same reason that other famous scientists as Kraus, Freud and Ziele, though connected with the university, were not given full professorships. All are Jews.

Dr. Landsteiner will probably be dubbed by the press, now that his winning of the Nobel Prize has made his name one of newspaper importance, as "the blood-transfusion man." Among scientists, Dr. Landsteiner has been known for decades as one of the greatest living scientists. His work in determining blood-groups and his work in immunology rank among the highest achievements in modern science. His work in determining blood-groups made possible the wide practice of blood-transfusion which has saved thousands of lives during recent years. Through laboratory experiments, Dr. Landsteiner succeeded in the first stages of his work in dividing human blood into four main groups. This made blood transfusions possible to a certain degree of safety, as a transfer of blood between two people who were of the same "group" would be almost certain to "take." Before that, transfusions, if attempted, had been largely haphazard. If the transferred blood did not happen to be of the same kind as the blood of the receiver, it would not mix, and the transfer was a failure.

The day after his winning of the Nobel Prize was announced, Dr. Landsteiner had a little announcement of his own to make. His further experiments have enabled him to find about thirty sub-groups in the four main types of human blood. This will make transfusions possible with an even greater degree of certainty. It will also be a great aid to criminologists, and an aid in determining parentage.

At least half of Dr. Landsteiner's work, however, has been in another field. A follower of Pasteur, he has made many contributions to the science of immunology, developing toxins and antibodies to be used in fighting disease. He has made a study of the causes of paralysis due to the inflammation and atrophy of the gray matter in the spinal column, studies on periodic passages of the blood, and on syphilis.

He may even be popularly known as "the man who proved our grandfathers weren't monkeys," for in 1925, Dr. Landsteiner, together with Dr. P. C. Miller of the Rockefeller Institute, published the results of a comparative analysis of the blood of monkeys, apes and men. This investigation indicated that there was truth in the zoological thesis that man is not a "descendant" of any known species of ape or monkey, but that men, apes and monkeys are in the same group, and probably descended from a common stock. Their studies showed that there was closer relationship between men and apes than between men and monkeys or between apes and monkeys.

Dr. Landsteiner is the son of a poor Jewish journalist of Vienna. He was born in 1868. In 1891 he received the degree of Doctor of Medicine from the University of Vienna. His interests, however, were in medical research rather than in the practice of medicine. At the time of his graduation, the great Pasteur was founding the science of immunology. Young Dr. Landsteiner became absorbed in the study of blood. His work, though all in that field, was to follow two directions. The first was the biochemical analysis of blood. The second, his research in the chemistry of antigens, the substances whose presence in the system through the blood channels cause the formation of anti-bodies that are destructive to substances unwanted in the organism, such as disease germs.

For ten years he was on the faculty of the University of Vienna. For a number of years he was in Holland. In 1922 the Rockefeller Institute invited him to become a member of its Research Foundation. He came to America. He works in the Institute building on York avenue and Sixty-sixth street in New York City. He lives, with his wife and twelve-year-old son, in an apartment a few blocks away. That is so he won't lose time in getting to and from his laboratory. He is in the laboratory almost all the time, day and night. "In the summer," he says, "I go for a while to the coast."

Dr. Landsteiner is of medium height. His hair is grayish. He has an even, small mustache, also grayish. He speaks with the gentle, patient manner of a scientist who knows he cannot really make himself understood because it would "take a six months' course to explain" what he is doing; but yet who wishes at least not to be popularly misunderstood.

It is said that he left the University of Vienna because of the anti-Semitism prevalent at that institution.

The "man who made blood transfusion possible" is not the first Jewish scientist, curiously enough, to be awarded the Nobel Prize because of discoveries in regard to human blood. Dr. Richard Willstatter, of the University of Munich, received the prize in 1915 for his researches into the nature of chlorophyll, determining the nature of blood pigment.

Many other Jewish scientists and scholars have been the recipients of Nobel awards, which are universally regarded as the highest marks of honor to be won in modern civilization. The high percentage of Jewish winners is often pointed out as indicative of the generally exceptional quality of the "Jewish mind."

Albert Nobel, who made an immense fortune through the invention of dynamite, died in 1896. Through his will, he founded in Stockholm an academy with an endowment of about $9,000,000, the interest of which is distributed yearly in five prizes to those who have made the greatest contributions in physics, chemistry, medicine, literature and peace.

The first awards were made in 1901. Since then, about 150 Nobel awards have been announced.

The first Jew to win a Nobel Prize was Albert A. Michelson, physicist, known chiefly for his work in determining the speed of light. Prof. Michelson was born in Strebut, Prussia, in 1852; he has been for many years associated with the University of Chicago. He was awarded the Nobel prize in 1907.

In 1908, Dr. Gabriel Lippman, of Luxembourg, was awarded the Nobel Prize in chemistry for his discovery of the "interference method" of color photography. Dr. Lippman died in 1918. In the same year, Dr. Paul Ehrlich was awarded the Nobel Prize for medicine, chiefly for his researches on syphilis.

The Nobel Prize for chemistry was again awarded to a Jew in 1910. The recipient was Prof. Wallach of the University of Gottingen, who died in 1920.

Hitlerites Utilized Disunity of Berlin Jewry in Elections

Berlin, Dec. 5—(JTA)—Ten Jewish tickets were in the field for the election in the Prussian Jewish communities elections held recently. While the provincial Jewish communities in Prussia were united on one ticket in view of the serious situation facing the Jews because of the Hitlerite agitation, in Berlin the Jews had no such unity.

The chief split in Berlin Jewry was between the Liberal and National German Jews on the one hand and the Zionists on the other. "The Eastern Jews disgrace German Jewry," was what the German-born anti-Zionists claimed in their campaign speeches.

The split in the Jewish ranks was utilized by the Hitlerites who manifested their interest in the Jewish elections by supplementing Jewish posters with their own. The National German Jews, who were anti-Zionists, posted throughout the city streamers, which urged in heavy type to "vote German." To these posters the Hitlerites immediately added their own poster with Swastika signs saying, "Don't elect Jews at all."

The bitterness throughout the campaign between the various Jewish groups became especially noticeable at a Liberal meeting when Dr. Bernard Weiss, Vice President of the Berlin police, declared: "I had favored the naturalized Eastern Jews, but because they have now formed their own ticket I have changed my mind regarding their naturalization."

There were two Nobel Prize awards to Jewish scientists in 1911. They were Dr. T. M. C. Asser of Amsterdam, who wrote widely on economics and law, and Alfred H. Fried, of Vienna, who devoted his life to the study of methods for bringing about world peace. Dr. Asser died in 1913, and Alfred Fried died in 1921.

Prof. Richard Willstatter of the University of Munich, received the chemistry award in 1915 for his investigation of chlorophyll.

There was much resentment from the French when the Nobel chemistry prize for 1918 was awarded to Prof. Fritz Haber of the University of Berlin, for his work with ammonia gases, as Dr. Haber had discovered the processes for the German war gas machines. Scholars, however, regarded the award as just.

Prof. Albert Einstein, whom Bernard Shaw regards as one of the eight greatest scientists of all times, was awarded the Physics Prize in 1921.

The great French philosopher, Henri Bergson, was awarded a Nobel Prize in 1927. His theories, it is curious to note, are in contrast to those of Albert Einstein. "Only a Jew," it might be said, "can refute a Jew."

Jews Terrorized in New Disorders in Marmorosh

Bucharest, Dec. 5—(JTA)—Jews were terrorized and windows in Jewish houses smashed recently in Marmorosh, according to advices received here by Deputy Ilie Lazar from the editor of the Ujkelet, Hungarian-Jewish paper in Bukovina. According to the reports the Jews asked the prefect and the local gendarmerie for protection.

Deputy Lazar called on John Mihalache, Minister of the Interior, to ask that stern measures be taken to prevent any serious anti-Semitic outbreaks in Marmorosh which the Jews now fear. This fear is based on the fact that the renewed anti-Jewish agitation there is being fostered by the priest, Father Anderco, who exercises great influence.

RABBI AND SUNDAY SCHOOL PUPILS OF TEMPLE BETH-ISRAEL, PROV., VISIT TOURO

Accepting an invitation extended to him two weeks ago, when addressing the Newport community, Dr. Jacob Sonderling, Rabbi of Temple Beth-Israel of Providence, and approximately 50 children of his advanced Sunday School classes together with the parents of many of them, came to Newport last Sunday morning visiting the historic Touro Synagogue. Arriving at 11 o'clock, they were received at the Synagogue by Rabbi Jacob M. Seidel, Nathan David, Harry Teitz and Robert M. Dannin, officers of the Congregation Jeshuat Israel, the members of the Board of Education, including Elix Adelson, Dr. Samuel Nevelson, Morris Friedman, S. Friedman and Max Adelson. The Hebrew and Sunday School children, the Boy Scouts and Mr. Irving Warshawsky, Executive Director of the Jewish Community Center, were hosts to the Providence boys and girls.

Dr. Sonderling conducted Shacharis service with a group of his Bar-Mitzvah boys and at the conclusion of the service addressed the attendance with a great feeling for the privilege to pray and meditate in the Holy Shrine, the first Jewish religious edifice founded by the first Spanish and Portuguese Jewish settlers in America. His address of religious inspiration was listened to very attentively by the Sunday Schools of the two congregations and was highly appreciated by those present.

Rabbi Seidel greeted Dr. Sonderling and the visitors, expressing his admiration and gratitude of listening to the pure religious teachings of a great teacher in Israel, stating that it was indeed an inspiring event which Newport will never forget.

After the singing of traditional hymns and the closing prayer by the children of the United Hebrew School, the visitors had luncheon in the auditorium of the Community Center. Dr. Ilie Berger, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Temple Beth-Israel, expressed his appreciation and gratitude for the reception accorded the visitors. Dr. Sonderling extended a personal invitation to the Congregation Jeshuat Israel to visit Temple Beth-Israel in the near future.

Following the luncheon a visit was made to the Touro Cemetery to view the historic ground in which are the remains of Jewish pioneers, patriots, soldiers and philanthropists and about whom the immortal poet Longfellow wrote, "On Top of the Hill." The Hon. William Payne Sheffield delivered an address on July 4, 1876, as follows: "Let no vandal hand of desecration ever be laid upon the Synagogue or that grave yard, but let them remain, and keep preserved forever, as venerated memorials of a frugal and useful people, who in their day and generation contributed to the prosperity and renown of Newport."

Among the visitors were Dr. and Mrs. Ilie Berger, Mr. and Mrs. David Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. John Lisker, Mr. and Mrs. David Genser, Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Goldenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Chusmir, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bojar, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Shoham, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lemchick, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Rakatansky, Mr. and Mrs. David Tversky, Mr. and Mrs. Kivah Bazar and Mrs. Samuel H. Ernstof.

J. C. C. SENIOR ORCHESTRA

The Jewish Community Center Senior Orchestra is now resuming its rehearsals and promises to be bigger and better. Captain John Fisher, Bandmaster at Fort Adams, is again in charge of the orchestra. Invitations are extended to those wishing to join, for examinations which are held Thursday evenings from 7 to 8 o'clock.

TEMPLE BETH-ISRAEL

SERVICES

Services will be held this Friday evening at 8:15. Dr. Sonderling will speak on "The Question of Unemployment."

BRIDGE

A complimentary bridge was held by the Sisterhood of the Temple on Monday evening. Mrs. Samuel Shanbrun was chairman of this affair. After the regular monthly meeting of the Sisterhood, all the women gathered in the Vestry, where a most enjoyable evening was spent at bridge.

NEWPORT TRIP

Sunday morning a very fine delegation of Religious School pupils journeyed to Newport to visit the Touro Synagogue. Upon arriving there Dr. Sonderling together with the Bar-Mitzvah boys held a most impressive service. The Rabbi of the Touro Synagogue addressed the many children of Temple Beth-Israel together with their parents and the children of the Newport Synagogue.

After the service the entire group lunched at the Jewish Community Center of Newport.

The grave yard of the Touro Synagogue founders were visited.

WARBURG SEES HOPE FOR N. Y. COMMUNITY CHEST

New York, Dec. 5—(JTA) — Felix M. Warburg, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies, speaking before a luncheon of the business men's Council of the Jewish Federation at which Catholics and Protestants participated, urged the co-operation of all faiths in the fight against unemployment "without reference to color, race or creed."

In introducing the various non-Jewish speakers, Mr. Warburg said: "The presence of these gentlemen here gives us hope that some day we may see a real community chest in New York, in which all denominations will join in raising all funds needed for New York City's philanthropies. It is my hope that out of such meetings as this a real community chest will grow."

Take all the time you need for Christmas Shopping . . .

Right now you are probably planning your housework to give as many spare moments as possible for Christmas shopping. And it's mighty hard if you have to be home early every day to cook dinner . . .

But the lucky housewife who has a new Automatic Insulated Glenwood Gas Range can take all the time she needs for shopping. She puts the dinner in the oven, sets the clock control, and leaves for the afternoon—or for all day. She knows that when she returns, everything will be "done to a turn," just as if she had been there to attend to it.

There are many other reasons for the marked preference for the modern Glenwood, such as:

- HEAVILY INSULATED OVEN
- AUTOMATIC HEAT CONTROL
- CLEANLY CLOSED COOKING SURFACE
- ATTRACTIVE ENAMEL FINISH (in colors if desired)
- SPEED AND ECONOMY IN OPERATION

Stop in and let us tell you about our liberal trade-in allowance. No obligation—it's a pleasure.

NO FURTHER INTERPRETATIONS

Rabbi Wise may be well justified in his impatience with the continual and muddling restating of the meaning of the British White Paper, and every Jew who feels for the future of Zionism would certainly repeat the sentiment of "no further interpretations," but insist on that course of action which would seem to carry out the provisions of the Balfour Declaration. Yet, at the present time, it is vital that we hear and understand more interpretations, so that the path Zionism is treading may not be strewn with brambles and bloodshed.

In England the administration of Premier MacDonald is confusing and uncertain. There the imperialistic opportunism of the nineteenth century has begun to strut without too much good for the Jewish interests in Palestine. One cannot hope that the British policy of opportunism will perish until there are no more Jews or Arabs or Hindus. The admittance of fifteen hundred Chalutzim to Palestine is only a gesture, and to take it more seriously were to invite a ridiculous optimism. In other words, England is bent on pacifying the Jews and the Arabs; and it seems almost futile, since one act of favor toward one merely excites the antagonism of the other. England's policy is a dangerous one. She cannot lead the Jews by the nose too long, and her recent attempts to do so have not inspired much confidence in her retractions and her modifications of the White Paper.

At the same time, there is a more serious danger among the Zionists themselves. It has always seemed a pity that all Jews could not have followed a sensible and uniform line of endeavor toward their end in Palestine. The division in their own ranks is not only pathetic, but it is harmful. Now the Revisionists are threatening to leave the World Zionist Organization unless they can force their idea of a Jewish Commonwealth on the others. Conditions indicate that the Revisionists may carry the next elections. This in its turn would mean that these men would negotiate with the British government to a greater extent than at present. Considering that their aim is to refuse negotiations on the basis of the present White Paper, and that they strenuously oppose conferences with the Arabs, who would defeat the purposes of a Jewish Commonwealth, we may look for an even more complex situation in the affairs of Palestine.

New land laws are being seriously considered for future promulgation, and the tallest straws point in the direction of the great powers of the High Commissioner to regulate land sales, with the consequence that the mandatory policy will dictate the new land policy of Palestine. All these facts show that very much more interpretation will have to be given to past and present statements, if the Zionists are to know whether their work is worth the effort or not. One decision of Great Britain to disregard the Jewish interests means a colossal failure in the colonization of Palestine. That must not happen! We must exert power to comprehend the situation in its entirety, and to press to the last extremity those forces that would defeat the ideal of our Jewish Homeland. We can do that only by mastering the facts, their implications and their indications for the future. We cannot afford to be blind. We must study more and more the incessant interpretations of this great problem of Palestine!

Tidbits and News of Jewish Personalities

By DAVID SCHWARTZ

I am beginning to think that Einstein must have, to an unusual degree, the faculty which this indicates, the knack of condensation.

The other day, Einstein was quoted in some interview to the extent of about four sentences on economic matters. I do not recall the exact words, but it was something to this effect: Invention and machinery have made it so that there is enough now for everybody. There is no reason why anyone should be in want of the necessities of life.

I think that about sums up the whole question of economic reform as sanely as it can be done. That is all one needs to know. The Utopians, the Socialists, the Single Taxers, all may be wrong, but they are right in this extent: That machinery and science have so multiplied the effectiveness of the worker, that there is plenty to go around for all today,—and here exists amidst such potential abundance no excuse for unemployment, hunger or lack of the necessities of life.

Quite Another Matter

He is a Rabbi and he can take a joke on himself. He tells this one, which I think is a little too good to be true.

One day, after he had delivered what he thought was a very excellent sermon, he was met by a member of his congregation:

"Say, you know Doctor, I couldn't sleep last night, after hearing your sermon."

The Rabbi was delighted. "Well, my sermon gave you much food for thought."

"No, it wasn't that," said the member. "You see, when I sleep during the day, I can't sleep at night."

Frohman and Greeley

New York Thespians are giving a dinner this week to Daniel Frohman on the occasion of his fifty years of work for the Actors' Fund. Frohman can't seem to get away from the theatre. He even lives in one—at least over one, for the flat in which he dwells is ensconced at the top of the Lyceum Theatre.

But Frohman has, to me, another distinction. As a youth, he was of fine boy to Horace Greeley.

Greeley, as you recall, besides being a great editor, is said to have possessed the worst handwriting that mortal man has ever achieved, indeed, his handwriting in certain respects even eclipsed the Einstein theory, for only two people beside young Dan could make out Greeley's writings whereas no less than a dozen, we have been told, understand relativity.

I wonder if young Dan was in the office of Horace Greeley that day when he sprang the delicious anecdote about—

Well, it was this way. A representative of some missionary society asked Greeley for a contribution to help save souls from hell.

Greeley pounded with his fist. "I won't give a cent, sir—not a cent. There are enough people going there now."

Women Are Masochists

And funny thing is, the next day four thousand women attended his concert, and says the newspaper, "gave him an unenthusiastic reception."

Yet your thousand women came and paid admission, which proves the point, which I have long maintained that the fair sex have a strong masochistic instinct, that you can get along slightly better with them by mixing a little bitters with your honey.

I would not go so far as to indorse Mr. Nietzsche's observation: "When thou goest to a woman, take thy whip with thee."

I will merely content myself with saying that Nietzsche was quite a philosopher.

Letters to the Editor

THE NATIONAL FARM SCHOOL

Editor of Herald:—

The National Farm School, a philanthropic-vocational institution, located on over twelve hundred acres of land, near Doylestown, Pa., is offering a limited number of free scholarships to needy city and town boys, for the new term opening April 1, 1931.

The scholarships include tuition, board, room and books for the three years' course, and are open to husky, alert boys, throughout the United States of 17 to 21 years; best moral character; physical and mental fitness; completion of at least nine years of school work,—three or four year high school students being preferred. The lad must show a real inclination for agriculture and outdoor life. An honest intention of making agriculture his vocation is a fundamental requirement.

Buildings and equipment are modern. There are ten farms systematically laid out. The faculty of expert teachers gives classroom and laboratory instruction, and training on the farms in practical agriculture, including such specialties as dairying, poultry raising, orcharding, horticulture, floriculture, landscape gardening, etc. A farm mechanics' building, recently erected, provides instruction in machinery, electricity, woodworking and he many other mechanical and repair jobs always necessary on the up-to-date farm. Adequate provision is made for recreation and athletics. Character building and the moral well-being of students are carefully looked after, the aim being to develop upstanding, intelligent citizens and farmers.

Worthy boys in your district will probably wish to enter the competition for one of these scholarships, and you will favor them, and us, if you will help publicize this valuable offer in the newspapers in your locality, through your house organ, on your bulletin boards, or other announcements.

We shall be pleased to forward to you, or to interested lads whose names you may send us, further details and application blanks, upon request.

Asking your co-operation in bringing this opportunity to the attention of worthwhile lads, and thanking you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

HERBERT D. ALLMAN.

(Editor's Note:—To any one interested in the above school, The Jewish Herald will be pleased to give further information).

MT. ARARAT TRANSFERRED TO TURKEY BY PERSIA

Jerusalem, Dec. 5—(JTA) — Mt. Ararat, where Noah's Ark came to rest after the deluge had ended, is changing hands, it is reported. The Persian government is understood to have agreed to the inclusion of Mt. Ararat in Turkish territory in exchange for a strip of Turkish land on the southern frontier.

This step is a sequel to the recent Kurdish insurrection in that region where the rebels took refuge on Persian soil. Hence Turkey has requested the Persian government to consent to an exchange of territories.

Reject Bank for Arabs of Palestine

Jerusalem, Dec. 5—(JTA) — The proposal to create in Palestine a government agricultural bank to aid the Arab fellaheen is emphatically rejected by Claude F. Strickland, British expert on rural economics, in his report on agricultural and co-operative conditions in Palestine made public here recently.

M. Strickland, who last July visited Palestine on the invitation of the Palestine government to study the economic position of the fellaheen in order to instruct the district office about objects and methods of co-operative credit, declares he was deeply and immovably convinced that an agricultural bank dealing on a small commercial basis with the small Arab farmers would be the greatest evil any government could introduce, because proper supervision is impossible, repayment would be reluctant and the resultant sale of lands would be unpleasantly frequent.

Such a bank existed before, Mr. Strickland points out, but was closed by the former High Commissioner, Sir Herbert Samuel, thus becoming one of the main points in the anti-Zionist propaganda of the Arab leaders. They claim that the bank would be of relief to the Arab peasants. Strickland's report also outlines various schemes for aiding the fellaheen with government credits and relief of their debt burdens.

During his visit to Palestine, Strickland expressed admiration for the Jewish co-operative societies. He said, however, that while the Jews are able to finance their co-operatives from their own means, it would be necessary for the government to establish co-operative credit systems for the Arabs.

CABINET NOT UNITED ON PALESTINE QUESTION

London, Dec. 5—(JTA) — No united front exists among the members of the British cabinet on the Palestine question, declared Lady Passfield, wife of Lord Passfield, British Colonial Secretary, in an address before the Fabian Society, the old London Socialist Club, of which Bernard Shaw, Sidney Webb (now Lord Passfield) and his wife were the founders.

Lady Passfield said that a strong difference of opinion prevails among the members of the cabinet. Reviewing the present political activities of the Labor Cabinet she avoided dwelling much on the Palestine question, although she did say it was one of the most troublesome problems facing the government.

A calendar tea will take place in January to conclude the membership campaign, which is now going on. Mrs. Morris Sydel is the chairman.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Philip C. Joslin, program chairman, presented Mr. Daniel Jacobs, who gave an interesting talk on origin and beauty of Jewish music and its composers. He stressed and illustrated the similarity of hymnal music with our own Yigdol. Mr. Jacobs also emphasized the beauty of ancient architectural structures, telling of a beautiful Cathedral in Spain, which was once a Jewish Synagogue, built by the Jews, but had to be abandoned during the Spanish Inquisition and turned into a Catholic church. In conclusion, Mrs. Joslin presented Miss Selma Silverman, who rendered a group of piano selections. Her technique and artistic ability, together with her poise and charming personality, made these renditions, entertaining.

Reception Upon Confirmation Held for S. Fishbein

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fishbein Entertain as Seventh Son Is Bar-Mitzvah

A banquet was given Sunday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fishbein at Zinn's Banquet Hall, in honor of the Confirmation of their seventh son, Samuel. Nathan Fishbein, one of the sons, acted as toastmaster.

The Confirmand delivered an excellent speech on his emancipation, swearing allegiance to the Mosaic Laws, promising to honor his parents, friends, race and country.

Rabbi Samuel Cohen, his tutor, followed with an inspiring talk upon the greatness of the Jews, their extreme loyalty and sincerity. He said in part: "In illustrating that, we need have no fear that our children will fail to carry on the faith." He mentioned the fact that at the time he was teaching the son of Louis Fishbein in preparation for his Confirmation, he was also teaching the grandson, and that with such evidence of faith and sincerity, there can exist no danger to Judaism.

The guests entered into the spirit of the occasion and contributed considerably to the entertainment. Both Jewish and popular English songs were given by Mr. Yale Winer, Nathan Fishbein, Mrs. Max Levy and Mrs. Harry Weiner. Miss Sarah Goldblatt sang several selections which were very well received.

Over one hundred relatives and friends attended from Boston, Hartford, New York, Philadelphia and this city.

Jr. Hadassah of Pawtucket - C. F. Holds Meeting

The Junior Hadassah of Pawtucket and Central Falls held an interesting meeting Monday evening, Dec. 1. Miss Korenbaum gave a report of the New England Regional Convention held at Hartford, Nov. 16. She told of the great honor tendered the Pawtucket Chapter by electing the President of the Chapter, Miss Gertrude Friedman, as one of the Vice Presidents of the National Organization. Miss Korenbaum resigned her position as Recording Secretary to become Cultural Chairman. Miss Madeline Bogan was elected Recording Secretary. The season's cultural program will start with a Hebrew class, a history and literature class, and a discussion group. The Cultural Fellowship, an honorary society of the Junior Hadassah, will be a later step in the cultural program.

Miss Hannah Goldberg, Boston attorney and President of the Boston Chapter of the Junior Hadassah, gave a most inspiring talk on the subject, "Henrietta Szold, Founder of the Hadassah." Her talk was especially appropriate since this month marks both the 70th birthday of Miss Szold and the 10th birthday of Junior Hadassah. Miss Goldberg told of Miss Szold's work in Palestine and left the organization with the message to carry on the work that Miss Szold has started.

A GRATIFYING RESPONSE

The Women's and Y's Sponsoring Committee are busily engaged this week in interviewing prospects for membership in the Center and also in interesting persons in the lecture and concert course. Through the efforts of these committees, about 30 new members have been enrolled. Miss Edith Greenstein and her committee has also done excellent work showing a net record of 38 members. Thus the Center membership is destined to reach a new high peak unprecedented in the history of the Center.

There is a remarkable enthusiasm around the building and now that the Community Fund Campaign has been successfully completed, there is nothing in the way of development of a fine program.

WELCOME TO THE CENTER

We take pleasure in welcoming the following new members in the Center, and we know that they will enjoy being part of us. We have found from experience that once a member, a person is always a member. The names follow:

Senior Women, Mrs. Jeanette Neinchel, Lillian Weiner, Blanche Basle, Annette Cohen, Jenny Cohen, Sylvia Snow, Charlotte Snow, Pauline Bernstein, Sylvia Kroll, Ruth Clamon, Dorothy Slocum, Kate Slocum; Family, Mr. and Mrs. Max J. Klein; Intermediate Senior Men, Morris Simon, Samuel Speigle, Edward Berger, William Lipson; Intermediate Boy, Julius Haft; Full Intermediate Boy, Hyman D. Stein; Intermediate Girls, Nancy Garfinkle, Rose Chermick, Frances Ackerman, Eva Smith; Midget Boys, Nathan Schwartz, William Goldstein; Midget Girls, Ethel Chermick, Frances Chermick and Fannie Mittleman.

WE NEED BOOKS

Our remark about interesting Jewish books has probably been overlooked, because we have received no offer of contributions. Jewish books are a vital interest in the Center and if you are one of those who would like to send us some books, please do so, or call Dexter 6730.

The following books are especially needed: The Story of the Jew (Levinger), The Jewish Encyclopedia, Justice to the Jew (Peters), The Jews of Today (Ruppin), Jewish Life in Modern Times (Cohen), Fiction, God of Might (Tobenkin), The Jews of Russia and Poland (Friedlander), Changing Conceptions in Jewish Education (Gamoran), History of Jews in Russia and Poland (Dubnow), Theodor Herzl (Neumann).

JEWISH CENTER RELIGIOUS SCHOOL ELECTS OFFICERS

The first meeting of eighth grade graduating class of the Jewish Community Center Religious School was held in the class room on Nov. 16. The following were elected as officers:

President, Stella Simons; Vice President, Sydney Koret; Treasurer, Herman Lantner; Secretary, Celia Kapelow; Corresponding Secretary, David V. Brazner.

Plans were made to do intensive studying under the direction of Mr. Maurice Austin.

DR. SCHWEFEL TALKS

Dr. Louis J. Schwefel of Washington addressed a large audience Sunday evening at the Jewish Community Center, on the subject, "A Jewish Glimpse Into the Nation's Capitol." Dr. Schwefel described the official and social life of leading Jewish persons in Washington.

Dr. Schwefel strongly opposed the plan of 13 months instead of 12 in a year. This plan would not only affect the economic condition of the country, he declared, but also seriously interfere with the practice of the Jewish religion, particularly in its application to the observance of Sabbath.

Dr. Schwefel's address was the first of a series of lecture and concert programs to be conducted at the Center during the winter. After his talk a discussion was held, during which he answered questions.

ORCHESTRA TO ORGANIZE

The Jewish Center Orchestra will be organized this Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The following instruments are needed: Viola, saxophone, clarinet, cornet, drum, trombone and cello. Persons interested in joining

The following vocation classes are now in progress: Art metal, charcoal, hand-painting, creative art, drawing and sewing. All of these classes are open to children and there are special classes in these subjects for adults.

EDITOR FINED FOR CALLING MINISTER RACIAL ANTI-SEMITIC

Vienna, Dec. 5—A fine of 1000 shillings or 14 days in prison was levied on the editor of the Vienna Allgemeine Zeitung in the local court recently for calling Franz Hueber, Minister of the Interior, a "racial anti-Semite." M. Shreiber, counsel for the Allgemeine Zeitung, was fined 100 shillings and severely reprimanded for seeking to introduce into the record newspaper articles purporting to show that Hueber is an anti-Semite.

Both the paper and Schreiber have appealed the verdict to a higher court.

The next meeting of this lodge will be held next Tuesday evening, Dec. 8th, at 8 o'clock at Eagles' Hall. At this meeting the second nomination of officers will be taken up. A large attendance is expected.

A word for our membership drive. Our quota will be reached soon and if you have any friends of Jewish parentage, between the ages of 18 and 40, of good moral character, have them sign an application blank at once.

If you will explain to them the many advantages of affiliating themselves with a real Jewish organization, such as our Pension Plan, our liberal mortuary plan, our sick benefits and our many social activities, they will be more than pleased to join.

The slogan during the drive should be, "Every member bring in at least one member."

The program that is being laid out for 1931 is one full of pleasant surprises. The main idea is to have every meeting so interesting and so beneficial, that every member will be present to partake in the activities.

Everyone up on his toes for 1931—Let's go!

District 6 Makes Plans for Dance

District 6 of Y. M. and Y. W. H. A.'s of New England will hold its annual mid-winter dance at the Narragansett Hotel in its beautiful Crystal Ballroom, Thursday evening, Dec. 25.

District 6 affairs have long been known as the mecca for hundreds of guests from many New England cities, including Boston, Worcester, Brockton, Fall River, Woonsocket, Taunton, Newport and other communities. This year, especially due to the fact that the dance is being held in one of the finest places in Providence, it is expected that the attendance will be even larger.

During the past season District 6 organizations have shown a fine growth in activities. A large number of full time executives are being added to the organizations thus resulting in enlargement of the programs of activities. Fall River only recently appointed Mitchell Sherman as its executive director. The executives in other cities are: Irving Warshawsky, Newport; Esther Pollen Morris, Brockton, and Jacob I. Cohen, Providence.

Saul E. R. Feinberg, acting chairman of District 6 and also chairman of the dance, promises one of the finest

RAP EINSTEIN ON EVE OF VISIT TO UNITED STATES

Berlin, Dec. 5—(JTA)—On the eve of Prof. Albert Einstein's departure for his second visit to the United States, the anti-Semitic press ridicules the intense interest Americans have manifested in his forthcoming visit. Prof. Johann Stark, Hitlerite theoretician, alleges the existence of an advertising firm that has manufactured dolls portraying Dr. Einstein in full dress, a fiddle and a sailing boat.

Prof. Stark also terms Einstein's theory of relativity unproductive and complains against appraising Einstein above Newton and Kant.

GERMAN HIGH COURT RELEASES TWO ANTI-SEMITIC LEADERS

Berlin, Dec. 5—(JTA)—The highest German court recently ordered the release of M. Wule, anti-Semitic leader, and Father Muenchmyer, who had declared that "a Jewish republic deserves a Jewish president." The reference was to President von Hindenburg.

Student at Temple Beth-Israel Writes Essay on "Mzuza"

The following essay was written by Hilda Pritsker of 142 Eaton street, a 12-year-old Pre Confirmation student at Temple Beth-Israel:

THE MZUZA

As you enter the home of a Jew, you notice as you step on threshold, a piece of tin or perhaps wood. What is this tin? Oh, yes, it is the Mzuza. What is the Mzuza? It means, "And thou shalt love; and thou shalt love." Have you ever heard more precious and more impressive words than, "Thou shalt love." It is a mere piece of paper, but, oh, how important it is to us. Without its meaning there would be no love; the world would be full of hate; even the mother would hate her children. How precious the Mzuza is!

I am going to relate a story in which a Mzuza played the most important part in a man's life. True, it was Mr. Wan, who had cheated him out of his last $5000 and his mind was full of hatred and a thirst for revenge. Without giving a thought to his pleading wife, who had begged him to go to Mr. Wan and talk it over, to explain the situation, he rushed to his room and loaded his revolver and he started for Mr. Wan's office, with the intention of killing the man who he hated. He reached for his hat, and as he did so, a small bit of flashing tin caught his eye. What was it? "Ah, the Mzuza," he said. "I have never read the Mzuza. I think I will. I have time. He does not leave his office until 5. It is 2 now." So he opened the piece of paper, which was in the Mzuza. What were those big black letters standing out, so boldly against the others. Oh, yes, "And thou shalt love, and thou shalt love." Then his heart softened. He thought of this awful deed of hate he was going to do. "I think I will take my wife's suggestion." So he went to Mr. Wan's office and explained his situation, and how he was going to kill him and then how the Mzuza saved his life and how now his heart did soften. After listening with eyes full of tears, he returned Mr. Soff's money and with feverish excitement, he cried, "Man alive, bring me a thousand Mzuza." These two men are now the closest friends, and prosperous, too. Now you may see the sign which says, Wan & Soff Co. And never yet has there been a closer brotherhood as exists between those two men.

The Mandate of which the White Paper offers an interpretation. It finds that the last part of Article 2 by which the Mandatory power is "also" made responsible "for safeguarding the civil and religious rights of all the inhabitants of Palestine irrespective of race or religion," has no bearing on the proposals with regard to land and immigration lengthily discussed in the White Paper. Noting that the words used are "civil and religious rights," and pointing out that no question of religious rights enters, the memorandum argues that as regards "civil rights" it cannot be seriously contended that the "civil rights" of any inhabitant of Palestine include the right to be provided by the government with land or with employment, or the right to require the government to take any particular action with regard to land settlement or immigration. It contends that since no inhabitant of Palestine enjoys, or has ever enjoyed, any rights of this kind, "it is impossible to construe the Mandate as requiring the Mandatory to safeguard rights which have no existence."

YIDDISH THEATRE TO CLOSE UNLESS WAGE CUT ACCEPTED

The intended reduction is aimed at the stage hands, who are said to receive the highest wage, according to one manager, who said that in some theatres the actors have already taken a voluntary reduction with the promise of a return to normal scale as soon as business has improved.

It was also stated that conditions in the New York Yiddish theatres are worse this year than ever before, in spite of the fact that the price of tickets has been reduced. Cheap prices charged by neighborhood movie houses, unemployment and the fact that Jewish audiences are more and more turning to the English-speaking stage of Broadway are adversely affecting the Yiddish theatre, it was stated.

SECOND SHOLOM ASCH WORK OFFERED BY SCHWARTZ

New York, Dec. 5—(JTA)—"Uncle Moses," the second offering this season of the Maurice Schwartz Yiddish Art Theatre, was given its first performance on last Friday evening. Written by Sholom Asch, it is the third novel of his to be presented in dramatized form on the Yiddish stage this season, the other two being the "Witch of Castile" and "The Chair." "Uncle Moses," which is in ten scenes, tells of a manufacturer who has brought over most of the people of his native town in Russia to work for him. For the sake of his career he neglects to marry until he nears the age of 50, when he marries a young girl. His wife leaves him when gangsters, whom he has employed, suppress a strike led by her old sweetheart and Uncle Moses is in the end crushed by fate.

Maurice Schwartz takes the leading role in "Uncle Moses." Others who play important parts are Lazar Freed, Joseph Buloff, Anna Appel, Stella Adler, Shulamith Posner, Betty Faurkauf and Wolf Goldfaden.

Miss Harriet Blankstein of 26 Adams street was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Day of Boston, Mass.

NEWS OF INTEREST TO MEN

COLLEGE — COUNTRY CLUB — SPORTS

R. I. State College

This Wednesday evening will witness the opening game of the Inter-Fraternity Basketball League. It promises to be a hectic struggle, because there is keen rivalry on the campus to wrest the trophy from Alpha Epsilon Pi. The various fraternities have been practicing for the last two weeks, and the opening games should find the teams in mid-season form. However, A. E. Pi has no intention of releasing its grasp upon the "mug." Most of the veterans of last season's championship team are back in school, and are sure to present a formidable combination.

Among the men practicing with the team are George Friedman, Ossey Hyson, Mort Grossman, Harry Kelfer, Mitch Gertz, Arky Brososky, Micky Fleisher and Sam Stien.

Jack Anhalt is manager of the team and is laying out a strenuous set of training rules.

The Freshman basketball team is slowly but surely taking shape. Our prediction that Sam Myers and Blondy Golden would make the first team is rapidly being realized. Sam and Blondy are both holding down the forward positions with ease. Lou Friedman and Abe Dashoff are two other Jewish boys who are on the squad and give promise of breaking into the lineup quite a few times during the coming season.

The Beacon Board held their election of new members last week and the following men were selected:

Sam Stien, sports editor; Jack Savran, news editor, and Mort Grossman, business manager.

All three men have worked with the paper during their Freshman year and are doing fine work in making the publication a success.

J. T. A. SPORTS DEPARTMENT PICKS ALL-JEWISH FOOTBALL TEAM FOR THE SIXTH TIME

After ransacking the country for Jewish players, seeing games, consulting football coaches, scouts and fans, your correspondent is for the sixth year still willing to take a chance and sets down here what he believes is the best All-Jewish All-American team that could possibly be gotten together. He is of the humble opinion it is a darned good football team—Jewish or otherwise.

There it is—start to tear in now. For the next three weeks I'll print as many letters as possible in which the writer is anxious to inform me of my inability, inefficiency and general fund of misinformation, but before you grab your pencil, look these teams over.

The first eleven, you will find, to be a well-balanced, speedy, powerful team. The bulk of the line, consisting of Sington, Bromberg, Schneider, Obst and Samuels, are already choices on either an All-American or "All" sectional team. I challenge you to find me a line that can charge as hard, pile up as efficiently and fight any better than this one. Here are five players, any one of whom can back up a line on the defense, break through to slow up the interference, split a tackle and get down under kicks. On the offensive a backfield could ask for little more than to have this line hold off the charge and act as interference. The wingmen on the first team are an experienced pair that can't be sucked in by the opposing side on a lateral or boxed out of the play on an end run. Both boys are good receivers and deadly tacklers.

The second team line is not far behind in efficiency. They are really a replacement team rather than a second. A trifle slower they nevertheless could fill the gaps without effecting the team's play as a whole.

The backfield quartet catches my eye. Newman, a certain All-Conference choice for a quarterback, a great passer, kicker, good broken field runner and a cagey signal caller; Schwartz, a likely All-American selection, one of the great backs of the season, who can skirt an end, slice off tackle, plunge through a line and who is a demon on the defense. Wolff is a fine interference back, a well rounded out player. Grossman, who has starred these past two years, is one of the truly star backs of the season. He does everything, kick, pass and run, a triple-threat man, who is high up among the scorers of the East. The second team backfield is a perfect one to step into the game to relieve the first stringers. Goldenberg is nearly as valuable a player as Newman, while Fishel, a Sophomore, is one of those boys that is always good for a few yards every time he tucks a ball under his arm. In Eliowitz and Handelman you have two smashing players who are fine defensively and great interferers; if they have any weakness it is in carrying the ball.

Among the backs mentioned for honors you find Kaplan of Notre Dame, who could make any other team in the country as a regular. Dubinsky of C. C. N. Y. in the past season scored more points than any other player in the history of that college. Horowitz of Chicago, playing on a weak team, did yeoman service. Perrish, a Sophomore, is another youngster that showed his worth.

I'll save all further remarks and comments for the deluge. After all the less you say the less that can be said about it. Keep your shirt on!

WORKERS ARE TAXED FOR JEWISH PHILANTHROPY DRIVE

Montreal, Dec. 5—(JTA) — The Montreal Branch of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union announced that it had assessed its members two dollars annually per man and one dollar per woman as a contribution to the $300,000 campaign of the Montreal Federation of Jewish Philanthropies which opens next week.

ON THE FAIRWAYS AT THE LEDGEMONT COUNTRY CLUB

ARTHUR BASOK

One of the greatest things that the members of Ledgemont should remember, is to build up, not only the physical appearance of our course and club house, but the spirit of friendship and good fellowship. It is worth more to have a feeling of genuine friendship among our members in a little hut than to have a palatial building with the members jealous of one another and knocking every man that attempts to do his bit in making our club a better club.

Remember it is our object in this world to build up; build up the club, to build up friendships, to build up happiness complete!

The fellow who knocks, destroys; the fellow who talks behind another's back, is unfair; the fellow who lies, demoralizes society.

Let us get together and build up. A BUILDER-UP IS A BOOSTER. He praises and boosts those who are handling the executive affairs of the club. Don't hesitate to compliment your fellow member on his work. The greatest happiness is in making others happy, and the man most boosted is the man who boosts the most. Be a Booster! Build Up Friendship, Build Up Business, Build Up Happiness Complete! Be a Booster! Together—Brothers.

Jake Fogel of the class of 1874 and his classmate, Mr. Dix, of New York City, played 27 holes on Sunday.

Congratulations to Norman Silverman, son of our fellow member, Archibald Silverman, for his excellent scholastic standing at Brown this year. Nice work, Norman, and we hope that you will play golf this coming season and rate among the players of Class A standing. It can be done. "Ask Dad, he knows."

Where is Henry P. F. Stern of N. Y., our associate member, keeping himself these days?

Your correspondent has a very bad cold. They say that "spirit frumenti optimo" is very good. Attention, Doctors!

Sol "Ponzi" Rothstein, the boy with financial sagacity, who made good. He's the baby that tells you when to buy stocks, but where, oh where, is the bird who tips you off when to sell them?

Now that Rabbi Gup has closed his golf season, he has mapped out a great spiritual program to run until July, 1931. All members of Ledgemont are cordially invited to attend the Friday night services. Will the following members please take notice:

Johnny Ahearn, Anatole Coutu, Simeon Lavigne, Dick Bauer and Vincent Sorrentino.

The writer will be there, but will the dear Rabbi tell us why his program runs until July when we early birds start to hit the pill in March?
