Tidbits and News of Jewish Personalities
By DAVID SCHWARTZ

Intermarriage

If one may believe a report that comes to my ears, the recent wedding of Minerva Aaronson, the New Haven Jewish girl, to the son of John Raskob, did not take place without some strenuous objecting.

And strangely enough of the objections I hear, came from the poor Jewish family. Their objections were, of course, based on the religious differences. The Aaronsons, I understand, are Orthodox Jews, and felt that the union of Orthodox Judaism and Catholicism boded no good.

In at least two conspicuous instances the objections to such unions, are more pronounced on the Catholic side. The case of Irving Berlin is a notable instance of this. The MacKays, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding, have never forgiven Ellin for wedding the song writer.

A similar unyielding attitude was taken by the parents of the Catholic wife of the late Houdini. It was not until twelve years after their marriage, that the parents of Houdini's wife permitted him the hospitality of their home. Houdini's mother, on the other hand, although the wife of a Rabbi, cheerfully welcomed her Catholic daughter-in-law.

Don't Talk—Telegraph

Talking about Houdini, reminds me or a story that is told of the great wizard. As is well known, the domestic life of the Houdini's was unusually happy—one long, protracted romance.

But on one occasion, the two were at some party, and Mrs. Houdini became unduly loquacious. Houdini smilingly winked to his wife to keep still. But a woman is a woman. Finally Houdini excused himself from the home, returning some ten minutes later. In another ten minutes, a telegram arrived addressed to Mrs. Houdini. She opened it, and read: "You are talking too darn much." Signed, Your loving Harry.

A Pleasant Little Racket

The news just announced that visas to America would not in the future be granted to Polish citizens marrying Americans, will put an end, in my opinion, unfortunately, to what had become in a mild form, a racket. Undoubtedly many Polish Jews married Americans merely for the opportunity provided of leaving Poland for America. A considerable number of American Jewish girls made capital of the opportunity, it has been charged, of getting a husband in that fashion.

I don't know how much truth there is in the charge, for the fact is, that the girl in America stands a far better matrimonial chance here than in Poland or any other part of Europe. America is the only land where there is actually an excess of men over women.

Go West, Young Woman

I know that my statement will be challenged when I say there are more men in America than women, but if you do feel in the challenging mood, just consult the World Almanac. In the East and possibly in the larger cities of the West, you will find there is a slight excess of women over men, but this is more than offset by the sparser populated sections of the West, where there is a preponderance of the male of the species.

The woman who doesn't like her matrimonial chances should take Horace Greeley's advice and "Go West," according to statistics.

DELEGATION ASKS JOBLESS AID OF PRESIDENT HOOVER

Group Is Comprised of Prominent Educators, Church Leaders and Public Officials

Washington, Jan. 30—(JTA)—Rabbi Edward L. Israel, Chairman of the Commission on Social Justice of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, Rabbi Abram Simon of this city, Rabbi Samuel S. Mayberg of Kansas City, Robert P. Goldman of Cincinnati and Maurice Bisgyer, director of the Washington Jewish Community Center, were among the members of a committee which saw President Hoover and asked him to take certain steps to remedy the unemployment situation in the country.

The committee was composed of economists, educators, church leaders, public officials and representatives of capital and labor, who met here recently under the auspices of the three religious groups to discuss the unemployment problem. Prof. Jacob H. Hollander of Johns Hopkins University presided at the second session of the conference. At the concluding banquet, Rabbi Israel was one of the speakers.

The delegation to the President was led by Rev. R. A. McGowan, Catholic; Rev. James Myers, Protestant, and Rabbi Israel. Among the suggestions advanced by the group to Mr. Hoover as a cure for unemployment were: A higher wage scale, shorter work days, expanded bank credits and a co-ordinated program of production. It was explained that the purpose of the conference was "to focus the conscience of the nation on the necessity for permanent prevention of unemployment."

J. C. C. PLAYERS TO APPEAR SUNDAY AT JEWISH CENTER

Mrs. Samuel Starr, Well-Known Coach, Directs Cast; Three Plays to be Presented

The J. C. C. Players will make their first appearance this season in an attractive program of three one-act playlets, entitled "When the Whirlwind Blows," "What They Think" and "Money."

MRS. SAMUEL STARR

"Money" is a drama by Michael Gold, in which the author has depicted the Jewish immigrant. A very interesting complex sociological problem makes the play "Money" unusual.

"What They Think" is a playlet of an entirely different character and deals with two youngsters who hear their parents in a quarrel about their children. The dialogue is crisp and clever throughout.

This event is being offered free to holders of membership cards including every group, except Juniors and Midlets. Non-members admission is fifty cents. The cast of the J. C. C. Players includes:

Lillian Greenberg, Evelyn Siegal, Anna Schwartz, Ethel Schwartz, Harry Seegal, Minna Udinsky, Robert Mushnick, Edward Kleiner, Nat Roy, Leo Cohen, Ira Blum and Raymond Muffs. Mrs. Samuel Starr, who has successfully directed so many plays in this city, is in charge. Howard Pressel is supervising the construction of the scenery. The J. C. C. Concert Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Lewis, will render a musical program before and during intermission.

The curtain will rise promptly at 8:30 and the audience is requested to be prompt. To avoid confusion at the door, members are requested to kindly show their membership cards.

Senior members especially are urged to attend this affair, which has been purposely set for Sunday evening, in order to give many of the adult members an opportunity to witness the fine work done by this organization.

LEAGUE MEETS

The members of the ten affiliated societies that make up the Providence League of Jewish Women's organizations held their annual meeting Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Narragansett Hotel. Officers were elected and installed by Mrs. Ely Feibelman, President of the Boston League of Jewish Women's Organizations who was the guest of honor.

Mrs. Archibald Silverman, founder of the Providence organization three years ago, gave the principal address. Mrs. Alfred Fain, President of the League since its beginning, presided. Mrs. Benjamin Kane was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Archibald Silverman Takes Prominent Part at Jewish Agency Meeting

500 Delegates Launch Campaign for $2,500,000; Resolution Presented by Mrs. Silverman Unanimously Accepted

New York City, July 30—(JTA)—Mrs. Archibald Silverman, who has been very active in Zionist affairs, took a most prominent part in the proceedings of the first independent campaign of the Jewish Agency in America, which got under way at a meeting of five hundred delegates from all parts of the United States on Sunday at the Hotel Biltmore. Mrs. Silverman was elected Honorary Vice Chairman of the Administrative Committee of the campaign. The quota of $2,500,000 was set during the all-day conference as the objective of an immediate drive for funds, to be known as the American Palestine Campaign conducted by the Jewish Agency for Palestine. This sum was said to be the minimum budget necessary to save the work in Palestine from collapse.

Dr. Cyrus Adler, presiding at the conference, allayed the fears of those of the delegates who felt that the "psychology of defeatism" brought on by the White Paper on Palestine would prove an impediment to the success of the fund-raising campaign. Dr. Adler stated that the negotiations now going on between the British government and the Jewish Agency for Palestine would result in a document that would "mitigate the effects of the White Paper and remove the fears which the paper created." It was remembered that a like statement had been made by another member high up in Agency councils at the conference a few weeks ago of the English Zionist Federation.

Rothenberg Named Chairman

Morris Rothenberg, appointed chairman of the campaign, declared that the quota could be reached by July 1. He emphasized the statements made by all other speakers, picturing the alarming lack of funds in Palestine, and declared that in his ten years of experience of fund-raising for Palestine he had never known a crisis when the need was so urgent as at the present time.

Although the number of registered delegates was put at 500, the meeting hall was crowded to capacity all through the day, so that the total attendance through the morning and afternoon sessions was estimated at one thousand. The sessions were extremely orderly and business like, and the whole proceedings characterized by an atmosphere of determination.

Melchett, Straus, Seiling Mourned

The delegates unanimously adopted a strong resolution to support the campaign. A resolution in tribute to leading Zionists who have died recently, which followed an eloquent talk in the memory of Lord Melchett, Nathan Straus and Ben. Seiling, delivered by Rabbi David De Sola Pool, was adopted by a standing unanimous vote.

After a resolution to appropriate $50,000 for the settlement of Jewish Legionnaires in Palestine had been tabled, Mrs. Silverman presented a substitute resolution on the floor of the conference, which was unanimously accepted. The resolution asks for $50,000 after the quota of the Jewish Agency campaign has been reached.

The honorary chairmen of the campaign, selected by the committee on nominations are: Felix M. Warburg, resigned chairman of the Administrative Committee of the Jewish Agency; Dr. Cyrus Adler, chairman of the Provisional Committee of the American members of the Jewish Agency; Dr. Stephen S. Wise, and Judge Julian Mack, honorary chairman of the Zionist Organization of America.

Dr. Frankel is Treasurer

The chairmen of the campaign are: Morris Rothenberg, Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland, Nathan Straus, Jr., and James Marshall. The treasurer of the campaign is Dr. Lee K. Frankel.

The central organization of the campaign is to be guided also by an administrative committee, a board of directors and a group of honorary vice chairmen.

New York City to Raise Million

The report of the committee on quotas was adopted by the delegates. Among the assigned quotas to be raised in the campaign, the highest is that of $1,000,000 for the city of New York. The states of Illinois, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts are next, with quotas of $200,000 each.

WALTER I. SUNDLUN ELECTED JEWISH ORPHANAGE HEAD

Miss Matty L. Beattie Speaks on Rhode Island Child Welfare Work

Mr. Walter I. Sundlun was re-elected President at the annual meeting for the election of officers and directors of the Jewish Orphanage of Rhode Island, which was held Sunday afternoon, Jan. 25th, at 2:30, in the Gymnasium of the Home. Mr. Archibald Silverman, long a President of the Orphanage, conducted the installation of the following officers in his usual interesting style:

Mr. Philip C. Joslin, Vice President; Mr. Benjamin W. Grossman, Second Vice President; Mr. Milton Sulzberger, Treasurer; Mr. Samuel I. Mamis, Secretary; Mr. Myer Millman, Financial Secretary; Colonel Joseph Samuels and Mr. Maurice Karpeles, Honorary Vice Presidents for one year.

Members of the Board for three years, Sol S. Bromson, Morris Espo, Mrs. Harry Gony, Joseph Koppelman, Samuel Markoff, Samuel Soforenko, Benjamin H. Trinkel and Arno Wrzlowsky.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. C. Joseph Fox, for many years Vice President of the Orphanage, who reviewed the recent history of the Orphanage, and alluded to the fine work done by the recent Superintendents.

Miss Sally Workman rendered "Rachem" of Mana Zucca in a style that made it both an opening prayer as well as a musical selection. Later Miss Workman sang two very fine selections, of which the effect was greatly enhanced by the excellent accompaniment of Miss Marion Grossman.

Miss Matty L. Beattie, Executive Secretary of the R. I. Children's Friend Society, gave an interesting address on "Child Welfare in Rhode Island." Rabbis Israel M. Goldman and Samuel Gup attended the meeting and spoke of the transformation made at this Orphanage from an Institution to a Home. The reports of officers and committee chairmen disclosed a most successful year under the direction of Dr. L. B. Wolfenson. The complete picture showed that the children have been kept well and happy, with normal education and recreation.

The hall was especially decorated for the occasion, and the stage set for a playlet, "Courtesy," by the Girl Scouts of the Home, which was directed by Mrs. Charles Bojar, the Scout Leader. As the scene of the playlet was that of a living room of a home, the appropriate decorations and furniture gave the bare Gymnasium a decidedly home-like appearance.

President Walter I. Sundlun pointed out that, like the Chinese, efforts have been for the physicians to keep the children well and not have illness to cure.

Friction? Yes, But the Kind That Is Productive

"I don't know of a solitary detail in the present arrangements requiring a change, nor do I know of an additional feature that would strengthen the present program in the slightest degree," said Bernard M. Goldowsky, to a representative of The Jewish Herald, who inquired if there was anything new to report pertaining to the annual ball of the Zionist District of Providence, scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 24th.

"I have been asked by several persons," Mr. Goldowsky said further, "how it is possible to make a profit on a ball that is burdened with an expensive ballroom and two orchestras, especially when one of them is Morey Pearl's and under the leadership of Morey Pearl himself. My answer is 'Friction.' In other words rubbing a highly entertaining and popular feature against the single dollars of thousands of patrons will produce the spark known as 'Success.' This is an age of mass production and one must necessarily swim with the tide or sink, and it certainly doesn't require the mathematical genius of a Professor Albert Einstein to arrive at the logical conclusion that it is more advantageous to entertain 5000 persons at one dollar each than 1000 at $2.50 each. My only worry at the present moment is the fact that the capacity of the Arcadia Ballroom is only 5000 and with such a wonderful offering at a single dollar admission thousands will have to be turned away.

"The dancers will dance to their heart's content to the continuous music of twenty talented musicians, but what of the aged Tattes, Mammes, Zeides and Bobbes whom General Oldage or Monster Rheumatism robbed of their waltzing or Kossatzky days?"

"For them we have private boxes from which they will be able to watch with comfort and glee their children or grandchildren glide over the highly polished floor of the ballroom or listen to the enchanting music.

"And where in your state are there to be found Yiddishe kinder who would deny their aged parents or grandparents—even their mothers-in-law, the pleasure of such Simcho?"

"Finally, let me say, if there are those who are inclined to doubt the authenticity of my statement regarding the recent beautiful renovation of the Arcadia Ballroom, the manager, the genial William H. Hall, will gladly demonstrate the truth of my assertion to any interested person or persons who will apply to him at his office in the Arcadia building any Wednesday, Thursday or Saturday evening.

Batchelor's Gives History of Ginger Ale Establishment

Batchelor's Bottling Works, Inc., was founded by Amos Marshal in 1878. The capacity output at that time was approximately 600 cases a year, which is equivalent to a three-hour production of the present Batchelor plant. In 1897 the business was transferred to G. Frank Batchelor, who conducted it until 1909. The establishment was then taken over by William A. Batchelor, who has guided its destinies up to the present time.

Since 1909 the name of Batchelor has become known throughout New England as a Guarantee of Purity and Unsurpassed Quality in Bottled Sodas. Today Batchelor's is the largest and most modernly equipped plant in this vicinity. Strict sanitary conditions prevail and not a hand touches a bottle during the entire bottling process.

All water used is purified by oxidation.

Batchelor's products include Ginger Ale, Pale Dry and Golden, Ace Ginger Beer, Concord Grape, Fruit Orange, Sarsaparilla, Orangeade, Kola, Orange Dry and Lime in Family Size and Green Bottles.

Batchelor's Inc., are located at 80 River street, Woonsocket.

or not I am the only raisin in the lockshen kugel arises in the minds of many persons. In other words, am I running this show alone or are there committees to assist me in that colossal task, because thus far I have mentioned no one else. Let me say that names of members of committees mean nothing in my sweet life unless their owners render the required service. Hence although I am from Alexot and not from Missouri I have to be shown first and now that the following named have already demonstrated to my entire satisfaction that they are diligent and conscientious workers they have been placed on the honor roll as follows:

"Souvenir Journal Committee, Mrs. Ilie Berger; Associate Chairman Mrs. Jacob Ernstof, Mrs. Samuel E. Ernstof, Mrs. Morris Feinberg, Mr. Jonas Goldenberg, Abraham Heller Mrs. Harry D. Jagolinzer, Mrs. Samuel Michaelson, Mrs. Morris Sheer Mrs. Morris Shoham and Mrs. Herman Swartz.

THE SYNAGOGUE AND JEWISH SOCIAL WORK

At the recent Reform Union Conference in Philadelphia, at which were present such distinguished men as Ludwig Vogelstein of New York, Judge Horace Stern of Philadelphia and Dr. Edward E. Mayer of Pittsburgh, a symposium on "Judaism as Expressed in Life" revealed some well-known but interesting facts regarding us Jews in our present communal life. We are familiar with the marked cleavage between our Synagogues and our social work, and the separation between religion and philanthropy among Jews. Yet, few of us have realized as seriously as these men do that these cleavages are harmful.

Today, in Providence, for instance, when a drive is made for general Jewish welfare, there are numerous organizations that repeat and confuse the same work because of a lack of coordinated effort among all the Jews of one community. A few Jewish leaders do most of the work, and the rest are content to emphasize and prolong those differences among them that spring from the artificial conditions of a previous kind of life. In the final analysis, these men find that the Synagogue has ceased to be the center of communal life, and they believe that it should resume that position among Jews.

Judge Stern wisely condemns the mediocre lectures, concerts, debates and the like, which have no definite Jewish value, and which have become so important a part of the average Synagogue program to the exclusion of an emphasis on local and national charities, local and national education et cetera. Where to draw the line is, of course, a problem. But the battle for reform is begun when a community attempts to establish its Synagogue or Temple as a communal center, and not just a place to meet a few times a year, or if one Rabbi is lucky, on occasional Friday nights.

The proposal of Dr. Mayer that a National Council of Social Religion be established to get the program on foot was well received, and should be entertained carefully in all our large cities. In our city, the first thing to do would be to forget religious cleavages among the Jews, and to join the Temple, the Synagogue or the Center where one could do the most for a Jewish social religion. Here one could do Jewish things for Jews in a Jewish way. One could remember finally, that all Jews belong to the same brotherhood, not only in theory but in practise as well, and that when a Jewish need or joy is felt, it should be shared equally by well-ordered, equalized and well-organized communal organizations. Let us belong to some organization; but let our hearts be in it, as well.

Tidbits and News of Jewish Personalities

Actually, whether it would be good strategy, to take the Western trip, I do not know, for while the proportion is in her favor in the West, the possibilities of meeting people may very likely be greater in the heavier populated zones.

Fur and Philosophy

Alfred Lief, the versatile young scribe who recently gathered together in two thick volumes, the dissenting opinions of Justice Holmes and Justice Brandeis, is now at work on another collection. He proposes to collect the Zionist utterances of Einstein, and the great savant has given Lief access to his papers for that purpose.

While Lief thus busies himself in these intelligentia opuses, for his bread and butter, he holds down a prosaic editorial job—that of editor of a trade journal—"Fur Age."

Hecht on Zionism

While, thus, we are soon to have an Einstein volume pleading for Zionism, several other Jewish writers have joined the forces of the Arabs—at least, to the extent of attacking the philosophy and practice of Zionism. Among others, I refer to Ben Hecht, who in his book just out, "Jew In Love," makes his central character take a few hard slams at the Zionist ideology in which "damn" and a few even more high-powered expletives are vented on the Palestine idea.

I don't know whether these utterances of Hecht's central character echo the opinions of Hecht himself. Perhaps they do; Hecht seems to be constitutionally opposed to anything involving an ism. Thus the same central character of Hecht's delivers a few wallops at a number of the other "idealisms."

Hate and Achievement

There is just now a play on Broadway—Philip Goes Forth, is its name, in which the flocks of the young who come to New York to achieve fame in the various artistic fields are advised to save their train fare and stay home. Writing and painting and arts generally, the play more than hints, are gifts, which few have, and most of those who come, intending to storm the citadels of art are doomed to disaster.

There is a good measure of truth in this, of course. I cannot help but think, however, of a recent utterance of F. P. A., the Jewish columnist of the New York World, who attributed much of artistic production to hate rather than to natural genius or talent.

In other words, many achieve great things in the literary and artistic world merely because they are resentful of the skepticisms of others about them. The hate, that this skepticism generates in their system, acts upon them like a drug, giving them no rest, until an accomplishment is to their credit, before which their critics must bow the knee.

The classic example of this is, of course, Napoleon, who could not bear the manner in which the more fashionable colleagues of his military school looked down on him. Sigmund Freud is said to have been led similarly to the study of medicine by the resentment aroused in him by some acquaintance who said that Freud could never make a doctor.

Making Pilpulistic Popular

It appears that my request of Editor Slomovitz to define the word "pilpulistic" was anticipated by the Detroit journalist, who had already been attracted to the idea and had written an editorial on the subject.

Slomovitz agrees that the future of the word seems very roscate. I trust we shall not be mistaken in our predictions. It is a great word and let no one mistakenly believe that words are unimportant. A new word means a new idea. And a word such as "pilpulistic," if it became an active phrase of the vernacular might in time produce a miniature revolution in our mental world. And what word is so characteristically Jewish as "pilpulistic?" How better then can we promote the Jewish influence in America than by fostering the use of that term? I should like to organize a "Society for the Promotion of the Word Pilpulistic," and I nominate as its first President, Assistant District Attorney Stone of Boston.

GEORGE SIDNEY THIRTY YEARS A COMEDIAN

George Sidney, appearing with Charlie Murray in Tiffany's "Caught Cheating," a comedy, now being shown at the Victory Theatre, is a product of New York's East Side. His father was a shoemaker, and while young Sidney put in many hours in his father's little shop, he established his independence at the age of 14 when he secured a job in a pawn shop. He was paid the stupendous salary of a dollar and a half a week, dreaming, meanwhile, of owning a shop of his own some day.

It is about thirty years since he first began to develop his theatrical leanings by occasionally appearing at Miner's Bowery Theatre on amateur nights and winning the barrel of flour or ton of coal. Between his amateur appearances at Miner's and other theatres along the Bowery, Sidney worked in a hat factory.

He made his first professional appearance one night at the Harlem Museum, along with another adventurous youth named Lou Heyman. Just before they went onto the stage the manager asked them how they wanted to be announced. It was then that Sidney George reversed his name and became George Sidney.

ATTRACTIVE BOXING CARD ON FRIDAY AT LOCAL ARENA

Promoter Sam Price, who will stage the Con O'Kelly-Michele Bonaglia 10-round heavyweight tilt at the Providence Auditorium Friday evening, announces that the card will consist of 36 rounds of boxing. Billy Lynch and Eddie Holmes, rival Providence lightweights, are down for 10 rounds. In a six-round contest, Paris Apice of Providence and "Whitey" Hurwitz, Boston junior lightweight, collide. They fought a sensational draw on the Fuller-Montreal card.

Price is busy lining up a four-rounder and a six-round match. Bonaglia is the European light-heavyweight champion and will be making his American debut in the O'Kelly contest. Bonaglia has stopped 50 per cent of his opponents. He was born in Turin, Italy. The latest foreign sensation to arrive here, Bonaglia is expected to wade through the heavyweight division. He is under the management of Phil Buccola, prominent Boston importer of European fighters.

O'Kelly holds wins over Ernie Schaal, Al Friedman, Joe Monte, Jimmy Maloney, Jack Gagnon and other stars. The Cork Irishman has met the leading heavyweight and is a real test for any big fellow.

The Billy Lynch-Eddie Holmes 10-round battle should provide plenty of thrills. The two are bitter rivals. Lynch went the route against Sammy Fuller and seeks a return battle with Fuller. If he wins decisively over Holmes he will land a March date with Fuller at Providence.

Ladies' Auxiliary, Jewish Orphanage, Installs Officers

Mrs. Milton M. Fuld Re-elected President; Dr. and Mrs. Wolfenson Commended on Work

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Jewish Orphanage took place at the Orphanage on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 27, at 2:30 o'clock. The following officers were re-elected:

President, Mrs. Milton M. Fuld; Vice President, Mrs. Peter J. Woolf; Treasurer, Mrs. Isaac Rose; Financial Secretary, Mrs. Irving Forbstein; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Herman H. Schwartz; Assistant Secretary, Mrs. Harry Guny.

The installation of officers was conducted by Mrs. Isaac Woolf, who gave a most illuminating talk on the early history of the Orphanage and the organization of the present Auxiliary. Mrs. Wolf was presented with a corsage of roses.

Mrs. Milton M. Fuld, President, gave an annual report, outlining the work of the Auxiliary during the past year. The finances of the Auxiliary are in excellent shape, and because of the reduction of the membership dues to $1 per year, owing to the joining of the Orphanage in the Community Fund of Providence, the scale upon which the Auxiliary has been able to operate, has been somewhat reduced. Many interesting and valuable meetings have been held at the Orphanage, the girls serving refreshments.

The newly organized Troop of Girl Scouts, in which the older girls of the Home are included, served refreshments after the playing of bridge.

The increased home-like spirit and Jewish conditions created by Dr. and Mrs. Wolfenson, who have been in the Orphanage just a year now, were pointed out in the reports.

Zionist News

Mordecai Bunim to Address Zionists

Mr. Mordecai Bunim, one of the well-known speakers of the Zionist group from Palestine, will be the guest of Providence Zionist District on Saturday evening, Jan. 31st, at Zinn's Banquet Hall, Mathewson street. This will be in the form of a M'Live Malke with Mr. Bunim as the speaker of the evening. Many Providence Zionists will doubtless recall the speaker and the fine impression his talk made at his opening of the campaign in Pawtucket about three months ago. As Mr. Bunim will leave for Palestine in a few weeks, this may be the last opportunity Rhode Island Zionists will have to listen to him. Besides the speaker, a fine program of entertainment has been arranged by the committee, which includes Mr. Joshua Bell (chairman), Mrs. Morris Sheer, Mr. Morris Constantine, Mr. Morris Shoham and Mrs. Morris Shoham (secretary).

Mr. Constantine will read from Sholom Aleichem. There will also be a surprise performance of sleight-of-hand card tricks by a young man who is quite surprising in his ability to deceive the eye.

Refreshments will be served at nominal cost and a truly fine time is promised. All Zionists will be at Zinn's at 8:30 o'clock on Saturday evening.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a cap-shape veil caught with lilies of the valley and carried a bouquet of brides' roses. The maid of honor, who was Miss Mildred Nadell, a sister of the bride, wore a gown of turquoise blue crepe. The best man was Mr. Max R. Siegal of Providence.

Guests were present from Providence, Worcester, Boston, New York and Connecticut.

Upon their return from a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Goldblatt will make their home in Providence.

NEAR EAST SURPRISED ZIONISTS FAIL TO USE CERTIFICATES

London, Jan. 30—(JTA)—Intimation that the White Paper, and Britain's restriction of Jewish immigration to Palestine, saved the Jewish Agency from admitting itself to be unable to carry on an immigration movement is made in the latest issue of the Near East magazine. "Although it was known that Zionist funds were depressed, it is most surprising to find that the Jewish Agency is unable to utilize the 1500 immigration certificates now available," says the Near East in an editorial on Palestine.

The Near East points out that the indignation of world Jewry against the suspension of immigration to Palestine was quickly succeeded by the lament that funds were lacking when, after the issuance of the White Paper, 1500 certificates were granted, and it became necessary to transport 1500 chaltzim to Palestine and to settle them there.

"It is possible that in the future the opinion may arise that the Mandatory's restriction of immigration prevented the Jewish Agency from stultifying itself," says the Near East

THEY CONQUER

The Compinsky Trio, consisting of Sara, Alec and Manuel Compinsky, presented an excellent musical program last Sunday evening at the Center. This was the third event in the lecture and concert series, and every one seemed to be pleased with the affair. The next event in this series will be given by Dr. Samuel Schmalhausen, famous psychologist, who will discuss, "Is the Normal Mind Sane?" Sunday evening, Feb. 8th.

GOOD START

Last Wednesday evening a group of singers gathered under the direction of Mr. Lewis and formed the Jewish Center Glee Club. This group is composed of adults and any person who will like to join is welcome to come next Wednesday evening. In the near future, this group will present a concert together with the recently organized J. C. C. Concert Orchestra.

HEBREW CLASS

A large group has registered for the Hebrew Class, which meets every Tuesday evening, under the direction of Mr. Samuel Cohen. A few more applicants will be accepted. If interested, call Dexter 6730.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING

The meeting of the staff, teachers and leaders of the Jewish Community Center, held last Sunday afternoon, was a success. A large group attended a joint meeting, which was held with the Associated "Y." Short talks were given by Miss Dora Bazar, Miss Selma Katz, Stanley Korb and Nathan Pass. Isaac Kibrick of Brockton and Joseph Bower, Field Secretary of New England, spoke in behalf of the Associated "Y." Samson Nathanson, Milton Sapinsley and Samuel H. Workman spoke in behalf of the Center Board.

At 6:15 a buffet supper was served and later the group adjourned to attend the Compinsky Trio concert. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Miss Gertrude B. Tarnapol, assisted by Esther Bilgor, Rose Singer, Claire E. Greenstein, Anna Freedman and Mrs. Max Tarnapol.

CONTEST WINNERS

In the waltz prize contest, recently held for Juniors and Intermediates, Max Feldman and Beatrice Mittleman won first prize and Irving Schaefer and Lillian Filler won second prize. Every Thursday afternoon a group of high school boys and girls come to the Center to spend a pleasant social hour. Any boy or girl between the ages of 14 and 17 is cordially invited to attend. A Purim masquerade for this group will be held Thursday afternoon, Feb. 26th. Prizes will be awarded for the best costume.

CURRENT EVENTS CLASS TO CLOSE

Rabbi Morton Goldberg will be the last speaker at the Jewish Current Events Class next Monday evening. This will complete a series of eight talks arranged by the Center with leading Rabbis. Last Monday evening Rabbi Samuel M. Gup of Temple Beth-El gave an interesting account of the recent convention of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. A discussion followed Rabbi Gup's presentation of this subject. Refreshments were served following the meeting through the courtesy of Mrs. Samuel Korb.

BROCKTON "Y" TO PLAY

The Brockton "Y" basketball team is coming to Providence Saturday evening, Jan. 31st, to meet the J. C. C. Varsity team. Last Saturday the boys acquitted themselves in fine manner by giving the Worcester "Y" a decisive trouncing.

Y. W. H. A. NEWS

The regular monthly meeting of the Y. W. was held Wednesday evening, Jan. 21, in the form of a Dutch Supper. The hungry crowd invaded the auditorium at about 6:30 and was confronted by three long tables attractively laid out with beautiful heavy brass candlesticks at the ends of each table. And what a supper! Between courses entertainment was furnished by Miss Dorothy Silverman, who rendered three vocal selections, and Rose and Fae Miller, who danced a soft shoe, waltz clog and military tap number.

After the supper Evelyn Greenstein gave a very enjoyable reading. This was followed by a most interesting and amusing talk by Miss Lydia Mason, who told of the customs and habits of the Italians, with whom she lived for a number of years. A short business meeting followed the entertainment.

Those in charge of the evening were Miss Evelyn Greenstein, hostess for the evening, assisted by the Misses Eva Kominsky, Evelyn Simons, Madeline Perlow, Ethel Scoliard, Helen Sapsowitz, Edith Greenstein, Esther Bilgor, Jean Rosen and Sarah Engel.

Rose Miller, publicity chairman, announces that Edith Sheffers will assist her in her work.

The Sisterhood of Temple Beth-El is sponsoring a Congregational Social to be held on Wednesday evening, Feb. 4, at 8 o'clock, in the Vestry of the Temple.

The entertainment will represent a day's program with the radio television in 1952, as follows:

Selonek; Producers, Mrs. Samuel Starr in co-operation with Mrs. Maurice L. Fox.

Due to the limited accommodations, admittance is restricted to the members of the congregation and their immediate families.

JR. HADASSAH ANNUAL EVENT IS BRILLIANT SUCCESS

One of the most brilliant events of the social season was the annual affair of Jr. Hadassah in the form of a cabaret supper, which was held Wednesday evening at the Providence Biltmore Hotel.

Over two hundred and fifty couples danced to the music of a very fine orchestra from 9 to 1. Supper courses were served between cabaret performances, which were of the highest variety.

The committee in charge of the event is to be commended upon the finesses with which everything was arranged, making this the outstanding event of the Jewish social season and one of the most successful affairs that the Providence Unit of Junior Hadassah has ever held.

Alpha Epsilon Pi still holds the top rung in the Interfraternity Basketball League by virtue of their victory over Mowry House. The final score was 61-2 and the game was just what the score indicates—a walk-away for A. E. Pi. Every man on the squad was privileged to show his wares. The next two games promise to be real thrillers, since both Theta Chi and Beta Phi have played fine basketball all season and are aching to take A. E. Pi down a peg or two.

Last week the Seniors at Rhode Island State College held their annual vote. Among the results that proved to be interesting were: Most scholarly, Ralph Belmont; most likely to succeed, Harry Kelfer; most pious, Hy Cokin, and best dancer, Jack Anhalt (?). Included in the questionnaire was a question asking for the most popular weekly, and The Jewish Herald secured five votes.

Phi Delta, the dramatic society at State, presented their three one-act plays last week, which proved to be very entertaining from the standpoint of the student body. Sophie Blackman carried a leading role and did a fine piece of work.

By the time this article goes to press, final exams will be over, and some of the boys will be breathing easier, while others not so easy (?). However, at this writing, the midnight oil is being burned well into the wee sma' hours of the morning.

NEW ENGLAND ZIONISTS ASK CONGRESS BE POSTPONED

Boston, Jan. 30—(JTA)—Following a conference of representatives from all parts of the New England Zionist region in Boston, a cable was sent to the Zionist Executive in London last Saturday urging that the Zionist Congress, scheduled for Feb. 24, be postponed.

The cable was sent through Elihu Stone, President of the region, who said that he regards the calling of a Congress in February as most unfortunate and inopportune.

INSTALLATION OF JEWISH WAR VETERANS

An appropriate address by Mayor Mortimer A. Sullivan and the presentation of an American flag by the Women's Relief Corp., No. 3, of the Lawton Warren Post, Grand Army of the Republic, marked the annual installation last Tuesday evening of the Newport Post, No. 24, Jewish War Veterans of the United States. Irving Eisenberg was inducted Commander to succeed the Hon. Judge Max Levy, who retired and had been in command since the formation of the body.

The program opened with the singing of "America" and was followed by the invocation by Rabbi Jacob M. Seidel. Mrs. Jennie C. Sisson, patriotic instructor of the Women's Relief Corp., No. 3, made the presentation of the flag and the members of the corp went through their exercises incidental to the presentation with Mrs. Annie Murray, President of the corp, in charge. Rabbi Seidel then offered the prayer and blessing of the flag.

Judge Levy, retiring Commander of Newport Post, No. 24, addressed the gathering relating the active work of those of our faith in all of the wars of the United States from the Revolutionary War down to the World War.

Following his address flowers were presented to the Women's Relief Corp., No. 3, of the Lawton Warren Post, by Doris Eisenberg and Selma Feldman in behalf of Newport Post, Feldman in behalf of Newport Post.

His Honor, Mortimer A. Sullivan, Mayor of the city of Newport, in his address stated: "I believe that there is room and an object and cause for all of us who have served in the wars of this great country. We are now at peace with every country though the sacrifices for this peace were many and the price paid was a terrific one. Veterans there are who will never be able to shake off the scars received in the wars for the preservation of our country. Had it not been for the fact of the loyalty of those Americans, regardless of race or creed, who answered the calls during the periods of the Civil and Spanish Wars to fight for the preservation of this country, it could not have survived as a country to answer the call of President Wilson in response to the appeals of Marshals Joffre and Foch from war-torn and bleeding France in the Great World War. It would probably have long been divided as the Balkans were in Europe. I am glad to come here this evening to pay my respects to those men of your faith who fought that this great country of ours may live."

Commander George B. Smith of the Grand Army of the Republic, in his address, stated that he is the only living man who had the pleasure and honor to shake the hand of President Lincoln.

Retiring Commander Judge Levy then turned over the exercises to National Historian Harry Hoffman of the Rhode Island Post, No. 23, of the Jewish War Veterans of the United States, as the installing officer and was assisted by Commander Samuel Mistowsky of the Corporal Albert P. Cahill Post, No. 646, Veterans of Foreign Wars, as the Chief of Staff for the installations of the following officers for the ensuing year:

Commander, Irving Eisenberg; Senior Vice Commander, Alfred Bernstein; Junior Vice Commander, Henry Podrat; Adjutant, Louis D. Sacks; Sergeant Major Adjutant, Abbott Minkin; Quartermaster, Everett I. Hess; Officer of the Day, Joseph

Herz; Chaplain, Rabbi Jacob M. Seidel; Judge Advocate, Judge Max Levy; Patriot Instructor, Maurice Slom; Trustee, Samuel Kosch; Quartermaster Sergeant, Alfred Kravetz; Sentinel, Harry Smith; Color Guard, Louis Feldman and Benny Newman; Color Bearers, Victor Danniin and Comrade Bloomstein.

Together with Senior Vice Commander Harry Hoffman and Commander Samuel Mistowsky of Rhode Island Post, No. 23, were the following officers: Paul J. Robin, Commander; Mrs. Paul J. Robin, Past President of the Ladies' Auxiliary; Max A. Cohen, Trustee; Mrs. Max A. Cohen, Vice President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and Abraham Swerling, Assistant Adjutant.

RABBI SEIDEL UNANIMOUSLY ELECTED FOR TERM OF YEARS

It is with the utmost pleasure that we learn that Rabbi Jacob M. Seidel, who has occupied the pulpit of the historic Touro Synagogue for the past three years, has been unanimously elected for an additional term of years at a meeting of the Congregation Jeshuat Israel, held last Sunday morning at the C. J. I. Community Center.

Rabbi Seidel was one of the first spiritual leaders recommended by the Spanish-Portuguese Congregation of New York in 1902 to the Newport Congregation at which time he served for a period of three years.

Since 1905, he was spiritual leader of the Bohemian Congregation in New York City, the Orthodox Congregation of the city of Portland, Oregon, where he organized one of the outstanding Hebrew Schools in this country, and the Orthodox Congregation of the city of Norfolk, Va., where he had done considerable welfare work during the World War. Rabbi Seidel has been mentioned many times in the accounts of the National Council of Jewish Women, which organization he has aided considerably in many sections of this country.

The people of Newport feel very fortunate in having been able to retain the services of their old teacher and spiritual leader, Rabbi Jacob M. Seidel, who is loved not only by all the Jewish people, but by the Gentiles as well.

JEWISH C. C. TO EXTEND WORK ON NATIONAL SCALE

New York, Jan. 30—(JTA) — The Jewish Conciliation Court of America, which was formerly known as the Jewish Court of Arbitration, will expand its work on a national scale, according to a decision adopted at its annual meeting recently. Dr. Israel Goldstein is president of the court, and Counselor Louis Richmond is secretary.

For the past ten years the Jewish Court of Arbitration has dealt with disputes between congregations and members or officials, with questions of burial and cemetery rights which involve Jewish law, and with domestic relations or non-support claims by parents against children. Hitherto its work has been confined only to New York City. In the future it will organize such courts in other American Jewish communities to settle similar cases.

O. H. C. News

TWO MEMBERS ADMITTED

Two candidates were admitted into the O. H. C. at the last meeting. They are Israel Marcovitz and Irving Feldman, both of Providence. This makes three candidates so far who are up for initiation in February.

Boosting talks were given by Mr. I. Schretter and Mr. G. Labush on the tenth annual dance to be held Thursday, April 9, the last night of Passover. Members have announced that they have friends coming from Fall River, Taunton and Woonsocket.

WIN BASKETBALL GAME

For the second time this season the O. H. C. boys defeated the Sigma Pi by the score of 22 to 10. The boys are coming along at a fast clip as shown by their tie game with the leading A. Z. A. team. So far the O. H. C. boys have lost to one team only, and since they are beginners at the game, they are to be commended.

SPORTING WORLD

NEWS WRITTEN FOR THE JEWISH HERALD BY GEORGE JOEL

BAER IN COMIC FIGHT OF THE CENTURY

The comic fight of the century took place at Madison Square Garden in New York City last week, when Maxie Baer, the handsome heavy-weight of California, climbed into the ring with the old Tom Heeneey from Australia. In the final analysis Baer won by a knockout, but the action leading to that determination was fraught with humor.

For two rounds Heeneey and Baer mixed around the ring, neither man holding any advantage. In the third round Maxie flipped a pushing blow at Heeneey and the old boy tumbled out of the ring. Jack Dempsey, who was refereeing the fight, looked confused. Heeneey landed in the laps of a few members of the working press, who, after going into a huddle, pushed the big fellow back into the ring. Dempsey tolled off a count and Heeneey resting peacefully on his knee, waited until he heard the count of eight and then rose, but the timekeeper started to shout and after a series of conferences between the timekeeper and Dempsey, it was decided that Heeneey had been knocked out. It was the strangest knockout on record; Heeneey was undamaged and ready to fight. It seems as though the timekeeper and Dempsey differed on when the count began. The fans went home puzzled and disgusted.

Baer has returned to California and to my mind has made anything but a good impression on the New York fans. Of course it wasn't his fault that the count was goofy, but he looked bad in there against Heeneey. What I can't understand is how the California papers had the courage to carry stories to the effect that Baer was ahead when the mixup occurred and would have won easily. It sure pays to be a native son!

The three Jewish teams ready to start off for city honors are the Inter-Mountain Jewish News five, a B'nai B'rith team and a quintet from the Jewish Athletic Association.

MORE ABOUT IRA SINGER, SPRINT STAR

If you can believe the track expert in the East, Ira Singer will be a member of the 1932 U. S. Olympic track team. The Jewish lad from New York, who has been making such an enviable record this season, is being brought along slowly with that end in view and there is little reason why he shouldn't make the grade. Two years ago, Ira was burning up the high school track with his speed. As a student at New Utrecht High School he did everything but "put the shot."

He ran all the sprints and was a member of the relay team. He led the high school boys in scoring and was the champion century man in the city. Ira learned the art of running under Barney Hyman, New Utrecht coach, who tutored such famous stars as Dave Adelman, Sol Furth, Otto Rosner and Sam Mottonson. It was Barney who watched Ira and kept him from burning himself up, a common occurrence among high school performers. Now at N. Y. U. he is under the care of Coach Von Elling, and the wise track mentor is carefully teaching the boy the tricks of the track. He has taught him to shorten his stride and use his arms and believes that he is coaching one of the most promising youngsters in the country.

HAKOAH WINS AGAIN IN SOCCER TOURNEY

The quest for championship soccer honors goes on and the All-Star Hakoahs are still very much in the running. Last week-end the Jewish team moved up a notch and eliminated the Brooklyn Wanderers in a close fought battle that ended 1-0. Hakoah has four more games to win before Feb. 15 and must come through them all successfully if they have hopes of taking home the big cup.

JEWISH SWIMMERS HOLD WATER POLO RECORD

Jess Sobel, captain of the C. C. N. Y. water polo team, has smashed all intercollegiate records for individual scoring in water polo. The Jewish center-forward of the Lavendar team has amassed the amazing total of 163 points in four matches. It is quite natural that a C. C. N. Y. boy should excel at this sport. It is really basketball played in the water.

In the other swimming events in intercollegiate competition, Harold Kramer of the same college is leading the league in individual points. The dash man has already accounted for 28, but he will not remain at the top for long because such swimmers as Kojac and Wohl are in the same league.

FRIEDMAN LIKELY TO COACH AT YALE

Yale will, for the first time, have a Jew on its football coaching staff next fall. Benny Friedman, prominent professional and former All-American quarterback, will in all likelihood be the backfield coach at Yale. He did some work with the boys from Eli last fall, and it is rumored that he will have a permanent place at New Haven. If he lands the job you will see a Yale team that can throw passes, a rare thing, indeed!

INTER-RELIGIOUS BASKETBALL TOURNEY FOR DENVER

The Inter-Mountain Jewish News has put through its idea for an inter-religious basketball tournament in Denver. Ten teams, representing the cream of amateur talent around Denver, will compete. Three Jewish, four Catholic and three Protestant teams have expressed their willingness to compete. The idea has the indorsement of the religious leaders of the Mountain City, and it will be the first time that such a project has been undertaken in Denver.

The purpose of the tournament is to create good-will and better understanding among the various creeds and if it works out, other forms of sport will be added to the curriculum. In the East, especially in New York City, the idea of interdenominational sports has been going on for years and the amount of good will it has created is difficult to gauge. I know that the Jewish teams have walked off with most of the honors and this has caused little good feeling, but the idea is good and it will at least prove to the population of Denver that Jewish boys are able athletes.

GREAT NOVEL TRANSCRIBED TO TALKING SCREEN

Count Leo Tolstoy wrote the novel, "Resurrection," and it was first published in 1899.

"Resurrection" was the only novel copyrighted by the famous writer, the reason for this being his desire to aid a certain Russian cult in its religious campaign.

Tolstoy's publisher paid him $6000 for the publication rights. The entire amount was spent by the writer in aiding Russian peasants.

"Resurrection" has been translated into eleven languages. In 1903, Sir Herbert Beerbohm-Tree played in the stage version presented in London. Mary Garden introduced "Resurrection" in opera form in Chicago, in 1925. Many famous stars have listed roles in "Resurrection" among their best career-hits.

"Resurrection" has been given everlasting life and enhanced with music by Universal, with John Boles and Lupe Velez in the roles of Prince Dmitri and Katusha Maslova.

The production has been made on a lavish scale with Edwin Carewe directing.

"Resurrection" is now playing at the Albee Theatre and is heralded as one of the big cinematic specials of the season.
