Abraham Tulin to Give Talk at Temple Beth-El

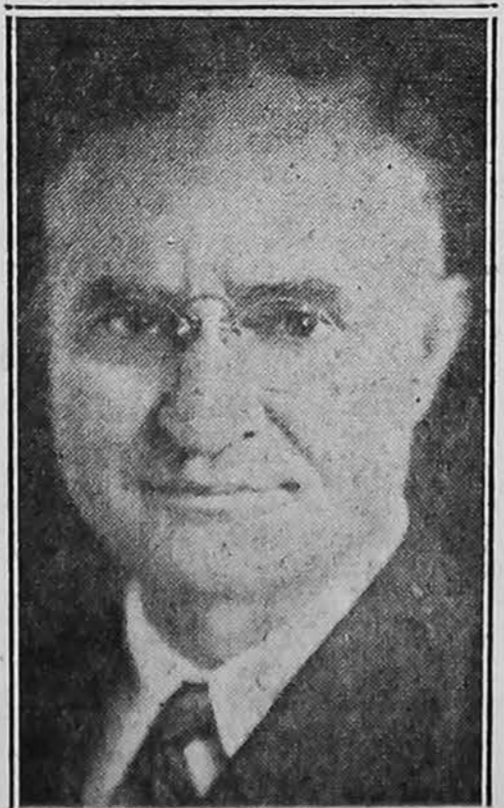

Men's Club Sponsors Address On Palestine Next Wednesday

An address by Abraham Tulin of New York City on "Palestine" will be the feature of the Temple Beth-El Men's Club December meeting to be held in the vestry of the temple next Wednesday night. The meeting will start at 8 o'clock and women have been invited.

With the Men's Club neither Zionist nor anti-Zionist, President A. Henry Klein and Dr. Philip Dorenbaum, chairman, point out, hundreds of thousands of Jews are beginning to become more and more interested in Palestine. The Jewish Homeland has figured prominently in the news lately, its status now being before the League of Nations in the form of the Palestine government's annual report to the League Mandates Commission.

Also of considerable significance in world news are the recent reports that Palestine in 1932 operated at a $2,000,000 profit despite the world depression. Mr. Tulin, one of the best-known men in this country on the Palestine situation is expected to deal with the problems facing the 200,000 Jews now in that country.

JEWS HERE LOSE GREAT LEADER; RABBI BICK DIES

Douglas Avenue Synagogue
Head Dies of Sudden
Heart Attack

Providence Jews this week mourned the loss of one of their most celebrated spiritual leaders, Rabbi Isaac Bick of the Sons of Jacob Congregation, Douglas Avenue, who died Tuesday morning of a heart attack and was buried Wednesday afternoon. Rabbi Bick was in his 64th year.

Thousands of mourners attended the funeral. A steady stream of callers, including several local Rabbis, flocked to his home at 157 Orms street before he was laid at rest in Congregation Sons of Jacob Cemetery. He was stricken while praying. Business was suspended in the North End during the funeral services.

Rabbi Bick was a descendant of an unbroken line of 31 generations of Rabbis, an exponent of the principles of Judaism and a great Talmudic scholar. The line will not cease to exist with his death, two of his sons being Rabbis. Born in Mohilev, Russia, he came to this country eleven years ago. For two years he was spiritual leader of a large New York congregation before coming here to take charge of Sons of Jacob Synagogue.

Active in Jewish communal life, the Rabbi appeared in his usual good health as he went about his routine tasks Tuesday. Shortly before midnight, however, he was seized with a sudden attack and died a few hours later. A number of Rabbis from New York, Boston and Fall River attended the funeral.

His widow, Mrs. Sarah Bick, and eight children survive him. They are Rabbi Sholom Bick of New York, Rabbi Herman Bick of St. Louis, Saul Bick, an official of the Soviet government; Miss Selma Bick, a physician in Russia; Mrs. Bessie Dauber of New York, Mrs. Nina Bregman, Mrs. Edith Kalus and Miss Hinda Bick, the latter three of this city.

Binder to Give Lecture-Concert Here on Sunday

Noted Authority on Jewish Music Comes Back to Emanu-El

A. W. Binder, nationally known authority on Jewish music, will appear in a lecture-concert by arrangement of the Institute of Jewish Studies of Temple Emanu-El, Morris Avenue and Sessions Street, next Sunday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Binder, who is noted both as a composer and conductor, is an American musician who has devoted almost an entire life-time to the study of Jewish music. During a recent trip through Palestine he studied the development of music in the Jewish Homeland, noting songs and motifs of the "Chalutzim" (Pioneers).

He is at present musical director of the Ninety-second Street Young Men's Hebrew Association, New York City; choirmaster of the Free Synagogue at Carnegie Hall, of which Dr. Stephen S. Wise is the Rabbi, as well as instructor in synagogue and folk music at the Jewish Institute of Religion. He received his musical education at Columbia University, where in 1917 he was awarded the Rosenthal Fellowship in composition.

Mr. Binder's lecture-concert at the temple four years ago was so warmly received that he is being brought back by popular demand. A few admission cards are still available and can be obtained from Mrs. Allie Zura, who is chairman of distributing the cards for the Institute of Jewish Studies.

"Inquisition" Over Visa Now Is Regarded as Closed Incident

Boat Leaves Tomorrow

Berlin, Dec. 9—Professor Albert Einstein was believed preparing to sail tomorrow for California ready to carry out his originally planned program in the United States despite his annoyance at the long series of questions he had to answer before his visa was granted by the United States Consulate General here.

He is scheduled to sail from Bremen on the Hamburg-American liner Oakland on Saturday. Arriving in America, he resumes scientific work at Mount Wilson Observatory before taking charge of the School of Mathematics of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton University. The scientist has promised to be at the Institute from Oct. 1 to April 15 each year.

Amid preparations for sailing, Professor Einstein appeared ready to forget the "inquisition" to which he was subjected before he was granted his visa. The incident, which attracted world attention, seemed now a closed chapter as far as he is concerned. Yesterday morning he received a cable apology from the United States Department for the misunderstanding.

At the time, however, the scientist was so angered by the 45 minutes of questioning as to his fitness to visit America that he refused to submit to further interrogation and returned home. Heretofore the professor had been accustomed to having his trips and the formalities attending them arranged by the steamship line. He had requested Hamburg-American officials to arrange everything.

Complaint Made

A complaint made to the State Department by the Woman Patriot Corporation charged Professor Einstein had been affiliated with Communism and should not be admitted to this country.

Tear Bombs Hurlled at Jewish Store and Cinema in Lwow

Jewish Deputies in Poland Ask Punishment of Guilty; Polish Ambassador Scored

Lwow, Dec. 9—(JTA)—The terrorization of the Jews, which has been continuous in Lwow since Nov. 26th, assumed a new form Wednesday in a series of bombing attempts.

Seven tear bombs were thrown into the premises of a cinema owned by a Jew, driving out all the patrons. A tear bomb was also thrown into a store owned by a Jew, Sigmund Ihrer.

Tuesday, bombs were thrown at a Jewish cemetery and at the Gmilus Chassodim building, causing property damage.

Warsaw, Dec. 9—(JTA)—Punishment of those guilty of creating and participating in the disturbances of the past ten days in Poland, in which more than 400 Jews were injured; payment of damages to the victims; and guarantees that the anti-Semitic riots would not be permitted to recur, were demanded Tuesday by the Club of Jewish Deputies in a lengthy interpellation submitted to the Sejm.

The interpellation gives a detailed description of the riots which began in Lwow late on Nov. 26th and which have continued since, following the death of Jan Grotkowski, a Polish student, who succumbed to knife wounds received after he and five companions, returning drunk from an all night revel, attacked Jewish passersby.

After fixing responsibility for the riots upon the Police Department and the District Governor of Lwow on the ground that the latter was warned of their imminence a fortnight before they occurred and that the former abetted the attackers during the riots, the interpellation discloses that at the height of the disturbances, the District Governor of Lwow suggested a round table conference with leaders of the excesses.

A fortnight before the mass attacks, says the interpellation, individual incidents directed against the Jews were current in Lwow, such as the breaking of windows and attacks on Jewish stores.

"Dia-Cream" In Great Demand

So great has been the demand for "Dia-Cream," the non-fattening ice cream developed for Diabetics that facilities have had to be increased.

To satisfy the many requests for the analysis of "Dia-Cream," we are showing below the results of Analysis No. 42028, made by Franklin N. Strickland at the request of one of our larger hospitals:

Moisture, 67.74%; Solids, 32.26%; Milk Fat, 19.34%; Carbohydrate (Lactose), 4.19%; Protein 4.65%; Mineral Ash, .71%; Trace of Saccharin as Synthetic Sweetener.

For sweetness, smoothness, body and texture, Dia-Cream equals the best of rich, sugar, or regular ice creams.

"Dia-Cream" has the endorsement of and is recommended by physicians, hospitals and dieticians. It may be procured at many leading druggists. An advertisement elsewhere in this paper shows a list of pharmacists who have "Dia-Cream" on sale.

LEHMAN CALLS SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

Albany, Dec. 9—(JTA) Acting Governor Herbert H. Lehman, who at the end of this month becomes the Governor of New York, summoned a special session of the Legislature for Friday, to meet the financial crisis which has imperiled the credit of New York City and jeopardized its unemployment relief conducted among 54,000 families.

The Legislature will be called upon to authorize a 10 per cent cut in the city's mandatory salaries, without which the banks have refused to extend credit to the city.

Acting Governor Lehman will not, it is indicated, limit the work of the special session to this single act.

Legitimate Inference

(By BERNARD M. GOLDOWSKY)

It is reasonably expected by the Charity Ball Committee of the Jewish Home for the Aged of Rhode Island that in return for the consideration shown to preceding affairs in order that they might function without the slightest hindrance, that the sponsors of those affairs will now unite in giving the Home Ball every form of support.

It is needless to point out to my fellow Jews the glaring fact that financially the Home is on the brink of a precipice. And now that the Jewish Orphanage is a member of the Providence Community Fund, the Jewish Home for the Aged is the only legitimate successor to the former's ANNUAL CHARITY BALL, and has a moral right to appeal to the GENERAL public for its maintenance.

As no system is perfect I fear that many Jews in our locality failed to receive tickets by mail, and believe they were slighted. God forbid! I have no preference for five-dollar bills whether they come from the President of a Shool or from a Shammes of a Chevro. Consequently, I trust that those who have not received ball tickets by mail will show real sportsmanship and order them at once, addressing me at P. O. Box 726, Providence. The price is $5.00; admitting two (2) persons. And don't forget to order them in advance and also give me your name in full for the "Honor Roll."

Lest I am asked that question again, let me repeat for the hundredth time, that the reason the Ball Committee went to the enormous expense of engaging Joe Rines, of Show Boat fame, in person, and his Broadcasting and Columbia and Victor Recording Orchestra, is due to a desire of establishing the Home Charity Ball as THE JEWISH EVENT OF THE YEAR. That can be successfully accomplished only by giving the public its money's worth.

One night after having listened to a broadcast by the renowned Maestro, Joe Rines, and that wonderful musical organization of his, I commended my Committee for its prudential wisdom and excellent judgment in securing the service of that orchestra.

I am absolutely certain that the patrons of the Home Charity Ball will have a delightful time, because they will get enchanting dance music, enjoy the splendid environment and distinctive sociability of their fellow Jews, and carry away with them the pleasurable feeling that comes with every act of Tzaydoko for a most worthy cause.

THE EINSTEIN EPISODE

The self-styled Women's Patriot Corporation—whatever that is—gets some publicity of dubious value, Professor Einstein gets his ample hair ruffled the wrong way and loses his temper, and these very democratic and very liberal United States get a black eye. That's the sum total so far of the Einstein episode and here's hoping it ends there.

Doubtless the professor's natural good humor and kindly understanding will cause him to forgive us our curious customs—first welcoming him with outstretched hand and open heart, beseeching him to come again, and then, when he agrees to honor us, subjecting him to an "inquisition" over his visa. Doubtless, too, the "ordeal" he had to go through was exaggerated in the daily press. It probably was neither a more nor a less severe examination than that required of ordinary travelers. And it is very likely that the examining officer got no more pleasure out of it than did the Herr Professor.

This government, sometimes unfortunately, is so constituted that it is supposed to lend its ears to every individual and therefore to every group. It is "of the people, by the people and for the people." But it is more than anything else for ALL the people. It is a sad commentary if all the people get a black eye because some self-constituted group of public defenders takes upon itself to decide whether or not anybody—he be an universally acclaimed scientist or the most insignificant immigrant—shall be allowed to come into the country.

The idea that Professor Einstein is a Communist and as such should be barred is as preposterous as was the putting of Al Capone behind the bars because he evaded paying his income tax and not because he is Public Enemy No. 1. It is notable that in Professor Einstein's case there was no sign of a complaint from anyone when he first came here. He won immediately the respect alike of his fellow scientist who could understand him and of the ordinary citizen who, uncomprehending, sensed his importance and was charmed by his simple friendliness.

Of the Women's Patriot Corporation we know nothing. And now, gauging it against the spotlight into which it has thrust itself, we somehow retain the conviction that had we never heard of the organization we would have missed nothing in life. If, like some other self-acclaimed patriotic organizations, it sets itself up as judge and jury of what is good and what is ill for the country, then it has indeed cut its nose to spite its face. It has, by the complaint against Professor Einstein, put Communism on the front page of nearly every large newspaper in the world.

TIDBITS AND NEWS OF JEWISH PERSONALITIES

By DAVID SCHWARTZ

Is There a Santa Claus?

Now that the season is approaching when you are supposed to do that shopping early, that story of Rapaport's—of Jewish employment agency fame—is apropos.

It seems, according to this tale, that two youngsters were standing in Gimbel Brothers' department store, looking at the figure dressed as Santa Claus.

The two youngsters were of differing faiths. One was Jewish and the other non-Jewish.

The little Jewish boy began the conversation with the statement: "Oh, Santa Claus is a fake. There is no Santa Claus."

Whereupon the non-Jewish boy grew irate and retorted: "Yes, there is a Santa Claus. He brought me a lot of gifts last Christmas, and daddy says he is going to bring me a lot of presents this Christmas."

"Oh, there is no Santa Claus, returned the Jewish boy—I tell you there is no Santa Claus."

Whereupon Santa Claus himself leaned over and whispered to the Jewish lad: "Vas darfsdu ihm sagen." (Why do you have to tell him.)

He Knew

Rapaport, by the way, tells a quaint story about a Jewish customer at one of the art galleries.

This Jewish customer had waxed prosperous in the great boom days and had in its aftermath developed the arty complex. So he hid himself to an art gallery to look at some pictures.

Strangely enough, the first picture that he looked at pleased his eye. What the picture was is clear by its title—The Crucifixion.

"I want that picture," said the Jewish cloak and suit dealer. The dealer bit his lips. "Don't you think you had better look at some of the others before making up your mind?"

"No, no," continued the cloak manufacturer. "I want what I want. I want that picture."

"That's okay," retorted the dealer. "We'll be glad to sell it to you, but you must know that it is a rule of these galleries, that once a picture is purchased it cannot be returned. Do you know what that picture—The Crucifixion—portrays?"

"Sure," returned the Jewish manufacturer. "That's Houdini. He'll get out of it."

A Pretty Goya

And speaking of art gallery stories there is the one of Dr. J. Max Weiss.

This also concerns a cloak and suit manufacturer, who decided to embellish his parlors with a great painting.

So he, too, hid himself to the art galleries on Fifth avenue and promenaded from one to another picture.

Finally he came upon the picture of a young woman—with the inscription underneath the painter—Goya.

"I'll take that," he told the dealer. The dealer was somewhat taken back.

The pictures by the more commonly known artists, he had thought, would appeal to the manufacturer. Why had he selected this picture by Goya?

He did not want to ask, but finally, beaming with satisfaction over his purchase, let the secret out himself when he remarked:

"That's just the picture I want. Yes, I always wanted a pretty Goya in my home."

A Journalistic Genius

We are always being treated with the achievements of a Pulitzer, a Hearst or a Scripps in building up some great newspaper. Yet how few have ever heard of Louis Weinberg, notwithstanding the fact, that in his way, this young Jewish newspaperman has achieved greater than any of these pillars of the Fourth Estate.

Weinberg is the editor of the Warm Springs, Georgia, Mirror.

You have, of course, heard of Warm Springs lately. It is that little resort which President-elect Roosevelt favors with his visits.

Warm Springs is a town of about five hundred population, yet the Mirror, which Weinberg publishes, has a circulation of over a thousand. Besides, all the residents of the town, the subscription lists include subscribers in thirty states, who at one time or another, have come to Warm Springs for infantile paralysis treatment.

Seven years ago, Weinberg, a cub reporter on the Brooklyn Eagle, was stricken with infantile paralysis. Like Roosevelt, he journeyed to Warm Springs for treatment and there launched the Mirror.

A Trefa Story

Speaking of stories, as we were a few paragraphs back, there is a good one which we take pleasure in plagiarizing from F. P. A.'s column.

It was on a Yom Kippur's day. Said one faster to another: "I think I'll go out and have some oysters."

"What!" said the other faster—"You're going to eat oysters on Yom Kippur?"

"Sure," replied the second—"Hasn't Yom Kippur an R in it?"

Mothers and Mothers

Over to witness a rehearsal the other day of Chrysalis written by Rose Porter Albert, who at one time was publicity expert of Haddassah. We listened to an interesting bit of chit-chat about John Wexley's play—"The Last Mile."

Wexley, you recall, is a nephew of Maurice Schwartz, and built the play—"The Last Mile," around some death house notes written by a man about to be electrocuted in Texas.

The mother of this condemned man, who, incidentally, shared in the profits of Wexley's play, came to New York to witness the premiere of "The Last Mile."

The play, as you remember, is very gruesome—one of the hardened dramatic critics later was to declare, indeed, that it was so gruesome that it was intolerable.

Wexley figured that the effect would be even more depressing on the mother of the condemned man, so that when he escorted her into the playhouse, he armed himself with spirits of ammonia and other restoratives. But the mother like a stoic sat through the play externally calm.

At its conclusion, Wexley, anxious about her reaction, asked how it was.

"Oh, it was all right. But you have my son going to the chair in a shabby suit. That's not right. I got a new suit for him for that. And there was a carnation in his lapel, and the electric current didn't burn the flower."

Wexley left musing—there are mothers and mothers.

Aleph Is Baze

It happened the other day at the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, and we are telling it to show how smart we are.

A distinguished member of the Yiddish news department of the Agency is a young poet with the cognomen of Aleph Katz. (Katz, by the way, is known for his translation in Yiddish of Stevenson's Treasure Island.)

But to go back to our story. Katz's first name is Aleph. Well, it happened that this columnist pounding the keys of his machine from one of the office, called over to Katz:

"Aleph!"

But Aleph didn't answer. "Aleph," we shouted again—"du bist Baze?" (beth). Now, isn't that clever?

Soviet Reduces Cost to Handle Matzoth Boxes

The price represents a reduction of $5.70 from the $10 price of last year for a matzoth package of similar weight.

This disclosure was made by the B. Manischewitz Company through Max Manischewitz, its treasurer, in a statement to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency.

The statement declares that the agreement as to price and guaranteed delivery was reached after conversations between Mr. Manischewitz, the president, the vice president of the Am-Deutra Corporation, and Leo Broches, assistant secretary of the Am-Deutra Corporation.

The terms of agreement will apply to other matzoth companies as well as the Manischewitz Company.

An Open Letter to the Editor

Editor, The Jewish Herald:—

May I call to the attention of your readers a matter which I believe is vital to the well being of our community—I refer to the Old Age Security Act. This humanitarian legislation has already been enacted by 19 progressive states in our Union.

This machine age with its attendant mass production has created many new problems and, to my mind, one of the most serious and urgent in our national life is the elimination from productive labor in our industries of men and women who have arrived at the age of 65 or 70.

This change in the economic structure has been recognized and met in many foreign countries with old age pension laws. Already old age pension laws are in effect in Argentina, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Canada, Chile, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain, Greece, Greenland, Iceland, Irish Free State, Italy, Jugoslavia, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Newfoundland, New Zealand, Norway, Portugal, Roumania, Spain, Sweden, South Africa and Uruguay.

In the United States 13 states have adopted such legislation in the past five years. California has had the great honor of being the first to put into operation a state-wide old age mandatory pension system. This provides assistance to persons 70 years of age and over who have resided in the state for 15 years. Have been citizens of the United States for the same length of time, and have been residents of the county for one year.

Circumstances in each instance fix the amount of aid allowed, but in no case does the assistance rendered exceed the sum of $30 a month.

During the first two years, 11,307 pensions were granted under this law in California, deaths and other causes removed some, so that in February, 1932, there were 10,064 residents receiving the benefits at a cost of 25.8 cents per inhabitant of that state.

The New York law, operated along similar lines, with the state and communities sharing the cost, aided 49-413 aged persons during last February, an increase of 902 over the previous month, yet the amount disbursed throughout the Empire State during the month was only $1,287,942, according to the report of the Social Welfare Department. When the existence of the law was threatened in New York its sponsor, Senator Seabury C. Mastick, answered the only possible argument—that of its cost—by pointing out that the cost of supporting an old man or woman by their own firesides in the twilight of their years is far less than the cost of maintaining a criminal in a state institution.

Rhode Island has a solemn duty to perform—the safeguarding of our aged. The enactment of an Old Age Security Act in the January session of our Legislature should not be a partisan measure—it should have the support of every right thinking citizen of our beloved state.

You can be of material assistance in this great work. I appeal to you to take the time to write the men representing you in our Legislature, urging them to support this humanitarian legislation—the aged of Rhode Island will bless you.

Who is so rich today as to be certain that he will always be beyond the need of an old age pension? I am for the forgotten man and the forgotten woman.

(Signed) SAMUEL M. MAGID.

Ten Cents a Month for These "Residences"

In order to help about a hundred thousand unemployed Germans, the Hamburg senate placed the above land at the disposal of the needy where the pictured wooden shacks were built to rent at ten cents a month. This is undoubtedly the smallest rent paid in the world, and to further aid those in want it has been arranged that the rent can be paid in easy installments extending over a period of ten years.

Await Indictment of Sixteen Members of Ku Klux Klan for Attack on Jewish Family

Los Angeles, Dec. 9—(JTA)—Sixteen members of the Ku Klux Klan, who were taken into custody by the police on charges of participating in the attack upon a Jewish family named Milder, in Long Beach, Calif., will be indicted by the grand jury when it meets, according to indications from reliable sources in the office of the county prosecutor.

At first all but four of the Klansmen were released by the police. Later a summons was issued requiring the 16 who had been taken into custody to appear before the grand jury investigation committee.

The arrested declared that they had attacked the Jewish tailor and his family because they were Communists. This the family denied. Leo Gallagher, attorney for the American Civil Liberties League, is representing the Milder family and this is causing some speculation.

The Milder family was attacked on the night of Nov. 16th by a group of 50 garbed in Klan regalia, who broke into the house after burning a cross on the lawn outside the home. The inmates of the household and several visitors were beaten up.

Charge Von Schleicher Pays Press for Support

Berlin, Dec. 9.—(JTA)—The insinuation that the Jewish, the Ullstein and the Mosse press support Chancellor Kurt von Schleicher because the latter pays them to do so, is made by the Nazi press.

The papers declare that "without payment the Jews give only death."

The attack is explained as an effort to let off steam in connection with the recent election losses of the Nazis and Hitler's failure to secure the Chancellorship. In Thuringia, despite Hitler's personal campaign, the Hitlerites lost 20 per cent of their following.

The Jewish hounds have let loose Jewish journalists to praise von Schleicher because they receive assurance that von Schleicher will conduct a policy favoring the Jews, the Nazi papers assert.

SPORTING WORLD

NEWS WRITTEN FOR THE JEWISH HERALD BY GEORGE JOEL

IN RE-ALL AMERICAN

The All American teams descended upon us with a thud during the past week. Every one, from the woman's editor of the Daily Bugle to the sports editor of the Majorca Times, have taken a crack at picking out eleven or more young football players and labeling them "All" something or other. I am constitutionally opposed to this harmless pastime of wrong guessing and I always feel that I owe somebody an apology for indulging in it myself. Here is the apology:

Incidentally I can't help noticing that Newman of Michigan, Gillman of Ohio, Rosenberg of Southern California, Ellowitz of Michigan State and Itzkowitz of New York University were among the Jewish boys who received mention on one or more of these teams.

But then I started out to write a swan song for the 1932 football season. Looking past on the past ten weeks the one thing that makes it different from other seasons was the number of upsets that occurred. Picking winning teams this year was tough going. It made the experts look like a bunch of dubs. The sport writing fraternity refuses to give up the idea that Harvard, Yale, Princeton or any of the older colleges are "ipso facto" leaders in football. Every time a team beats one of these colleges, said team is hailed as something great. This greatness lasts until said team runs up against a real football team. The "big" colleges don't get the material they did years ago. Entrance requirements are stiffer, and living costs more expensive. In fact during the past two years the city and smaller college institutions have been getting a better type of player.

The other thing most noticeable about the season was the falling off of gate receipts. In other years football paid the expenses of all other sports. This year the athletic associations find themselves suffering a deficit in the athletic budget. The result has been the curtailment of other sports. Before you know it athletes will not be the most important element of college life. What is that crack about every cloud having some kind of a lining or other?

THE KATZ BROTHERS COM- PROMISE

For the first time in the history of amateur fighting in this country two brothers were put in the ring against each other. The result was a compromise. Julie and Mickey Katz of New York were the participants. The occasion was one of the Christmas Fund Shows at Madison Square Garden. Both boys survived the qualifying round and neither was willing to default. The rules stating that in the event of the failure of one fighter to go on the other was automatically eliminated. The boys went into the ring and after two minutes of fighting the referee declared it no contest and disqualified both lads. Seems as though the brotherly love element was too strong or else the boys were afraid of what Ma and Pa Katz would say. Considering that the prize was only a belt you can hardly blame the boys for failing to fight. I understand they both wear suspenders.

OTHER FIGHT NEWS

So far it hasn't been a very exciting indoor fight season and the coming month doesn't promise too much. Two champions, both Jews, will see action, but as the title of neither is at stake the fight fans aren't exactly hysterical over the possible outcome. Jackie Fields, making his first start since trouble with his eyes put him out of commission several months ago, will take on Tommy Herman in a ten rounder at San Francisco. It will be a major test for the welterweight champion.

Another champion to do some more ring work is Maxie Rosenbloom, the light heavyweight title holder. He will also fight at San Francisco. His opponent, one of old standing by the way is George Manley. Maxie is the one champion who keeps busy, although he might not fight so "good" he fights often and earns his keep.

CHATTERINGS

At last a Jewish six-day bicycle rider and his name is Cohen, first name unknown. Anyway, Cohen is wheeling his dizzy way around the wooden saucer at Madison Square Garden and at this writing is in last place. His name is a new one of the annals of the sport. I am sending out a spy to find out about him. He is the first of the Jewish Marathon riders.

Harry Wolf, the squash player, won the first of the open tournaments of the season, but then every one knew that he would.

The Brooklyn Dodgers professional football team, lead by Benny Friedman, will be entirely revamped for next season. It was a disastrous couple of months for the Jewish boys.

Yes! the All-Star Hakoahs are still playing soccer, but with varying success. It's about time for another importation tour.

Are you interested in squabbles? Lend an ear to the impending row that will occur this winter when the U. S. T. A. moguls meet. It will be East vs. West. The West wants a crack at the national singles championship. The fly in the ointment is the lack of turf courts west of the Mississippi. The boys claim that the turf courts are N. G. and are going to change the rules so that the championship can be played on the harder surface. If this gets by, then the East will lose its biggest talking point. Anyway it will be lots of fun for the onlookers.

Short column this week, but then the days are getting shorter.

If anyone thinks the college boys are going radical, get a load of the current issue of the Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity quarterly magazine.

Smyrna Jews to Change to Turkish Language

Istanbul, Dec. 9.—(JTA)—The abandonment of Spanish for the Turkish language by the Jewish population of Smyrna was resolved upon at a mass meeting under the auspices of the Jewish Youth Movement.

The movement for the adoption of the Turkish language was initiated some years ago by the Jewish population of Milas, with whom Smyrna now joins ranks.

The Jewish population of Istanbul has thus far remained aloof realizing the difficulties that must be surmounted and the impossibility of bringing about a sudden change from Spanish which the Jewish population has employed for centuries. The Istanbul Jewish population prefers to wait for a gradual change to the Turkish language.

About 1000 Delegates Attend Convention

(Special to The Herald)

New York, Dec. 9.—More than 1000 delegates to the second annual convention of the North East Religious Union, including a group representing Temple Beth-El of Providence, heard the frank admission last Sunday by Roger W. Strauss, chairman, that the synagogue in America at present is in a backward state.

Mr. Strauss voiced a plea to the Jewish youth of the country to come in and help make the synagogue over. He gave the keynote address at the morning session, which was devoted to "The Congregation in a Time of Difficulty." The convention was held in Temple Emanu-El and delegates present represented 157 Jewish religious congregations and affiliated units in New England, New York and New Jersey. The North East Religious Union, formed a year ago, is a regional division of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, parent body of the Reform Congregations of America.

The afternoon session was devoted to a symposium on "Youth and the Synagogue." Speakers warned of the evil consequences that would result from the loss of the Jewish youth of today and urged that the synagogue meet the demands made upon it by the younger generation.

Charles C. Brown of Providence, President of Temple Beth-El, was re-elected vice chairman of the Union. C. Joseph Fox, Max L. Grant, Adolph Mellor, Mrs. Caesar Misch and Mrs. J. G. Nathanson were re-elected to the board of managers.

into the presence of officials, who submitted a questionnaire presented to all visitors to the United States. It soon became evident the questions irritated him.

"What is your political creed?" was the first question.

Professor Einstein gave a blank stare and then burst out laughing. "Well," he said after some hard thinking, "I can't answer that question."

"Are you a member of any organization?" the inquisitors proceeded.

Professor Einstein ran his hand through his ample hair, turning to his wife for assistance.

"Oh, yes!" he exclaimed with obvious relief, "I am a War Resister."

"Who are they?" he was asked.

"Well, they are my friends," he replied.

"What is the purpose of your visit to the United States?" the examination continued.

This question was the only one the professor answered with ease and without hesitation.

"I want to do some scientific work," he said quickly.

The examination, according to Frau Einstein, went on for a while until the professor became impatient.

"Do you gentlemen believe I have to go to the United States? It is not necessary," he interrupted.

Still unaware that every visitor to the United States is forced to comply with these formalities and that he had been spared the trouble on former trips, he obtained the impression that he was the victim of a practical joke.

"Gentlemen, are you trying to kid me?" he asked. "Are you doing this to please yourselves or are you acting upon orders from above?"

Without waiting for an answer he took his hat and coat and left the office.

Professor Einstein Is Pacifist

Professor Einstein has never concealed his pacifistic leanings and is one of the promoters of the War Resisters' League. He is not a Communist and has declined invitations to lecture in Russia because he did not want to give the impression he was in sympathy with the Moscow regime. His son-in-law and chief assistant, Dr. Marianoff, who was born in Russia, has broken with the Communists.

as the moving spirit of the Seminar of the three great faiths, held at Brown University and Providence College last April.

He will speak on, "I Saw Hitler." During his stay in Providence he will also address a religious education conference and school assembly at Hope high school on the same afternoon. An invitation to non-Jewish friends is extended by President Nat C. Cohen of the club. By virtue of the position he holds in the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Dr. Clinchy is acclaimed as having done more to bring about closer understanding between Jews and Christians than any other man in the country.

In addition to Dr. Clinchy's address, a musical program will be presented. Michael Tieman is chairman of the program committee.

Mrs. Silverman addressed the members on "The Contribution of the Woman Pioneer to the Upbuilding of Palestine." Granting of Arab Claim for Haifa Bay Land Not Final Jerusalem, Dec. 9.—(JTA)—The ruling handed down by the District Commissioner on Nov. 17th, that 3500 dunams of land in Haifa Bay, owned by the Jewish National Fund and the Bayside Land Corporation, an American Jewish firm, must be returned to the Arabs, is not a final legal judgment, but an administrative measure valid only until the court pronounces a final verdict, according to a statement issued recently by the Jewish National Fund.

The disputed territory, says the Jewish National Fund, has not yet passed into the hands of the Arabs but remains the legal possession of the Jewish National Fund and the Bayside Land Corporation.

In previous disputes over Haifa Bay land the court has ruled in favor of the Jewish National Fund, rejecting the Arab claims.

ganization of America, has launched its most ambitious national membership campaign in many years. The 300 Hadassah chapters in thirty-six states, are concentrating their energies on the campaign.

In connection with the national campaign three leaders are making speaking tours in various parts of the country. Mrs. Samuel W. Halprin, National President, will speak before large audiences in Ohio and Pennsylvania. Her itinerary includes Pittsburgh, New Castle, Youngstown, Canton, Akron, Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton and Cincinnati. Mrs. Robert Szold, National Vice President, spoke in a number of cities in upper New York State, including Binghamton, Buffalo, Syracuse, Rochester, Utica, Watertown and Schenectady. Mrs. Moses P. Epstein, National Secretary, began a Mid Western tour that will take her to Omaha, Sioux City, Kansas City, St. Louis, St. Paul and Minneapolis.

With the slogan, "Every Jewish woman has a place in Hadassah," thousands of campaign workers are endeavoring to secure the maximum enrollment in every community where a Hadassah chapter functions. Early word to the Hadassah national office in New York indicates high enthusiasm and large initial enrollments in all parts of the country.

For the final whirlwind week of the campaign every chapter will establish campaign headquarters, where a huge campaign clock and scenes from Palestine will be on view. Special events have been planned for the culminating week.

The concluding event of the campaign will be in the form of a "victory luncheon." These gatherings will be held simultaneously in hundreds of cities. Addresses, describing Hadassah's health work in Palestine, will be broadcast on the radio in many cities during the luncheons.
