

RHODE ISLAND HERALD

THE ONLY ANGLO-JEWISH WEEKLY IN R. I. AND SOUTHEAST MASS.

VOL. XLV, No. 6

FRIDAY, APRIL 14, 1961

16 PAGES

Hillel To Present Program In Honor Of Bal Shem Tov

In celebration of the 200th anniversary of Bal Shem Tov, the founder of the Chassidic movement, which still has thousands of followers throughout the world, Brown University Hillel will present a program of song and story centering around his life on Saturday at the Rhode Island School of Design Auditorium at 8:30 P.M.

Featured will be the B'nai B'rith players in "The Seven Golden Buttons," with Mesdames Sidney Factor, soloist; Louis B. Rubinstein accompanist; A. Louis Rosenstein, narrator; Joseph Fishbein and Nathan N. Rosen, readers.

Prof. Murray Roston of the Brown University English department will speak on the "Romance of Chassidism."

A violin selection "The Chassid" will be presented by Steven Sewall, Brown '61, concert master of the Brown University Orchestra, accompanied by Asya Ellash, Pembroke '62. Rabbi Nathan N. Rosen, will preside.

Tickets will be available at the box office.

LIFE IMPRISONMENT

ANSBACH — The prosecution in the trial of Karl Chmielewski, former commandant of the Gusen sub-camp of the Mauthausen concentration, demanded life imprisonment for the defendant. In closing arguments, the prosecution asserted that more than 100 witnesses substantiated the prosecution's charges that the 58-year-old former SS major had brutally murdered at least 293 camp inmates.

Nominate Mrs. Julius Irving As President Of GJC Women

Mrs. Julius Irving has been nominated for a second term as president of the Women's Division of the General Jewish Committee of Providence.

The nominating committee, headed by Mrs. Simon Gordon, also named Mrs. Raymond L. Cohen, Mrs. Stanley Grossman, and Mrs. Merrill L. Hassenfeld, as vice presidents, and Mrs. Martin I. Dittelman as recording secretary.

The slate of officers and members of the board of directors for 1961-62 will be presented for approval to the membership at the fourth annual meeting of the Women's Division on Tuesday afternoon, April 25, at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel.

Under the by-laws of the GJC Women's Division, no officer may serve more than three consecutive years.

Serving on the nominating committee with Mrs. Gordon, chairman, are Mrs. Harry Fowler and Mrs. Abraham Percelay from the board of directors, and Mrs. E. Leonard Chaset and Mrs. Edmund I. Waldman from the membership-at-large.

To Celebrate Israel Bar Mitzvah At State-Wide Bond Dinner

The Jewish communities of Rhode Island will join in celebrating the thirteenth birthday of the State of Israel, at a state-wide dinner in celebration of Israel's Bar Mitzvah, on Sunday evening, May 7, at the Colony Motor Hotel in Cranston.

Guest of honor at the dinner will be His Excellency Michael S. Comay, Israel's Ambassador to the United Nations.

Mr. Comay previously served for over three years as Israel's Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to the Dominion of Canada. He served as a member of the first Israel Delegation to the United Nations in 1948, and again from 1954 through 1956.

The May 7 Bar Mitzvah Dinner is under the auspices of the Rhode Island Committees, State of Israel Bonds.

Robert A. Riesman is general chairman of the campaign, with Judge Frank Licht as chairman of the executive committee. Mrs. Louis I. Kramer is chairman of the Women's Division.

Harry A. Schwartz is chairman of the Israel Bond Committee in Pawtucket; Paul Bernon is chairman and Benjamin M. Falk, co-chairman of the Woonsocket Committee, and Dr. Samuel Adel-son, chairman of the Newport Committee.

Michael S. Comay

Included on the dinner committee are M. Louis Abedon, Saul Abrams, Mr. and Mrs. Max Alperin, Peter H. Bardach, Dr. Ilie Berger, Mr. and Mrs. Bertram L. Bernhardt, Mrs. Paul Bernon, Mrs. Perry Bernstein, Rabbi Eli A. Bohnen, Alter Boyman, Rabbi William G. Braude, Rabbi Abraham Chill, Mrs. Philip Dorenbaum, Mrs. Arthur Einstein, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Jay Fain, Harry Finkelstein, Alan S. Flink, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Gilbert, William Goldberg, Abraham E. Goldstein, Gardner L. Grant, Mrs. Max Greenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Grossman.

Also on the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Merrill L. Hassenfeld, Marvin S. Holland, Mrs. Julius Irving, Milton Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kirshenbaum, Lewis Korn, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Leeds, Rabbi Saul Leeman, Solomon Lightman, Mr. and Mrs.

(Continued on Page 4)

Plan Ceremonies For Day School Cornerstone Laying

The cornerstone laying ceremony for the new Providence Hebrew Day School will be held on Sunday, May 28, it was announced today by Jerome Feinstein, chairman of the building committee.

Construction already has started on the new ten classroom Hebrew Day School on Elmgrove Avenue between Savoy and Sargent Streets and it is expected to be completed for the opening of the Fall term next September. The $450,000 two-story brick structure will have accommodations for 350 pupils.

Initial plans for the cornerstone laying were made last week at a meeting of the Building Campaign Committee at the home of Max Alperin of 400 Blackstone Boulevard.

Joseph Dubin, Hebrew Day School president, announced that state officials, educators and leaders of the Jewish community will participate in the ceremonies. Also taking part will be the pupils of the Hebrew Day School.

Considered at this meeting were plans for school memorials. Thomas W. Pearlman, chairman of the memorial committee, said that several classrooms already have been dedicated in memory or honor of persons. Still available are the school auditorium, several classrooms and many smaller items, Mr. Pearlman said.

The old Providence Hebrew Day School was condemned for classroom use in 1958 by Providence building inspectors. Classes are now being conducted at Temple Emanuel.

Rabbi Akiva Egozi, director of the Hebrew Day School, said that the new structure will make possible the addition of some extra-curricular activities, athletics and daily services.

Archie Smith is chairman of the general fund raising committee of the school.

Eichmann To Rebut Hausner's Remarks On Jurisdiction

JERUSALEM — Adolf Eichmann opened the fight for his life Tuesday by challenging the right of three Israeli judges to try him on charges unparalleled in man's existence.

Dominating the proceedings on the second day of the trial here of the former head of the Gestapo's Jewish Affairs Section, Mr. Hausner, the chief prosecutor, took up the challenges made by chief defense counsel, Dr. Robert Servatius, of lack of jurisdiction, prejudice and retroactivity of the Israeli law for trying Nazi war criminals.

Mr. Hausner warned the three-judge court that if it ruled against Israel's right to try Eichmann, it was possible he would never be tried, "and a crime without precedent would not be punished".

Pointing his finger at the balding, little man in the defendant's dock, Attorney Hausner exclaimed:

"It is only possible to hope and believe that the sons will be different from the fathers, and a new generation will grow up which will not be called upon to answer for the sins of its fathers. But for him who committed these crimes there is no pardon and no atonement."

With yesterday a day of adjournment because of a national holiday, Martyrs' and Heroes' Remembrance Day, today the German lawyer will have an opportunity to rebut the remarks made Wednesday by the Israeli prosecutor.

This massive process of bringing up precedent to knock down and support each other's arguments on the basic legal points is not exciting news material, but it is critically important to both Israeli and Eichmann, to say nothing of international law. For new international law is being made in this trial.

A hint of a possible Eichmann kidnaping story to come next week was heard in the courtroom Wednesday when two potential witnesses, the pilot and the operations manager of the El Al Israeli Airlines, were summoned to the bench rail by the tribunal president, Supreme Court Justice Moshe Landau. He told them they

(Continued on Page 4)

Jewish Veterans Ask Review Of Rockwell Charter

WASHINGTON — Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, Jr., of Virginia, has been asked by the Jewish War Veterans of the U.S.A. to review the charter issued by Virginia that would "legalize" the so-called "American Nazi Party", headed by George Lincoln Rockwell, of Arlington, Va.

National executive director Joseph F. Barr, of the Jewish War Veterans, in a letter to Gov. Almond, asked that the Virginia State Corporation Commission "review the charter in terms of the history, conduct, and avowed purposes of the 'party' to which it was issued." He expressed confidence that Virginia would not hesitate to revoke the charter "upon judgement of the facts."

In the view of the Jewish veterans' organization, "the State of Virginia, in licensing a Nazi movement . . . after the death of so many thousands of American youth in the defeat of this ideology, has undertaken a step which cannot but help be broadcast around the world as supporting the extremist position . . ." The veterans thought "such a serious step" should be considered by Virginia's executive and legislative authorities.

Referring to Virginia as "the cradle of the nation's liberty," the veterans group said that to declare Nazism "legal" mocked the sacrifices of Virginians and others who died in World War Two to defeat this movement. "Mr. Rockwell, and members of his neo-Nazi gang, have been convicted a number of times for infractions of peace and order committed in the District of Columbia."

Citing a statement by the State Corporation Commission that the

(Continued on Page 4)

Mrs. Julius Irving

The following have been nominated to serve on the board of directors for a two-year term ending in 1963:

Mesdames Cyril L. Berkelhammer, E. Leonard Chaset, Harry T. Davis, M. Edgar Fain, Harry Fowler, Samuel Friedman, Sheldon L.

(Continued on Page 4)

So Much More at The

WINDSOR

THIS WEEKEND
MAKE IT
THE WINDSOR!

Enjoy ocean fresh delicious seafoods — juicy thick steaks, wonderful Italian dishes — perfect drinks all served in a pleasant atmosphere — moderate prices!

Milton Rigelhaupt
Managing Director

FOR DELICIOUS DINING VISIT THE

WINDSOR

377 MAIN STREET
DOWNTOWN
PAWTUCKET
• FREE PARKING •

PA 6-9761

Open Daily 11 A. M. to 1 A. M.
Orders Put Up To Take Out

Obituary

MAX SIEGAL

Funeral services for Max Siegal, 76, of 112 Upton Avenue, founder and president of the City Hall Store and for many years one of Providence's leading merchants, who died Monday after a long illness, were held Tuesday at Temple Beth-El. Burial was in the Congregation Sons of Israel and David Cemetery.

From humble beginnings as a paperboy and jewelry shop worker, Mr. Siegal and his wife and business partner, gradually built up one of the city's largest department stores.

The Siegals started in the hardware business in a small store in South Providence in 1907 and moved downtown in 1915, when they established the City Hall Hardware Store on the site now occupied by the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel. They moved to the present location at Washington and Snow Streets in 1922 and five years later erected a four-story building on that site.

The business has grown steadily over the years. An annex to the rear of the main store was opened in 1952, and in 1959 the store space was doubled by acquisition of an adjacent building on Westminster Street. The name was changed to City Hall Store in 1959 because of the expanded line of merchandise.

Mr. Siegal was born in Austria on Dec. 11, 1884, the son of the late Boruch and Rose (Smira) Siegal, and came to this country at the age of six.

Educated at the Peace Street public school, where he met his future wife, Mr. Siegal went to work at an early age. He peddled Providence Journals at the corner of Eddy and Westminster Streets, within a stone's throw of the spot where later he was to begin his career as a downtown merchant, and worked in jewelry shops.

Israel-U. S. Trade Hits Record
As Arab Boycott Fails

NEW YORK — Israel-American trade reached an all-time high of $152,337,600 in 1960, compared with $144,173,900 in 1959, despite the Arab League boycott campaign, the annual dinner of the American-Israel Chamber of Commerce and Industry was told recently.

Nathan Strauss III, president, who made the report, also presented to Baron Edmund de Rothschild, French financier and president of Transcontinental Pipelines, Ltd., builder and operator of Israel's new 16-inch oil pipeline, the Chamber's annual award of merit for the outstanding single contribution during the year to Israel's economic progress.

After living for a few months in Brooklyn, N. Y., where they were married, the Siegals opened a small hardware store on Eddy Street near Public Street in 1907. Business was poor and they soon moved to a slightly larger store on Prairie Avenue. Mr. Siegal continued working in jewelry shops while his wife ran the store but he spent his evenings decorating the windows and boning up on management problems.

Mrs. Siegal conducted the Prairie Avenue establishment for several years after the City Hall Hardware Store was opened downtown. But as the business expanded she joined her husband at the downtown location for a long and close partnership.

Mr. Siegal was known in retail circles throughout the country for his astute merchandising talents and remained fully active in the management of the store until his illness about six months ago. For many years he personally handled much of the advertising for the store.

Mr. Siegal was a director of the Retail Trade Board of the Providence Chamber of Commerce, a former treasurer of Temple Beth-El, and a member of the board of trustees of Miriam Hospital, the board of directors of the Jewish Home for the Aged, the Providence Lodge of Elks, the Town Criers, Roosevelt Lodge of Masons, the Jewish Community Center, B'nai B'rith Lodge, the Ledgemont and Metacomet Country Clubs, and one of the founders of the Rhode Island Workmen's Beneficial Association.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Rebecca (Berman) Siegal, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Ben F. Ruttenberg and Mrs. Samuel A. Hamin; a son, James M. Siegal, a brother Sigmund Abrams, seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren, all of Providence.

Honorary bearers consisted of the board of trustees of the Temple Beth-El where Mr. Siegal had served as treasurer, and 40 employees of the City Hall Store who had been associated with Mr. Siegal for 15 years or more.

Acting bearers were four grandsons, Bruce R. Ruttenberg, Jeffrey Ruttenberg, Irwin B. Hamin and Jack H. Zahler.

Attending the funeral were delegations from the Miriam Hospital where Mr. Siegal served on the board of trustees, and numerous organizations with which Mr. Siegal had been associated, including the Retail Board of Trade of the Providence Chamber of Commerce of which he was a director, and a delegation from the Jewish Home for the Aged.

Strauss asserted that the "threats and intimidation which the United States Government has characterized as 'unwarranted interference in the commercial relationships of American business firms' have failed to stem the surging growth of American-Israel economic relations."

Trade between the two countries in the fourth quarter of 1960 also was at a record high of $41,671,300, a 21% increase over the total of $34,243,300 in the same quarter of 1959. A breakdown of the data showed U. S. exports to Israel during 1960 of $118,410,900 worth of merchandise of U. S. origin and $6,665,800 worth of merchandise of other origin. In the same year, Israel exported $27,260,900 worth of goods to the U. S.

The award to de Rothschild described him as carrying on "an illustrious family tradition of vision and leadership in the upbuilding of the Land of Israel through the establishment of major economic enterprises." The 36-year-old Baron is the great-great-grandson of the founder of the Rothschild banking dynasty, and grandson of the first Edmond de Rothschild who, in the 1880s was a pioneer in the resettlement of Jews in Palestine.

Strauss said that by completing the $20,000,000 Eilat-Haifa pipeline, de Rothschild had fulfilled a forecast of his grandfather who in 1917, predicted "the emergence of a strong industrial Israel that would have a large port at Eilat to make Europe independent of Egypt and the Suez Canal."

MRS. SIMON FRANKS

Funeral services for Mrs. Jennie (Zette) Franks, 56, of Bayside, Long Island, a former Woonsocket resident who died April 5 after a long illness were held April 9 at the Max Sugarman Memorial Chapel. Burial was in B'nai Israel Cemetery in Woonsocket. She was the widow of Simon Franks.

Mrs. Franks was born in New York City on Oct. 29, 1904, a daughter of Louis and Annie (Netz) Zeitel, and had lived in Woonsocket for most of her life before moving to Long Island four years ago.

In addition to her parents, she leaves two daughters and two sons, the Misses Barbara and Vivian N. Franks, and Norman I. Franks, all at home, and Pfc. Kelvin F. Franks, USMC; two brothers, Harry and Coleman Zeitel, both of Providence, and two sisters, Mrs. Molly Singer, and Mrs. Louis Butterman, both of Pacoima, Calif.

DAVID BERMAN

Funeral services for David Berman, 70, of 3318 Post Road, Apoponaug, who died on April 1, were held at the Max Sugarman Memorial Chapel on April 3. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

Mr. Berman, a resident of Apoponaug for 37 years, had been associated with the I. M. Garr Market since he had moved to that city.

He was a member of the Providence Fraternal Association and the Workmen's Circle, Branch 251.

Besides his wife, Fannie (Garr) Berman, he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Paul Samuels of Cranston; Mrs. Arthur Darman of Dorchester, Mass., and Mrs. Samuel Berman of Providence; one sister, Mrs. Mollie Weinberg of Rochester, N. Y., and six grandchildren.

MORRIS FISHBEIN

Funeral services for Morris Fishbein, 62, of 786 Broad Street, Central Falls, who died on April 10, were held the following day at the Max Sugarman Memorial Chapel. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

Mr. Fishbein, the husband of Mrs. Rose (Young) Fishbein, was credit manager of the Young Furniture Company. He had been in the United States for 51 years and had lived in Central Falls for 24 years.

He was a member of the Ohave Sholam Synagogue of Pawtucket, and the Pawtucket Hebrew Free Loan Association.

Besides his wife, he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Henry Skirball of Chicago, Ill., Miss Carole Fishbein and Miss Renee Fishbein, and one sister, Mrs. Morris Klibanoff of Providence.

JACK BARAD

Funeral services for Jack Barad, manager of the Meshanticut Green, a Cranston restaurant, who died April 7, were held April 9 at the Max Sugarman Memorial Chapel. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

Known throughout the state for his wit and his songs, Mr. Barad could have claimed title as one of the most popular cafe men in Rhode Island.

During more than two decades at the cafe, which he had managed for the last 15 years, he became known for his imitation of Ted Lewis, for his singing of "Pennies From Heaven," and any number of old favorites.

His wit and repertoire of stories kept patrons laughing. For a long time he even kept a blond wig handy, donning it on occasions to amuse patrons.

Mr. Barad maintained residences at 67 Bragger Street, Warwick, and 228 Fifth Street, Providence.

Survivors besides his wife, Mrs. Agnes H. (McGurn) Barad, are a son, Robert L., of Warwick; a sister, Mrs. Barney Efros; three

(Continued on Page 5)

Unveiling Notices

The unveiling of a monument in memory of the late WILLIAM LUCHTIKER will take place on Sunday, April 16, at 2 P.M. in Lincoln Park Cemetery. The relatives and friends of Mrs. Ruth Luchiker and Mrs. Samuel Tippe are invited to attend.

The unveiling of a monument in memory of the late MORRIS H. KIRSHENBAUM will take place on Sunday, April 30, at 1 P.M. in Lincoln Park Cemetery. Relatives and friends are invited to attend. 4-28

The unveiling of a monument in memory of the late JACOB SCRIBNER will take place on Sunday, April 16, at 12:30 P.M. in Lincoln Park Cemetery. Relatives and friends are invited to attend. 4-14

Card of Thanks

The family of the late EDWARD NORMAN acknowledge with appreciation the many expressions of sympathy received during their recent loss. THE NORMAN FAMILY

Personally Supervised
By Mr. and Mrs. Mal

Everything For The New Baby

CRADLE

Converts easily to portable crib, travel bed, bassinette, cradle. Pendulum type, noiseless action. Brass plated hardware. Others from $15.

Mal's Is Completely Stocked With
All the Necessities to Welcome
the New Baby

And All
at the Right
Price!
We Also Have A Complete Stock of Toys

CARRIAGE

A pride on wheels. This Holland Continental coach is in the Blue Ribbon class, different, of course, yet styled to modern fashion. Others from $10.

COME IN AND BROWSE AROUND!

MAL'S
TOY AND BABY
SUPERMART

163 Mineral Spring Ave., Pawt. - PA 5-2122
Open Every Nite Till 9

Max Sugarman Funeral Home

"THE JEWISH FUNERAL DIRECTOR"

— MONUMENTS OF DISTINCTION —

DE 1-8094

458 Hope Street

DE 1-8636

The First Jewish Avenger

By Leo Heiman

I actually fired the first shot of the Second World War. I pulled the trigger three years before the war really started, and more than five years before Jews went to their doom in gas chambers and extermination camps. But I knew even then, at that early date, that I was striking a blow for the honor and liberty of my people. By killing Wilhelm Gustloff, the Nazi leader in Switzerland, I redeemed my own conscience. Twenty-five years have passed since that day but I still have no regrets other than I did not kill other Nazi leaders as well. Had I known in advance what the consequences of my action were going to be, I would have done it again and again, without a moment's hesitation.

The man who spoke these words was David Frankfurter, as we met in his modest apartment in the Ramat-Gan suburb of Tel Aviv. This is his story.

On February 4, 1936, as dusk was gathering over the snow-covered ridges of the Swiss Alps, a series of pistol shots shattered the calm of Davos, a resort in the mountains of southeastern Switzerland. A heavy-set German, blood gushing from his chest, crumpled on the rug in front of his writing desk. Crouching over the Nazi's body was 26-year-old David Frankfurter, the first avenger of the Jewish people against the Nazis.

Twenty-five years later, I shook the hand which killed Wilhelm Gustloff. 51-year-old David Frankfurter, now an Israeli Government official, looks as if he had no worry in the world, except grocery bills, new furniture for his sitting room, and a new dress for his wife. A receding hairline and wrinkles around the eyes, heavier jowls and slightly stooped shoulders mark the passage of time.

Recalling the past, Frankfurter observed in his quiet matter-of-fact voice: "Few people at that time believed that the Nazis really meant to exterminate all Jews. In fact, as shown by captured German documents and confessions of Nazi war criminals, Hitler and his gang did not adopt the idea of actual physical annihilation of the Jewish people until 1941. Till then, the Nazis simply meant to eliminate all Jews from the areas under German control or occupation by economic strangulation, legal oppression and deportation, with occasional murders, pogroms and torture to speed up this process."

He paused and his voice rose in emphasis: "But I knew that Hitler meant what he said as soon as he came to power. Killing Wilhelm Gustloff was both a success and a failure as far as I was concerned. Personally, it was for me an act of spiritual redemption. I knew that I had done my best in the struggle against Nazism. Had other Jews followed my example, I am sure that events would have taken another course. But the Jewish people failed to see the significance of my action. They remained passive until they were herded into gas chambers and crematoria. This is the reason why I say my action was a failure. It failed to arouse the Jewish people and left things exactly as they were before."

After keeping silent for 25 years, David Frankfurter decided to speak up on the eve of Adolf Eichmann's trial. What particularly excited him was the reiterated statement that the trial would enable the new Germany to grasp the magnitude of its crimes and thus be impelled to reform. "Foolish Jews are deluding themselves again," David Frankfurter said heatedly. "They do not understand that even if a wolf disguises himself as a lamb he remains a wolf. The Germans have not changed. They remain the same Germans they were under Bismarck, under the Kaiser and under Hitler. Current political realities and their own economic prosperity put them on their good behavior for the time being. But it will take generations to determine whether the nature of Germany has changed. Personally, I do not believe it has."

Dr. Moshe Frankfurter, David's father, was the rabbi of a small Jewish community in northern Yugoslavia. He gave his son a traditional Jewish education, coupled with modern European learning. In 1929, at the age of 19, David left his parents' home to study medicine at the famed university of Leipzig, Germany. The Nazis under Hitler were bidding for power, and that feeble democratic German state, the Weimar Republic, did nothing to oppose them.

In 1933, Hitler was elected leader of Germany. "He was no usurper of power," Frankfurter points out, "and people seem to forget today that Hitler attained power not by any civil war or revolution but through a legal election in which he won a clear majority of the vote. The German nation wanted him as their leader."

By that time, Jewish students at German colleges and universities were already being beaten up by Nazi thugs. But his Yugoslav passport protected David who applied for a transfer to Frankfurt. He enrolled at the Frankfurt University but neglected his studies. His real mission, as he conceived it, was to organize resistance among the Frankfurt Jews, then Germany's oldest and most prosperous Jewish community.

He was ridiculed and laughed out of Jewish homes. People thought him a crackpot. No one believed the Nazis were serious about their anti-Jewish program. Not even when Nazi storm troopers picketed Jewish shops and stores, and one anti-Jewish law followed another, did the Jews of Germany wake up to the full extent of the danger threatening them.

Only one elderly Jew accepted David's views without hesitation. His son had been killed by the Nazis in one of the first concentration camps, and he himself had been tortured by Gestapo thugs until his body was broken and he was released from jail as a cripple. After his release, he obtained a pistol and decided to kill Hermann Goering, who was then in charge of organizing the Nazi Gestapo and concentration camps. But his injuries prevented him from carrying out the plan. On his deathbed, the elderly Jew handed over the gun to David Frankfurter and begged him to avenge the suffering of the Jewish people by killing Goering during his forthcoming visit to Frankfurt.

David hid the gun in the inside pocket of his jacket and began the wait for Goering's arrival at the railroad station. A few days later, he saw a cordon of SS and police troopers thrown around the station square. He moved from Kaiserstrasse, where he was strolling with the gun under his jacket, towards the station buildings, pushing through the crowd towards the main entrance. Goering and his entourage were already visible at a short distance, when a German police officer became suspicious of David. He moved to intercept him, but the young Jewish student noticed the Nazi, dived back into the crowd and disappeared among the cheering Germans.

Still, it was dangerous to remain in Frankfurt. David packed up and left for Switzerland, where he enrolled at the University of Berne. This was in 1935, years before the world and the Jewish people became aware of the Nazi danger. At that time, the Germans were considering taking over Switzerland as well as Austria. "All German-speaking countries belong to Greater Germany," Hitler told his generals and party gauleiters.

Gauleiter Wilhelm Gustloff, a Nazi thug from the early beer-hall brawling days, was sent by Hitler to Switzerland, to organize pro-German groups, Nazi underground cells and a fifth-column to soften up the country for an eventual German invasion. He had set up his headquarters in Davos, a skiing resort in southeastern Switzerland. Frankfurter heard Gustloff addressing one of the pro-Nazi meetings in Switzerland. He under-

(Continued on Page 6)

1,000 Lamps Brighten History

In 1925 a New Yorker visiting Palestine was offered a grubby, ancient clay lamp by a farmer who had dug up a potato-sackful. A trade was consummated, and a new collector born.

According to a New York Times article by Sanka Knox, the purchase, by Mrs. Miriam S. Schloessinger, was the first in a series that, after years of windfalls and diligent seeking, grew to probably the largest archaeological collection of lamps in private hands.

The little lamp now has 1,000 companions, all of which shed their murky light in the Mediterranean area and now, with a few exceptions, are destined to return whence they came.

The collection was recently presented by Mrs. Schloessinger to the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, together with a grant of $214,000 for the establishment of a chair in Islamic studies.

Some lamps that duplicate specimens in the university's collection will go to institutions here.

Thirty-five years of collecting have only served to put a fine edge on Mrs. Schloessinger's zeal.

"I'm always running uptown to look at lamps," she said, although in her home lamps are everywhere — in cases, on furniture, in trunks and drawers of chests.

Each lamp is catalogued and each has a place in Mediterranean history that Mrs. Schloessinger can usually fit it into. But there are some puzzling bits that do not fit.

One of the puzzles in what she calls "a collector's perplexed but fascinating life" is a Palestinian lamp decorated with a Christian cross and the menorah, the Jewish seven-branched candlestick.

The several thousand years reflected in the collection showed that, basically, the lamp as a receptacle for oil and one wick or more, had changed little, Mrs. Schloessinger noted. Workmanship and applied design varied widely, however.

Each One Tells a Story
Greek and Augustan Roman lamps are among the finest treasures, and one among the many Jewish lamps lacks a counterpart. It is of bronze, of the fourth century, with the menorah as a handle and it bears other Hebrew symbols.

Mrs. Schloessinger does not view the one-time domestic utensils entirely as archaeological rarities or subjects for study. As she once wrote:

"We owe a debt of gratitude to all the lampmakers throughout the ages for what the spirit of the lamp has done to soothe man's troubled soul, to bring him inner peace, to help him clarify his thoughts during the quiet hours of nighttime study over his scrolls, his cuneiform tablets, his parchment or his books."

Use Herald Classified ads.

Summer Rental BARRINGTON BEACH

Beautiful 6 room ranch, heated, tile kitchen and bath, large enclosed yard.

PA 2-1951

Entertaining?

We Have Everything
Weddings • Showers • Birthdays
Complete Party & Gift Line
HELEN'S CARDS & GIFTS
718 Reservoir Ave., Cranston

All forms of personal and business insurance including • Life • Accident • Group • Fire • Automobile • Casualty • Bonds

Murry M. Halpert

800 Howard Bldg.

DE 1-9100

Residence: DE 1-6949

The keys to Happiness are within Reach of your Fingers!

- Try our new P.H. ONE METHOD for Accordion. Learn three times faster than any other method on the market today.
- Private or group lessons for children and adults.
- Call today for full particulars.

— ENROLL NOW! —

LUCA MUSIC STUDIOS

648 Charles St., Prov. and 1540 Mineral Spring Ave., North Prov.
Next to DeLuxe Auto Body
Phone EL 3-1629 — If no answer TE 1-9491

FRED SPIGEL'S KOSHER FOOD CENTER

225 - 229 PRAIRIE AVENUE

GA 1-8555

MA 1-6055

Weekend Specials

Spring LAMB CHOPS 1b 59c

PRIME OR CHOICE

Whole STEER RIBS 1b 59c

ALL NEW FAMILY SIZE

Pure Corn MAZOLA OIL 1 1/2 qt 89c

ALL FLAVORS

AMERICAN SODA 2 for 25c

RASPBERRY AND STRAWBERRY—SAVE 25c—REG. 31c

ECLIPSE SYRUP 4 for 99c

NESCAFE

INSTANT COFFEE GIANT 10 OZ SIZE 10 oz 1.39

50 EXTRA GOLD BOND STAMPS

WITH PURCHASE OF 1/2 GAL.

ICE CREAM

Any Flavor — 1/2 gal 59c

From Tuesday to Friday

- Our -

FISH DEPARTMENT OPEN DAILY

- With -

FRESH WATER FISH

Sabbath Information

Housewives!
Light Sabbath Candles

Tonight: 6:06

Next Friday at

6:14 P.M.

East Providence Schools To Excuse Jewish Pupils From Saturday Classes

East Providence public schools will excuse Jewish school children and teachers from attendance at a special make-up day scheduled for Saturday, June 3, as a result of a letter from Rabbi Saul Leeman, president of the Rhode Island Rabbinical Association.

In his letter, Rabbi Leeman said that scheduling of school on a Saturday would result in an injustice to members of the Jewish community since it would place school children and teachers "in the uncomfortable position of being forced into a violation of his religious convictions by being required to attend school on the Sabbath day."

The East Providence school committee also agreed that in future years make-up days would not be scheduled on Saturdays. They retained this year's schedule since they felt that members of the school department as well as students and their parents had made too many commitments since the announcement of the make-up days to allow for change at this time.

The schedule, which was adopted to fulfill the state's requirement of a 180-day school year, requires that school be open on May 29 and June 3.

Favors Federal Aid To Parochial Schools

WASHINGTON — Rabbi Morris Sherer, executive vice-president of the Orthodox Agudath Israel of America "strongly" favored Federal aid to parochial schools. He said his organization deplored the "incorrect image" of the Jewish position on the issue as being one of total opposition to such aid.

He testified at the House Subcommittee on Labor and Education hearing on the Kennedy Administration school aid bill in which financial assistance to parochial schools is barred on the grounds that such Federal aid constitutes a violation of the Constitution which separates State from Church.

PFEFFER OPPOSED

Dr. Leo Pfeffer, general counsel of the American Jewish Congress testified support of parochial schools would represent "the most serious assault upon the wall of separation between church and state in the history of our nation." He added that "it might well mark the beginning of the end of our public school system."

Rabbi Sherer, in the first stand by any Jewish spokesman before Congress in favor of Federal aid to religious schools, cited "a network of 251 elementary and secondary parochial schools" created by American Orthodox Jews "under extremely difficult financial circumstances."

BIAS CHARGED

He said that it was the view of his organization that to deny to the "tax-paying American citizens of the Orthodox Jewish faith" who send their children to religious schools "the benefit of their taxes to help defray the large expenses of maintaining the Jewish parochial school system for their children is a discrimination which is not in accordance with basic American ideals."

He urged that "Federal aid to parochial schools be included in any government program of school support" and said that such aid had nothing to do with the principle of State-Church separation.

Present Plans For Enlarging Miriam Hospital

Plans for a major construction project were presented at the Annual Meeting of the Miriam Hospital which was held Sunday at the Colony Motor Hotel.

Approximately $5,000,000 will be needed to accomplish the project planned for the expansion of the hospital facilities. By obtaining $2,000,000 in voluntary contributions, it is hoped that with borrowing and anticipated government grants, the necessary amount for the building fund will be obtained. The plans call for increasing and improving the other facilities of the hospital.

Officers and members of the board were elected at the annual meeting. Their names appeared in last week's Herald.

Bond Dinner

(Continued From Page 1)

David Meyers, Mrs. Samuel Michaelson, Thomas W. Pearlman, Dr. Samuel Pritzker, Israel Resnick, Joseph W. Ress, Mrs. Robert A. Riesman, Julius G. Robinson, Samuel Rosen, Alexander Rumppler, Mrs. Leonard I. Salmonson, Rabbi and Mrs. Morris Schusheim, Mrs. Beryl Segal, Dr. Carroll M. Silver, Morton Smith, Sheldon S. Sollosy, Harold D. Sugarman, Charles Swartz, Martin M. Temkin, Joseph Thaler, Harold Weiner, Mrs. Herman A. Winkler, Miss Ella Zelnicker.

Mrs. Irving

(Continued from Page 1)

Gerber, Simon Gordon, Leo Greenberg, Robert Hochberg, Alfred Jaffe, Sol Koffler, Oscar Leach, Irving M. Leven, Frank Licht, Max Margolis, Lawrence A. Paley, Joseph W. Ress, A. Louis Rosenstein, and Edwin A. Soforenko.

Serving on the board of directors for a term ending in 1962 are: Mesdames Carl Arbitman, Irving Baker, Herman L. Bennett, Augustus F. Elias, Irving J. Fain, Herman S. Galkin, Stanley R. Gilbert, Samuel Gereboff, Adrian Goldstein, Edmond W. Goldstein, Irving C. Goldfarb, Louis I. Kramer, Marshall Leeds, John J. Lury, David Meyers, Alexander Rumppler, Joseph J. Sefer, Albert Shore, James Siegal and Joseph Waksler.

Serving on the board of directors for a one year term ending in 1962 by virtue of holding an office or a chairmanship during the preceding year are: Mrs. Irving Fain, Mrs. Arthur Kaplan, and Mrs. Benjamin Rossman.

Named to the nominating committee for 1962 are Mrs. Abraham Percelay, chairman; Mrs. Simon Gordon and Mrs. Leonard I. Salmonson from the board of directors, and Mrs. Sidney W. Lohman and Mrs. Edmund I. Waldman from the membership-at-large.

Mrs. Joseph J. Sefer is chairman of the meeting, and Mrs. M. Edgar Fain is in charge of the reception to be held following the meeting.

TO VISIT ISRAEL

JERUSALEM — Former President Eisenhower has accepted an invitation from President Itzhak Ben-Zvi of Israel to visit that country. He will visit Israel as part of a planned trip through the Middle East, it was disclosed here last week.

Honor Irving J. Fain As 'Man Of The Year'

Irving Jay Fain was honored as the "Man of the Year" by the Temple Sinai Men's Club at its first annual award dinner held Thursday at the Colony Motor Hotel.

A scholarship instituted by the Men's Club was given in the name of the man of the year to a Rhode Island student in a Rhode Island college or university.

Toastmaster for the evening was Allen J. White, president of Temple Sinai Brotherhood. Greetings were given by Governor John A. Notte; Solomon Stern, representing the New England Council of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, and Philip A. Segal, Jr., president of Temple Sinai.

Cantor Harold Dworkin of Temple Beth El presented a musical tribute to Mr. Fain, and tributes were also given by Albert Vorspan, director of the Commission of Social Action of the UAHC, and Rabbi William G. Braude of Temple Beth El.

After remarks by Mr. Fain, presentations were made by Rabbi Donald Heskins of Temple Sinai. These presentations took the form of a guest book with the names of all those attending, a book of tributes from people who have written from all parts of the country, and the scholarship.

Nathaniel I. Sandler was chairman of the dinner committee. The opening prayer was given by Rabbi Jerome S. Gurlund of Temple Beth El and the closing prayer by Rev. Roland J. Palangio of the Park Place Congregational Church of Pawtucket.

Rockwell

(Continued from Page 1)

Nazi charter application disclosed "no illegal purpose," hence a charter was issued "automatically," the JWV took issue. The JWV said "We cannot conceive of how a charter application, bearing not only an open proclamation of Nazism but flaunting the swastika symbol of a foreign enemy ideology which declared and waged aggressive war against America, can be considered to disclose 'no illegal purpose.' Were the purposes of Adolf Hitler, now revived by Mr. Rockwell, to be viewed as 'legal'?"

The JWV told Gov. Almond that Nazism and its leaders were tried and convicted by U.S. Military Courts and the International Nuremberg Tribunal. It was noted that Nazi crimes fell not only upon Europeans but "Nazis were convicted of murdering unarmed American prisoners - of - war at Malmedy, Belgium."

Said the veterans: "Recognition of a Nazi movement today as 'legal' is an insult to the memory of . . . the mortal remains of those who lie in hallowed ground in Arlington National Cemetery . . . in the very area of your State, Arlington, where you have approved the revival of Nazism as 'legal'."

It was also noted by the JWV that "the Communist propaganda apparatus throughout the world has exploited the strutting of Mr. Rockwell and his 'storm troopers' in Nazi uniforms, wearing swastika arm-bands, at various rallies and picketing disturbances. The Communists are cynically using photographs and films of the Rockwell group in attempts to propagandize the world with the line that America is 'Fascist' and such aberrations typical."

Israeli Press Censorship Causes Heated Discussion

By Aaron Zwergbaum

As a byproduct of the so called "Lavon Affair" a heated discussion has developed in Israel whether the nation's press is free or unduly restricted by censorship. The allegations made recently by Senator Fulbright in the U. S. Senate to the effect that Israel practices undemocratic censorship have added topical interest to this subject.

Freedom of press is generally understood to mean the right to publish news and express opinions in newspapers with a minimum of government interference or control, subject to the general provisions of the criminal law. It belongs to those civil rights and liberties which are the cornerstone of every democratic society. In most democratic countries it is expressly guaranteed in a constitution; in Israel, it is not, for the simple reason that the country does not yet possess a written constitution. Although there is at present no written law in Israel which explicitly guarantees freedom of the press, this freedom may be inferred from the spirit of the Israel Declaration of Independence and from the various provisions governing matters of the press. The express restrictions limit somewhat but do not nullify this implicit guarantee.

The Press Ordinance enacted by the British in 1936 is still valid. It decrees that a permit must be obtained from the Minister of Interior for the publication of a newspaper. This system of licensing is, of course, hardly consistent with the principle of freedom of press in the strict sense of the term. But, it must be stressed, the minister uses his powers sparingly and does not place obstacles in the way of those who wish to add a further newspaper to the considerable number that now appear in Israel. This is true of even applications to publish papers in languages other than Hebrew or to anti-Government journals.

One cannot regard as an undue restriction of the freedom of press the provision that whenever a person is convicted of printing seditious or libelous matter, the court may prohibit the publication of the newspaper, either permanently or for a limited period. Quite another matter, however, is the administrative suspension of a newspaper. The Minister of Interior is empowered by the Press Ordinance to suspend the publication of a newspaper, if any matter appearing therein is, in his opinion, likely to endanger the public peace, or if the newspaper publishes false news calculated to create public should hold themselves in readiness beginning Monday to appear as witness on three hours' telephone notice. They have been sought by the Eichmann defense as witnesses to testify about the circumstances under which he was taken from Argentina. Dr. Servatius's request to the court to order them to testify is under consideration.

Eichmann

(Continued from Page 1)

Rebutting the contention of the defense that Eichmann, the individual, could not be held accountable for the actions of the regime itself, Attorney General Hausner asserted Wednesday that crimes against international law are committed by men, not by abstract entities and the "authors of these acts cannot shelter themselves behind their official position in order to be freed from punishment."

alarm. Before issuing such an order the Minister is entitled, though not obliged, to warn the publisher and the editor that, if the publication of such matter is continued, he will consider the suspension of the paper. However, he may decree the suspension without such previous warning.

It may be observed that the administration has far-reaching powers which constitute a potential--if not actual--restriction of the freedom of press. However, again it should be emphasized that the Minister of Interior has so far used his powers only rarely and in quite exceptional cases. But even more important is the fact that the Supreme Court is a faithful guardian of all civil rights, including freedom of press, and exerts the utmost vigilance in guarding against any abuse by the Minister of his legal authority.

Thus, the Supreme Court has upheld the principle of freedom of the press, even when this freedom has been invoked by those who would immediately abolish such freedoms if they were to succeed in seizing power. In October 1953, for example, the Supreme Court annulled the suspension of the Communist papers KOL HA'AM and AL ITTIHAD, ordered by the Minister of Interior on the ground that those papers had published the false news that the Israel ambassador to a certain country had offered it Israel's military aid in the event of an armed conflict between that country and the Soviet Union. The minister also charged that this published matter was subversive.

The court ruled, however, that the minister is not entitled to order the suspension of a newspaper merely because the published matter in his opinion displays subversive tendencies. He must be satisfied that the published matter has created a grave risk of a breach of the public peace. The articles in the Communist papers had used very strong language, the Court conceded, but they gave no reasonable ground for supposing that because of them a breach of the public peace was likely to ensue. The court stated:

Unless we wish to abolish every facility for the discussion and clarification of political issues, in utter disregard of the important public interest vested in the freedom of the press, and unless we wish to abandon the test of demanding that the negative influence of the published matter on the public peace should at least appear as probably, we cannot but set aside the orders of suspension.

The most stringent restriction on the freedom of the Israeli press is the preventive censorship on security grounds, established in the Emergency Regulations of 1945, and dating from the time of the British Mandate. It is true that such preventive censorship, which compels newspapers to submit to the censor articles that may bear on the security of the state, exists today in few, if any, democratic countries. However, one must in fairness remember that Israel is surrounded by countries that openly avow their intention of annihilating her and which still proclaim that a state of war exists. This extraordinary situation certainly justifies measures which, in other circumstances, would appear to be unduly restrictive. As long as the present state of emergency lasts, Israel cannot permit that vital information on military matters reaches her avowed enemies. (To Be Continued Next Week)

Story Of Terezin Horrors Revealed By Eye Witness

WASHINGTON — An eye-witness account of the deprecations and cruelties against Jews, ordered during World War II by Nazi SS Col. Adolf Eichmann, has been compiled by the Czechoslovakian Government and furnished to Israeli authorities, the Czech Embassy here announced last week.

The report, disseminated by the Czech Embassy, comprises testimony by a Czech sanitation engineer, Josef Pacovsky, who was interred for three and a half years at the concentration camp of Terezin, north of Prague.

Pacovsky's testimony shows that Eichmann personally ordered the establishment of a large ghetto in Terezin, in October, 1941. Between 1941 and 1945, Pacovsky declared, 152,000 Jewish men, women and children passed through the Terezin camp. Of the total, he asserted, 87,000 were sent to extermination chambers at Auschwitz, Treblink and Maidanek, while more than 34,000 died at Terezin. "At the end of the war," Pacovsky declared, "a mere 3,300 were left alive at Terezin."

In his testimony, the Czech engineer said that Eichmann and his henchmen were rounding up thousands of Jews telling them they were being sent to a special resort, "Terezin Spa." When Red Cross workers were scheduled to visit the camp, to check on the treatment accorded there to Jews from Denmark, Eichmann ordered that Terezin be "dressed up," having new apartments built and furnishing decent clothing to the inmates.

Pacovsky said that the Jews were forbidden to talk to the Red Cross workers, the rabbi of the camp being ordered to deliver an address in which he thanked the Germans for their "excellent treatment."

Hyman Cohen of New Bedford, and six grandchildren.

MRS. MAX STIEGEL

Funeral services for Mrs. Freda (Kaplan) Stiegel, wife of Max Stiegel of Springfield, Mass., formerly of Providence, who died April 9, were held the following day in Springfield, Mass.

Among her survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Saul Katz of Providence, and Mrs. Samuel Arbeitsman of Warwick, and a brother, Samuel Kaplan of Cranston.

Excellent opportunities are in the Herald's Classified ads.

Senate Approves Jewish Governor

WASHINGTON — The Senate approved by voice vote last week the nomination of Ralph Palewonsky as Governor of the Virgin Islands. He is the third Jewish Governor of the Islands.

Several Senators of both parties spoke in the nominee's behalf. Sen Hubert H. Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat, praised the nominee and said the appointment was particularly popular in the Islands.

The new Governor's family first arrived in the Virgin Islands from Russia in 1870 and started a small dry goods store. The new Governor was born in Saint Thomas, one of the Islands, 53 years ago and received part of his education in Brooklyn and at New York University.

The family controls a distillery which makes half of the famous Virgin Islands rum, motion picture theatres, stores and extensive real estate holdings.

Obituary

(Continued from Page 2)

brothers, Charles and Frank of Providence and Alexander of Las Vegas, and one granddaughter.

MRS. REBECCA COHEN

Funeral services for Mrs. Rebecca (Walder) Cohen, 75, of 21 James Street, New Bedford, Mass., who died on April 5, were held the same day. Burial was in Plainville Cemetery, New Bedford. She was the widow of Nathan Cohen.

Born in Russia, she came to this country in 1906. Mrs. Cohen was a member of Chesed Shelemes, Tifereth Israel and Ahavath Achim Synagogues. She was also a member of the Hebrew Ladies' Helping Hand Society, Hebrew Free Loan Society, Workmen's Circle, Golden Age Group, Council of Jewish Women, Hadassah, Jewish War Veterans Auxiliary, Fall River Jewish Home for the Aged, Brandeis Auxiliary and Pioneer Women.

She is survived by two sons, Barney Cohen of Pawtucket and

CLASSIFIED OPPORTUNITIES

Classified Advertising Rates: 8c per word; $1.75 minimum for 18 words. 25c discount if paid before insertion. Call UNION 1-3709. Deadline Wednesday noon.

BARRINGTON RANCH, 17 Lorraine Street, 3, 4, and 5 room apartments. Near Beach. $175 up for season. DE 1-8899.

GOVERNOR FRANCIS custom ranch, 6 large rooms, 2 baths, attached garage, full cellar, convenient schools, shops, transportation, Beth Am. Low $20's. Leaving state. HO 3-8381.

EAST SIDE, 19 Whiting Street, 5 rooms, second, tiled bath, inlaid, venetians, storm windows, screened porch, garage. DE 1-3886.

PROMOTION in doubt??? Tutoring, diagnostic testing, remedial reading. Qualified teacher. Time openings available. PA 2-0102.

ATTENTION — men and middle aged widowers. Am interested in organizing a get-together. Box 590, the Herald.

ROOM FOR RENT — student or woman. Near Providence College, large, spacious, pleasant room, nice neighborhood. Bus line. DE 1-8061.

LENAS HAZEDEK Congregation announces a 6 room apartment over the congregation for rent. All modern improvements, oil heat. Prefer Jewish family. Apply 5:30 P.M. to 7 P.M. evenings. 4-14

FOR SALE — Barrington beach, bright, airy, 6 room ranch house, disposal, tile kitchen, tile bath. PL 1-7269. ufn

$21,000 GRANT

TEL. AVIV — The Ford Foundation has granted $21,000 to the Haifa Technion for special research on ventilation problems in housing in hot climates. It was announced here last week. Baruch Givoni, research engineer at the Technion, was appointed head of the project which is expected to last two years.

THE COLOR HOUSE

1107 RESERVOIR AVE. - Between Garden City and Park Avenue, Cranston, R. I.

Quality Paints & Wallpaper

SAFETY HINT: Never use ordinary paint for baby's crib or playpen. Use Color Plastic. We have it!

To Hold Meeting — Mrs. Albert Pilavin newly-appointed Hadassah Hebrew University Medical Center chairman of the Providence Chapter of Hadassah, will hold a committee meeting at her home at 601 Elm-grove Avenue on Thursday.

Members of her committee include Mesdames Samuel Rapa-porte, Jr., treasurer; Irving A. Wiener, secretary; Bertram Bernhardt, Abraham Berman, Benjamin Brier, Archie Fain, Irving Jay Fain, Saul Feinberg, Merrill Hassenfeld, Samuel Michaelson, Joseph Ress, Nathan Samors, William Weinstein and Irving Pat Fain, ex-officio.

A Herald ad always gets the best results—our subscribers comprise an active buying market.

Excellent opportunities are in the Herald's Classified ads.

10 YEARS WITH CONN. MUTUAL LIFE

Consultant for income, corporation, estate and gift taxes. Approved company and private pensions. Executive compensation plans. Non-Can Sickness and Accident Coverage.

BERNARD ROSEMAN
732 Industrial Bank Bldg. Providence 3 GA 1-5401

HEADQUARTERS FOR:

- AIRLINE TICKETS
- SHIP TICKETS
- CRUISES
- HOTELS
- RESORTS
- VACATION PACKAGES

Travelers Cheques Go Now—Pay Later World-Wide Service

TOURIST TRAVEL BUREAU, Inc.
776 HOPE ST., PROV. GA 1-9422
Officially Approved Sales Agency

THE RHODE ISLAND HERALD, FRIDAY, APRIL 14, 1961

FREE ESTIMATES REASONABLE RATES

GENERAL CLEANING

HOUSEHOLD -- COMMERCIAL

Windows • Floors • Wall Cleaning • Rug Shampooing

ABLE JANITOR SERVICE

DExter 1-9709

lively minds (like yours) like
THE R. I. JEWISH HERALD

Lively is as lively thinks. In a sense, Herald readers are born, not made. They are equipped from the start with a hunger for more than the bare bones of life — a desire to know the How and the Why as well as the What. Such lively minds take naturally to the Herald, for here is information transmuted into knowledge, knowledge given the extra dimensions of wisdom. Were you born a Herald reader?

The Herald finds it necessary many times to edit or omit news releases submitted for publication. The choice of articles to be omitted is purely arbitrary. Omissions are due to lack of space.

The First Jewish Avenger

(Continued from Page 3)

stood that the Germans really meant to invade the quiet country, the last refuge of fugitive Jews in Central Europe.

In the first days of February 1936, Frankfurter went by train from Berne to Davos, registered at a local hotel and looked up Gustloff's address in the telephone directory. He then proceeded to that address and rang the bell of the Nazi leader's apartment. The Nazi himself opened the door. "What do you want?" he asked sharply. "Are you Wilhelm Gustloff?" "Yes," he answered and repeated impatiently, "what do you want?"

Before Gustloff could speak further, Frankfurter drew his gun and fired three shots into the German. Gustloff staggered back towards his desk and groped for the telephone. Frankfurter shot him again and fled but not before he was seen by Frau Gustloff, the Nazi's widow, who had rushed into the corridor and seen him fire the last shot into her husband's body.

About an hour later, when Frankfurter surrendered to the Swiss police, she was called to identify her husband's killer. "Yes, it is he," she told the police. Turning to Frankfurter, she burst out: "How could you kill my husband? What did he do to you? You look so honest, and yet you are a murderer!"

"Frau Gustloff," Frankfurter replied proudly, "I am a Jew, and that explains everything...."

Frankfurter was sentenced to 18 years in jail. As it turned out, his incarceration in a Swiss prison saved his life, because the infuriated Nazis sent trained gunmen to kill him, or kidnap him to Germany.

The Nazis honored the slain man. They built a warship and named it Wilhelm Gustloff. During the Second World War, a special Jew-killing Nazi formation, known as SS Polizei-Regiment Wilhelm Gustloff, was set up to carry out massacres of Jews and punitive expeditions against ghettos.

Frankfurter was safe and active in the Swiss jail. He learned gardening, tailoring and bookkeeping. But he was unhappy, not so much because he was a prisoner, but because the Jews of Switzerland opposed his wishes for a re-trial. They wanted him to ask for clemency and conditional release, without bringing up the Gustloff assassination once again before the courts. Only the Swiss themselves appreciated Frankfurter's action. "You rid Switzerland of a poisonous black spider who was enmeshing us in a web of Nazi conspiracy and intrigue," one of the prison wardens told Frankfurter.

In 1945, after Germany's surrender and after he had served nine years of his 18-year sentence, Frankfurter was pardoned by the legislative council of southeastern Switzerland, by a majority of 78 to 12. On his release he found that his father had been executed by the Germans in 1941, but that his brother had survived the war in one of the concentration camps.

Both Frankfurter brothers emigrated to Israel. In Jerusalem, the Jewish Agency appointed David chief of its war invalids rehabilitation section. He fell in love with an Israeli social worker in one of the immigration transit camps and married her. They moved to Tel Aviv, where David entered the government civil service. He rather enjoyed being unknown and forgotten. Few people remembered the events of 1936. For most people the events of 1936 were overshadowed by the Second World War, the holocaust which nearly wiped out the Jews of Europe.

Actually, it was not only the impending Eichmann trial which made Frankfurter speak up against the "blindness of his people." What moved him to break his silence was a news item carried by the local papers which reported that some 20,000 Israelis had left their country to resettle in Germany.

"It will take another Hitler to teach them their lesson, but I doubt if they'll ever learn."

RACES START

RAYNHAN, MASS. — The final six nights of schooling races at Raynham Park get underway Monday. Thus far in the pre-opening program, Racing Secretary Leo Hartwell has staged one hundred and thirtyone schooling races in which a thousand greyhounds have competed. Thirty races are carded for Monday starting at seven o'clock.

The Bristol County oval opens officially for its 22nd season on Tuesday night, April 18th.

ORGANIZATION NEWS

QUOTA DINNER

The Roger Williams Chapter, Hope Chapter, and Cranston-Warwick Chapter of B'nai Brith Women will sponsor a Quota Dinner to be held April 26 at 6:30 P.M. at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel.

Entertainment will feature Jerry Shane, comedian.

Guest speaker will be Lester Stone, attorney and associate member of the executive committee of the New York Regional Advisory Board of the Anti-Defamation League. Mrs. Harry Davis is program Chairman.

TOURNAMENT

The sponsors of the first annual Mah Jong Tournament which was held at the Cranston Jewish Center have announced that prizes were won by Mesdames Bert Resnick, first; Ethel Rose, second; Shirley Tolshensky, third; Estelle Kortick, fourth; Ester Miller, fifth, and Rae Abrams, door prize.

PASSOVER PARTIES

Two Passover parties were held at the State Institutions for Jewish residents on Wednesday and Thursday. One hundred residents attended and the Seder was rendered by Rabbi Morris Schusheim, chaplain for Howard, and by Rabbi Saul Leeman, chaplain for Exeter.

Matzos and food for a full week was supplied with money from the United Moes Chitim Fund.

Among those who attended the affairs were Mrs. Edward Wexler, president of the United Passover Fund; Dr. and Mrs. Goldstein, and Dr. and Mrs. Yessian. Hospitality chairmen were Mrs. Herbert Fellman and Mrs. Benjamin Greenberg. Committee women were Mesdames Genter, Moe Cotin, Leo Greenberg, Albert Cohen, Samuel Resnick, Barney Bucklen, Rose Shocket, Samuel Sheppes, ex-officio and Rose Kolmopsky.

BOOK CLUB

The next meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Am Book Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Irving Schaffer 95 Cushing Road, Warwick, Thursday at 1:15 P.M.

"Goodbye Columbus" will be discussed by Philip Roth. A coffee hour will follow the discussion. Mrs. Benjamin Furman is Adult Education chairman.

LADIES AUXILIARY

Mrs. Bertha W. Krause, national president of the Ladies Auxiliaries, Jewish War Veterans of America, will arrive Monday at noon for her official visit to the Ladies Auxiliaries Department of Rhode Island.

Plans include a tour through the Veteran's Hospital at Davis Park. A dinner will be held at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel at 6 P.M. followed by a meeting of the Council of Administration at 8 P. M.

TEMPLE BETH DAVID

Temple Beth David will resume their Friday Night Services to-night at 8:15 P.M.

The School Board of the temple will sponsor the Oneg Shabbat. The Children's Choir, under the direction of Cantor Eugene Cornfield, will also participate in the services.

GOLDEN AGE TRIP

Members of the Jewish Community Center's Golden Age Clubs will tour the Providence automated Post Office on Wednesday, it was announced this week.

Sightseeing buses for the trip will leave the South Side JCC building at 1:00 P.M., and will depart from the East Side Center building at 1:30 P.M. Registration is open only to Golden Age Club members.

TALENT SHOW

The Center Playgirls will present a talent show on Sunday, April 23 at 7:30 P.M. at the East Side Jewish Community Center.

The show will be open to all tween members. Refreshments will be served.

GOLDEN AGE CLUBS

Both the Jewish Community Center's Golden Age Clubs will commemorate Israel Independence Day with programs to be conducted in both Center buildings during the week.

The South Side Center's Golden Age Club will celebrate the event with Israeli music, films, and a guest speaker on Tuesday at 1 P.M.

Films of the Center's recent "Flight to Israel" will be shown by Mrs. Israel Karten at the celebrative program to be conducted by the East Side Center's Friendly Jewish Golden Age Club on Thursday at 1 P.M.

NO SUNDAY CLUBS

Sunday club day activities for elementary school aged boys and girls at both Jewish Community Center buildings will be suspended Sunday in order to enable Sunday club members to attend the Children's Theatre program.

Regular Sunday Club activities will be resumed on Sunday April 23, at 2 P.M., with Israel Independence Day celebrations at both Center buildings.

CLUB 45 DANCE

Club 45, the South Side Jewish Community Center's teen Saturday night club, will present "A Night in Outer Space" at the South Side Center building Saturday from 7:30 to 11 P.M.

There will be games, contests, novelty dances, and refreshments. Admission will be open to all boys and girls of high school age, Center members and non-members.

The program will be directed by Norman Lofsky and Edward Goldstein.

Roseman To Celebrate Tenth Anniversary

Bernard Roseman, who is associated with the W. K. R. Holm, Jr. Agency of Providence, will observe his tenth anniversary on April 16, as a representative of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Roseman has been a regular qualifier for the National Quality Award as well as having qualified regularly for the Connecticut Mutual's top production club, The Leaders Round Table. As a graduate of the Powers School of Estate Planning, Mr. Roseman has developed an outstanding clientele of business and professional people. He is considered one of the Connecticut Mutual's outstanding Underwriters and ranks near the top of the list of New England Connecticut Mutual representatives.

Mr. Roseman is a graduate of the University of Miami and has served with the U. S. Navy. He is married and resides with Mrs. Roseman and their three children in Cranston.

"MARTY" Weissman
KOSHER MEAT MARKET
 682 Broad Street
 Next to Shaare Zedek Synagogue

Weekend Specials

LEAN LAMB CHOPS	lb 69c
FANCY WHOLE RIBS	lb 59c
NO 1/2 LB ADDED CHICKENS	lb 30c

Always A Complete Line of HIGH QUALITY MEATS

Call GA 1-7513
 For Free Delivery

Sumner I. Raphael, M. D.
 ANNOUNCES THE REMOVAL OF HIS OFFICE TO
151 Waterman Street
 Providence, R. I.
 Tel. No. DEXter 1-3656

Go After the Kind of People You Want in Your Store

BUSINESS is a battle. And the master of business is the man who thinks—plans—directs the fight with the cool and calculating eye of an experienced general. Competition is daily becoming keener in every line of trade. Scientific methods are demanded in every department of business. And all commercial organizations lead to definite and centralized effort.

In no other feature of modern business is the expediency of concentration so universally emphasized as in the advertising end. Topsy-turvy publicity will quickly eat up the profits. In order to create a demand for an article through newspaper advertising you must first formulate a specific proposition for the right people.

This accomplished, you next seek an economical and efficient vehicle of publicity for the marketing of your goods. The selection of your medium should be made with regard to the character of the merchandise you are offering. If you are engaged in distributing goods of the better grade, you know that your logical field of sale is that of the substantial, prosperous class of people—the folks who can appreciate and afford your wares.

Your problem is to reach possible buyers —and no others.

Maximum results at minimum cost — that's The Herald's claim on your advertising appropriation.

RHODE ISLAND HERALD
 THE ONLY ANGLO-JEWISH WEEKLY IN R. I. AND SOUTHEAST MASS.

The Weekly Newspaper of the Home
 — REACHES 35,000 READERS —

Concert Association To Open Campaign

The Providence Community Concert Association will hold a tea this afternoon for workers for its Annual Membership Campaign which starts on Monday and continues through Saturday April 22, at which time membership in the association will close for the year. The kickoff meeting will be held at the Music Mansion at 88 Meeting Street.

Attractions for the 31st season of the Association will include Byron Janis, pianist; the American Ballet Theater; the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Paul Paray conducting. In keeping with the Association policy as a non-profit organization, the final attraction of the season will be booked after all funds are secured. Series subscriptions only are sold.

Either the headquarters of the Providence Community Concert Association at 296 Benefit Street, PL 1-6080, may be contacted or members of the Association.

Mrs. Joseph B. Webber is president of the Association, and some of the members of her committee are Mesdames John Simmen, campaign chairman; Mrs. Stanford S. Stevens and Mrs. Saul Zarchen, publicity; Joseph Bloomfield, Benjamin Woolf, Israel Press, Esther Glassman, Murry Halpert, Harry Parvey, Walter Adler, Samuel Markoff, Michael Meiselman, Leonard Rumpfer, Miss Nancy Joslin, Miss Charlotte Pressel, Miss Rose Presel, Walter Sundlun, Joseph Postar, Robert Lubert and Evelyn Rosenbaum.

GJC Board Appoints Nominating Committee

A nominating committee to prepare a slate of officers and directors for 1961-62 was appointed by the board of the directors of the General Jewish Committee at a recent meeting.

Joseph W. Ress, GJC president, appointed the committee with the approval of the board of directors and named Burton A. Finberg as chairman.

Other members of the committee are Alter Boyman, Martin I. Dittelman, Samuel Friedman, Sol Koffler and Dr. Samuel A. Pritzker from the board of Directors, and Milton Blieden, Jerome Feinstein, and Milton Jacobs from the community-at-large. Alternates are Herman J. Aisenberg, Dr. Philip Dorenbaum and Lawrence A. Parley from the board of directors, and Arthur Bernstingle, Saul Friedman and Leo Mann from the community-at-large.

The first meeting of the nominating committee will be held on Thursday evening, April 27, at the home of Mr. Finberg, 184 University Avenue.

A slate of officers and directors will be presented by the committee for approval at the annual meeting of the General Jewish Committee on June 7.

Increase In Funds Go To Local Agencies

Among the agencies to whom the United Fund allocated money for the coming year are the Jewish Family & Children's Service and the Jewish Community Center.

Both have received increased allocations. The Jewish Family and Children's Service received $36,360 as against $34,224 last year. The 1960 allocation for the Engaged — Mr. and Mrs. Max Troob of Paine Avenue, Cranston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Seena Joan Troob, to Fred Stern, of Mansfield, Mass., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kronenberger of Leonia, N. J.

Miss Troob is a graduate of Hope High School and attended Bryant College where she was a member of Beta Sigma Gamma Sorority.

Mr. Stern was educated in schools in Europe and New York City.

The wedding will take place June 4th.

Father And Sons

Sports Award Night

The East Side Jewish Community Center will conduct its annual Father and Sons Sports Award Night on Wednesday at 7 P.M., at the East Side Center building. It was announced this week by Ralph Winn, chairman for the event.

The feature of the program will be the presentation of awards to outstanding sports participants in the Centers basketball and baseball programs during the past season.

The three special awards to be presented during the evening are the Edward S. Schwartz Memorial Award, for the individual who displayed outstanding sportsmanship in basketball activities; the Howard D. Cohen Memorial Award, for the outstanding sportsman in Center baseball activities, and the Alan G. Meyer Memorial Trophy to the outstanding player in the midget baseball league.

Toastmaster for the evening will be Dick Reynolds, Providence Journal-Bulletin sports writer. Admission to the program will be open to all boys aged 8 through high school who are Center members — and their fathers.

NAVIGATION COURSE

A course in basic navigation for boating enthusiasts is now being offered at the East Side Jewish Community Center.

Open to Center members only, the course will include instruction in the use of the compass, chart reading, plotting courses, and dead reckoning. The instructor will be an instructor of the U. S. Power Squadron.

Registrants will be required to furnish a pair of parallel rulers and a pair of dividers.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the program secretary at UN 1-2674.

Jewish Community Center is $37,862 this year.

Our Younger Set — Scott Alan, 13 months old, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Chernack of 123 Lowden Street, Pawtucket.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hayman of Providence. Maternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Max Pepper of Houston, Texas and Mrs. Etta Hayman of Providence.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Chernack of Pawtucket. Paternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Korsun of Fall River, Mass., and Mrs. Sophie Chernack of Pawtucket.

Israel Denies Mengele Capture

JERUSALEM — The Government of Israel formally denied last week reports circulated throughout the world that Dr. Josef Mengele, the notorious and long-hunted "selection doctor" at the Auschwitz murder factory, had been hunted down in Argentina and sent by boat to Israel by Israeli secret agents.

The report, initially carried in the Paris Presse, a French newspaper, stated that Mengele, who had the task of selecting inmates for the gas chambers in the Nazi death camp, had been placed on a Panamanian freighter to arrive in Israel to be a surprise witness in the trial of Nazi Adolf Eichmann.

The Paris report went into considerable detail on the alleged trackdown and seizure, prompting the Israel Government press office to issue a "categorical denial" of the reports. The Government statement said flatly that "this rumor is absolutely without foundation."

CHILDREN'S THEATRE

The Jewish Community Center's Children's Theatre Series will present the Suzari Marionettes in "Puss in Boots", at Nathan Bishop Jr. High School auditorium at 2 and 4 P.M. on Sunday.

The Suzari Marionettes are known as one of the nation's finest marionette companies. Using a "Jig-saw" aluminum stage, complete with its own lighting and sound systems, and oversize, marionette actors, this company has performed for five seasons in the Children's Theatre series.

Music for the production is by Rameau and Lilly, and the live actor is Paddy Blackwood.

General chairman for this season's series is Mrs. Leo Gleklen.

WASHINGTON LETTER

TEL AVIV — A replica of George Washington's letter to the Jewish community of Newport, R. I was presented to the ZOA House Library here.

Police Called To Quiet Picket Line Hostility

Police were called in at a picket line at Korbes Bakery, 579 North Main Street, Sunday, April 9 because of a disturbance between pickets and customers.

Police remained on duty at the picket line the entire day.

This was the first time that any hostilities erupted at the picket line since Local 45 (Hebrew Bakers Union) went out on strike 13 weeks ago.

SPRING DANCE
OF THE Quarter Past Club
of the
Jewish Community Center
SATURDAY, APRIL 15
8:30 p.m. - Midnight
JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER
170 Sessions Street
RALPH STUART
And His Orchestra
Members $1.00 Non-Members $1.50

Get in the swing with Spring by calling KITCHEN KING.

April may bring showers, but he'll save you many hours.
See! Look what he can do to make your rooms fascinate you.

• Rug Cleaning • Wall Washing • Floor Waxing

- Call -
Williams 1-3451

WE CORDIALLY INVITE YOU
TO MAMA GISO'S

... where every meal becomes a very special occasion
... the perfection of the cuisine, the tasteful distinction of atmosphere, the finesse of the service all contribute to an experience in fine dining to be long remembered.

Mama Giso's

ITALIAN AND AMERICAN CUISINE
1101 PARK AVENUE
(Front of Cranston Stadium) Ample Parking Space in our Lot

FOOD AT ITS FINEST
PLEASANT ATMOSPHERE - SUPERB SERVICE

VISIT OUR Elegant ROSA LOUNGE
FINEST OF LIQUORS
CHOICE WINES
For the most Elegant Taste

Spacious Dining Room Open
SERVING THE FINEST
ITALIAN-AMERICAN FOODS
At Reasonable Prices

Facilities Are Available for Parties and Banquets
Accommodations Up To 500 People

Music by VIN CAPONE TRIO VIOLIN, PIANO and ACCORDION, BASS featuring Pete Tutalo, piano and accordion—Won U.S. Championship in Chicago, Represented U.S. in Vienna, Australia

Call ST 1-0970 for reservations

TO ESTABLISHED MONUMENT
JERUSALEM — The government of Israel is to establish a monument for the heroes of the Bar Kochba rebellion who died fighting the Roman Legions. The remains of these heroes were found by an archaeological expedition last year.

Fine Arts
Opera Theatre
Presents
Verdi's Rigoletto
SATURDAY, MAY 6, 1961
8:15 P. M.
VETERANS MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM
Starring:
Russell Christopher, Stella Palmieri,
James Cosenza
Joseph Conte, Conductor

Tickets available at Avery Piano Co., 256 Weybosset St., GA 1-1434; Novelty Gift Shop, 228 Atwells Ave., JA 1-0165.
Orch. 3.75, 3.00; Mezz. 3.75; 1st Balc. 3.00, 2.50; 2nd Balc. 2.00, 1.50.
Mail orders to Avery Piano Co. Enclose check in self-addressed envelope.

SPARKLING NEW CULTURAL CENTER which Histadrut has built, will be ready for duty this fall. In background is Histadrut's administrative center for Dimona.

A Day in Dimona

By NAHUM GUTTMAN

AFTER a lapse of three years, a visitor heading toward Dimona expects to find that frontier town bustling and booming. The moment you leave Beersheba behind and drive eastward toward the Dead Sea, you know that the next major stop will be this town which is less than a half dozen years on the map. I was not disappointed.

What was once considered a way-side inn, or at best, a sleeping place for workers at the Dead Sea, has become a community in its own right. With a population of some five thousand, Dimona is no longer dependent solely on "outside" sources of sustenance. In fact, plans have been revamped radically—the target is now forty-thousand souls, ten times the original goal. Employment for such large numbers will be provided by new industries which are taking hold. Already, the small textile plant with 150 workers, is making way for a huge enterprise which will employ thousands. Private investors, with a substantial boost from Government sources, are developing a IL 9,000,000 textile industry. Solel Boneh is half finished with the job of putting up the factories.

But it is not only the possibility of employment that makes Dimona attractive for the diverse types of settlers who have come here.

The social life is rapidly developing along with various community and Histadrut institutions. By and large, the effective cohesive force in Dimona is Histadrut, which has developed a local leadership that lives with the people and is part of the community. Differences that have their root in the differing cultural backgrounds of the inhabitants, must be ironed out. Manpower must be trained for the local trades—now primarily in construction of the factory and of homes and public buildings. Cultural life is being enriched—a movie house has just been completed, and soon the Histadrut Youth Center will open its doors, filling a growing need presented by a growing generation of youngsters.

The heart of the town is—as one finds in many rural communities—the Kupat Holim clinic. Dimona's, which was sponsored by the Ezra Society of Philadelphia, is as busy as a beehive. One gets the notion that people come here not only for medical attention, but for the equally soothing social touch that newcomers crave.

We found the clinic in charge of a young French doctor, Clement Boehnik, who came from Beersheba to Dimona five years ago, and has stayed put. The 39-year-old physician began under trying conditions. We recall that three years ago, Dimona lacked an ambulance—today it has two. Hospital cases must be raced to Beersheba, some twenty miles away.

In the town's single bakery—owned half and half by private investors and Histadrut—we found a half dozen men mixing flour, kneading dough and tending the ovens.

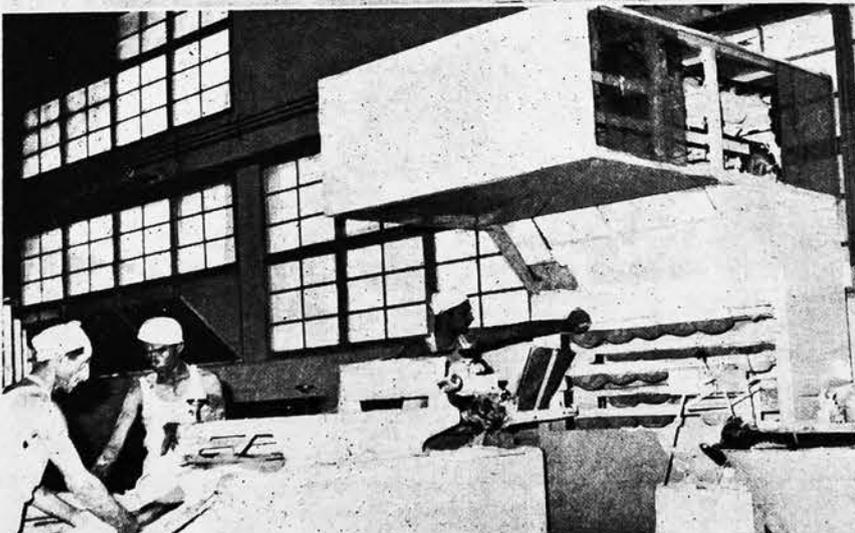

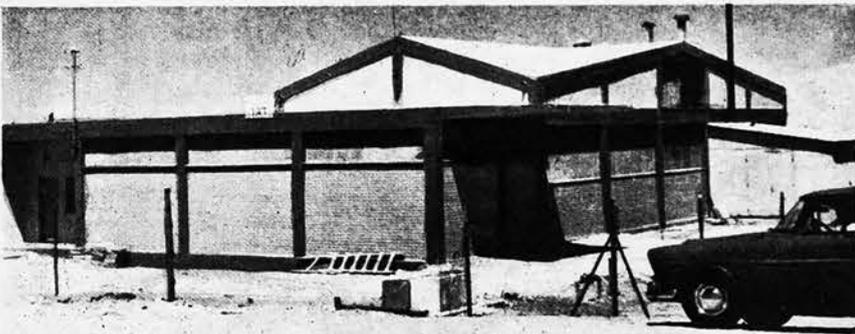

The bakery itself is airy and well-lighted. The men, however, are interesting types, the most interesting being the fellow who just came from Russia. He kept repeating, over and over, with a glow of satisfaction, "It's wonderful to be free, among Jews! It's wonderful to be free, among Jews!"

Near the town's municipal center, which consists of a row of stores and offices, we found a knot of young men, neatly dressed for the Sabbath, as it was Friday after working hours. They debated among themselves, revealing strains of adjustment—some harped on the "discrimination" they felt at being from North Africa, they carped at the extra pay that workers from Tel Aviv were getting for coming to Dimona as special hands on the factory construction job, and so on. The rebuttal that the Tel Avivians were giving up their comforts to help build Dimona, and that some day Dimona would catch up with Tel Aviv, seemed to pacify some of the former North Africans.

Our next stop, en route to Tel Aviv, was to be Beersheba. We were flagged down by a woman and her two children, hitching their way to the Negev capital. As they settled down in our car, we established that she had come to Israel from Rumania about fifteen years ago, and had lived the last half of that period in Acre, the ancient fortress city that has been revamped in our time. Despite the modernization of that Haifa suburb, she could not stand the burdens of maintaining her family there. Only when her husband found a job in Dimona and they moved into the "wilderness" did she at last gain her bearings and begin to breathe freely. "Now, I can't understand my friends in the big cities who complain and complain, but don't budge. Out here, in Dimona, it's a pleasure to bring up a family. And the future is unlimited."

Judging by progress made in only three years, it is safe to forecast that Dimona will reach its goal of 40,000 inhabitants within the next decade.

Reprinted from Histadrut Foto News

THE DAGAN BAKERY is the Negev's breadbasket. Half a dozen recent immigrants turn out 6,500 loaves daily for the town and for Israel armed forces throughout the Negev.

A MODERN SCHOOL is one of the town's principal institutions. Boys and girls have plenty of room to take a swing.

Published Every Week By The Jewish Press Publishing Company
1117 Douglas Ave., Providence, R. I. - UNion 1-3709

CELIA ZUCKERBERG Managing Editor
BRENDA SLACK Editor

Second Class Postage Paid at Providence, Rhode Island
Subscription Rates: Fifteen Cents the copy; By Mail, $4.50 per annum; outside
New England, $5.00 per annum. Bulk rates on request.

The Herald assumes no financial responsibility for typographical errors in advertisements, but will reprint that part of the advertisement in which the typographical error occurs. Advertisers will please notify the management immediately of any error which may occur.

FRIDAY, APRIL 14, 1961

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

by Sylvia Porter

BOOM IN ADVICE

Of all the booms in Wall Street, one of the biggest is the boom in stock market "advice."

Never has there been anything approaching the outpouring of words on the stock market and on individual stocks as is coming today from brokerage firms and from organizations which are only in the business of offering investment advice for a fee. Never before has there also been so much concern about the standards of those selling advice.

In fact, the bull market in words has now reached the point where it is coming in for intense scrutiny by the nation's regulatory agencies. The New York Stock Exchange has for years spot-checked stock reports put out by its member firms to make sure they conform to "standards of truthfulness and good taste." The New York Attorney General's office, under a 1960 law, now demands the annual registration of all agencies and individuals within New York State which circulate market letters, stock tips, other information on stocks, and it has begun investigations of some it believes are violating the law.

Now the Securities & Exchange Commission is proposing a stiff curb on all companies and individuals who sell or collect fees for investment advice and it is particularly proposing a clamp-down on advertisements which may be "fraudulent, deceptive or manipulative."

If you're one of America's 15 million owners of stocks or one of the 35 million on the threshold of investing, it's a virtual certainty you're on one or more lists to receive stock market letters and you have been exposed to the ads by investment advisers which the SEC is proposing to condemn as illegal -- you hardly could have escaped. But even experts may be astounded at the proportions of the word boom.

It's estimated that over 50,000 stock market letters are now being sent out each year by members of the New York Stock Exchange alone. The 1,800 investment advisers who are registered with the SEC -- of which about 600 are in New York -- are issuing additional tens of thousands of reports containing hundreds of thousands of words and charging prices ranging from $1 to several hundreds of dollars for the services. Other financial firms are pouring out thousands of reports too.

Some of the letters are one to four-page affairs which discuss the stock market in general, recommend purchase or sale of specific stocks. Some are deep-down, sober analyses of industries and representative stocks in the industries. Others are literary gems which even the lofty "New Yorker" magazine has deemed worthy of exhaustive comment. Still others are flash bulletins sent out by brokerage firms urging immediate buying or selling of individual issues.

Is this boom a good development? Assuming the reports are issued in good faith by responsible analysts, of course it is. The reports do give investors and would-be investors information and judgment they'd find it hard to get otherwise. They do give corporations an opportunity to publicize facts that couldn't practicably be included in regular annual reports.

But, as always, the danger lies in the rotten fringe. With interest in the stock market at an unprecedented peak, irresponsible "advisers" can take advantage of the reports to tout stocks. There is no denying that many of the ads of the so-called "counselors" are in appalling bad taste, encourage reckless gambling by those least able to afford the risks, are misleading if not downright fraudulent.

And while past surveys have indicated that even the most respected stock market letters do not influence market trends as a whole, they do at least temporarily set off sharp price fluctuations -- thereby opening obvious opportunities to fast-buck operators. The racketeering minority in the investment advisory field may be only a tiny minority but it should not exist at all and it can smirch the entire industry.

With so many millions in the stock market and so many jumping in for the first time, this area of vulnerability is clear.

It is in full awareness of this that the SEC is proposing its crack-down and the New York Stock Exchange is policing its own members. All they really want is to keep the boom in advice thriving and sound.

(Distributed 1961, by The Hall Syndicate, Inc.) (All Rights Reserved)

ONE MAN'S OPINION

PASSOVER JOURNAL

by Beryl Segal

"Passover has always been the traditional festival that brings joy to the entire family."

With these words Mr. Alter Boyman begins his Passover Journal.

We can truthfully say that Passover has always been the festival when the Providence Passover Journal appears, and is distributed in Jewish homes in the entire state of Rhode Island. It has been that way since 1926. A generation has been brought up on the appearance of this journal.

I once said that the Passover Journal is a repository of Jewish life in Providence. You read through Alter Boyman's letter to a friend, which he signs as B. Alter, and you know everything that is of importance in our community. From year to year he records his observations in these letters, some are critical, some are praising, where praise is called for, but always he picks out the relevant and the vital things that transpired during the year. It has been that way for 35 years.

This year's journal has all the features of the ones in previous years in Hebrew, Yiddish and English, but it also contains two articles I wish to devote the column today, especially for those who had not seen the Passover Journal.

The article by Rabbi William G. Braude is entitled "The Book, the Bomb and the Black Man." It is a call to all of us to cry out "Al Het," for the Sins which We have Sinned. We have all sinned in these three respects as Jews, as Americans and as human beings.

The first sin is the sin which we are committing against the Book. By the book, Rabbi Braude means the Torah; "a world of wit and wisdom, poetry and inspiration, a world which demands concentration and the giving of ourselves body and soul."

Can you see what agony it is to a sensitive man who looks upon the Torah with eyes like these, to witness every Saturday the Bar Mitzvah boy recite the prayer and read his allotted ten verses, and think that he is through with Jewish learning? Can you put yourselves in that man's place to watch parents bring their children to Sunday School, and delude themselves that they are doing their duty towards Jewish learning?

What are we to do?

Rabbi Braude predicts that in 50 years from now "a network of Day Schools under Reform auspices" will exist in the United States. Then and only then will we be forgiven.

The second sin which we have sinned is the Bomb. By this Rabbi Braude means the Atomic Bomb which we have dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, in Japan. No amount of arguing that the Japanese attacked us first, that the Japanese army would not have surrendered without the bomb, can excuse our sin of killing and maiming hundreds of thousands of men, women and children.

We, in America, better admit that we are guilty and come weeping, repentant, and resolve that it shall never again be done.

And the third sin we are committing against the Black man. Need we enlarge on this topic? We all know it. We are all ashamed of it. But we do nothing about it.

And Rabbi Braude concludes with these words which we shall do well to remember and to teach them to our children:

"When we reclaim the Book, we shall gain faith and wisdom. When we tame the Bomb, we shall have peace. When we right the wrong done to the Black man, we shall give sanity and soundness to America."

The second article in the Passover Journal is by Rabbi Eli A. Bohnen, and it deals with "Tradition and Good Taste."

Rabbi Bohnen calls attention to several "customs" that have become accepted in our community, as in every other community in America, and which are an abomination in the eyes of those who know Jewish tradition, and have good taste. These two things go together. Tradition and Good Taste. You will never go wrong if you are following in the foot-steps of tradition.

Rabbi Bohnen lists these deviations from tradition and from good taste as:

1. The behaviour of the people who come to mourn the passing of a friend, and discuss other matters in the funeral chapel. Rabbi Bohnen says: "There is no air of reverence nor an awareness of the casket in which the deceased lies, forgotten by all but the mourners." And he adds that it is "a shocking thing that Rabbis have to stand, waiting for the

The Lyons
Den

by Leonard Lyons

DEBATE: After their recent TV debate Labor Secy. Arthur Goldberg wrote to Sen. Barry Goldwater about letters he'd received from the Senator's supporters. They chided him for wagging his finger at Goldwater to emphasize a point. Goldberg enclosed a photo showing Goldwater pointing a finger at him, and wrote: "I think this photo proves that I apparently do not have a copyright on this demonstrative action."

Goldwater replied: "If I had been you when I wagged my finger at you as I did during the debate, I would have simply bitten off the end of that digit. I don't think a debate is any fun unless you get excited, and arguing with you is always fun and educational."

COMICS: Jack Warner is a frustrated comic who, at the slightest encouragement delivers jokes like a vaudevillian. Jessel said of (Continued on Page 10)

noise to subside, before beginning the funeral service, or even to call the assembly to order."

2. The custom that has arisen among Jews to view the remains of the deceased person. They file by the casket to stare at the body, as if it were on exhibition. "Who gives anyone the right to vulgarize the farewell to a human being who has departed this life?" asks the Rabbi.
3. The habit of making the call to the house of the mourner a social function. It was the tradition among our ancestors, who when they came to console a mourner, they sat down without a greeting, and departed without uttering a word. How different this is from the practice of their offspring. And Rabbi Bohnen continues: "The institution of Shiva was intended as a means of comforting the bereaved. It has become, instead, an ordeal. How often have I seen a mourner wince as a group in a far end of the room burst out in laughter over some funny story related by a raconteur."

It can be said with certainty that if the Passover Journal had no other articles but these two, dayenu. It would have been sufficient. How much more are we to be grateful to the journal for giving us the two articles by the Rabbis, and many more in this year's issue.

(Mr. Segal's opinions are his own. His views are not necessarily those of this newspaper.)

Max Sugarman
Funeral Home
COMMUNITY
CALENDAR

GENERAL JEWISH COMMITTEE
WOMEN'S DIVISION

For listing call Gaspee 1-4111. Ask for Calendar Secretary. Mrs. Bertram L. Bernhard, Calendar Chairman.

- Saturday, April 15:
8:15 p. m. -- Hillel Musicale, Anniversary, Bal Shem Tov.
- Sunday, April 16:
1:30 p. m. -- Junior Hadassah, Regular Meeting.
- Monday, April 17:
6:00 p. m. -- Annual Jori Meeting.
8:00 p. m. -- Lad. Aux., Gerald M. Clamon #369 JWVA, Regular Meeting.
8:00 p. m. -- Jewish Family and Children's Service, Regular Meeting.
8:00 p. m. -- Sabra Chapter, Pioneer Women, Board Meeting.
8:00 p. m. -- Lad. Aid & Sisterhood, O h a w e Shalom, Pawt. Regular Meeting.
8:00 p. m. -- Mothers Ass'n., Temple Beth David, Board Meeting.
8:30 p. m. -- Sisterhood, Temple Sinai, Regular Meeting.
8:30 p. m. -- Deborah Dayan Club, Pioneer Women, Regular Meeting.
- Tuesday, April 18:
2:00 p. m. -- Mizrahi Women, Regular Meeting.
8:00 p. m. -- 1961 Israel Bonds Guardian, Parlor Meeting.
- Wednesday, April 19:
10:00 a. m. -- Sisterhood Temple Emanuel, Study Group.
12:30 p. m. -- 1961 Israel Bonds, Pace Setter's Tea.
1:30 p. m. -- Sisterhood Cong. Sons of Jacob, Regular Meeting.
8:00 p. m. -- Cranston Jewish Center, Parlor Meeting for Israel Bonds.
8:00 p. m. -- Sisterhood, Cranston Jewish Center, Board Meeting.
8:00 p. m. -- 13th Anniversary Celebration for the State of Israel, R. I. Zionist Council.
8:00 p. m. -- Hope Chptr., B'nai B'rith Women, Regular Meeting.
8:00 p. m. -- General Jewish Committee, Board Meeting.
8:00 p. m. -- Cranston-Warwick B'nai B'rith Women, Paid Up Membership.
8:00 p. m. -- Touro Fraternal Ass'n., Board Meeting.
8:15 p. m. -- Evening Group of Hadassah, Board Meeting.
- Thursday, April 20:
1:00 p. m. -- United Order of True Sisters, Inc. Open Meeting.
2:00 p. m. -- R. I. Founders of Tubercular Patents, Board and Regular Meeting.

The Eichman Trial And South America

By Maurice L. Perlzweig
The apprehension of Eichmann was followed by a period of acute diplomatic tension between Argentina and Israel, the memory of which remains vivid in the minds of Argentine Jews. Happily the resolutions adopted at the time by the United Nations Security Council made it possible within a comparatively brief period to compose the differences between the two countries; and the leadership of Argentine Jewry played a significant and courageous part in helping to restore normal diplomatic relationships. Nevertheless, this experience has left a deposit in the minds of many Argentine Jews, and it was not without disquiet that they awaited the Eichmann trial.

For this there are many reasons. First, Argentina under the Peronist regime became a place of refuge for hundreds of Nazi fugitives from international justice, who reinforced an already important settlement of German nationalists. At the height of their influence they published a monthly, called "Der Weg," which propagated an unreconstructed Nazism of the crudest and most violent type.

Secondly, Peron, in spite of his ostentatious professions of friendship for the Jewish people, had his own reasons for giving aid and comfort to these war criminals. He was well aware of the presence of Eichmann, and a photograph of the two of them together on a social occasion has been published. Peronismo is still a factor to be reckoned with, and politicians are made to understand that they ignore at their peril the large number of blank ballots with which Peronists protest against the outlawry of their party.

What is fundamentally perhaps even more important is the traditional Latin American attitude to national sovereignty, and the right of asylum which flows from it, which is given an absolute and romantic quality panned nowhere else in the world. Latin American Embassies in South America, it would seem almost as a matter of routine, grant asylum to refugees from their own governments, who will normally grant safe-conducts to enable these refugees to leave their countries and find asylum abroad.

It is no doubt legally proper for civil libertarians to provide Jewish advocates to defend self-styled Nazis in the U. S., for example; but this kind of approach ignores the grave problems involved in the use of civil rights to destroy civility and the fundamental freedoms to destroy freedom itself. It is an approach which treats history and human experience as irrelevant, and gives what is plainly justice itself. The priority to legal regulations over United Nations, when the recollection of the Nazi holocaust was still vivid, rightly affirmed in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights that human rights did not the head of the Warner studio: "He has fabulous wealth, power and fame, which he'd gladly swap to be Groucho, Cantor or even me." . . . At a recent dinner in Hollywood, Jack Benny introduced him this way: "Ladies and gentlemen, I have two disappointing announcements, Mort Sahl couldn't make it, and Jack Warner could."

The Lyon's Den

(Continued from Page 9)

WEALTH: This is how our financial giants view other wealthy people. When the estate of Jim Norris--father of the fight promoter and owner of hockey clubs, racing stables, Chicago Stadium, etc--was probated it was appraised at $115,000,000. The fabulously wealthy Henry Crown sighed: "I thought Jim was better fixed than that."

TRAP: Milton Berle went to see a Broadway show written by a friend of his. He sat surrounded by chatters, making it difficult for him to hear the dialogue. In front of him sat a giant who blocked his view. Berle decided to leave at the first intermission and went to the cloakroom to retrieve his hat and coat. Just then the author of the show appeared, and seemed hurt and dismayed: "You're leaving, Milton?"

Berle concocted an excuse: "Oh, no. Love it. But you know me and my colds, I'm sitting in a trap for any State, group or person any right to engage in any activity or to perform any act aimed at the destruction of any of the rights and freedoms" embodied in the Declaration.

Excellent opportunities are in the Herald's Classified ads.

draft, and need my coat." He tossed his hat at the cloakroom girl and said: "I didn't ask for my hat." And then, because he knew the author would be watching him, Berle returned to his seat, amid the chatters and with his view blocked, and sat there perspiring in his topcoat.

MEETING: The Soviet Ambassador was a surprise guest at the ceremonies inaugurating Israel's new water desalting project, built by a former Russian refugee, Dr. Alex Zarchin. The Ambassador greeted Zarchin: "You ran away from us," and Dr. Zarchin said: "Yes, I ran a long distance--all the way from Siberia." It was during his banishment to Siberia that Dr. Zarchin first noticed local citizens drinking sea-water distilled from frozen ice.

The Soviet Ambassador said: "Siberia? That's when you discovered this process true?" And Dr. Zarchin replied: "Yes, but with no thanks to you for the training."

HONEYMOON: John Steffens, son of the late Lincoln Steffens, was recently married in Europe and he and his bride stopped in London to get the documents enabling her to come to the U.S. While they waited for the documents, they decided to spend a week-end honeymoon in Paris. Steffens' stepfather, Donald Ogden Stewart, told the couple: "I'll pay for this holiday. After all, one should encourage a first, second or even a third marriage."

PACKAGE: When Jackie Gleason sailed for France last week, he labeled himself "a king-sized CARE package." The publicity prompted CARE to send Gleason a mock package. Gleason, therefore, ordered and paid for a real CARE package, molded to his size and shape. He stepped on the scales, before signing for the order, then confirmed the weight. It's a 261-lb. package.

MEMOS: Another will drawn by Henry Harper Benedict, grandfather of Gambi Benedict, was discovered last week. It was dated a year before his death. . . Mrs. Miguel Covarrubias, widow of the Mexican artist, is leaving for Indonesia to write a book about the dancers of Bali. She received a grant from Nelson Rockefeller. . . If Ingemar Johansson wins his tax dispute, his next fight here will be against Sonny Liston.

OFFER: Jim Barrett was witness to this Anglo-Texas episode. An oil man from Dallas who sailed aboard the Queen Mary enjoyed the voyage so much that he made an offer to the Cunard Line to buy the ship. The Cunard official replied: "We couldn't sell the Queen Mary. We don't want to break up the set."

ENTERTAINMENT: A traveler from the Middle East saw the show girls at The Dunes in Las Vegas, and told this story about girls. An Arab sheik periodically went to a slave market, where he was deemed the best customer. He bought girls and girls, regularly. One day, during the sale of beautiful slave girls, the sheik strolled by and gave no notice. The slave dealer asked him if he cared to bid. "No, thank you," said the sheik. "I have a TV set now."

(Distributed 1961, by The Hall Syndicate, Inc.) (All Rights Reserved)

Israel Bonds Help Promote Trade Between United States, Israel

Purchasers of State of Israel Bonds are not only helping in the economic development of Israel, but also promoting the economic well being of the United States.

The great majority of the proceeds of the Israel Bond campaign remains in the United States to pay for the goods and services required by Israel for its economic development program.

The State of Israel spent a total of $102,000,000 in the United States for goods and services during the first six months of 1960. In the same period, goods and services imported from Israel by the United States totalled $32,000,000.

Robert A. Riesman, General Chairman of the 1961 Rhode Island Israel Bond Campaign, said that the 1961 Israel Bond Campaign in the United States and the rest of the free world, dedicated to Israel's Bar Mitzvah, its thirteenth anniversary of statehood, seeks a total of $80,000,000 for the development of every sector of Israel's economy.

"One of the most significant results of the Israel Bond campaign," Mr. Riesman said, "has been the increasing trade between Israel and the United States, with the balance substantially in favor of the United States. Those who buy Israel Bonds are not only providing economic aid for the new democracy of Israel, but are also helping indirectly to stimulate American trade overseas."

To Hold Bond Meeting In Cranston April 26

Sheldon S. Sollosy, Vice President and Israel Bond Chairman of the Cranston Jewish Center, will be host to a group of friends at his home, 35 Shirley Boulevard, Cranston, on Wednesday evening, April 26, at 8:00 P.M.

Among the guests will be Robert A. Riesman, General Chairman of the 1961 Israel Bond campaign, and Judge Frank Licht, Chairman of the Executive Committee. Mr. Riesman recently returned from an extended study tour of Israel's industrial and agricultural developments made possible with the aid of Israel Bond funds. These developments include the Hulah Land Reclamation projects; the Hadera Paper Mill; the Dead Sea Potash Works at S'dom; Damona, the industrial center in the Negev; Timna, copper refinery at the site of King Solomon's mines; the new post under construction at Ashdod; Lachish Development Area and Kiriat Gat, the new immigrants' town and rural center, largest development of its kind in all Israel, the oil pipeline, irrigation projects, and many others.

Mr. Riesman will report on his trip to Israel -- the nation's accomplishments in its thirteen years of statehood, and its plans for future development.

Facts About Israel Bonds

Israel Bonds are securities of the State of Israel, sold for United States dollars, with interest and principal payable in United States dollars. State of Israel Bonds are now being sold in twenty eight countries of North and South America and Western Europe.

State of Israel Bonds are issued in two forms: Interest-bearing Coupon Bonds which mature in fifteen years from year of issue, and Savings Bonds which mature ten years from date of issue.

Coupon Bonds, which are issued in denominations from $500 up to $100,000, pay interest at the rate of 4 percent per annum, with interest being paid semi-annually. At maturity, the entire principal of the Bond is returned to you.

Savings Bonds, which are issued in denominations of $100 up to $10,000 mature in ten years at a value of 150 per cent of the issue amount. For example, a $1,000 Savings Bond matures at $1,500.

This year, in honor of Israel's 13th anniversary of statehood, its Bar Mitzvah, there are two special Bar Mitzvah categories -- a $1,300 Bond and a $13,000 Bond.

Registered owners of Second Development Israel Bonds may secure loans from the First National Bank of Boston, up to 75 per cent of the face value of the Bond, in accordance with the terms of the prospectus.

In the event of the death of the sole original registered owner, Bonds may be redeemed within 2 years after death for the full face value, plus the accrued interest. In this sense, they serve the same purpose as an insurance policy.

Pace-Setters To Hear Tana Gres At Luncheon

The Rhode Island Women's Division of the State of Israel Bonds will hold a Pace Setters Dessert-Luncheon at the home of Mrs. Archie Fain, 750 Elmgrove Avenue, Providence, on Wednesday, April 19, at 12:30 o'clock.

Tana Gres

Guest of honor at the Luncheon will be Tana Gres, noted writer, journalist and commentator. Tana Gres, Spanish born, has spent most of her adult life in the United States, with frequent trips to Latin America, Europe, Israel and the Middle East. Since 1948, she has been attached to Israel's mission to the United Nations as a correspondent. Her deep interest in Israel grew out of her association with members of Israel's delegation and she has made numerous visits to Israel, the most recent of which was this January.

Pawtucket Group Plans Israel Bond Brunch

Harry A. Schwartz, Chairman of the Pawtucket Committee, State of Israel Bonds, will be host to a group of friends at a Brunch, at his home, 71 Hartshorn Road, Providence, on Sunday morning, April 23 at 10:00 A.M.

Among the guests will be Judge Frank Licht, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the 1961 Rhode Island Israel Bond campaign, and Robert A. Riesman, General Chairman of the campaign. Both men have made extensive trips to Israel. Mr. Riesman having returned a few weeks ago from a study tour of Israel's industrial and agricultural developments made possible with the aid of Israel Bond funds. They will speak on Israel's accomplishments in its thirteen years of statehood, and its plans for further development.

Mrs. Louis I. Kramer is chairman of the Women's Division of the 1961 Israel Bond campaign. Mrs. Beryl Segal and Mrs. Herman A. Winkler are co-chairmen of Chen. Mrs. Stanley Grossman is chairman of the Pace Setters Committee. Members of the committee include Mrs. Max Alperin, Mrs. Ilie Berger, Mrs. Bertram L. Bernhardt, Mrs. Melvin Berry, Mrs. Harry Blacher, Mrs. Benjamin Brier, Mrs. Bertram Brown, Mrs. Philip Dorenbaum, Mrs. Arthur Einstein, Mrs. Irving Jay Fain, Mrs. M. Edgar Fain, Mrs. Samuel Friedman, Mrs. Gardner Grant, Mrs. Max Greenberg, Mrs. Merrill L. Hassenfeld, Mrs. Julius Irving, Mrs. Sidney A. Kane, Mrs. Louis Kirshenbaum, Mrs. Marshall Leeds, Mrs. Frank Licht, Mrs. Samuel Michaelson, Mrs. Robert A. Riesman, Mrs. Samue! Rosen, Mrs. Leonard Salmanson, Mrs. Carol M. Silver, Mrs. William Weinstein.

Tourists Can Redeem Bonds In Israel

Israel Bonds can be redeemed before maturity in Israel, in Israeli currency, at the same favorable rate of exchange applicable to dollars, for all tourist expenses in Israel.

ORGANIZATION NEWS

PROVIDENCE HADASSAH

The Providence Chapter Evening Group of Hadassah will hold a Country Dance on Saturday at the Oakhill Tennis Club, Cleveland Street, Pawtucket at 8:15 P.M.

A professional square dance caller will be present and refreshments will be served.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Leonard Goldstein and co-chairman is Mrs. Thomas Pearlman. Committee members include Mesdames Irwin Soforenko, Morris Gastfreund and Daniel Stern.

TEMPLE SINAI SISTERHOOD

Dr. Murray Roston, Professor of English Literature at Brown University and Bar-Ilan University in Israel will speak at the Monday meeting of Temple Sinai Sisterhood at 8:30 P.M. His topic is "The Bible and the Romantic Poet".

Dr. Roston is a noted author and biblical authority.

Election of officers and board members is also scheduled. Mrs. Jordan Tanenbaum is program chairman and Mrs. Albert Falcofsky is hostess. Refreshments will be served.

HARTMAN TO SPEAK

Ralph Hartman, superintendent of parks of the City of Providence, will speak on "Lawn and Garden Care" at a meeting of the Mt. Hope Neighborhood Improvement Association on Thursday, April 20 at the YMCA Annex on Hope Street. The meeting is open to all residents of the community.

TO DISCUSS ALLOCATIONS

The board of directors of the General Jewish Committee will meet Wednesday evening at GJC headquarters to act on a report of the Allocations Committee. Members of the board will discuss and consider the recommendations of the committee before approving allocations for 1961.

Also on the agenda for next Wednesday's meeting is the discussion and action on the 65-million dollar debt liquidation loan program of the United Jewish Appeal.

ROLLER SKATING PARTY

The Young Adults of the Jewish Community Center will hold a Roller Skating Party, Sunday, at Bobby's Rollaway, 1593 Newport Avenue, Pawtucket, from 7:30 to 10:30 P.M.

Tickets are available at both Center offices. Members of the Young Adults will be present at the East Side Center, Sunday from 6:30 P.M. to 7:30 P.M. for those who desire to purchase their tickets. For those people who do not know how to get to the Rollaway, there will be members present at the East Side Center to direct them personally to the Rollaway, between 6:30 and 7:15 P.M. The roller skating party is open to all members and non-members. Persons are requested not to wear dungarees.

STUDY HOUR

Rabbi William G. Braude will discuss "A New Analysis of the Structure of Midrash" at a Hebrew teachers and principals session on Monday at 8 P.M. in the Bureau Library.

Men and women who are familiar with basic Hebrew texts will have an opportunity at this study hour to hear the exposition of an original approach to Midrash.

PROV. FRATERNAL ASSOC.

Louis Shaw, president of the Providence Fraternal Association has announced that a meeting of the association will be held Tuesday at the Commercial Travelers Hall.

The business of the evening will consist of voting on the proposed new Constitution.

DOMIKE TO SPEAK

The next regular meeting of the Providence Section, National Council of Jewish Women, will be held on Tuesday at Temple Beth-El at 1:30 P.M. A coffee hour will be held at 1 P.M.

Arthur L. Domike, Jr., assistant professor at the University of Rhode Island, will speak on "Academic Freedom-What Should It Be?"

BOOK SALE

Mrs. Frederick S. Ackroy, president of the Providence Plantations Branch of the American Association of University Women and chairman of the Association's 16th annual book sale has announced that the sale, which began Thursday, will continue today and Saturday from 9:30 A.M. to 8 P.M.

Book donations include a library of French classics and books from the shelves of several old Rhode Island families.

Proceeds of the sale will go to the National American Association of University Women Fellowship Fund that provides grants for graduate study to more than 75 women here and abroad.

TEMPLE SINAI

Rabbi Donald Heskins will give part two of his sermon on "Chasidism" this evening in Greenwood Hall at 8:30 P.M.

A discussion will follow the Oneg Shabbat given by the Sisterhood. The senior choir will also participate in the services.

"ADVENTURES IN EATING"

The Young Adults of the Jewish Community Center will start a new series of Adventures in Eating. This is the first of the monthly dinner affairs that they are planning to sponsor. Once a month, the group will visit one of the leading restaurants around Rhode Island and compare the service, food, and atmosphere of the establishment.

The first "adventure" will be held on Sunday evening, April 23, at the "Seventh Veil". This affair is open only to Center members. Those desiring to join may call either Center offices for an application.

PIONEER WOMEN

The Rhode Island Council of Pioneer Women will celebrate their thirty-fifth anniversary at tonight's services at Temple Beth Israel.

Rabbi Morris Schussheim and Cantor Israel Tabatsky will conduct the services. Mrs. Beryl Segal, council president; Mrs. Gerald Malamut, and Mrs. Saul Sonion will also participate.

Following the service Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Pusar will give a Kiddush in honor of their granddaughter.

Social committee members are Mesdames Goldfarb, Benjamin Glantz, Joseph Greenberg, Leo Rapaport, Saul Sonion, and Edward Silverman.

Put these Savings on your shopping list

AT ALL THREE STORES

WEEKEND SPECIALS - - Friday, Saturday, Sunday - - April 14, 15, 16

-- KOSHER --

PASTRAMI lb 1.39

-- BUMBLE BEE --

SALMON reg. size can 65c

SPARKLETT

WHOLE STRAWBERRIES

Round Container 39c

100% PURE

ORANGE JUICE

1 qt. Container 35c

CREAM CHEESE

reg. 15c pkg. 10c

KOSHER FRESH MEAT DEPT. (Hope Street Store Only)

OUR MEAT DEPT. IS CLOSED FRIDAY AT NOON AND ALL DAY SATURDAY

The Following Specials In Effect SUNDAY thru FRIDAY, April 16 - 21

-- KOSHER FRESH MEATS --

KOSHER HEAVY — UNDERCUT

Steer Roast Beef lb 89c

KOSHER HEAVY—NEW YORK CUT

Steer Flank lb 89c

Our Kosher Fresh Meat Dept. Carries A Complete Line Of Strictly Kosher Meats And Poultry. The Finest, Choicest Meats Anywhere!

MILLER'S DELICATESSEN, INC.

585 NO. MAIN STREET
Providence
MA 1-6302

1619 WARWICK AVE.
WARWICK
Gateway Shopping Center
Maxwell & 1st Corners
REgent 7-3696

776 HOPE ST., Providence
JA 1-0368 - PL 1-8682
TE 1-9771

Boys' & Students' CLOTHING

• SPORT COATS

• SUITS

Sizes 13 to 20

Charge Accounts Invited

Prep Shop

"Downtown's only exclusive Store for Boys."

151 Mathewson Street

ORGANIZATION NEWS

PROF. ROSTON TO SPEAK

Professor Murray Roston will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the United Order of True Sisters, Inc. which will be held at the R. I. School for the Deaf on Thursday, at 1 P.M.

Prof. Roston will speak on "The Jew in English Literature."

TEMPLE BETH DAVID

The evening services to be held tonight at Temple Beth David will honor all the teachers of the Hebrew School and the principal, Myer Zippor. The Religious School Board members in honor of its Hebrew School will serve at the Oneg Shabbat. The Children's Choir, under the direction of Cantor Eugene Cornfield, will sing.

REGISTRATIONS

Registration for new students for the fall semester at the Providence Hebrew Day School will be held from April 17 to May 15.

The new classes will consist of a kindergarten and first grade. Rabbi Egozi, director of the Providence Hebrew Day School, stated that no child above the first grade will be accepted unless he qualifies for both departments, secular and Hebrew. All classes will be limited to 25 children. Applications received in April will be given first preference. Inquiries about registration and tuition may be obtained by calling the Day School office, DEXter 1-5377.

RABBI EGOZI TO SPEAK

Rabbi Egozi, director of the Providence Hebrew Day School, will address a conference for principals and teachers at the New England Regional P. T. A. Convention which will take place on Sunday at Beth David Academy, Waterbury, Conn.

The theme of the Convention is "The Day School Meets the Needs of our Time" and Rabbi Egozi's topic is "New Trends In Curriculum Construction."

Mrs. Evelyn Bresnick, president of the Ladies Association of the Providence Hebrew Day School named the delegates to the convention. They are, Rochelle Blazar, Ethel Bornstein, Evelyn Bresnick, Samuel Bresnick, Sara Egozi, Hella Flescher, Caroline Gereboff, Edith Kapp, Ceil Krieger, Thelma Novich, Dian Schwartz, and Nettie Simon.

BRIDGE FOR THE BLIND

The Sisterhood of Congregation Sons of Jacob will hold a bridge on Wednesday at 1 P.M. in the vestry.

Proceeds will be given to make Sidorim, (Prayer Books) in braille for the blind.

The committee in charge are Mesdames Hyman B. Stone, Alex Goodblatt, Frank Silberman, Milton Ride, Nathan Edelman, Benjamin Glantz, Moses Rosenberg, Bernard Yanku, Louis Wein, Norman Vilardofsky, Hyman Gershan, and Morris Lecht, Ex-officio.

MIZRACHI WOMEN

Providence Chapter Mizrachi Women will hold their meeting on Thursday at 1:30 P.M. at the home of Mrs. Morris Fishbein, 132 Woodbine Street.

Reports on the forthcoming bridge will be given by the chairman. A coffee hour will follow the meeting.

TEMPLE BETH ISRAEL

The April program for the Men's Club of Temple Beth Israel will be a "Father and Children's Nite" on Monday at 7 P.M. at the temple. The program will include entertainment and refreshments for children of all ages.

A brief business meeting will be held to elect the new officers of the Men's Club. Samuel Cohen, chairman of the nominating committee, will present the slate which includes, Peter K. Rosedale, president; Samuel Eisenberg, first vice-president; Ira Stone, second vice-president; Julius Lightman, treasurer; Samuel Osterman, recording secretary; Joseph Cohen, financial secretary, and Lester Aptel, corresponding secretary.

Mr. Cohen will also present the names of fifteen members to serve on the Board of Governors for a term of 3 years.

SCHOOL COUNCIL

The monthly School Council meeting of the Bureau of Jewish Education will be held on Wednesday at 10 A.M., at the Bureau library, according to an announcement by the chairman, Rabbi Akiva Egozi. There will be a discussion of the forthcoming Inter-School Festival on April 23.

Rabbi Saul Leeman, chairman of School Council Programming, has announced that the recent Educators' Assembly Convention, which dealt with the theme of Supervision, will be discussed by Dr. Aaron Klein.

A subscription to the Herald is a good gift idea for the person who "has everything" else. Call UN 1-3709.

For Your Publicity and Organizational

— PHOTOGRAPHS —

CALL

FRED KELMAN

Williams 1-5402

For The FINEST CLEANING

It's

HOXSIE 4 Corners, Warwick
Route Service to Prov., Cranston and Warwick — RE 7-4567

Use Herald Classified ads.

SILVER

Electric Co.

Electrical Contractors
628 BROAD STREET
Industrial - Commercial and Residential
GA 1-6864

ATTENTION

Chinese Food Lovers!

For the Best in Chinese Food
We recommend you to the

CHINA MOON RESTAURANT

1530 Broad St., Cranston
(In Washington Park)
For Take Out Orders,
ST 1-8797

Peter & Vincent Calise

WISHES TO ANNOUNCE

THE FORMAL OPENING OF THE—

NEW

TRIANGLE DINER

10 Charles Street

Providence, R. I.

— Open 24 Hours Daily —

Dining Room Open for

Parties, Banquets, Weddings, Bar Mitzvahs

Meetings, etc.

WE SPECIALIZE IN HOME MADE PASTRY

FOR ANY INVESTMENT PROBLEM...

INVESTMENT
SECURITIES

65 WASHINGTON ST.
PROVIDENCE 3, R. I., DE. 1-5151

HOWARD A. FAIN

ALUMINUM
FIBERGLASS
PLYWOOD

NEW and USED

- Custom-Line Boats 15 ft.-18 ft.
- CUSTOM CRAFT • SEA-MAC
- BARBOUR • BORUM

Complete Line of Evinrude

EVINRUDE
SALES & SERVICE

Service for all Makes of Motors
VOLVO INBOARD & OUTBOARD MOTORS
Installed by Expert Craftsmen

TRAILERS — Dana Hull — Gard & Cox

Bay State Marine

48 TAUNTON AVE.
SEEKONK, MASS.

ED 6-8484

EVERYTHING IN OFFICE FURNITURE AND SUPPLIES

FREE PARKING
IN REAR

IRVING A.
ACKERMAN
General Manager

FREE DELIVERY
SERVICE

The One Stop Office Supply House

PARAMOUNT OFFICE SUPPLY CO., INC.

Stationers - Printers - Office Outfitters
37 BROAD STREET - JA 1-5800

Don't forget!

Sun Life of Canada's Family Security Benefit can give the family man more insurance protection when he needs it most. Thousands are taking advantage of this extra life insurance at low cost. I am Sun Life's local representative. May I discuss this Benefit with you?

Elliot F. Slack

1019 Industrial Bank Bldg.
DE 1-2422

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

A subscription to the Herald is a good gift idea for the person who "has everything" else. Call UN 1-3709.

DORIC DAY NURSERY and KINDERGARTEN
Accredited by R. I. Board of Education — State Licensed CERTIFIED TEACHERS
All Day Or Half Day Sessions
BALANCED HOT MEALS
Ages 3-6—Boys and Girls
145 Pontiac Avenue, Cranston
WI 1-4651 Transportation

DR. EBBA GRANLUND
Osteopathic Physician
Has Resumed Practice
DE 1-9674
353 Thayer St. Providence

FAMOUS FOR FINE FOODS

dine in our intimate atmosphere with candle-light charm at dusk tonight!

OPEN FOR LUNCHES

Capri

55 MEMORIAL DRIVE off Columbus Ave.
PA.5-3550

Society

Bas Mitzvah
The Bas Mitzvah of Cheryl Cofman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cofman; Fonda Lecht, daughter of Mrs. Leona Lecht and Joshua Lecht, and Marcia Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Sherman, will take place at the Cranston Jewish Center this evening at 8:30 P.M.

An Oneg Shabbat and reception will follow the service.

Bar Mitzvah
The Bar Mitzvah of Marshall B. Greenstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Greenstein will take place Saturday at the Cranston Jewish Center at 9:30 A.M.

Twins Born
Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Segal of 36 Dexterdale Road, announce the birth of twins, a third son, Peter, and first daughter, Pamela Ellen, on March 24.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Irving Segal of Providence. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Max Engleman of Newton, Mass.

Great-grandmothers are Mrs. Anna Metruk and Mrs. Anna Engleman, both of Boston, Mass.

First Child
Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Allen Gonicberg of 181 Raleigh Avenue, Pawtucket, announce the birth of their first child, Paul Stewart, on April 3.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Oster of Providence. Maternal great-grandfather is Harry Leach, of Providence.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Max Gonicberg of New York.

Cutler-Krasnoff
Miss Marcia Ruth Krasnoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Krasnoff of 135 Lexington Avenue, was married on March 25 to Warren Cutler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Cutler of 21 Chace Drive, at Weinstein's Lake Pearl Manor in Wrentham, Mass.

Eighty-five guests from Rhode Island, Mass., New Hampshire, New York, and Texas attended the reception which was held at Weinstein's Lake Pearl Manor.

Rabbi Isadore Pickholtz officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a gown of chantilly lace on taffeta with scoop neckline, miniature organza cabbage roses and iridescent sequins with long lily point sleeves and a fitted basque bodice. Her full bouffant skirt was appliqued with organza cabbage roses. Her queens crown was of iridescent sequins and seed pearls and her bouffant veil was of English silk illusion. She carried a Bible. or-

Engaged—Dr. and Mrs. Sidney Unger of 688 Ridge Road, Middletown, Conn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Martha Sue Unger, to Kenneth A. Adler of 52 Sinclair Avenue, Cranston.

Mr. Adler attended Providence College and was graduated from Bryant College where he was a member of Sigma Lambda Pi Fraternity. After his graduation he attended Brown University.

The couple plan a June 25 wedding in Middletown.

chids and streamers of stephanotis.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Harold Share, sister of the bride. Miss Sharen Cutler, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid.

The best man was Harvey Snet-sky and the ring bearer was Jerold Martin Share, nephew of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to Ellenville, New York the couple will reside at 151 York Street, Bangor, Maine.

Roiff-Young
The wedding announcement of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roiff was printed incorrectly in last week's issue. The announcement should have read, Rabbi Eli A. Bohnen officiated at the ceremony, assisted by Cantor Jacob Hohenemser. The Herald regrets the error.

Third Child
Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gross of 82 Sumter Street announce the birth of their third child and second daughter, Beth Lori, on March 11.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Snyder of Pembroke Avenue. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Gross of Hawthorne Avenue, Cranston.

Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Gross of Long Island, New York.

Second Child
Dr. and Mrs. Henry Izeman of 146 Evergreen Street announce the birth of their second child, a son, Edward Nathan, on March 23.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Adelson of Emeline Street and paternal grandmother is Mrs. Nathan Izeman of Pembroke Avenue.

Annual Sedar
The Gabrilowitz Family Circle held its fifteenth annual Seder on March 31 at the Congregation Sons of Abraham Synagogue. Thirty-nine friends and relatives from Massachusetts, New York and Rhode Island attended.

Robert M. Cohen conducted the sedar, assisted by Philip Gabrilowitz and president, William Gabrilowitz. Mr. Edith Gabrilowitz (Continued on Page 14)

IMPORTED MOSAICS
DO-IT-YOURSELF HOBBYIST
SAVE 25%
- MOSAIC IMPORTS -
56 Blaisdell Ave. (Oak Hill Plat)
PA 3-2122 Pawtucket

Have You Tried . . .
• CREPE SUZETTE
at Di MAIO'S
RIVERSIDE Open Mondays

A subscription to the Herald is a good gift idea for the person who "has everything" else. Call UN 1-3709.

SPRINGTIME IN MAGNOLIA IS TRULY DELIGHTFUL!

Early flowers begin to bloom and the warm sea breeze seems to whisper that Spring has sprung. What better time to take that few days away from routine for rest and relaxation on beautiful Cape Ann.

Excellent food and complete facilities including heated, indoor salt-water swimming pool. Finnish steam bath, and Swedish Massage are awaiting your arrival here at Magnolia Manor.

Incidentally . . . Low, low off-season rates are now in effect. 900 Calorie a day Diets are still available for the weight conscious.

$49⁵⁰ Mon. thru Fri. 5 Days—4 Nights (25 of 60 Rooms)

FRED and CAROLE'S
MAGNOLIA MANOR
Phone LAkeside 5-3411
MAGNOLIA, MASS.

CAPRI HAIR STYLISTS
Specializing in hair styling, tinting and hair shaping
795 Hope Street, Providence
Open daily 9 A.M. to 5:30 P.M.
Open Wednesday evenings until 9
TEmpLe 1-9136

PLAN NOW FOR YOUR SUMMER VACATION OR WEEKEND
"All leading resorts Personally Inspected"
MIAMI -- Amazing Values!
7 DAYS, 6 NIGHTS — INCLUDING MEALS and TRANSFERS
Carillon - Deauville Only 60.50*
Casablanca - Sherry Frontenac - Crown . . . Only 48.50*
Over 100 Oceanfront Hotels - Motels
* Rates Eff. April 20th — Double Occupancy
PACKAGE TRIPS -- New Low Rates!
Jamaica - Nassau - San Juan - Haiti

CRUISE ON THE FAMOUS AIR-CONDITIONED M/S ITALIA
WEEKLY SAILINGS TO NASSAU—Only $170 up

It's FUR STORAGE time!
Call GA 1-8096 pickup service

Re-Styling is an Art . . . and we are master Fur artists craftsmanship that you might expect from a third generation Master Furrier (the name WEINBERG has been associated with fine furs since 1916)

MARK WEINBERG • MINK A SPECIALTY •
custom furrier, inc.
290 Westminster Street • GAspee 1-8096

Member of the Master Furriers Guild of America
An Association of Authentic Master Furriers

Honeymoon Trips Our Specialty
Free brochures — Rates on request
CRUISES - TOURS Everywhere
California - Las Vegas - Mexico
ISRAEL -- EUROPE
Official Agents All Airlines

Zelda Kouffman
CRANSTON TRAVEL SERVICE
801 Park Avenue, Cranston
ST 1-4977 Eves. By Appt. ST 1-4977
DON'T FORGET — "WE'VE BEEN THERE"

A subscription to the Herald is a good gift idea for the person who "has everything" else. Call UN 1-3709.

ADLER
Hardware & Paint Co.

Just In Time For SPRING!

1960-62
Close-Out Patterns

WALLPAPER
66 2/3% off the Original price!

198 Prairie Ave. DE 1-8135
WILLARD SHOPPING CENTER

MACCABIAH TEAM
NEW YORK — More than a dozen star Jewish athletes have submitted applications to be on the United States Maccabiah Team which will compete in the sixth Maccabiah games in Israel next fall, according to the U. S. Committee for Sports in Israel.

WE CARRY THE BEST IN WESTERN STEER BEEF
Choice cattle from Iowa,
The finest in the country!
You're sure when you shop at:

George Berlinsky's
KOSHER MEAT MARKET
232 PRAIRIE AVENUE
in the Willard Center or call DE 1-9595 For Free Delivery

GENUINE reg. 98c lb
STEER LIVER lb 79c

Finest Quality POULTRY
net weight, no 1/2 lb added

De Von Beauty Salon
Hillside Motor Lodge
97 NEW LONDON AVE., CRANSTON — ROUTES 2 AND 3

O is for Open
MISS ANN
(formerly of Nandles, Wayland Square)

Announces the Opening of her
New Beauty Salon on
Monday, April 17, 1961

New Horizons of Beauty For You
HAIR STYLING . . . HAIR COLORING AND
ALL PHASES OF BEAUTY CULTURE
For Appointment Call WI 2-2660

APRIL — A GOOD MONTH FOR SAVING!
GET STARTED!

NEW SERIES OF MONTHLY SAVINGS

4%

CURRENT DIVIDEND

Save $ 5 a month; get $ 1,000
Save $10 a month; get $ 2,000
Save $25 a month; get $ 5,000
Save $50 a month; get $10,000
INSURED UP TO $10,000 BY FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

ROGER WILLIAMS
Savings
AND LOAN ASSOCIATION
PROVIDENCE

PAWTUCKET • WARWICK • WAKEFIELD • CUMBERLAND

Bridge
by Revoke
Virtue Rewarded

Here is an interesting hand that was played at a 4S contract:

North
♠—K, Q, J, x
♥—J, 10, x, x
♦—Q
♣—J, 10, x, x

West East
♠—x, x, x ♠—x, x
♥—x, x ♥—K, Q, 9, 8, x, x
♦—K, J, x, x ♦—A, x, x, x
♣—A, x, x, x ♣—x

South
♠—A, 10, x, x
♥—A
♦—10, 9, 8, x
♣—K, Q, 9, x

With North the dealer, both vulnerable, the bidding went:

North East South West
Pass Pass 1C Pass
1H Pass 1S Pass
4S Pass Pass Pass

West led a spade, which South won in dummy. South then played the queen of diamonds. East won and returned a trump, which South won in dummy, continuing with the jack of clubs. West took this trick with the ace and played a third round of trumps, which South won in his own hand. South decided to play for one honor in diamonds to be on his left and therefore led the eight of diamonds, which South ran when it was not covered. South thus made ten tricks: four spades, one heart, one diamond, three clubs, and one ruff.

Quite a number of pairs went down on this hand because it was played by North. The singleton club was led and then a low club returned and trumped. This helped East to underlead his ace of diamonds to get a second club ruff to defeat the contract. As it happens, correct bidding leads South to play the hand and thus avoid the fatal club lead. It must be admitted, however, that virtue was rewarded only by accident: had the East-West hands been switched the result would have been exactly the opposite.

At another table there was a more amusing bidding sequence:

North East South West
Pass 1H Double 1NT
Double 2H Pass Pass
Double Pass Pass Pass

A club was led and, as can readily be seen, there is no difficulty in making the contract if declarer on the first round of trumps finesse the nine. In fact he did not do so and somehow managed to go two light. This gave a well deserved top score to North-South and an equally well deserved and corresponding bottom score to East.

Cornerstone Laid For Water Desalting Plant

EILAT. — The cornerstone was laid at this southern tip of Israel for the country's first Zarchin water desalination plant, which will consist of four units each capable of producing 60,000 gallons of sweet water daily. The plant will be completed before the end of 1961 and produce 250,000 gallons daily.

Frank Barry, United States Undersecretary of the Interior, whose presence indicated the interest of the U. S. Government in the process, said the U. S. felt that the Zarchin process might solve irrigation problems of arid regions in the United States. Carlton Skinner, Fairbanks-Whitney treasurer, disclosed that a contract had been reached for a Zarchin plant with 3,000,000 gallons daily capacity for the U.S. Navy.

The plant in Israel is being established jointly by the Israel Government and Fairbanks-Whitney, the Government holding 60 percent of shares in the plant, and the U.S. corporation, 40 percent. The price of water produced through the Zarchin process will initially be just under $1 per thousand gallons, which compares with $1.75 per thousand gallons, the next lowest price by any other process.

Fairbanks President David Karr told the gathering that his company expected the price to come down to 40 cents per thousand gallons within a few years. The plant will produce 250,000 gallons daily when completed. The American firm will produce desalination plants for the American hemisphere and Israel will make them for Europe, Africa and Asia, Karr revealed.

Society

(Continued from Page 13)

was chairman of the affair. Jacqueline Cohen asked the "four questions".

On Dean's List
Harvey C. Saltzman, son of Abraham A. Saltzman of Douglas Avenue, and the late Mrs. Saltzman, has been placed on the Dean's List at the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Fla.
Mr. Saltzman is studying under a General Motors Scholarship.

Bas Mitzvahs
Lynne Cohen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cohen, and Rosalyn Wiatrak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wiatrak will celebrate their Bas Mitzvah by participating in and conducting portions of the service and reciting scriptural passages of the week at the Sabbath Eve services at Temple Beth Am which will be held this evening at 8:15 P.M.

The Oneg Shabbat, following the service, will be sponsored by the parents of the B'nos Bitzva.

The sermon, "Jewish Feminine Living", will be given by Rabbi Pesach Sobel.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Borov also was present at the ceremony and had a long talk with Alexander Zarchin, the Russian-born inventor.

CRISPY GOLDEN BROWN
BLUEBERRY WAFFLES
Hot Blueberry Syrup, Butter Chips

East Side Diner
360 Waterman Street
Near Red Bridge

Andre's Beauty Salon

SPECIAL THIS WEEK
STYLE CUT
SHAMPOO & STYLING
$3.00

COMPLETE PERMANENT
NO EXTRAS $10.00

HEAT WAVE FROM $7.50
—OPEN EVENINGS—
With or Without Appointment
176 Mathewson St., Street Floor
Across from Grace Church
Open Monday through Saturday
TEL. MA 1-8022 MA 1-3611

magic web
FEATURE

lets you adjust your Camp for FIRM support as needed while working

. . . or to MEDIUM or LIGHT support when playing or relaxing

. . . adjusts to those periodic changes in your figure

Doctors' prescriptions carefully filled

CAMP

SCIENTIFIC FOUNDATIONS
Fitted and altered by experts—without charge

Doris Corset Shoppe
187 WESTMINSTER STREET
MA 1-9313
OPEN MONDAYS

Johnson's HUMMOCKS Restaurant

TO REFRESH YOUR PALATE—
SUCCULENT FRESH LOBSTER MEAT... savor delicious Lobster Newburgh, Lobster Thermidor, Lobster Salad, Lobster Meat Plate or Combination Tray.

SEA FRESH FROM OUR OWN TANKS . . . BOILED OR BROILED LIVE LOBSTER.

245 Allens Ave., Providence • HO 1-6000

Arab Students Voice Anti-Semitism

WASHINGTON — Participation of Arab students, foreign nationals, in George Lincoln Rockwell's "American Nazi Party" activities and other anti-Semitism has attracted attention of Congressmen, according to a report by Milton Friedman.

The issue is whether the estimated 5,000 Arab students, attending hundreds of American colleges and universities are entitled to enter domestic U.S. politics as anti-Jewish agitators while guests of America. Many of the students are subsidized by the U.S. Government and various foundations established to promote international goodwill.

If American taxpayers are indirectly financing Arab students whose main "study" is new approaches in anti-Jewish propaganda, Congressmen want to know about it.

A considerable portion of the Arab students, from nations other than the United Arab Republic, are legitimate young people seeking to advance their education. But some United Arab Republic "students" are more than 40 years old and are never seen in classrooms.

Arabs here on temporary student visas recently circulated notices urging fellow Arabs to "join the American Nazi Party in its efforts to stamp out an insidious group" (American Jewry). The Arabs were exhorted to picket the pro-Israel film, "Exodus." Washington officials minimized the role Arabs might be taking in anti-Jewish agitation, saying it mattered little if a few Arabs worked with Rockwell. When advised that Arabs from the UAR were following a pro-Communist line, the officials displayed much greater interest.

Despite Arab student activity in questionable political agitation, pro-Naz and pro-Communist, the number of Arabs is steadily growing on the American campus.

Ambassador John D. Jernegan, who signed the new student accord for the United States, said that "today, more than 1,000 Iraqis are studying in the United States . . . and we welcome them." Significantly, the agreement was signed for Iraq not by an educator or university president; it was signed by a Brigadier General in the Iraqi Army, a force already equipped with Soviet weapons.

State Department sources acknowledged that some of the students from Arab lands leaned toward Communism and sought to propagandize American Negroes.

One official said "we rely on the free market place of ideas. It is in the tradition of our open society." But another privately conceded there was no point in our financing the import of trained propaganda agents dispatched to sow dissension.

Last summer, Mostafa Kamel, UAR Ambassador to the United States, told the Ninth Annual Convention of Arab Students, convened in Washington, that it was their "duty" to work against Jews and Israel. Kamel charged that "a great part of the public media of communications is controlled by the Zionist minority." He said "the Jewish minority" was "a bloc . . . powerful, rich, influential, fanatically self-interested and permanently against any understanding between Arabs and Americans."

The State Department, following public protest, mildly reprimanded the Ambassador for intervening in domestic American affairs.

Subsequently, the so-called "Arab Information Center" increased the flow of propaganda mailings to Arab students. The latest is a pamphlet entitled "Exodus: A Distortion of Truth." Instructions were given on the line to be taken. It was that Jewish "crimes" against Palestinian Arabs were worse than any "alleged" atrocities by Nazis against Jews.

The organization of Arab students chose to meet at Howard University, a distinguished Negro institution. Many Afro-Asian exchange students were invited as guests. The most recent meeting in Washington, received greetings from Nasser. Diatribes were directed against "imperialism" and "colonialism," linking America with the "Imperialists" of Western Europe.

When an "All African Students Union" was created in America, the Arab students, financed by the UAR, gave parties and sought to cultivate the Africans. One African sympathetic to Israel, said he was shocked that America permitted such "nazism" to be disseminated here by foreign Arabs.

On his visit to the United Nations General Assembly session in New York last year, Nasser took off a few minutes from his busy schedule of meeting with President Eisenhower and others. He used this time to present a large check to the Arab student group here and to commend their activities.

The check covered thousands of postage stamps to convey letters to editors of American dailies throughout the nation. The letters inveighed against Israel, Zionism, and the U.S. citizens of Jewish faith. They were written by the Arab students whose main study appeared to be the fermenting of hate.

Embassy Studio Photo
Bar Mitzvah — Robert Arthur Fish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Fish, of 114 Lambert Street, Cranston, became Bar Mitzvah at the Cranston Jewish Center on March 25.

The Herald finds it necessary many times to edit or omit news releases submitted for publication. The choice of articles to be omitted is purely arbitrary. Omissions are due to lack of space.

TOPS IN QUALITY AND SERVICE
William and Gertrude Newman's
בשר FISHMAN'S בשר
Kosher MEATS and FANCY POULTRY

In The New Willard Shopping Center
"GOLD-MAN" BRAND
Spring Pullets lb 45c
Corned Brisket lb 79c

For your convenience, we will KOSHER all your meat and poultry
FREE DELIVERY
Call MA 1-7596

Saturday Evening 5-8 P.M.
BUFFET SUPPER
By Candlelight
FABULOUS DESSERTS
MISS DUTTON'S
DE 1-5995

KELLER'S
In The New Willard Shopping Center
Tender Tasty MEATS

We won't offer you cheaper quality to give you cheaper prices, but we will give you the highest quality Steer Beef at the lowest possible prices.

STEER
TONGUES-AA lb 59c
- Special -
RIB CHUCK-AA lb 62c

FRESH KILLED POULTRY DAILY
NO 1/2 LB ADDED

We Carry Farm Fresh
Jumbo and Xtra Large Eggs

Call JA 1-0960
FOR FREE DELIVERY
TO CRANSTON - GARDEN CITY
NORTH END - EAST SIDE
WARWICK

REMEMBER: "The Proof of the Pudding is in the Eating"

Magic Wand Beauty Salon
proudly announces
MR. RALPH
Formerly of the East Side

HAIR STYLING FOR THE WOMEN WHO CARE

STuart 1-9609
Open Tues. thru Sat. 9-6
Wednesday Eve.

553 PARK AVE.
Cranston, Rhode Island

PROTECTION FOR YOUR FAMILY

- Give Your Family the Most Adequate Protection Possible
- Give Yourself Complete Satisfaction and Freedom from Worry

For A Sound Insurance Program Planned by a Competent Underwriter . . . CALL

FRANK LAZARUS
Life Insurance - Annuities
635 Industrial Trust Building
Office—GA 1-3812 Res.—PL 1-0716

"Our Younger Set"
The Herald is now accepting "Younger Set" Photos
For early publication and For our Files

- Glossy Prints Preferred
- 5" x 7" or larger
- Snapshots will not be accepted

THE JEWISH HERALD
1117 Douglas Ave. Providence, R. I.

SOMETHING NEW — SOMETHING DIFFERENT

Ann Berry's Beauty Shop

- Personalized Styling
- Permanent Wave

315 WASHINGTON AVE. - WASHINGTON PARK SQ.
WI lliams 1-9886 PROVIDENCE 5, R. I.

NEITHER RAIN NOR DAMP NOR COLD NOR HEAT . . .

Can stop this family from its appointed rounds of Gift-Shopping at JAMES KAPLAN, Inc. What's a little shower when you can select such sure-to-be-appreciated gifts for Graduation, Weddings, and Showers. And don't you just love those JAMES KAPLAN PRICES!

James Kaplan, Inc.
- JEWELERS -
250 Auburn St., Cranston
ST 1-0939 ST 1-0940
• JEWELRY • CHINA • LUGGAGE
• APPLIANCES • WATCH REPAIR
• DIAMONDS

Industrial Discounts

PROVIDENCE COMMUNITY CONCERTS
Present 1961-1962 Season
BYRON JANIS, pianist
AMERICAN BALLET THEATRE
Detroit Symphony Orchestra
Paul Paray, Conducting

Plus Another Outstanding Attraction to be announced
Veterans Memorial Auditorium

For the series:

Sustaining Members	$15.00
Regular Members	$8.50
Student Members	$5.00

NO SINGLE ADMISSIONS
Apply 296 Benefit Street Providence 3, R. I. PL 1-6080

DINNER SUGGESTIONS

The ROME Restaurant

Route 1,
N. Attleboro, Mass.
MYrtle 9-4041

LA FESTA is held every Wednesday evening. Music, gay costumes, buffet. Visit our attractive new Cocktail Lounge. Banquet rooms available for parties. We are still serving a fine Italian Cuisine, featuring "La Carretta." Also delicious Steaks, Lobsters, Chicken. Roast beef, Saturdays and Sundays. Open Daily at 5; Sundays at 12.

Johnson's Hummocks

245 Allens Ave.
Tel. HO 1-4000

Southern New England's most inviting Restaurant for better than a half century . . . serving Ocean Fresh Sea Food, Hard Shell Lobsters and tender juicy steaks. Try the "Prime Rib Room" for succulent Roast Beef. Enjoy Cocktails and Piano music. Free Parking.

Broadway Auto Lease

- BUSINESS EXECUTIVES
- DOCTORS
- LAWYERS
- PROFESSIONAL MEN

It pays for you to investigate the many advantages of our long term full maintenance lease vehicles.

ANY MAKE . . . ANY MODEL

Rhode Island's Largest Auto Lease Company

Write or phone: KEN STEINGOLD
CHARLES WOOLF

Broadway Auto Sales

766 Broadway, Pawtucket

PA 3-4700

In Hollywood . . .

By Barney Glaser

Hollywood, California -- You'll be hearing a lot of Annie Farge soon, so let's get acquainted with this charming little Jewish actress who was born in Paris and came to America only six months ago. Standing only five feet high, Annie weighs in at a meager 90 pounds. Currently, she is co-starring in the television series "Angel" with Marshall Thompson. When Annie was only 14, she entered the Conservatoire National de Paris and studied dramatics there for three years.

Then, she won a coveted post with the famed Comedie Francaise. After that, came a series of starring roles in French theaters. Annie calls herself a "child of the theater." Actually, she has known no other life than acting.

The diminutive French import is married to Dirk Sanders, actor-dancer-and-choreographer. He is Dutch. They met in Paris and were married three years ago. They have an adorable daughter, Leslie, 9 mos.

MY GOOD neighbor in the San Fernando Valley, Percy Faith, is currently composing an original score for Universal's movie "Tammy, Tell Me True," starring Sandra Dee and John Gavin.

CANDID WEDDINGS

BAR MITZVAHS

EMBASSY STUDIOS

820 PARK AVE. - CRANSTON
ST 1-6769

Cash and Carry Means More Savings!

- ROSES
- EVERGREENS
- PEAT
- FERTILIZERS
- AZALEAS
- SHADE TREES
- SEEDS
- FLOWERS

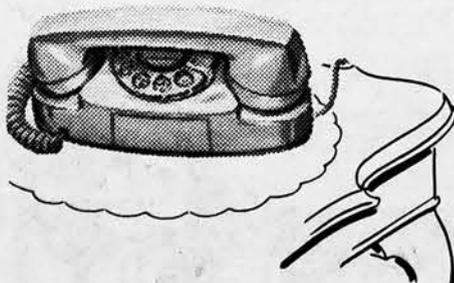

OPEN SUNDAYS

URBAN NURSERIES WI 2-1600

400 ATWOOD AVE., Cranston Across from Atwood Shop Ctr.

SWEET DREAMS AND NO FEARS with a bedside telephone

So reachable . . . so reassuring! And if it's a PRINCESS extension, so right in its place.

The protection for those near and dear that only a telephone can give! The soft glow of a night light, or the brightness for dialing that are only available with a PRINCESS phone.

For information about cost and colors, just call your Telephone Business Office.

NEW ENGLAND

TELEPHONE

This is the first time Faith has worked in motion pictures. As a result, he has moved his permanent headquarters from New York to Hollywood, which gave me the chance to meet him and learn he is Jewish.

One of America's most widely acclaimed music makers, Faith has turned out a total of 32 albums.

DAVE BARRY, the well-known night club comic, will be the voice of Winston Churchill for scenes in "On the Double," the new film comedy starring Danny Kaye and Dana Wynter. . . Jeff Pevey, 9-year-old son of Mitzl Green, former child actress, and film director Joseph Pevey, will be seen in Warners' "Portrait of a Mobster," recently completed.

DID YOU KNOW that Jack Benny gave Marilyn Monroe, Mamie Van Doren and Jayne Mansfield their first roles in television? . . . Jill St. John, the 20-year-old Jewish actress, didn't have to marry Lance Reventlow, son of millionairess Barbara Hutton, for his money. She had plenty of her own and makes it a practice to buy Lance presents with money she earned herself.

LOUIS QUINN, the man who plays the bookie in "77 Sunset Strip," is married to actress Christine Nelson. And how do you think Mrs. Quinn obtains picture parts? She sends pictures of her daughter to casting directors with the inscription: "Help send this child through college. Employ her mother."

NOW THAT Jack Kruschen has been nominated in the Oscar race for his role as the doctor in "The Apartment," everything nice is coming his way. He is currently playing the eccentric scientist in "Lover, Come Back," and will portray a shrewd attorney in "Cape Fear," starring Gregory Peck and Polly Bergen.

JOSEPH SCHILDKRAUT, one of Hollywood's most beloved actors, phoned this morning to explain why he hasn't acknowledged the many nice things we've said about him. He said: "My father Rudolph once told me never to thank a critic for the nice things he says nor argue with him over the bad notices." I'll agree with you, Joe, about not arguing over the bad notices, but I think it would be friendly to acknowledge the printed pat on the back.

Industrial National Earnings Up 8%

Net Operating earnings of Industrial National Bank of Providence for the three months ending March 31, 1961 totaled $1,093,493, an increase of 8% from a year ago. John Simmen, president has reported. This was equal to 91¢ a share on the 1,200,000 shares outstanding, compared with 84¢ a share for the first quarter of 1960.

Gross earnings totaled $6,250,288, up $246,000 or 4% while expenses of $4,480,070 increased $263,000 or 6%. However, a substantial increase in holdings of state and municipal securities, the income from which is exempt from Federal income taxes, necessitated provision of only $677,000 for state and Federal income taxes, $100,000 less than the $777,000 set aside during the first quarter of 1960. This accounted for the increase of $83,000 in net earnings after taxes.

Total resources of $519,045,000 on March 31st were $18,383,000 greater than the same date a year ago. Deposits climbed to $462,354,000, $20,627,000 or almost 5% above last year. Demand deposits of $206,412,000 were off $7,489,000 or 3½%, but time deposits totaled $225,942,000, up $28,116,000 or 12% from March 31st a year ago.