Gewerkschaft Campaign Workers Plan 3rd Seder

group on the importance of the Haggadah.
Funds are now being secured for the work of the committee. Henry Burt, secretary of the campaign, was in charge of the arrangements of the meeting.

Zionist Leader to Deliver Talk Here

Isaac Imber, foremost leader and organizer of the Youth Zionist movement in this country, will speak on the "Masada Platform" before the local Masada Student League next Sunday night at 8 o'clock at the Jewish Community Center. Considered to be one of the most dynamic thinkers and orators among young Zionists, Mr. Imber will elucidate on the Zionist aims and the Masada platform which is reputed to be the answer to the question: "Is American Jewish Youth in Danger?" The public is invited to attend.

Supplementing the lecture will be a round table discussion in which the members of the local group will participate. The affair is considered to be one of the highlights of the organization's activities this season and will probably draw a large number of people in the city interested in Zionism and its manifold phases.

Mr. Imber, at present a supervisor of the Probation Department in the City of New York, is well-known as the organizer of the Youth Zionist Organization.

Among his many associations, he is editor of the Avukah Bulletin, the periodical representing the American Student Zionist Federation of which he was president from 1928-1930. Mr. Imber was instrumental with Morris Rothenberg, head of the Zionist Organization of America in forming the Zionist Commission on Education and Youth Organization and was elected its first secretary in 1932.

Headed by Samuel M. Strong, the committee of arrangements includes Frank Licht, David Hassenfeld, Arthur Hoffman, Harold Trager and Herbert Ballou.

Jewish Sailors Bound Together to Form Union

HAIFA (JTA)—A union of Jewish sailors, the first in the world, was formed here by a group of 100 Palestine seafarers. This is the first group of young Jews engaged in navigation who have been specially trained for this vocation. A number of them received their training in Italian ports prior to settling in Palestine.

American Jews to Observe Maimonides Sabbath, April 12-13

Throughout the United States, April 12 and 13 has been designated as Maimonides Sabbath, in commemoration of the 800th anniversary of the birth of this great Jewish philosopher, scholar, physician and sage.

Locally Temple Emanu-El is arranging a city-wide Maimonides Celebration tonight at 8:15 o'clock. The three-fold aspect of Maimonides will be treated. Professor Arthur E. Murphy of the Philosophy Department of Brown University will speak on "Maimonides the Philosopher." Dr. Harry A. Savitz, noted physician of Boston who is termed in the Providence City Hospital, will speak on "Maimonides the Physician," and Rabbi Israel M. Goldman will speak on "Maimonides the Jew." To this service the following organizations have been especially invited: Jacoby Medical Club, Junior Hadassah, Senior Hadassah, Ladies Auxiliary of the Jewish Home for the Aged, Women Pioneers, Council of Jewish Women, Ethel Smith, Paole Zion, Young Judaism, Jewish Social Workers Council and Zionist District.

In the vestibule of the synagogue a special Maimonides exhibition has been arranged which features some 25 books by and on Maimonides, together with a number of photographic reproductions, magazine articles and pamphlets. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Miss Kelman Places Fifth in Swim Event at Jewish Olympiad

Miss Doris Kelman of 100 Whitmarsh Street, representing New England, placed fifth in the women's 100-metre free style swim event of the Jewish Olympiad held at Tel Aviv, Palestine. The event took place last Tuesday.

Qualified for the Maccabiah events by virtue of winning first place in the 200-metre breast stroke at the final tryouts held in New York on Feb. 17, Miss Kelman's passage to Palestine was made possible principally by the cooperation of member organizations of the R. I. League of Jewish Women's Organizations.

Many Jewish Girls in Scout Movement

By GERTRUDE M. WOLFENSON

If you are unfamiliar with the Girl Scout movement, it may surprise you to learn that about 175 Providence Jewish girls between the ages of 10 and 18, are Girl Scouts—16 per cent of the total 1,100. Two troops have 100 per cent Jewish membership, while numerous other Jewish Girl Scouts can be found scattered in the 51 troops throughout the city.

Interesting news, indeed, is the announcement that Mrs. Herman Galkin of 87 Gallatin Street, is opening her home for pioneer work in the Girl Scout movement. Mrs. Galkin plans to teach Jewish girls in nearby Jewish girls between the ages of 10 and 18, are Girl Scouts—16 per cent of the total 1,100. Two troops have 100 per cent Jewish membership, while numerous other Jewish Girl Scouts can be found scattered in the 51 troops throughout the city.

Pioneer in Her Field
And later, when Mrs. Galkin passes them in their tests, how proudly they will wear the badges presented them as symbols of their knowledge and skill! Mrs. Galkin is the first Jewish woman to achieve so active an interest in Girl Scouting in her district (District A). Her husband has long been an outstanding worker in the Boy Scout movement, having been Providence Deputy Commissioner, and now a Life Scout.

Numerous orthodox Jewish families reside in the neighborhood where this innovation is to take place. Unquestionably, it will please countless parents to have their daughters learn to prepare properly kosher dishes in wholesome Jewish surroundings. Cook-hostess courses have been given at the Girl Scout House on Benefit Street, but Mrs. Galkin's volunteer experiment proves successful, further courses in Jewish homes will be begun.

Returning to the all-Jewish troops, one of these is Troop 19, sponsored by Temple Emanu-El. Mrs. William Kolb, of 131 Lloyd Avenue, is captain, assisted by Janice Riback. Members' mothers who are on the troop committee are, Mrs. Adele M. Abel, 38 S. Angell Street; Mrs. Walter Adler, 33 Stadium Road; Mrs. Halist Fisher, 393 Cole Avenue; Mrs. Samuel Goldberg, 19 Brenton Avenue, and Mrs. Milton Leonard, 230 Hillside Avenue.

Spirit of Independence and Freedom Reign in Jewish Homes as Story of Exodus is Recounted at Seder Ceremonies

For thousands of years, the Jews have celebrated the Pesach holiday early each spring. This year, as is the custom since the exile, Diaspora Jewry will celebrate the first two days and the last two days as holidays beginning with the Seder Wednesday night. But, during the eight days only unleavened bread will be eaten in Jewish homes and a special set of dishes used.

To Jews the world over, the holiday is significant of the freeing of the Jews from their long bondage in Egypt and thanksgiving for the saving of the Jewish first-born sons when the first-born sons of the Egyptians perished of a plague. A people enslaved for generations and now under the guidance of an inspired leader was about to embark on the hard road of freedom. The road was to lead to national independence, exile, independence again and then exile and martyrdom among the nations of the world.

Men, women and children left the "flesh pots of Egypt," which the older generation was later to mourn as they picked their meager belongings and hurriedly baking unleavened bread trekked off into the desert. What befell them in the desert and how they conquered Palestine is too well-known to need repetition here.

Most important National Holiday But since that memorable deliverance, Jews have observed Pesach as the most important of their national holidays, inextricably bound up with their religious life.

Each year, just before the holiday begins, Jewish homes are cleared of "chometz." Houses are scrubbed clean, the special set of Pesach dishes is brought forth, bitter herbs are ground and wine is placed on the table so that the obligatory "four cups" may be drunk.

The first Seder is held in the evening, soon after the men of the household have returned from the synagogue. Reclining to the left, as befits freemen, the Haggadah is read and the tale of the deliverance of the Jews from Egyptian bondage once more retold.

When the Jewish nation was in existence, Jews from all over the country would flock into Jerusalem for the holiday. After the second restoration, when there were large numbers of Jews in the other countries of the Mediterranean world, these Jews would also come to Jerusalem for Pesach, if it were at all possible.

To Keep Alive Jewish Spirit
With the second dispersion, when the Jews scattered over the whole known world, Pesach became even more precious and was observed more rigidly than it had been in Palestine itself. It was a means of keeping alive the spirit and the traditions of the Jews. The holiday had been a simple one with few ceremonies in Palestine, it was also connected with the coming of the spring and with the movement of the flocks to summer pasturage, by no means unimportant in an agricultural country such as Palestine.

In the Diaspora, ceremonies were added to the Pesach observance, the Haggadah was written and the rich accumulation of traditional Pesach observances brought together and codified.

Early in Jewish history in exile, the blood ritual accusation was invented and ignorant superstitious people told that the Jews needed the blood of a child to celebrate Pesach properly. Pesach observance became fraught with danger. The utter ridiculousness of the accusation did not prevent frenzied mobs from making pogroms on the Jews in connection with Pesach.

In the medieval world, the Jew was shut up in the narrow confines of the ghetto, he was forced to wear distinctive clothing and the yellow badge of shame. He never knew from day to day whether a mob would sweep down on the ghetto to rob murder and burn, or whether the local ruler having snatched all he could out of the Jews would not order them to move on.

In Memory of Freedom
On Pesach, however, the Jew forgot the daily tragedy of a life of persecution and martyrdom. He recalled the glorious tradition of freedom, of the time when he was a free man in his own country. The spark of freedom glowed anew and he was able to go on, to bear the load imposed.

Misery Faces Jews of Poland This Year

WARSAW (JTA)—Not less than 11,000 Jewish families in Warsaw alone, totaling 50,000 persons, will receive aid from the Jewish Community for Passover, it was announced by the community.

In addition thousands of families will receive Passover food from private relief organizations. The number of Jews who depend upon charity for their Passover food is estimated at over a million throughout the whole of Poland.

The miserable situation of Polish Jewry is pictured in the tens of thousands of applications filed with the Jewish communities asking for matzoh in connection with the approaching Passover. Most of the applicants are asking for nothing more than matzoh and potatoes. All of them will celebrate the Passover with hardly anything but these bare necessities.

In view of the withdrawals of government subsidies from the Jewish communities, Jewish leaders are today at a loss as to how to accommodate the tens of thousands of applicants. The poverty in the provincial cities is even greater than in Warsaw.

Fear was expressed today that many Jewish communities will actually be starved this week.

A LOSS TO WORLD JEWRY

The sudden death of Adolph S. Ochs, the publisher of the New York Times, is a loss not only to the newspaper world, but also to world Jewry.

The New York Times has often been called by anti-Semites "a Jewish newspaper," not only because its publisher, Mr. Ochs, was a Jew, but also because it paid more attention to news concerning Jewish life than any other newspaper in the United States.

This policy of paying proper attention to Jewish activities in the United States and to events concerning Jews in Europe, has been pursued by the Times due to the direct influence of Mr. Ochs and the late Louis Wiley.

With the death of these two pillars of the New York Times, the Jews of the world have lost two of their most influential friends. Though not very active in Jewish affairs, Mr. Ochs, and with him Mr. Wiley, watched with interest the developments of Jewish life, especially recently since the Nazis came into power in Germany.

In taking the lead in reporting news concerning Jewish life, the New York Times was also instrumental in the fact that other papers and news agencies in America followed his lead. It was the New York Times, under the ownership of Adolph Ochs, that actually created a demand for Jewish news in the American newspaper field.

PASSOVER OBSERVANCE

Passover, our Day of Independence, is almost at hand—the day that the ancestor of the Jew thirty-five hundred years ago, became a free man! It is a great occasion. Preparations have been going on for weeks. Mead has been brewed; wine has been set; and beet juice has been placed, to provide the Passover delicacies that live in the memory of young and old alike. The youngsters have surreptitiously watched the advancing preparations, and were it not for the fear that some leaven might enter the delicious concoctions and render them unfit for Passover use, they would have sampled them. During the next few days, remaining preparations will go on. Charoses will be compounded, symbolic of the brick and mortar that the ancient Hebrews were forced to make for the Egyptians.

But the bitter herbs commemorating the hard toil and laborious life in Egypt of our ancestors of yore cannot dim the joy of our celebration of Passover. Throughout the length and breadth of our land, and in fact of the world, in many Jewish homes there will be family gatherings, and the stranger will be invited to partake: "Come all ye who are hungry and eat." Larger gatherings in the synagogues and temples will mark the festivities, as well as the gleaming white unleavened cakes and good Passover dishes. So the Jew has from that distant date to now annually marked the Exodus from Egypt and the birth of freedom with joyous and heart-gladdening Passover.

Temple Beth-El will have a communal Seder, and the religious schools of the synagogues and temples will educate our Jewish youth in proper observance of this pleasurable holiday by having model ceremonies, with full symbolic dishes. Then when the children come to their homes, they will be instructed in the proper ritual and questions of Pesach, and will understand the whole significance of the symbolism.

This worthy custom, enlightening the mind and disposing the character to freedom and independence, and above all in this land of the blessed United States, should be observed by every Jew, either in his family or in the congregational Seder.

The celebration of Passover will never die in this country. We urge its complete and careful observance to lend vigor to keeping the spirit of freedom alive.

10 YEARS OF THE HEBREW UNIVERSITY

The Hebrew University, whose tenth anniversary is being celebrated throughout the world, is an example of the valuable contributions which American Jewry has made toward the upbuilding of Palestine.

Established chiefly with American funds, the Hebrew University has been maintained during the ten years of its existence mostly by contributions from the United States. It is the group centered around the American Friends of the Hebrew University that has made the existence of the university possible.

It can be safely said that were it not for Dr. Judah L. Magnes, with his energetic personal efforts in America, the Hebrew University would have faced many a crisis in the ten years since its founding. Devoted to the university, Dr. Magnes has spared neither time nor effort in seeing that this institution develops and justifies the pride which world Jewry is taking in it.

The youngest university in the world, the Hebrew University today ranks among the most popular institutions of higher learning. Its students comprise Jewish youth from all parts of the world. Its faculty is composed of scientists of high repute.

The so-called "Aryan" paragraph in Germany which resulted in the ousting of many Jewish professors from German universities, has contributed towards the enrichment of the university's faculty. Deprived of the right to teach in Germany, many Jewish professors of world renown have joined the staff of the Hebrew University and have made their home on Mount Scopus.

With the campaign now being conducted by the Hadassah in America, to raise funds for the establishment of a medical center at the university, the Hebrew University is making another step forward in its development. At present only an institution for research, it is well on its way to ranking with the other great universities of the world by increasing its program and the scope of its work.

Never before was a Hebrew university so necessary to the Jews of the world as now, when the doors of many institutions of learning are gradually being closed to them in different countries. The restrictions against Jewish students in the universities of Poland, the movement to introduce restrictions against Jewish students in the universities of Roumania, the elimination of Jewish students from the universities of Austria, the recent campaign against alien students in France, the silent discrimination practised against Jewish students in certain universities in America — all this only emphasizes the necessity for a Hebrew university fully equipped and developed to accommodate Jewish students from all parts of the world.

Ten years in the existence of a university is a very short period, but the Hebrew University in Jerusalem has shown that with proper assistance from the Jews of all over the world, and especially from the Jews of America, it was able to perform a fine piece of work even in such a short span of time. This is no doubt due to the efforts of Dr. J. L. Magnes, the chancellor of the university.

WINE FOR PASSOVER

By DR. HARRY BROADMAN

The following incident dates back to a time when Jewish life in this city was entirely of the orthodox kind.

There was a temple here even then but this was maintained mainly by the so-called German Jews, a few old timers, and several others whose business successes affected their cranium to such an extent that their reasoning centers were completely suppressed by their vanity.

It was at that time that I settled here, only to find life rather duil. But this was soon rendered brighter by the friendship of a gentleman who in his time was not only the religious leader here but also the spokesman for the Jews and their court of justice, for there were still those here who had faith enough in their Rav to abide by his decision in differences which they themselves could not adjust, that was our late Rabbi Rubinstein.

What was it that brought about such enduring friendship between us two men who differed so widely in matters pertaining to religion and who also lived in diametrically opposite spheres of life?

Was there anywhere a common ground in our respective fields of endeavor that could have served as a basis for it?—No.

Our friendship was based on a mutual sympathy as both of us were dependent upon our fellow Jews for a living, never spoken of but always deeply felt.

Came the time of my first Passover in my new home, and Rabbi Rubinstein asked me to be his guest to the first Seder. When I confessed what a cripple I was in Hebrew and that all I could do at an event of that sort was only to partake of the wine and gefilte fish, he proudly refused to accept a No as an answer, informing me that no one has as yet ever suffered any embarrassment under his roof.

I had witnessed Seders before, few I must admit, and knew what it was all about, but the manner in which he conducted this one shall forever remain as the supreme, if not the only, spark of spiritual joy in my life.

The Rabbi, attired in a white robe with his white face and black beard, reclining on a white pillow on a couch at the head of the table, looked like one of our prophets that our imagination loves to build up while reading about them.

Everybody said Hagodda—the Rabbi, his wife, his three daughters and two young sons—only I sat like a goy, following the words with my eyes only, losing track every now and then, finding my way back again only when the Rabbi stopped as he did very often, for my benefit, to explain in very good English the subject matter covered and its historical significance.

Later in the Seder a glass of wine was set aside for Elyahui Hanovie and when one of his boys opened the door, as is the custom, to admit the visionary prophet, he almost fell back from fright, shouting—"Here he is!"

We were all startled and looking in that direction we beheld a tall Jew with a thin, black beard, and black curly hair sticking out from under his cap, standing on the threshold, looking at us but not moving.

"Gosh, Heaven is not a myth after all, and is it possible that my friend whom I admired so much is really possessed of such supernatural powers as to command Elyahui Hanovie?" I asked myself half awestricken, half drunk from the Rabbi's excellent wine.

"Come in," ordered the Rabbi, as calm as ever.

The visitor came in and stopped short of the table, facing the Rabbi.

"What can I do for you?"

"A shalle," said the stranger, hoarsely, as if he himself were terribly frightened.

"A shalle about what," asked the Rabbi.

"My wife made a mistake and strained the raisin wine that we had prepared through a chomitsidige cloth. We have no other wine for to-night and it is too late to buy any," complained the visitor.

Rabbi Rubinstein rested his chin on his left hand, he shut his eyes, and after thus meditating for a few minutes he sat up straight and facing the man he said, "I declare that wine Kosher. Go home to your family and make the Seder."

When all was over and when my friend saw me to the door I asked him quietly, as man to man, why he had declared that wine pessachdig enough for Seder purposes.

"Because it is a lesser sin to have chomitsidige wine than to have none," he said.

Around The Town

With JOSEPH M. FINKLE

The recent deaths of Adolph Ochs, famous publisher of the New York Times, and of Louis Wiley, his fellow-worker for many years, and business manager of that newspaper, remove two great Jewish figures, who will leave their marks on this and future generations.

It seems that our city had some small part in the early life of Mr. Ochs. He was employed here as a cash boy for his uncle, Gustave Rodenberg, who operated a grocery store located where our City Hall now stands. This was when Mr. Ochs was 12 years of age. He resided in Providence for a year. Jerome J. Rodenberg, a grandson of Gustave, and a cousin of Mr. Ochs, is a resident of our city at the present time.

The Junior Unit of the American Jewish Congress is rapidly forging to the front as one of our leading organizations, if by meeting which was held last Sunday night at Temple Beth-El is a criterion of its future activities. More than 150 of our younger set, including many from Massachusetts cities, listened attentively to a symposium for and against the subject: "The Jew Faces Fascism."

Instead of the customary style of debate, the platform was arranged in courtroom manner. The participants were Marie Roitman, Irving J. Fain, Samuel Strong and Edward Goldberger. Archie Smith was arrayed in his judicial robes as judge.

The name Junior Unit is probably a bit deceiving, for the membership of this organization comprises many men and women of adult years. Organizations of this type are needed in the community

Siegal Recital

Wins Approval

Before an exceptionally large and appreciative audience at Churchill House last Monday night, Miss Evelyn Siegal made her first formal bow to the public as a soprano. She was assisted by Miss Ruth Tripp, well-known local pianist.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Seferin invited the members of the audience to attend a reception to Miss Siegal at the Narragansett Hotel, following the recital. Miss Siegal, sister of Mrs. Seferin, received many beautiful floral gifts.

Dr. W. Louis Chapman, music critic of the Providence Journal, expressed his enthusiasm with the ability of Miss Siegal as follows: "Miss Siegal has a charming stage presence and manner. She sings easily and without mannerisms. Her voice is for the most part light and pleasing and, as her program required, is of extensive range. She has an excellent memory and the evening was free from textual errors. It would be absurd to visit upon any young singer an analysis of the artistic requirements of so varied and difficult a program. It will be a pleasure, several years hence, when the exigencies of intonation, diction, tonal and vowel placements have been more thoroughly impressed upon the musical character, to hear from her these magnificent songs, which are the stock in trade of the great singers of the world."

Services

In view of the fact that this Friday night precedes the festival of Passover, Rabbi Schussheim will conduct the service as an introduction to the observance of this festival. He will speak on "Highways to Freedom." Joseph Schlossberg, cantor, will read the liturgy. The service commences at 8:15 and the public is cordially invited.

The Jr. Congregation, which has been growing steadily will continue to meet Saturday mornings at 9:30 o'clock. Boys and girls 10 years of age or over, are expected to attend. The service lasts one hour.

Yahrzeit

The Congregation observes this week the Yahrzeit of: Wolf Weinstein on Monday and Sarah Salluck on Friday.

Passover Schedule

The festival of Passover commences next Wednesday evening at sunset and continues through Thursday, April 25. At Temple Beth Israel, services will be conducted the first two days and the last two days of the holiday; evenings at 6 o'clock and mornings at 9 o'clock. There will be no Jr. Congregation service during the festival. Children, as well as women are expected to attend the congregational service at 9 o'clock. During the Chol Amoed morning and evening services will be conducted according to the usual daily service schedule. Rabbi Schussheim will speak at the morning service, Thursday, on "The Significance of Passover." On the last day of Pesach, Thursday, April 25, a memorial service will be conducted during which the rabbi will also preach. Congregants are urged to note the time for the memorial service, Thursday morning, April 25 at 10 o'clock and to arrange to be present.

Passover Radio Message

In connection with the observance of the festival of Passover, Rabbi Schussheim will broadcast a Passover message from Station WJAR on Wednesday morning, at 9:15 o'clock.

Passover School Model Seder

A model Seder will again be conducted this year by Rabbi Schussheim for the children of the Religious School on Sunday morning, April 14 at 10 o'clock, promptly. The Seder will comprise a complete service including refreshments served by the Sisterhood. Every child is welcome and parents are also invited to attend.

Study Groups

Cultural activities, which have been conducted during the past year by Rabbi Schussheim at Temple Beth Israel, are now in the concluding period with a series of lectures on Maimonides given by the rabbi at 10:45 o'clock on Sunday mornings at the Temple. These lectures are open to the public and should prove of particular interest to students as well as to the general public, as they are presented authoritatively as well as in a popular form. The first lecture given last Sunday morning, was on "Forerunners of Maimonides." The second lecture will be given this Sunday morning on "The Life and Times of Maimonides." Those desiring to attend are urged to be seated promptly in order not to interfere with the large number who are attending the series.

Study Group Social

The Sisterhood Study Group which meets Saturday afternoons, will celebrate a season of successful activity with a social gathering this Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Benjamin M. Kane, 152 President Avenue. Every member of the group is cordially invited to attend. Rabbi Schussheim will review "Call It Sleep," by Herbert Roth, an extraordinary picture of East Side Jewish life of 25 years ago. He will also give a summary of the achievements and progress of the group.

Men's Club

One of the finest meetings of the Men's Club was held last Tuesday evening at Temple Beth Israel. A presentation of Booth Tarkington's play, "The Trysting Place" was given by the Providence Repertory Players. The speaker of the evening was Rev. Samuel W. Clifton of Plymouth Union Congregational Church. Dr. Clifton, who is one of the outstanding spiritual leaders of the city, gave an inspiring address on "Conditions of the Day." Dr. Carl Jagolnzer, president of the Men's Club, presided. Reports on cultural activities were submitted and participation of the Men's Club in the Temple Bazaar was discussed. A social hour followed.

Anti-Semitic Riots Close Bucharest Univ.

BUCHAREST (JTA) — Bucharest University was closed down for six days after severe clashes between anti-Semitic and Jewish students.

Many of the Jewish students were attacked in the laboratories of the university and in the class rooms. Several of them are now in the Bucharest Hospital being treated for injuries.

The clashes started as a result of the increased anti-Jewish propaganda throughout the country. The leader of this propaganda is ex-premier Dr. Vaida-Voevod who has started a campaign to have Jews eliminated from the educational system and from all professions.

Protest to King Carol

At the same time the anti-Semitic students arranged a demonstration yesterday in front of King Carol's palace in protest against the ban on their projected congress. The order prohibiting the congress was issued under the explanation that such congresses are devoted chiefly to anti-Semitic propaganda rather than to matters concerning the academic interests of the students.

A meeting of Jewish students today decided to abstain from visiting the university until the administration arranges full protection for their lives. It was pointed out at this meeting that the tense atmosphere prevailing within the university walls makes it dangerous for Jewish students to visit the classes.

The campaign conducted by ex-premier Vaida-Voevod against admitting Jews into Rumanian schools has assumed a very serious character during the last week after a clash between him and ex-premier Maniu, the leader of the National Peasant Party who informed Dr. Vaida-Voevod that he will be thrown out of the National Peasant Party for his anti-Jewish propaganda. Dr. Vaida-Voevod is now forming his own party, to be called Christian-Peasant Party.

"Gentlemen's Night"
by Providence Council

The Providence Section, National Council of Jewish Women, will hold a Gentlemen's Night at Temple Beth-El, Broad Street, Monday evening, at 8 o'clock.

After a short business meeting, conducted by the president, Mrs. Jack Davis, the Dramatic Department of the Council, of which Mrs. Fred Markoff is chairman, will present two one-act plays, entitled "Just Martyrs" and "The Worm Turns". Mrs. Pearl W. Selverston is directing the productions.

The cast in "Just Martyrs" includes: Mesdames Lewis J. Blumenthal, Everett Cowen, William Hyman, Nat Roy, Theodore Rosenblatt, and Bernard Shastet.

Mrs. Fred Markoff and Mrs. Samuel Summerfield will take part in "The Worm Turns." Staging and properties will be in charge of Mrs. Nat Rosner, Mrs. Leonard Fain and Mrs. Joseph W. Reas. Mrs. John J. Rouslin will be the prompter. Mrs. Philip V. Marcus will head the ushers, and Mrs. Samuel Markoff will be tea committee chairman, in charge of the serving of refreshments at the close of the evening.

Kosher Butchers

Must Join NRA

New England kosher butchers and poultry dealers must register under the recently granted national NRA code for their industry by April 15, according to an announcement by Morris Harris, regional coordinator for the Retail Kosher Meat Trade Code Authority.

Hyman Schulman, New England regional code chairman, warned that immediate action will be taken against members of the trade who do not register and pay their assessments by that time. At the same time he announced opening of regional code offices at 294 Washington Street, Boston.

Fifteen kosher butchers were this week summoned to the regional office on charges of violating various code provisions, including those prohibiting sale of non-kosher meat as kosher, misrepresentation of meat and poultry, misleading advertising and unsanitary conditions.

"This is only the beginning," Schulman stated, "of a drive to see that every kosher retailer in New England complies with the fair-trade provisions of the code. A drive of this sort will immeasurably benefit both the industry and the consumer."

Sorority Reunion Here on Sunday

An alumnae reunion of Nu Alpha, newly-organized sorority at Rhode Island State, will be held next Sunday afternoon at the residence of Miss Ruth Waldman, present treasurer. Ten members of the Campus Club, as the sorority had been called since its founding by Miss Matilda Litwin of Providence, four years ago, will be present.

The president of the sorority, the fourth among the women, is Miss Ruth Silverman, of East Greenwich. Miss Alice Bernstein is secretary. There are 16 charter members, and the group plans on becoming affiliated with a national sorority soon.

Until quarters can be obtained upon the campus, the sorority will meet weekly in the Davis Hall Dormitory, Miss Silverman declared. The sorority is semi-finalist for the intramural debating trophy this spring and plans on entering the competition for the inter-sorority scholastic cup next fall. A group must have 20 members to qualify for titular honors, according to college rules.

The charter members are the Misses Ruth Berry, Ruth Waldman, Hilda Raphael, Edith Catlin, Beatrice Goldberg, Adelaide Klein and Thelma Albrich, all of Providence; Madeline Marks and Rose Sugarman, Central Falls; Alice Bernstein, Woonsocket; Ella Soloveitzik, Westerly; Shirley Nemtzw, Newport; Dorothy Bergman, Harriett Goodman, Esther Solomon, all of Pawtucket, and Ruth Silverman, East Greenwich.

Sorority Notes

Nu Alpha will hold its annual initiation banquet on May 4. Guest speaker will be Mrs. Samuel Wachenheimer of Providence. Miss Thelma Albrich of Providence, general chairman is being assisted by Miss Shirley Nemtzw of Newport and Miss Ruth Waldman of Providence.

Miss Shirley Nemtzw, a member of the Foria Club, Women's varsity debating organization, left on a debating trip to Maine, Vermont and Connecticut.

The Nu Alpha Sorority was entertained by the Chi Omega Sorority of

R. I State College at a bridge party last night.

Miss Ruth Silverman of East Greenwich, and Miss Ruth Berry of Providence, were elected representatives to the Panhellenic organization.

Miss Edith Caplan, a Worcester pledgee of Nu Alpha was entertained by Miss Ruth Berry of Providence last week-end.

Lawyers Advised to Fire Jewish Aids

Vienna (JTA)—"Aryan" lawyers in the major concerns of Vienna were advised to dismiss their Jewish assistants and to avoid entering into any arrangements with Jewish experts.

This step was taken as a result of the campaign going on throughout Austria silently to introduce the "Aryan Paragraph" restrictions against Jews along the same lines as in Nazi Germany. A survey discloses a heavy decrease in the number of Jewish lawyers employed by Austrian industrial firms. The same survey shows a corresponding increase in the number of "Aryan" lawyers employed by these firms.

It was explained here today that the dismissals of Jewish lawyers in the Austrian industrial firms is due chiefly to the pressure exercised by the Credit Anstalt, the government credit bank on which these firms are dependent for their credits. The bank is actively working for the elimination of Jews from all fields of life. This policy has been openly adopted by the bank since the recent reorganization instituted there by the government.

WARNING

Our attention has been brought to the solicitation within our community of subscriptions for an Anglo-Jewish paper by agents who claim that the entire sum collected or a portion of it is being used to fight the Nazi movement, or that the subscription payment will help relieve the condition of refugees from Germany. Those approached are counseled to question the agents closely and to get bona fide facts and figures concerning the aid allegedly given for relief or counter-propaganda purposes. Every solicitor, no matter for what publication or other business, should be able to substantiate his claims with positive proof.

Jewish Girls in Scout Movement

tribe B committee, in charge of 14 troops, and is assistant to the chairman of badges and awards. Well known Women Active in Work So much for local Jewish women interested in the work. Nationally, Mrs. Hebert H. Lehman, wife of Governor Lehman of New York, is one of the vice-presidents of the national board. Mrs. Walter Rothschild of New York, is chairman of the Big Camp Committee sponsoring the Providence "Good Ship Alert," initiating some of the marine programs which are designed for older girls in Scouting.

The late Mrs. Julius Rosenwald, wife of Chicago's late merchant-philanthropist, was a member of the National Board and one of the leading spirits in Scouting during her life-time. Providence Girl Scouts received a thrill last October when Mrs. Hebert Hoover spoke to them from the platform of Alumnae Hall at Pembroke College. Mrs. Hoover was president of the national organization for several terms, and is still actively interested in the work.

From the foregoing, it is clear that the Girl Scout movement is of the utmost importance and has the devoted and active interest of some of the most prominent women in the country. The Jewish representation in local Girl Scouting, 16 per cent of the total, testifies to the response of Jews to every worthy movement, and indicates that our people are alive to the genuine advancement of youth.

Let us look at the activities which here in Providence, Mrs. Arthur S. Hassel, local director, and Miss Marion Knowlton, field captain, have in charge:

We need emphasis on simplicity and lessons in concentration in this age of distraction. The Girl Scout movement gives young people a thoroughly good time in a thoroughly wholesome way. It helps in the up-building of health; it opens girls' eyes to the wonders and beauties of the world about them; it gives them new realms of enjoyment and interest; realizes which are available to them without cost. It emphasizes the fundamental things in life—the home, the outdoor world, unselfish social and civic activities. It leads to a correct sense of proportion and reverence. In an age when the material is forced on our attention so strongly, there is particular need for the lifting of the high, and finer things to their rightful place in our mental outlook. The Girl Scout movement takes girls in this formative year, when good influence is particularly important and effective, and gives them a deeper, truer understanding of life.

Excellent Habits Fostered in Girls
The establishment of good routine habits and of resolute cheerfulness, of wholesome interest, of unselfishness, of civic and social and home responsibility, of fine loyalties during the earlier years of our young peoples' lives, works for the good of home, community and nation. Such are the Girl Scout movement's inspiring influences.

When your daughter is with her Girl Scout troop you know that she is safe and happy. You know that her friends are active girls, eager to learn anything that will help them, and that the captain who heads the troop is a person to be trusted.

That daughter of yours—what is she like? Shy? Thoughtful? Easy-going? Ambitious? Active? The Girl Scout program has something to suit her talents, to guide toward successful and useful living. Its activities cover about 50 fields of interest, centering around home-making, first aid, camping and the outdoor life, handicraft, community service and citizenship. All these aid morally, spiritually and physically. For girls who cannot go away from home for any length of time, there are Girl Scout "Day Camps" from which campers may return each night for the mere outlay of trrolley fare.

For the adolescent girls, the Girl Scout movement does indeed fill the years to full maturity with work and play. It gives them rules of life which appeal alike to their imagination and to their instinctive desire for something better. We are pleased that so many Jewish mothers are giving the local Girl Scout movement city-wide support and encouragement.

Urge Support to Donors' Luncheon

The regular monthly meeting of Providence Chapter of Senior Hadassah was held at the Biltmore Hotel last Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Alfred A. Fain, president, presiding. Dr. Bessie Sharenson of Boston, president of the New England Hadassah National was guest speaker, and in her address, emphasized the urgent need for increased medical care in Palestine to keep pace with the steady growth of immigration, and in particular the recent influx of German refugees.

Dr. Sharenson urged that whole-hearted support be extended by all members to the forthcoming donors' luncheon, the proceeds of which go annually to bolster the fund for organized medical care in Palestine, which is entirely non-sectarian in its services. The speaker stated that the new University Hospital, recently campaigned for locally, will be opened in 1937. In concluding her address, Dr. Sharenson announced that the Worcester Regional Conference of Hadassah will be held in Worcester, Mass., on June 9 and 10.

A musical program was given by Miss K. Fortin, soprano, accompanied at the piano by Jos. A. Smith, organist of St. Michael's Church. "Events of Current Interest" were presented by Mrs. Benjamin Kanev and a financial statement was submitted by Mrs. Herman Swartz, treasurer. The opening prayer was offered by Mrs. J. Singer.

The following slate was presented by the nominating committee, headed by Mrs. Samuel Michaelson: Mrs. Archibald Silverman, honorary president; Mrs. B. L. Alper, Mrs. Morris Sheer, Mrs. Samuel Michaelson, honorary vice presidents; Mrs. Alfred A. Fain, president; Mrs. J. Singer, Dr. Clara Loftman-Smith, Mrs. Alex Kleinberger, Mrs. Benjamin Kanev, Mrs. Louis Abedon, financial secretary; Mrs. Everett Cowen, recording secretary; Mrs. Benjamin Bromberg, corresponding secretary.

Election and installation of officers will take place at the next meeting of the year, which will be in the form of an open session.

A special meeting of workers for the donors' luncheon to be held May 15, has been called for this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Julius Irving, co-chairman.

300 New Members Sought by the Home

With the present Pensions Bill at the State Assembly omitting provision for the care of old-age institutions, the campaign by the Jewish Home for the Aged for 300 new members has been stepped up by the membership committee, headed by Nat C. Cohen.

Entertainments and various functions of the Hillside Avenue group to raise funds are not sufficient to carry on the work. According to information received, the income of the membership is doubly essential to complete the budgetary requirements.

The number of residents at the Home has been doubled since its inception two years ago at Hillside Avenue.

posed on him and so carry on in a completely hostile world. When the era of emancipation dawned and the Jew left the ghetto and took his place in the life of the country in which he lived, Pesach was celebrated joyously. It seemed a measure of fulfillment. As time went on and as assimilation made inroads on Jewish life large numbers of Jews were assimilated away. Despite outbreaks of anti-Semitism in various parts of Europe, including the Mendel Beilis case in Russia in 1911, when an innocent man was accused of the murder of a child for Passover ritual purposes, the Jew was of the opinion that his martyrdom was nearing an end.

This year Jews mark the Pesach celebrations, under varied conditions and circumstances. In Germany the Jews will celebrate Pesach for the third time under the Hitler regime. As they tell the story of the persecution of the Jews to a long forgotten Pharaoh, whose very name is unknown, they will inevitably think of Hitler and wonder where their deliverance is to come from. Coinciding with Pesach, the new Nazi boycott campaign against the Jews will be in swing.

HERZL ANNIVERSARY

Plans for celebrating the 75th anniversary of Dr. Theodore Herzl, founder of the Zionist movement, on May 2, were discussed last Tuesday night at a meeting of the executive board of the Z. O. A. of Providence.

The board further voted to support the program planned for Sunday night at the Community Center by the Masada Student League, which is sponsoring the appearance of Isaac Amber, well-known leader of the Zionist youth movement. It decided to appeal to Zionists in the city to use products of Palestine during the Passover holidays.

RKO ALBEE

Don Redman and His Orchestra stage a merry mad Harlem Jubilee on the stage of the RKO Albee theatre this week featuring the following artists: Worth and Tree in "Bis of Buffonery"; Ford, Bowly and Dally, Dancing Beau Brummels; Betty Roland, "Harlem's Hot Shot Girl" and Harlan Lattimore, vocalist.

Redman studied harmony and composition at the Boston and Detroit Conservatories of Music, and planned a career as a concert pianist, then became interested in making arrangements for jazz bands instead. As arranged for Fletcher Henderson's orchestra, he played saxophone, and then five years he was the director and arranger of McKinney's famous Cotton Club band. He made special arrangements for other noted orchestras, among them Paul Whiteman, Vincent Lopez and Isham Jones.

The screen attraction is Damon Runyon's intriguing story, "Princess O'Hara," featuring Jean Parker and Chester Morris. Some of the highlights of the story include a raging taxi cab war, the theft of a famous race horse a day before the big race and finally one of the most thrilling horse races. The production contains suspense and heart throbs and plenty of comedy situations.

Jimmy Linder and His RKO Albee orchestra play an averture entitled "When I Grow Too Old To Dream."

Miriam Association
Holds Musicales-Tea

By GERTRUDE M. WOLFENSON

Miriam Hospital Association sponsored an outstanding musicale-tea last Monday afternoon in Froebel Hall, with a capacity and enthusiastic audience attending. The exquisite melodic beauty and character of the ensemble playing of the Providence Symphonette, with Dr. Wassili Leps as conductor, was received with more than ordinary interest, as evidenced by the prolonged applause. The selections included "Song of India," "Eli Eli" and "Kol Nidre."

Oscar Lozzi, pianist, played a Chinese Suite of his own composition. Mrs. Harry Parvey, picturesque in a fluttery robe, introduced the artists, and also sang a group of Indian Love Lyrics, in liting tones. The vivid flowing robes of the Orient, worn by members of the committee in charge of the event, lent considerable color to the scene which was replete with shaded lights and gay-hued curtains. The tea table was an interesting spot, graced with Oriental vases and bowls of Spring blossoms flanked by orange tapers in brass holders. Chinese lanterns strung above, added to the atmosphere.

The tea committee, in charge of Mrs. Charles C. Brown and Mrs. Charles Backman, was assisted in serving by the following, all clad in Oriental attire: Mesdames George Brooks, Arthur Feiner, Harry Green, David Goldman, Louis Huddish, Samuel Morein and Max Temkin. Mrs. Harry Parvey was general chairman of arrangements. Proceeds will be used to further the work of the organization's Social Service Department.

Complete Plans for Seder at Temple

Final arrangements for the communal Seder and supper to be held in the Vestry of Temple Beth-El next Thursday were made in the home of the Seder chairman, Mrs. Alex Kleinberger, 206 Adela de Avenue last Wednesday night, when the Steering Committee of the Temple P. T. A. and the Seder Committee met. Reports disclosed that but few reservations for the Seder are still available, since most available places have already been filled.

Many additional women have volunteered their services in assisting Mrs. Kleinberger, and have offered donations of Passover groceries. The list continues to grow, but up to the present time includes: Mesdames Charles C. Brown, Morris Berry, David Baratz, Louis H. Borof, Leo Cohen, Henry W. Ehrlich, Henry P. Hirschberg, Barney Hochberg, Samuel Kaplan, Harry L. Kotler, John Lawlor, Henry Lederer, Israel Levine, Philip Loebenberg, Leo Levine, Philip W. Marcus, Harry Myers, Paul Paris, Marie Rosen, Newman Pincus, John J. Roubin, Isaac Rosenberg, Milton Sapinsley, Jacob Sarek, Sharp, Daniel Snyder, Mordecai Soloff, Philip Taber and Miss Mattie Pincus.

The officers of Temple Beth-El Parent-Teachers Association which is sponsoring this second annual congregation Seder follow: President, Milton C. Sapinsley; vice president, Henry P. Hirschberg; treasurer, Mrs. Alex Kleinberger; recording secretary, Mrs. Henry W. Ehrlich and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harry L. Kotler.
