Metcalfe Is Storm Center of R. I. Controversy

A Flat Speech at Flat Top

The Jewish people, more often than the people of any other race or creed are prone to be complaisant victims of suffrage — seeking mountebanks and smooth-tongued cajolers. People of the Jewish faith, inherently honest, fall easy prey to soft-spoken phrases or loud-mouthed protestations.

They are as easily swayed by the illogical logic of "Kingfish" Huey Long as they are by the blatant brass of Colonel Frank Knox. At present, the "Kingfish" can be relegated to the limbo of the Louisiana canebrakes. He has enough on his hands, despite his announced willingness to run for the Presidency, to keep him busy. But with Knox the situation is different.

The affable Colonel, (Kentucky or legitimate) has just unburdened himself of an epic in general pleading. He began where George M. Cohan left off, waving the flag, and proceeded to run the gamut through "the sanctity of the home to the 'individualistic philosophy toward socialism and communism,' finally winding up with a sob, a prayer and a prediction anent the situation of the Jews in Nazi Germany.

The good Colonel (Kentucky or otherwise) is an astute politician. For years he has cleverly hidden his real personality. Only an intimate few know him as the eunuch of William R. Hearst, "Big Willie," who has played the Jews politically as a master chessman plays his pawns. There isn't much of a threat in the Knox (Continued on Page 3)

Observe 25th Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. MAX ROTHMAN
Courtesy News Tribune

Mr. and Mrs. Max Rothman of 15 Payton St., observed their 25th wedding anniversary last Sunday at the Mayfair Inn, North Southfield with over 200 guests present.

Mr. and Mrs. Rothman were married in New York and moved to Providence shortly afterwards. At present Mr. Rothman operates a periodical store in the Washington Park district.

The couple have two children, Samuel who acted as master of ceremonies at the anniversary and Mollie a senior at Central High.

Speakers at the anniversary program included Louis Kaufman a brother of Mrs. Rothman and Harry Siegal, a lifelong friend of the family.

Synagogue Heads In Relief Appeal During Holidays

NEW YORK, Aug. 29. — A further evidence of the unanimous support which the United Jewish Appeal is receiving from all sections of American Jewry in its efforts to obtain the largest possible sum during the next few months for the relief and rehabilitation of the Jews of Germany and other lands, was provided this week in the issuance of messages to their constituencies by three of the foremost religious leaders in the United States.

Louis J. Moss, President of the United Synagogue of America, William Weiss, President of the Union Orthodox Jewish Congregations of America, and Jacob W. Mack, President of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, endorsing a previous message issued by Mr. Felix M. Warburg, National Chairman of the United Jewish Appeal, called upon synagogues affiliated with these three bodies to utilize the forthcoming high holiday period to raise funds toward the goal of $5,250,000 to aid European Jewry and to settle Jews in Palestine.

Declaring that the period of Rosh Hashanah, the New Year, and Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, was ideally appropriate for lending aid to the stricken Jews of European lands, the heads of the conservative, orthodox, and reform Jewish religious forces of the nation paid tribute to the work being done by the United Jewish Appeal, representing the Joint Distribution Committee and the American Palestine Campaign, to ease the most tragic situation confronting Jews in modern times.

Jewish citizens of Rhode Island rallied en masse to express their allegiance and implicit faith in Senator Jesse Metcalf, following editorial criticism of the Senator's non-committal letter explaining his inability to be present at the anti-Nazi protest meeting in Elks Auditorium last Thursday. While some of the criticism emanated from Jews of pronounced Republican affiliation, there was plenty of commendation from representative Jews who sided with the editorial in the opinion that if a public official has nothing to say, he shouldn't say it.

Many of the critical writers chastized the Herald for its forthright expression of opinion holding that the senior Senator has been a lifelong friend of the Jews and that his contributions to various causes have been munificent. With this the Herald agrees to an extent. The editorial questioned only the meaning of the letter of declination in which Senator Metcalf so vaguely expressed his belief that "no nation should be unfair to the people of another nation."

But at any event, the editorial started something. Some of the critics even suggested that the Herald apologize to Senator Metcalf, forgetting that the acts or the failure to act, of any public official is subject to criticism. Another point that was lost sight of is that the only way in which constituents may judge a public official is by his actions or his failure to act, in short by his public utterances.

It was upon the utter vacuousity of Senator Metcalf's reply to the invitation that the Herald took issue. And until some citizens, partisan or otherwise, can find and point out a meaning in Senator Metcalf's reply there will be no apologies from the Herald.

Some of those, a very few, who took issue with the Herald editorial, descended to threats, "We'll publish this letter in the Providence Journal if you do not print it," was the tenor of one letter. The following, signed by the owner of a detective agency in Providence, is self explanatory:

"If this letter is not published in the next issue of the Herald, I shall mail a copy of it to the Providence Journal."

BERNARD M. GOLDOWSKY.
So what?

The Herald in this issue publishes the letter not because of Mr. Goldowsky's threat but because the columns of this paper are open at all times to honest expressions of opinion. And not because the Herald has any fear that Mr. Goldowsky's name would sway the editorial policy of the esteemed Providence Journal.

Many, many letters uphold the Herald. These writers agree that a public official should either boldly state his attitude or remain quiet. The critics, on the other hand, start most of their letters with the charge that the Herald is assuming too much and that it is attempting to convey the impression that it expresses the united opinion of the Jews of Rhode Island.

To which the answer is: "what impression is Mr. Goldowsky and the others attempting to convey? Doesn't the careful reader gather that Mr. Goldowsky, Mr. Brown, Mr. Adler and the others who are taking it upon themselves to express (Continued on Page Three)

Jerusalem, we lift our loving eyes
To where thou sittest on thy sabbre hills,
All bowed in grief beneath thy age-long ills,
And stunned with woes that from dark years arise!
Raise thy sad face, and cease thy sobbing cries!
Look where the East all red with Dawning thrills!
The Sun of Hope thy Day with Promise fills;
Rise thou, and gird thee for a new empire!
Hark how thy sons seem stirring with new fire!
See how they turn to thee from every shore!
Hearts throb again with long-suppressed desire;
Souls newly waked are tingling to the core!
Let Hallelujahs now attune thy lyre,
And Zion's songs replace thy sighing sore!

"Coffee Charley"

He is an instigator. "Coffee Charley" at least in the vicinity of Richmond and Pine Streets. A mild-mannered, harmless old bit of futsam, Coffee Charley makes his daily rounds. His routine is always the same. Standing in the doorway of a barroom (pardon a tavern or restaurant where liquor is dispensed, Charley holds up two fingers, "I got two cents, you got three cents, Albert," he asks. To Charley everyone is Albert. Usually the person addressed thinks that Coffee Charley is just another drink moocher.

But he isn't. He is a coffee fiend and he drinks from 20 to 30 cups of that beverage every day. Depending of course on how generous his patrons are. The genial bar tenders in the neighborhood are indulgent with the old man. They explain to customers that he isn't a rummy. But the youth of the vicinity are not so charitable. When they spy Charley they shout "there's a cop around the corner," and the poor old fellow takes it on the lam. Charley is mortally afraid of cops.

Simple Similes

That pretty park in front of the railroad station, after an operation by the lawn mowers, makes one think of Harlem High-Yeller's enquire after two applications of Madam Walker's Kink Remover — As far removed from the scene of operations as a Lowe theatre balcony is from the scene as innocuous as a politician's speech is that of being unable to attend a protest meeting.

Convenient Co-incidences

— Was it a coincidence or was it a coincidence — but it did look kind to Junny when the publicist of a slightly controversial paragraph brought phone calls of protest from three Mr. Blanks—and the name of Mr. Blank wasn't in the item — wasn't it P. T. Barnum who didn't say — you can't please all of the people some of the time. — Ho-hum—take it away Aloysius.

LEHMAN RAPS NAZIS FOR JEW PERSECUTIONS

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 29 (JFA)—Without mentioning Germany by name, but unmistakably referring to the Nazi situation, Governor Herbert H. Lehman declared, "America gasps with horror when it sees great groups of our people persecuted solely because of race or religion."

Speaking at the 3rd session of the Williamstown Institute of Human Relations at Williams College here Tuesday night, Governor Lehman said, "Whole people have been marked out for economic, religious and political destruction, ruthlessly and without mercy. They have been deprived of the means of livelihood, of the privilege of worship in accordance with their conscience and of the primary rights of citizenship."

The address marked Governor Lehman's first official statement on recent persecutions in Germany.

"No, the traditional policy of America, of civil and religious liberty will not be abandoned here, and I am confident will triumph even where now it is denied.

"Against foreign propaganda or example and against internal assault it will find strong defense in the American spirit. American ideals will triumph because American ideals, are founded on right and justice."

"No longer can we discern a broad road stretching forth unbroken towards the light of good-will and freedom and of fellowship," he asserted. "The world seems unable to see the light. It seems bent on following will-o'-the-wisps. Almost overnight the work of centuries has been undone.

"In this country I have no fear that liberty will be destroyed, that tyranny can ever take the place of democracy, that intolerance will again assume power.

Alexander Agronick

Dies In Hospital

Alexander Agronick, 34, of Edgewood, died Tuesday night, at the Homeopathic Hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Agronick, who was connected with the Capital Stationery Company, also was secretary of the Rhode Island Stationers Association, and a member of the United Commercial Travelers.

He was born in New York and came to this city when he was three years old. He was educated in the public schools of Rhode Island and was a graduate of Classical High School.

He is survived by his widow, Sadie, his father, Herman; two daughters, Beatrice and Helen; a son, Raymond; seven brothers, Benjamin, Lester, Harry, Lewis, George, David and Carl; two sisters, Mary and Bessie Agronick.

Funeral services were conducted at the Max Sugarman Funeral Home. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

"We are a nation born of a great ideal," Governor Lehman continued, "and as long as the nation survives, that ideal must and will be cherished and preserved.

"Other nations may reject that ideal and temporarily turn back to the darkness of the Middle Ages. All the more is the need that we hold the torch of liberty aloft so that others may see its light.

"Equally before the law, civil and religious liberty are inalienable rights guaranteed by our constitution to all, yet even here Jefferson's admonition must be heeded that freedom by law is freedom in practice only where the law is not nullified by public opinion.

"Fanaticism and intolerance are not yet dead even here. They can be destroyed only by increased good-will and understanding among all.

Junior Hadassah Trains Leaders in Education

NEW YORK Aug. 29. — High scholastic attainment in Jewish education is spreading among an increasing number of Jewish young women according to a survey just completed by Junior Hadassah the Young Women's Zionist Organization which conducts an intensive program of Jewish and Zionist teaching among its members and maintains educational institutions in Palestine.

Miss Esther Novogrodsky, of New York City, national educational chairman of Junior Hadassah, said that every year since 1931 has shown a progressive increase in the number of recipients of the cultural fellowship key, an award granted annually to those Junior Hadassah members who successfully complete a three-year course in Jewish history and literature, religion and Hebrew. "The gold key of the fellowship is a coveted award given only to those whose ratings in the final examinations are exceptionally high.

At the next Junior Hadassah convention, to be held in Cleveland during the Thanksgiving week-end, about twenty-five girls will be inducted into the cultural fellowship's exclusive membership, attained through scholastic merit. Last year, Miss Novogrodsky said, sixteen Junior Hadassah members were so honored. In 1933 ten were admitted to the fellowship, while in 1931 the first year of the awards, four were granted the gold key. Those admitted into the cultural fellowship are thus equipped to be leaders among Jewish youth in spreading a knowledge of Jewish learning and customs.

In general, the education chairman pointed out, there is a noticeable spurt in Jewish and Zionist learning throughout the ranks of Junior Hadassah which now has a membership of 11,500 in 200 cities. The demand for educational courses is increasing steadily, she said, and the national committee is now completing the preparation of a large quantity of new material for the coming season of activities.

candidacy for the Republican nomination for the Presidency. That is, unless the support of Hearst, either openly or through Paul Block, can be considered a menace. Knox himself, running "on his own," won't get anywhere. He proved that when, as publisher of the Manchester, N. H. Union Leader, he ran for Governor of "The Granite State." The good New Hampshire burghers read his newspaper but turned thumbs down on him at the polls. They called him a "carpet-bagger."

After his decisive defeat Knox amalgamated with Hearst, as much as anybody could amalgamate with the wily Willie. He became regional director for the California genius. Later, when it seemed politically expedient, Knox split with Hearst. With the late Theodore Ellis, and with Ellis' money, he purchased control of the Chicago News. He had a real Colonel with him there, Col. Vishnisky, a Polish gentleman of fortune who had been editor of "Stars and Stripes" during the World War.

Vishnisky is the brains behind the Knox campaign. The astute Colonel, the real one, knows publicity all the way around the circle. The words he puts into the mouth of Knox are well calculated to fool the Jewish people. But they, if they care to read between the lines, must discern that Knox stands for what Hearst stands for. And that he stands that way because that is the way Hearst wants him to stand.

In the days to come there will be other politicians decrying the oppression of the Jews and not all of them will be speaking with the tongue of Hearst. It is quite possible that the candidacy of the "Kentucky Colonel from New Hampshire," will die aborning. When it has served Hearst's purpose it will be given a Hearst "vacation." Meanwhile people of the Jewish faith should not forget that the Knox speech, designed for them, was delivered at Flat Top, West Virginia.

At Flat Top . . . well, how appropriate.

THE WEEK IN JEWISH NEWS

SWITZERLAND: Congress

Whether to take arms against a sea of Nazi troubles or whether 'twas nobler in the mind to suffer (to paraphrase Hamlet) was the problem that made news last week in behind-the-scenes circles of the World Zionist Congress last week. On the floor the Nineteenth Biennial Congress heard Zionist leaders voice opposition to:

- (1) Legislative council in Palestine as a project that would fix the Jews in a minority position.
- (2) Immigration bars. Ben Gurion referred to Great Britain as "robbing" the Jews of immigration possibilities.
- (3) Speculation in Palestine as a phenomenon artificially raising land values and endangering prosperity.
- (4) Japanese dumping in Palestine.

Meanwhile a conflict raged over whether the Nazi issue should be taken up. It was reported large parts of Nahum Sokolov's speech dealing with Germany was deleted in delivery. Rabbi Stephen Wise, who was to discuss the Nazis at the first session of general debate, was stricken off the speakers' list. However, after he had raised strenuous objections, he was listed to speak a few days later.

Lucerne was bedecked with blue-white Zionist flags for the Congress. Two halls were required for the opening session, what with thousands of delegates, guests and newspapermen trying to get in.

- Demands were voiced that:
 - (1) Transjordan be opened to Jewish immigration.
 - (2) Barter be between Palestine and Germany cease.
 - (3) More Jews be transferred from Germany to Palestine.

were heard. Statistics were presented in great quantity. Among the more significant statistics presented were:

- (1) German Jews have brought $25,000,000 to Palestine in the last two years.
 - (2) Illustrating land speculation: 18,000 dunams of land have passed from Jews to Jews in the past year.
 - (3) Palestine has 180 agricultural settlements occupying 1,300,000 dunams with 70,000 population including 40,000 agricultural workers.
 - (4) Jewish population of Palestine to date 350,000 comprising 26 per cent of total population.
- After the end of last week, general debate was scheduled as the order of business for the rest of the congress and many stirring addresses on every aspect of Zionism were expected to be heard.

GERMANY: Schacht Campaign

With a flush of pardonable pride this pillar points out that a couple of months ago it spoke of two horses in Germany hitched together and pulling in opposite directions: The Nazis eager to persecute Jews and Hjalmar Schacht trying to curb excesses in an effort to save Germany's economic structure.

Last week this situation broke into the open when Schacht came out with an attack on the radical Nazis. He protested against extra-legal Jew-baiting and tried to assert himself as boss of Germany — economically at least.

All he got for his pains in effect, was a horsefall from the storm troops from Goebbels and from Streicher. The "extra-legal" campaign against the Jews continued in full force. Schacht's speech was censured in the German press.

Next, Schacht protested to Hitler and was reported considering resignation. Evidently Schacht acted more by business sense than any humanitarian sympathies for the Jews, was trying to prevent the Nazis from cutting off their noses to spite their faces. And the Nazi shows themselves very perverse in this regard.

UNITED STATES: Anti-Nazi

The ever-mounting tide of anti-Nazi sentiment still figured importantly in the news of this nation last week. In Albany and in Minneapolis A. F. L. groups denounced Hitlerism and pledged support to the boycott. In Washington, a mass meeting was held at which Senators, Representatives and religious leaders expressed horror at Nazi persecution. Throughout the coun-

THE UNITED OPINION OF THE JEWISH PEOPLE. "And by virtue of what? Certainly the Jewish people of Rhode Island have not, to our knowledge, elected Mr. Goldowsky, Mr. Brown, Mr. Adler or any other individual as their spokesman."

A repercussion of the incident was the mailing to most of the Jewish votes of Providence a reprint of a speech of Senator Metcalf, supposedly delivered in the Senate. The speech is meticulously headed, "not printed at Government expense." It is titled "A Protest against Religious and Racial Persecution in Germany."

It is a very good speech — but there is nothing to indicate whether it was actually delivered or whether it was inserted in the Congressional Record by persuasion. Senators have a way of doing that little thing. In that way, via the mails, their laudable sentiments are made available to the folks back home without the Senator or the Congressman entangling himself in the mazes of political controversy.

Thus Senator Tansilite of Broken Kneec, Neb., may heartily despise the Jews on the floor of the Senate and at the same time, by virtue of reprints from inserted speeches in the Congressional Record, praise them fulsomely for the benefit of the Jew's back home.

The Herald does not believe Senator Metcalf's speech was of this order. It probably was delivered on the floor of the Senate without reservations. But that speech does not explain his vacillating answer to the invitation to address a protest meeting here. Better no answer at all.

Following are a few letters expressing an opinion of divergent from that of the Herald. In conformance with its policy of fairness, the Herald refrains from further rebuttal.

Believes Senator Meant Well

Dear Sir:

I read in your issue of August 23 the sarcastic article criticizing and castigating Senator Jesse H. Metcalf. I think your article was most unfair and was decidedly partisan from a political viewpoint. Such an attitude had no bearing on the question you were considering. You may have been misled by the letter in criticizing the Senator's letter declining to be present at the Anti-Nazi Protest Meeting of the Rhode Island Council. Senator Metcalf perhaps could have been a little stronger in his use of the English language but he meant well and was sympathetic in his attitude.

Furthermore, you disregard entirely the fact that the Senator is in the midst of an extremely busy week, as some of the most important and far-reaching legislative bills had been introduced for passage, Congress was endeavoring to adjourn the same week, so the Senator was extremely busy and could not leave Washington. From his previous attitude I know that he is against the attitude of the Nazi Government.

I think you owe the Senator an apology and I think you ought to write him to that effect immediately. I know you have alienated a large number of friends of your paper by your attitude, who resent to the utmost the threat carried by your article. Senator Metcalf has been too good a friend of ours to have had such an article written against him.

I trust that you will correct this most serious error and print an apology in your next issue.

Very truly yours,
 WALTER ADLER

Metcalf is "Soul of Generosity"

Editor, The Jewish Herald:
 On the front page of the last issue of "The Herald" the subject appeared an attack on Senator Metcalf under the head of, "The Moderate Mr. Metcalf." It goes on to say, among other things: "With amazing dexterity the Senator avoids mention of either the Jews or Nazis. His evasive reaction to the invitation to put himself squarely on record as favoring the muzzling of the mad dog of Europe is, 'Well I won't need those Jewish votes for a long while. When I do I'll throw them a little dush and they'll come running like sheep.'"

I could hardly believe that those remarks were made by a Rhode Islander. For every man, woman and child in our State knows that Jesse H. Metcalf is not the cheap politician who loves the Jews only in an election year. That good man contributed generously and liberally for worthy Jewish causes and institutions long before he even dreamed of entering the political field. I had the privilege of sitting

Rutgers Savant Cleared of Pro-Nazi Accusations

—NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (JTA) — A committee of Rutgers University trustees Monday cleared Dr. Frederick J. Hauptmann, head of the German department of the New Jersey State College for Women, of anti-Semitism in the dismissal of Dr. Leinhard Bergel, German instructor at the college.

In a 40,000 word report ending a three-month investigation, J. Edward Ashmead, who headed the committee, stated that charges that Dr. Hauptmann had been spreading Nazi propaganda on the campus of the women's college, which is a subdivision of Rutgers, were completely unfounded.

But the committee's report admitted that Dr. Hauptmann believes that many of Germany's troubles were caused by the influx into Germany of the Jews exiled from Poland after the war. In the rise of Hitler he saw the possibility of moulding the German people into a united nation.

The report continued: "Prof. Hauptmann's hope in this regard is so strong that he is disposed to overlook and, if possible to find some justification for the general policies of Hitler."

In spite of this, the committee decided that Dr. Hauptmann is "personally not in the slightest degree anti-Semitic."

The report upheld the dismissal of Dr. Bergel as based on incompetence. Bergel had charged he was dismissed for his anti-Nazi views.

Plan to Seize Suffrage From Jews

GENEVA (JTA) — A new German Citizenship Law which will formally and completely disfranchise the Jews will be proclaimed at the National Socialist Party Congress at Nuremberg Sept. 10, according to reliable reports reaching here from Germany.

The principle of the "Aryan" paragraph, at present contained in the Official Laws, will be included in the new Citizenship Law; the report says. Marriages between "Aryans" and "non-Aryans" will be prohibited by law for the first time.

The action is in line with the policy of the NSDAP (Nazi) Party, as propounded by Dr. Frick, Reich Minister of Interior, at the recent party district conference in Essen that "The Jewish question will be solved slowly but surely, as provided in the program of the National Socialist Labor Party. It will be solved in a thoroughly legal manner."

The party program, adopted in 1920, provides that only "Germans of German blood" may be citizens of the German state.

Mush Ado About Nothing

From time to time the newspapers undergo a vigorous castigation because of what the reformers decry as a tendency to sensationalism. Sometimes this chiding is deserved. It would seem that the Boston papers at present playing up the aftermath of the Faber trial would offer these voluntary press censors a long-awaited opportunity.

Just why Norma Millen should be glorified in print and pictures after her release from prison after serving 18 months is beyond ordinary understanding. According to the stories and the pictures the beautiful, if somewhat morose Norma, is trying to forget it all in a luxurious summer camp in New Hampshire. A perfectly natural aspiration. But why not let her work out her own salvation?

Ballyhoo and Brisbaneque blathering will keep Norma on the front pages, mayhap get her a moving picture contract. The young lady and her clergyman father seem content that their seclusion among the hills of the Granite State, should be violated by syndicate ghost writers. Publicity with the sob motive, pensive pictures of Norma which do full justice to her pedal extremities and reiterated paragraphs about her desire to forget, fill the yellow journals. The conservative minded reader may well query, "Well, if she really wants to forget, why doesn't one let the rest of us forget?"

Design for Boycott

When is a boycott, not a boycott?

The impression gained from a brief shopping and investigating tour of Providence stores owned by Jews increases the belief that the correct answer is:

A BOYCOTT IS NOT A BOYCOTT WHEN IT IS CONDUCTED BY JEWS AS A PROTEST AGAINST OPPRESSION.

It is hard to have to admit it, but the stark fact is that certain Jews of Providence lulled by the cheerful tinkle of the cash register, are, in far too many instances, supporting the anti-Nazi boycott by word of mouth and at the same time helping to defeat its ends. A well-known merchant shamefacedly explained the stock of German-made brooches and other cheap jewelry in the following manner: "German goods are cheap and I can't duplicate them anywhere and make as much money."

That, it strikes us, is a very poor excuse. Especially when it is given with the tongue in the cheek. In sharp contrast to this attitude on the part of many Jewish merchants is the directly opposite stand taken by many Gentile merchants. These merchants, who have no immediate interest in the boycott, are supporting it for strictly humanitarian motives.

The Jewish people can, if they wish, force the timid merchants of their own faith to enforce the boycott. If they steadfastly refuse to buy goods of German origin, these merchants will soon cease to handle such merchandise. It is very poor business to buy goods that cannot be sold.

They Reached The Top

By I. D. CLAIRE

Some noses (schnozzles to you) are funny. Some noses are profitable. More often than not the funny nose is the profitable proboscis. (Here is Jimmy Durante whose Cyrano de Bergerac smeller helped elevate him from the old El Dorado Club to the heights of stardom in the movies and a snug little weekly income of about $3,000. Then take Louis Sobol, printer, don't make a mistake, it is O not E.) If you won't take him, give him to me. I could use him.

Louis Sobol, ace Broadway columnist of the New York Evening Journal, whose syndicated articles cover half the world, was born in New Haven, Conn. He attended the public schools there and until after his graduation, showed no evidence of peculiar mental quirks. That is, he manifested no desire to enter the newspaper business.

But either the affliction was dormant or he contracted it because he did enter the calling at Bridgeport 15 miles away. Once daubed with printer's ink, that was the end of Louis. He went to New London where on the New London Day he won distinction and enough money to imagine that he was destined for mercantile fields. His venture as a cigar shop proprietor wasn't so hot. The city decided to close the street on which the budding young merchant's shop was located. No street no customers—Louis gave away his stock of cigars and taking his courage in his hands, decided to go to New York.

Just about then President Woodrow Wilson decided that, after all, the United States wasn't too proud to fight. Louis went to Camp Merritt, where, because he couldn't make his schnozzle line up with those of his comrades when the order was given to dress ranks, he was made a second lieutenant. Or rather he was sent to school and emerged as Louis the Lieut.

When the war was over Louis did go to New York. He dabbled at free-lance writing and from somewhere he produced an angel to finance a play. The play was titled "The High Hat." It consisted of three acts and Louis thought it was humorous. Robert Montgomery, the moving picture star, played the lead. The audience stood for two acts. The third act was never played.

Louie, faced with the job of supporting a charming wife and a daughter, Natalie, had to go to work. He took a job on Bernard MacFadden's Automotive Daily News. The automobile sheet was made up in the old Graphic building at 250 Hudson Street. Walter Winchell was just starting his magnificent career on the Graphic at the time.

For a couple of years Louie plugged along. Emilie Gauvreaux, recently fired by Hearst because of his book attacking the Nazis and the same man who discovered Winchell, gave Louie his chance. When the Great Walter finally found a way to break his contract with MacFadden and to go over to Hearst, Louie with much trepidation, stepped into Walter's job on the Graphic.

Unprepossessing, his prominent beaver making him a landmark in the nightclubs and sin places, Louie started his career on the Broadway beat. From the first he refused to ape Winchell. He stuck to his own breezy, intimate style and in a short while had a following comparable to Walter. His Prattle and Tattle column, his down Memory Lane column and his work on the radio have earned him an enviable place in the Broadway sector.

Before the Graphic folded Louie saw the handwriting on the wall. ("We all did"). He signed with Hearst and since then has been conducting his column on the Journal. Louie is liked by everybody. Success has not spoiled him and no matter who you are if you have an item of gossip Louie will put out a pad and a pencil and jot it down.

He is not as vicious as some of the alleged columnists. His column is the cleanest in the Big Town. He is still married to the same wife. He idolizes his family. On the 26th of March every year he takes to his bed with an attack of the grip and for the following two weeks his column consists mainly of asides about aspirin, quotations of the patient's temperature and bulletins as to the progress of the disease. And when a guy can get sick every year and maintain that sickness pay him around $800 a week what difference does it make if his nose is a trifle oversized?

Next week we'll tell you about the great Izzy Kaplan, the demon photographer who rode from Baltimore to New York in a coffin — and not to save carfare.

HELPFUL ADVICE FOR NAZI INVALIDS

(Reprinted by request)

A clever physician, not Jewish, Dr. Laketchevsky, writes an amusing communication to a newspaper in Basle, Switzerland, that is attracting the attention of the medical press. He remarked that since the Jewish spirit is to be destroyed in every branch of life, according to the Nazi doctrines, he is anxious to provide a medical guide so that consistent anti-Semites know what to avoid when they are ill.

A Nazi who has syphilis must not allow himself to be cured by salvarsan, because it is the discovery of a Jew — Ehrlich. He must not even take steps to find out whether he has syphilis because the Wasserman test which is used for the purpose of finding this out, is the discovery of a Jew. If he thinks he has gonorrhoea, he must not seek to establish the fact, because again he will be using the method of a Jew, Neisser. A Nazi, who has heart diseases, must not use digitalis, which comes from a Jew, Ludwig Traube. If he has a toothache, he will not use cocaine, or he will be a beneficiary by the work of a Jew, Solomon Stricker. Typhus must be treated or he will have to benefit by the discoveries of the Jews, Widal and Weil. If he has diabetes he must not use insulin, because of the research work of the Jew, Minkowsky. Anti-Semites who have convulsions must put up with them, for it was a Jew, Oscar Leibrich, who thought of chloral hydrate. The same with psychic ailments. Freud is the father of psycho-analysis. Anti-Semite doctors must jettison all discoveries and improvements by the Nobel Prize men Voltzler, Boranzag, Otto Warburg, the dermatologists, Jundsch, Bruno Bloch, Ixar, the neurologists, Mendl, Oppenheim, Kronencher, Benedict; the lung specialist, Fraenkel; the surgeon, Instael; anatomist Henle and others.

Jews And Monarchies

By VICTOR M. BIENSTOCK
(Chief of European Service, JTA)

One of the paradoxical consequences of these troubled times has been the reversal of the traditional Jewish attitude towards forms of government in at least two European countries. From time immemorial, the Jews have been interested in the forefront of all liberal democratic movements. Yet today, in Austria, the Jews are so placed that they would welcome a restoration of the Hapsburg dynasty, and in Greece, the Jewish populace, disturbed and perplexed by the paralyzing revolving political wheel on which they rotate dizzily, are beginning to look fondly on a Greek restoration which would give them a feeling of stability.

The answer, of course, is obvious. The Schleisinger government in Austria has not gained in strength in the passing of months and its grip is precarious. It can only suffer further weakening by Italy's withdrawal from the European arena to concentrate on an Albanian adventure. Austria's Jews still remain a sort of cat's-paw in the incessant political maneuvering going on behind the Austrian scene and their rights are still in danger of being offered up as a desperate sacrifice to appease Nazi anti-Semitic appetites.

A Hapsburg on the Austrian throne would lessen the danger of Germany swallowing Austria either outright or by the nibble of the Austrian Nazis. Because the restoration would furnish another obstacle to Nazi progress in the direction of Austria, it is daily gathering more support from Austria's harassed Jews.

The situation is not so simple in Greece. The Jews there have gone through harrowing times alternately cajoled, browbeaten and threatened by rival political factions seeking to coerce Jewish voters if not into support of their party but at least from support of the opponents.

The Venizelists threatened dire things to Jews voting for the Government party. The Government party wooed the Jewish voters with protection of Jewish rights and with actual observance of the Jewish right of equality. The Jews strongly supported the Jews voting for the Government party.

The election, unfortunately, settled nothing. Greece is again buzzing with the activities of a score of political camps and the question of a monarchy is to the fore. The Jews would like to string along with the Fascists who, of all the factions, have proven their best friends. If a monarchy will bring internal peace to the country, the Jews are for it. At the present time, they are gradually aligning themselves with the monarchists. At the time the plebiscite rolls around later in the year, unless unforeseen developments occur, the Jewish population, or a majority of it, will cast ballots in favor of the restoration.

In all the British Empire, the British Crown has no more ardent supporters than the Jews of England. No one who witnessed the Jubilee celebrations and the role played in them by the Jews, can truthfully controvert this. The King George V Jubilee Forest project is equally an expression of the Jews' esteem as it is a fine scheme to aid the work of Palestine upbuilding. In fact, I believe support for the project is really more from the former objective than the latter. One cannot help being impressed by the sincere personal regard all Jews feel and express from the formally-attired select gathering at the Guild Hall dinner for the forest to the most tattered and tired Jewish mother in Whitechapel holding a top up in her arms to get a glimpse of the smiling King. The Jews' passing by. It is a revelation to a foreigner on these shores.

And in other lands — in Roumania — King Carol is regarded by the Jews in royalty's ancient role of protector of the weak and oppressed. When all else fails, the address their pleas to him with the knowledge that what wrongs can be redressed, will be and that they have his sympathy. And sympathy, for the Jew in many European countries today, does not flow in an over-abundance. In Holland, the royal family has the undivided love of Dutch Jewry. The blunt showing of displeasure by members of the royal family at the Nazi attempts to arouse anti-Semitism in Holland has further endeared it in the Jewish heart. Boris of Bulgaria is loved by his Jewish subjects and his government has tried to be most fair to the Jews. The late King Alexander of Yugoslavia was universally regarded by his Jewish subjects as their protector and guardian. They mourned his death unreservedly. Today they are among the strongest

No Discrimination In Afghanistan

BOMBAY (JTA) — Reports of anti-Jewish discrimination in Afghanistan were denied by the Afghan consul here in a statement to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency.

The Jewish population is well-placed, he said, and the government welcomes the economic benefit brought to the country by the Jews.

What discrimination exists, the consul declared, is against refugees from other countries, who are not welcome as settlers. These refugees are permitted to live only in the interior and are given temporary transit visas.

LUCK
LUCK means rising at 5 o'clock in the morning, living on a dollar a day if you earn two, minding your own business, and not meddling with other people. LUCK means opportunities you have never failed to keep, trains you have never failed to catch. LUCK means trusting in God and your own resourcefulness. The only good substitute for LUCK is WORK.

JEWISH HOME FOR AGED CARNIVAL

While many of us and probably most of us have been seeking a way to escape the heat of this torrid summer by travels to the seashore and mountains, a group of sincere and community-minded individuals have been meeting after regular business hours to devise ways and means to make the coming carnival for our Jewish Home for the Aged a great success. To these men and women who are making great sacrifices we offer our thoughts of esteem and congratulation. The coming carnival will begin on September 16 and continue until the 21st—and will take place on the spacious grounds of the home. Last year's event as we all remember was a great success in every department and this year all records will be broken. I know we all take great pride in all our communal institutions and particularly in our aged home which ranks among the finest in the country. Naturally the proceeds of the carnival are to be used for its purposes and upkeep and it is incumbent upon all of us to buy as many tickets as possible to give our full support, and to keep the dates of the carnival open so that everyone with any degree of Jewishness will be present every evening. Valuable prizes, amongst them a La Salle automobile, will be awarded. Unusual vaudeville attractions will be offered from a large stage and a good time is promised to all. The carnival of our Jewish Home for the Aged is an important event. It is our duty to support it in every way that we are able. Make it a byword by saying, "I'll be seeing you at the carnival!"

WORDS HERE AND THERE

Bright children always interest me and it seems that with each generation they become cleverer and smarter — the children of the Maurice Center's are no exception to this rule. They are two fine youngsters, Sandra and Allyn, could do credit to the screen of any movie theatre — The Centers, now of Brooklyn, were former localities (she is the former Nathalie Brer) Lawyer-men Max Winograd, Jack Temkin, Sam Silverman, and Ed Goldberger were seen the other day at the same table in Child's over a leisurely meal, probably discussing the topics of the day. I sure like Arthur Basok's neckties as he is one of the best-dressed men in town . . . they say that Pabst made Milwaukee famous but we are all wondering why Dan Miller seems so interested when the name of the Wisconsin city is mentioned — can it be the moon or the malt? . . . did you know that Hans Herz, the only son of Theodor Herzl was converted to Catholicism? We offer our congratulations to our good friend Arthur Manley on his appointment as head of our Sockanisset School for Boys—

HITS AND MISSES

A wise man has said "If you have a good liver, and if you have three good friends and a happy home if your heart has kept its youth and your soul its honesty — then you are one of life's millionaires . . . Frances Lipson, younger sister of Reuben has just returned from a happy vacation spent at Max Fritz' Pine Beach camp . . . Janet Fain of our Jewish Family Welfare will soon be returning from the big city where she has been studying all the new fangles in social service.

You sure have to hand it to our Mildred Waldman for courage. This young lady last week made the round trip to Bethlehem, New Hampshire all in one day and I mean this is "some" driving for anyone . . . Ben Kane has added another horse to his stable when he claimed "Go Quick" at Narragansett on Monday . . . If this keeps up popular Ben will have one of the finest stables in the East . . . Hotels in New England report a 10 per cent increase in summer business this year — let's hope this is evidence of prosperity for the coming months . . . Representative Herman Koppelman of Connecticut and who has many friends in these parts has been an important member of Congress during the past session. The Davis-Sholovitz wedding festivities at Spanish Villa on Sunday last sure attracted many of our prominent locals — I saw Johnny Silverman for the first time in months — this young man is sure making records on the leading show promoters in the East . . . Saw my old friend the Walter Cobles in New Haven this past week looking better than ever . . . Walter is one of the head men for one of the largest outfits of his kind in the country . . . Welcome to Maynard Cohen whom I have not seen in town for many a day . . . Our congrats and good wishes to ace roadster announcer Morley Lowe on the announcement of his recent marriage to Miss Dudy . . . I thought I caught an extra gleam of happiness in Morley's fine voice the past week or two.

Had the pleasure of meeting members of the Max Novogroski family who are leading citizens of the town of Westbury—hope to have time on my visit to their town to accept their kind hospitality . . . the 90,000 Jews of Los Angeles are buzzing with excitement at charges that have been levelled against one of the city's leading Jews, Marco A. Newmark, president of the Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations and a wealthy merchant. He is said to have been handling German merchandise in the company in which he is the owner.

The hotels New Yorker and Astor of the "big city" should be congratulated on their stand when they passed up the convention of the Association of German-American Technologists rather than to allow the swastika to be displayed . . . twenty-five years ago Jews of Boston protested against ill treatment of Jews by conductors of the Blue Hill Avenue lines . . . reports have it that a sweeping shakeup of the staff of the American embassy in Berlin will soon take place to root out officials regarded as too pro-Nazi — it is said that the pro-Nazi sentiments of American diplomatic officials in Berlin were responsible for the failure of our State Department to take a more firm stand toward Nazi persecutions — let us hope that this contemplated action

JEWISH VETERANS FORM 40TH THIN BLUE LINE

Last of Heroes of '61 Gather at Saratoga for Encampment — 3,000 Delegates From Various States Attend Four-Day Session

SARATOGA, SPRINGS, N. Y. — Four Jewish veterans of the Civil War including the centenarian, Emanuel E. Josef, of Buffalo, the nation's oldest Civil War veteran, are among the 3,000 delegates from 30 states expected at the 35th annual national encampment of the Jewish War Veterans of the United States which opens its four-day sessions here today.

The convention, which ushers in the organization's 40th year, will open with memorial services this evening in the famous Saratoga Casino and conclude Labor Day with a parade and a national drum and bugle contest, with 100 American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Jewish War Veterans corps participating. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Jewish War Veterans will hold its convention simultaneously.

Lehman to Speak
The principal speaker at the Jewish War Veterans' encampment will be Governor Herbert H. Lehman whose address on Saturday morning will be broadcast over a nationwide hookup. The Governor, who recently became a full-fledged member of the organization, will be formally installed during the convention as a member of Albany Post. Other speakers will be Mayor Schrade of Saratoga Springs; Attorney General John J. Bennett; Milton Solomon, deputy controller of New York City; Col. Joseph Hanken military aide to Governor Currier Post; and national representatives of all other veterans' organizations.

Providence Man
The closing business session on Labor Day will be marked by the election and installation of officers. William Berman, of Boston, is the present national commander-in-chief. Other national officers are: Senior Vice-Commander Martin H.

The ORACLE

By CARL ALPERT

Q. How long was Leon Blank an actor on the Jewish stage? — C. D. H. A. Blank, who was born in 1886 and immediately became one of the leading figures on the Yiddish stage. Even in Europe, despite the protests of his orthodox parents he was a member of a wandering theatrical group. At the age of six he was a choir singer in a synagogue. Blank is credited with having been among the first to introduce Yiddish drama in this country. He died in September, 1934.

Q. Give figures showing the growth of Jewish population in this country. — L. K.

A. In 1818 there were 3,000 Jews in the United States; in 1840, 15,000; in 1880, 230,000; in 1888, 400,000; in 1897, 537,000; 1918, 3,300,000; 1940, 4,200,000.

Q. Who was the Jew who held the world's "strong man" record? — W. N.

A. E. Lawrence Levy, English athlete, was noted as a "strong man," and held the amateur heavy-weight lifting championship of England. He beat the world's weight lifting amateur record and in 1891 beat his own record by putting up a dumb-bell weighing 108 pounds 13 times from the shoulder. Levy was well known as a lecturer on physical culture.

Q. Had Lord Balfour ever made public an opinion on the Jewish people prior to the Declaration? — W. S. J.

A. In 1905 Mr. Balfour expressed an admiration for the Jews of England and stated that it was a pity they did not intermarry with the other inhabitants of Great Britain. He abhorred anti-Semitism, regarding it as a great evil and stated that any legislation to encourage the growth of it should be checked.

Q. What were some of Louis Marshall's greatest accomplishments? — I. W. Y.

A. Marshall organized and headed the American Jewish Committee, took a leading part in the raising and distribution of $75,000,000 for the relief of war victims, headed the Jewish delegation to the Peace Conference, resulting in the securing of minority rights for the Jews in central Europe, brought world Jewish leaders into the Jewish Agency, and at all times devoted his energy and strength in behalf of the broken Jewish people.

Agudath Hears Appeal On Palestine Schools

ANTWERP (JTA) — An appeal to the Agudath Israel, extreme orthodox Jewish party, to repeal its ban on the secular schools in Palestine, was voiced this week by M. Rabinovitch, head of the Jerusalem Agudath schools, in an address before the conference of Agudah organizations in Western Europe. The conference decided to form a West European Agudah Union, with headquarters in London, under the leadership of Harry Goodman, English journalist and political secretary of the Agudath Israel World Organization.

ENGLAND: Iman

A ray of hope at least for refugee scientists appeared last week when Dr. Samuel Guy Iman who accompanied League commissioner James G. McDonald on a tour of South and Central America reported opportunities for technicians in many countries. He disclosed that he had found academic posts for 100.

The outlook for professionals — lawyers, doctors and engineers — was discouraging. He said this type of German refugee was not wanted in Latin America.

He warned against mass immigration and in particular against the carrying out of the plan to transport 50,000 refugees to Ecuador.

Friends of New Germany Given Oath Of Loyalty to Nazism in Rhode Island

YAPHANK, L. I. (JTA)—More than 5,000 members of the pro-Hitler Friends of New Germany gathered at Camp Siegfried here this week and took an oath of loyalty to Hitlerism.

Coming here in special trains swastikas waving and singing Nazi songs, the Nazis watched storm troopers drill and heard speakers call for support of Hitler's policies. Walter Kappé, American Nazi press chief, disclosed that the Deutsche Konsum-Verband, the organization recently organized for a boycott against the Jews, will soon start a vigorous campaign to enlist German-Americans.

Karl Nicolay warned "our enemies that we are prepared to go to the limit to defend that which we consider our ideals."

A noise made of electric lights was hung up with the sign "reserved for Anton Haegele." Haegele is the head of the American National Socialist League a rival Nazi organization.

Would Oust All Jews From Jobs in Germany

BERLIN (JTA)—Demanding the "riddance of the Jewish pest" by depriving Jews of the possibility of earning a living, Nazi District Leader Dr. Roth declared in an address at a Nazi meeting in Mannheim Tuesday that it is "intolerable" that Jews hold positions which could be filled by Germans.

In Schweier, the district court removed the jurisdiction of the guardian of a "non-Aryan" who had consented to the marriage of his ward to an "Aryan."

The Court of Appeals at Aachen refused to reverse the decision holding that the Nazi blood principle has become a principle of law.

Call on Christians To Protest Disgrace Brought by Hitler

GENEVA (JTA) — Accusing all those who remain silent in the face of Nazi persecution of Jews in Germany of being accomplices "of criminals fighting against the civilization of humanity," the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, meeting here, this week issued a manifesto to the Christian world protesting against the silence of civilized Europe on the Nazi atrocities in Germany.

The League accuses those who remain silent as being influenced only by business reasons to assume their apparent indifference. "All who have courage," says the manifesto, "ought to condemn the disgrace with which Hitler is covering Europe."

Flood of Votes Record "Nos" to Berlin Olympics

Will America be represented in the Olympic games, scheduled in Berlin, Germany, in 1936?

The general trend of opinion seems to be 100 per cent to the contrary. The opportunity given to readers of the Jewish Herald to vote on the question was received with a gratifying response.

Over 300 ballots were received the day following the publication of the ballot. And these ballots were UNANIMOUS in favor of having the U. S. refrain from participation in the games.

The Herald today gives those who have failed to register their attitude another opportunity. Results will be forwarded to the American Olympic Committee. Vote early and if you care to write a few words explaining your reasons.

Metcalf Is Storm Center of R. I. Controversy

A Flat Speech at Flat Top

The Jewish people, more often than the people of any other race or creed are prone to be complaisant victims of suffrage — seeking mountebanks and smooth-tongued cajolers. People of the Jewish faith, inherently honest, fall easy prey to soft-spoken phrases or loud-mouthed protestations.

They are as easily swayed by the illogical logic of "Kingfish" Huey Long as they are by the blatant brass of Colonel Frank Knox. At present, the "Kingfish" can be relegated to the limbo of the Louisiana canebrakes. He has enough on his hands, despite his announced willingness to run for the Presidency, to keep him busy. But with Knox the situation is different.

The affable Colonel, (Kentucky or legitimate) has just unburdened himself of an epic in general pleading. He began where George M. Cohan left off, waving the flag, and proceeded to run the gamut through "the sanctity of the home to the "individualistic philosophy toward socialism and communism," finally winding up with a sob, a prayer and a prediction about the situation of the Jews in Nazi Germany.

The good Colonel (Kentucky or otherwise) is an astute politician. For years he has cleverly hidden his real personality. Only an intimate few know him as the enunch of William R. Hearst, "Big Willie," who has played the Jews politically as a master chessman plays his pawns. There isn't much of a threat in the Knox

NEW YORK, Aug. 29. — A further evidence of the unanimous support which the United Jewish Appeal is receiving from all sections of American Jewry in its efforts to obtain the largest possible sum during the next few months for the relief and rehabilitation of the Jews of Germany and other lands, was provided this week in the issuance of messages to their constituencies by three of the foremost religious leaders in the United States.

Louis J. Moss, President of the United Synagogue of America, William Weiss, President of the Union Orthodox Jewish Congregations of America, and Jacob W. Mack, President of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, endorsing a previous message issued by Mr. Felix M. Warburg, National Chairman of the United Jewish Appeal, called upon synagogues affiliated with these three bodies to utilize the forthcoming high holiday period to raise funds toward the goal of $3,250,000 to aid European Jewry and to settle Jews in Palestine.

Declaring that the period of Rosh Hashanah, the New Year, and Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, was ideally appropriate for lending aid to the stricken Jews of European lands, the heads of the conservative, orthodox, and reform Jewish religious forces of the nation paid tribute to the work being done by the United Jewish Appeal, representing the Joint Distribution Committee and the American Palestine Campaign, to ease the most tragic situation confronting Jews in modern times.

Jewish citizens of Rhode Island rallied en masse to express their allegiance and implicit faith in Senator Jesse Metcalf, following editorial criticism of the Senator's non-committal letter explaining his inability to be present at the anti-Nazi protest meeting in Elks Auditorium last Thursday. While some of the criticism emanated from Jews of pronounced Republican affiliation, there was plenty of commendation from representative Jews who sided with the editorial in the opinion that if a public official has nothing to say, he shouldn't say it.

Many of the critical writers chastized the Herald for its forthright expression of opinion holding that the senior Senator has been a lifelong friend of the Jews and that his contributions to various causes have been munificent. With this criticism questioned only the meaning of the letter of declination in which Senator Metcalf so vaguely expressed his belief that "no nation should be unfair to the people of another nation."

But at any event, the editorial started something. Some of the critics even suggested that the Herald apologize to Senator Metcalf, forgetting that the acts or the failure to act, of any public official is subject to criticism. Another point that was lost sight of is that the only way in which constituents may judge a public official is by his actions or his failure to act, in short by his public utterances.

It was upon the utter vacuousity of Senator Metcalf's reply to the invitation that the Herald took issue. And until some citizens, partisan or otherwise, can find and point out a meaning in Senator Metcalf's reply there will be no apologies from the Herald.

Some of those, a very few, who took issue with the Herald editorial, descended to threats. "We'll publish this letter in the Providence Journal if you do not print it," was the tenor of one letter. The following, signed by the owner of a detective agency in Providence, is self explanatory:

"If this letter is not published in the next issue of the Herald, I shall mail a copy of it to the BOSTON GLOBE and the BOSTON JOURNAL." — JOURNAL.

The Herald in this issue publishes the letter not because of Mr. Goldowsky's threat but because the columns of this paper are open at all times to honest expressions of opinion. And not because the Herald has any fear that Mr. Goldowsky's name would sway the editorial policy of the esteemed Providence Journal.

Many, many letters uphold the Herald. These writers agree that a public official should either boldly state his attitude or remain quiet. The critics, on the other hand, start most of their letters with the charge that the Herald is assuming too much and that it is attempting to convey the impression that it expresses the united opinion of the Jews of Rhode Island.

To which the answer is: "what impression is Mr. Goldowsky and the others attempting to convey? Doesn't the careful reader gather that Mr. Goldowsky, Mr. Brown, Mr. Adler and the others who are taking it upon themselves to express

Jerusalem, we lift our loving eyes
To where thou sittest on thy somber hills,
All bowed in grief beneath thy
Age-long hills.
And stunned with woes that from dark years arise!
Raise thy sad face, and cease thy sobbing cries!
Look where the East all red with Dawning thrills!
The Sun of Hope thy Day with Promise fills;
Rise thou, and gird thee for a new empire!
Hark how thy sons seem stirring with new zeal!
See how they turn to thee from every shore!
Hearts thro' again with long-suppressed desire;
Souls newly waked are tingling to the core!
Let Hallelujahs now attune thy lyre,
And Zion's songs replace thy sighing sore!

Junior Hadassah Trains Leaders in Education

NEW YORK Aug. 29. — High scholastic attainment in Jewish education is spreading among an increasing number of Jewish youth women according to a survey just completed by Junior Hadassah the Young Women's Zionist Organization which conducts an intensive program of Jewish and Zionist teaching among its members and maintains educational institutions in Palestine.

Miss Esther Novogrodsky, of New York City, national educational education chairman of Junior Hadassah, said that every year since 1931 has shown a progressive increase in the number of recipients of the cultural fellowship key award granted annually to those Junior Hadassah members who successfully complete a three-year course in Jewish history and literature, religion and Hebrew. The gold key of the fellowship is a coveted award given only to those whose ratings in the final examinations are exceptionally high.

At the next Junior Hadassah convention, to be held in Cleveland during the Thanksgiving week-end, about twenty-five girls will be inducted into the cultural fellowship's exclusive membership, attained through scholastic merit. Last year, Miss Novogrodsky said, sixteen Junior Hadassah members were so honored. In 1934-35, she was elected to the fellowship, which is the first year of the awards, four were granted the gold key. Those admitted into the cultural fellowship are thus equipped to be leaders among Jewish youth in spreading a knowledge of Jewish learning and customs.

In general, the education chairman pointed out, there is a noticeable spurt in Jewish and Zionist learning throughout the ranks of Junior Hadassah, which now has a membership of 11,500 in 200 cities. The demand for educational courses is increasing steadily, she said, and the national committee is now completing the preparation of a large quantity of new material for the coming season of activities.

Edward Hirsch Dies After Long Illness

Edward Hirsch, 72, retired jewelry and real estate broker, died last Saturday morning at his home, 52 Mulberry Street. Mr. Hirsch had been ill for several years.

A native of Austria, he came to this country at the age of 20. He was a member of the B'nai B'rith Lodge.

Surviving Mr. Hirsch are his wife, Mrs. M. Hirsch, the late Joseph and Harry of this city and Martin of New York; three daughters, Mrs. Rose Sher and Mrs. Ruth Bard of New York and Mrs. Vainnie Emers of this city; a sister, Mrs. Sadie Friedner of Atlantic City, and six grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Sunday noon from his home, with burial in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

Washington St. restaurant ought to advertise ptomaines instead of vitamins — Barrister Maurice Hendel crosses the park, pondering some weighty legal problem — Ex-Mayor Biltmore in earnest conversation in the Biltmore lobby — wonder where there is a good laundry — or doesn't anybody in Providence take in washing — only three listed in the phone book.

"Coffee Charley"

He is an institution, is "Coffee Charley," at least in the vicinity of Richmond and Pine Streets. A mild-mannered, harmless old bit of fetsam, Coffee Charley makes his daily rounds. His routine is always the same. Standing in the doorway of a barroom (parlor) a tavern or restaurant where liquor is dispensed to Charley holds up two bits, two cents, you got it. — cents, Albert? he asks. To Charley everyone is Albert. Usually the person addressed thinks that Coffee Charley is just another drink moocher.

But he isn't. He is a coffee fiend and he drinks from 20 to 30 cups of that beverage every day. Depending of course on how generous his patrons are. The genial bar tenders in the neighborhood are indolgent with the old man. They explain to customers that he isn't a rummy. But the youth of the vicinity are not so charitable. When they spy Charley they about "there's a cop around the corner" and the poor old fellow takes it on him. Charley is mortally afraid of cops.

All the more is the need that we hold the torch of liberty aloft so that others may see its light.

Convenient Co-incidences

— Was it a coincidence or was it a coincidence — but it did look kind of funny when the publication of a slightly controversial paragraph brought phone calls of protest from three Mr. Blanks — and the name of Mr. Blank wasn't in the item — wasn't it P. T. Barnum who didn't say — many please all of the people some of the time. — Ho-hum — take it away Aloysius.

LEHMAN RAPS NAZIS FOR JEW PERSECUTIONS

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 29 (JTA)—Without mentioning Germany by name, but unmistakably referring to the Nazi situation, Governor Herbert H. Lehman declared, "America gasps with horror when it sees great groups of our people persecuted solely because of race or religion."

Speaking at the 3rd session of the Williamstown Institute of Human Relations at Williams College here Tuesday night, Governor Lehman said, "Whole people have been marked out for economic, religious and political destruction, ruthlessly and without mercy. They have been deprived of the means of livelihood, of the privilege of worship in accordance with their conscience and of the primary rights of citizenship."

The address marked Governor Lehman's first official statement on recent persecutions in Germany.

"No longer can we discern a broad road stretching forth unbroken towards the light of good-will and freedom and of fellowship," he asserted. "The world seems unable to see the light. It seems bent on following will-of-the-wisps. Almost overnight the work of centuries has been undone."

"In this country I have no fear that tyranny can ever take the place of democracy, that intolerance will again assume power."

"No, the traditional policy of America, of civil and religious liberty will not be abandoned here, and I am confident will triumph even where now it is derided."

"Against foreign propaganda or example and against internal assault it will find strong defense in the American spirit. American ideals will triumph because American ideals, are founded on right and justice."

Pioneer Spirit

"The pioneer spirit of liberty still lives here. The national policy, of civil and religious liberty still animates our people. Our nation is more than a geographical unity under a single government. Our nation is composed of people of many stocks and of many religions, but we are united by an extreme intense love of liberty."

"We are a nation born of a great ideal," Governor Lehman continued, "and as long as the nation survives, that ideal must and will be cherished and preserved."

They Reached The Top

By I. D. CLAIRE

Some times (schmoles to you) are funny. Some noses are profitable. More often than not the funny nose is the profitable proboscis. There is Jimmy Durante whose Cyrano de Bergerac ameller helped elevate him from the old El Dorado Club to the heights of stardom in the movies and a snug little weekly income of about $3,000. Then take Louis Sobel, printer, don't make a mistake. It is not E. J. if you won't take him, give him to me. I could use him.

Louis Sobel, ace Broadway columnist of the New York Evening Journal, whose syndicated articles cover half the world, was born in New Haven, Conn. He attended the public schools there and until after his graduation, showed no evidence of peculiar mental quirks. That is, he manifested no desire to enter the newspaper business. But either the affliction was dormant or he contracted it because he did enter the calling at Bridgeport 15 miles away.

Once dabbed with printer's ink, that was the end of Louis. He went to New London where on the New London Day he won distinction and enough money to imagine that he was destined for mercantile fields. His venture as a cigar shop proprietor wasn't so hot. The city decided to close the street on which the budding young merchant's shop was located. No street no customers—Louis gave away his stock of tobacco and taking his change in his hands, decided to go to New York.

Just about then President Woodrow Wilson decided that, after all, the United States wasn't too proud to fight. Louis went to Camp Merritt, where, because he couldn't make his schmoles line up with those of his comrades when the order was given to dress ranks, he was made a second lieutenant. Or rather he was sent to school and emerged as Louis the Lieut.

When the war was over Louis did go to New York. He dabbed at free-lance writing and from somewhere he procured an angel to finance a play. The play was titled "The High Hat." It consisted of three acts and Louis thought it was humorous. Robert Montgomery, the moving picture star, played the lead. The audience stood for two acts. The third act was never played.

Louis, faced with the job of supporting a charming wife and a daughter, Natalie, had to go to work. He took a job on Bernarr MacFadden's Automotive Daily News. The automobile sheet was made up in the old Graphic building at 250 Hudson Street. Walter Winchell was just starting his magnificent career on the Graphic at the time.

For a couple of years Louis plugged along. Emile Gauvreau, recently fired by Hearst because of his book attacking the Nazis and the same man who discovered Winchell, gave Louis his chance. When the Great Walter finally found a way to break his contract with MacFadden and to go over to Hearst, Louis with much trepidation, stepped into Walter's job on the Graphic.

Unprepossessing, his prominent beaver making him a landmark in the neighborhood and since then, Louis started his career on the Broadway beat. From the first he refused to ape Winchell. He stuck to his own breezy, intimate style and in a short while had a following comparable to Walter's. Frattale and Tattle column, his down Memory Lane column and his work on the radio have earned him an enviable place in the Broadway sector.

Before the Graphic folded Louis saw the handwriting on the wall. ("We all did"). He signed with Hearst and since then has been conducting his column on the Journal. Louis is liked by everybody. Success has not spoiled him and no matter who you are if you have an item of gossip Louis will jot out a pencil and a pencil and jot it down.

He is not as vicious as some of the alleged columnists. His column is the cleanest in the Big Town. He is still married to the same wife. He idolizes his family. On the 26th of March every year he takes to his bed with an attack of the grip and for the following two weeks his column consists mainly of asides about aspirin, quotations of the patient's temperature and bulletins as to the progress of the disease. And when a guy can get sick every year and that sickness pay him around $800 a week what difference does it make if his nose is a trifle oversized?

Next week we'll tell you about the great Izzy Kaplan, the demon photographer who rode from Baltimore to New York in a coffin — and not to save carfare.

Jews And Monarchies

By VICTOR M. BIENSTOCK
(Chief of European Service, JTA)

One of the paradoxical consequences of these troubled times has been the reversal of the traditional Jewish attitude toward monarchs of government in at least two European countries. From time immemorial, the Jews have been considered in the forefront of all liberal democratic movements. Yet today, in Austria, the Jews are so placed that they would welcome a restoration of the Hapsburg dynasty, and in Greece, the Jewish populace, disturbed and perplexed by the paralyzing political wheel on which they rotate dizzily, are so placed that they look fondly on a Greek restoration which would give them a feeling of stability.

The answer, of course, is obvious. The Schuschnigg government in Austria has not gained in strength in the passing of months and its grip is precarious. It can only suffer further weakening by Italy's withdrawal from the European arena to concentrate on its Abyssinian adventure. Austria's Jews still remain a sort of cat's-paw in the incessant political maneuvering going on behind the Austrian scene and their rights are still in danger of being offered up as a desperate sacrifice to appease Nazi anti-Semitic appetites.

A Hapsburg on the Austrian throne would lessen the danger of Germany swallowing Austria either outright or by victory of the Austrian Nazis. Because the restoration would furnish a tower of ivory to Nazi progress in the direction of Austria, it is daily gathering more support from Austria's harassed Jews.

The situation is not so simple in Greece. The Jews there have gone through harrowing times alternately calmed, browbeaten and threatened by rival political factions seeking to coerce Jewish voters if not into support of their party but at least from support of the opponents.

The Venezuelists threatened dire things to Jews voting for the Government party. The Government party wooed the Jewish voters with protection of Jewish rights and with actual observance of the Jewish right of equality. The Jews strongly supported the Government Party.

The election, moreover, settled nothing. Greece is again buzzing with the activities of a score of political camps and the question of a monarchy is to the fore. The Jews would like to string along with the Tsaldaris who, of all the factions, have proven their best friends. If a monarchy will bring internal peace to the country, the Jews are for it. At the present time, they are gradually aligning themselves with the monarchists. By the time the plebiscite rolls around later in the year, unless unforeseen developments occur, the Jewish population, or a majority of it, will cast ballots in favor of the restoration.

In all the British Empire, the British Crown has no more ardent supporters than the Jews of England. No one who witnessed the Jubilee celebrations and the role played in them by the Jews, can truthfully controvert this. The King George V Jubilee, for the time being, is equally an expression of this esteem as it is a fine scheme to aid the work of Palestine upbuilding. In fact, I believe support for the project is really more from the former objective than the latter. One cannot help be impressed by the sincere personal regard all Jews feel and express from the formally-attired select gathering at the Guild Hall dinner for the forest to the most lattered and tired Jewish mother in Whitechapel holding a top up in her arms to get a glimpse of the smiling King and Queen passing by. It is a revelation to a foreigner on these shores.

And in other lands — in Roumania — King Carol is regarded by the Jews in royalty's ancient role of protector of the weak and oppressed. When all else fails, they address their pleas to him with the knowledge that what wrongs can be redressed, will be and that they have his sympathy and sympathy for the Jew in many European countries today, does not flow in an over-abundance. In Holland, the royal family has the undivided love of Dutch Jewry. The blunt showing of displeasure by members of the royal family at the Nazi attempts to arouse anti-Semitism in Holland has further endeared it in the Jewish heart. Boris of Bulgaria is loved by his Jewish subjects and his government has tried to be most fair to the Jews. The late King Alexander of Yugoslavia was universally regarded by his Jewish subjects as their protector and guardian. They mourned his death unreservedly. Today they are among the strongest

From time to time the newspapers undergo a vigorous castigation because of what the reformers decry as a tendency to sensationalism. Sometimes this chiding is deserved. It would seem that the Boston papers at present playing up the aftermath of the Faber trial would offer these voluntary press censors a long-awaited opportunity.

Just why Norma Millen should be glorified in print and pictures after her release from prison after serving 18 months is beyond ordinary understanding. According to the stories and the pictures the beautiful, if somewhat morose Norma, is trying to forget it all in a luxurious summer camp in New Hampshire. A perfectly natural aspiration. But why not let her work out her own salvation?

Ballyhoo and Brisbaneque blathering will keep Norma on the front pages, mayhap get her a moving picture contract. The young lady and her clergyman father seem content that their seclusion among the hills of the Granite State, should be violated by syndicate ghost writers. Publicity with the sob motive, pensive pictures of Norma which do full justice to her pedal extremities and reiterated paragraphs about her desire to forget, fill the yellow journals. The conservative minded reader may well query, "Well, if she really wants to forget, why doesn't one let the rest of us forget?"

Design for Boycott

When is a boycott, not a boycott?

The impression gained from a brief shopping and investigating tour of Providence stores owned by Jews increases the belief that the correct answer is:

A BOYCOTT IS NOT A BOYCOTT WHEN IT IS CONDUCTED BY JEWS AS A PROTEST AGAINST OPPRESSION.

It is hard to have to admit it, but the stark fact is that certain Jews of Providence lulled by the cheerful tinkle of the cash register, are, in far too many instances, supporting the anti-Nazi boycott by word of mouth and at the same time helping to defeat its ends. A well-known merchant shamefacedly explained the stock of German-made brooches and other cheap jewelry in the following manner: "German goods are cheap and I can't duplicate them anywhere and make as much money."

That, it strikes us, is a very poor excuse. Especially when it is given with the tongue in the cheek. In sharp contrast to this attitude on the part of many Jewish merchants is the directly opposite stand taken by many Gentile merchants. These merchants, who have no immediate interest in the boycott, are supporting it for strictly humanitarian motives.

The Jewish people can, if they wish, force the timid merchants of their own faith to enforce the boycott. If they steadfastly refuse to buy goods of German origin, these merchants will soon cease to handle such merchandise. It is very poor business to buy goods that cannot be sold.

HELPFUL ADVICE FOR NAZI INVALIDS

(Reprinted by request)

A clever physician, not Jewish, Dr. Laketchewsky, writes an amusing communication to a newspaper in Basle, Switzerland, that is attracting the attention of the medical press. He remarked that since the Jewish spirit is to be destroyed in every branch of life, according to the Nazi doctrines, he is anxious to provide a medical guide so that consistent anti-Semites know what to avoid when they are ill.

A Nazi who has syphilis must not allow himself to be cured by salvarsan, because it is the discovery of a Jew — Ehrlich. He must not even take steps to find out whether he has syphilis because the Wasserman test which is used for the purpose of finding this out, is the discovery of a Jew. If he thinks he has gonorrhea, he must not seek to establish the fact, because again he will be using the method of a Jew, Neisser. A Nazi, who has heart diseases, must not use digitalis, which comes from a Jew, Ludwig Traube. If he has a toothache, he will not use cocaine, or he will be benefitting by the work of a Jew, Solomon Stricker. Typhus must not be treated or he will have to benefit by the discoveries of the Jews, Vidal and Weill. If he has diabetes he must not use insulin, because of the research work of the Jew, Minkowsky. Anti-Semites who have convulsions must put up with them, for it was a Jew, Oscar Leibrich, who thought of chloral hydrate. The same with psychic ailments. Freud is the father of psycho-analysis. Anti-Semitic doctors must jettison all discoveries and improvements by the Nobel Prize men Voltaire, Berengaz, Otto Werburg; the dermatologists Judasohn, Bruno Bloch, Una; the neurologists, Mendl, Oppenheim, Kroenecher, Benedict; the lung specialist, Praenkel; the surgeon, Instae; anatomist Henle and others.

No Discrimination in Afghanistan

BOMBAY (JTA) — Reports of anti-Jewish discrimination in Afghanistan were denied by the Afghan consul here in a statement to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency.

The Jewish population is well-placed, he said, and the government welcomes the economic benefit brought to the country by the Jews.

What discrimination exists, the consul declared, is against refugees from other countries, who are not welcome as settlers. These refugees are permitted to live only in the interior and are given temporary transit visas.

They Reached The Top

By I. D. CLAIRE

Some noses (schmoozes to you) are funny. Some noses are profitable. More often than not the funny nose is the profitable prolocution. There is Jimmy Durante whose Cyrano de Berganc aneller helped elevate him from the old El Dorado Club to the heights of stardom in the movies and a snug little weekly income of about $3,000. Then take Louis Sobol, printer, don't make a mistake, it is U not E.) If you won't take him, give him to me. I could use him.

Louis Sobol, ace Broadway columnist of the New York Evening Journal, whose syndicated articles cover half the world, was born in New Haven, Conn. He attended the public schools there and until after his graduation, showed no evidence of peculiar mental quirks. That is, he manifested no desire to enter the newspaper business. But either the affliction was dormant or he contracted it because he did enter the calling at Bridgeport 15 miles away.

Once dabbed with printer's ink, that was the end of Louis. He went to New London where on the New London Day he won distinction and enough money to imagine that he was destined for mercantile fields. His venture as a cigar shop proprietor wasn't so hot. The city decided to close the street on which the budding young merchant's shop was located. No street no customers—Louis gave away his stock of tobacco and taking his earnings in his hands, decided to go to New York.

Just about then President Woodrow Wilson decided that, after all, the United States wasn't too proud to fight. Louis went to Camp Merritt, where, because he couldn't make his schmooze line up with those of his comrades when the order was given to dress ranks, he was made a second lieutenant. Or rather he was sent to school and emerged as Louis the Lieut.

When the war was over Louis did go to New York. He dabbed at free-lance writing and from somewhere he produced an angel to finance a play. The play was titled "The High Hat." It consisted of three acts and Louis thought it was humorous. Robert Montgomery, the moving picture great, played the lead, the audience stood for two acts. The third act was never played.

Louis, faced with the job of supporting a charming wife and a daughter, Natalie, had to go to work. He took a job on Bernard MacFadden's Automotive Daily News. The automobile sheet was made up in the old Graphic building at 250 Hudson Street. Walter Winchell was just starting his magnificent career on the Graphic at the time.

For a couple of years Louis plugged along. Emile Gauvreau, recently fired by Hearst because of his book attacking the Nazis and the same man who discovered Winchell, gave Louis his chance. When the Great Walter finally found a way to break his contract with MacFadden and to go over to Hearst, Louis with much trepidation, stepped into Walter's job on the Graphic.

Unprepossessing, his prominent features making him a landmark in the nightclubs and sin places, Louis started his career on the Broadway beat. From the first he refused to ape Winchell. He stuck to his own breezy, intimate style and in a short while had a following comparable to Walter. His Prattle and Tattle column, his down Memory Lane column and his work on the radio have earned him an enviable place in the Broadway sector.

Before the Graphic folded Louis saw the handwriting on the wall. ("We all did"). He signed with Hearst and since then has been conducting his column on the Journal. Louis is liked by everybody. Success has not spoiled him and no matter who you are if you have an item gossip, Louis will pull out a pad and a pencil and jot it down.

He is not as vicious as some of the alleged columnists. His column is the cleanest in the Big Town. He is still married to the same wife. He idolizes his family. On the 26th of March every year he takes to his bed with an attack of the grip and for the following two weeks his column consists mainly of asides about aspirin, quotations of the patient's temperature and bulletins as to the progress of the disease. And when a guy can get sick every year and make that sickness pay him around $500 a week what difference does it make if his nose is a trifle oversized?

Next week well tell you about the great Izzy Kaplan, the demon photographer who rode from Baltimore to New York in a coffin — and not to save carfare.

Jews And Monarchies

By VICTOR M. BIENSTOCK
(Chief of European Service, JTA)

One of the paradoxical consequences of these troubled times has been the revival of the traditional Jewish attitude towards forms of government in at least two European countries. From time immemorial, the Jews have been considered in the forefront of all liberal democratic movements. Yet today, in Austria, the Jews are so placed that they would welcome a restoration of the Hapsburg dynasty, and in Greece, the Jewish populace, disturbed and perplexed by the paralyzing revolving political wheel on which they rotate dizzily, are beginning to look fondly on a Greek restoration which would give them a feeling of stability.

The answer, of course, is obvious. In Austria has not gained its strength in the passing of months and its grip is precarious. It can only suffer further weakening by Italy's withdrawal from the European arena to concentrate on its Absinian adventure. Austria's Jews still remain a sort of cat's-paw in the incessant political maneuvering going on behind the Austrian scene and their rights are still in danger of being offered up as a desperate sacrifice to appease Nazi anti-Semitic appetites.

A Hapsburg on the Austrian throne would lessen the danger of Germany swallowing Austria either outright or by victory of the Austrian Nazis. Because the restoration would furnish another obstacle to Nazi progress in the direction of Austria, it is daily gathering more support from Austria's harassed Jews.

The situation is not so simple in Greece. The Jews there have gone through harrowing times alternately cajoled, browbeaten and threatened by rival political factions seeking to coerce Jewish voters if not into support of their party but at least from support of the opponents.

Venezelatos threatened dire things to Jews voting for the Government party. The Government party wooed the Jewish voters with protection of Jewish rights and with actual observance of the Jewish right of equality. The Jews strongly supported the Government Party.

The election, unfortunately, settled nothing. Greece is again buzzing with the activities of a score of political camps and the question of a monarchy is to the fore. The Jews would like to string along with the Tsaldarists who, of all the factions, have proven their best friends. If a monarchy will bring internal peace to the country, the Jews are for it. At the present time, they are gradually aligning themselves with the monarchist party of the time the plebiscite rolls around later in the year, unless unforeseen developments occur, the Jewish population, or a majority of it, will cast ballots in favor of the restoration.

In all the British Empire, the British Crown has no more ardent supporters than the Jews of England. No one who witnessed the Jubilee celebrations and the role played in them by the Jews, can truthfully controvert this. The King George V Jubilee "Forest of Light" is equally an expression of this esteem as it is a fine scheme to aid the work of Palestine upbuilding. In fact, I believe support for the project is really more from the former objective than the latter. One cannot help being impressed by the sincere personal regard all Jews feel and express from the formally-attired select gathering at the Guild Hall dinner for the forest to the most fathered and tired Jewish mother in Whitechapel holding a tot up in her arms to get a glimpse of the smiling King and Queen passing by. It is a revelation to a foreigner on these shores.

And in other lands — in Roumania — King Carol is regarded by the Jews in royalty's ancient role of protector of the weak and oppressed. When all else fails, they address their pleas to him with the knowledge that what wrongs can be redressed, will be and they have this sympathy. And sympathy, for the Jew in many European countries today, does not flow in an over-abundance. In Holland, the royal family has the undivided love of Dutch Jewry. The blunt showing of displeasure by members of the royal family at the Nazi attempts to arouse anti-Semitism in Holland has further endeared it in the Jewish heart. Boris of Bulgaria is loved by his Jewish subjects and his government has tried to even make fair to the Jews. The late King Alexander of Yugoslavia was universally regarded by his Jewish subjects as their protector and guardian. They mourned his death unreservedly. Today they are among the most poignant

From time to time the newspapers undergo a vigorous castigation because of what the reformers decry as a tendency to sensationalism. Sometimes this chiding is deserved. It would seem that the Boston papers at present playing up the aftermath of the Faber trial would offer these voluntary press censors a long-awaited opportunity.

Just why Norma Millen should be glorified in print and pictures after her release from prison after serving 18 months is beyond ordinary understanding. According to the stories and the pictures the beautiful, if somewhat moronic Norma, is trying to forget it all in a luxurious summer camp in New Hampshire. A perfectly natural aspiration. But why not let her work out her own salvation?

Ballyhoo and Brisbaneque blathering will keep Norma on the front pages, mayhap get her a moving picture contract. The young lady and her clergyman father seem content that their seclusion among the hills of the Granite State, should be violated by syndicate ghost writers. Publicity with the sob motive, pensive pictures of Norma which do full justice to her pedal extremities and reiterated paragraphs about her desire to forget, fill the yellow journals. The conservative minded reader may well query, "Well, if she really wants to forget, why doesn't one let the rest of us forget?"

Design for Boycott

When is a boycott, not a boycott?

The impression gained from a brief shopping and investigating tour of Providence stores owned by Jews increases the belief that the correct answer is:

A BOYCOTT IS NOT A BOYCOTT WHEN IT IS CONDUCTED BY JEWS AS A PROTEST AGAINST OPPRESSION.

It is hard to have to admit it, but the stark fact is that certain Jews of Providence lulled by the cheerful tinkle of the cash register, are, in far too many instances, supporting the anti-Nazi boycott by word of mouth and at the same time helping to defeat its ends. A well-known merchant shamefacedly explained the stock of German-made brooches and other cheap jewelry in the following manner: "German goods are cheap and I can't duplicate them anywhere and make as much money."

That, it strikes us, is a very poor excuse. Especially when it is given with the tongue in the cheek. In sharp contrast to this attitude on the part of many Jewish merchants is the directly opposite stand taken by many Gentile merchants. These merchants, who have no immediate interest in the boycott, are supporting it for strictly humanitarian motives.

The Jewish people can, if they wish, force the timid merchants of their own faith to enforce the boycott. If they steadfastly refuse to buy goods of German origin, these merchants will soon cease to handle such merchandise. It is very poor business to buy goods that cannot be sold.

HELPFUL ADVICE FOR NAZI INVALIDS

(Reprinted by request)

A clever physician, not Jewish, Dr. Lakeichevsky, writes an amusing communication to a newspaper in Basle, Switzerland, that is attracting the attention of the medical press. He remarked that since the Jewish spirit is to be destroyed in every branch of life, according to the Nazi doctrine, he is anxious to provide a medical guide so that consistent anti-Semites know what to avoid when they are ill.

A Nazi who has syphilis must not allow himself to be cured by salvarsan, because it is the discovery of a Jew — Ehrlich. He must not even take steps to find out whether he has syphilis because the Wassermann test which is used for the purpose of finding this out, is the discovery of a Jew. If he thinks he has gonorrhea, he must not seek to establish the fact, because again he will be using the method of a Jew, Neisser. A Nazi, who has heart diseases, must not use digitalis, which comes from a Jew, Ludwig Traube. If he has a toothache, he will not use cocaine, or he will be benefitting by the work of a Jew, Solomon Stricker. Typhus must not be treated or he will have to benefit by the discoveries of the Jews, Widal and Weill. If he has diabetes he must not use insulin, because of the research work of the Jew, Minkowsky. Anti-Semites who have convulsions must put up with them, for it was a Jew, Oscar Leibrich, who thought of chloral hydrate. The same with psychic ailments. Freud is the father of psycho-analysis. A Flat Speech at Flat Top candidacy for the Republican nomination for the Presidency. That is, unless the support of Hearst, either openly or through Paul Block, can be considered a menace. Knox himself, running "on his own," won't get anywhere. He proved that when, as publisher of the Manchester, N. H. Union Leader, he ran for Governor of "The Granite State." The good New Hampshire burghers read his newspaper but turned thumbs down on him at the polls. They called him a "carpet-bagger."

After his decisive defeat Knox amalgamated with Hearst, as much as anybody could amalgamate with the wily Willie. He became regional director for the California genius. Later, when it seemed politically expedient, Knox split with Hearst. With the late Theodore Ellis, and with Ellis' money, he purchased control of the Chicago News. He had a real Colonel with him there, Col. Vishnisky, a Polish gentleman of fortune who had been editor of "Stars and Stripes" during the World War.

Vishnisky is the brains behind the Knox campaign. The astute Colonel, the real one, knows publicity all the way around the circle. The words he puts into the mouth of Knox are well calculated to fool the Jewish people. But they, if they care to read between the lines, must discern that Knox stands for what Hearst stands for. And that he stands that way because that is the way Hearst wants him to stand.

In the days to come there will be other politicians decrying the oppression of the Jews and not all of them will be speaking with the tongue of Hearst. It is quite possible that the candidacy of the "Kentucky Colonel from New Hampshire," will die aborning. When it has served Hearst's purpose it will be given a Hearst "vacation." Meanwhile people of the Jewish faith should not forget that the Knox speech, designed for them, was delivered at Flat Top, West Virginia.

At Flat Top . . . well, how appropriate.

THE WEEK IN JEWISH NEWS

SWITZERLAND: Congress

Whether to take arms against a sea of Nazi troubles or whether 'twas nobler in the mind to suffer (to paraphrase Hamlet) was the problem that made news last week in behind-the-scenes circles of the World Zionist Congress last week. On the floor the nineteenth Biennial Congress heard Zionist leaders voice opposition to:

- (1) Legislative council in Palestine as a project that would fix the Jews in a minority position.
- (2) Immigration bars. Ben Gurion referred to Great Britain as "robbing" the Jews of immigration possibilities.
- (3) Speculation in Palestine as a phenomenon artificially raising land values and endangering prosperity.
- (4) Japanese dumping in Palestine.

Meanwhile a conflict raged over whether the Nazi issue should be taken up. It was reported large parts of Nahum Sokolow's speech dealing with Germany was deleted in delivery. Rabbi Stephen Wise, who was to discuss the Nazis at the first session of general debate, was stricken off the speakers' list. However, after he had raised strenuous objections, he was listed to speak a few days later.

Lucerne was bedecked with blue-white Zionist flags for the Congress. Two halls were required for the opening session, what with thousands of delegates, guests and newspapermen trying to get in.

- Demands were voiced that:
 - (1) Transjordan be opened to Jewish immigration.
 - (2) Barter between Palestine and Germany cease.
 - (3) More Jews be transferred from Germany to Palestine.

were heard. Statistics were presented in great quantity. Among the more significant statistics presented were:

- (1) German Jews have brought $25,000,000 to Palestine in the last two years.
- (2) Illustrating land speculation: 48,000 dunams of land have passed from Jews to Jews in the past year.
- (3) Palestine has 180 agricultural settlements occupying 1,300,000 dunams with 70,000 population including 40,000 agricultural workers.
- (4) Jewish population of Palestine to date 350,000 comprising 26 per cent of total population.

GERMANY: Schacht Campaign

With a flush of pardonable pride this pillar points out that a couple of months ago it spoke of two horses in Germany hitched together and pulling in opposite directions: The Nazis eager to persecute Jews and Hjalmar Schacht trying to curb excesses in an effort to save Germany's economic structure.

Last week this situation broke in to the open when Schacht came out with an attack on the radical Nazis. He protested against extra-legal Jew-baiting and tried to assert himself as boss of Germany — economically at least.

At the end of his pains in effect, was a verbal fight from the atom-troops, from Goebbels and from Streicher. The "extra-legal" campaign against the Jews continued in full force. Schacht's speech was censored in the German press.

Next Schacht protested to Hitler and was reported considering resignation. Evidently Schacht actuated more by business sense than any humanitarian sympathies for the Jews, was trying to prevent the Nazis from cutting off their noses to spite their faces. And the Nazi showed themselves very perverse in this regard.

UNITED STATES: Anti-Nazi

The ever-mounting tide of anti-Nazi sentiment still figured importantly in the news of this nation last week. In Albany and in Minneapolis, A. E. L. groups denounced Hitler and pledged support to the boycott. In Washington, a mass meeting was held at which Senators, Representatives and religious leaders expressed horror at Nazi persecution throughout the continent.

Letter Lauded, Condemned

the UNITED OPINION OF THE JEWISH PEOPLE. "And by virtue of what? Certainly not the Jewish people of Rhode Island have not, to our knowledge, elected Mr. Goldowsky, Mr. Brown, Mr. Adler or any other individual as their spokesman.

A repercussion of the incident was the mailing to most of the Jewish votes of Providence a reprint of a speech of Senator Metcalf, supposedly delivered in the Senate. The speech is meticulously headed, "not printed at Government expense." It is titled "A Protest against Religious and Racial Persecution in Germany."

It is a very good speech — but there is nothing to indicate whether it was actually delivered or whether it was inserted in the Congressional Record by permission. Senators have a way of doing that. It is the way in which the mails, their laudable sentiments are made available to the folks back home without the Senator or the Congressman entangling himself in the mazes of political controversy.

Thus Senator Tansilis of Broken River, New York, heartily despise the Jews on the floor of the Senate and at the same time, by virtue of reprints from inserted speeches in the Congressional Record, praise them fully for the benefit of the Jews back home.

The Herald does not believe Senator Metcalf's speech was of the order. It probably was delivered on the floor of the Senate without reservations. But that speech does not explain his vacillating answer to the invitation to address a protest meeting here. Better no answer at all.

Following are a few letters expressing an opinion of divergent from that of the Herald. In conformance with its policy of fairness, the Herald refrains from further rebuttal.

Believes Senator Meant Well

Dear Sir:

I read in your issue of August 29 the sarcastic article criticizing and castigating Senator Jesse H. Metcalf. I think your article was most unfair and was decidedly partisan from a political viewpoint. Such an attitude had no bearing on the question you were considering. You are far from being correct in criticizing the Senator's letter declining to be present at the Anti-Nazi Protest Meeting of the Rhode Island Council. Senator Metcalf perhaps could have been a little stronger in his use of the English language but I believe he meant well and was sympathetic in his attitude.

Furthermore, you disregard entirely the fact that the Senator is in the midst of an extremely busy week, as some of the most important and far-reaching legislative bills had been introduced for passage. Congress was endeavoring to adjourn the same week, so the Senator was extremely busy and could not leave Washington. From his previous attitude I know that he is against the attitude of the Nazi Government.

I think you owe the Senator an apology and I think you ought to write him to that effect immediately. I know you have alienated a large number of friends of your paper by your attitude, who resent to the utmost the threat carried by your article. Senator Metcalf has been too good a friend of ours to have had such an article written against him.

I trust that you will correct this most serious error and print an apology in your next issue.

Very truly yours,

WALTER ADLER

Metcalf Is "Soul of Generosity"

Editor, The Jewish Herald:

On the front page of the last issue of The Jewish Herald there appeared an attack on Senator Metcalf under the head of, "The Moderate Mr. Metcalf." It goes on to say, among other things, "The Senator avoids mention of either the Jews or Nazis. His evident reaction of the invitation to put himself squarely on record as favoring the muzzling of the mad dog of Europe is, 'Well, I won't touch those Jewish votes for a long while. When I do I'll throw them a little slush and they'll come running like sheep.'"

I could hardly believe that those remarks were made by a Rhode Islander. For every man, woman and child in our State knows that there are plenty of Jewish politicians who love the Jews only in an election year. That good man contributed generously of his money for worthy Jewish causes and institutions long before he even dreamed of entering the political field. I had the privilege of sitting

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (JTA) — A committee of Rutgers University trustees Monday cleared Dr. Frederick J. Hauptmann, head of the German department of the New Jersey State College for Women, of anti-Semitism in the dismissal of Dr. Leinhard Bergel, German instructor at the college.

In a 40,000 word report ending a three-month investigation, J. Edward Ashmead, who headed the committee, stated that charges that Dr. Hauptmann had been spreading Nazi propaganda on the campus of the women's college, which is a subdivision of Rutgers, were completely unfounded.

But the committee's report admitted that Dr. Hauptmann believes that many of Germany's troubles were caused by the influx into Germany of the Jews exiled from Poland after the war. In the rise of Hitler he saw the possibility of moulding the German people into a united nation.

The report continued: "Prof. Hauptmann's hope in this regard is so strong that he is disposed to overlook and, if possible to find some justification for the general policies of Hitler."

In spite of this, the committee decided that Dr. Hauptmann is "personally not in the slightest degree anti-Semitic."

The report upheld the dismissal of Dr. Bergel as based on incompetence. Bergel had charged he was dismissed for his anti-Nazi views.

Plan to Seize Suffrage From Jews

GENEVA (JTA) — A new German Citizenship Law which will formally and completely disfranchise the Jews will be proclaimed at the National Socialist Party Congress at Nuremberg Sept. 16, according to reliable reports reaching here from Germany.

The principle of the "Aryan" paragraph, at present contained in the Official Laws, will be included in the new Citizenship Law, the report says. Marriages between "Aryans" and "non-Aryans" will be prohibited by law for the first time.

The action is in line with the policy of the NSDAP (Nazi) Party, as proposed by Dr. Frick, Reich Minister of Interior, at the recent party district conference in Essen that "The Jewish question will be solved slowly but surely, as provided in the program of the National Socialist Labor Party. It will be solved in a thoroughly legal manner."

BERLIN (JTA) — Germans are still leasing grazing lands to Jews in the northern peasant districts, complains Herr Abel, chief district peasant leader for Oldenburg, in the Oldenburg Staatszeitung.

There are plenty of German cowboys who would gladly lease the lands, he declares. Abel holds that it is irreconcilable with the German idea of "blood and soil" to allow "aliens" to lease lands.

In spite of this, the committee decided that Dr. Hauptmann is "personally not in the slightest degree anti-Semitic."

The report upheld the dismissal of Dr. Bergel as based on incompetence. Bergel had charged he was dismissed for his anti-Nazi views.

Plan to Seize Suffrage From Jews

GENEVA (JTA) — A new German Citizenship Law which will formally and completely disfranchise the Jews will be proclaimed at the National Socialist Party Congress at Nuremberg Sept. 16, according to reliable reports reaching here from Germany.

The principle of the "Aryan" paragraph, at present contained in the Official Laws, will be included in the new Citizenship Law, the report says. Marriages between "Aryans" and "non-Aryans" will be prohibited by law for the first time.

The action is in line with the policy of the NSDAP (Nazi) Party, as proposed by Dr. Frick, Reich Minister of Interior, at the recent party district conference in Essen that "The Jewish question will be solved slowly but surely, as provided in the program of the National Socialist Labor Party. It will be solved in a thoroughly legal manner."

Scores Germans for Leasing Land to Jews

BERLIN (JTA) — Germans are still leasing grazing lands to Jews in the northern peasant districts, complains Herr Abel, chief district peasant leader for Oldenburg, in the Oldenburg Staatszeitung.

There are plenty of German cowboys who would gladly lease the lands, he declares. Abel holds that it is irreconcilable with the German idea of "blood and soil" to allow "aliens" to lease lands.

JEWISH VETERANS FORM 40TH THIN BLUE LINE

Most of Heroes of VI Gather at Saratoga for Encampment — 3,000 Delegates From Various States Attend Four-Day Session

SAKATOGA, SPRINGFIELD, N. Y. — Four Jewish veterans of the Civil War, including the centenarian, Isaacson E. Josef, of Buffalo, the nation's oldest Civil War veteran, are among the 3,000 delegates from 30 states expected at the 20th annual national encampment of the Jewish War Veterans of the United States which opens its four-day sessions here today.

The convention, which enters in the organization's 40th year, will open with memorial services this evening at the famous Saratoga Casino and conclude Labor Day with a parade and a national drum and bugle contest, with 100 American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Jewish War Veterans corps participating. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Jewish War Veterans will hold its convention simultaneously.

Letman to Speak
The principal speaker at the Jewish War Veterans' encampment will be Governor Herbert E. Letman whose address on Saturday morning will be broadcast over a national radio hookup. The Governor, who recently became a full-fledged member of the organization, will be formally installed during the convention as a member of Silver Post. Other speakers will be Mayor Solomon of Saratoga Springs; Adjutant General John J. Bennett; Milton Solomon, deputy commander of New York City; Col. Joseph Rankin, military aide to Governor Quayle of Massachusetts; and representatives of all other veteran organizations.

Providence Day
The closing business session on Labor Day will be marked by the election and installation of officers. William Bennett of Boston is the present national commander-in-chief. Other national officers are Senior Vice-Commander Martin E.

MRS. ETHEL GREEN

Berwick, New Britain, Conn.; Junior Vice-Commander Barry E. Schuler, Pittsburgh; Judge Advocate General Joseph F. Burr, Washington, D. C.; Sergeant-General Dr. S. William Kahn, Newark, N. Agudath Hears Appeal On Palestine Schools

ANTWERP (JTA) — An appeal to the Agudath Israel, extreme orthodox, Jewish party, to repeal its ban on the secular schools in Palestine, was voiced this week by M. Kohnstamm, head of the Jerusalem Agudath schools, in an address before the conference of Agudath organizations in Western Europe. The conference decided to form a West European Agudath Union, with headquarters in London, under the leadership of Harry Goodman, English journalist and political secretary of the Agudath Israel World Organization.

The ORACLE

By CARL ALPERT

Q. How long was Louis B. Frank an actor on the Jewish stage? — C. D. E.
A. Frank came to this country in 1888 and immediately became one of the leading figures on the Yiddish stage. Even in Europe, despite the protests of his orthodox parents he was a member of a wandering Yiddish group. At the age of 16 he was a choir singer in a synagogue. Frank is credited with having been among the first to introduce Yiddish drama in this country. He died in September, 1934.

Q. How many squares show the growth of Jewish population in this country? — L. S.

A. In 1828 there were 1,000 Jews in the United States; in 1840, 15,000; in 1860, 250,000; in 1880, 400,000; in 1907, 1,375,000; 1925, 2,300,000; 1931, 3,200,000.

Q. Who was the Jew who held the world's "strong man" record? — W. S.

A. E. Lawrence Levy, English athlete, first noticed as a "strong man" and held the amateur heavyweight lifting championship of England. He held the world's weight lifting amateur record and in 1880 held his own record by putting up a dumb-bell weighing 310 pounds 17 times from the shoulder. Levy was well known as a lecturer on physical culture.

Q. Did Lord Balfour ever make public an opinion on the Jewish people prior to the Declaration? — W. S. & J.

A. In 1906 Mr. Balfour expressed an admiration for the Jews of England and stated that it was a pity they did not intermarry with the other inhabitants of Great Britain. He admitted, nevertheless, regarding it as a great evil and stated that any tendency to encourage the growth of it should be checked.

Q. What were some of Louis B. Frank's greatest accomplishments? — L. S.

A. Married and organized and headed the American Jewish Committee, the leading part in the raising of a contribution of $75,000.00 for the relief of war victims, headed the investigation by the House resulting in the securing of the U. S. Nationality Rights for the Jews.

A. Frank was one of the Jewish leaders and at all times devoted his life and strength to the behalf of "Yiddish Jewish people." The Oracle is available in book form as a handy Jewish reference book. Place your order through your local bookseller or write The Herald, care of this paper.

JEWISH HOME FOR BOYS

While many of us are probably most of us have been looking a way to escape the heat of this torrid summer by traveling to the seashore and mountains, a group of sincere and community-minded individuals have been meeting after regular business hours to discuss ways and means to make the coming summer for our Jewish Home for the Boys a great success. To these men and women who are making great sacrifices to offer our thousands of orphans and convalescents, the coming summer will begin on September 10 and continue until the 25th. We will take place in the spacious grounds of the home. Last year's event as we all remember was a great success in every department and this year all records will be broken. It is our hope that we will have as many happy and successful days as we can possibly have. We will have a great time in every department and we will have a great time in every department. We will have a great time in every department and we will have a great time in every department.

HELS AND MISSES
A wise man has said "If you have a good friend, and you have three good friends and a happy home if your heart has left to you and your soul is lonely — then you are one of life's millionaires."

Frances Lipson, younger sister of Louis B. Frank is visiting from a happy vacation spent at Oak Park, Ill. She is very happy.

You sure have to hand it to our Mikheil Waldman for coverage. This young lady last week made the round trip to Bethlehem, New Hampshire all in one day and I must say it is "some" driving for anyone.

Ben Fane has added another horse to his stable which he named "Lo Quack" at this present in the city — if this horse is possible then will have one of the best stables in the East.

Hotels in New England report a 40 per cent increase in summer business this year — it's because this is the season of prosperity for the coming months. — Representative Herman Koppelman of Connecticut and who has many friends in these parts has been an important member of Congress during the past session.

The Jewish Center is holding a special event on Sunday last week attracted many of our prominent leaders — I saw Geddy Silverman for the first time in months — this young man is sure to be one of the best in the coming show business in the East.

Had the pleasure of meeting members of the Mas. Neurological Society, who are leading citizens of the town of Westbury, hope to have time on the way to their town to accept their kind hospitality. — The 50,000 Jews of New England are having with excitement at charges that have been levied against one of the city's leading Jews, Morris A. Newman, president of the Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations and a wealthy merchant. He is said to have been handling German merchandise in the company in which he is the owner.

The Jewish War Veterans and Actor of the "big city" should be congratulated at their stand when they passed up the opportunity of the Association of German-American Technologists rather than to allow the committee to be developed. — Twenty five years ago Jews of Boston protested against the treatment of Jews by members of the Blue Hill League. Their reports have it that a sweeping change of the staff of the American Embassy in Berlin will send back plans to meet their officials regarding us here. — It is said that the responsibility of American diplomatic officials in Berlin was transferred to the United States Department of State. — It is said that the responsibility of American diplomatic officials in Berlin was transferred to the United States Department of State.

JEWISH HOME FOR AGED CARNIVAL

While many of us and probably most of us have been seeking a way to escape the heat of this torrid summer by travels to the seashore and mountains, a group of sincere and community-minded individuals have been meeting after regular business hours to devise ways and means to make the coming carnival for our Jewish Home for the Aged a great success. To these men and women who are making great sacrifices we offer our thoughts of esteem and congratulation. The coming carnival will begin on September 16 and continue until the 21st—and will take place on the spacious grounds of the home. Last year's event as we all remember was a great success in every department and this year will be no exception. I know we all take great pride in all our communal institutions and particularly in our aged home which ranks among the finest in the country. Naturally, the proceeds of the carnival are to be used for its purposes and upkeep and it is incumbent upon all of us to buy as many tickets as possible to give our full support, and to keep the dates of the carnival open so that everyone with any degree of Jewishness will be present every evening. Valuable prizes, amongst them a La Salle automobile, will be awarded. Unusual vaudeville attractions will be offered from a large stage and a good time is promised to all. The carnival of our Jewish Home for the Aged is an important event. It is our duty to support it in every way that we are able. Make it a byword by saying, "I'll be seeing you at the carnival."

WORDS HERE AND THERE

Bright children always interest me and it seems that with each generation they become cleverer and smarter — the children of the Maurice Center's are no exception to this rule. They are two fine youngsters, Sandra and Allyn, could do credit to the screen of any movie theatre — The Centers, now of Brockton, were former inmates (she is the former Nathalie Brier) Lawyer-men Max Winograd, Jack Temkin, Sam Silverman, and Ed Goldberger were seen the other day at the same table in Child's over a leisurely meal, probably discussing the topics of the day. I sure like Arthur Basok's neckties as I consider him one of the best-dressed men in town . . . they say that Pabst made Milwaukee famous but we are all wondering why Dan Miller seems so interested when the name of the Wisconsin city is mentioned — can it be the moon or the malt? . . . did you know that Hans Herzl, the only son of Theodor Herzl was converted to Catholicism? We offer our congratulations to our good friend Arthur Manley on his appointment as head of our Sockanossett School for Boys—

Last of Heroes of '61 Gather at Saratoga for Encampment — 3,000 Delegates From Various States Attend Four-Day Session

MRS. ETHEL COHEN

SARATOGA, SPRINGS, N. Y. — Four Jewish veterans of the Civil War including the centenarian, Emanuel E. Josef, of Buffalo, the nation's oldest Civil War veteran, are among the 3,000 delegates from 30 states expected at the 39th annual national encampment of the Jewish War Veterans of the United States which opens its four-day sessions here today.

The convention, which ushers in the organization's 40th year, will open with memorial services this evening in the famous Saratoga Casino and conclude Labor Day with a parade and a national drum and bugle contest, with 100 American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Jewish War Veterans corps participating. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Jewish War Veterans will hold its convention simultaneously.

Lehman to Speak

The principal speaker at the Jewish War Veterans' encampment will be Governor Herbert H. Lehman whose address in Saturday morning will be broadcast over a nation-wide hookup. The Governor, who recently became a full-fledged member of the organization, will be formally installed during the convention as a member of Albany Post. Other speakers will be Mayor Schrader of Saratoga Springs; Attorney General John J. Bennett; Milton Solomon, deputy controller of New York City; Col. Joseph Hanken military aide to Governor Curley of Massachusetts; and representatives of all other veterans' organizations.

Providence Man

The closing business session on Labor Day will be marked by the election and installation of officers. William Bernard of Boston is present national commander-in-chief. Other national officers are: Senior Vice-Commander Martin H.

Horwitz, New Britain, Conn.; Junior Vice-Commander Harry H. Schaffer, Pittsburgh; Judge Advocate General Joseph F. Barr, Washington, D. C.; Surgeon-General Dr. S. William Kab, Newark, N. J.; Chaplain-in-Chief Rabbi Solomon A. Schrage, Mount Vernon, N. Y.; Chief of Staff Harry Raymond, New York; Adjutant General Maxwell Cohen, Boston; Quartermaster General Jacob Reitzfeld, New York; Inspector General George Rudnick, New York; National Patriotic Instructor Milton Solomon, New York; National Historian, Harry C. Mamber, Lynn, Mass.; National Liaison Officer Dr. Irv A. Polzman, Washington, D. C.; Chief National Aide Samuel Mistowsky, Providence.

Agudath Hears Appeal On Palestine Schools

ANTWERP (JTA) — An appeal to the Agudath Israel, extreme orthodox Jewish party, to repeal its ban on the secular schools in Palestine, was voiced this week by M. Rabinovitch, head of the Jerusalem Agudath schools, in an address before the conference of Agudath organizations in Western Europe. The conference decided to form a West European Agudath Union, with headquarters in London, under the leadership of Harry Goodman, English journalist and political secretary of the Agudath Israel World Organization.

The ORACLE

By CARL ALPERT

Q. How long was Leon Blank an actor on the Jewish stage? — C. D. H. A. Blank came to this country in 1886 and immediately became one of the leading figures on the Yiddish stage. Even in Europe, despite the protests of his orthodox parents he was a member of a wandering theatrical group. At the age of six he was a choir singer in a synagogue. Blank is credited with having been among the first to introduce Yiddish drama in this country. He died in September, 1934.

Q. Give figures showing the growth of Jewish population in this country. — L. K.

A. In 1818 there were 3,000 Jews in the United States; in 1840, 15,000; in 1860, 230,000; in 1880, 400,000; in 1897, 837,000; 1918, 3,300,000; 1930, 4,200,000.

Q.—Who was the Jew who held the world's "strong man" record? — W. N.

A. E. Lawrence Levy, English athlete, was noted as a "strong man," and held the amateur heavy-weight lifting championship of England. He beat the world's weight lifting amateur record and in 1891 beat his own record by putting up a dumb-bell weighing 108 pounds 13 times from the shoulder. Levy was well known as a lecturer on physical culture.

Q. Had Lord Balfour ever made public an opinion on the Jewish people prior to the Declaration? — W. S. J.

A. In 1905 Mr. Balfour expressed an admiration for the Jews of England and stated that it was a pity they did not do more for the other inhabitants of Great Britain. He abhorred anti-Semitism, regarding it as a great evil and stated that any tendency to encourage the growth of it should be checked.

Q. What were some of Louis Marshall's greatest accomplishments? — I. W. Y.

A. Marshall organized and headed the American Jewish Committee, a leading part in the raising of the $1,000,000 fund for the victims, headed a delegation to the Peace Conference, resulting in the securing of U. S. SEN. rights for the Jews in Europe, brought world leaders into the Jewish and at all times devoted his life and strength in behalf of Jewish people.

LUCK
LUCK means rising at 6 o'clock in the morning, living on a dollar a day if you earn two, minding your own business, and not meddling with other people. LUCK means opportunities you have never failed to keep, trails you have never failed to catch. LUCK means trusting in God and your own resourcefulness. The only good substitute for LUCK is WORK.

JEWISH HOME FOR AGED CARNIVAL

While many of us and probably most of us have been seeking a way to escape the heat of this torrid summer by travels to the seashore and mountains, a group of sincere and community-minded individuals have been meeting after regular business hours to devise ways and means to make the coming carnival for our Jewish Home for the Aged a great success. To these men and women who are making great sacrifices we offer our thoughts of esteem and congratulation. The coming carnival will begin on September 16 and continue until the 21st—and will take place on the spacious grounds of the home. Last year's event as we all remember was a great success in every department and this year all records will be broken. I know we all take great pride in all our communal institutions and particularly in our aged home which ranks among the finest in the country. Naturally the proceeds of the carnival are to be used for its purposes and upkeep and it is incumbent upon all of us to buy as many tickets as possible to give it our full support, and to keep the dates of the carnival open so that everyone with any degree of Jewishness will be present every evening. Valuable prizes, amongst them a La Salle automobile, will be awarded. Unusual vaudeville attractions will be offered from a large stage and a good time is promised to all. The carnival of our Jewish Home for the Aged is an important event. It is our duty to support it in every way that we are able. Make it a byword by saying, "I'll be seeing you at the carnival."

WORDS HERE AND THERE

Bright children always interest me and it seems that with each generation they become cleverer and smarter—the children of the Maurice Center's are no exception to this rule. They are two fine youngsters, Sandra and Allyn, could do credit to the screen of any Movie theatre—the Centers, now of Brockton, were former localities (oh yes, the former Nathalie Brier, Lawyer-man, Sam Winograd, Jack Temkin, Max Silverman, and Ed Goldberger were seen the other day at the same table in Child's over a leisurely meal, probably discussing the topics of the day. I sure like Arthur Basok's neckties as I consider him one of the best-dressed men in town. . . . they say that Pabst made Milwaukee famous but we are all wondering why Dan Miller seems so interested when the name of the Wisconsin city is mentioned—can it be the moon or the malt? . . . did you know that Hans Herz, the only son of Theodor Herzl was converted to Catholicism? We offer our congratulations to our good friend Arthur Manley on his appointment as head of our Sockanisset School for Boys—

HITS AND MISSES
A wise man has said "If you have a good liver, and if you have three good friends and a happy home if your heart has kept its youth and your soul its honesty—then you are one of life's millionaires. . . . Frances Lipson, younger sister of Reuben has just returned from a happy vacation spent at Max Fritzi Pine Beach camp. . . . Janet Fain of our Jewish Family Welfare will soon be returning from the big city where she has been studying all the new fangles in social service.

You sure have to hand it to our Mildred Waldman for courage. This young lady last week made the round trip to Bethlehem, New Hampshire all in one day and mean this is "some" driving for anyone. . . . Ben Kane has added another horse to his stable when he claimed "Go Quick" at Narragansett on Monday. . . . If this keeps up popular Ben will have one of the finest stables in the East. . . . Hotels in New England report a 40 per cent increase in summer business this year—let's hope this is evidence of prosperity for the coming months. . . . Representative Herman Koppelman of Connecticut and who has many friends in these parts has been an important member of Congress during the past session. The Davis-Solovitch wedding festivities at Spanish Villa on Sunday last sure attracted many of our prominent locals—I saw Johnny Silverman for the first time in months, this young man is sure making records as one of the leading show promoters in the East. . . . Saw my old friends the Walter Cohens in New Haven this past week looking better than ever. . . . Walter is one of the head men for one of the largest outfits of its kind in the country. . . . Welcome to Maynard Cohen whom I have not seen in town for many a day. . . . Our congrats and good wishes to a certain announcer Morye Lowy on the announcement of his recent marriage to Miss Ditty. . . . I thought I caught an extra gleam of happiness in Morye's fine voice the past week or two.

Had the pleasure of meeting members of the Max Novogroski family who are leading citizens of the town of Westley—hope to have time on my visit to their town to accept their kind hospitality. . . . the 50,000 Jews of Los Angeles are buzzing with excitement at charges that have been leveled against one of the city's leading Jews, Marco A. Friends of New Germany Given Oath Of Loyalty to Nazism in Rhode Island

YAPHANK, L. I. (JTA)—More than 5,000 members of the pro-Hitler Friends of New Germany gathered at Camp Siegfried here this week and took an oath of loyalty to Hitlerism.

Coming here in special trains swastikas waving and singing Nazi songs, the Nazis watched storm troopers drill and heard speakers call for support of Hitler's policies. Walter Kappe, American Nazi press chief, disclosed that the Deutsche Konsium-Verband, the organization recently organized for a boycott against the Jews, will soon start a vigorous campaign to enlist German-Americans.

Karl Nienley warned "our enemies that we are prepared to go to the limit to defend that which we consider our ideals."

A noise made of electric lights was hung up with the sign "reserved for Amino Haegle." Haegle is the head of the American National Socialist League a rival Nazi organization.

Would Oust All Jews From Jobs in Germany

BERLIN (JTA)—Demanding the "eradication of the Jewish pest" by depriving Jews of the possibility of earning a living, Nazi District Leader Dr. Roth declared in an address at a Nazi meeting in Mannheim Tuesday that it is "intolerable" that Jews hold positions which could be filled by Germans.

In Schwabau, the district court removed the jurisdiction of the guardian of a "non-Aryan" who had consented to the marriage of his ward to an "Aryan."

The Court of Appeals at Aachen refused to reverse the decision holding that the Nazi blood principle has become a principle of law.

Call on Christians To Protest Disgrace Brought by Hitler

GENEVA (JTA) — Accusing all those who remain silent in the face of Nazi persecution of Jews in Germany of being accomplices "of criminals fighting against the civilization of humanity," the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, meeting here, this week issued a manifesto to the Christian world protesting against the silence of civilized Europe on the Nazi atrocities in Germany.

The League accuses those who remain silent as being influenced only by business reasons to assume their apparent indifference. "All who have courage," says the manifesto, "ought to condemn the disgrace with which Hitler is covering Europe."

Flood of Votes Record "Nos" to Berlin Olympics

Will America be represented in the Olympic games, scheduled in Berlin, Germany, in 1936?

The general trend of opinion seems to be 100 per cent to the contrary. The opportunity given to readers of the Jewish Herald to vote on the question was received with a gratifying response.

Over 300 ballots were received the day following the publication of the ballot. And these ballots were UNANIMOUS in favor of having the U. S. refrain from participation in the games.

The Herald today gives those who have failed to register their attitude another opportunity. Results will be forwarded to the American Olympic Committee. Vote early and if you care to write a few words explaining your reasons.
