Awaiting the Call

Recent developments in Syria have brought home to the people of Palestine the fact that they are in serious danger of an Italo-German invasion.

An Axis invasion of Palestine may come overland, through Turkey and Syria. The Germans may also use what is left of the Italian fleet to force a landing in the Holy Land as a move to outflank Turkey, if Russia should stand firmly behind the latter. A simultaneous attack on Gibraltar might divert the British Mediterranean squadrons long enough to permit such an attempt.

Now it is reasonable of the Jews to want their own army to defend their own land. The plan is apparently hanging fire because Prime Minister Churchill is mindful of its possible repercussions in the Arab world. It is an unenviable decision to reach.

The Arabs of Palestine, about a million of them, are by no means uniformly loyal to Britain's cause. The Jews, however, despite the total ban on Jewish immigration and the restrictions against land purchases, are absolutely loyal to the Allied cause. London has nothing to fear from them.

Now the Jewish war effort in Palestine is extremely high. The young community already boasts of producing steel, ammunition and small tanks for the British Middle East command. Their textile and electrical industries supply a great part of the army's needs. Their farms and plantations feed most of the British divisions between Libya and India.

The morale of Palestinian Jews has by now become proverbial. More than 425,000 of them have come into the Holy Land since 1920. And when the British authorities opened the registration of civil defense volunteers, 136,000 Palestinian Jews offered their services within some 72 hours.

So far the British government has been yielding to the clamoring of a Jewish army very slowly. The need is great; the urgency immediate. We dread the thought of hearing in the near future—"The decision and preparations came too late."

The motor industry offers us an opportunity to make sacrifices in the interest of national defense. We shall be asked to get along for a while with those funny old 1942 models. — The New Yorker.

J. Schlossberg Seeks School Post

With the announcement that Axel H. Helander, present member of the school committee, would not run for re-election, because of ill health, Joseph Schlossberg, former member of the Providence City Council from the Ninth Ward, this week declared that he would be a candidate for the post.

Mr. Schlossberg stated that he had been assured of the support not only by leaders in his district but by business and professional men. Citing his part in civic and educational affairs in his district, Mr. Schlossberg pledged the same service to the school committee that he gave while serving his membership in the City Council. He mentioned that he voted for all matters pertaining to the improvement of city schools. He also seconded the motion to restore the 10 per cent cut to school teachers.

Jewess Recipient Of Valor Award

LONDON. — Miss Rosalite Gassman, a 29-year-old Jewish girl residing in London's East End, has been awarded the British Empire Medal for heroism. Miss Gassman is the first woman to receive the new medal. The award was instituted only three weeks ago and takes precedence over the Order of the British Empire, hitherto the chief award for civilians, except for the George Medal.

The citation stated that the award was made in recognition of Miss Gassman's exceptional conduct as a telephone operator at an auxiliary fire station during a severe air-raid.

Van Paassen Hits British Hesitation Declares Jews Should Have Been Fully Armed

NEW YORK. — "On the eve of the Battle of Jerusalem, which may decide the fate of our civilization, the young Jews of Palestine stand unarmed and emphytailed in face of an avalanche of tanks and Stukas" declared Pierre van Paassen in an editorial "It Did Not Have to Happen" which will appear in the current issue of the Protestant Digest.

The author of "Days of Our Years" who is credited to be well informed on Palestine affairs says: "There can no longer be any doubt that the Arabs of Iraq and other countries adjoining Palestine—and, for that matter, even the Arabs of Palestine—

WALTER I. SUNDLUN
Co-Chairman

A drive to raise $6,000 for three mobile kitchens to help maintain and serve the stricken people of Great Britain got under way this week when Walter I. Sundlun and Reuben Lipson, co-chairmen of the Rhode Island Jewish Section Interfaith Committee to Aid Great Britain appealed to the Jewish community to support this worthwhile campaign.

Each mobile kitchen donated by Rhode Island will bear a seal stating "Donated by the Jewish Residents of the State of Rhode Island, U.S.A." The names of contributors will be added to a huge scroll which will contain the names of all those throughout the country who have materially assisted in this aid to Britain program.

Other officers and board members who will assist Mr. Sundlun and Mr. Lipson include Mrs. Aaron Cohen, Mrs. Max Temkin, Mrs. Samuel Kaplan, Samuel Michaelson, Alter Boyman and Dr. Ilie Berger, vice-chairmen; Rabbi Israel M. Goldman, treasurer; Sidney Rabinowitz, recording secretary; Maurice Stollerman, corresponding secretary; Maurice Hendel, publicity chairman.

Joseph Smith, chairman of the executive board is assisted by Rabbi M. Schussheim, Morris Shoham, Harold Cohen, Max Richter, Jacob Alpern, Nathan Torgan, Harry Goldstein, Arthur Darman, Robert S. Danning, Morris Espo, Herman Silverman, Dr. Max Grossman, Jacob Licht, Mrs. M. Schussheim, Mrs. Arthur Feiner, Mrs. Max A. Louis A. Chasan Defends Jewish People's Committee

Taking exception to an editorial on the Jewish People's Committee, which appeared in last week's Herald, Louis A. Chasan, president of the recently organized Providence chapter, this week denied that the organization is Communist sponsored and furnished the names of the titular heads of the national organization.

In his letter, Mr. Chasan said: "The president of the national organization is Rabbi Moses Miller of Cleveland, Ohio. With the reluctance of the Elders he resigned from his pulpit to devote all his time to this organization. The national secretary, Mr. Har-kavi, taught in a Hebrew Seminary and followed the same course as his president.

"As for the membership," Mr. Chasan wrote, "it consists largely of the great masses of every day Jews who know the value of liberty to protect it.

"For myself, I never had, nor do I have, the urge to seek honors or offices. However, when this organization was brought to my attention I instinctively realized its importance at the present time and accepted to head it locally and devote my time freely for same.

"I am not a Communist, nor is the organization. I am a lover of liberty and came to this great and free country for the sole purpose of enjoying its liberties.

"The sole purpose of the Jewish People's Committee is to fight and attack anti-Semitism and discrimination against minority groups whenever and wherever they appear. The same dark forces who are responsible for anti-Semitism are also responsible for destroying democracy.

"You can readily see," Mr. Chasan concludes, "that it should be the duty of every liberty loving man and woman, Jew and non-Jew to support and encourage its activities in every way humanly possible."

Extend Decrees Affecting Jews

BUDAPEST. — Premier Laszlo de Bardossy, in his first speech before Parliament since he took leadership of the Government, announced a third anti-Semitic decree which will exclude Jews entirely from social, political, and religious activities in the Nation.

No details were given concerning the law, which the late Premier Paul Teleki drafted but never effected.

Amid applause Mr. Bardossy expressed gratitude to Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini, "who made it possible for this people to shake off the chains of the Trianon" (Hungary's Treaty of Versailles).

Heller Addresses Center's Meeting

Urges Continuance of Program for Young People

Samuel H. Workman was re-elected president of the Jewish Community Center for his fourth consecutive term, at the 16th Annual Meeting, held last Monday night at the Center.

In his address, Nathan A. Heller, president of Boston Y. M. H. A., who was guest speaker, stressed the value of Community Centers and other recreational agencies, in times of national emergency, as "builders of morale not only for our Army and Navy, but for the civilian population as well." Both Mr. Heller and Mr. Workman urged continuance of the Center program for young adults as necessary for the preservation of the American democratic way of life.

Arthur J. Levy presented the slate of officers, which was published in a recent Herald, and conducted the election.

Several selections were presented by the Jewish Community Center Orchestra. A pageant was given by young members of the Center, and a solo dance number featured Sophie Ellis Lieberman. Group dance numbers and a one-act play were other highlights of the program.

cannot be depended upon to fight against Hitler."

"But even today," the contributing editor of the Protestant magazine laments, "the British government is hesitating to arm the Jewish defenders of Palestine."

"And so again, as the guns roar for the Battle of Jerusalem, we are tormented by the dreadful knowledge that it did not have to happen," the editorial states. "When will Churchill lay the ghost of Chamberlain and Halifaxism, and save us from the shameful accusation of history—the accusation that it did not have to happen?"

MAN ABOUT TOWN
New Yorkers Are Talking About: The 400 per cent law biz tilt for Willkie after his Collier's piece (answering Lindbergh) . . . Adolf Hitler's nephew, Wm. Patrick Hitler, being summoned by the N. Y. draft board, and his plans to enlist in Canada, instead . . . Shep Fields' definition of an isolationist: A guy who sits on a fence long after a normal man feels splinters.

FDR being fed up with the Axis propaganda and his belief that a counter-offensive of free ideas should be sent abroad. He thinks it is Hitler's weak point—because in Europe—any man who believes what he sees—is a Fifth Columnist against Hitler! . . . The "beat" of the week: That the administration has been sounded out by influential Italian exiles for permission to set up in N. Y. the government of the Republic of Italy!!!!

NOTES OF A NEWSPAPERMAN
The Story Tellers: Raymond Leslie Buell, a Fortune editor, warns FDR is "in danger of becoming the American Chamberlain." That takes the President all the way around the block. He's been called "dictator," "warmonger" and now "appeaser." The name-callers invent the name to fit their special angle . . .

An editorial in the SEP states: "If the country is unable or unwilling for the duration of the war to freeze its economic disputes, to forget its class jealousies, to put out of its mind such a thought of equity of sacrifice, then its life is in danger" . . . Them's fine words. We hope the Satevepost will set an example . . . Page 122 of the SEP has a cartoon about a silly ostrich with its head buried in the sand. It's good to know they can laugh at themselves . . . Read Stanley High's piece: "Hitler Ersatz Religion" in Reader's Digest. He says Germany is their God, Hitler is their Christ and Mein Kampf is their bible.

This column's orchids for the best editorial cartoon of the month go to Rollin Kirby of the N. Y. Post . . . The caption was "The Capital of the World of Tomorrow Will Be Either Berlin or Washington" (which Willkie said in a speech) . . . In a sofa chair is "Isolationist" with his newspaper (featuring Lindbergh's opposition to British aid) on the floor . . . "Average American" (that's you and me and Kirby) is pushing a finger in The Old Man's direction and saying: "I don't want war any more than you do, but I don't propose to let this guy Hitler take ME over. And don't you call me a warmonger!"

Typewriter Ribbons: Benjamin Franklin's: Rebellion against tyrants is obedience to God . . . Anon's: Often the man the public tars and feathers today has a feather in his cap tomorrow . . . G. B. Evans': The way to beat convicts is with convoys . . . Jack Warwick's: Few Americans want war. They hate it—but hatred is not peace . . . Akron Beacon-Journal's: Just what are the inalienable rights of a man who is doing nothing for his country and is trying to keep others from doing anything?

"Pleasure car" seems an old-fashioned name for an automobile now — farmers use their cars about two-thirds of the time for business as recreation, recent surveys show.

Spring gardens are coming a long fine, according to reports, but nobody has sent us anything to eat.

For a WOMAN'S fancy

BY EDYTHE JAY

An ingenious florist transformed the Parlours of the Narragansett Hotel into a magnificent, story-book sort of garden last Tuesday afternoon, when a tea was given for Beatrice Wald of New York, who next month will become the bride of Archie Fain. Hostesses of the fete were Mrs. Lester Emers, Mrs. Daniel Jacobs and Mrs. Leo Rosen, a trio of sisters, of the bridegroom-to-be.

Never have we seen the Parlours look so fabulously lovely. Long tables were arranged to form a perfect square, and in the center—a sunken garden. Spirea plants, drecenas, wax begonias, cineraria, hemlock and asparagus ferns fashioned the fragrant groundwork, and a garden fountain in the middle of it all bubbled aqua blue water. Centrepieces along the tables were colourfully done up with peonies, baby's breath, tulips, iris and pink roses, and the fireplaces were covered with hemlock and palms—and beauty vases were placed thereon.

Tempting delicacies of all sorts, shapes and colour basked in all the glory of the tables' beauty, but ere very long nestled comfortably alongside individual tea and coffee cups. At each of the four tables, Mrs. Jack Fain, Mrs. Irving Fain, Mrs. J. D. Grossman and Mrs. Hyman Kaufman poured.

While chamber music in the lightest of moods was played by the L'Allegro Trio in the far end of the parlours, guests were greeted by the receiving line in the reception Parlour. Miss Wald was radiant in a unique frock of navy, with a white margin banding its V-shaped neckline. Perfect complement was her white straw chapeau, and lush white orchid at her shoulder. Her mom, Mrs. Saul Wald, was a stately picture in a dress of white on black print, with a ruffled yoke collar of black on white. Gracious Mrs. Ida Fain chose a crepe outfit of powder blue, with a navy insert down the front. An orchid orchid, as floral adornment.

The hostesses three were lovely to look at. Mrs. Emers wore a captivating crepe frock of moss green, fashioned with a lowered waistline, and fitted bodice. A frivolous square yoke collar of fragile organdie was the highlight of Mrs. Jacobs' navy dress, and the frivolity was carried to the cuffs. While Mrs. Rosen was a petite portrait in heavy crepe of sea green hue, with pleated epaulet treatment at the shoulders.

Mrs. Irving Fain wore navy, with a full square collar of Raspberry ice pink bengaline. Mrs. Jack Fain was soignée in her black and white figured outfit, topped by a longish jacket of paint red. Her daughters, Grace and Alma, were in attendance—the former, stately as a flower in a red printed crepe dress and turban to match—and the latter a perfect darling in a deb frock of navy, red and white, with polka dots dancing all over it.

Mrs. Hy Cohen's blondeness was contrasted by her sun-browned skin, and she wore a bewitching costume of black, with precious ruffles of white lingerie about the neckline. An elegant thing of sand dune beige was chosen by Mrs. Frank Mellion. Its bodice was alternately of red inserts, and red embroidery. Mrs. Edmund Goldstein's navy suit, was featured by large gold buttons—in the shape of butterflies. Outstanding was Mrs. Sam Gerstein's ensemble of yellow plaid wool, with a large green hat.
