

WAR THIS WEEK

Asks for Understanding

LONDON — Soviet Ambassador in London, Ivan Maisky, in a letter to a British artilleryman, stressed the importance of understanding between the people of Britain and Russia, not only for the sake of winning the war, but also as the basis of building "a lasting peace and a better world to live in."

Something Anyway

Sir Stafford Cripps asserted that "if history records Hitler as having been of any use whatever to the world, it will be because he destroyed the distrust which formerly existed between Russia and the rest of the civilized world....."

A Price for Loyalty

Reward for capture of paratroops has been offered by the Italian High Command who are promising between 1,000 and 10,000 lire to Italian soldiers apprehending enemy parachutists.

Meat Prices

Price roll back on meats, an average of 3 cents a pound retail, went into effect. All meats except cured and processed pork are included in this Office of Price Administration program, and those will come under the subsidy plan July 5.

Earthquake Relief

Rescue is speeding to the aid of victims of the earthquake in northern Turkey which is reported to have proved fatal to 1,304 persons, destroyed 1,000 buildings and damaged 1,000 more in the Adapazar region of Anatolia province.

"Be Ready"

The French people, who were told by a British Army official over the BBC eight months ago that the Allies would let them know when the time for invasion had arrived, were told today by the BBC to "be ready."

To Probe Oil Contract

A request of the Attorney General to defer investigation of the Standard Oil - Navy Department contract for development of the Elks Hills, Calif., petroleum reserve, was refused by the House Public Lands Committee.

Editorials

This Sunday's Election

Throughout the country, communities, including Providence, are engaged in selecting delegates to the American Jewish Conference. The various organizations' representatives chosen to select these delegates, owe to themselves and the Conference a conscientious examination of the qualifications of the nominees.

The Conference needs men and women of vision, of independence and with a knowledge of the problems that the Conference must discuss.

It is the duty of the electors to analyze the platforms and the abilities of the candidates they wish as representatives at the Conference.

No Time for Relaxation

"One of the facts not adequately recognized yet by American public opinion as a whole, is the stark reality that a new wave of anti-Semitism has engulfed the United States."

The above is the first paragraph of the leading editorial in the June issue of "New Currents" which devotes a large part of its pages to point out the dangers of this new campaign.

Such outstanding Americans as Senator Claude Pepper, Monsignor John A. Ryan and A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, are aware of this new hate drive and are urging fellow Americans to check this evil.

Once more we repeat—our entrance into World War II did not sign the death warrant of anti-Semitism. We cannot relax in combatting its insidious influence.

Reconstruction

Rabbi Irving Miller, who has just returned from Europe, is slightly optimistic on the problem of Jewish refugees. He says that United Nations leaders believe in reconstruction of Jewish life in Europe. There is a possibility, he reveals, that previous residence rather than citizenship may be considered as the basis of returning to former homelands.

This latter statement is important for 80 per cent of all the Jews who have survived Europe (Continued on Page 2)

Mrs. Silverman Urges Unity In Demand For Homeland

LONDON — A plea to the Jews of all countries to unite for the survival and the future of the Jewish people, "which is only possible through the establishment of a Jewish State in Palestine," was voiced by Mrs. Archibald Silverman of Rhode Island, principal speaker at last night's East End demonstration, held at the People's Palace under the auspices of the Poale Zion.

Mrs. Silverman, who received a great ovation, described the life of the Jewish refugees in various parts of the world she had visited. The resident Jews in many of those places, she said, were terrified at the thought of receiving the refugees because of their own insecure position. She contrasted this attitude with that of the Palestine Jews, who even risked their lives in order to rescue and take in their persecuted Jewish brethren.

Adler Rudel told of his experiences in Sweden, where he had received first-hand news concerning the Jews in the Baltic States, in Norway, Germany and Poland, whose position is "beyond human conception." He appealed to the Jews in the free countries, especially to Anglo-Jewry, to realize their responsibility and to help in the upbuilding of the one country which is eager to receive Jewish refugees.

JEWISH COMMANDOS

ZURICH — German radio stations this week broadcast a report stating that "Jewish commandos from Palestine are participating in drills in landing operations which are now taking place in Cyprus."

New Action is Launched To Assist Europe's Jews

NEW YORK — Rabbi Irving Miller, secretary general of the World Jewish Congress, announced that "action on a larger scale to save the Jews of Europe than that indicated by the report of the Bermuda Conference is in the process of being launched."

Rabbi Miller, just returned from a comprehensive fact-finding trip to Britain during which he interviewed 45 leading statesmen of the United Nations, disclosed that a number of neutral countries have undertaken negotiations with Germany and the Axis satellites in the hopes of rescuing substantial sections of the Jewish children in Hitlerite Europe.

It is estimated, he said, that there are 200,000 parentless Jewish children in Europe. It is hoped to get machinery in motion to save at least 40,000. That still, however, would leave a very substantial number available for extermination by the fascists.

Glimmer of Hope

Urge Limit on Refugee Doctors

New York Society Passes Resolution

BUFFALO — A resolution demanding that refugee doctors not be permitted to practice before they acquire United States citizenship, was adopted here this week by the House of delegates of the New York State Medical Society. The resolution also demanded that the Board of Regents "limit the number of examinations that may be taken by any candidate for license to practise medicine to three in all."

It also urges the Regents to refuse to admit to examination for a license any graduate of a foreign medical school 25 or more per cent of whose graduates taking the examination during the last 10 years have failed to pass.

Two Withdraw Names As Conclave Candidates

Thirteen Remain in Field; Electors to Name Three

Working for U. S.

PROF. ALBERT EINSTEIN

WASHINGTON — "The Star Shell," ordnance publication issued by Navy Department employees, reveals this week that Professor Albert Einstein, noted physicist, is now an employee of the Ordnance Bureau of the Navy. Dr. Einstein, the publication says, will work on the theory of explosives at his Princeton, New Jersey, home. It adds that "Dr. Einstein will not be in uniform—he thinks better in his old windbreaker with his trousers rolled up."

Two nominees—Mrs. Samuel Michaelson and Reuben Lipson—have withdrawn as candidates for election to represent Rhode Island at the American Jewish Conference to be held August 29, in a city yet to be announced, the R. I. Election Conference revealed this week. The remaining thirteen candidates, from whom 300 delegates, casting 900 votes, will select three, are as follows:

Saul Abrams
Dr. Ilie Berger
Alter Boyman
Arthur I. Darman
Rabbi I. M. Goldman
Rabbi Morris Gutstein
Sydney J. Hoffman
Rabbi Carol Klein
Julius G. Robinson
Milton C. Sapinsley
Rabbi Morris G. Silk
Archibald Silverman
Mrs. Archibald Silverman

The election will take place this Sunday afternoon, from 1 to 5 o'clock in Room 316, the Strand Building. Only accredited delegates of organizations will be permitted to vote.

A teller committee, who will have charge of the election throughout the casting and counting of ballots, is headed by Paul Robin, chairman, assisted by Morris Feinberg, James Goldman, Morris Esposito, Joseph Finkle, Morris W. Shoham, Mrs. Harold C. Sydney, and Samuel Michaelson.

The R. I. Election Conference committee is composed of representatives of all Jewish organizations, carrying on Jewish activities within the state and having a minimum membership of 50 in good standing and over 18 years of age.

Laski Critical Of White Paper

LONDON — Prime Minister Churchill is not in agreement with the White Paper policy under which Palestine would be closed to Jewish immigration next spring, Prof. Harold Laski, noted British economist and a member of the Labor Party Executive, declares.

Laski made the statement in Reynolds News, and asserted the Arabs in Palestine were being encouraged by some circles to exploit the British White Paper against the Jews. He said that talks were proceeding between British officials and Arab leaders in the Middle East regarding the formation of an Arab Federation.

Pay For Food But Never Get It

STOCKHOLM — Refugees are being mulcted of money by German firms pretending to be able to transmit food parcels to relatives in occupied territory.

The Swedish newspaper Ny Dag reported the case of one German emigre who paid for the delivery of a parcel to relatives in Terezin (Theresienstadt), Czechoslovakia, a deportation center for Jews, and learned that such packages were held up by the authorities "because the addressee is non-Aryan."

Anti-Union Group Cloaks Activities by Blasting Jews

NEW YORK — There is an anti-union movement in the United States which is not far removed from an anti-Semitic conspiracy, it is asserted by Victor Riesel, labor editor of the New York Post, in an expose of the activities of the Christian American Association in forcing anti-union legislation on various states.

The Christian American Association, headed by Lewis V. Ulrey, is linked to Gerald L. K. Smith, and has the approval of Senator O'Daniel of Texas. Vance Muse, the Association secretary, is its chief lobbyist. The Christian American Association has announced that it intends to fight for its legislative program in every state in the Union. However, the Mississippi Legislature asked the Dies Committee to investigate the Association for subversive activities.

Particular targets of the Christian American Association are Dr. Stephen S. Wise and Mr. Justice Felix Frankfurter, who are described by Ulrey as modern "Elders of Zion."

Urges Easing of Immigration Laws

SAN FRANCISCO — Calling upon the democracies to prove that they are waging war for "humaneness and human dignity," Thomas Mann, in an address here urged liberalization of the immigration laws to permit entry.

The noted novelist, speaking at a mass meeting in the Civic Auditorium to protest the extermination of Jews and other minority groups by the Nazis, said present immigration restrictions, imposed when there was little need for persons to seek shelter here, are not adapted to "the monstrous conditions" prevailing there now.

RABBI IRVING MILLER
... Says he received intimations of very significant and confidential character that British authorities may "unfreeze" the White Paper which would end immigration to Palestine in 1944.

Marine Hero Just Can't Understand Home "Woes"

MEDIA, Pa.—Pvt. Jack Sugarman, 21, doesn't quite know what to make of all the people who come to see him while he's home on furlough.

There are a lot of them because the Marine—who, according to the citation that came with his Navy Cross, saved the lives of nine officers and killed 112 Japs on Guadalcanal—is the town's No. 1 war hero.

Most of the visitors ask him how it feels to be a hero and he always says he didn't think much about it at the time; he just fought.

Shoes—For What?

Then,

"I don't know what we'll do about shoes," one visitor sighed. "Three pairs a year, why—"

"A fellow out there got lost on patrol one night," said Sugarman. "He lost his shoes when he tried to swim a stream. He came strips from his shirt to bind his feet; after that he used his pants. Every day he hiked miles, following a stream. Finally he got to an outpost. There wasn't much left of his feet. He couldn't have worn shoes if he had them."

They talk to him about gasoline and fuel oil rationing.

Pretty Thick Surf

"Out there," said Sugarman, "we burned up during the day and froze at night. But the fellows didn't squawk much. We had a swimming pool. It was black with mud. The idea was when we dived in to pretend it was Atlantic City."

His dad, Alex, who runs a grocery store and sells meat when he can get any, took him to a restaurant for a steak.

"Don't try to keep it up, pup," said he. "Remember, I'm here for 40 days. There was a fellow out there who got along on berries for 40 days."

Doughboy, After Rommel, Finds Bride in Egypt

CAIRO — Doughboy Albert Kemp found a gardenia in Egypt, and he intends to hold on to her. In fact, Vivian Lieberman and Pfc. Kemp are already married and, according to the Kemp family in Astoria, L. I., swamped with letters and snapshots of the bride. Al couldn't have done better had he picked Cleopatra herself.

Kemp was with the Yanks who chased Rommel across the troubled sands of Libya and Tripolitania. During a temporary sojourn in Egypt, the lovely Vivian came into his life. By the end of May, another victory was won in North Africa. Cleopatra Lieberman capitulated to her Mark Anthony Kemp. Flowers grew in the Egyptian dust, and the Sphinx began muttering things. The ceremony was held in the very shadow of the pyramids.

Meanwhile, back in Astoria, the family is muffled with joy. Al has promised to bring the lady back with him after the war, and the Astoria Center of Israel Hebrew School, where Pfc. Kemp learned his alphabets, is planning a rally for their Rhodames and his Auto upon their triumphal entrance into Queens.

Move to Postpone Conclave Defeated

NEW YORK — The American Jewish Conference will take place on August 28th. It was decided by the executive committee of the body at an all day meeting held here.

It is understood that a strong fight was made to postpone the session of the representative assembly until late in November but this was defeated. One group urged the postponement of the Conference on the ground that it was impossible to predict what might be said by delegates to the Conference and that this would be unwise for the Jewish people during the period of the War.

Jewish Delegation Coming to U. S.

KUITSHEV — A delegation of two prominent Russian Jews, S. Mikols, chairman of the Jewish Anti-Fascist Committee and a well-known Jewish actor, and Isaac Faffer, one of Russia's leading Jewish poets, has left the Soviet Union for the United States. It was announced this week by the Jewish Anti-Fascist Committee.

This will mark the second visit to the United States of a Russian Jewish delegation, the first one arriving here about 20 years ago to enlist support among American Jews for the Soviet's Jewish colonization programs in the Ukraine and in the Crimea. That delegation was headed by M. Bashkes, Russian Jewish relief leader.

But 10 years of unchallenged anti-Semitic propaganda must be fought before reconstruction of people's lives can be on a sound basis. Anti-Semitism must be fought by the United Nations so that the Hitler thesis of anti-Semitism as a weapon for world domination will be destroyed.

LATE AFTERNOON:

A book of verse that said what we could not....
A sheaf of letters linked in young romance.....
The wistful charm of two buck brownie shot.....
A wilted flower from some forgotten dance.
These are the old, familiar souvenirs
That lonely men have used to carry on.
Mementoes of the gay and fragrant years
Before the shadows lengthened on the lawn.
Thus I set out to make the sloping hill
That rises high above the teeming town.
Where dreams are dead and all the world goes still
As pilgrims watch the evening sun go down.....
Not much, I know, to see a journey through
But these are all I have and they must do.

Things you probably didn know til now: That some years before the Declaration of Independence was signed a fellow named Apollos de Revoire changed his name to Paul Revere so that his neighbors and friends would better savvy it. It has been estimated that more than half the Smiths in the U. S. originally were Schmidts or Smeds. Many Johnsons were once Jansens. President Polk traced his name back to Pollock, while Herbert Hoover traced his to Huber.

General Pershing is the descendant of one Pershin, who changed his name from Pfoersching. General Custer was the great-grandson of a man named Koester, and Admiral Dewey's ancestors were named Duce. Charlie Lindbergh's grandfather was born Mannson; and if you want to make something out of name-changing try changing the fact that America came from the name Amerigo.

Collier's runs what it believes is a scoop on the until recently hush-hush subject of Radar.

One columnist got into lots of hot water for simply mentioning the word.

Mechanix Illustrated ran a detailed technical story (complete with drawings and diagrams) of how this secret war weapon works—in its January, 1942, number. The title of the article was "Now Power Is Broadcast," and Thomas J. Naughton auth'd.

Shortly after, the Satevepost ran a piece on Radar describing it thoroughly. But all the while there was strict censorship in the United States. Censorship, despite the fact that when the Graf Spee was scuttled off the coast of S. America there was Radar equipment on the mast. And it was Radar that caused the great casualties at Dieppe. The enemy had it all the time. But it was against the law over here to mention it.

To make faces redder—as early as 1932 the principles of Radar were written up at length in German scientific magazines.

Congressmen have been urging Americans to make sacrifices. And they have scolded John L. Lewis because he hasn't made any. But the news is that because the Senate dining room didn't have bean soup on the bill of fare (because of the food shortage) 25 Senators left their tables in a huff.

Can you imagine the cause celebre the Senate would make out of that if Mrs. Roosevelt or Mrs. Harry Hopkins did that?

The N. Y. Sun editorial page offered this fond farewell for Admiral Yamamoto who is said to have led the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor: ".....A hard, tough graduate of a hard, tough school. Yamamoto was a fighting man, every inch of him. He knew his job thoroughly and did it well."

The inventor of one of our most highly rated airplane engines was lunching with a Congressman in Washington. The legislator asked him if he didn't consider it unfair that whenever we enjoyed a big victory in the air, the credit always went to the fliers who used his engines, instead of to him.

"Not at all," replied the inventor, "who ever heard the name of Paul Revere's horse?"

The decision of the Kremlin to disenfranchise the overseas Commy groups is just a bit embarrassing to the American comrades.

Kinda takes official recognition of them as nuisances.

Eddie Doherty, one of the better newspaper men, who is now writing the story of the Sullivan Boys (who died in battle), has his favorite news story lead. It was written, he says, by Jack Lawson for the old Chi. Record-Herald.

Mark Twain had passed on, and the obit notice was assigned to Lawson, who led off with: "Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn are Orphans."

If the Nazi air force has a song it probably is: "Don't get around much any more."

Yetta Dies at 108; 22 Kin in Service

NEW YORK — Yetta Weisbrod died last week at the age of 108 secure in the knowledge that, though she had not outlived Hitler, 22 of her descendants were in the armed services fighting him.

Mrs. Weisbrod's customary morning question for the last few years was, "Is Hitler still alive?" Last Friday, shortly after asking the question of a nurse at the Home and Hospital of the Daughters of Jacob, she was found dead.

The tiny bird-like woman constantly knitted mufflers for the British and American soldiers. An unfinished scarf was found by her bedside.

Georges Mandel Dies in Prison

NEW YORK — The death in a German prison of Georges Mandel, former French Minister of the Interior and aide to Clemenceau in the first World War, was reported here by the National Broadcasting Company, on the basis of information from its Berne correspondent.

The famous French-Jewish statesman, born Jeroboam Rothschild in Paris, was 58 years old.

British Minister Asks Jews To Trust Allied Government

LONDON — "The Jews must trust the Allied government and not attack them," it was declared by Brendan Bracken, British Minister of Information and close friend of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, as he reaffirmed Mr. Churchill's "friendliness to the Zionist cause" as "well known," after saying that "it is impossible to satisfy Zionist aspirations during the war."

Mr. Bracken's statement, representing the first unequivocally friendly word that has been spoken in a long time publicly by a high British official with regard to Zionist aspirations for the Jewish National Home, was made during the course of a conference here with foreign press representatives.

Dean Clarifies Dependency Status

Clarification of a question that has bothered some men in the armed forces with collateral dependents is made by Brigadier General Herbert R. Dean, State Director of Selective Service, who states that collateral dependents who have relied on more than one enlisted man, before induction, for a substantial portion of their support are entitled to government contributions on behalf of each man who contributed to them in civil life.

As an example, General Dean cites the case of parents having two or more sons in the armed forces. The parents may receive the Government's contribution for each of the sons if it can be shown that each one, prior to his entry into the armed forces, had contributed a substantial portion of his earnings or services to the parents' support or that the parents, through circumstances beyond their control, became dependent upon the son or sons after their entrance into the armed forces.

Film Director Awarded Medal

LONDON — A famous Hollywood movie director best known for "Mrs. Miniver," Major William Wyler, was decorated with the Air Medal for meritorious service as an observer on five bomber missions, it was announced here by the United States Eighth Air Force. He was cited for reflecting "highest credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United States."

For a Woman's Fancy

The parlors of the Narragansett Hotel took on all the charm and color of an afternoon garden party on Wednesday evening, June 16, when the Providence Unit of Junior Hadassah held its annual Donor's dinner. It was a hot night and those present showed both good taste and good sense by their comfortable as well as smart attire. It would be absurd to make a prediction, for who can predict milady's choice even from day to day, but it would seem as if hats have definitely taken a back seat for the summer.

For the first time in eighteen years of Providence Junior Hadassah Donor's dinners, hatless tresses predominated, topped instead by clever arrangements of flowers, feathers, or bows. And speaking of tresses the updo or semi-updo, or a short feathercut was the order of the night. The long glamorous hairdo, so publicized by Hollywood, had definitely few adherents. Yes, definite trends could be observed and the most definite trend of all was linen, butcher linen for smart and comfortable attire.

Ruth S. Cohen, dinner chairman, looked festive in cool gray crepe, simply draped and edged in red. Her sleek up-do was topped by a clever arrangement of multicolored feathers. Eleanor Schechter, Donor's chairman, wore a smart looking navy and white checked silk jersey dress with collars and cuffs of white, a white flower in her hair. Betty Wexler, co-chairman, was smart in a hunter's green figured suit with blouse of fireman's red, and wore a perky pompadour hat of the same material.

Ida Barles, program chairman, was definitely summerlike in a cool buttercup yellow suit gay with multicolored embroidery. Her partner on program, Mrs. Charles Fox, was sleek in a navy crepe bolero suit, with a red and white polka dot blouse, and wore a large, cool, navy straw hat. Celia Buckler, chairman of the Pawtucket Division, too, wore navy. A sheer pintucked bodice dress edged with white ruching, and she also chose navy straw for topping.

Muriel Dauer, who gave the invocation, was striking in a bright red butcher linen suit with white saddle stitching on the pockets. With it she wore a white pique blouse, and a white baku hat with matching red band. Celia Kapelew, president, wore brown and white seersucker with a ruffy white pique collar and a white flower in her hair.

Mrs. Saul Feinberg, senior-junior advisor, was sleek looking in chocolate brown linen suit, a brown and white taffeta blouse, jacket edged with the blouse material. Her up-do of auburn hair featured the perkiest little white felt pompadour we've seen in a long time. Paula Dauer, looked like sea foam in an aqua crepe dress with yards and yards of tiny ruching banding the skirt. For contrast she wore a black straw pompadour and matching accessories.

Claire Ernstof, smart looking in a black sheer suit with unusual rhinestone buttons and tiny edging of Irish lace here and there for contrast. Her feather cut was adorned by a darling little black and white linen calot. Esther Blazer, in a sophisticated black sheer with a neckline of white ruching. Her blue black hair in the updo also sported a white flower.

Bertha Feinstein chose navy sheer in a well fitted suit, a beautiful gold clip animated her costume. Nothing could have been more suitable for auburn haired Faye Under than her dashing kelly green and white cotton print. She looked cool with her complete white accessories. Mrs. Jerome Herman, who was excitedly telling us about the imminence of her departure for California to join her husband, was pretty and vivacious in a tomato red butcher linen suit with intricate braided pockets, and matching linen calot.

California bound, too, was Jennie Cohen, charming in salmon pink appliqued linen. Sylvia Bezviner's choice was an aqua butcher linen suit with a darling sailor color embroidered with tiny pink sprays. Sylvia Gliden wore a soft green printed shantung, her blonde hair topped by a matching velvet bow.

A fortunate choice was Emma Berman's baby blue linen suit, saddle stitched in maroon and the collar edged with tiny blue chenille balls. Her blouse, of course, was maroon. Milly Cleinman was gay and cool in printed silk jersey with a white background. Gladys Davis was charming in a delightful dress of luggage brown, linen bodice with printed silk jersey skirt. The bodice was appliqued on the shoulder with a repetition of the horse and rider to be found in the print of the skirt.

Sylvia Weiner was very 1943 in a brown and white taffeta shepherd check suit. Evelyn Cofman, too, was definitely in the mode in a black and white taffeta check with soft white frills on the neckline. There's something so striking about plain white on a red head, and Thelma Greenberg was in a plain white princess dress with two flowers, Chinese fashion on either side of her hair.

Evelyn Goldenberg caught the eyes of everyone in a roman stripe basque bodice, swirling white silk jersey skirt and great big white flower in her up-do. Bella Schechter in powder blue crepe with butterfly on her shoulder and navy straw sailor, was pleasing looking. A patriotic lady was Eve Pildes in a red, white and blue suit. White flowers in her hair too.

Dashing and fetching at the same time was Lillian Granoff in a silk jersey skirt splashed with black and white flowers. A black faille jacket completed her costume, along with the perky red flower in her hair. Irma Strasmick wore green and white polka dotted silk and her hair too sported a white flower.

Ann Barles with her pale ivory skin and blue black hair was a study in neutrals, in her gray and white cotton dress, and, popular choice, white flower in her hair. Blue, the color of Russian lapis, printed here and there in navy and topped by a navy straw sailor, made an interesting costume for blonde Doris Stein.

To those we missed, our apologies. We'll catch you next time.

Demand Seat on Tel Aviv Council

TEL AVIV—A demand that the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv place an Arab on its municipal council was presented to the Palestine authorities this week by a group of Arab land owners who possess land in the area recently incorporated into Tel Aviv as part of the project to have the city limits extended.

The Communists Party in Palestine, composed of Jews and Arabs, this week announced its dissolution following the dissolution of the Comintern in Moscow. Separate Jewish and Arab Communist groups will continue to exist, but with no connection between the two.

Lou Diamond Old-Time Sergeant Is "Ideal Marine"

WASHINGTON — Lou Diamond, the cocky, aggressive old-time Sergeant who has become a Marine Corps legend, has been cited by his General as an "ideal Marine."

Marine Corps Headquarters announced that Diamond, a veteran of World War I now serving his 24th year in the corps, has received a letter of commendation from Maj. Gen. Alexander A. Vandergift, who commanded the Marines in their invasion of the Solomon Islands.

Diamond, officially known as Master Gunnery Sgt. Leland Diamond, comes from Toledo, Ohio, and admits to 53 years.

Practically everyone in the corps either knows or has heard of Diamond, who was a railroad switchman before enlisting first on Aug. 1, 1917. He fought through the toughest battles of World War I—Chateau-Thierry, Soissons, St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne, Champagne—and marched to the Rhine with the Army of Occupation of Germany.

Norman Graduates Administration School

NEW YORK — Lieut. Edward A. Norman, Jewish communal worker and President of the American Fund for Palestine Institutions, this week became one of the 26 Naval officers graduated as the first class of the Navy School of Military Government and Administration at Columbia University. The school turns out naval governors for occupied territories.

It Happened This Week

We can hang the title of the meanest thief on the man who stole the handbag of Betty Rice containing $375 for a Bond that was purchased while Betty was doing her stint as Stamp and Bond saleswomen. Members of the What Cheer Military Corps, however, are conducting a raffle—a War Bond is the prize—to replace the stolen money. Thus far more than $300 has been sold in tickets and the Corps expects to realize the necessary amount by the end of the week.

Strategy

Our armchair military experts insist that the reason the Allies haven't bombed Berchtesgaden is that that's where Roosevelt and Churchill are planning to hold their next meeting. On the radio the other eve we heard Harry Hershfield say that when Hitler vowed that Nazism would last a thousand years he must have been figuring in Jap "Zeros."

Service Bits

Harold Robinson was inducted into the Navy last week. Harvey Wine, Seaman, 1c, son of the David Wines, has graduated from the Radar Fleet Service School at Virginia Beach, Va. Lt. Sanford Fireman, son of Mrs. Anna Harriet, was home on furlough for the first time in 16 months. He's stationed in Texas. Sumner Pearl, son of the Myer Pearls, now a member of Uncle Sam's Air Force has completed the Armament Officer's course at Yale University and was graduated as Second Lieutenant last Thursday. Sumner is home now on a ten-day furlough and he admits that the grind was "pretty tough and rough." He enlisted in October, 1942, and was stationed in Florida and then in Denver, Colorado. Lt. Pearl is a former graduate of Hope High School, and a member of the William G. Cutler Olympic Club which has sent 45 of its original 50 members into the service.

Politics

This is a story told at Guadalcanal—a of a new arrival who admired a souvenir necklace of Jap army emblems, worn by a veteran Marine. "How can I get a necklace like that?" asked the newcomer. "It's easy," the veteran replied. "Go into the jungle, get into a foxhole, and holler: 'Hirohito is a soandso.' A Jap'll run at you, then knock him off." The newcomer went into the jungle, but returned empty-handed. "Didn't you see any Japs?"

the veteran asked him. "I did," replied the newcomer. "I dug a foxhole, and yelled 'Hirohito is a soandso.' Then a big Jap jumped up in front of me, and hollered 'Roosevelt is a soandso.' Well, man, I just didn't have the heart to shoot a fellow Republican."

Small Items

From Miriam Hospital this week came word that Henry and Marilyn Blackwell, of Pawtucket, have a son and that Bernard and Bernice Perelman have a new daughter. Theodore Rosenblatt and Jack Baker were among 15 volunteer movie operators who were rewarded for a year's service by the Public Relations Division of the R. I. Council of Defense. They received pins and certificates. If you want a bit of excitement Sunday mornings, stop by Session street and watch the weekly, hot softball games. About 35 show up each week to play and two teams, captained by Bert Bernhardt and Harold Sydney, have been feuding now for some weeks with the Bernhardt team one game in the lead. Dr. Stanley Loebenberg is the arbiter on bases and is resigned to the fate of all umpires. It's good he can take it.

French Author Volunteers in Africa

NEW YORK — Andre Maurois the French Jewish author born Emile Herzog, has volunteered to serve with the General Giraud forces and will soon be in North Africa as a captain, a rank he held in the last war, it was disclosed here. It is understood that as soon as General Giraud became Commander in North Africa, Maurois, who had been a French liaison officer with the British Army until the fall of Paris in 1940, wrote to offer his services. Mr. Maurois has written many articles in defense of Marshal Petain since his arrival in the United States.

British Advise Arabs on Zionists

Told to Combat Washington Claims

NEW YORK — British officials, notably F. H. W. Stonehewer-Bird, British Minister to Saudi Arabia, have advised Arab leaders to intensify their anti-Zionist propaganda at Washington in order to counteract "intensified Zionist activity," according to Frederick Kuh, London correspondent of the Chicago Sun.

Mr. Kuh reports that under the leadership of Premier Nuri Pasha of Iraq a Pan-Arab federation scheme has been devised which would combine Syria and Palestine, with a "Greater Syria" joining Iraq and Saudi Arabia in the Federation. The Chamberlain White Paper on Palestine would be the determining basis for Jewish rights in Palestine, which would be converted into a State in 1949, as was promised by Chamberlain and the then Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald.

Red Ex-General Threatens Jews

STOCKHOLM — Joining the Nazi anti-Jewish crusade, General Andrei Vlassov, the Russian commander who surrendered to the Germans and was appointed "chief of the Committee to Liberate Russia" this week announced that Jews will be deprived of all their rights in Russia should he ever succeed in "liberating" it.

Speaking at a meeting in Riga, capital of Nazi-held Latvia, the renegade General told his audience that "all nationalities in Russia except the Jews," will be permitted to carry on their own national life. "The Jews were the main supporters of Bolshevism and must pay for plunging the Russian people into disaster," he declared. His speech, delivered in Russian, was broadcast to Russia, the Nazi Transocean news agency reported.

Unpredictable Air Cadet- Everything Happens to Him

EVANSVILLE, Ind. — It's getting so the cold chills creep over Mrs. Mary C. Wiener every time the postman starts up her walk.

She's the mother of Aviation Cadet Hugo Wiener, who fell out of an airplane into a pasture where a snorting bull was awaiting him, and three nights later walked through a plate-glass door.

His last letter told of an attack and robbery by three youths whom he identified as Los Angeles root-suitors.

When Hugo was about ready to solo, his instructor took him up and surprised him with a sharp dive. Hugo's safety belt wasn't fastened. He tumbled out of the plane, and parachuted to the ground.

He landed safely—to find himself face to face with what looked like an unsocial bull. Hugo advanced and the bull walked off.

Three nights later an "alert" was sounded and Cadet Wiener was in a building with a plate-glass door. He thought there was no door there.

Not all of Cadet Wiener's mishaps are extra-curricular. On duty at a gun post at Pearl Harbor, Hugo was wounded. He refused to leave his post, and later received the Purple Heart award.

Scores Leadership

EDITOR:

Our local Jewish leadership is making a farce of the American Jewish Conference. This Conference is supposed to be a representative body elected by delegates of all Jewish organizations.

Our Jewish leadership, however, says that it will decide which Jewish organization is Jewish. They refuse to permit my organization—Lodge 171, Jewish American Section, International Workers Order—to participate in the elections because they claim that we are not engaged in purely Jewish activities. This, in spite of the fact that our every effort to participate in Jewish affairs has been blocked. Unofficially we have done more for the Jewish people than our self-appointed Jewish leaders, who have not learned yet that democracy begins at home.

They have to choose between the methods of Hitler and those of democracy to bring about the unity of the Jewish people.

EDWARD SCHWARTZ, Sec'y.
