Philadelphia Hospital Bans Circumcision On Premises; Rabbi Mediation Attempt Fails

PHILADELPHIA—A ban against the practice of ritual circumcision by one of the city's leading hospitals appeared likely to stand this week despite protests by the affected ritual circumcisers (Mohelim) and efforts to negotiate on the hospital's stand, it was reported this week by the National Jewish Post.

Spurred by complaints of Mohelim that they were being refused permission to practice at Jefferson hospital, even when Jewish parents insisted, The Philadelphia Jewish Times arranged a meeting with Dr. Hayward Hamrick, medical director of the hospital.

Dr. Hamrick said that at one time Jefferson hospital permitted full ritual circumcision but that the ceremonies developed "into huge parties with attendant noise that disturbed other patients."

Other problems for the hospital in connection with the practice were cited by Dr. Hamrick. These included "lack of space that the operation calls for, and the problem of after-care, with many practitioners leaving the matter to hospital nurses and staff members."

The hospital tried to find a midway point by seeking to limit circumcision to one Mohel recommended by the hospital. Too many families complained that they had their own Mohel.

"Our decision to ban circumcision by a Mohel is based on the surgical problems involved and is not meant as discrimination against religion, creed or belief," the medical executive said.

Jefferson hospital policy provides three alternatives for Jewish parents: circumcision may be performed by the patient's obstetrician with a rabbi on hand to perform the religious ceremony; the patient may call on one of the hospital's Jewish surgeons to perform the operation with the rabbi on hand for the ceremony; the patient who insists on a Mohel must wait until the baby can go home.

Asked about the time limit of eight days after birth required by Jewish law, Dr. T. L. Montgomery, chief of the hospital's obstetrics division, said that not more than 10 per cent of maternity patients are kept eight days and "90 per cent are discharged within five or six days."

Rabbi Meir Lasker, president of the Philadelphia Board of Rabbis, indicated that the city's rabbinate

Mr. Rankin Again

Rep. John E. Rankin of Mississippi, one of America's ranking bigots, never lets pass an opportunity to take a dig at Jews. Particularly when he can hide under the cloak of Congressional immunity.

At a recent session of the House Un-American Activities Committee, the committee's chief investigator placed in the record a biographical sketch of Lee Pressman. When the investigator told the committee the information was secured from "Who's Who," Mr. Rankin asked sarcastically "Who's Who in American Jewry?" He then picked up the book and, with delight, he announced his guess was correct.

Later in the session the question came up whether any of the men mentioned in the current investigation were known by other names. Again Mr. Rankin aimed his fire with the following remark: "You know that under that FEPC law they have in New York you can't ask a man what his name formerly was. You can't even see his picture. That's what helps people to avoid detection. Of course these men could get a job in New York, but they couldn't do it in Mississippi."

We miss the connection between a man's loyalty to country and that man's name. Mr. Rankin, as usual, confuses the superficial—such as a name—with the essential—such as fidelity. He also fails to understand that it is such men as Mr. Rankin himself who cause honest, job-seeking individuals to change their names.

If Mr. Rankin really desires information on name-changing, he need go no further than to one of the members of his own Un-American Committee.

Meanwhile the American public must resign itself to the spectacle of the thoroughly un-American device of "trial by committee," smearing by headline, and all the trappings which help keep in office such men as the Rankins and which help deny the right of trial by jury to those whom the Rankins dislike or suspect.

Comedian To Launch 1948 GJC Campaign

At GJC headquarters, 203 Strand Building, an anonymous poet this week composed a bit of alleged verse which aptly summarized the dramatic impact of the noted personality's visit next Wednesday. It read:

"Great excitement here does abound
'Cause Eddie Cantor's coming to town!
Premier showman of them all,
He has answered his people's call,
And we in Rhody won't let him down!"

The meter was somewhat off-key but an optimistic chord was obvious as the GJC's drive for $1,350,000 awaited its official launching on "Eddie Cantor Day," Wednesday, September 1.

Next Wednesday, in the minds of many persons, will merely mark the beginning of the ninth month of the year. But to the Jewish community of greater Providence, Wednesday, Sept. 1, is "Eddie Cantor Day."

On that day—or, rather, that evening—the famous entertainer will make an unprecedented visit to Rhode Island to help launch the 1948 "Year of Destiny" fund-raising campaign sponsored by the General Jewish Committee of Providence, Inc., in behalf of the United Jewish Appeal.

Cantor—legendary star of stage, screen and radio—will be the featured speaker and guest of honor at the GJC Initial Gifts Dinner at Ledgemont Country Club.

Back from Abroad

Returning only last week from an extensive trip abroad to study conditions in DP camps and the heavily populated Jewish areas of Europe, Cantor will bring to (Continued on Page 2)

BV UJA to Open Campaign on Sept. 14; Send $100,000 Advance to National UJA

Plans for the fall Blackstone Valley United Jewish Appeal campaign are rapidly being completed, Harry A. Schwartz, a campaign chairman, announced Monday.

As the first step in its fund-raising activity, the local group several weeks ago sent $100,000 in advance of the campaign to meet the urgent request from national headquarters for immediate funds.

The campaign will open officially at a community-wide meeting of the Blackstone Valley Jewish Community Council on September 14. This meeting, at which officers will be elected for the ensuing year, will initiate the drive. While no solicitation of funds will take place at this meeting, Schwartz pointed out that the Council has a fund-raising responsibility. The needs of the coming campaign will be outlined by a speaker of national prominence.

100 Valuable Prizes Will Be Awarded at The Hebrew Day School Monte Carlo Show

Over a hundred valuable articles will be given away each night at the Monte Carlo Show to be sponsored by the Providence Hebrew Day School at the Narragansett Casino, August 28-30. Included among the gifts are: International silver sets, radios, luggage sets, lawn furniture, watches, fishing tackle and many valuable electric home appliances. An extra gift will be awarded to the person whose name is called if he or she is present at that time.

A complete lady's ensemble by Frances Waterman will be awarded each night to some lucky woman who must be present at the time of the drawing. She will be able to make her own selections for her wardrobe from articles displayed by models.

An atomic fire-works show will be presented each evening in addition to the Monte Carlo Ball.

In charge of activities will be Max Brier, Joseph Dubin, Sol Koffler, Archie Smith, Jerry Adler and Irving Solomon; and the Misses Eileen Dubin, Selma Katz and Edith Koffler. Irving Koffler is general chairman of the event.

Hadassah Sectional Conference Here

Mrs. Martha Sharpe, distinguished for her outstanding work in Youth Aliyah, will be guest speaker at the annual sectional Hadassah conference of Southeastern New England to be held September 14 at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel. Mrs. Sharpe, who is at present in Pales-time, will return to this country early in September, and will bring to the delegates of the conference a first hand report of conditions—social and political—in the new state of Israel. She is scheduled to speak at the luncheon session of the conference.

The morning session will be devoted to a discussion of problems confronting the chapters and to a political session, led by Mrs. George Rossyn, president of the New England Region of Hadassah.

Sons of Zion Selects High Holiday Cantor

Cantor Rev. Joseph Farkas has been engaged to conduct the High Holy Day services at the Sons of Zion Congregation, it was announced last week by Ira Kulman, secretary. The cantor will also conduct services tomorrow night. The public is invited to attend.

Next Wednesday is Eddie Cantor Day

(Continued from Page 1) the community leaders assembled at Ledgemont a dynamic account of the desperate needs confronting the more than 1,400,000 Jewish people who survived the holocaust of the last war.

His coming to Rhode Island has stirred a tremendous interest among the Jewish people of this state. Long recognized as one of America's best loved entertainers, and because of his many philanthropic activities in behalf of his people, Eddie Cantor enjoys a prestige far above that of a professional showman.

Of all his numerous charitable endeavors, however, Cantor holds none more dear or more important than his present work in behalf of the nation-wide $250,000,000 UJA drive.

Personal Sacrifice

When the UJA asked him to undertake his recent trip abroad to survey the situation confronting his Jewish brethren in Europe today, the celebrated comedian instantly consented. His decision represented a considerable personal sacrifice, inasmuch as his agents were forced to decline many lucrative stage and radio offers because of Cantor's determination to aid in alleviating the plight of homeless Jewish men, women and children throughout war-ravaged Europe.

Cantor already has communicated with local GJC headquarters, both by wire and letter, informing it of his "joy at being able to be with my many friends in Providence at the launching of what I fervently believe to be the most crucial fund-raising campaign ever conducted by our people."

"My experiences abroad have convinced me," he added, "that the extent of our financial aid in the next few months will determine the future of our people for the next many years!"

Heading a committee to greet Cantor on his arrival here next Wednesday afternoon will be Archibald Silverman, GJC president. A fast-moving schedule arranged by local GJC headquarters calls for Cantor's appearance at Ledgemont at 6 o'clock, where he will be tendered the official greetings of the State by Gov. John O. Pastore.

A buffet supper in a huge tent adjoining Ledgemont's clubhouse will precede the speaking program which is expected to begin at about 8 o'clock.

Thinking of home
The Herald certainly does get around! Even in Houston, Texas it has its readers. Elaine Perelman, formerly of Providence, now living in the Lone Star State writes to me. Moving to Houston was a new experience for Elaine, for Providence was the only home she had known. She likes to compare Providence with Houston, and writes "What Narragansett Pier is to Providence Jewry, Galveston is to Houston Jewry; what the Cabana is to Providence, the Balinese Room is to Houston."

Elaine thinks of her friends often and hopes they haven't forgotten her. She would like very much to hear from you, so you may write Miss Elaine Perelman, 2418 Blodgett Street, Houston, Texas.

Braude performed the ceremony. Mrs. Peter Flambach, aunt of the bride, was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in ivory duchess satin, with a deep square neckline and a peplum of heirloom rose pointe lace. Her veil was heirloom rose pointe lace and French illusion tulle. She carried a white Bible with a marker of Phalaenopsis and lily of the valley.

Miss Joan Rothman, maid of honor, wore a tiered, bouffant gown of powder blue tulle. She carried pink sweetheart roses.

The bridesmaids, Mesdames Ronald and Monte Sopkin and the Misses Barbara Pilavin, Helen Hall, Lois Winn and Dorothy Brier were attired in apple green imported Swiss organdy bouffant gowns with deep bertha necklines. They carried fan shaped arrangements of blue bachelor buttons and croton leaves.

Philip Shore was best man, and ushers included Alan Sack, Alfred Silverstein, Ronald Sopkin, Monte Sopkin, Paul Hall and Edward Feldman.

The bride's mother selected a cerulean taffeta and imported Chantilly lace gown with long sleeves, square neckline and a full skirt. The mother of the groom chose a pale pink tulle gown with garlands of roses on a very full skirt, fitted bodice, and a tulle shawl.

After a month-long honeymoon in California, the couple will live at 710 Elmwood Avenue.

College Girls Favor Shoulder Strap Bag

The college girl favors the shoulder strap bag for its convenience and comfort, especially when totting an armful of books, a recent survey indicated. In addition to its utility, the new shoulder bag adds a dashing line to her tailored costume.

Saddle leather bags are found in a wide range of style and price. The higher priced are usually lined, have softer finishes, and classic styling. Many have adjustable straps and can be worn several ways. One we saw has a detachable dog collar.

The wise shopper checks bags carefully for firm, close, neat stitching, well turned corners, and secure fasteners. Some of the better leather bags have piping reinforcements at the seams.

'Sundlun for Senator' Foreseen in '32

THE PROVIDENCE JEWISH HERALD, FRIDAY, AUGUST 27, 1948

Leader In Jewish Community For 34 Years

All indications are that Walter I. Sundlun will be elected United States Senator next November. The busy "Sundlun for U. S. Senator" headquarters is visited daily by prominent Republicans and men and women not usually active in politics, who bring reports showing his great strength throughout the state.

This supports a prediction of more than 16 years standing, made long before Sundlun ever entertained the notion of entering the political field. It was in the form of an all-but-forgotten letter written to him by John Scheminger, Jr., a prominent Rhode Island businessman, dated May 6, 1932, congratulating Sundlun on one of his achievements.

Mr. Scheminger wrote:

"Now I want to prophecy that, providing your extensive practice will permit, the not so distant future will see you enthroned in the highest seat in the State, and when that day comes ... the voters will only be exercising sensible judgment in their own best interests."

Walter Sundlun comes up to this campaign for the office of U. S. Senator with a rich and varied background of civic, political, organizational and charitable work behind him. He has made important contributions to the courts of Rhode Island through the medium of the many cases he has successfully argued and which brought opinions from various courts that established legal principles to guide future law cases. The list of charities and public institutions to which he has devoted his time and energy is long and impressive.

He gained the unending gratitude of negroes throughout the nation when he militantly led a successful fight at the Republican National Convention in 1932 to permit the Southern colored delegates to take their seats and become a part of the convention.

Jewish Community Leader

As far as his work on behalf of the Jewish community of Rhode Island is concerned, it can accurately be said that there has not been a single worthy Jewish cause during the last 34 years that he has not vigorously championed and supported.

That record includes 34 years of service to the Jewish Orphanage of Rhode Island, ten of them as president; a three year term as president of Temple Beth El, and the chairmanship of the building fund for the Home for the Aged in 1930.

As far back as 1914 he headed the Providence American Jewish campaign to aid Jews in Palestine, and since then, in a never-ending sequence of events, he has continued to serve his fellow Jews.

Sundlun was a young man at the time he aided the late Isaac Woolf to help found the Jewish Community Center. He also was called in by the Ladies Organization of The Jewish Home for the Aged and helped them in their problems when the Home for the Aged was being conducted entirely by the ladies. He was instrumental in bringing the men into their work and was one of the founders of the present Jewish Home for the Aged.

He did the same thing in connection with the establishment of the Miriam Hospital. The ladies who used to support beds for the Jewish sick and convalescent of the various hospitals called on him for his aid and as a result of his first address made to attract men to the work being done by the women's association, 50 men enrolled. He then undertook the work in conjunction with others and helped set up the present organization which is now known as the Miriam Hospital.

It can truly be said that he never turned down a request for help in behalf of any worthy Jewish cause as long as it had merit and was deserving of help.

It was Sundlun's insight and desire to help human life that led, during his term as president of the Orphanage to the establishment of Camp Jori, the camp of the Jewish orphans of Rhode Island at Narragansett Pier; and he predicted then that some day this camp would serve many children outside the Orphanage. This year over 300 children are being cared for at Camp Jori.

Honored by Catholics

In addition to his extensive activities on behalf of his fellow Jews, Sundlun has the confidence of the non-Jew. He is the only non-Catholic who was ever invited by the Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, present Archbishop of Baltimore, formerly Bishop of the Diocese of Rhode Island, to make an address in behalf of the Catholic Charity Fund Appeal in Rhode Island. This year the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Peter E. Blessing invited Sundlun to make a similar plea; and in a letter of thanks Rev. Joseph J. Lamb, director of radio publicity for the campaign, wrote Sundlun:

"Your address in behalf of the 1948 Catholic Charity Fund Appeal was both eloquent and convincing. Its effects were more far-reaching than many of us could realize at the time."

The then Bishop Keough later wrote:

"I am completely confused by the extreme liberality of your appreciation of our good will and neighborliness ..."

Sundlun is also one of the original founders of the Ledgemont Country Club. He played little golf but always believed that there ought to be a Club for the young people who are growing up, and with that objective he has constantly supported its establishment and its perpetuation.

It can well be said that as an advocate for respect and proper regard for the people of the Jewish faith there has been no more loyal representative within our State than Walter Sundlun.

Invaluable to G.O.P.

Walter Sundlun has been an important cog of the Republican Party in Rhode Island for 30 years. In 1934, at the height of the popularity of the Democratic New Deal which had swept the nation two years earlier, he barely lost a nip and tuck battle for the office of State Senator to (Mayor) Dennis J. Roberts by a scant 193 votes.

Not only that, Sundlun polled more votes than any other G.O.P. candidate on the slate. Proof of his potency as a vote getter lies in the fact that he led the Republican Party's candidate for the U. S. Senate that year by 176 votes.

An active worker for the Republicans down through the years, Sundlun has helped in many campaigns. His addresses carry a forceful and individualistic style and he is known as among the best of Rhode Island orators. He served with distinction as chairman of the Speaker's Bureau of the Republican Club of the State of Rhode Island for a few years and in many instances served as arbiter during disputes within the party.

Sundlun was a delegate to the state convention to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and was designated to deliver the main address for the Republican Party at that convention. This speech is now recorded in the State House records. He was also a contributor to the legal brief that was filed with the Rhode Island Supreme Court on the proposed constitutional conventional system to amend the State Constitution. Sundlun is well known as one of Rhode Island's outstanding Jury lawyers.

Starting in 1932, the senatorial particular job I have in mind for you is assistant to my personal representative, Russell Davenport. Mr. Davenport has asked particularly to have you, and I am delighted with the prospect."

Not content alone with working night and day to further Willkie's campaign, Sundlun still found time to compose the words to the campaign song, entitled "Victory for Willkie" which was selected on audition of 400 songs before a committee of music critics. He collaborated in this venture with Mrs. Bert Rose of Boston.

Sundlun remained a close friend of Willkie until the latter's untimely death.

The writing of the words of the campaign song, incidentally, was not an unusual chore for Walter Sundlun who, for many years, has held a distinctive reputation as a

Headed Orphanage And Temple Beth El

Southern Colored Delegates ... wherein the Lilly Whites were fighting valiantly to put them out and keep them out of the convention. But the leadership in the battle for a fair deal to us was taken by Mr. Sundlun, who had nothing at stake personally, but who felt a high sense of duty to see to it that we had fair play; and it was in this battle that he won the gratitude, the esteem and the admiration of all fair-minded persons connected with the convention.

"There is no finer champion of civil rights than Walter Sundlun of Providence, Rhode Island.

"At this time, when we ... need men in the Senate who are going to stand up and fight for our Civil Rights Bill, I ask: 'Where in the name of high heaven are you going to find a truer friend and greater fighter for our people?'

"These are the days when we should remember those who have fought and are fighting for our cause ... Mr. Sundlun is greater than the confines of party or state."

The Life of Sundlun

What is the background that has brought to Walter Sundlun such prominence in public life—Jewish, civic, professional, political and aesthetic—that has brought him such tribute as a worker, leader, speaker, poet, campaigner, champion of human rights? Surely these things don't just happen to a man unless he has prepared himself for them, unless he has painstakingly built a solid reputation through his own creative efforts.

The life of Walter Sundlun is the best illustration of the man who is waging one of the most ambitious campaigns of any independent candidate in Rhode Island political history.

Walter Irving Sundlun was born on September 9, 1890 in Providence, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Sundlun. He was graduated from Doyle Avenue Grammar School and Hope High School where he established a precedent by making the debating team in his freshman year and captaining it in his junior and senior years. He later attended the Lincoln Preparatory School in Boston.

His desire to study law following his graduation from high school was thwarted because of the family's financial condition; but Walter promised himself that some day he would return to school and obtain his law degree. That promise was not to be fulfilled for ten years.

His early boyhood was a continuous saga of working to help support the family. It is chronicled about him that at the tender age of eighteen he "ran away" one Saturday and talked the superintendent at the Outlet Company into giving him a job as cash boy at 50 cents a day.

From that time on through his high school days Sundlun worked at a variety of jobs. At the age of 13, he started working on the steamboats plying from Providence to Block Island. A candy dispenser at first, he finally obtained the baggage concession and he held on to this "business" until his graduation from high school.

His first business venture was as sales representative for a large Attleboro jewelry concern. Main-candidate has been present at every national Republican convention. In 1944 he served as assistant chairman to Hon. Walter Hallanan, National Committeeman from West Virginia, who was chairman of the Committee of Arrangements for the National Convention.

On Willkie's Personal Staff

Sundlun actively participated in the bid made by the late Wendell Willkie for the Presidency in 1940. One of Willkie's original and early supporters, he became by Willkie's personal invitation, one of the floor managers and advisors during the national convention at which Willkie captured the GOP nomination.

Later he joined Willkie's small personal staff for the campaign, and helped to direct the activities of that election from the presidential nominee's personal headquarters in New York City's Commodore Hotel. The letter written to him by Willkie inviting him to join the latter's personal staff is still a prized possession of Sundlun. The letter read in part:

"Mindful of the effort that you have put forth in my behalf both before and since the Convention at Philadelphia, I am writing this letter to invite you to become a member of my personal staff. The poet. During World War II he composed a poem entitled "The Soldier's Plea", which attracted such national attention that a newsreel firm dramatized it and Brown University added it to the Harris Collection of American Poetry. Sundlun also gained an honorary membership in the Eugene Field Society for literary skill and craftsmanship.

Tribute From Negroes

Respected by Catholic, Protestant and Jew, negro and white, the man who is vigorously campaigning for the State's highest office can hope to receive no greater tribute or endorsement than that contained in a letter written on July 19 by Perry W. Howard, negro National Republican committeeman from Mississippi. Writing to a friend in Providence, Howard said:

"I was happy to learn ... that (Sundlun) ... has ... become a candidate for the United States Senate.

"I am going to confess that I feel not only a peculiar but a personal interest in the candidacy of this fine man. First of all, Attorney Sundlun attracted national attention, back in the year '32 in the Republican National Convention, when he most successfully championed the cause of the

Israel Mayor Thanks Mrs. A. Silverman For Good Wishes

Mrs. Archibald Silverman received a note last week from Israel Rokach, Mayor of Tel Aviv, thanking her for the telegram sent last May, in which she expressed rejoicing at the Declaration of the State of Israel.

He says in part: "I trust that it will not be too long before you are here again amongst us to see for yourself what we have done since the day of the Declaration and how no sacrifice has been too great for the Yishuv to make the Declaration of Independence a reality."

'Israel Air' Gets Boost From African Firm

HAIFA—The world's youngest international air line—"Israel Air"—will soon inaugurate regular service between Israel and Europe, financed entirely by Jewish capital and manned by all-Jewish crews. "Israel Air" plans to have flights daily, except Saturday, with 26 passenger Dakota transport planes carrying a crew of five. Handpicked hostesses will serve Kosher meals to passengers.

Pan-African Air Ways, a Union of South Africa firm which fostered the Israeli venture, will aid the new air line technically. Israeli planes will fly under P.A.A. sponsorship in countries which have not yet recognized the Jewish State.

"Israel Air" pilots include pioneers of Jewish civil aviation and veterans of both world wars. The man at the controls of the Line's first plane, a C-47 which circled Haifa in a test flight last week, was Kurt Katzenstein, one of the German Air Force's ace fighter pilots in World War One who, as an officer in Richtofen's "Flying Circus" taught Goering how to fly. Katzenstein has 16,000 flying hours to his credit.

Until Israel Air has sufficient planes, Pan African will operate a special service in its behalf to Athens, Rome and Paris. A P.A.A. official who went along on the test flight, said that his company is pledged to see Israeli commercial aviation "on its wings."

"We've been through the same as Israel and we South Africans can appreciate your needs and difficulties and are determined to help you," he said.

Pan African was the only international air line which did not suspend, either partly or completely, its service to Haifa during the height of hostilities. At present over 85 percent of the air traffic to and from Israel is handled by P.A.A.

LONDON — The International Amateur Athletic Federation Congress this week, by a vote of 32 to 14, decided to table the question of Israeli membership in the federation until the political situation in the Holy Land is definitely cleared.

and the people, and she hungered to know more ... After studying dancing many years she became expert at the art, and when a big B'way show was being organized she applied for the job of putting on the routines ... The producers took her on, and the notices singled out "the wonderful dance," which highlights the hit's theme ... The hit is the musical version of Elmer Rice's "Street Scene" ... The dance? ... The thrilling number of two street kids ... The choreographer? ... Little Anna Sokolow, who had all the critics asking: "How could she have so truly captured the flavor of squalid city streets?" ... "It's simple," says Anna, "when you've been part of them."

Manhattan Murals: The Broadway dance hall which advertises: "Most Exclusive Place in Town—Everybody Welcome" ... Francois, a waiter at the Soho cafe, who comes to work in immaculate attire plus spats, diamond stickpin, cane, boutonniere ... The window-long sign on the canopy of a shuttered, boarded-up fruit market at 46th and 6th. It reads: "Never closed!" ... The bootblack on 49th street who keeps a copy of Variety available for struggling actors who can afford a shine but not the two-bit show-bible.

Lament of a Broadway Press Agent (By Art Franklin): How tense he scans the papers nights and days ... An adult mind he "presstitutes" for self ... How often does he swear to coin a phrase ... That's good enough to credit to himself ... Investing ebbing ingenuity ... To build some small-time crooner, club or band ... How pitiful the sum gratuity ... That keeps some inept act from being panned ... He camouflages talent "mediocre" ... With touches of a genius at his game ... And if he strains enough—some third-rate "joke"—will cash his clippings in for movie fame ... The simple fact is this—for he alone ... Can lick his client's "flops"—except his own!

Bigtown Smalltalk: Paul Mantz broke the coast-to-coast record with his plane, "Blaze of Noon," a stunt to put the film (same name) on the front pages. But "Betty-Jo" got the headlines. Ladies first, y'know ... Broadway show gels sizzling at the story quoting director John Murray Anderson as grousing: "I'd rather work with elephants than show girls" ... The very old song, "Last Night on the Back Porch" (a Johnny Long platter) has been banned on all networks because of its naughty wordage ... Danny Kaye (who got close to three million in four years of film making) took four weeks of personal apps to raise tax coin ... At least 10 of the nation's youthful political white hopes happened to match notes the other day. They found that Mayor O'Dwyer had told each "confidentially" that he was grooming him to be his successor. Such a letdown.

B'way Confucius: Real Love Do

Not Have Happy Ending. It Do Not Have Any Ending.

The Intelligentsia: John Steinbeck's new novel, "The Wayward Bus," was dictated onto records, which a typist then transcribed. Nice best-selling work, if you can get it ... John Hersey, father of "Bell for Adano" and "Hiroshima," is incommunicado in Florida, working on a new best-seller ... Some of Edna Ferber's most glittering literary nuggets have been put between covers in "One Basket" ... Mary Martin, the star, gives "bath parties" nearly every night for London friends (there) who have no tub or water.

Sallies in Our Alley: Herbert Hoover says a billion dollars is needed to feed the Germans, who have "sunk to the lowest level known in 100 years of western history." Overlooking, of course, the level maintained by the Germans in their concentration camps and crematories ... Wanna know why swank spot waiters are so uppity? A survey revealed that for the insertion of personal and organizational news items.

10 Military Expert Says Arabs Can't Win

NEW YORK—Since their armies failed to win a quick victory in Palestine in the recent fighting there, the Arabs have lost their chance of winning the fight against Israel, at least for some years to come, Hanson W. Baldwin, military expert, declared in an article in the New York Times.

According to Baldwin, the Jews have benefited most from the truce. "Over a good part of several continents their purchasing agents were busy and supplies started to flow toward Palestine at an accelerated rate. Zionist factories in Palestine had time to match supply to demand and to build up reserves," he said.

The Arabs did not use enough strength for rapid victory, in the opinion of the military expert. Although their armies numbered 115,000 regular soldiers, only some 20,000 to 30,000 were used in Palestine and the Arabs were actually outnumbered by the over-all strength of the Haganah.

"The Arabs dared not use more," Mr. Baldwin stressed. "Their own rivalries and frictions and the unstable nature of the Arab governments kept the rest at home. A war plan somewhat faulty and uncoordinated in concept and poorly executed also helped to destroy the slim chance of a quick and decisive victory," he said.

WHAT VALUE DO YOU PUT ON YOUR U. S. CITIZENSHIP ?

Millions of foreigners would give everything they own to come to America and begin again.

But U. S. citizenship cannot be purchased, for its great value lies in the personal satisfaction, freedoms and privileges too numerous to list here. As an American, you know them well. You may even take them for granted.

CAREERS WITH A FUTURE
U. S. Army and
U. S. Air Force

But these privileges and freedoms are in danger.

Alert, strong, purposeful fighting men can help to hold off this danger while world understanding is built up. Enemies know, as we know, that a strong America will be a peaceful America because no one will dare to start trouble against us.

See if you measure up to Army or Air Force standards by visiting your nearest Recruiting Station.

Cantor Assails DP Entry Law

NEW YORK—The recently passed immigration bill for displaced persons "makes a fool out of the Marshall Plan and every American," Eddie Cantor charged as he arrived here on the liner "America" following a six-week tour of Europe.

Cantor will be the featured speaker here next Wednesday night at the GJC Initial Gifts affair at the Ledgemont Country Club.

Cantor said he believed the United States was making a great mistake in its handling of the DP problem. "The fact that we do nothing about giving tortured, persecuted DPs the peace they've earned in war means there has been a breakdown of Christianity."

Touro Shrine Marks Anniversary

"From the days of the Declaration of Independence, people everywhere have observed carefully the words and actions of this nation. Civil rights here have a mighty influence in moulding the pattern of human rights for all mankind," said Henry L. McCarthy, executive director of the National Citizens Council on Civil Rights, speaking before an audience in Touro Synagogue Sunday evening.

The event was held to commemorate George Washington's letter on religious freedom written to the Hebrew community of Newport in 1790, and to observe the first anniversary of the dedication of Touro Synagogue as a national historic shrine.

"Today, the United States leads in the struggle for a world free of tyranny and dictatorship," McCarthy added. "The test of strength between democracy and totalitarianism goes forward on every level of our national and international life. Yet, in the last analysis, it is a spiritual struggle for the dignity of all men under God, and as such demands from each of us a high sense of dedication. To overlook any violation of civil rights in our own backyard is to desert the cause of civilization and to risk the failure of all our hopes."

McCarthy, former regional director of the Social Security Board, called for a permanent federal commission on civil rights to implement the recommendations embodied in the report issued by the President's Committee on Civil Rights late in 1946.

Several hundred persons attended this first annual function of the Society of Friends of Touro Synagogue, and congratulatory messages were received from Gov. John O. Pastore; Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews; Dr. Nelson Glueck, president of Hebrew Union College, and many other individuals and organizations. "It is organizations like yours," read Governor Pastore's message, "that help keep alive the spirit of fraternity and love of neighbor that is conducive to a peaceful and democratic state and nation."

GJC Young Adults Plan Dinner Meeting

The Young Adults Division of the General Jewish Committee last night completed plans for a buffet-dinner meeting to be held at Ledgemont Country Club, Wednesday evening, Sept. 15.

Meeting at the home of Ronald Sopkin, co-chairman of the Initial Gifts Committee, officers and key workers in the division also laid the groundwork for an intensive one-day solicitation campaign to be held next month. The date of the one-day drive will be announced later, according to Jacob N. Temkin, chairman.

Mrs. Ronald Sopkin and Mrs. Leonard Chaset will be in charge of the Sept. 15 buffet supper at Ledgemont which will be patterned after the Initial Gifts dinner being staged by the Men's Division on Wednesday, Sept. 1.

Bernard E. Bell, co-chairman with Sopkin of the Initial Gifts Committee, announced that associate chairmen of the committee would include Peter Bardach, Miss Claire Ernstof, Leonard Chaset, Benjamin Pearlman, Henry Schrage, Milton Stallman and Mrs. Bell.

Ira Rakatansky is general chairman of the Y.A.D., assisted by Jacob N. Temkin, co-chairman.

Last year the Y.A.D. surpassed all expectations in raising a total of $25,000 in the GJC drive. No official quota has been set this year for the group, but it is known that leaders are confident of hitting the $40,000 mark before the end of the campaign.

200 Ragged, Emaciated DPs Land

NEW YORK—Two hundred ragged and undernourished DPs arrived last week with 46 repatriated Americans on the liner Swallow after a 10-day passage from Bremerhaven.

Capt. Elisha A. Cooper said that a medical examination of the displaced persons, most of them German Jews, showed that those aged 20 to 30 looked to be between 35 and 40.

The first three of 24 displaced educators engaged to teach at U. S. colleges arrived from DP camps in Germany. One of them, the Rev. Antanas Sidaravicius, who is to teach philosophy at Briarcliff College, had no clerical garb, but this will be supplied by the Catholic Welfare Conference.

Also among the passengers were Abraham Lilienthal, 62, and his wife, 53, who will live with their son Werner, 30, a clerk for the United Service for New Americans. Lilienthal was unaware his parents were coming here until last Friday, when he found their names in a list of 45 DPs which he had been asked to stencil.

British Weekly Scores Arabs' 'Rotten' Policy

LONDON—The Economist, influential British weekly which has been extremely critical of Zionist policy, this week strongly scored the Arab states for their failure to adequately cope with the Arab refugee problem.

If Arab society, the paper charged, "were anything but rotten, the Arab states would not be waiting for international charity to do something about" the 250,000 Arab refugees who fled Israeli territory. The Arab "ruling minority," the paper stressed, "go about this business in the same way as they fought in Palestine, without public spirit or personal sacrifice or common effort. And now they dare not tell their peoples what has happened."

Two Students
Fasting for Health

NEW YORK—Two chiropractic students from Manhattan sat and starved quietly in the midst of plenty on a farm in Rhinebeck, N. Y. All about them rose the odors of what they agreed was "the finest cooking in the world," but never a morsel passed their lips.

The pair are Aristid A. Seidel, 27, and Al Tannenbaum, 26. As of last Friday they had touched no food for 11 days and their sense of smell had become agonizingly acute.

But it was all in the interest of science and health. The two men want to find out whether fasting will clear up the skin condition with which Seidel is afflicted and whether it will relieve Tannenbaum's hay-fever allergy.

The two men did not purposely find a place where they would have to endure all kinds of tantalizing odors while conducting their experiment.

"It just happened," Tannen-

Too Cold Here, Asch
Moves to Miami

BRIDGEPORT, Conn.—Sholem Asch, controversial Jewish literary figure, said recently he has sold his Stamford, Conn., home because he and Mrs. Asch can't take the cold winters any longer.

He said he will make his home hereafter on Hibiscus Island, off Miami Beach, Fla.

Stamford residents for the past decade, the Asch's are familiar figures. Asch currently is working on a new book to be entitled, "The Life of Mary."

baum said. "The place was recommended to us as a quiet farm house. We didn't know then that they have the finest cooking in the world here. We haven't tasted a bite of it. But we expect to come back some other time and do justice to it."

The two students of the Chiropractic Institute of New York first heard about fasting to cure ailments last year when they met "a boy who had fasted 30 days on water alone."

Fantastic at First" "It seemed fantastic at first," Tannenbaum said. "We decided to investigate and we read all we could on the subject. We did some research for six months before we finally decided we could do it."

Seidel said that on the first day of their fast, he and his companion had four glasses of fruit juice. From then on they took only distilled water whenever they became thirsty. They felt no effect for three days.

"On the fourth and fifth day we felt a little giddy," Seidel said. "I had some backaches and a light feeling in my head. I couldn't sleep much. I had no hunger pangs. My tongue became heavily coated."

From the second day of the fast their temperatures dropped to 96 degrees, varying one degree either way. Their highest temperature, which they record three times a day, was 97.6, or one degree under normal. Their pulses fell from a normal 72 to a low of 46.

"The first few days are the hardest," Tannenbaum said. "You become listless at first, then you get a momentary gain in strength about four days later. We both feel pretty darn good now."

"We feel there's no harm whatsoever in this. We're rather amazed at what's going on with ourselves, considering we had never missed a meal before."

"So far I've had no symptoms of hay-fever even though the season for it is three days old now. Seidel's skin condition is better, but it's a little too soon to see whether the fast is helping."

Gen. Clay PraisesJDC Work in Germany

MUNICH—General Lucius D. Clay, commander-in-chief of the U. S. forces in Germany, in a letter to Samuel L. Haber, JDC director for the American zone of Germany, praised "the magnificent work which is being done here" by the Joint Distribution Committee in behalf of Jewish displaced persons and pledged continued cooperation "to the full" on the part of both the army and the military government.

General Clay assured JDC that the army and the military government aimed to assist JDC "not only to bring a better daily life to the Jewish people in Germany, but also to help prepare them for a future which will offer them freedom and peace."

Too Cold Here, Asch

NEW YORK—Two chiropractic students from Manhattan sat and starved quietly in the midst of plenty on a farm in Rhinebeck, N. Y. All about them rose the odors of what they agreed was "the finest cooking in the world," but never a morsel passed their lips.

The pair are Aristid A. Seidel, 27, and Al Tannenbaum, 26. As of last Friday they had touched no food for 11 days and their sense of smell had become agonizingly acute.

But it was all in the interest of science and health. The two men want to find out whether fasting will clear up the skin condition with which Seidel is afflicted and whether it will relieve Tannenbaum's hay-fever allergy.

The two men did not purposely find a place where they would have to endure all kinds of tantalizing odors while conducting their experiment.

"It just happened," Tannen-

baum said. "The place was recommended to us as a quiet farm house. We didn't know then that they have the finest cooking in the world here. We haven't tasted a bite of it. But we expect to come back some other time and do justice to it."

Fantastic at First"

"It seemed fantastic at first," Tannenbaum said. "We decided to investigate and we read all we could on the subject. We did some research for six months before we finally decided we could do it."

Seidel said that on the first day of their fast, he and his companion had four glasses of fruit juice. From then on they took only distilled water whenever they became thirsty. They felt no effect for three days.

"On the fourth and fifth day we felt a little giddy," Seidel said. "I had some backaches and a light feeling in my head. I couldn't sleep much. I had no hunger pangs. My tongue became heavily coated."

14 Convention of ZOA "Undemocratic" Says Zionist Insurgents' Journal

The group in control of the Zionist Organization of America conducted the recent Pittsburgh ZOA national convention in undemocratic fashion, says the latest issue of Zionist Issues, journal of the Committee for Progressive Zionism. The CPZ is a dissident group within the ZOA.

CPZ leaders include Charles J. Rosenblum, Pittsburgh; Harold J. Goldenberg, Minneapolis; Ezra Z. Shapiro, Cleveland; Rudolf G. Sonneborn, New York City; Joel Gross, Newark, N. J.

Zionist Issues charged that a CPZ request for a secret ballot in electing officers was overridden at the convention, resulting in rejection of coalition, sought by the dissidents; that election votes were counted by tellers consisting only of members of the ZOA staff; and that the re-elected ZOA president, Dr. Emanuel Neumann used intemperate language in a reply to a CPZ spokesman, Morris Margulies, and addressed the minority "with arrogance, self-righteousness and rancor."

The ZOA journal, New Palestine, carried an incomplete and inaccurate account of the convention, according to Zionist Issues. Only 923 delegates and 140 alternates were present, according to the Credential Committee—but The New Palestine stated after the convention that there were "2,000 delegates and alternates," and the latter figure is a "deliberate misstatement," Zionist Issues continued.

The ZOA administration has been moving more and more toward sympathy for reaction, Zionist Issue said.

Zionist Issues added that its group, CPZ, has "opened a window, through which free thought will flow to the better health of the ZOA and the State of Israel."

British "Caution" Cost Bulgarian Jews' Lives

NEW YORK—Britain might have saved thousands of Jews but considerations of caution prevailed over every tentative plan in that direction, it was revealed in the Aug. 14 issue of Colliers' publication of "The Secret Papers" of the late Harry L. Hopkins.

Disclosing that Secretary of State Cordell Hull had discussed the problem with the then British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Hopkins wrote that Hull pressed Eden for an answer to the problem of the 70,000 Jews in Bulgaria.

Eden replied that "We should move very cautiously about offering to take all Jews out of a country like Bulgaria" because if that were done "the Jews of the world will be wanting us to make similar offers in Poland and Germany," and "Hitler might well take us up on any such offer."

Eden said Britain was ready to take 60,000 Jews to Palestine but the transportation problem and the fear of infiltration of German agents made the plan "extremely difficult."

Babe Ruth --
The American Story

For almost two weeks the nation has been made aware of the passing of Babe Ruth and of the contribution he made to our sports society. The facts that he hit more and longer home runs than any other man in history, and that he had an unbounding love for kids are well known.

But there was something more to the Babe than the mere hitting of homers and a fondness for children. Probably all of us have heard or read stories about him by men who started by saying: "Babe was not only a great ball player, he was ..." And then they bogged down in their own thoughts as they tried desperately to put into words what they felt about him.

I have been thinking of all this for a solid week and I think I possibly may have the key to the Babe's life, the reason why he had such a tremendous hold on the people of the world. Even in countries where baseball is unknown or little played Babe Ruth is a figure symbolic of America; and there must be a reason when a reigning queen of Europe can ask, during a visit here, to meet the Babe; and for that queen to be utterly undisturbed and un insulted when the Bambino, in customary Ruthian style, forgets about the appointment because the hunting is good that day.

The lesson that Babe Ruth taught and the heritage he left behind make up, in my mind, a story that is entirely fitting in a Jewish or any other sectarian publication.

The American Ideal

Babe Ruth was not just a man but an ideal. The Babe was the United States from start to finish. He was our national history and our tradition, and there are no two better examples of this than his love for kids and his relations with his fellow man.

In the year 1948, at the conclusion of the Jewish year 5708, the world is still far from permanent peace and racial "tolerance". FEPC legislation is our newest weapon; yet it is not accepted in many areas and is not working too well in others—while the fact that we need such things as FEPC is a sad commentary on our intelligence and statehood.

With Babe Ruth there was no racial problem, no need for legal means to rid the nation of discrimination. A Catholic himself, he got along equally well with men of all religions and colors. It is known that some of his friends were negroes. To Babe Ruth there was nothing embarrassing or unusual in associating with negroes. How many of us can say the same, and say it truthfully?

Yet, according to our constitution, still considered one of the most remarkable documents in the world's history. Babe Ruth only acted as every American should act.

How many of us could ever be so sincerely unimpressed with social position, royalty and wealth as was the Babe? To him the ordinary guy who couldn't afford to see a ball game very often was just as important as the queen of the Netherlands. And isn't that the American story?

Babe and the Kids

How many of us have the tremendous and unusual patience with kids that Babe Ruth had up to his dying day? Clean kids, dirty kids; polite kids, ill-mannered kids; rich kids, poor kids; Catholic kids, Jewish kids, negro kids; any other kind of kids—they were all just one thing to the Babe—kids.

Possibly one reason for the manner in which many kids grow up is that adults too often have no time for them. They answer questions up to a certain point, they demand a certain dignity from them, they ignore them, they leave them to their own devices at the very time in life when these kids should be loved, appreciated, encouraged, shown that they belong.

With the Babe each kid was important in his own right as a human being—and so he was deserving of their love. And the kids loved him as they have never loved another.

The people of France, of Britain, of any other country did not worship him because he was a ballplayer. Neither did the people of the United States. No other national figure in the field of sports, and too darned few in any line of endeavor, no matter how good they were or how vibrant a personality they had, ever affected us as did Babe Ruth. To me, there is only one answer. Babe Ruth was our finest symbol of the United States of America, our shining light of how one man should act toward all others.

That, I believe, is what they all wanted to say about Babe Ruth when they said: "He was not only

Will they mark you ABSENT?

THE BOOK OF JEWISH HISTORY is a big one. Its covers are old and worn. Its pages are stained with tears. Its words are full of heroism and courage. We read it with pride.

But do you realize, today, that it is your hand that is writing history?

What you do will decide what the pages of 1948 will say.

In the centuries to come, when the history of this era is written, will it be a chapter of futility or a chapter of triumph?

It's up to you.

This is the year of decision for the Jews of the world.

This is the year of hope and opportunity.

It's the year when the gates of Palestine have been opened. It's the year when a flame of hope has swept the DP camps of Europe. It's the year when America has opened its sheltering arms to thousands.

What you do this year, what you give this year, will decide the destiny of a people.

Triumph or failure—which will it be?

The decision is up to you.

When the returns are in, will your conscience be clear?

This year the United Jewish Appeal must have $250,000,000 minimum, for the programs of the Joint Distribution Committee, the United Palestine Appeal, and the United Service for New Americans.

This is no ordinary year. You cannot give on an ordinary basis. Too much is at stake.

When you write your check, write it BIG—as big as this moment of history.
