Israeli commandos are starting off in a truck convoy that recently ran food through strong Egyptian lines to isolated Israeli settlements in the Negev. Egyptian positions that opened fire, in violation of the truce, were silenced and the road is now opened. Reprinted from N. Y. Star

Plans for New Miriam Hospital Completed

Construction work on the new Miriam Hospital probably will begin next summer and the building should be ready for occupancy by the end of 1950.

This was the hope expressed by Henry Turoff of the firm of Barker and Turoff, architects, in an interview with the Herald Monday.

The New Miriam will be located on the block formerly occupied by the old Jewish Orphanage, bordering Summit and Highland Avenues, Fifth and Sixth Streets. When completed, the edifice will house a 100 bed hospital that will rank with the finest and most modern in the city.

Boring and soil tests have been completed, Turoff said, and a Government grant is expected shortly. Preliminary plans have been worked out and studied by the architects, and it is expected that the working plans and specifications will be started within a month.

Church and State Strictly Separate In Israel, Nation's Leaders Explain In Interviews

WASHINGTON—Israel is not, and never intends to be, a theocracy, according to three religious leaders of that country who were interviewed by Prof. Joseph Patal, prominent Israeli author, for The National Jewish Monthly, published by B'nai B'rith. The article will appear in The NJM's forthcoming January issue.

The principal interview was with Rabbi Judah L. Fishman, Minister of Religion in the Israeli cabinet. What he told Prof. Patal was approved and corroborated by the Chief Rabbi of Tel Aviv and the Chief Rabbi of Tel Aviv Sephardic Community.

The NJM had asked Prof. Patal to ascertain the facts in view of opinions expressed in this country that Israel may be a theocracy because it has a Ministry of Religion. Other rumors spread here, some of them through the writings of so distinguished an author as Arthur Koestler, have been to the effect that in Israel a person's citizenship is endangered if he does not observe Orthodox Jewish law; that Israel has no medical school because of religious prohibition concerning dissection of corpses; that public schools are governed by religious dictators, etc.

To all these reports, Rabbi Fishman issued a flat denial.

"There is no ground whatsoever for these fears," he declared. "We will not rule the State with the power of religion, but we will use the spirit of religion to uplift our people and our land and to raise its place as a moral force among the nations of the world. We will not force our way into the private life of the individual, either by religious law or religious taxation; but we do want to see to it that the taxpayers' money will not be used against religion."

Labor Zionists Plan Chanukah Festival

The annual Chanukah celebration sponsored by the Poale Zion, the Jewish National Workers Alliance and the Labor Zionist Council will be held this Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Temple Emanuel. Mrs. Yehudith Ginsburg, a member of the military government council of Jerusalem and head of the Nurses Federation affiliated with Histadrut, will be guest speaker. A movie, "Freedom Bound", made in Israel, will be shown.

The committee members in charge are Max Berman, Arthur Korman, Solomon Lightman, Isadore Wuraffic, Nathan Izeman and Harry Waxman.

The affair is open to the public.

LZOA Offers to Pick Up Food for Israel

Israeli Cut Egypt's Link to Gaza

TEL AVIV—Egypt's 40-mile coastal corridor to Gaza is either cut or so closely under Israeli ground artillery fire it is unlikely the Egyptians will be able to hold or even reinforce it.

The southern fortress of Gaza appears to have been cut off or left in peril of land artillery fire and coastal blockade.

(The Egyptian Ministry of War said in Cairo that Egyptian lines in southern Palestine are safe. Another communique said more than 500 Israeli attackers were killed and two Israeli planes shot down when Egyptian forces repulsed an attack on Faluja, east of Gaza).

An Israeli statement said Jewish fighter planes intercepted six Egyptian planes apparently trying to drop supplies to the Egyptians trapped in the Faluja pocket. One was seen crashing and the others were driven off, it said.

Food for Israel Is Fee for Dance

One can of food for the Food for Israel campaign was the admission fee to a dance sponsored by the David Ben Gurion chapter of Habonim last Wednesday evening in the Jewish Community Center. A program of professional talent was arranged by Bunny Fain and Joseph Teverow.

List Telephones For Donors to Call

A pick-up service to assist in the collection of "Food for Israel" has been established, Norman Alper, chairman of the eight day campaign which ends this Sunday, January 2, said in a reminder to the public this week.

Alper urged all residents of the Jewish community to make arrangements to have their gifts picked up by representatives of the Henry Burt Chapter, Labor Zionists of America, if they cannot make delivery by themselves.

The failure of the drive to gain the required momentum during its first four days was attributed directly to the widespread impression that all prospective donors were required to deliver their gifts in person.

The Henry Burt Chapter will send someone on request to call for the canned foods of those who would like to make contributions toward the drive but are unable to get them to the collection depots.

It was emphasized, however, that while contributors may call the Chapter at any time, pick ups will be made only on Sunday, January 2.

A call to any of these numbers will bring a representative of the Henry Burt Chapter to your home on Sunday for your canned food gifts:

East Side, PLantations 5543; Smith Hill and North End, PLantations 1078; South Providence, JACKson 4788.

Israel Professor to Address Technion

Professor Benjamin Amira, head of the Department of Mathematics of the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, will be the guest of the American Technion Society at a meeting to be held Tuesday at 8 o'clock at the Sheraton-Biltmore.

Prof. Amira, one of the world's outstanding mathematicians, studied at Goettingen, a center of mathematics, under the great Professor Landau. When the Hebrew University was founded in 1925, Chaim Weizmann and Professor Landau invited Professor Amira to establish the Institute of Mathematics, which he has headed ever since, and under his leadership the Institute has achieved a high standard of mathematical teaching and research.

"Science and Israel" is the topic of Prof. Amira's talk, and he will answer questions on science, industrial development, mathematics, and nuclear fission. Two of his friends, originally from Israel, now teaching at Harvard, Professors Bergman and Schissler, will be at the meeting and have agreed to join in the discussion

if called upon.

The meeting is open to members and friends and there is no admission fee. Interested persons are invited to ask questions at the informal discussion.

2 Hospital to Begin Construction Soon

Completion of the plans and specifications is now scheduled for late spring and, barring any unforeseen developments, it is hoped to begin actual construction during the summer of 1949.

Describing the new hospital, when completed, as "modern as possible within the appropriation—and second to none in quality", Turoff said the structure will be double the size of the present hospital in beds and quadruple its present size in area. Located on a hilltop overlooking the city, in a quiet residential zone, the new site is termed far superior to the Miriam of today and as good a location as that of any hospital in the city.

The new hospital will be completely equipped and will have private and semi-private rooms, operating and delivery rooms, X-Ray rooms and "all necessary appurtenances." It will be of fire-proof construction with masonry walls and reinforced concrete frame.

The work will actually be in two parts—complete renovation and modernization of the building that now stands on the site; and construction of a new main building, with three stories and a basement, and designed to take another story in the future, should further construction become necessary.

The present structure, which will be "like a new building," has two stories and a basement. Fronting on Summit Avenue, it will provide the main entrance to the Miriam and will be connected with the new building on all floors. In it will be located the outpatient department, administrative offices, living rooms, lounges, libraries, kitchens and wards. The new building, of course, will house wards and medical and surgical departments, etc.

While present plans do not provide for nurses' quarters, it is hoped to build a home for nurses in the near future. The plot contains sufficient land for that purpose.

Construction of the new Miriam Hospital will fulfill a need long felt in the community. While the project was undertaken several years ago, lack of funds compelled a postponement of the work until last July, when the hospital committee at last was able to see its way clear financially to give the go-ahead sign to the architects.

Members of the Miriam Hospital Building Committee are Samuel Shore, chairman; Jacob Temkin, vice chairman; Milton C. Sapinsley, Max L. Grant, Alter Boyman, Mrs. Archie Albert, Bernard Goodman, Dr. Joseph Smith, Harry Schwartz, Joseph Pulver, Albert Rosen, Mrs. Joseph J. Seefer, Samuel Kaplan, Alex Rumpfer, Max Winograd, Abe C. Fine, Alvin A. Sopkin, Charles C. Brown, Samuel Temkin, Walter I. Sundlun, Henry Levaur, Joseph Ress, Benjamin Brier, Sidney Kane, Arthur Darman, Mrs. Oscar Klemmer and Joseph Finkle.

Curtain and Reilly of Boston are the hospital consultants.

Beth El Bowling

By JACK APPELBAUM

With eight weeks of bowling behind us, Milt Weissman's team holds top spot firmly with a five point margin. The next eight teams are closely bunched, indicative of a tight pennant drive. Al Rosen's team broke their own record of high team three by posting a score of 1846. Al himself rolled a neat 368.

I cannot let the season go by without making an attempt to describe Walter Strauss' bowling form. Walter starts a respectable distance back of the foul line, holds the ball straight out in front of him and sights along his right arm. Having centered his aim on the right side of number one pin, he gets a flying start, closes his eyes and lets go. His momentum usually carries him well past the foul line and he ends up with his right foot in the gutter and his arm sticking straight up in the air, like the Statue of Liberty. Then, while the ball is rolling down the alley, he performs some terrific gyrations with his (you should pardon the expression) posterior, very much like a hot rumba, steering the ball all the way down. Crash! What happened? Shucks, a chop! With a pathetic look of pain and disgust that plainly says, "How do you like that for larceny?", he picks up another ball and goes through the performance again.

Olympic Bowling

- Auxiliary -

By TEDI GREEN

This week is bargain week—two for the price of one—as the gals bowled a double-header, but still didn't tire the Levines enough to stop them from taking six points—four from the Zawatskys in the first half of the evening and two from the Steingolds in the latter half.

The onrushing Hochmans took three points from the faltering Steingold five. Esther Blonder had a neat 269 for total pinfall, and Dotty Strashnick's 107 and 288 were high single and high three.

High single string honors were won by Helen Lehrer and Ida Bernstein, who tied with 101, and a high three mark of 289 was rolled by Estelle Cohen; team honors were taken home by the Steingold keglers who established a new single string record of 488, beating by 2 pins the former mark, and also had best total pinfall with 1256.

Tribute to a Scholar

In an era when the dramatic events of the moment absorb the interest of the Jewish people, it becomes supremely important that we do not allow them to obscure the eternal values which have been our guide through the centuries. The deeds of diplomats and soldiers are stirring, but no less stirring in any respect is the spirit of dedication which moves the scholars who are striving, in the quiet of their studies, to advance our understanding of the ideals of Judaism and to interpret it as a living faith for the Jewish people all over the world.

Dean of all those who have devoted their lives to seeking out the eternal truths of Judaism is Professor Louis Ginzberg, who celebrates his 75th birthday this week. Since 1902, Professor Ginzberg has been a member of the faculty of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, and for more than half a century he has been recognized as the foremost Talmudist of his generation.

The host of spiritual leaders of American Jewry who studied under Professor Ginzberg and enjoyed his personal association will always revere him not only as a great teacher but as a great man as well. However, it is not alone Professor Ginzberg's students who are familiar with the heights of his scholarly attainments. Every scholar, Jewish and non-Jewish alike, who is interested in Judaica, acknowledges a debt to his illumination of the teaching of the Talmud.

Professor Ginzberg is a lineal descendant of the Gaon of Vilna and throughout his life has been guided by the same ideal—that man's highest duty is the study of Torah. In this way he shares with his blessed ancestors the joy of having brought to us a deeper appreciation and a sounder understanding of the role of Jewish scholarship in Jewish life.

Every Jew in America who cherishes our tradition of study will wish for Professor Ginzberg many more years of health and scholarly achievement.

Britain Buys Israeli Citrus Crop

The short news item in last week's paper telling that Great Britain had negotiated a deal for the purchase of 75 per cent of the current citrus crop of Israel, explains Israel's objection to the boycott being urged strongly even today by some in the U. S.

Obviously the Israeli citrus crop has to be marketed somewhere if the economy of the nation is not to suffer. Great Britain happens to be the logical customer.

In this situation is a fine lesson.

Israel will have to make its own decisions. With the best intentions and with all the good will, it will still be impossible for U. S. Jewish groups or individuals to attempt to give the answers to the problems of the Israeli government and people. This is a lesson parents have to learn about their children, once they take off on their own, and it's a lesson the U. S. Zionist is learning too.

By BERNARD SEGAL

I have before me the fifty odd issues of the Herald for 1948. On the pages of this newspaper are recorded the credits and the debits of our communal bookkeeping. We have gained a little in some areas, and lost in others. On the whole balance sheet for the past year is not a very impressive one. Just ordinary plugging along in the day by day business of managing our communal household and providing for the needs of our common causes.

Those organizations and groups that hitched their wagons to the star of Israel had a busy year. We find them protesting participation in the early part of the year, urging the establishment of a republic of Israel later on, celebrating the birth of Israel, and saluting the new state till the time of this writing. But their activities were not limited to meetings and celebrations only. They backed all these public demonstrations by the most unprecedented financial backing any cause has ever enjoyed. Particularly impressive are the efforts of the two women Zionist organizations, Hadassah and the Pioneers.

The General Jewish Committee announced with deserved pride the record breaking sum of over a million dollars raised in 1947 for overseas needs. That was early in January. But at the year's end that record has been exceeded by twenty five percent in the 1948 drive.

In a February issue of the Herald is a picture of a fine spacious building that was to be the home of the Jewish Convalescent Home of Rhode Island. That, alas, is now on the debit side of the ledger. Committees were appointed, funds were solicited, plans were made, and hopes were running high. All that remains of the whole effort, at this moment, are accusations, unpleasant insinuations, hints of blunders, and deep disappointment.

The month of May brightens the pages of the Herald with stories and pictures of that unforgettable SOS drive. In one Sunday, a well planned and expertly executed city-wide canvass netted over one hundred tons of Supplies for Overseas Survivors. All of it was collected, sorted, packed, and crated, and shipped in one day by volunteer workers.

Pawtucket conducted a similar SOS drive which brought in over twenty tons of food, medications, and clothing.

Pawtucket and Central Falls are much in the news during the entire year. Of outstanding value is the establishment of the Blackstone Valley Community Council. It is similar in structure to the General Jewish Committee of Providence, and yet is a step ahead of it. The Blackstone Valley Council is assuming greater local responsibilities than our G.J.C. does. In its allocations of funds are included the needs of local charitable and welfare institutions in the Blackstone Valley. The Council reserves the right to grant permission for fund raising campaigns or to deny them. The arrangement seems to be satisfactory at the end of the first year of the Council regime.

The Summer season brought some good news for our youngsters who attended Camp Jori and the Centerland Day camp. Jori, at Point Judith, added two bungalows and made other improvements for the accommodation of three hundred campers, at least one hundred more than was possible with previous facilities. Camp Centerland has purchased a twenty acre location for a permanent Day camp, at Hope Village, near the Scituate reservoir. A complete camp program of sports, fun, and recreation was given to over two hundred children during the day. This addition is to be entered on the credit side of the ledger for the Community Center.

Unfortunately, the debit side claims some entries, too. The Center has lost the very capable and very devoted Director of Youth activities, Charles Browdy. What with difficulties of finding someone to take his place, added to other obstacles, the Center has not been able to develop a full program of activities at the opening of the season. Neither are there any signs promising the long hoped-for day when the Center will talk about a new home, a larger home, with greater facilities to fill the greater needs of the community. Not that the plans have been completely abandoned. No, they are still very much uppermost in the minds of the Board members, but the realization of these plans have not been much advanced during the past year.

M-Day, on that bright September Sunday, stands out vividly. One will not forget so soon the long queue of 500 women beginning at the entrance to the Narragansett Hotel, standing four deep along the stairs, and ending at the lobby where a squad of workers issued lists, made assignments, distributed cards, and arranged transportation. In one Sunday, the Women's Division working towards the goal of the 1948 drive of the General Jewish Committee, covered the city by means of a huge voluntary taxi service, and solicited contributions from the housewives. This M-Day, which the Jewish Women of Providence designated as the Mothers Mobilize for Mercy day, has attracted nation-wide attention, and will no doubt serve as a model for other cities to follow. What a pity that all this fine effort must still be expended on helping the victims of a war and of human cruelty, instead of creative work.

How well could we use such SOS days, and M-Days, and Million Dollar drives to build a bigger hospital, a new Center, a greater Home! What wonderful things could we do if only we could divert part of our energy and effort toward creating educational institutes and cultural foundations!

But to end on a happier mood, let us salute Cranston! The new, young, energetic group out there which asserts itself as an independent community. The year 1948 will go down in the annals of Cranston as the year when the first step was made toward a definite, concrete creation of a community unit. At the High-Holiday season, while Cranstonians were still worshipping in a hired hall, they inaugurated a drive for a permanent center dedicated to the needs of a community. The building will house a synagogue, a school, a recreation center, and will be the focal point of all the activities of the city.

We wish them good luck. And a happy New Year to All!

Old Timers Win From Center Alumni 44-43

Providing one of the biggest thrills and upsets in basketball history at the Center, a group of Old Timers, composed of former court luminaries of the JCC, defeated the current Alumni team 44-43 on a game-ending foul shot by Morris Zarchen before a packed house on Saturday evening, December 18.

The Old Timers, playing without the services of their ace, Harry Platt, Brown University immortal, who fractured a finger while working out in preparation for the game, turned in an inspired performance. Trailing by one point at each of the quarters, the veterans, many of whom have been away from the game for several years, refused to fade in the stretch and matched the favored Alumni basket for basket throughout a torrid last quarter during which the lead changed hands several times.

The Old Timers maintained a fast pace during the last quarter, when they overcame a three point deficit and forged into a 43-42 lead in the late stages. Milt Price's foul conversion tied the score with a minute remaining and set the stage for Zarchen's shot on a foul called as the game ended.

Sonny Samdperil of the Old Timers was high scorer with 16 points, and Zarchen tallied 15. For the Alumni, Price scored 13 and Lowell Leonard 10. Virtually the entire Old Timers squad stood out. It included, besides Samdperil and Zarchen, George Katz, Morry Lenz, Hank Darman, Maxwell Waldman, Ben Abrams, Ben Weiner and Joe Green.

In a preliminary game, the Hopeites defeated the Comettes 18-16 in another close contest that was featured by the work of Gloria Norman, who scored all of her team's nine baskets. Arlene Berman, despite a handicap, starred for the Comettes.

Incidentally, the winning Hopeites were composed of other Comette members and two members of the Shalshlets.

Rabbi William Braude officiated.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Albert Taber, the bride wore candlelight satin designed with a yoke of mousseline-de-sole with a bertha embroidered with seed pearls and a full skirt, en train. A circular veil fell from a juliet cap of seed pearls and she carried a prayer book marked with orchids and stephanotis.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Charles Kaufman of Worcester, was attired in Nile green mousseline-de-sole and her headdress and bouquet were of yellow roses.

Linda-Mae Cohen, flower girl, was dressed in white dotted Swiss and net over pink taffeta with a wreath of sweetheart roses. She carried a Colonial bouquet.

Olympic Bowling

By SIDNEY GREEN

Last Monday night was a cold December eve, but you couldn't prove it by the Levine five, which burned up the alleys and the Lobels to take four points, and high team single for the night with a 519 string, as well as clinching the first half championship.

The Gordons took four points from the Avens and assured themselves of second place, while the Rodyns took just the point they needed (from the Jacobsons) to clinch third place. The Lobels and Cohens will have to battle next week for fourth spot and this promises to be an interesting pin fight.

Howie Cohen took high single honors for the night with 136, and also rolled the high total pinfall of 345. The Gordon's 1513 was team tops for the night.

A very joyous Chanukah to the friends and families of all Olympic Club members.

Emanuel Bowling

By JACK PLATKIN

The last four teams in the standing each took four points last Monday night, and this is no surprise, but perhaps an indication that the boys are starting to move; and they should as there are many good bowlers in this lot, young fellows like Davey Temkin, Al Chase, Chernick, Ross, Ed Lang, Woller and Charley Fradin, who is going to pass his brother Barney's average. These young fellows mixed in with a few old timers as Leo "Radio" Miller, Jack Broadman, Mike Miller, Irv Chase, are enough to make it hot for any of the front runner teams.

Some good scores were Dwares 352, Lang 365, Lipson 356, Zachs 340, Ettine 344, and Billy Botvin 230, the latter which I purposely wanted to mention because with the passing of a little time Billy Friends of Minna Dorn will be glad to know that she is coming along nicely after her recent operation.

Many Thanks

The George Grays wish to thank their many friends for their best wishes and congratulations. The Grays were swamped with telegrams on December 25th, their 22nd wedding anniversary.

Holiday Travelers

Vacation time finds many young people visiting. To mention a few... Helen Rosenthal is spending a few weeks in Richmond, Virginia... Suzanne Krause, from New York, is the guest of the Jack Gertz's... Lois Siskind is in New York. She called her Dad, Samuel Siskind, to wish him a happy birthday... Myra Lowenthal is staying with Ardean Dress. Myra's a "New Joiseyite"... Howard Rosen from Montreal, Canada is the guest of Larry Gordon... Wow!

Anniversaries

The Saul Finkelsteins celebrated their sixth wedding anniversary last Friday with friends—first with cocktails at their home, then on to an evening of dancing.

Friends were wishing the Norman Feinbergs anniversary congratulations last week. The couple celebrated their 17th anniversary Monday.

Secret of Popularity

The home of the Lewis Yarlas' has become the meeting place of all the folks on Byfield Street. The reason?—a television set!

GJC Victory Celebration January 19

A combined meeting-dance, tentatively titled "A Tribute to Our Workers," will ring down the final curtain on the "Year of Destiny" fund-raising campaign of the General Jewish Committee of Providence.

The closing celebration will be held Wednesday evening, Jan 19, at the ballroom of the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel. All workers and contributors to the drive are being extended invitations to attend, it was announced this week by Alvin A. Sopkin, campaign chairman, and Archibald Silverman, GJC president.

Praise Workers

"The affair will, of course, mark the formal closing of this year's campaign in behalf of the United Jewish Appeal. But, more than that, it primarily will be in the nature of a stirring tribute to the hundreds of volunteer workers whose sincerity, enthusiasm and tireless efforts made it possible for greater Providence to raise more than a million dollars for this most vital of all charitable causes," Sopkin and Silverman emphasized in their statement.

As this week's Herald went to press, the drive's total had reached the respectable level of $1,122,000 and GJC officials were hopeful that it might reach the $1,135,000 mark before the night of the celebration.

The January 19 affair will be preceded by a brief speaking program in the ballroom after which chairs will be removed for entertainment, music and dancing. There will be no solicitations of funds that evening, GJC officials stressed.

As preliminary work began this week on the tabulation of names for the GJC's annual year book, Sopkin once again urged all who have not yet made either a pledge or a gift to the 1948 campaign to do so within the next few days by calling headquarters at 203 Strand Building in downtown Providence. A phone call to GA 4111 will prove sufficient for inclusion of their names in the year book, he pointed out.

JFCS Aids 433 Families; Temkin Honored

Joseph Galkin, executive director of the Jewish Family and Children's Service, reviewing the agency's work in 1948 at the 20th anniversary celebration of the organization at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel Tuesday night, reported that 433 families, comprising 1514 individuals, were helped during the year. A total of 57 child care cases were handled and there has been an average of 11 children in foster homes.

Jacob S. Temkin, retiring president, was presented with a scroll, expressing grateful recognition of his 10 years of service, and lauding his "devotion to the cause of helping the underprivileged, his deep appreciation of the importance of high professional standards in social service, his desire to make the services of the agency available to all in the Jewish community, and his positive and affirmative attitude toward Jewish values."

The scroll, given by the officers and directors of the agency, was presented on their behalf by Mrs. Edmund J. Waldman.

Alter Boyman was elected president at the meeting and Mr. Temkin was named honorary president, an honor he shares with Arthur J. Levy, president during the agency's first decade.

Other officers named are: Max Kestenman, first vice president; Louis Fain, second vice president; Charles C. Brown, treasurer; Edmund Wexler, secretary; Leo Weiss, assistant secretary.

Beth-David Plans Officer Installation

The Congregation Beth David Men's Club held their annual election of officers on December 9 and the following slate was named:

Lester Aptel, president; Harry Rubin, vice president; Milton Sherman, treasurer; John Berger, recording secretary; John Fishman, corresponding secretary; Leo Levine, sergeant-at-arms.

Elected to the Board of Directors were William Bishoff, Louis Covinsky, George Gilbert, Aaron Gilstein, William Goldstein, William Kanopkian and Alfred Ventsky.

Installation of officers will take place at a special meeting Thursday, January 6.

SYD COHEN:

Twelve Months and Three Weeks

According to the calendar, this is the day to think about that big New Year's party. A closer look reveals that it is time to look back through the year now drawing to a close and see what happened—and then to make resolutions for the new year.

By stretching this review back as far as December 12, 1947 it is possible to include the entire history of this column, which made its first appearance on that date. And that is the logical place for this essay to start.

Quoting from that first column: "... we hope to revive interest and participation in more sports activities ... and to aid in the revival of organized Jewish sports in this area." And the closing paragraph of the January 2 column: "I want to see an organized Jewish league this year—in every sport possible. And to assist in creating it is my New Year's resolution."

Well—some of my happiest moments of the entire year stemmed from the fact that ideas such as those quoted above were picked up by the community and brought into actual existence. One year ago, as of December 31, 1947, there was no organized athletic competition among us, except for basketball at the Center, and intracenter club bowling and the like. A softball league was a dream—a football league ridiculous.

Yet, after all these years of lethargy and inaction, it required only the first faint smell of spring to bring together a group of men and boys—and suddenly we had a softball league, and sponsors, and equipment. The league did not run like a clock, of course. It was started out of nothing, just a few weeks before play began, and there was no time and no experience to cushion our jump into such an organized activity. Regardless of that, the league prospered and the comment, as far as these ears are concerned, has been unanimous that this year's experience will stand us in good stead in 1949 and that the league will benefit as a result. In other words, comments are on a positive level.

On a more limited scale, the same is true of touch football. There we had no sponsors and no more equipment than a football; yet, all the teams intend to play next year.

1948 also saw an increase in the number of bowling leagues among both men and women. The advent of the winter season has brought a more aggressive basketball season at the Center—one on a wider community basis.

All in all, the trend in the year now racing toward the finish line was upward. The eagerness and willingness of the fellows and clubs to take part in the new sports program provides the best index for forecasting how far we can go in the future.

Crystal Gazing

So much for past accomplishments. What may we expect for 1949? To begin with, a bigger and better softball league, with the confidence of a season of play under its collective belt. The league should begin to meet and make plans just about the time the major leaguers pack their grips and head South or West. I look for at least an eight team senior and an eight team junior division—and I wouldn't be at all surprised to see either or both go to 10 or 12 teams.

Football, too, should go to eight clubs. I still think that one administrative set-up should handle both sports. Perhaps that will come about, too.

In the past I have mentioned that the establishment of a baseball (in addition to softball) league is a pet idea of mine. I firmly believe we should have both. So you may expect to see that idea expounded in future columns.

One closing comment. The column has tried very hard to keep an ear close to the ground, to determine what the sports public thinks and what it wants. Comments received in that regard have been very helpful and will continue to be welcome.

I believe we may justly look with pride on our accomplishments of the past year—and view our probable future with anticipation and optimism.

Happy New Year!

Beth Israel Bowling

By SAUL HODOSH

One of the most difficult feats of bowling was performed by "Abie" Robrish this past week when he hit one on a spare and then brilliantly maneuvered to get one in the box.

With four weeks left to complete the first half of the year's competition, Connecticut, with its two stylists, Morse and Rosenberg, hold first place by one game over Harvard.

High three went to Hy Wasserman as he also took a share of high single with 120. Steiner shared high single at 120 and turned in three nice strings for 324. Jack Epstein showed up with 325 for 3 and one good string of 118, and Al Abrams also managed to hit that mark for one string.

R. W. AZA Wins Center Stunt Nite

A stunt presented by Roger Williams AZA was declared the winner of the second annual Stunt Nite program held Sunday evening at the Jewish Community Center before an audience of more than 200. The same group won the competition last year and will gain permanent possession of the prize cup if it achieves another triumph.

The Grenadiers, donors of the cup, were the runners-up. In all, five skits were presented. They were judged by Miss Arlene Summer, Herald columnist; Miss Eunice Woolf of Club 65, and Bob LaChance of WHIM. Peter K. Rosedale arranged the program.
