Elliot Roosevelt to Open GJC Drive

ELLIOT ROOSEVELT

Key Speaker at Initial Gifts Affair

Elliot Roosevelt, second son, aide and confidante of the late president, and noted author and radio commentator in his own right, will be the principal speaker at the Initial Gifts Dinner of the General Jewish Committee of Providence, Inc., it was announced this week by Alvin A. Sopkin, campaign chairman.

The dinner, which traditionally marks the official launching of the GJC's fund-raising drive in behalf of the United Jewish Appeal and three-score other beneficiary agencies, will be staged at the new Ledgemont Country Club in Seekonk, Mass., Monday evening, Sept. 12.

Gov. John O. Pastore and Mayor Dennis J. Roberts of Providence will be among the other guests seated at the head table who will address the meeting briefly. Reservations have been made for several hundred key workers and officials.

Widely known as a staunch friend of the new Jewish state of Israel, Elliot Roosevelt is expected to make a plea in behalf of the $250,000,000 goal of the United Jewish Appeal.

Three Point Program

The 1949 campaign, in support of the "greatest homecoming in history," has, for its program, the emptying of Jewish DP camps in Europe, the bringing of 250,000 homeless Jews into Israel, and the settlement of large numbers of refugees in the United States.

Roosevelt's deep insight into the tremendous problems confronting the new Jewish homeland is supplemented by his first-hand knowledge of the most important events of the past decade.

He was with his father when the Atlantic Pact was signed, as well as at Casablanca, Cairo and Teheran. His recent best-seller "As He Saw It," gives an intimate account of many of the behind-

No Tax on Kosher Meat, Says Lieberman; Plan New Controls

To Issue Seals of Approval to Butchers, Delicatessens Under Waad Supervision

Philip Lieberman, president of the Waad Hachashruth of Providence, this week denied that the organization planned a tax of five cents a pound on kosher meat shipped to Providence from outside the state. Butchers in Providence had feared that if the tax were imposed it would raise the retail price of kosher meat 15 cents a pound and would harm their business.

Mr. Lieberman, in clarifying the situation, made the following statement: "Because the Waad Hachashruth receives payment for cattle slaughtered only in Rhode Island and because of the decrease in meat consumption this summer because of the heat and declining economic conditions, the Waad Hachashruth was running at a loss and was unable to meet its payroll commitments. In order to compensate for this loss in income, the board of directors voted an annual fee of $50 to be paid by each kosher butcher shop. This would enable the organization to meet the estimated deficit of $1100. There is no truth to the story being circulated of a tax on meat."

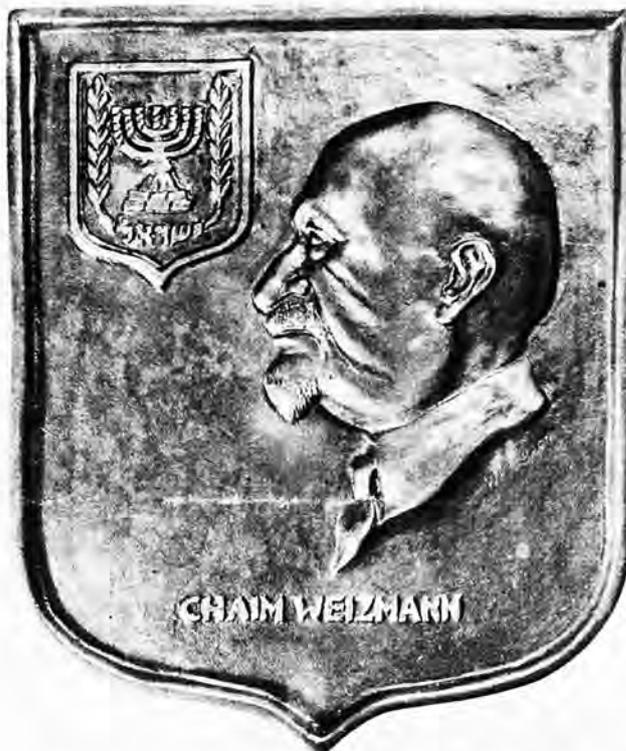

Another decision of the Waad Hachashruth was made public this week. Effective shortly, each kosher butcher shop or delicatessen under the supervision of the Waad Hachashruth, will receive a seal which must be displayed prominently and which will be the public's guarantee that the products sold in that store or shop are kosher. A different seal will be issued each three months which will permit closer supervision of the products sold. "We are tightening up on the sale of kosher products in Providence," Mr. Lieberman said. "And these are the first steps towards that end. The public must be protected against unscrupulous individuals who have misrepresented the products they are offering to the Jews in Providence."

Bulletin

Faye Emerson, noted stage, screen and radio star and wife of Elliott Roosevelt, will be guest speaker at the $100 minimum event of the Women's Division of the General Jewish Committee, to be held Tuesday, September 13 at the New Ledgemont Country Club.

Miss Valerie Stone, writer, radio commentator and wife of Stefan Heym, author, will appear on the program with Miss Emerson.

Local Sculptor Makes Plaque of Chaim Weizmann

A bronze plaque with his profile and the seal of the State of Israel will be sent to Chaim Weizmann, the sculptor, Horace J. Weisbart of 54 Glenham Street, announced this week. The plaque in bas-relief is shaped after the Israeli seal.

Mr. Weisbart, who came to America from Germany three years ago, has never finished his formal art education because of conditions in Germany. Copies of the plaque may be obtained from Mr. Weisbart.

Dorenbaums Help Scholarship Fund

Rabbi Nathan N. Rosen, director of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation at Brown University, this week announced the establishment of a Hillel Scholarship Fund, designed to help deserving students complete their college education. The Fund was made possible through a donation of $1000 by Dr. and Mrs. Philip Dorenbaum of this city.

Mrs. Dorenbaum, as a Hillel co-chairman of Roger Williams Chapter of B'nai B'rith has taken an active interest in the Hillel Foundation since its inception at Brown three years ago. She is the past president of District 1 of B'nai B'rith which includes chapters in all the Eastern states and Canada.

YAD Plans All-Day Affair at Ledgemont

Further plans for the Young Adults Division of the General Jewish Committee's opening affair at Ledgemont Country Club on September 17 include a full day's program, with golf and swimming during the day, culminating in a cocktail hour, and a dinner-dance in the evening.

The dinner-dance is an informal affair on the style of some of the country's most popular night clubs. An eight piece orchestra will provide music for both dancing and entertainment, and entertainment will feature Broadway stars and top-flight acts of the New England circuit.

News Deadline

Because of the Labor Day holiday, the deadline for news stories appearing in next week's Herald has been advanced to Tuesday noon. We cannot promise to insert items submitted after that time.

Katz to Address BV UJA Men, Women

Harold Katz will be guest speaker at a workers' meeting of the Blackstone Valley Women's Division UJA at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Narragansett Hotel.

Mr. Katz, a graduate of Harvard and a veteran of the Navy, also will speak at a pre-campaign meeting of the men's division, Tuesday at the home of Harry A. Schwartz.

He entered the navy in 1943 and saw much action in the Pacific theatre. After his return to Harvard Law School, the plight of the Jews of Europe impelled him to volunteer for service aboard the Haganah blockade runner, Hatikvah.

The 26-year old youth saw the inside of British prisons in both Cyprus and Palestine. He visited and lived in the settlements and cities of Palestine as well as in the bleak displaced persons camps in Europe. He is the son of Can-

Suit Charges Govt. Prejudice in Firings

CHICAGO — Two former government employees sued their superior and three Federal agencies for $200,000 damages today alleging they were fired because of racial and religious prejudices.

Mrs. Jessie C. Babb, 40, of suburban Skokie, and Emanuel C. Sigler, 70, claimed in their suit that the dismissals deprived them of their civil rights.

Mrs. Babb and Sigler, war time employes under temporary appointments, related they passed the civil service examination given March 10, 1948, for permanent positions with "high marks." Both are attorneys.

They alleged that others who passed with lower marks were given permanent appointments but they were fired Oct. 1, 1948, because of prejudice on the part of officials of Chicago Social Security Office.

Jewish Youth Week

It is a basic pedagogic concept—and one in consonance with sound democratic principles—that young people learn to do by doing.

This will be underlined in the activities of several hundred young men and women, who will gather for the second annual assembly of the National Jewish Youth Conference at Narrowsburg, N. Y., early next month.

The Conference was created last September to provide a self-governing representative body of affiliated Jewish youth to meet the needs of American Jewish young people. One of the first acts of the National Jewish Youth Conference was to ask JWB to sponsor it.

Some notion of the high purpose of JWB in its sponsorship and the earnestness and integrity of Jewish youth and their eager search for guidance may be gleaned from the fact that in workshops and seminars they will come to grips with such matters as democratization of Jewish life; the essence of a Jewish education; relation to Israel and world Jewry; and other crucial matters.

Of great significance is the additional fact that from start to finish the meeting is for, of and by youth, chosen democratically from large metropolis and small town, and reaching down to the grass roots of America.

In all their sessions, the delegates will focus on leadership training to the end of enhancing the community weal. In the words of the chairman, Arnul Pins, who will report to the meeting on his participation in the World Assembly for Youth in Brussels, the assembly "will seek to develop and enhance those qualities in the delegates that will be of concrete benefit to the communities to which they return."

The JWB is to be commended for providing the stage and setting for American Jewish youth to democratically explore ideas, exchange experiences and plot a path to a happy, secure future—a future in which the Jewish cultural heritage will have an honored place in the cultural fabric of our nation.

Towards Better Jewish Community Life

With the graduation of the second group of Fellows of the Institute on Advanced Studies in Community Organization of the Training Bureau for Jewish Communal Service, the Training Bureau may truly be said to have emerged from the experimental stage. Conceived three years ago by Jewish leaders throughout the United States to fill the need for professional workers who are oriented in Jewish history, sociology, religion and philosophy, as well as being trained social workers, the Training Bureau has fulfilled its avowed purpose of becoming a center of educational experience for the training of Jewish communal workers.

Not only has it graduated two groups of Fellows—men and women who have taken five months of intensive study in New York and nine months of supervised field activity—but it has taken steps to bring its resources to all fields of communal endeavor throughout the country. The Training Bureau has conducted a successful institute on "Background for Jewish Social Work" for practitioners in New York, an in-service training program which has already been followed in Chicago by the Chicago College for Jewish Studies, and which is now being considered in twelve other major cities. The Training Bureau is also planning regional in-service institutes and has organized a research project for the study of the Jewish component in case work. It has initiated conversations with the Jewish theological seminaries and the Jewish Education Association with a view towards bringing its resources in the field of Jewish communal service to rabbis and Jewish educators. It is this year conducting a special course on Jewish background in social work at the Boston University School of Social Work, and is arranging for similar courses at other leading schools. In cooperation with the Hillel Foundation it will launch a program of vocational guidance for college students that it is hoped will attract

"One Man's Opinion"

Warming Up

By BERNARD SEGAL

Now that the heat of July and August is but a memory, and the ads in the newspapers feature Back-to-School specials, we are returning to the old stand in the Herald, Warming up for the new season.

Even now, at this very minute, the blue prints for the season's activities are being pulled out of executive files and brief cases. Plans for concert and lecture series, luncheons and banquets, drives and special events are deliberated in a dozen offices of communal agencies on the threshold of the new season. The merry-go-round of social functions is just waiting for the blowing of the Shofar.

Taking the Plunge

As with swimming, the quicker we plunge into the cold water, the sooner we begin to enjoy it; so it is with the social swim. Of course we are somewhat reluctant to tear ourselves away from the ease of Summer living, but once we get into the current, we begin to relish the rubbing of elbows with the crowds in meeting halls and the chatter of the banquet table, and the smoke-filled committee rooms.

So, let's plunge right into it.

Each of us is peculiarly fitted by temperament and circumstances, just as there are writers of music, and the players of it, and the listeners to it. So, in making community life go on, there are those who sit on committees, and those who plan social functions, and those who support them.

All of them are needed. All of them supply the sustenance upon which communal life depends.

The Scoffers

Of course, there will be the perennial scoffers. They are always with us. They delight in being known as cynics. They are the universal objectors. They see nothing but petty politics and personal intrigues in the whole complex social pattern. They mistake the superficial blemishes for the inner core. In fact they never know of the inner core, since they have always kept aloof from the deeper forces that move men and women to think as a community.

Am I, who have never tasted caviar, able to pass judgment on the merits of this delicacy?

Neither do the scoffers know of the stimulating influences experienced by those who are in the social swim.

I know of a man who has given more time and thought to communal projects than to his private business. But what a rich man he is! The rewards he enjoys for his labors are not to be bought at a price.

I was told of two men who left their business, in the midst of the season at that, and attended to the affairs of a community camp for children. Fools, the scoffers will say. Seekers after Koved, they will insinuate. But they who say that will never know of the pleasure these two men have derived from their work.

Like A Profession

Being active in community affairs is a calling, like acting, or teaching, or writing. The enjoyment of it is the doing of it, and not in what one gets out of it.

But, like actors and writers and teachers, communal workers crave audiences, thrive on public notice.

On the threshold of the new season, we promise to take note of all that will take place in our communal agencies and institutions, either approving or disapproving, but never ignoring the efforts of those who serve for the common good.

to Jewish communal service the finest type of Jewish student.

This is a record of progress and cooperation of which any three year old organization may well be proud. To its leaders the Jewish community owes a vote of thanks. Certainly the broad program of the Training Bureau for Jewish Communal Service cannot help but improve the already high standards in Jewish communal work.

Private Capital Is Important In Israel

NEW YORK—Private capital invested in the industrial development of Israel is one of the most important phases of that country's economic progress, Charles Ress, president of the Palestine Foundation Fund, said on his arrival at Idlewild Airport from Israel.

He said he discussed the fund's program in the United States and its co-operation with the United Jewish Appeal, which is currently campaigning and which contributed $35,000,000 through the Palestine Foundation Fund in 1948. He said an equal amount probably would be made available this year.

Ress, who is also an associate chairman of the United Palestine Appeal, said at least 90 per cent of the industrial development in Israel has been by private investment and "private enterprise is looked to to increase the tempo of industrial development."

He said the government has, through its finance and other offices, offered industry certain inducements through the waiver of taxes, the importation of duty-free machinery and other concessions, including liberal depreciation allowances for taxation purposes. Most privately invested capital, Ress said, comes from and will continue to come from the United States.

Much money is needed, he said, for the reception and care of immigrants entering the country and the need for integrating them into the economy of the country.

"That involves expansion of agriculture and industrial development with considerable emphasis today on industry because it is recognized that mass immigration requires industrial expansion," he said. More jobs can be provided to the newcomers through industry than in agriculture."

Day School

Registration Reopens

Registration at the Providence Hebrew Day School for the coming fall semester re-opened yesterday. Applications are being accepted for pre-kindergarten, kindergarten, and first grade only. Students desiring to enter in the higher grade will be required to pass a qualifying examination in both Hebrew and Secular subjects.

Rabbi James I. Gordon, principal of the school, announced that the registration will be limited to twenty pupils per class. In order to avoid delay, parents are requested to bring the child's birth certificate and vaccination certificate at the time of registration. Sessions for the fall semester will begin on Monday, September 12.

Greece to Sign Air Pact With Israel

ATHENS—The Israeli consul here has received assurances from the Greek war ministry that Greek Jews whose age groups have recently been called up for service with the armed forces will be permitted to migrate to Israel if they choose, it was learned here this week.

Meanwhile, it was also revealed that the director of the Greek air ministry will visit Tel Aviv next month to negotiate and sign an air convention with the Jewish state. A trade pact between the two nations is expected to follow the signing of the air convention.

SYD COHEN:

Change of Pace

It's been a long time since we left the local scene and did any gabbing about other topics. The advent of Labor Day weekend brought with it a reminder and a subject; and on such stuff columns are born.

The reminder was that early in September the major league ball clubs may start to raid their farm clubs, with an eye to looking over some prize prospects in a actual competition, instead of waiting for the inconclusive spring training workouts. The subject that was then brought to mind was this: How are some of the more highly regarded Jewish players in the minors faring and what are their chances for recall to and success in the majors?

For the past two seasons it has been customary to lead off such a discussion with the name of Al Rosen, who started this year with the World Champion Cleveland Indians but is now with San Diego in the Coast League. In 1949 this is not the case. The spotlight is in Rosen's general area but much farther north—in Portland, Oregon, to be exact.

Saltzman, one year out of college, is in his first full year as a pro, yet has a record of 17-11. He is right with the league leaders in number of wins. Scouts have tabbed him as a sure-fire big league prospect, yet he is still the property of Portland. The Giants were reported to have picked him up on option, but the story has been denied. Hal's earned run average, incidentally, is around 2.90.

Back across the country, in Buffalo, New York, a pair of pitchers are doing a very decent job with the International League Bisons. The better known of the two is Saul Rogovin, a Detroit Tiger farmhand, who has recovered from a bad arm to the extent that he has compiled a 13-4 record to date. In addition, he is the Bisons' number one pinch-hitter. Proof that his record is no fake is contained in one of his box efforts of the last two weeks, in which he turned in a 4-hitter, pitching a shutout after the first inning. The guy should make the grade. He racks up a healthy strikeout total in each appearance, although he is also somewhat generous with passes.

Doing a nice job on relief with Buffalo is a hurler named Silverman, first name unknown by a quick look at the box scores. Silverman is a youngster who has been very effective in a varied assortment of relief roles. Recently, he has turned in several shut-out performances over two to five inning distances. Not at all bad in a fast league like the International.

Down in Fort Worth, Texas, Cal Abrams, the Brooklyn boy who is owned by the Dodgers, is having a banner year as leadoff man for the league-leading Cats. Recent figures showed Cal sporting a .335 average, with 88 runs scored and 40 batted in—for a leadoff man, don't forget.

The question with Abrams is simply what does Branch Rickey intend to do with him. Abrams should profit from this fine season and be prepared to stick in '50. But then, he hit well in spring training with the Dodgers this year and wasn't given a tumble. So he may wind up wearing a different major league uniform.

Rosen Again

Getting back to Rosen, we find Al batting fifth for the San Diego Padres and hitting in accustomed Rosen style (he has led two leagues in hitting). Al suffered a let-down after his release by the Indians when Lou Boudreau him-

Roumania, Israel In Disagreement

TEL AVIV—Steady deterioration in relations between Israel and Roumania has led the Israel government to recall its minister in Bucharest.

Government spokesmen confirmed that the minister, Reuven Rubin, will return shortly to Tel Aviv, but denied that his recall has any special significance. They also denied the post will be left vacant for some time but admit that no successor to Rubin has been selected.

This move is a gesture of protest by the Israel Government against Roumanian restrictions of Jewish emigration, the steady increase of anti-Zionist propaganda in Roumania and persecution of Roumanian Zionist leaders.

self took over the third base spot that Rosen had been groomed for. Now he has been converted into a first baseman, although he occasionally goes back to help out at the hot corner. Perhaps significantly, his return to hitting form dates from the time he was sent to first base. Possibly the Indians told him to switch over as an aid to his returning to the big show.

And not to be forgotten is Sid Schacht, who twirled a brilliant one-hitter last week in the Eastern League.

There seem to be several good prospects for the majors in those mentioned here. Whether they—any or several—reach the big top only time will tell. Rosen and Rogovin are the logical choices to be brought up for another look this season, but both the Indians and Tigers are deeply entrenched in the battle for position in the pennant fight and may not care to experiment now.

So it may develop into the old Brooklyn cry: Wait till next year.

Temple Bans Mixed Couples, if Not Jews

LYNN, Mass.—In what was believed to be the first such action by a U. S. Reform congregation, Temple Beth El here has voted to bar from membership any Jew married to a non-Jew, unless the non-Jew has accepted Judaism, it was disclosed this week.

The congregation, by unanimous vote, adopted a resolution to that effect after a talk by its spiritual leader, Rabbi Israel Harburg, urging the congregation to take a definite stand on the issue.

The stand of the Lynn congregation goes well beyond that taken officially by the Reform Central Conference of American Rabbis. The text of the resolution read:

"At the time of application for membership, both husband and wife shall be members of the Jewish Faith, either by birth or by conversion, satisfactory to the Rabbi of our Congregation."

NEW YORK—Paul Heymann of Providence, a representative of the New York Life Insurance Company, is second vice president for the Northeastern Division of the 1949 Top Club Council, it was announced this week by Dudley Dowell, Vice President of the Company.

The Nylc Top Club Council is an organization of the 200 foremost members of New York Life's field force of more than 5,600 agents from throughout the United States and Canada.

As the Company's second largest producer in the Northeastern Division, Mr. Heymann, during the 12 months period ended June 30, sold more than $1,000,000 of life insurance in the New York Life. This includes no group insurance as New York Life confines its business to individual policies.

Mr. Heymann has been invited to attend an educational conference of the Top Club Council September 6-10 at the Sun Valley (Idaho) Lodge at which Home Office staff members and leading agents will discuss current developments in the life insurance business.

Approximately 4000 members of Labor Zionist groups, Poale Zion and Jewish National Workers Alliance attended the annual Histadrut celebration sponsored by the Greater Boston Histadrut Committee and held at the Workmen's Circle Camp in Framingham, Mass. last Sunday.

Featured speakers were Rabbi Abraham J. Klausner, formerly of Israel, now of Temple Israel, Boston; Joseph Celerno, vice president of the Amalgamated Clothing Union of New York, who returned recently from Israel; Abe Miller of New York, secretary of the Liberal Party of N. Y. and national chairman of the board of directors of the National Labor Committee of Israel, and Irving Usin, chairman of the Greater Boston United Jewish Appeal.

Entertainment was furnished by Benjamin Fishbein, of the Yiddish Art Theatre of New York and star of the radio show, "The Goldbergs"; Maxim Borodin and Zelda Zlatin, accompanied by Ruby Osofsky. The song "Haganah" was sung by Borodin, Zlatin and Harold Auebach, national director of Workmen's Circle Camp. Philip Kramer, vice president of the Greater Boston Histadrut Committee, was master of ceremonies.

One hundred members of the local group attended, with Benjamin Rakatansky heading the committee in charge. Isadore Wurafic was in charge of reservations.

It was announced at the celebration that a dinner honoring the 15 delegates from Boston returning from Israel will be held Wednesday, September 14. Aaron Moldov, chairman of the Greater Boston Histadrut Committee, heads the delegation.

MONEY MOVES MILLIONS

WOMEN'S DIVISION, GENERAL JEWISH COMMITTEE

Freedom is a wonderful thing... but the desert gets cold at night

The longest journey human beings ever took is over for most of the Jewish Displaced Persons.

They started from a point in darkness.

Terror, oppression and death were their baggage. And now they have arrived at the freedom station—the new state of Israel.

Now they are free.

Pause and feel the word in your throat. It bursts with joy. It is sunlight after darkness. Warmth after cold. A healing hand on a scarred back.

But freedom is not bread. Freedom is not shelter. Freedom is not medicine. Freedom is not a plow, a lathe, a brick. Freedom cannot unchill the wind that bites into bones when it is night on the Negev.

Freedom must be fed with the materials that build life, materials that only we can supply:

Shoes for their feet. Lumber for their houses. Medical help so that they may use their new strength to build the land they have come to live in freely. Schools, so that torn minds may be healed and put back to work for a better life.

All that takes money. Money that can come only from you—from all of us—here in America.

You helped them live through the misery of DP Camps. You helped transport them to their promised land.

Won't you help them now to become free, self-supporting citizens of their own free land?

Just Five of the Many Things Your Money Will Accomplish in 1949

- 1 Closing of DP Camps in Germany and Austria.
- 2 Bring 250,000 Jewish refugees into Israel.
- 3 Make possible a housing program to speed the absorption of the newcomers in Israel.
- 4 Provide for the rehabilitation of hundreds of thousands of Jews in Europe and North Africa.
- 5 Aid Jewish refugees who enter the U. S. to integrate themselves into the community.

Jewish Community Center Day Campers End Best

The Jewish Community Center's Camp Centerland and the Center-sponsored South Providence Camptown both concluded their second season last week with colorful programs attending the closing exercises of each. Centerland campers presented a "Salute to Israel" pageant at the camp grounds in Hope, R. I., while Camptown, which is conducted at Joseph Williams Park on Elmwood Avenue, held its program at the Center. Both activities are shown on these pages.

Camp Season with "Children's Salute to Israel"

During the "Salute to Israel" pageant at Camp Centerland in the village of Hope, R. I., the children re-created scenes tracing the rehabilitation program of Jews who migrate to Israel.

And finally—a new life begins at Kibbutz Bialik in Israel.

Agency to Check Multiple Campaigns

JERUSALEM—The Jewish Agency central licensing committee, which is empowered to either permit or prohibit the raising of funds abroad for Israeli institutions and to check any fund-raising activities conducted in the United States and in other countries on behalf of Israel, started functioning recently.

The committee, which was formed after consultations with the Israel Government and with representatives of Jewish relief and welfare organizations, including the Joint Distribution Committee, is composed of five members of the Jewish Agency executive. They are: Dr. Itzhak Gruenbaum, Meir Grossman, Eliahu Dobkin, J. Zerubavel and S. Z. Shragal.

In a statement issued to the press, Mr. Dobkin explained the reasons which prompted the Jewish Agency to establish such a body. He emphasized that much harm has been done in the United States by the separate drives conducted on behalf of various institutions in Israel. At least 120 such drives have been conducted this year in America, he said.

Mr. Dobkin attacked the ORT and the OSE declaring that while these organizations have hitherto worked outside of Israel, they now claim to be doing seventy percent of the work which is actually being done by the Jewish Agency. The licensing committee he stated, is fully empowered to consider any application of any public institution trying to raise funds in countries outside of Israel for work in Israel.

The committee will also have the right to approve and control small collections raised in any country for any kind of work in Israel, he added. It can prohibit certain collections and it can study the balance sheets of any collection, he pointed out.

Ellis Radinsky, director of the United Palestine Appeal who has been here for about three weeks conferring with the Agency, explained to newsmen the relationship between the U. P. A. and the United Jewish Appeal in America.

Comets, Old Timers Reach Semi-Finals

The Comets of Mal's Baby Stores and Jack Swartz's Old Timers, who finished in second and third place, respectively, in the regular standings of the Jewish Softball League, moved into the semi-final playoff round Sunday, the Comets defeating Richards Clothing in the rubber game of their three game series and the Old Timers twice knocking off Philip Dwares' Orioles.

The teams will meet next Sunday, September 11 in the first two games of a three game series to determine which club will meet

Miller's Delicatessen for the league championship.

A six run rally in the sixth inning gave the Comets an 8-4 victory over Richards Clothing and a half-interest in the semi-finals. Two bunts and a wild pitch were followed by a one-out single by Pitcher Nate Ludman which tied the score 4-4. Ludman scored the winning run on an overthrow at third base and the rally continued to the extent of three more runs.

Richards got away to a 3-2 lead in the first inning on two walks, a pair of hits and an out-field fly. A walk and Del Vecchio's hit that got past the outfield and went for four bases put the 1948 champs back in the game. Erenkrantz homered in the second for Richards.

With Lefty Davidson pitching both games, the Old Timers downed the Orioles 8-4 and 10-2. The winners stepped off to a three run lead in the first inning of each game and were never headed as they played their best ball of the year. Davidson contributed a couple of good hits to his own cause and Paul Paris made several sparkling catches in left field. The Old Timers presented a tight and steady defense, with hitting honors pretty evenly distributed.

GEORGE GOLDSMITH

HAROLD TREGAR

Announcement was made last week of the formation of a new advertising agency by George M. Goldsmith and Harold I. Tregar. The firm has established offices at 36 Exchange Place and is known as George Goldsmith and Harold Tregar, Inc.

Mr. Goldsmith, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, has worked in advertising in several capacities and with such companies as Franklin Printing Co., and Ketterlinus Lithographic

Mfg. Co., and for five years was editor of the National Lithographer, the trade paper of the offset lithographic industry. He was formerly a partner in the Goldsmith Company.

Mr. Tregar is a graduate of the Rhode Island School of Design. Prior to the war he was art director for two publishing houses. He served for three years in the Army and has been employed most recently as art director of the Goldsmith Company.

the-scenes activities that took place at these historic conferences.

In "As He Saw It," he recalls, for example, the conversation between the late FDR and King Ibn Saud relative to the Palestine question.

"It had been Father's hope that he would be able to convince Ibn Saud on the equity of the settlement in Palestine of the tens of thousands of Jews driven from their European Homes, persecuted, wandering. Later, Bernard Baruch was to tell me that Father had confessed that, of all the men he had talked to in his life, he had got the least satisfaction from this iron-willed Arab Monarch," related Elliot.

Wartime Hero

Starting as a captain in the Air Force a year before this nation was officially at war, Elliot rose to become commander of the Third Photographic Reconnaissance Group, which paved the way for the successful invasion of Africa and Europe by the Allies. In this capacity, he led numerous front-line missions and was several times decorated for valor under fire.

While assigned to a reconnaissance squadron in Newfoundland, he witnessed the signing of the Atlantic Charter; and, while mapping northwest Africa from the air, he attended the Casablanca Conference.

The Ledgemont dinner-meeting is scheduled to begin at 6 o'clock with a buffet supper in the new club house. The speaking program will follow immediately upon completion of the supper.

The dinner will follow on the heels of a two-day national conference sponsored by the UJA at Washington, D. C.

Grossinger Carnival Benefits Runyon Fund

"Jennie Grossinger is one of the fabulous women of this country." That's what Damon Runyon said, ten years ago, in his famous column, "The Brighter Side," and he probably would underline the statement, today.

In memory of the great writer, Mrs. Grossinger staged a whirlwind athletic carnival at her Ferndale, N. Y. resort. It netted $12,000 for the Damon Runyon Fund for Medical Research.

Participating in the event were World War II Marine hero and former boxing champion Barney Ross; members of the French and Italian Davis Cup tennis teams; Byron Nelson, Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias, Herman Barron, Mike, Willie, and Joe Turnesa, and other golf greats; the water polo teams of the New York Athletic Club and the Missouri Athletic Club, and the Eastern All-Stars and Grossinger Big Five basketball squads.

SEEK MISSING PERSON

Bodky Named Music Professor at Brandeis

Pianist, harpsichordist and clavichordist, Dr. Bodky was one of the three students ever to be accepted as a pupil by Richard Strauss. He received his musical education in Germany.

He has taught at the Klindworth Scharwenka Conservatory, in Berlin, at the State Academy for School and Liturgical Music at Berlin and in the Conservatories of Amsterdam and Haarlem (Netherlands).
