Three Convicted For Shipping Planes

LOS ANGELES—A Federal jury has convicted three men and a corporation on charges of having conspired to violate United States neutrality laws by shipping planes to Israel during the Arab invasion.

The jury, which acquitted three other defendants, recommended leniency in sentencing the defendants.

Convicted were Adolph W. Schwimmer, president of Service Airways of New York, the firm involved in the proceedings; Ray Selk and Leon Gardner, both of Los Angeles. Acquitted were Herman M. Greenspan of Las Vegas; William Sosnow of New York, and Sam R. Lewis of Los Angeles.

Labor Heads Urge Arms for Israel

WASHINGTON—Two top labor leaders last week appealed to President Truman for arms for Israel as long as the Arabs were re-arming.

They also urged increased financial support for the new Jewish state and American pressure against the "impracticable" United Nations Jerusalem decision.

AFL president William Green and CIO president Philip Murray after a conference with the President, issued a statement saying they appealed for arms for Israel "to meet the daily increased threat" to Israel's security.

And they appealed for "appropriate representations on behalf of our Government to Great Britain to discontinue supplying" the Arab countries "with instruments of aggressive warfare, obviously designed for use against Israel."

$20 Million Credit To Go to Israel

WASHINGTON—The board of directors of the Export-Import Bank announced this week authorization of credits totaling $20,000,000 to Israel for the purchase of U. S. equipment, materials and services necessary for the continuation in 1950 and 1951 of Israel's construction program.

The program includes the erection of houses and community facilities, construction and reconstruction of interurban highways and the expansion of water supply and sewage-disposal facilities. During the next two years Israel expects to use this money to help house approximately 400,000 immigrants—including upwards of 75,000 now in camps—according to the bank.

The new credits are to be amortized in 15 years and will bear interest at 3½ percent per annum. They bring to a total of $93,350,000 credits authorized thus far by the Export-Import Bank from the $100,000,000 earmarked for Israel in January, 1949.

Home Ladies to Present "Wine, Women and Song"

Wine, Women and Song is the theme of the Annual Spring Festival of the Ladies Association, Jewish Home for the Aged, to be held March 1 and 2 at the Narragansett Hotel.

The program will begin at 12:30 o'clock each day with a sherry hour, followed by a luncheon at 1:30 o'clock, and culminating in a revue, "As the Girls Go By", written and produced by Mrs. Walter Strauss and Mrs. Henry W. Markoff.

The revue, depicting women through half a century of American life in song, dance and drama, will include the women pictured above: Mesdames Sidney August, Allen Novogroski, suffragettes; William Weltz, the 1900's; I. Lewis Snyder, the 1920's; Morris Cohen and Louis Horvitz, and Miss Barbara Brown, suffragettes; Mesdames Abbott Lieberman, Waves; Bernard Sherman, soloist, and David Temkin, Miss 1950.

Religious Group Denies Interference

NEW YORK—Denial that it was interfering in the internal affairs of Israel by demanding wider religious education in the immigrant camps of the new state was made here by the executive of the United Religious Bloc of America.

Cabling a reply to Israeli Premier David Ben Gurion, who last week rebuked the group over the religious issue, the religious body pointed out that it never intended threatening the Israeli Government but only to express the concern of religious Jewry over the religious conditions in the camps.

The cable expressed recognition of the Premier's "serious approach to resolve satisfactorily the matter of religious discrimination against religious children in the schools."

At the same time the organization also pointed out that it had always given expression of fullest support of the Jewish State and the United Jewish Appeal.

Veep Hits "Dual Loyalty" Charges

ST. LOUIS—Vice President Alben W. Barkley last week lashed out at those who raise the charge of dual loyalty in relation to American Jewry's support of Israel. Speaking here at an extra-ordinary conference of the United Jewish Appeal of St. Louis, the Vice President declared that it is "preposterous to believe that anyone contributing to the development of Israel was being disloyal to the United States."

Mr. Barkley added that "nobody, Jew or Gentile, can truthfully say that it is disloyal for any American to try to help a little country which is being helped by the very government of the United States." He lauded the state of Israel for holding out the "one great opportunity for world peace at a time when the forces of destruction are rising in the world and the armament race has reached a new peak."

Jewish Communities Plan July Conclave

EMANUEL BOWLING by Joe Primack

The Browns maintained their two-game lead over the Yankees, as each team lost three points. The Giants jumped into third place, while four teams are tied for fourth, six games off the pace. Leo Nussenfeld took high three honors for the night with 369. Other good threees were Dr. Kumins 357, Alfred Chase 353, Lou Chase 351, Bill Goralnik 344, Charlie Blackman 343, Jack Platin 337, Joe Chernick 346, Sam Gordon 338, and S. ## BETH-ISRAEL BOWLING by Saul Hodosh

Pennsylvania still rides herd on the second half race, but can Barney Coken keep going over the foul line far enough to keep them in the lead. Sam Segal broke loose and nearly broke high three but had to settle for 377, far ahead of P. Gladstein 343, J. Wyner 342 and Jerry Dressler 349. High single was divided by Jerry and Segal as they each turned in 146. Wyner had a good 142 and Agar hit 129. I cannot fail to give a hand to Al Segal who had an exceptional 184. The fact that he had three strings seems to preclude him from high single but it was a noble effort.

BETH-EL BOWLING by Joe Gutterball

Some new names turned up in the list of top bowling figures last week. Nat Reiter of Phil Shaulson's Sure Shots rolled a neat 352 for three strings with a high single of 144. Captain Morris Feldman led his team for the night with a 347 score for three strings. Herman Torman paced Eddie Soforenko's high flying league leaders to four more points by knocking off a 345 three-string total. Eddie's boys also registered a 1604 three-string total, which is the second best of the season. Moishe Coffman looked good in scoring 344. Morris Bernstein rolled 314. Jack Bilow's bowlers moved back into second place. Jack pushed his average over the 110-mark with a 358 three-string score. Lou Gordon of Vic Gold's Silver Tops received the night's

OLYMPIC BOWLING by Howard Cohen

The Joe Schwartz boys strengthened their hold on first place by taking a 4-0 forfeit win from the H. Cohens, former leaders, and Lowell Leonard's gang took their second 4-0 win in three weeks as they blanked the B. Cohens. Improved bowling by Capt. Ted Leonard and Haskell Wallick, 314 and 310, respectively, paced the win, while Bernie Cohen and Jack Jacobson with 305 and 302 tried hard for their side. The Rodyns took the Levins 3-1, Merle getting the night's high single of 126 and high three of 355. The winners also had high team single and three for the night. Lobel helped with 318. Meesh Satloff with 316 and Ralph Winn 305 saved one point for their side.

A. E. PI BOWLING

Burt Himelfarb's marksmen narrower the lead of the Feinstein gunners to one point as they took the Cohen outfit by 3-1. Jerry Freiberg's line-up held the league-leaders to a 2-2 tie in a high-scoring match.

The Himelfarbs set a new team three high of 1558. Len Waldman rolled the night's high single of 142, while Weegi Feldman bowled 349, top three for the evening.

A record number of men went over 300: Waldman 327, Irv Beriman 328, George Polette 316, Ray Gertz 311, Himelfarb 305, Howie LaPidus 304, Lloyd Turoff 304, Irv Silverman 306 and Charlie Cohn 300.

Mr. Frisch Under Fire

Mr. Daniel Frisch, president of the Zionist Organization of America has come in for a good deal of sharp criticism by three former residents and leaders of the American Zionist movement, Dr. Rabbi Hillel Silver, Dr. Emanuel Neumann, and Dr. Israel Goldstein, for his policies and activities as president of the ZOA during his last eight months in office. The occasion for the criticism was a session of the Administrative Committee of the ZOA which heard a report by Mr. Frisch of his stewardship until now and of his trip to Israel.

After a full day of heated discussion, Frisch's report was accepted unanimously by critics and defenders alike, but Dr. Silver warned Frisch that, unless he changes his tactics and policies within the next months, he would be opposed for re-election at the next Zionist convention in June, although the usual practice is that a president is automatically elected for a second term.

Frisch was scored on three points: First, that he had failed to consult Dr. Silver, Dr. Neumann and other Zionist leaders on the formation of policy. Second, that the ZOA had lost political prestige through his diplomatic blunders. Third, that the ZOA, had lost position in the fund-raising field under his leadership.

Frisch was defended mostly by Zionists from out of New York. Not a single leader of a prominent Metropolitan Zionist Region spoke for him. His defenders argued that the political and financial decline of the ZOA was not due to Frisch, but to changed conditions with the emergence of Israel. They also claimed that Frisch did at first consult the Zionist leaders, but that they had not paid any attention to him and had indicated a desire to control rather than to advise him. This he resented, whereupon the two former presidents of the ZOA withdrew and turned critics of his policy.

Frisch, himself, was less truculent in his own defense. He made a rather conciliatory statement stressing that he had improved somewhat the relationship between American Zionists and Israeli leaders through his personal contact and frequent visits to Israel, and the establishment of the American House in Tel Aviv. He expressed the hope that complete harmony would be restored in the ZOA before the convention which was scheduled for June in a mid-Western city.

"One Man's Opinion"

The Faker and the Genius

By BERNARD SEGAL

Some say it is Alabama, others insist that Mississippi is first on the list of the most backward states in the Union. Be it as it may, one thing is sure—that Mississippi has nothing to brag about in social welfare, in living standards, in political idealism, in public health, in mass education, or in cultural achievements.

It was therefore altogether fitting and proper for the congressman from that state to stand up on the floor of the United States Congress, and to call Albert Einstein an "old faker" and, of course, a "communist", who should have been disposed of long ago.

Here it is in the records of the U. S. Congress for all to read, and for posterity to judge.

Einstein the Faker, and Rankin the Just.

You can't really blame Congressman Rankin for feeling the way he does. What use does he have for Einstein? What good is he to the people who the congressman represents? Just admit for a while the possibility of a world ordered entirely after the social pattern of a Mississippi, and a mankind created in the image of a Rankin. What place is there for an Einstein? Where would he fit in? Should there appear one like him, he would be a freak to be suspected, abused, hated and destroyed.

It is an age-old pattern. The Rankin pattern. What you don't understand is to be hated.

Here he is—the good congressman from Mississippi—spending his hard earned money on a book published by that outfit in Princeton University, written by Albert Einstein. So he spends his precious time to find what it is all about, and does he get his money's worth.

And what does he find in that book?

He finds something about a formula G (i.k.) and another formula written G (k.i.), which prove something about the universe.

You and I look at these formulas, and blink, and feel humiliated at the greatness of the minds who understand them, and deplore the limitations of our own understanding.

Not so Rankin. He flies into a rage. Anything a Rankin does not grasp is a fake. It must be.

And so we find in the same newspaper, on the same page, in the same column, right underneath the story by the A. P. science editor about the new edition of the book: "The meaning of Relativity," also the story of the rage of Rankin reported from Washington under the title: "Einstein 'Old Faker', says Rep. Rankin".

It would not surprise me to learn that old man Moses suffered a similar abuse from the Rankins of his days when he offered to them the name of a God whose name is Four-Letter Formula, and which is to explain a power that is, and was, and will be. YAVEH.

"What?" raged the Rankin of the days of Moses—"You want me to believe that this four-letter name stands for a God who created the universe, and who is everywhere and forever, but whom I, Rankin, am not able to see? Nonsense. It is but a fake."

Faker Moses and faker Einstein.

An old pattern. What you do not understand you must, suspect, distrust, despise, hate, and destroy. The Rankin pattern.

This brings to mind the story about the old Rabbi who displeased one of his Gaboim because he failed to agree with him. The Gabal, who was far from perfection in his dealings, shook his finger in the face of the old Rabbi, and shouted insults at him: "You are an old thief, a crook, a liar, and an adulterer!"

The old Rabbi, who was as guilty of all these things as a new-born babe, merely replied:

"In this case, you are a hunchback."

Because the good Rabbi, you see, was afflicted with this deformity from his early childhood.

The thing for Albert Einstein to do in reply to the abuses of Rankin, I suppose, would be to do as the old Rabbi did, and say:

"In this case, you, Congressman Rankin, are a genius".

List Committee, Donors to Memorial Fund

The appointment of a committee to administer the newly created Samuel H. Workman Memorial Fund, and the names of a primary list of donors to the Fund were announced recently by Raymond G. Franks, president of the Jewish Community Center.

The Fund, established in memory of Samuel H. Workman, Providence attorney, who served as the Center's president from 1938 until 1944 and subsequently was an active member of the board of directors until his sudden death on November 24, 1949, will be administered by the Center, under the terms set down by its sponsors. Named to the Memorial Fund committee were Dr. Herman Grossman, chairman; Sauls Abrams, Bertram L. Bernhardt, Benjamin Brier, Saul Feinberg, Arthur Kaplan, Irving Kritiz, Arthur Levy, Alex Miller, Theodore Markoff, Joseph Ress, Milton C. Sapinsky and Alvin A. Sopkin.

Title to the Fund, which was established December 1, 1949 in a letter sent by the founders to the Center, "shall be held by the Jewish Community Center, and the principal and income thereof shall be used for the religious, educational and charitable purposes and objectives of the ... Center," according to the conditions contained in the letter of that date, in which the establishment of the Fund was announced to the Center.

Stipulating that the Workman Fund must "at all times be kept completely separate and apart from all other J. C. C. funds and property", the founders directed that it be "carefully and conservatively invested, as a trust fund, in such manner as the board of directors shall from time to time, in its discretion, determine; and said board of directors shall have full and complete authority to invest, re-invest and change the investment at any time and from time to time."

Income from the Workman Memorial Fund, according to the regulations, is to be used "as the board of directors shall determine," but preferably in the following order:

For camp scholarships for Camp Centerland or other camp facilities under sponsorship of the Center (to be designated as "Samuel H. Workman Scholarships"), and for other "uses and objectives" of the Center, including other phases of the camping program.

Following is the list of primary donors to the Workman Fund:

Morris Bazaar, Bertram L. Bernhardt, Abraham Blackman, Dr. N. A. Bolotow, Benjamin Brier,

President Reviews 1949

The year 1949 saw the Jewish Home for the Aged of Rhode Island complete the most successful period in its thirty-eight year history. Jacob I. Felder, president, reported recently. Mr. Felder proudly revealed the wonderful achievement of a four-year building program which increased the bed capacity of the Home from 45 to 90 and which was accomplished at the cost of nearly $145,000 (see details of capital expenses listed elsewhere on this page).

In summarizing the work, Mr. Felder said: "Four years of hard work have brought the Home a long way. Today we have a great Home with ample and recreational facilities to give ease, comfort, security and happiness to old people. Here is a comfortable Home for those advanced in life, where they can follow the religious ways that are nearest and dearest to their hearts. Here is a place where the aged eat the kind of food they are accustomed to, in accordance with dietary laws where they can spend their declining years as they wish to live. "Forty years ago, the Jewish Home for the Aged of R. I. was only an idea in the minds of a few inspired women. They established, in 1912, the Jewish Home for the Aged on 191 Orms St., under the auspices of the Ladies Hebrew Union Aid Association. In 1931, this new and modern Home was built to succeed the old home, which had become woefully inadequate. Today the realization of the vision of its founders is not only a blessing among us, but a fulfillment of a great achievement, to those who have labored so hard for its success."

Mr. Felder also thanked the many and varied groups and individuals who were responsible for the Home's growth in the past and at the present time. He particularly expressed appreciation to the Ladies Association who helped to make the Jewish Home for the Aged exactly what its name implies — a home — by conducting knitting classes, holding outings, providing recreation comforts and by putting into practice the desire to make the lives of our aged free from concern and worry in their declining years."

A HAPPY PURIM TO ALL

FROM THE RESIDENTS OF THE
Jewish Home for the Aged

SYD COHEN:

Operation Baseball
Gets Under Way

The revival of baseball for the younger elements of our community will be effected this year—1950. That much became definite this past Sunday afternoon when the athletic committee of the Jewish Community Center met to plot the project, which didn't look any too promising only a few short weeks ago.

Not only will the youngsters definitely get their baseball this year, but the revival will be accomplished on a scale that would do any community proud. Of that I am convinced, after having sat in on Sunday's meeting.

Nor is all this just talk, or wishful thinking, or conjecture. The first phase of the project is on the planning table, and the first actual event—one that should appeal to every able-bodied and red blooded boy in the city—will be held within one month of this date.

Assuming that few, if any, boys who have not yet reached their teens read this column weekly, I would like to impress on the older boys, the young adults and the men the fact that they must spread the word to the youngsters—they must keep the boys informed, point out to them why this project is being undertaken, and help the planning board to create in their minds an interest in learning how to play ball. If the boys know about it, and if their parents are told enough of the details, baseball should return with a super-atomic bang—and an assured permanence.

Baseball Clinics

Perhaps it will be best to start with the main part of the season's program—the clinics; baseball clinics, that is. Once the operation gets under way, clinics will be the standard procedure. And by clinics is meant this:

The boys will be divided into age groups; tentatively, these have been set up as (1) up to age 13, and (2) 13 and over, assuming the top limit to be around 17. The clinics will be held on various afternoons of the week in different sections of the city—for example, in South Providence and the North End, as well as at the Center. And these clinics will concern themselves exclusively with baseball.

There will be, first, instruction in the proper methods of play, taught by experts in various phases of the game, such as sliding, running bases, throwing, tagging a runner, hitting, etc. In addition to personal instruction there will be special baseball movies showing the correct procedures—and sometimes real major league star will be brought in to join the teaching staffs. Following the individual drills, sides will be chosen and games will be played, maybe for four innings, or five, depending on the time available.

Not A Formal League

There will be no formal league this year. Let's get that straight. These clinics will serve as the stimulus and the background for a real league or leagues in 1951. By providing basic and necessary instruction this year, and by getting the boys interested and enrolled, the committee officials will have an excellent and pretty accurate idea by next winter as to how the league should be formed, how many teams may be expected to participate, how many age groupings will be necessary, and how and where to get coaches, umpires and other officials.

They'll Play Ball

All the boys will play ball this year. Let's get that straight, too; it just won't be a league with a championship at stake. That part will wait until 1951. It might be added that sufficient funds to carry through this program already have been pledged—so one important obstacle is hurdled before it is actually reached.

Now for the March send-off event. This will take the form of a mass meeting, for all boys who are interested, whether they are seven or seventeen, in the Center gym. On the program will be several baseball movies, including World Series, shots of major leaguers in action, etc., refreshments, an introduction to the baseball plans for the year, and registration for those boys who are interested in taking part.

It will be a big night for the youngsters—an early evening affair, by the way—and the committee hopes to do it up brown by providing buses and private cars to insure parents the small fry will not have to get home by themselves after dark.

All this is simply an introduction—more information will be listed in plenty of time so that everyone will be able to make plans to attend. It must be mentioned, however, that the Center has added to its sports staff Selwyn Ackerman, a Brown graduate. Sel will act as special assistant to Abe Lobel, athletic director, and he will devote his time exclusively to this "Operation Baseball".

Everyone can help by sending to Sel at the Center names of any boys who are or should be interested. We'll print a coupon in next week's Herald as an aid along that line.
