Crum Believes War 'Imminent' In Israel

Scores Acheson's British Arms Stand

WASHINGTON—Bartley Crum, former member of the Anglo-American Committee of Inquiry on Palestine, declared this week that the "renewal of hostilities in Israel is imminent."

Crum, just returned from his third postwar visit to the Jewish State, addressed the annual convention of the B'nai B'rith Women's Supreme Council.

Sharply criticizing Secretary of State Acheson's position on Britain's supplying of arms to the Arab states, Crum said it is no accident that James G. McDonald, American Ambassador to Israel was not invited to the Cairo meeting of U. S. diplomats in the Near East.

"Ominous things are brewing," he said. He added he had heard rumors that former Nazi pilots have arrived in Egypt to fly newly-acquired Egyptian jet plans against Israel.

In London, meanwhile, delegates attending the opening of the national conference of the Zionist Federation of Britain adopted a resolution calling on the British government to "encourage peace in the Middle East and discourage those seeking a second round in the Arab-Israel war."

Barnett Janner, Laborite M.P., told the more than 1,000 delegates that he hoped a "way would be found to relieve Israel's understandable anxieties" over the Arab states' rearmament.

Pops Concert at Hadassah Affair

MRS. MORRIS PRITSKER
Co-Chairman

Mrs. Arthur Kaplan, chairman of the 1950 Donor Affair of Providence Chapter of Hadassah, has announced that Mrs. Morris Pritsker is assisting her as co-chairman. The affair, a program to be given by the Boston Symphony Pops Orchestra under the direction of Harry Dickson, will be held April 30 at Rhodes-on-the-Pawtuxet. Proceeds are to be used for the Hadassah Medical Organization in Israel, where medical aid is needed for the thousands of immigrants entering the new state.

Also on the committee planning the affair are Mesdames William Bojar, and Walter Rutman, co-

Silverman Testimonial

The Committee planning the Archibald Silverman Testimonial urges persons who have received invitations for the dinner, to take place on Sunday, March 26 to make their reservations without delay.

Alvin A. Sopkin, Chairman of the affair, reported that reservations are coming in at a very rapid rate and it is planned that the seating arrangements will be made in the order that the reservations are received.

The committee informs that the invitation list is made up of persons who, the members felt, were Mr. Silverman's friends and associates. However, it is entirely possible that there are some persons who would like to come to this dinner who might have been inadvertently overlooked. Therefore, the committee suggests that persons who wish to receive an invitation should call GASpee 1-4111 and request an invitation.

The committee regrets that because of space limitations dinner reservations are restricted to men only.

Local Needs Take Larger Percentage

NEW YORK—The question of pre-campaign budgeting for 1950 is now getting a good deal of attention in all the larger Jewish Welfare Funds throughout the country.

Many of them are in various stages of negotiations with the United Jewish Appeal on its participation in their 1950 campaigns.

It is estimated that the UJA received about 30 percent less from welfare funds in 1949 than in the previous year, while the general decline in totals raised was about 20 percent.

The policy pursued by the United Jewish Appeal now is to seek pre-campaign agreements on its share of the total to be raised by the local welfare funds.

This is the UJA condition for participation in the local welfare fund campaign. The communities are accepting the principle that the UJA should be given an opportunity to discuss and negotiate the terms of its inclusion.

Los Angeles, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia have decided on percentage agreements for the UJA, after computing the shrinkage and administrative costs.

Miami has established a fixed ratio in its pre-campaign budget of 2 to 1 between the UJA and all other beneficiaries, local and non-local—exclusive of administrative costs, shrinkage and refugee needs.

In Detroit, the UJA proportion of the total will rise with the level of campaign achievements.

St. Paul is planning to guarantee its local agencies the same

Name Queen Esther
Thursday at Dance

The 17th in the annual series of Queen Esther Purim dances will be held next Thursday evening, March 23 in the Crystal Ballroom of the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel. The event, for years one of the outstanding social events on the community calendar, is the first major affair of the Center's silver jubilee season.

As in the past, the selection and crowning of Queen Esther will be the highlight of the affair. This year, however, a novel and entirely different method of choosing the queen will be employed. Formerly, queen candidates were announced in advance and they conducted publicity campaigns to attract votes at the dance. This time, every girl who attends will automatically be considered for the honor, and a panel of judges, comprised of prominent men of the community, will make their selections in a manner not yet revealed by the committee. Names of the judges will be announced at the dance.

Qualifications that the judges will look for include beauty, charm, poise and personality. Gifts of outstanding value will be given the queen and her attendants, and the committee hopes to be able to announce that a week's Once upon a time there was a girl named Cinderella. But why go on? Everyone knows how she won the heart of the prince and overcame the forces of evil.

Well, long before the story of Cinderella was written, a girl called Esther did the same thing and even more—for she saved her people besides gaining a kingdom for herself.

We still celebrate her triumph annually, and keep her story alive by selecting a new Queen Esther at the J. C. C.'s annual Purim Dance. Glass slipper or regal crown—call it what you will—it will adorn the person of some lucky maiden next Thursday night at the Sheraton-Biltmore's Crystal Ballroom. Don't miss it!

TALENT-NITE SUNDAY NITE

5 THE PROVIDENCE JEWISH HERALD, FRIDAY, MARCH 17, 1950

Dan Cupid's Arrows Strike Purim Queens

Girls—Are you superstitious? Do you believe in fate? Well, listen to this. Every girl who has been elected Queen Esther at the Jewish Community Center's Purim Dance in the postwar period has become engaged and a bride shortly thereafter.

It happened to Gilda Baker in 1946, to Avis Swartz in 1947, to Eunice Woolf in 1948 and to Beverly White in 1949.

Will it happen again in 1950? We can't answer that one until we know who is Queen Esther for this year. And that will be decided next Thursday evening, March 23 at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel at the Center's 17th annual Queen Esther Dance.

Join the fun. Come down and see the queen selected by the judges and crowned. Maybe her King Ahasueros will be there.

With The Bowling Leagues

BETH-EL BOWLING

by Joe Gutterball
Less than one month of league competition remains for the Temple Beth El Brotherhood. The league race ends on April 6, and will be followed by two weeks of sweepstakes bowling.

President Eddie Deutch has announced that the bowling banquet this year will be held at the Ledgemont Country Club on April 27.

The two top teams—captained by Eddie Soforenko and Jack Bilow—each copped three out of four points.

Murray Trinkle was given the prize for scoring the first double-strike of the night. Another top bowler, Al Gordon, showed up last week with a mid-summer tan. He told the others who had frozen in Providence for the past few weeks about his grand time at Miami Beach.

Captain Morris Feldman continued his hot bowling by turning in a score of 344 for the night. But the high three-string for the night was marked up by Ed Feinberg with 368.

Rent Control

A breakfast meeting of the convention committee of the State Department, JWV, will be held Sunday at Lindy's under the chairmanship of Elliot Slack.

At a regular meeting held Monday evening, a committee, headed by William Boslovitz, was formed to collect toys for underprivileged children in Israel. The drive was started by Mel Allen, sports announcer. The group is endorsing continuation of rent control and the bill pending before the House and Senate for the Middle Housing Project.

up a record, by missing nine straight spares. He shook the jinx in the next string, scoring a neat 120, which was high for the evening and also grabbed the high three honors, with 300.

Other good singles scored were, George Labush 104, Al Datz 99.

OLYMPIC AUXILIARY

by Tedi Green

Rita Levin came through with high single for the night, 123, just one point shy of the season's record, while Fran Rodinsky copped high three of 299.

Esther Miller's absence was felt by her team as they were swamped 0-4 by the Leonard gals. Harriet Zarchen tried hard with a good string of 101, but Rita's score and a three of 274 by D. Leonard proved too much for her.

Lou Boren's group continues in a slump, losing 1-3 to the Winns. Fran Rodinsky sparked her team, rolling a single of 116, followed by Shirley Levin's 100 and Betty Cohen's 94. The strongest gals for the opposition were Mimi R. with 98 and Dotty Strashnick with 91.

FINEMAN-TRINKLE BOWLING

By Jerry Freiberg

Hal Cohen's tenacious five moved back into a tie for first place with the Shaulson quintet by downing the latter, 3-1. Despite a new high single record of 157 and a record-equaling high three of 393 by Phil Shaulson, the Cohens prevailed. Don Cohen and Hal Levin rolled 332 and 331 respectively.

The Steingolds humiliated the Summers 4-0 and the Feldmans did likewise to the hapless Friedmans. The Feldman gang racked up a new team three high of 1558. The Silvermans and Goldbergs battled to a 2-2 tie.

Murray Gordon posted a trio of 349, while Sam Feldman chalked up a 331 and Gene Silverman a 318. Milt Dubinsky came up with a single of 125, Feldman 124, Gordon 122, Shaulson 121 and Silverman 120.

CRANSTON BOWLING

Doc Dan Kouffman has announced that the Cranston League will accept challenges from other leagues for meets to be held three weeks, April 4, 11 and 18.

Applications for joining the Cranston league next year are available at the alleys on regular bowling night from Ed Lang, Doc Kouffman, Max Jagoliner or Doc Woolf. All applications should be given to the secretary by April 18.

DAUGHTERHOOD BOWLING

by Doris Levin

El Bida rolled a high three of 281, including a 95 and 102. Guest Eleanor Israel provided some competition with 81-98-97 for second high three of 278. Doris Graubart took high single with 105, but there were several girls right behind her: Freda Shapiro, 102, El Bida, 102, and Chicken Tarsky, 101.

SONS OF JACOB MEN'S CLUB

By S. Max Rosenberg

In the feature match of the evening, Buzzie Labush's team beat out Al Datz's gang two games to one.

In the first string, Buzzie set

Charlie Lecht 94 and Max Rosenberg 101.

Hollywood Scouts Here For Coronation

Do you have beauty? ... charm? ... poise? ... personality? And are you a girl?

The first four are optional—the last one necessary—if you are to stand a chance of being selected as Queen Esther at the Center's annual Purim Dance next Thursday night.

What combination of these qualities will the judges look for in making their selections? YOU may become the apple of their eye—and it couldn't happen to a nicer girl! If you're between 15 and 50, all you need do is scrape off the barnacles, streamline your hull—and show your face at the dance. The judges will do the rest.

Hollywood scouts are reported rushing East bearing gifts and contracts. Who knows what may be in store for Queen Esther and her attendants!

Negro Choir Here Next Week

The Howard University Choir of Washington, D. C., under the direction of Warner Lawson, Dean of the University's School of Music, will appear Friday night, March 24, at 8:30 o'clock at the Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

The group, now on tour, has appeared in concerts in the larger cities of the East and has broadcast on coast-to-coast networks of both CBS and NBC.

The Mood of Our Time

Dr. Abram L. Sachar, president of Brandeis University, sounded a pessimistic note in a recent speech.

Dr. Sachar described the mood of our time as essentially fatalistic. We are unable to make decisions, he said, because we no longer believe in ourselves, in any cause or in the solvability of any problem. We are petrified with fear and helplessness and feel there is nothing man can do to create a better climate for understanding and peace.

Well, is it really as bad as Dr. Sachar says? Is there no hope left for our generation?

Dr. Sachar's Dantesque picture is not entirely in accord with the facts. It is true that the more science perfects the tools of death and destruction the more frightened we become.

It is quite true that the mood of our time is by no means optimistic. We would rather call it a balanced realism. The veterans who went through the last war usually won't get excited over the future of our civilization, but neither will they admit that there is nothing to hold on to.

What happened is that man has been caught by surprise with the unforeseeable progress of science. The problems posed by this progress are so tremendous that for some time they will appear unsolvable.

But man will never give up hope that some day he will be able to cope with his new tasks. What seems like pessimism may really be the first excursion into a strange, unexplored future.

"One Man's Opinion"

Bringing In The Pesach

By BERNARD SEGAL

We might get a chilly morning now and then. A few snow flakes might even make a half-hearted attempt at alighting on us here and there. But the cold days are definitely over. One reason for this assurance is that Pesach is not far off. This holiday of the spring of the year somehow never goes with cold and snow. You say Pesach, and you think of balmy days, of promising breezes, and of the voice of the turtle dove in the land.

And Pesach is only two weeks away.

So, open your windows, and bid the Pesach mood enter into your home. It is not too early to do so.

Remember that you cannot wield a magic wand and say, "Enter Passover!" and expect the festival to do your bidding. Gradually, carefully, the holiday must be brought in.

Let the children begin to ask questions long before they sit down at the Seder to ask the prescribed four questions from the Hagadah. I say children, because it is all for their sake that the Pesach preparations are made. Unless their eyes sparkle with excitement and with wonder of it all, the ceremonials of the Seder night are meaningless and fall flat. It is like putting on a performance before an unimpressed audience. Parents, like teachers, must rack their brains for ways to attract attention and to awaken interest of their charges.

"Why do you decorate the house now, mother?"

"Pesach is coming, my child. We are brightening up things around the house in honor of the spring festival."

"Oh, these dishes are beautiful, mother. When did you buy them, mother?"

"I ordered them for Pesach, my child. We will use them for the first time on the Seder night."

And why not a set of dishes for the child to use during the Pesach week? Something to own, and to cherish, and to look for, as season follows season and the next Pesach comes around. I still remember my little wine cup, and my soup bowl with the floral design on the border, that made its appearance every Pesach for the Seder, in the years of my childhood.

Our parents knew the value of childhood impressions in the life of all of us. They hardly had any knowledge of modern theories about child education. They sensed naturally the principles of psychology that we read about in volumes written by specialists.

Shoes were bought just before Pesach and kept new for the first day of the holiday. Clothes were delivered on the eve of Pesach and they were fresh and Pesach-dig for that night for the Seder.

The Spell of Pesach

There was suspense and surprise and excitement in the pre-Pesach doings around the house. One had to be very dull not to fall under the spell of these days.

Of Course, the story of Pesach is beautiful and of a lofty significance. What is more beautiful than the awakening of the earth to a new life? What is loftier than the march of a people up from slavery to a land of freedom?

But the drama of Pesach as it is unfolded in the Hagadah may give us, grown-ups, cause for celebration. The child, however, needs more than the Hagadah. The seder nights, to be impressive and meaningful for the young, are to be the climax of busy days of preparation, packed with expectations.

Going with mother on that shopping trip for Pesach products... Getting the Kiddush cups and the Seder plate off the upper shelf, where they were stored all during the year... Looking for the illustrated Hagadah hidden somewhere in the book case... Playing the records of Pesach songs that father brought home for the child—all these are sources of excitement and wonder that will bring back precious memories in the years to come.

The wise parents will provide many such sources in the days before Pesach.

SYD COHEN:

The Baseball Program Starts

With little fanfare but much enthusiasm—enthusiasm underwritten by hard work—baseball returned officially to the Jewish community on Sunday afternoon when more than 100 youngsters from all over the city attended the first program in the "Operation Baseball" series that is being sponsored by the Jewish Community Center.

The kids seemed to enjoy the programs, that were carried on simultaneously at Temples Emanuel and Beth-El and at the Center. They saw baseball movies and listened to such outstanding figures in the sports world as Harry Platt, of Brown University basketball fame; Walter (Pard) Pearce, former big leaguer and now a noted basketball coach, and Wilfred (Lefty) Lefebvre, former Holy Cross and Boston Red Sox pitcher and now baseball coach at Brown.

All the youngsters registered to continue in the series, and they may be expected to show up again this Sunday afternoon at 2:30 when the second program is presented. Attendance should be greater, too, since those who showed up Sunday have by now told their pals about it.

For those parents who hesitate to permit the boys to take off by themselves, and who may have a genuine interest in seeing what is going on in the kids' behalf, the Center extends an invitation to come along with the offspring, to see what it's all about, and enjoy the show. All this at no obligation to the senior kid of the family.

For those who have not followed the matter, "Operation Baseball" is intended to interest the boys in playing baseball and learning more about it. Eventually, there will be a baseball league that it is hoped will expand to all age groups and become a regular part of our community life. For 1950, however, it will be a bit different.

Movies and Clinics

The first job being to get the kids interested and informed, the project will include movies, such as were shown last week, and clinics, in which the boys will be given expert instruction in the various techniques of baseball play. They will also be given the chance to play ball; but this too will be on an experimental basis and will be informal. That is, there will be no actual league. After the clinic sessions, sides will be picked and the boys will play as many innings as there is time for.

The baseball clinics, by the way, are being scheduled for the near future. A few more introductory programs, such as Sunday's are on tap first—and then, on to the meat of the subject.

Probably the most fascinating phase will be the formation of Knot-Hole groups in the various sections of the city. The kids who register for the program actually are signing up in one of these clubs. It is hoped by Center officials that membership in the Knot-Hole clubs will include a trip to Boston later this year to see a major league ball game. Maybe the clubs could have a round-robin playoff at the end of the summer, but that is an added thought.

How to Help

At any rate, it would seem that here at last is a worthwhile program for the youngsters that has been noticeably lacking up to now. It merits support—and that support can follow many patterns. First, you fathers and older brothers and uncles and just plain baseball fans—all of you can help by talking it up to the kids and their parents and getting them to attend the programs and join the baseball parade.

Second, any of you who qualify could help by volunteering your services to the Center as instructors or coaches or just adult escorts, to attend the meetings and help keep things going smoothly.

Third, there may be some of you who have some baseball equipment you don't need or that you can spare; again, some of you may know where there is some equipment available. Every little bit helps, and every contribution will be appreciated.

And fourth, it requires cash—the jingling stuff, the coin of the realm, the long green—gelt, you should pardon the expression—to operate an ambitious program such as this "Operation Baseball." It doesn't matter whether you can afford one dollar or fifty; the point is that you could be making a direct contribution toward the future health and welfare and recreational pleasure of our small fry—and is there anything better and more heart-warming than that?

There is a fifth contribution everyone can make, whether you pick one of the above four or ignore all of them. Just keep in touch with the program by watching it, reading about it, noticing what goes on. In that way, maybe some day you may decide to take part in it. That's not too much to ask, is it?

And, confidentially, don't you adults wish there had been such a program available to us, when we were kids?

Don't forget, boys—Sunday at 2:30. The Center for North Enders, Emanuel for East Siders and Beth-El for South Providence, Elmwood and Edgewood—and all points south.
