Tidbits and News of Jewish Personalities
By DAVID SCHWARTZ

Did You Know That

A Jew, by the name of Isaac Greenwald, thrilled the intelligentsia of Boston in the early part of the 18th century with lectures on chemistry?

A grandsire of Dr. Solomon Solis Cohen, by the name of Reuben Etting, who fought in the American Revolutionary Army, was captured by the British and given the choice of eating pork or nothing—just because he was a Jew, and that as a result of his refusal to eat the forbidden meat and the malnutrition which ensued, he developed tuberculosis, from which he shortly after died?

Dr. Joshua Bloch, chief of the Jewish Division of the New York Public Library, who has never had anything to do with trade in his life, is President of the Board of Trade of the town of New Hyde Park, Long Island?

Stranger than fiction, Lewis Browne now has a partner to share his royalties?

Walter Winchell, $200,000.00 a year columnist, at one time sang in the choir of Cantor Rosenblatt?

The name of the same Winchell at the time was Lipschutz?

Some ancient Jewish mystics believed, outchristian-science Christian Science, that even the weather reacted to man's thinking?

Marcel Proust was of quasi-Jewish descent?

A "goy," Henry George, penned one of the most brilliant and readable essays on Moses which has ever been done—and which you should read?

A certain New York damsel, once courted by Jed Harris now rues the night she said "No" to the famous theatre producer, and that when she first heard of Jed's great success, she couldn't believe it was the same Jed?

Isaac M. Wise, father of Reform Judaism in America, was so fed up by his early experiences in America—to the general reactions to his Rabbinical views, that he took up the study of the law, intending to retire from the cloth?

A well-known "booklegger," who was recently sentenced to prison for publishing the forbidden, is out again and has just gotten out a so-called expurgated edition of an extremely naughty but highly literary work?

The aforesaid individual was at one time regarded as one of the two or three most promising poets in America?

Not that it matters, the Jewish population of Philadelphia in 1857 was 500?

There would probably be a wholesale slaughter of the staffs of some of the Yiddish dailies, to meet the hard times, but the Jewish press union "no let"?

Babbette Deutsch, poetess, is the wife of Avram Yarmolinsky, chief of the Russian division of the New York library?

The Henry Clay family was intermarried with the Gratz family of Philadelphia?

Reflex Dr. Melammed is one of the few contemporary Jews, whose books are officially listed as forbidden on the index Expurgatorus of Rome?

When Joseph Pulitzer, founder of the New York World, came to America he could not wait until the ship docked, but jumped from aboard, while the boat was some half a mile distant, and swam to shore?

That one of the Rothschilds said that if Pulitzer had not become blind, he would have owned pretty nearly everything else beside the New York World, but that since his death, the sheet has been lagging financially, though its sister papers, the Evening World and the St. Louis Post Dispatch, are very spry indeed?

Myron Weiss, associate editor of Time, hails from Cleveland on the Cuyahoga?

Jacob Leichtman, treasurer of the American Jewish Congress, established the second largest industrial bank in the country while still in the early thirties?

DR. LEWIS BROWNE TO GIVE TALK AT CENTER, SUNDAY

Is Noted Lecturer and Author of Several Brilliant Works; Was Once a Rabbi

Dr. Lewis Browne, nationally known lecturer, will deliver one of his masterly orations at the Jewish Community Center, Sunday evening, December 28th.

Dr. Browne is not a newcomer in Providence, for he has spoken from the same platform on another occasion and has stirred his audiences to the very depths. Although only in his thirties, he is an acknowledged figure in the literary world.

His recent work, "The Believing World," a history of the Jewish people has been translated into several European languages, and has outsold any other work on the subject ever published in English, while his latest book, "That Man Heine," the life of the lyric poet was selected by the Literary Guild of America, as one of the year's most brilliant distinguished biographical productions. With these brilliant works, Mr. Browne has definitely established himself among the foremost humanists of our generation.

His extraordinary talent was evident before he ever took to writing. When he was still a very young rabbi preaching in a small city in New England, Sinclair Lewis, who discovered him there, wrote of him:

"He gives one the pleasure of watching a brain free from prejudices and fanaticisms yet warm with humanitarianism, hard and athletic from many studies, yet alive to the gaieties, the absurdities, the lovable commonnesses of daily life."

The lecture will begin promptly at 8:30, and the audience is requested to come early so as not to disturb the speaker. Members as usual will be admitted upon the presentation of membership cards. The lecture is open to the public.

20,000,000 Rubles Set Aside by Russia to Aid Jewish Colonies in 1931

Soviet Government Contributes Over Sixteen Million Rubles in Last Four Years to Help Jews

Moscow, Dec. 26—The sum of 20,000,000 rubles has been set aside by the Soviet government to assist agricultural colonies in 1931, it was announced today at the closing session of the All-Union conference of the Ozet, the society for settling the Jews on the land. Among the resolutions adopted was one placing the Jewish settlement work in Crimea on an equal footing with that in Bira Bidjan, Far Eastern Republic and another encouraging the continued infiltration of Jews into heavy industry.

It was pointed out that the Five Year Plan has not hurt the movement to settle the Jews on the land but has served instead to relieve the economic situation of the Jews in the small towns by furnishing work to thousands. Michael Kalinin, chairman of the Central Executive Committee of the U. S. S. R. was elected honorary president of the Ozet because of his deep interest in the problems of the Jewish people.

Moscow, Dec. 26—The sum of 16,400,000 rubles was contributed by the Soviet government in the last four years to help settle Jews on the land under the auspices of the Comzet and the Ozet, according to a report submitted today to the All-Union conference of the Ozet, the society for settling the Jews on the land, which carries out the plans of the Comzet, the government commission for settling Jews on the land.

Of this sum 3,500,000 rubles were contributed in 1929 and 7,000,000 rubles in 1930. The report also showed that the Ozet has settled about 23,000 Jewish families on the land, 20,000 of them since 1926, when the last Ozet conference met. In Crimea, Ukraine, White Russia Transcaucasia and other districts of European Russia about 600,000 hectares of land were distributed to Jews during this period while 3,800,000 hectares were apportioned in Bira Bidjan, Siberia.

In addition, of those Jews whom the Ozet settled through purely agricultural funds in European Russia more than 25,000 families were established on the soil in the immediate vicinity of their towns. In this manner, 13,000 were settled in Ukraine, 10,000 in White Russia and 2,000 in other districts. Collectivization among Jewish farmers has reached nearly 70 per cent of the total, the report indicates.

The membership of the Ozet has grown from 60,000 in November, 1926 to more than 300,000 in May, 1930, almost half of whom are non-Jews. The Ozet now has more than 500 district branches. It published 68 periodicals with a combined circulation in excess of 200,000.

Local Poale Zion Branch Holds Banquet, Sunday

The Providence branch celebrated the 25th anniversary of the Poale Zion Party of America at a banquet held at Zinn's Banquet Hall, on Mathewson street, last Sunday night. More than 75 persons attended. Isaac Hemlin, national secretary of the Poale Zion, was the guest of honor and principal speaker.

Alter Boyman, chairman of the Providence branch, presided, and, in a brief opening address, reviewed the achievements of the Poale Zion party in the quarter of a century of its existence. Dr. Ilie Berger brought greetings in the name of the Zionist State Region, and Mrs. Kramer Phillips greeted the branch in the name of the Providence section of the Women Pioneers of which she is president, Cantor Igor Gruenberg, the noted Viennese singer, sang several Jewish folk songs, accompanied at the piano by Arthur Einstein.

Mr. Hemlin, who has recently returned from a visit to Palestine as a member of the Jewish workers' delegation from America, spoke at length about the accomplishments of the Poale Zion party. He cited its influence upon Jewish community life in America in the past 25 years and its role in the national re-awakening of American Jewry. He dwelt especially upon the Poale Zion influence on the Jewish labor movement in the United States and its gradual conversion to the cause of Palestine. He gave a glowing account of Zionist achievements in Palestine, which he said cannot be defeated by British political enmity, and urged support of the National Fund drive here.

DR SONDERLING ADDRESSES BOSTON ZIONISTS

The Boston Zionist Organization installed its newly-elected officers on Sunday, December 21, at the Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston, at 8 p. m. Addresses were delivered by the newly-elected president, Judge J. J. Kaplan, who delivered the inaugural address; Rabbi Jacob Sonderling of Providence, R. I., well-known orator, and Hon. Elihu D. Stone, president of the New England Zionist Region.

Vocal and instrumental selections were rendered. The Chanukah candles were lighted by Cantor Hyman Shulsinger who also rendered several vocal selections.

275TH ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED OF FIRST JEWISH PILGRIMS

Noted Rabbis, Christian Ministers and Communal Leaders Attend Celebration

Boston, Dec. 26—Boston Jews in thousands on last Wednesday crowded the historic Faneuil Hall, "cradle of liberty," to celebrate the two hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the first Jewish settlement in the United States. An impressive array of distinguished guests, including rabbis and Christian ministers, men and women in the professional and educational fields and communal leaders, joined in greetings on this historic occasion.

Praises Work of Jews
A special message from President Hoover to the meeting reads as follows:

"The Jewish people have brought to this country both the treasure of their ancient tradition and the pioneer spirit that looks forward hopefully into the future. They have thrown themselves wholeheartedly into the task of the nation's upbuilding. In every national crisis they have shown their loyalty and devotion to the home of their choice and have made valuable contributions in every worthwhile field of endeavor. I felicitate the gathering of those who celebrate the passing of the 275th year of Jewish participation in American life."

A message from Vice-President Curtis was also read at the meeting. Greetings were delivered by Congressman Sol Bloom of New York; Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart, eminent historian of Harvard University; Dr. Daniel Marsh, president of Boston University; Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University; Louis Wiley of the New York Times; Rabbi David de Sola Pool of New York; Paul Wolman of Baltimore, National Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Mayor Curley of Boston; and Episcopalian and Catholic dignitaries.

All of them lauded Jewish achievements in this country and pointed out the three-fold significance of the occasion as follows: its historic value, its good-will spirit and its inspiration to Jews and non-Jews for future accomplishments.

Einstein, the Jew

When the great scientist, Albert Einstein, reached New York, he was overwhelmed by reports, flooded with requests for interviews, almost overcome by the plethora of invitations. In all three cases he showed himself first and foremost a Jew. His first statement was under the auspices of Avukah. His first interview was to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency. His first guests were representatives of the Jewish National Fund and the Zionist Organization of America. Veritably, Einstein, the Jew!—Editor's Note.

A Jewish man, not tall, with a great massive head surmounted by a violinist's crop of up-standing white hair, with poetic brown eyes that had the characteristic Jewish way of shining far back into reflective abstraction, sat in the cabin of the steamer Belgenland and discussed what seemed to him for the time being to be the supreme problem: the problem of the relation of the individual Jew to his racial background.

An hour earlier two reporters had stood in the swarm of reporters on the deck of a revenue cutter that swept out to the "attack" on the Belgenland. A reinforcement of cameramen, and a barrage division of movie photographers were behind the mass of reporters. A half dozen sob-sisters, rare passengers on the ship-reporter's beat, attested to the fact that this was an extraordinary event; a chosen-among-the-chosen celebrity was to be greeted by America. The two reporters debated. One had it that Lindbergh was better known than Einstein.

"In America, maybe. But you take it all around, Einstein gets the medal."

They decided that Einstein was the best known, and the most respected man on earth. Then one said: "Why nobody knows anything about his work. Only the furthest advanced of scientists understand his theories. Why do people worship him when they don't know what he has done?"

The other said, "That's just why." Somehow the magnitude of a man penetrates to veils of mystery. The mass public identifies a field with a name. Science has come to take the place of religion and of magic. It is the all-powerful. And the mass has room for only one name for each field of thought. Flying means Lindbergh. Science means Einstein. Thus identified as the ruler of that wide mystic universe, he becomes a god, and more a god because his ways are unknown.

An hour later this man Einstein was sitting in his cabin with two representatives of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, while his wife, a nice Jewish woman, kept reminding him that it was time to eat.

The swarm of newspapermen had come and gone. Einstein had faced the ordeal with surprising good humor. He had allowed the photographers to wheel him around. He had bantered the reporters, made quick clever remarks for the sob-sisters, and shown no hint of losing his temper when asked foolish "scientific questions." True, for a moment he had betrayed himself. He had said, in an aside to his assistant, "Mein Gott! They are like wolves, they will not go away until they have taken a bite out of my flesh."

An he was finally allowed to get back to his cabin. Then he consented to the first calm interview to be granted on his coming to America. And it is significant that the interview was granted to a Jewish Agency, and that the problem was a problem of Jewish life. Hundreds of requests for interviews on science, on politics, on art, on Germany, on America, were made. The man chose that which he felt concerned him. He was a Jew. He had something to say about being a Jew, and on that subject he was willing to speak.

Einstein's complete, simple and frank relation to Judaism was evident in another way in his coming to America. Innumerable agencies had cabled requests for him to address them, radio companies had tried to get him to speak, publisher's agents had flocked him.

Then, amidst the flood of requests that came to him on the boat, he found a telegram from Avukah, a small organization, the student Zionist organization of America.

To them, Professor Einstein felt, he had something to say. They were students, he loves to greet students. They were Zionists; he, too, is a Zionist. To the amazement of all America, he cabled back that his greeting to America would be delivered over the radio through Avukah!

Of all the organizations that thronged to him on his arrival, he offered to accept delegations from the Zionist Organization of America and from the Jewish National Fund.

Prof. Einstein's vigorous activity in the Jewish world has had a remarkable psychologic effect on Jews, and certainly on non-Jews. It has won him the respect of the entire world, and it has also won him a little unpleasantness on the part of the Hitler anti-Semitic party in Germany.

But this does not concern him. "Hitler is living on the empty stomach of Germany," said Professor Einstein, on his arrival in America. "As soon as the stomach is filled, Hitler will have no more reason for existence."

But these, too, were only practical thoughts, related to the every-day world. Prof. Einstein's deeper relation to Judaism is, with him, a matter for abstract thought, and for philosophical thought. When he discussed it, he assumed that slow, word-by-word way of thinking that must be characteristic of his mathematical research. He may be called three times to lunch. But he is on the track of an idea, and he stays in his place until he has realized his thought.

He was asked to define the forces that should keep a modern Jew at one with his race, since the powerful agencies of the forms of orthodox religion are no longer everywhere felt.

"Every human group is kept together fundamentally because of a body of tradition shared by all its members, and through the observance of a common way of life," he said. "The existence of a common blood may be a strong factor in the preservation of the unity of the group, as it is among our Jewish people, but there may be a strong national unity without blood-unity."

The American, he pointed out, was a national type, though a mixture of many bloods.

He looked into the fire-place, where a coal-fire glowed. As he gave himself over to reflection, the muscles in his cheeks seemed to tighten, and for the first time his face lost the air of rubicund joviality that it gives on first impression. It looked warm.

His mind was organizing thought. What held people together as a group-unity? First, he said, "a common historic past." And that was certainly true of the Jews. Next, there followed "certain distinct psychic traits developed in the people through this common historic experience." And that was certainly true of the Jews. Certain commercial traits, certain traits of resistance, as when they were called the "stiff-necked people."

Between each of these thoughts, worded in characteristically complicated German phrases, he paused. His each further thought was a perfect grammatical continuation of his involved sentence. "A common understanding of morality," he specified, as a factor determining group-unity, and a common "way of life."

This "understanding of morality," would be fixed in youth-time, and therefore would remain firm throughout life.

Now, all these qualities might determine a group of people. But did they determine the Jew? Professor Einstein continued to think. A tiny, closed shaving scar on his cheek attested to the controlled impatience of his artist-nerves.

He ended, "And in the case of our Jewish people, there is something else. There is a quality that we feel, but which cannot be defined." He stopped. Again he thought. And suddenly he dropped the whole formality of his manner. He turned, and said quite casually, like a Jew, "That's it. You can't put it into words. You feel it." The Jew had defeated the scientist.

Then he discussed Zionism. "I think that the greatest value of Zionism is in this," he said. "It builds up again the self-respect of the Jews. That self-respect has been weakened by various forces active in the world today. Through Zionism, a new Jewish solidarity is felt."

In this way, Prof. Einstein arrives at his Jewish philosophy. The Jew, having once realized himself as a member of a human group, tied to that group by a common historic past, must so regulate his behavior as to express, in the furthest possible way, his relationship to this group.

"Everyone must find his own way of expression," he says. "For me, there are two ways. The first is for the individual to take part with his fellows, working together to develop a full understanding of Judaism. The second, is for the individual to try to make secure, and to better the moral good of the group."

With this philosophy, Prof. Einstein's open, simple avowed Judaism becomes readily understood. He is utterly "at home" as a Jew, and, having no further questioning on that part of himself, has no self-consciousness of his "Jewishness."

In speaking of American Jewry, Prof. Einstein said, "They are an important factor in world-Jewry. Economically, they are the strongest part of our group. Politically, they have suffered less in the last ten years than any other part of our group." Spiritually? Of that he would not speak.

And then, Frau Einstein finally won him to lunch. She, too, is a characteristically Jewish woman. She is the manager of everything from her husband's meals to his bank book. When reporters asked whether he had brought his violin along on the boat, it was Frau Elsa who said, "No, because the heat around the Panama Canal would destroy the violin." Practical and sensible in such things, and widely understanding in all other

MONTREAL SEEKS $100,000 FOR HEBREW EDUCATIONAL CENTER

Montreal, Dec. 26—(JTA)—On Dec. 14, Chanukah week, Montreal Jewry were asked to complete the building to be known as the Hebrew Educational Center. The campaign for funds has already received the endorsement and enthusiastic support of many Jews of Montreal.

Until construction was commenced on the Hebrew Educational Institute, the Talmud Torahs were able to accommodate only 1200 children in the schools that were located mainly in the districts unable to provide their own schools. The Hebrew Educational Institute now being erected is a three-story building and contains a combined auditorium, chapel and play room, a small assembly hall, eight class rooms and a library.

The campaign, which is for a sum of $100,000, is endorsed by 29 Synagogues, the various lodges of the Zionist Order of Habonim and the Ladies' Auxiliaries of many congregations. The joint chairmen of the campaign are Samuel Hart and Horace Cohen.

CUBA PLANNING IMMIGRATION RESTRICTIONS LIKE U. S.

Havana, Cuba, Dec. 26—(JTA)—Immigration restrictions modeled on the quota system of the United States are now being planned in Cuba. A bill to establish a quota for immigrants has already been adopted by the Cuban House of Representatives, although its adoption by the Senate is still regarded as doubtful.

El Pais, powerful Havana daily, in an editorial in a recent issue, states that immigrants, mostly from Eastern and Central Europe, have recently been flooding Cuba, competing with the natives in industry and trade and spreading "Red" propaganda among the Cuban workers. Because of the present economic crisis in Cuba, says the paper, immediate steps should be taken by Congress to make drastic cuts in immigration.

things, she knows in what groups her husband will be interested. She talks with him of Jewish needs, Jewish organizations, Jewish appeals, Jewish movements, much as a Jewish housewife would discuss the affairs of the congregation with her husband. In appearance, she is what one recognizes at once as "sympathetic." She is short, no longer slim of figure. Her hair is straight and gray. Her clothes are quite simple.

Herr and Frau Einstein are a good couple. One may easily imagine them at peace in a small house. It is certainly a Jewish house.

PLANTERS OFFER MORE JOBS WITH WAGE CUTS

Jerusalem, Dec. 26—(JTA)—The orange planters at Petach-Tikvah and elsewhere have undertaken to assure the employment of a larger number of Jewish laborers in the orange groves if the Jewish Federation of Labor will agree to a reduction in the wage scale from four to three shillings daily, the Vaad Leumi was informed recently.

It is pointed out, however, that the planters had formerly agreed to a cut of half a shilling daily, while the present proposal would make it impossible for the Jewish laborers to exist.

Candles, Candles in the Snow

HARRY ALAN POTAMKIN

FRANK J. POTAMKIN

Can - dles, can - dles in the snow (Blow, blow, wind, blow) Burn you with an ar - dent glow

(Day, day, droop low) Burn you like the fer - vent star, (Star, star, gleam far,) Burn you like the dream you are, (Dream brighter than a star:) Can - dles, can - dles in the snow, Where do all the fires go,

Where do all the fires go? Go to warm the froz - en dream, Go to give the star its gleam,

Go to give the day its sun, When the can - dles' night is done. Can - dles, can - dles in the snow Burn you with an ar - dent glow, Burn you like the fer - vent star, Burn you like the dream you are.

CHANUKAH CELEBRATION HELD AT CONGREGATION B'NAI SYNAGOGUE

One of the finest of Chanukah celebrations was held at the Congregation B'Nai Israel Synagogue on Sunday afternoon. The Synagogue was filled to capacity.

A main feature of the afternoon program was a concert given by Igor Gruenberg, from the State Opera of Vienna. Choral and orchestral features was enjoyed by the Woonsocket Jewry.

Mr. Gruenberg, gave a group of three numbers and an encore. The widely known tenor is on a concert tour of the United States. He was accompanied by Walter Nelson of Providence.

Another important part of the musical offering was that in which the Woonsocket Hebrew Choral Society made its debut. Cantor Ashmel Heuberg was well repaid for his efforts in carefully preparing for the premiere.

The drama presented was that of Elma Ehlich Levinger entitled "The Light of Israel" the time being laid in the year 167 B. C. E. Colorful costumes of those ancient days, were worn by the children taking part, adding to the special scenery used. Miss Sarah Baker supervised and directed this play.

The program was as follows:

Sunday School Orchestra—Morton H. Darman, conducting. "The Star Spangled Banner," sung by the Woonsocket Hebrew Choral Society. "The story of Chanukah" by Ruth Brenner. "The Song of Chanukah" by the children of the Sunday school.

The tableau and dance of the Chanukah candles was arranged by Miss Catherine Mackey and directed by Miss Sarah Shorr. At the piano: Mrs. Louis Golden.

"The Spirit of the Candles" Prima Ballerina—Miss Ruth Brenner, ballet: Jennie Baram, Edith Bernstein, Alice Bernstein, Ruth Brown, Sarah Koop-

FIND 300 ARAB LABORERS IN COUNTRY ILLEGALLY

Jerusalem, Dec. 26—(JTA)—Following strenuous Jewish representations that more Arabs than Jews enter Palestine without passports, the police listed recently nearly 300 Arabs from Haurana and other points in Transjordan who entered without permits and are employed at various enterprises in the country.

JEWISH, ARAB POLICEMEN CITED FOR BRAVERY

Jerusalem, Dec. 26—(JTA)—Seventeen Arab policemen and eight Jewish policemen were cited recently for bravery during the riots of 1929. They received the thanks of the High Commissioner. None of the Jews cited were connected with divisions outside of Jerusalem.

MACCABEAN DAY OBSERVED BY JEWISH NATIONAL FUND

Maccabean Day was observed Sunday, the last day of Chanukah, by the semi-annual popular collection carried out for the benefit of the Palestine Land Fund.

Nearly 8,000 volunteers registered for participation in the collection, which took the form of the sale of National Fund tags with the permission of the Welfare Department. Outside of New York, Maccabean Day was observed in the same manner on Sunday, December 14th, in 350 Jewish communities throughout the United States.

The Fund derives an income of nearly $30,000 from the sale of Maccabean Day tags. This year the income is expected to be much larger, in view of the stimulus given to the work by the presence here of Menachem Ussishkin, president of the World Jewish National Fund, and to the great interest now prevailing among American Jews in the Palestine land problem as a result of the recent political developments in Jerusalem and London.

PADEREWSKI THANKS JEWS FOR THEIR AID TO POLAND

Washington, Dec. 26—(JTA) — "I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart for all your people have done for my country," said Ignatz Jan Paderewski, famous pianist and former Premier of Poland, to Isidore Hershfield, Washington representative of the Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society, at the end of his concert here recently.

When the concert was over, Mr. Hershfield made his way to Paderewski to say that he and Mrs. Hershfield had spent three interesting years in Poland after the Armistice in Jewish relief work, and as a result got this reply from M. Paderewski. Mr. Hershfield is also President of the Washington Zionist District.

SOVIET ENVOY TO GERMANY ORTHODOX JEW'S SON

Berlin, Dec. 26 — (JTA) — Leo Chintshuk, the new Russian Ambassador to Germany, who arrived here recently to assume his duties, is the son of Orthodox parents. Born in Poltava in 1868 he was excluded from the gymnasia because of his political activities and all of his endeavors to obtain admission to a secondary school failed because he was a Jew.

He then went to Berne, Switzerland, where he studied at the university, returning to Russia in 1893. He was arrested and exiled to Siberia. During the Bolshevik revolution Chintshuk became a Menshevik and took a keen interest in Jewish affairs. Later, however, he joined the Bolsheviks.

CHRISTMAS AND THE JEW IN AMERICA

For many years Christmas celebration has meant and caused suffering to the Jews. For that reason, many Jews have felt it their duty to forget the birthday of Christ, or to look upon it as the most unfortunate day in history for the Jewish people. By a terrible irony, the teachings of Christ have always been forgotten by those who fanatically sought his divine favor by ignorant and despicable Jew-baiting, all in a so-called spirit of religious enthusiasm. Today, and particularly in America much of this is evident.

Here the Jew is comparatively free from a cruel and unjust hatred, because of an implied crime against Christianity; and his position in the world of religion and life is looked upon with a certain amount of respect. He has achieved this level by a consistent and honest allegiance to Judaism, and it is safe to say that only by continuing to revere and understand his own religion can the Jew gain and keep the respect of other religious groups.

At this time, the Jew should remember that Christmas is not his holiday. He is not called upon to celebrate it with fir trees, wreaths, nor any of the paraphernalia that goes with the period. He should not countenance the giving of gifts among Jews as a manifestation of the Christmas spirit. What wishes and gifts he may extend to gentile friends and associates is a different matter. On no account, however, should any Jew teach his children to feel that Christmas is their holiday. The inconsistency of such teaching will only bring them unhappiness and confusion later.

Yet, the Jew is not even now without his own festive holiday. He may celebrate Chanukah with exchanging gifts, burning bright lights, and with many wishes of joy and happiness to others. This holiday he may explain to his children as one sacred and beautiful to Jews all over the world; and this holiday they may love and revere as their very own all the days of their life. This holiday they may identify with their own beloved Judaism. But to neglect Chanukah and to honor Christmas is a fault, deep-seated and unworthy. Let us remember that others have the right to commemorate what is to them holy, but that Jews are neither compelled nor urged to ape their Christian neighbors in America. Let us maintain our dignity by celebrating Chanukah as our own holiday, and by leaving the observances of Christmas to those who believe in it and love it. Above all, let us not attempt to identify Judaism with Christmas, either in spirit or in fact. Let us use our sweet freedom to the advantage of our honor, and to the glory of those who shall come after us!

LADIES AUXILIARY AHAVATH SHOLOM HOLDS MEETING

A meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Ahavath Sholom Talmud Torah was held in the vestry of the Ahavath Sholom Synagogue, Wednesday evening, December 24, with Mrs. J. Adler, President, presiding.

Further plans on the coming bridge to be held at Zinn's Banquet Hall on January 21, were discussed. Mrs. Ralph Fishbein reported that all plans are complete, and that a very enjoyable evening will be in store for all who attend. A report on the Chanukah celebration held Sunday for the pupils of the Talmud Torah was given by Mrs. Ostrow, chairman. Goddies were distributed, and the children entertained. A report was also given on the Friday evening services held for the pupils each week. At these services the children will be served a "Kiddush" after services. It was also announced that the Yearly Meeting will be held Sunday evening, January 4, 1931, in the Vestry of the synagogue. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Letter to the Editor

Editor, Jewish Herald.

It was welcome news that you published in your columns recently about the new administration of the Zionist District in our city. Providence Jewry rejoices that the reigns of office have been finally placed in the hands of an administration so efficiently headed by a man as our good friend Joseph Smith.

There is much encouragement and inspiration in this news because there are many Zionists in our city who, under the type of leadership we now will have, can and will be brought back into the work of the Movement. The present Palestine situation makes this work even more important now, than at any other time. To give it new vitality and influence, the Zionist Movement in our city and elsewhere needs at its helm, men and women of the highest calibre whose interest will translate itself into not merely increased membership and the collecting of a few paltry dollars but intense interest in the advance of culture and all important aspects of American Jewish life as well. After all, Zionism is, and will be, the force that re-establishes the love for both Eretz Yisroel and Judaism.

Let us face the facts. The things that give life to Zionism have been moving faster than the ideological concept back of them. But here in our city, as well as in various other communities, progress along these lines has not merely stood still but has steadily dropped backwards. This can be attributed directly to those who have been at the Zionist helm and have had control of its affairs through lacking the ability, to a shocking extent, to meet the situation and solve the problems as they arose.

All over the world, particularly in America, there has recently occurred a quickening of interest, compelling a change of leadership and the development of a program for practical work. And while the election of one person or another may, to the minds of many, seem relatively unimportant, yet in this case, it is and was of utmost significance. It proves conclusively that we are mindful of the existing situation and that we are determined to get on our side the unselfish, idealistic forces; forces that are not concerned with self but are sincerely devoted to the great Jewish Cause; forces which can be depended upon to take hold of Zionist efforts and direct them into the channels productive of the greatest good for Palestine and Jewry the world over.

I am sounding this glad news through your columns with the hope that it will reach those able men and women who, for the past eight years have been kept out of the Movement and to whom this election of a man of the calibre of Joseph Smith therefore means a new era for Zionism of Providence. To him and to the support of his endeavor, all of us in whose soul the love of Zion is strong, must rally and give strength and loyal support.

Yours sincerely,

Henry Hassenfeld.

"Europe then was embroiled in constant feuds. Tyrants oppressed their fear-stricken subjects. Savagery was rampant; superstition rife. Massacres and the gibbet, dungeons and torture were the bloody answers to foolhardy rebels who asked for religious freedom or social equality.

American Jewry Unites to Honor Hadassah Founder

Seventieth Birthday of Henrietta Szold Is Fittingly Observed

On Dec. 21, 1930, all American Jewry honored Henrietta Szold on her 70th birthday. Miss Szold is founder of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America. Non-Zionists as well as Zionists voted to voice their appreciation of the work of Miss Szold, who is considered the foremost Jewess of today.

By nature a scholar, she found herself as far back as 1886 projected into important constructive social effort. At that time the May Laws of Russia, which relegated Jews to settlement in the Pale, had been passed. As a result, thousands of Russian Jews emigrated to America, part of the vanguard settling in Baltimore. There were no public evening schools in Baltimore at that time. Henrietta Szold organized classes to teach these immigrants English and to help them in their Americanization. This was only the beginning of her contributions.

After a visit to Palestine in 1911, she gathered together a few handfuls of women, placed the problems of the Jew in Palestine before them and founded Hadassah. Later as a result of the activities of Hadassah, Junior Hadassah was formed. These organizations have now grown to a membership of 50,000, who raise $670,000 for the work of the Hadassah Medical Organization and other activities in Palestine. This organization, which Henrietta Szold founded, now maintains five hospitals, five dispensaries, 32 rural dispensaries, 22 infant welfare stations, supplies hot luncheons for school children and supports other vitally important health projects in Palestine.

For twenty-five years, Miss Szold served as Secretary to the Jewish Publication Society. The position demanded that she correspond with writers in other countries. She translated books from French, German and Hebrew and the Year Book was largely compiled and edited by her.

During her work for Palestine, she supervised at one time, the entire Hadassah Medical Organization. In August, 1927, she was elected to the Palestine Zionist Executive, the highest Zionist tribunal and the greatest tribute ever paid a Jewish woman. This past October she came from Palestine to attend the 16th annual convention of the organization, which she founded.

During the entire month of December her birthday has been made the subject of speeches from the pulpit and platform of cities throughout the country. The 296 chapters of Hadassah are all preparing extensive programs in celebration of this event. These tributes go on despite Henrietta Szold, for she believes so firmly that the cause must come before the individual.

Hadassah Closes Feast of the Lights Program Dec. 20

50,000 Senior and Junior Members Have Been Observing Chanukah

For the past week, 50,000 Senior and Junior members of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America, have been observing Chanukah, the Feast of Lights, with programs prepared by the National Cultural Committee of Hadassah of which Dr. Nima H. Adlerblum, the well-known Jewish writer, is chairman. Throughout the year study groups of the 296 Chapters of Hadassah throughout the country will meet to study Jewish history, the history of Zionism and to familiarize themselves with the wealth of the background of Jewish life. For this purpose the committee has prepared comprehensive literature which is distributed to the chapters.

This educational program carried on throughout the United States is only a part of the extensive work done by Hadassah. The Hadassah Medical Organization in Palestine is completely administered and supported by Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America. For this purpose Hadassah raises over $600,000 yearly to support five hospitals, five dispensaries, 32 rural dispensaries, 22 health welfare centers, a system of hot luncheons for school children, intensive programs of preventive medicine against such dreaded diseases of the East as trachoma, tuberculosis, malaria, and is responsible for other important medical and health projects.

The following is an extract from the Simpson Report, which was made to the British Government after a visit to Palestine by Sir John Hope Simpson:

"In considering the figures for the Jewish population, it should be borne in mind that this section of the population of Palestine enjoys the service of a highly efficient Jewish medical and health service in addition to the normal services afforded by the government. It is served by the Jewish Hadassah Medical Organization, which not only maintains five hospitals at various centers staffed by 34 doctors and surgeons, male and female, but also has a very efficient service which takes care of the child from its infancy and follows it through the kin-

Emanu-El Holds Entertainment and Chanukah Supper

Over 350 People Attend; Mrs. H. K. Goodman is Chairman of Event

A Chanukah entertainment and Turkey supper was held in the Vestry of Temple Emanu-El on Sunday evening, December 21. Over 350 people attended, taxing the capacity of the Vestry so that the classrooms had to be utilized. Particular mention should be made of the very beautiful and tastefully arranged decorations for which the entire credit is due Mrs. Morris Sydel. After supper, the following program was opened by Mrs. Charles Brown:

A Spark Plug specialty number by Masters Billy Klitzner and Louis Ackerman and Little Blanche Klitzner. Several banjo selections were played by Billy Klitzner followed by a Mock Marriage by Billy and Blanche Klitzner and Louis Ackerman. Miss Helene Alper gave several harp selections which were followed by a Clog dance by Miss Esther Blumenthal. One of the features of the evening was Mr. Henry Wiener who sang several songs. Last year many people were unable to hear Mr. Wiener, but were pleased with the very fine program of Jewish songs that he sang in his inimitable manner. Mr. Walter Nelson accompanied him on the piano. A group of character sketches were presented by little Charlotte Scherer and Master Arthur Bazar. Both children are versatile artists and have appeared before several organizations and won recognition as clever entertainers. The fifty dollar gold watch which was raffled off was won by Mr. Elijah Koppelman of 260 Olney Street, and stopped at 7 hours, 46 minutes and 39 seconds. Music was furnished by Dan Jacobs and his orchestra. Mrs. Joseph Bason was in charge of the entertainment. The following were on the committee of arrangements:

Mrs. H. K. Goodman, chairman; co-chairmen: Mrs. George Gerber, Mrs. Haskell Frank and Mrs. Joseph Bason assisted by the following:

Mrs. Henry Hassenfeld, Mrs. Nathan Salter, Mrs. Nat Cohen, Mrs. Sol Cohen, Mrs. Louis Rubin, Mrs. Morris Sydel, Mrs. S. Blazar, Mrs. J. Blazar, Mrs. Maurice Bliss, Mrs. Benjamin Alper, Mrs. J. A. Z. A. DAY IS OBSERVED

The recently formed Newport Chapter of A. Z. A., the junior order of the B'nai B'rith, together with 130 other chapters throughout this country and Canada, observed international A. Z. A. day last Sunday. A largely-attended meeting was held at the Congregation Jeshuat Israel Community Center with Rabbi M. Stiskin of Brooklyn, N. Y., as its guest speaker who delivered a very interesting and instructive address to the boys in which he went back to the earliest days of Greek civilization for examples and illustrations applicable to the present day.

The meeting was opened by Dr. Bernard C. Friedman, one of the advisors of the chapter, by speaking of the progress made by the organization. Rabbi Jacob M. Seidel of the Touro Synagogue delivered the invocation followed by a brief message from William David, President of the local chapter.

Rabbi Stiskin was introduced by Harry Nemtzow, chairman of the meeting and who also introduced Judge Max Levy of the First District Court who addressed the audience on "Youth" and strongly urged the parents to have their children join the A. Z. A.

The Newport Chapter's own orchestra appeared for the first time and furnished the musical part of the evening program.

SEEKS TO ESTABLISH RACE OF ALL ITS TEACHERS

Berlin, Dec. 26—(JTA)—The schools of Thuringia recently received orders from the Provincial Minister of Education to send photographs of all teachers in the system to headquarters.

It is believed this action is part of a plan to check the race of all teachers, particularly those who have been converted to Christianity. These latter are just as objectionable to the National Socialists, who control the government of Thuringia, as Jews.

Einstein Is Presented With National F und Golden Book

One of the most interesting moments in the four busy days spent by Professor and Frau Einstein in New York, on their way to California, was the presentation to him by the leaders of the Jewish National Fund of America, of the Einstein Volume of the Golden Book.

The American press devoted much attention to this occasion when Einstein was honored by American Jewry as its "great brother," not merely on the basis of the "national and racial pride that we take in your unique position in the world of thought," but for the singular devotion of the great scientist to the ideals of Zionism and the work of the Jewish National Fund in reclaiming and redeeming the soil of Palestine.

The above picture, taken on the S. S. "Belgenland," while in the harbor, shows Dr. Einstein receiving the Golden Book from Mr. Emanuel Neumann, President of the Jewish National Fund of America, who headed the delegation.

Y. W. H. A. NEWS

The Chanukah meeting of the Y. W. H. A. was held at the Jewish Community Center Wednesday evening, December 17, with Miss Idah Rubinstein, Vice President, presiding. A short business meeting preceded the social hour.

Reports on activities and future events were given by the various chairmen. A Chanukah Reading was delivered by Miss Harriet Sapsowitz, and "Hatikvoh" was sung by Miss Mollie Fried. There was a great deal of fun and hilarity over the exchange of small comic gifts, and quite a few minutes elapsed before the girls quieted down enough to partake of the refreshments served by the hostess, Rose Singer, and her assistants, Anna Bernstein, Ruth Claiman and Ethel Scoliard.

The next meeting which will be held January 21, will be a Dutch supper, with Evelyn Greenstein as hostess, assisted by Evelyn Simons and Eva Kominsky.

The Membership Chairman, Edith Greenstein, is delighted to report that her committee is working very hard to obtain new members, and are being quite successful. She reports as follows: Esther Bilgor has secured these new members: Al Rosen, Eva Korenbaum, Bessie Cossack, Sadie Arken, Mr. and Mrs. William Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. David Adelman.

Tillie Goldblatt has secured: Mr. and Mrs. L. Hurwitz, Helen Sapsowitz, Edith Lewis.

Evelyn Simons has secured twelve new members, but her list was not available to the chairman to date. Jean Rosen also reports six new members. The monthly prize awarded by Miss Greenstein for the committee worker securing the most members was won by Evelyn Simons.

Miss B. Pansy Snell, our President, has been ill with a bad cold for the past week or so, and was unable to be present at our last meeting. She's feeling better now, so we're all happy.

Miss Freda Simons, our Secretary, substituted for B. Pansy Snell, our President, as leader in the sermon at the Fifth Annual Jewish Youth Conference held at the Temple Emanu-El on Friday evening, December 19.

Anna Freedman, our Athletics chairman, reports that the Swimming Class is still "swimming" strong, or at least, she adds, they're learning to swim a little, which will make them strong.

NOVOMEJSKY TO PROSPECT FOR MINERALS AROUND DEAD SEA

Jerusalem, Dec. 26—(JTA)—A license to prospect for rock phosphate and bituminous limestone over a large area in the neighborhood of the Dead Sea, was granted recently to Moses Novomejsky, one of the two owners of the concession for the development of the mineral salts in the Dead Sea. Both minerals are said to be plentiful in this region and are considered to be among Palestine's most valuable mineral deposits. They are not included in the actual Dead Sea concession which is outside the terms of the mining ordinance.

While the Dead Sea concessionaires have development rights only for minerals actually in the sea, Mr. Novomejsky is now prospecting the area around the Dead Sea with a view of obtaining another concession.

JEWISH CHILDREN OF CHICAGO'S WEST SIDE GET FREE MEALS

Chicago, Dec. 26—(JTA)—So that Jewish children of the West Side may have the strength to study at school and so their fathers might have more courage and strength to search for work, the United Hebrew Trades Free Restaurant has inaugurated a plan whereby school children and their parents residing in the Lawndale neighborhood, are being fed three times a day.

Groups of children come there every morning with their school books under their arms and after having their breakfast, they depart for school. Their places are then taken by their parents. Old and young are seen in a constant line awaiting food there.

ZETA BETA TAU'S 32ND ANNUAL CONCLAVE TO MEET DEC. 28TH

St. Louis, Dec. 26—(JTA)—Zeta Beta Tau, the oldest and largest national Jewish college fraternity, will hold its 32nd annual conclave in the city of St. Louis, Mo., on the last four days of 1930. Zeta Beta Tau was founded in 1898 and has 32 chapters in the universities of the United States and Canada and 30 graduate clubs in the principal cities.

Zeta Beta Tau is known as the donor of the Gottheil Medal, which it gives each year to the American who has done the most for Jewry during the year for which the particular annual award is given. Senator James A. Reed of Missouri will deliver an address at Zeta Beta Tau's annual banquet, which will be held at the Coronado Hotel on the evening of Dec. 30th.

GEORGIA ESTABLISHES SECOND HEBREW CONFERENCE IN SOUTH

Macon, Ga., Dec. 26—(JTA)—The Georgia Hebrew Conference, second permanent state union being organized under the auspices of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations in South Carolina, Georgia, North Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee, was established here recently. Morton H. Levy, of Savannah, was elected state chairman.

Other officers named were Max Michael of Athens, vice chairman, and Herman Julius, Columbus, secretary. The purpose of the state union is to promote co-operation of congregations belonging to the U. A. H. C. and to undertake a program of religious education, particularly for Jewish children in rural districts.

2863 JEWISH IMMIGRANTS CAME TO UNITED STATES

Washington, Dec. 26—(JTA)—Two thousand eight hundred sixty-three Jewish immigrants entered the United States from July 1 to Oct. 31 last, and 581 of this category entered during the month of October, it is shown by statistics issued by the Bureau of Immigration, Department of Labor.

Total immigration for October, according to this announcement, was the lowest since October, 1919, showing a drop of 3850 or 21.6 per cent. from the figure for the preceding month and 12,798 or 47.9 per cent. less than for October, 1929. This drop in immigration is attributed to the drastic instructions by President Hoover to consular officers for denials of visas to aliens who might become public charges.

SPORTING WORLD

NEWS WRITTEN FOR THE JEWISH HERALD BY GEORGE JOEL

SYRACUSE BASKETBALL TEAM LOSES

Before the season opened Syracuse was ranked with the three strongest basketball teams in the East, but now, it is just another basketball team since losing to Dartmouth the other night. With five men of last year's Eastern championship teams again in action it was thought that the Orange quintet would walk off with collegiate honors, but the boys evidently suffered from over-confidence.

Syracuse's rise in basketball circles is due to the Jewish players who, under the regime of the old coach, were seldom on the team. With Coach Andreas at the helm, Ben Beagle, Louis Hayman and Everett Katz were given the opportunity of putting the up-State five on the map. Last year Hayman was captain, the first Jewish captain since the days of Bob Marcus.

This year Hayman is playing and Beagle leads the team. As the team now takes the field it is one of the smallest in the game. With the exception of the center the average height is less than five feet ten inches and the weight 156. The boys make up for their lack of height with speed and deception. I think that the boys although eliminated from championship honors, are going to lose mighty few games this winter and if they play in your vicinity take the time to watch them go. They are very much like a C. C. N. Y. team—and there is little higher praise than that.

In the defeat of Syracuse by Dartmouth a Jewish boy played a major roll. He was Irving Kramer, former Brooklyn High school athlete. Playing his second year on the Dartmouth team Kramer justified the predictions made about him last year. Against Syracuse it was his cagey guarding and fine basket making throws that beat the Orange.

FINAL CURTAIN FOR FOOTBALL

This is a promise to say nothing or hardly anything more about football until at least August, 1931, but before I turn off the light I should like to make a few last remarks about this business of All-Jewish teams. I received the usual number of letters but it seems as though the readers have paid little attention to what I wrote. No fewer than twenty communications, one of them from "A Group of Jewish Boys" from Chicago asked me why I had omitted Rosenzweig of Carnegie Tech from my All-Jewish teams. Even so astute a writer as Harry Cushing, editor of the College Column of the Boston Jewish Advocate, picked him for his team.

The answer is simple—Rosenzweig is not a Jew. Three years ago when he first played for Carnegie I saw his name in the lineup, but I was informed by the graduate manager of athletics of that institution that he was not Jewish. Other inquiries confirmed that statement.

Before other complaints are registered please bear in mind that E. Schwartz, fullback of the Washington State team, and Isaac Lazar of Army are not Jews.

A writer, female, I presume, who signed herself L. K., asks to hear what I think of Hank Barber of Dartmouth as a football player. I think he was a very good tackle, but hardly in a class with Sington of Alabama, one of the greatest Jewish linesmen of all times.

Speaking of great Jewish football players let us not forget Benny Friedman, who led his professional New York Giants team against an aggregation of former Notre Dame stars in a game played at New York City for the unemployment fund. Leading his team as quarterback and coach, he was mainly responsible for the 20-0 victory turned in by the Giants. His performance before a critical audience was unanimously praised and Knute Rockne, the great coach, said that Friedman was better now than he was while at Michigan. He also stated that Friedman was the greatest living quarterback of modern times. If you were to pick an All-Time All-Jewish team, Friedman would get first call for the quarterback position.

GROSSMAN HAS HIS SAY ABOUT COLLEGE FOOTBALL

One of the most sane utterances on the question of the unimportance of college football was made recently by Jack Grossman, second highest scorer in the East and fullback on the Rutgers University team, a team which experienced a poor season. Adressing an open letter to the student body at Rutgers, Grossman wrote:

"Since the time has come to choose between two courses of football policy at Rutgers, it's keep up the spirit of 'Win or lose, they're our team,' instead of 'Anything to win and put us on the map.'"

"What map? Rutgers is long known for many things besides scrappy football teams. So let's meet our rival Lehigh on academic standards and go them one better on our new policy in football."

"The Freshmen were largely attracted to Rutgers by our spirit, shown par excellence at the Lafayette game and known everywhere. They are larger benefits derived from the good old game than winning games."

"Our coach for the last four years showed that. Some of you did not realize how hard 'Rocky' was trying when you might have yelled in excitement, 'Use the other play Rocky,' or some such clatter."

"Remember, also, if you can, what Dr. Thomas said about football and us moderns. Let's back up what he said by showing that we treat football in a common sense way."

A controversy has been raging at Rutgers over the idea of going in for football on a big scale—hiring high-priced coaches, allowing players scholarships and all that sort of thing. Grossman's remarks can be read with advantage by many college presidents. His plea for a policy of non-emphasis on commercial football is a step in the right direction. It has always seemed to me that college authorities would do much better if they listened to the students.

CHATTERINGS

Ted Sandwina, took another flop the other night in a ten rounder. The Jewish boy hasn't won a fight since the cold weather set in.

I couldn't believe my eyes, but in a bold type, I read that our old friend Ruby Goldstein has signed for a fight which will take place this week in New York City. Ruby sure has perseverance if nothing else.

The indoor track season is getting started and I see where Sol Furth, the Jewish hurdler, is putting in a lot of time training for the championships. His main objective this winter is the National A. A. U. title.

The All-Scholastic football team picked in New York, had six Jewish boys on the first team. Last year there were eight.

We may not have a Jewish heavy-weight champion, but we at least have a Jew managing the champion—Joe Jacobs has signed Schmeling to a five-year contract.

Providence Fraternal Association News

Samuel P. Lazarus

At the meeting last Tuesday evening, Dec. 23rd, Charles L. Silverman overwhelmingly defeated Alfred Finklestein for President. The close vote announced by the moderator was an error. The full slate elected was as follows: President, Charles L. Silverman; Vice-President, Louis Hayman; Treasurer, Louis H. Rosenbaum; Financial Secretary, Joseph Keller; Recording Secretary, Barney M. Kessler; Inner Guard, Harry Bloomberg; Trustees for 2 years, Mrs. H. D. Jagolinzer and Samuel P. Lazarus; and Trustee for one year, Paul J. Robin.

Providence Fraternal is to be congratulated upon the fine choice of officers. I am happy indeed to have Charlie succeed me as president. I know he will make good because of his own qualities and because he will have the hearty co-operation of the fine line of officers elected with him. Charlie, any time that I can be of service to you, please call on me as I will be very glad to help you in any way possible.

During the meeting, the Social Committee headed by Brother Teddy Max, presented Professor Fenner in feats of magic and sleight-of-hand which proved very entertaining. Afterward refreshments were served. Our good brother, Dr. Ilie Berger and Sister Morris Scheer spoke about the United Palestine Appeal and as a result of their very interesting talk, a Providence Fraternal team of ten was formed for the drive. This team will be captained by Brother Carl Jagolinzer.

I am battling for Charlie this week in this column. Charlie will continue with it in the next issue of the paper.
