Tidbits and News of Jewish Personalities
By DAVID SCHWARTZ

Live and Learn

If there were one person, at whom one felt sure no target of abuse would be directed, it was Abraham Lincoln. But the rub is not even in this. Think of attacking Lincoln, and basing that attack primarily on the fact that Lincoln was a Zionist. That is adding surprise to shock.

Who is guilty of this? you ask. Our friend, Edgar Lee Masters, of Spoon River Anthology fame, and the charge of Lincoln's Zionism is brought in his book on Lincoln which has just made its appearance.

Accuses Lincoln of Zionism

Of course, there are Zionists and Zionists. The poet, you remember, speaks of building "New Jerusalem" in England. When Mr. Lipsky thinks of Zionism, he is thinking of that Jordan bound country where David whipped giants and Sampson carried dance halls on his shoulders. Mr. Boliva, up around Chicago, thinks of the little city he has founded as Zion, and his followers call themselves Zionists. The old New England Puritans called New England "Zion," and truth to tell, they probably observed the spirit of the Old Testament as much as it is observed in Palestine today.

And now, Edgar Lee Masters finds fault with Lincoln and all because he is a Zionist.

Of course, Mr. Masters is not thinking of the term Zionist in the sense that we Jews do. To him, Zionism means the ideas and philosophy, the religious conceptions, emanating from Zion. In other words, Zionism is Judaism and Christianity.

In brief, Masters contends that Lincoln in his early days was an infidel, but when he rose to the Presidency, he was caught in the current of religion, began to bring in God and Christian ideas in the equation of life—and that ruined him. Mr. Masters does not believe in either Christianity or Judaism, and he thinks that Lincoln's Christianizing brought on the orgy of sordidness and corruption, which followed the Civil War.

A Bed-Time Tale With a Moral

Once upon a time, there lived a great and stern king. One morning, after a particularly good breakfast, just as he was puffing away at a Corona-Corona, he called his Prime Minister to him.

"Charlie," he said, in a grave tone, "I want you to summon all of the wise men of the kingdom to me."

No sooner said than done. All the wise men arrived.

"Gentlemen," said the King, "I want to get all the education of the world. I had thought of taking a correspondence school course, but instead I have decided on this. You get me together all of the wisdom of the world."

"And, if you don't," thundered the King, winking maliciously with his eye and shaking his mustache up and down—"if you don't, off go your heads."

Whereupon, all the wise men proceeded to their libraries, and their laboratories, and gathered together all the wisdom of the world. And after they had gathered it, they brought the collection before His Majesty.

The King gave one look at the collection and said, "Feh."

"I am a busy man. I have to fight wars and have fifty wives. I have no time for all of this. Boil it down," said the King.

"And, if you don't," concluded the King, winking his eye maliciously, and shaking his mustache up and down, off go your heads."

And so the wise men got together and began to boil down this library of wisdom, and they boiled it down to where it was included within the limits of an Encyclopedia, which they brought to the King.

WISE TERMS N. Y. OFFICE-HOLDING AS "RACIAL GRAB-BAG"

Warns Jews to Discontinue Support Unless They Have Proof of Eligibility and Honesty

New York, Feb. 20—(JTA)—The Jews of New York were urged to discontinue their support of other Jews, as such, for public offices without having some proof of their eligibility and honesty, by Dr. Stephen S. Wise, in his sermon at the Free Synagogue, Sunday morning. Terming office-holding in New York a "racial grab-bag," Dr. Wise denounced the practice of small men and women who seek to cover their defects behind the shield of public office.

"Public office, especially of late, has proved to be one of the surest and quickest methods of return of such to private life," Dr. Wise declared. "The wrong kind of Jews will go into public life, especially office, and this holds true with regard to all racial and religious groups, as long as we maintain, in communities like our own, the method of racial and religious apportionment of public office, which obtains in New York City."

"We are in danger, in the life of our group, as in the lives of other groups, to pay too much honor to office, irrespective of the character of its occupants."

MINISTER WHO ARRANGED THE HERZL-KAISER INTERVIEW DEAD

London, Feb. 20—(JTA)—Rev. Dr. William H. Hechler, Protestant clergyman and professor, who was a close collaborator of the late Theodore Herzl, founder of political Zionism, in the latter's efforts to obtain a charter for a Jewish State in Palestine, died here recently at the age of 86.

It was Dr. Hechler who arranged an interview between Herzl and Kaiser Wilhelm II when the latter as well as Herzl was in Palestine. The interview was arranged through the Grand Duke of Baden, to whose children Dr. Hechler had been tutor. Dr. Hechler was also instructor to numerous other royal personages in various countries and was at one time chaplain to the British Ambassador in Vienna.

Dr. Hechler took up the cause of Zionism when Herzl published his Jewish State, believing that the Messiah would appear when the Jews returned to Palestine. He belonged to a group of religious zealots active in England who believed in the imminent fulfillment of the prophecy.

JEWISH FARMERS ARE HOLDING THEIR OWN DESPITE DEPRESSION

Indication Made in Thirty-first Annual Report of Jewish Agricultural Society

New York, Feb. 20—(JTA)—The Jewish farmers in the United States are holding their own, although they are feeling the effects of the present severe economic depression. Thus reports Gabriel Davidson, General Manager of the Jewish Agricultural Society, in the thirty-first annual report just issued. Few Jewish farmers live in these areas which have suffered from drought or in those regions where farm commodities suffered the sharpest declines.

Thirty-one years ago when the Jewish Agricultural Society first began to function in the United States there were only 216 Jewish farm families in the United States. Today there is a Jewish farm population of over 80,000. The area under Jewish operation approximates one million acres. Every state in the Union has its quota of Jewish tillers of the soil. Jewish farmers, Mr. Davidson states, "are becoming more and more an integral part of the American farm population."

MacDonald's Letter To Chaim Weizmann Seeks to Remove Misunderstanding

Denies White Paper Ban on Jewish Immigration; Says Further Jewish Land Purchases Not Restricted

London, Feb. 20—(JTA)—A letter that seeks to remove certain misconceptions and misunderstandings which have arisen as to Great Britain's Palestine policy as enunciated in the White Paper of October, 1930, was sent recently by Premier MacDonald to Dr. Chaim Weizmann, who resigned the Presidency of the Jewish Agency and the World Zionist Organization as a protest against the White Paper.

Among the salient points in the letter are a redefinition of the term "landless Arabs" as referred to in the White Paper which is now explained to refer only to such Arabs as can be shown to have been displaced from the lands they occupied as the result of Jewish land purchases; the promise of a government investigation to determine what state and other lands can be properly made available for close settlement by Jews in accordance with Article VI of the Mandate; a denial that further land purchases by Jews are restricted, although centralized control of land transactions is contemplated.

No Immigration Ban

On the matter of immigration the Premier's letter states that there is no intention to prohibit the further immigration of Jews, abandons the White Paper's principle of estimating this immigration with regard to Arab Jewish unemployment and re-establishes the previous principle of immigration according to the economic absorptive capacity of the country.

This letter also promises to take into consideration the claim of Jewish labor for a due share in public works, admits the right of the Jewish Agency to employ Jewish labor exclusively on all works or undertakings carried out or furthered by the Jewish Agency, denies intending criticism of the Jewish labor organizations in Palestine and recognizes the value of their services, announces that existing economic conditions in Palestine are not to be crystallized and reaffirms Britain's intention of administering Palestine in accordance with the Mandate.

Urges Co-operation

The letter concludes by repeating that "the obligations imposed upon the Mandatory by its acceptance of the Mandate are solemn international obligations from which there is not now, nor has there been at any time, any intention to depart. To the tasks imposed by the Mandate, His Majesty's Government have set their hand, and they will not withdraw it. But if their efforts are to be successful, there is need for co-operation, confidence, readiness on all sides to appreciate the difficulties and complexities of the problem, and above all, there must be a full and unqualified recognition that no solution can be satisfactory or permanent which is not based upon justice, both to the Jewish people and to the non-Jewish communities of Palestine."

The White Paper and its "misconceptions and misunderstandings" which the now explained led to world-wide Jewish protests last October. Dr. Weizmann resigned his dual posts, Felix M. Warburg resigned as chairman of the Administrative Committee of the Jewish Agency and the late Lord Melchett resigned as chairman of the Council of the Jewish Agency.

Throughout the world monster protest meetings were held against Britain's "betrayal" of the Jews. In and out of Parliament the British government was sharply criticized by such eminent statesmen as Lloyd George, Stanley Baldwin, General Smuts, Lord Hailsham, Sir John Simon and others. There were reports that the case of the Jews would be appealed to the Hague Court.

Shortly after the issuance of the White Paper negotiations were initiated between the Jewish Agency and the British government, the first results of which are believed to be embodied in this letter which is to be official, communicated to the League of Nations and sent to High Commissioner Chancellors as official instructions.

ANTI-ZIONIST M. P. DEMANDS RECALL OF O'DONNELL BOARD

London, Feb. 20—(JTA)—A demand for the recall of the O'Donnell Commission, which is now in Palestine investigating the Palestine administration on which it will make recommendations for economies and improved financial organization, was made on Feb. 18 in the House of Commons by Howard Bury, anti-Zionist M. P.

Bury asked that the Commission discontinue its work as previous commissions had already reported on all matters relevant to Palestine. He also criticized the multitude of Palestine commissions.

Jewish Children and Their Parents

By DR. SAMUEL STARR

This is the first of a series of articles by Dr. Samuel Starr for exclusive publication in The Jewish Herald.

The Jewish Herald is happy to present these informative articles to its readers—Editor's Note.

Believing themselves to be the only and the favored "chosen ones" of Jehovah, the Jewish people may be likened to an only and favored child of the family unit. As such, they are usually prone to complexes leading to all kinds of nervous illnesses and their neurotic consequences. As the only child of a family is usually a favored child, there is a tendency for him to become overbearing and to regard himself better and superior to other children with whom he comes in contact. This can lead only to the development of characteristics which clash with his environment. The Jewish child, therefore, starts life under an ancestral, inherited handicap. He is a chosen one of Jehovah, a favored child. These facts in part help explain the great prevalence of mental disease amongst Jews.

In order to better understand the child's conflicts, we must examine his innate nature. The normal child seeks freedom in the expression of his inner desires and instincts. Some parents are apt to designate these free and wholesome activities as the physical expression of savagery. Children are by nature "little Indians." However, anything we can do to further their freedom of expression will tend to the development of better and more normal mental health. We do not mean that the child should be permitted to run wild, but we imply rather that the child's excess energy should be harnessed and directed to useful purposes. It should not be repressed.

Parents must remember that there is quite a difference in age between their child and themselves. Very often the adult treats the child as if he were an adult also. Instead of the parent putting himself in the position of the child and trying to understand the child's point of view, he immediately shows anger and resentment at any seeming misconduct. He expects the child "to know better," although the child perhaps is trying to express some instinctive urge which he cannot easily control.

The child's respect for his parents is elicited either through affection or through fear. Respect, based on fear, is really obedience and not respect. The obedient-respect is usually accompanied by an unexpressed feeling of hate which the child harbors against the parent. Unfortunately, many of our Jewish parents rule their households by the installation of fear of punishment rather than the respect of love. This is especially true of those Jewish parents who have retained some of their "old world" ideas of the "koved," due them from their children. They demand respect, but succeed in obtaining only the obedience and the hate offered to a tyrant. This is a very unhealthy state of affairs. Mutual love and understanding between parents and their children, the knowledge that a deed is done because of affection and willingness are the cornerstones in the laying of a solid foundation of harmony and respect.

Too much affection between parent and child is just as bad as too little. Parents at the same time must be firm and kindly in their dealings with their children. Many parents are very kind to their children, but are they kindly? They may sacrifice time and money to provide music lessons, Hebrew instruction and other forms of education, but if they sacrifice from a sense of duty only, not because of love, it is not done kindly. In this connection, we should condemn the habit of those parents who continually harp on the many sacrifices they have made for their children. This nagging shows that the sacrifices were made from duty and not from love.

A common fault of Jewish parents is their proneness to try to map out the careers of their children while the latter are still in the cradle. Professional careers, such as physician, lawyer and dentist, are usually favored without ever taking into account the child's wishes in the matter and without pondering the fact that the offspring might not be fitted properly for any such profession. This lack of insight on the part of parents is the cause of many subsequent failures and misfits.

It is better to have a child enter an occupation of the working class, if only he be properly adjusted to it, rather than have him unhappily mal-adjusted to a higher type of work or profession. This results in peace of mind from successful adaptation rather than in despair from failing in a vocation for which he is unfitted.

An innate characteristic of the child is his tendency to imitate his elders. Therefore, parents should be on guard against any behavior with one another that might react on the child's sensibilities in an unfavorable way.

Curiosity is a very important characteristic of the child. He wants to know everything and asks questions incessantly. Some of the latter may be very embarrassing. Of course, we cannot tell him everything. His little mind cannot grasp certain problems, which are very delicate to discuss. Parents should seek instruction in these matters from proper sources in order that the child's sensitive mind should not be shocked by any crude or blunt explanation. Do not crush the curiosity complex of the child. Nourish it so that it may bloom into fine accomplishments. Progress in science, invention and art would never have been so rapidly developed if not for this very useful urge in mankind.

Children are very imaginative. We should encourage this aspect to ensure the future accomplishment of progress and creative work. Good books will feed and foster this very important quality. But do not force the child to read and like the books you read and liked when you were a child. His taste may be for very different types of books. Do not force the child to read books too old for him or books he does not understand. Of course, always keep his reading a little ahead of him. By so doing you will better develop his powers of thinking.

Let us not expect too much of our children lest they become hypocrites, rebels or unhappy slaves of duty. All children are not studious. If a child does not care about books or music, do not force him to like them. It will do him no good. Money and time will be wasted. He unconsciously will rebel against things forced on him and will grow to hate them. Parents, without force, however, should always attempt to cultivate in the child a taste or love for the finer things in life.

Study your child's capabilities and lead him on to a development of those aptitudes that will give him most pleasure and success. Some children are mechanically inclined and very clever with their hands. Others are clumsy and awkward. The latter may be very unhappy if forced into any activity of an exclusively manual nature. A combination of manual and mental development is ideal. Unfortunately, few children belong to this happy class.

We cannot hope to change very much of the inherent characteristics of the Jewish people, but we can alter and modify the individual child's reactions in his growth to adolescence. Thus we may help him become adjusted fairly well to his environment, with much less conflict and with a chance for the acquirement of happiness and peace of mind after adolescence.

Our proper understanding of the "family romance," that is, the emotional interactions between parents and children as regards love, obedience, respect, honor, etc., will give us a better knowledge of the handling of the behavior problems of children that are met with in everyday life. Parenthood and the proper rearing of children are matters of real vital importance. To be a parent is a great responsibility. It imposes on us hard work and many sacrifices. Severe disappointments and some sorrows may try our courage and patience. But our job as parents, if not enjoyed, will not be well done.

Mr. Goldowsky Says—

This is the last call for the coming Zionist Ball. It will be in full swing next Tuesday—get that—next Tuesday, Feb. 24th, at the beautifully renovated Arcadia Ballroom.

As all of you are aware that both Morey Pearl and his orchestra and "Happy" Stanley and his orchestra will furnish continuous dance music it is needless to repeat that here. Yet I cannot refrain from growing enthusiastic every time I think of the "lucky break" the ball committee got in securing the personal services of Morey Pearl. Morey Pearl! Ye gods and little sardines, what marvelous dance music that Yiddisher boy can coax out of his orchestra. Believe me, you dancers, it will be a revelation to you. Don't fail to take advantage of the opportunity the ball committee offers you of getting so much for so little.

"I am surprised that a man like you should bother with a dance," said a certain party to me. Why not? No man is too big for those worthy little things in life. Then again some extremely important matters are apt to appear as insignificant in the eyes of some people. For example, Zionism regarded as a needless fanatical fantasy by some Jews who are well entrenched with worldly goods, while others who are equally well off consider it in its true light as the medium of a united world Jewry, that which is so imperative to the future existence of the Jew in view of the rapidly increasing number of Hitlerites the world over.

However, I have wandered away from next Tuesday.

Listen to me, you Yiddische kinder from Rhode Island—all of you, Zionists and non-Zionists. The ball committee spared no expense in providing an exceptionally high-grade entertainment for the small sum of a single dollar. Now it is your turn to show your appreciation by filling the ballroom to its capacity, thus encouraging the ball committee to give a still bigger and better ball the coming year—and brothers and sisters, it's coming.

In the vernacular of a famous stage comedian—"you hain't heard nothin' yet!" Well—

I'll see you all at the Zionist Ball.

At the last meeting held, the officers announced the plans for the coming year.

PLANS ENCYCLOPEDIA OF ENCYCLOPEDIAS

Rome, Feb. 20—(JTA)—An "Encyclopedia of Encyclopedias" is being planned by Angelo Formiggini, well-known Italian-Jewish publisher. The immense work he has undertaken will embrace the various fields of human endeavor. Household science, travel, sport and pastimes will be considered in the volume which is now in preparation.

Message of President W. I. Sundlun at Annual Meeting of the Jewish Orphanage of Rhode Island

The following message was delivered by President Walter I. Sundlun at the annual meeting of the Jewish Orphanage on Jan. 25, 1931:

Dear Friends:—
Another year has gone, and it is my great pleasure to greet you again at this twenty-first annual meeting of the Jewish Orphanage of Rhode Island.

When we stood upon the threshold of the year 1930 (at the time we gathered in this very assembly room to attend to the program of the 20th annual meeting of the Orphanage, little did anyone actually know of the problems each would be confronted with for the year then just ahead of us.

With the very many varied problems in life confronting us at all times, particularly in relation to the little children, who are in our care, it was ever incumbent upon us to keep an everlasting watchful eye over the many phases of our activities in this Home.

This has been a difficult year. The rank and file of the people of this country have undoubtedly felt in some degree the visit of adversity and misfortune, but our Orphanage and its charges have been able to pass through the year 1930 with a record of good health, progress and happiness in every respect.

We have reached Our Majority this year. We are no longer an infant organization. With your constant co-operation it will be possible to watch over the Orphanage with the same care, love and guidance as was bestowed upon it while it passed through its childhood and adolescent years of life.

Our children, though the census of the Orphanage has been the highest this year that it has ever previously been, have all fared well. They have enjoyed good health. They have received constant medical attention. We have pursued a policy somewhat patterned after the Chinese system, namely, we have kept our children free from sickness, rather than to restore them to health after illness. Marked progress has also been made in the educational training of our children, the details of which will be presented to you in another report.

A careful watchfulness has been kept over our finances, and we have been able to keep definitely within the budget fixed and allowed to us by the Community Chest, with the direct result that we had sufficient grounds to approach the Community Chest officials for permission to make certain renewals and replacements of a larger nature, which became necessary during the past year, and, though it has been the policy of the Community Fund to restrict all unusual expenditures during the year of 1930, yet we were one of the agencies permitted to make such disbursements by reason of our prudent administration.

PROPOSE NATHAN STRAUS MEMORIAL IN CENTRAL PARK

New York, Feb. 20—(JTA)—The erection of a monument to the late Nathan Straus in Central Park is proposed by the Broadway Association. A resolution favoring a "fitting allegorical memorial monument" was adopted at a meeting of its board of directors on Monday. August Janssen, restaurateur, who proposed the monument, referred to the work of Mr. Straus "to save the lives of millions of children, and for which he asked neither recognition nor pay."

With regard to erecting the proposed memorial in Central Park, Nathan Straus, Jr., who is President of the Park Association, stated that he could not express himself either for or against a memorial to his father, but that he believed that the Park Association would be against placing the monument in Central Park, because it would set a precedent.

LARGE PALESTINIAN WINE SHIPMENT TO NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 20—(JTA)—As a result of representations made by the Zionist Organization of America, a large supply of Carmel Palestine wine was shipped to the United States under a special prohibition permit for Jewish sacramental use. The first big shipment was due yesterday. In order to make this Palestine product available to most Jewish families, a fixed minimum retail price has been set ranging at between $20 to $26 per case of a dozen bottles.

All the wine shipped this year from Palestine is as usually grown and bottled by the old "Societe Co-operative Vigneronne" of Rishon le Zion and Zicron Jacob, bearing the Kashruth stamps of Chief Rabbis Kook and Son-nenfeld of Jerusalem. In the interest of this oldest Jewish industry in Palestine, the Zionist Organization is urging every Zionist and Jew interested in Palestine to give preference to the Palestine wine.

phanage has thus been kept up in an admirable manner, so that I am able to report that our structure is at the present time in complete harmony with the policy of maintaining our Home in a safe, sound and sanitary manner.

I desire to register my thanks at this time to the generous assistance which I have received from Vice President Benjamin W. Grossman, Mr. James Goldman, Chairman of the House Committee; Mr. C. Joseph Fox a true guardian of the Orphanage, and Mr. Myer Millman, for upon these gentlemen has fallen a great deal of the burden of the detail work of this Home. I feel in duty bound to make special mention of the meritorious work of these gentlemen, for their true value to this Home cannot be known unless you were fully acquainted with the arduous duties each has constantly performed during the past year. I shall not attempt to single out other individuals, but suffice it to say, my Board of Directors as a whole has given me a united and co-operative support.

Our Medical Staff, headed by Dr. Isaac Gerber, and our Dental Staff have rendered us invaluable services. I desire to thank them individually and collectively, and without minimizing the work of any physician of our staff, I particularly desire to thank Dr. Banice Feinberg, Dr. Herman Grossman and Dr. Morris Lebow, all of whom have been called upon to a very great extent to care for the health of our children.

Once again I must register my deep approval and gratitude for the painstaking work of Mrs. Milton M. Fuld, President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and Mrs. Harry Gury, for their intensive interest, which is ever manifested, particularly with our girls, including the young ladies who are now living outside of the Home, and who are endeavoring to establish themselves as self-sustaining members of our community.

May I also at this time express my approval of our Superintendent, Dr. Louis B. Wolfenson, and extend to him the thanks of myself and my Board for his constant co-operation in every respect, and for his ready and able assistance, whatever the problem may have been. I feel confident that under his guidance as Executive Director of our Orphanage, the children of our Home will continue to fare well, and the standards which we have established so carefully will be constantly raised in the future.

The desire to utilize the land about our building for agricultural or botanical purposes, so that our children will receive some training in this respect, is ever present. Because of the limitations placed upon our expenditures, we are obliged to await the benefaction of some individual or individuals in order to inaugurate this work. It is our purpose to continue the intellectual advancement of our children in those branches of learning heretofore established, and to initiate such educational departures as our finances will permit during the year 1931.

Again I must stress the extreme importance of complete co-operation by all citizens and residents of the city of Providence in the work, to the Community Fund, Incorporated, and for their making generous contributions to that wonderful and provident institution. It is incumbent upon every individual to lend his assistance and to contribute to the Community Fund, Inc., generously, for the maintenance of this Orphanage and other sister agencies.

I am obliged to call attention again to the utter lack of assistance which we have received from the cities and towns in the State of Rhode Island, outside of the city of Providence. With the possible exception of the city of Woonsocket, we received practically no assistance, yet I am sure, should occasion arise for our services in any of these cities or towns, they would have no hesitation whatever to call upon us. There is no justification or defense for such apathy. I urge most earnestly the residents of the cities and towns of our State, outside of Providence, to become cognizant of their obligations, and render proper assistance to this Home by making annual contributions.

I cordially invite and urge you to visit our Home as frequently as possible during the ensuing year, for it is very essential to maintain a friendly contact with our children at all times. You are always welcome. With your kind co-operation we will be able to maintain even a more home-like atmosphere in our edifice.

I register my thanks to all others not specifically mentioned who have contributed to the welfare of our Orphanage during the past year, and at this time it is my profound pleasure, on behalf of myself, my Board of Directors, the Staff of the Orphanage, and of all the children, to extend to you all our greetings and our cordial wish for a healthy, prosperous and happy New Year.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF

The resolution of Providence to establish a relief fund for the unemployed must be looked on with favor by both those who will give aid and by those who will receive it. Modern life and industry have effected changes not only in our standards of living but in our thinking as well. No more than a half-century ago, to help unemployed workmen was an act of charitable philanthropy. Today, we recognize it as a social necessity to help those who, through no fault of their own, have lost their positions and means of support. We realize that the peculiar conditions of modern industrial change have made an army of unemployed men and women, and until society has been adjusted to these changes, it is the duty of the more fortunate to help the less fortunate.

This relief fund is intended to supply jobs, and not to give dols. This immediately does away with the idea of charity. Each working person, also, will contribute one per cent. of his wage to the fund, a sum which is small and just in proportion.

When you consider that it will take no more than twenty-two thousand dollars weekly to give work to a thousand men for two months, then you can understand how far-reaching will be the effects of the campaign. Mayor Dunne has already appointed a committee of responsible and prominent citizens for the work of soliciting and collecting the funds. It is to be hoped that every man and concern of character will respond to the first appeal.

Because of their prominence in business circles in Providence, we are confident that the Jews of the city will contribute their share. At a time like this, however, every citizen needs a reminder. We beg the Jews of Rhode Island to remember their reputations for benevolence and public spirit, and to give liberally that the Unemployment Relief Campaign may be a deserved and deserving success.

By the Way

Tidbits and News of Jewish Personalities
By DAVID SCHWARTZ

The King snarled again. "I am a busy man, etc. Boil it down."
And so the wise men went again and they condensed it down to one volume.

Again the King shook his mustache, until the hearts of the wise men were chilled like unto an Eskimo pie. And so they went back again, and they boiled down this book into one word—"Perhaps"—and they brought this one word back to the monarch and said to him:

"Your Majesty, that one word—perhaps—is all that we really know in this world."

And the King was mightily pleased with the job that they had done, and he took out his box of cigars and gave each one of the wise men two cigars, one to smoke at the time, and the other for the subsequent day.

And the Moral Is— Perhaps

Why do I tell this moss-covered tale. Because, I think "perhaps" is all that one can say about any such thesis as Mr. Masters seeks to demonstrate.

There are too many premises, each one of which is capable of several sides in the argument. Again, Mr. Masters accuses Mr. Lincoln of being lazy. And maybe he was. But Walt Whitman even made a philosophy of laziness. He wanted to shout over the roofs of the world, "I loaf and invite my soul," and yet we feel sure, that Mr. Masters thinks a great deal of old Walt. And so we adjourn the discussion with the word—perhaps.

Poland, Pogroms and Paderewski

George Britt and Heywood Brown, in their shortly forthcoming "Christians Only," which takes up the question of discrimination against the Jew, relates a story, which is said to be bona fide, emanating in the course of a conversation between President Wilson and Paderewski, the pianist-premier of Poland.

Paderewski was warning the President of the displeasure that would be felt by the Polish people, if certain of their demands were not granted at the Peace Conference.

"Why, Mr. President," warned Paderewski, "I wouldn't be surprised that the Polish people would be so chagrined that they would go out and massacre the Jews."

"And, Mr. Paderewski," replied the President, "what will happen if we do grant Poland her demands?"

"In that case," replied Paderewski, "the people of Poland will be so happy, they will go out and massacre the Jews for joy."

It seems that heads they win, tails we lose.

Not Many Hate Us

A Jewish student at Columbia—a candidate for a doctorate, has submitted a thesis on prejudice, formulated from a questionnaire which he sent out to some 10,000 people, non-Jews, asking their frank reactions to Jews.

I understand that the results of this questionnaire showed that the feeling against Jews was far less than most Jews imagine.

I have no doubt that it was. It is probably true that anti-Semitism has never been able to recruit a majority behind its banners. Even in Spain, when the Jews were expelled, a great portion of the people were strongly opposed to the expulsion.

But the trouble is, that majorities never mean anything. It is the aggressive minority that always counts. This thing, it is true, works as well for good as for evil. Thus, it was but an aggressive minority that brought on the Revolutionary War. It was probably nothing but a minority, too, that brought on the Civil War. You can't ignore minorities.

Not That It Matters, But—

Don Glassman, author of Jump, another Missourian and one of the up-pingest and comingest of the younger set of scribes, is said to be that way about a certain out-of-town miss.

Unconfirmed rumor has it that a well-known Jew, once active in national politics, is now a member of a church.

Jacob de Haas, Zionist, who is planning to take on a side-line-fiction, is at work on a novel.

Gillette razor people have absorbed Probak—latter being Jewish owned and for a time seriously challenging razor crown, Gillette, escaping by a close shave. But now all is pretty and harmonious.

The Book Case

Comments on Jewish Authors and Their Books
By FRIEDA R. BIENSTOCK

For those of us who have a keen interest in Palestine and its ancient days, C. Leonard Wooley's "Digging Up the Past" (Scribner, $2), will prove immensely interesting. But one doesn't need even an interest in Palestine to have more than a little curiosity about the archaeological work that is being done in "Digging Up the Past" to borrow the author's title. Dr. Wooley is the director of the Joint Expedition of the British Museum and the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania to Mesopotamia. His book is a collection of radio talks which proved so popular he was asked to place them in a book. It's a great idea. For in his book Dr. Wooley gives us a veritable mine of information. He distinguishes between the mercenary treasure hunter and the idealistic archaeologist. He summarizes the value of "digging" to aid us in reconstructing the past and determining the march of civilization. He tells how an archaeological expedition goes about its preparations for excavating. He explains how dates of located treasures are arrived at and explains for us how the archaeologist "reads" the signs of ruins. Altogether a splendid piece of work, simple to comprehend, easily read and understood this work should prove immensely valuable to the layman who wishes to understand the purposes and value of the digging that has been familiar to the newspaper reader since the discovery of Tutankamen's tomb.

It is with some shame that we are confessing that we have just gotten around to reading Alfred W. Martin's "Seven Great Bibles" (Stokes, $2). The nice part of this book is that it isn't a one-season affair. So that even if we have erred in not presenting it to the notice of our readers previously they can still take advantage of this review. The author has included in his work the scriptures of Hinduism, Buddhism, Confucianism, Judaism, Mohammedanism and Christianity. Zoroastrianism also comes in for study. The work is a calm, intellectual presentation of these important religions with many quotations from the Biblical texts. But the author goes further than just mere presentation. He makes an explanation of passages quoted and traces their similarities as well as their essential differences. To any person interested in the history of religion the book will appeal, to the minister, be he of whatsoever faith, this book is a necessity.

NOTES ABOUT AUTHORS

The editor of The Jewish Tribune, Sidney Wallach, is, though you may not know it, a man of unusual poetic ability. Time was when his friends, and he has them galore, predicted for him a future in the field of poetry which would rank him among the highest. Of late we have not heard from him in this field. We suspect, however, that his poetry is still a major part of him.

"Five Star Final," that newspaper play by Louis Weitzenkorn, one-time Sunday Metropolitan editor of The New York World, is a smash, so rumor has it, while Paul and Sifton's effort has not hit so well. Paul was also connected with the metropolitan section of the World.

Ephraim Goldberg of Chicago writes to inform us that neither Thomas Mann, nor, of course, his son, Klaus, are Jewish. We had it on the word of a German acquaintance that they were. Their publishers are silent on the subject. We certainly have missed up if, as Mr. Goldberg informs us, Ludwig Lewisohn has stated they are of Nordic ancestry in his "Mid-Channel." Thanks for calling it to our attention, Mr. Goldberg.

The story of a notorious female swindler is revealed in William Roughead's recent "Bed Companions," published in England. Sarah Rachel Russell, who was also known as Sarah Moses and Sarah Levenson, is the character whose exploits were known to all England half a century ago. Originally the owner of a fried fish market, she hit on the idea of becoming a beauty specialist. That, unfortunately, was an error. The gigantic prices she proceeded to charge for her preparations were in line with the whole cosmetic trade attitude then and today. But she went a step further, unfortunately. Not content with charging 1000 guineas for a "Royal Arabian Toilet of Beauty" she began some fraudulent practices and was finally separated from an expensive house in the West End and a box at the opera in order to spend five years in a government hotel for swindling. She started her business when released, but again found herself unable to be satisfied with the huge gains of her cosmetic business and was again sentenced to prison where she died.

A reader writes to ask if Rudy Vallee is Jewish. Now, where on earth did that rumor start? No, indeed, and I don't know whether we should be sad or joyful . . . Rudy's adventure into the literary world, by the way, was not quite as bouquet-strewn as his publicity agent or agents would have us believe. In common everyday parlance it was what is technically known as a "flop."

Notable Zionist Leaders Sponsor Five-Year Palestine Land Plan

A popular saying has it that when two Jews congregate, three opinions emerge. This somewhat critical view was certainly disproven by the action last week of the Jewish National Fund Conference held in Washington, D. C.

The camera man, always in search for the novel and unique, cornered at the Willard Hotel a notable group of outstanding leaders of the Zionist movement, centering around Menachem Ussishkin, the famous Zionist leader and world President of the Jewish National Fund, after he delivered his hour and a half address which resulted in the unanimous and enthusiastic acceptance of his five-year plan for Palestine land acquisition and reclamation.

The divergence of the views and opinions of the leaders sitting and standing around Mr. Ussishkin is as distinct today as ever, but they all concurred in the resolution which "enthusiastically endorses and fully accepts" the five year plan. Throwing all differences overboard, all factions, groups and parties within Zionism have agreed that the principal problem in the upbuilding of the Jewish National Home—is the land problem.

A RISING THERMOMETER

A "Rising Thermometer," designating the amount of advs. obtained for the program of the O. H. C. tenth annual dance, has been installed in our club rooms. If ever there was enthusiasm aroused over advs. just attend a meeting and watch this thermometer rise. By all indications we may be surprised to find the rising fluid reach the color blue, soon. Blue, by the way, is the beginning high figure of the thermometer. While the last night of Passover, the night of our big tenth annual dance at the Arcadia, is still remote, the thermometer caretaker promises an unusual high reading for next meeting, that is, if each member does his bit. Will you?

INITIATION HELD

With the work of the newly organized degree system, five members were initiated at Sunday's meeting. And maybe those boys didn't get a workout. Ask any of them if you really desire to know what happened. Future initiations are being looked forward to with much earnest after the fine work displayed by this new system. Mr. Sam Kaspar, membership director, was in charge.

Those initiated were: Sol Goldsmith, Pascoag; Paul Schretter, Meyer Russian, Irving Markowitz and Irving Feldman.

ATHLETICS

The O. H. C. basketball team, now in the J. C. C. League, has but two scheduled games to play. Although this is the first time the O. H. C. ever produced a team of this kind, it sure has done splendid work. Thanks to Mr. Edward Wexler, athletic director.

Nearing the end of the season, the bowling league is sure moving at a fast pace. Keep it up, boys, for there will be plenty time for relaxation before next season.

Did you hear George Labush shout, "Who wants dance tickets?" Well, if not, you are missing a treat. Just tell him you do not possess any dance tickets and then watch!

There is a rumor that Sam Kasper has entertained at the Biltmore. Wow, what news! Whether it is the Biltmore or O. H. C., it'll always be the same old Sam.

Our House Director, Sam Shindler, is learning a new vocation. What? "Button Pusher." He sure can turn on the juice in quick time, eh what?

South Providence Boys Open New Spa

Joe Cohen and Max Pollack, two well-known South Providence boys, announce the opening of their new delicatessen and luncheonette on Saturday, Feb. 21.

The name of this new spa will be Jomax, and will be located at 247 Prairie avenue at the corner of Willard avenue.

The boys announce that theirs will be the first delicatessen, luncheonette, pastry and spa combination in South Providence. A lending library will be a feature of the store.

For the opening day free tickets will be given to all patrons for a drawing on a 110-piece dinner set.

The boys extend a cordial invitation to all their friends to visit them at their new place of business.

New Bill Would Cut Immigration of Jews to U. S.

Washington, Feb. 20—(JTA) — An enormous cut in the Jewish immigration quota will result from the new immigration bill, which has already been endorsed by the House Immigration Committee and which reduces all present immigration by 90 per cent.

The quota from Poland, which has hitherto been 6524, will be reduced to 652. The quota from Russia, which has hitherto been 2784, will be reduced to 278. The quotas from Lithuania, Latvia and Roumania have all been reduced to a basic minimum quota of one hundred from each country. Practically the entire Jewish immigration to the United States is from these countries.

In reporting the bill, the majority of the House Immigration Committee justifies it on the basis of the President's message to the present session of Congress, which recommended the revision of the immigration laws upon a more limited and selective basis flexible to the needs of the country and in accordance with the present unemployment situation. The report declares that further immigration can only tend to aggravate the unemployment situation.

Representative Samuel Dickstein, Jewish member of the House Immigration Committee, has brought in a minority report. Mr. Dickstein proposes several changes in the bill which would facilitate the entry of relatives of those now resident in the United States.

SENIOR JUDAEANS

The last meeting of the Senior Judaeans was held on Tuesday, Feb. 17. It was decided to present a show for the public.

Four members spoke on biographies of four famous men as follows: Harry Fain, Einstein; Lillian Reich, Rothschild; Author Hoffman, Theodore Herzl, and Hayvis Wool, Jochanan Ben Zakkai.

During the social period, eight members were initiated. A committee was chosen to form a constitution, which will be introduced next week. The Senior Judaeans Review will make its second appearance in two weeks.

REGULAR MEETING HELD

A regular meeting was held on Sunday, Feb. 15th, at Eagles' Auditorium. There were three new candidates initiated into this organization and it gave us all an opportunity to see the new form of initiation that was planned by our Worthy Chairman, Bernard Abedon.

Louis Hayman, Chairman of the Social Committee, announced that he and his associates on this committee are planning a smoker to be held some time in March. Do not forget the next meeting, Sunday, March 1st.

J. C. C.—SMOKER HELD

A smoker was held on Wednesday, Feb. 11th, at the club rooms. There is no doubt that everyone there certainly enjoyed the evening. Entertainment was furnished by several professional artists and also by members of this committee. The feature of the evening was a comedy boxing bout between "Hy" Silverman and "Ben" Levin. Al Saltzman wound up the entertainment with a Jewish sketch.

There is no limited credit due to the committee that planned this affair and I am sure that if given the same opportunity for our next smoker, they will do just as well.

The following members were on this committee: Harry Schwartz, chairman, assisted by Hy Holland, Al Saltzman, Hy Salk and Harry Nozick.

OPEN HOUSE POSTPONED

The open house night, which was to be held on Sunday evening, Feb. 22nd, was postponed until March 8th. This was done in order not to interfere with the Jewish Art Exhibit held at Temple Beth-El, which is having Fraternal Night on Sunday, Feb. 22nd.

NEWS WRITTEN FOR THE JEWISH HERALD BY GEORGE JOEL

BASKETBALL SEASON DRAWS TO A CLOSE

The basketball season of 1930-31 is almost over and the task of picking the leading team becomes more difficult after each game. The Jewish team, from the very Catholic college of St. John's, played through some 24 basketball games without coming out on the losing end, but like all things that start, the St. John's team was finally stopped when they met New York University the other night in New York City. The score was 27-23. It was the big upset of the season as the St. John's team had beaten the Violet boys earlier in the season. Two Jewish boys on the New York University team, Banks and Siegel, scored 18 points for the victors and were responsible for the upset.

Another exciting game took place when Yale met Princeton. Until the last few minutes it looked like Princeton's game, but once again Captain Eddie Horowitz of Yale came through and shot the winning basket. It was a real Rover boy finish. Three seconds to go and Yale trailing 24-23, Horowitz seized a free ball, dribbled, dodged and stiff armed his way through the entire Princeton five to the middle of the floor—he let fly—the ball sailed through the air, hit the rim of the basket, seemed to falter, and then trickled in—Score, 25-24. The whistle sounded before the ball hit the floor. The game was over.

Columbia overwhelmed the hitherto undefeated Army basketball team last week-end by the score of 53-21. Lew Bender, Columbia Jewish star, led the scoring with 18 points.

Syracuse conquered its traditional rival, Colgate, 39-24. Led by Tubby Hayman, Jewish captain, the Orange team made it a runaway. Hayman ran up a total of 11 points. Bromberg and the Katz boy all saw action.

Fordham, with Red Weiss back in the lineup, continued its fine basketball play and won an easy victory over Rutgers. Last week the Catholic school met C. C. N. Y. for the second time this season and defeated the City College fellows in a fast game.

JEWISH FIGHTER RETURNS TO FIXING TEETH

Leach Cross, born Louis C. Wallach, and one of the first Jewish fighters of modern times to gain both a fortune and a reputation in the prize rings, has been practicing dentistry in New York City these last few years. Although preceded on the fistic scene by Jack McKeck, who was a Jew, and Joe Bernstein, Cross was the first of the boys who successfully peddled boxing to the inhabitants of the lower East Side of New York City.

In the old days it was customary for fighters to go out and sell tickets to the fights in which they were to appear. Cross once sold $4000 worth of ducats to one of his own bouts. Although he was never a champion he was a great club fighter and at the end of his career he had grossed $25,000 just with his fists. A run of luck in the stock market ran that staggering sum up to $750,000, but after the crash he had just about nothing left. When he found himself broke he returned to his profession—that of dentist, and has been practicing successfully ever since.

Cross was born on the East Side and learned to fight because he lived in a tough neighborhood and simply had to. He liked the game and got his experience at the Clark Settlement House. It was this affiliation that made Cross take that name. The membership was almost all Irish. The Jewish boys who wanted to get along adopted Irish monickers. Cross' ambition was to be a punching bag champion, but a fight manager watching him do his stuff talked him into becoming a professional boxer. He took the opportunity, but didn't give up his schooling and finally graduated from dental college.

A 10-round no-decision contest with Willie Ritchie at the old Madison Square Garden, was the nearest Cross ever got to the title, but he fought all the top notchers. He always gave a good performance and made plenty of money.

After 11 years in Hollywood, the once famous lightweight returned to New York in 1928 with $100 his total capital. He opened dental parlors and has been yanking teeth ever since. Cross says that he doesn't regret his career, but added that if he had a son he would never allow the boy to go into the ring! "There's nothing like a good business," was his passing shot, as he returned to his dental chair.

IS ABEL, THE HOCKEY STAR, A JEW?

Burton Jaman of Chicago sprung one on me when he wrote and said that Taffy Abel, star defense man on the Black Hawks Chicago hockey team is a Jew. Frankly I don't know. I met Abel when he was playing for the New York Rangers, a few years ago, but it never occurred to me to question him. He seemed so obviously Canadian. Still I wouldn't want to contradict Mr. Jaman. From the same source I learn that Porky Levine, who was goal tender for the Seattle hockey club last year, is now keeping pucks out of the Minneapolis Miller's cage.

BAER TAKES BOXING LESSON FROM LOUGHRAN

Maxie Baer, our latest Jewish heavyweight sensation, took a ten-round boxing lesson from Tommy Loughran in their recent meeting. Baer failed to win one round and probably didn't hit Tommy more than 10 times. It was a sad exhibition for the Jewish boy and showed him to be miles away from championship calibre. Baer has returned to the coast after having indulged in three bouts. He lost two and won the other. Unless he can be built up his presence in New York will not be missed. There is one thing in the boy's favor—he is willing to fight, but just doesn't know how.

CHATTERINGS

The soccer boys are fighting again. After cleaning up the Metropolitan district the All-Star Hakoahs are accused of ineligible players and the games they won have been protested. Nothing will happen and Hakoah will play for the U. S. Cup.

Lawn tennis, as it is played today, was invented by a British army official, Major Walter C. Wingfield in 1873. The game was then called Sphairistike. That's something to call a game.

Henry Burbig, to me, one of the funniest comedians on the air, is a Jew and was once a second baseman on a semi-pro ball team.

A. E. Pi 22, Beta Phi 13. And this victory still gives the Jewish boys the top rung in the Interfraternity League. One more win and Captain Keler and his cohorts play once again for the championship. But before this is possible, Theta Chi must be taken into camp. At present Theta Chi is also undefeated and by all indications the game is to be the fastest played thus far.

This Friday evening the military ball takes place at Kingston. From advance reports by the social committee the affair is to be the finest ever conducted by the R. O. T. C. battalion. Dancing will continue until 1 o'clock, at which time all fraternities will conduct open house for the benefit of their guests. Music is to be furnished by Bob Bennett and His California Serenaders.

Last Saturday evening, Alpha Epsilon Pi inducted fifteen men through two degrees. The pledges who received degrees were: Louis Friedman of Newport, Hyman Fine of Attleboro, Louis Horowitz and Hyman Horowitz of Fall River, Marcus Fleischer of Revere, Milton Bassing of Bristol, Sam Myers of Brockton, Harold Golden of Woonsocket, Joseph Gordon of Westerly, Robert Crovitz, Jack Savran, Abe Bloom, Bernard Jensky, Aaron Brosofsky and Philip Finkle, all of Providence.

Minister Explains Law Barring Jobs to Aliens After 1932

Washington, Feb. 20—(JTA)—A statement explaining the Lithuanian law that would bar aliens from doing business or obtaining work in Lithuania after Jan. 1, 1932, unless they have permits was issued here recently to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency by B. K. Balutis, Lithuanian Minister to the United States. Mr. Balutis denied that the Lithuanian government had issued a special order to Jewish business houses to release non-citizen employes.

He points out that an advisory communication was made on behalf of the Ministry of the Interior and sent to the business houses of all nationalities in Lithuania, calling their attention to the Employment Law of July 14, 1930, and advising them to make a special effort to obtain by Jan. 1, 1932, the specialists they may need from among Lithuanian citizens, this advice being given because the law becomes operative on that date.

The full text of the law as given to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency by Mr. Balutis is as follows:

(1) Aliens who desire to do business in Lithuania or wish to obtain work therein, shall obtain a permit for that purpose from the Ministry of the Interior.

(2) The permit for work is issued for a period of not longer than one year. At the expiration of the term of the permit, a new permit may be granted. The permit becomes void when its owner loses the right of residing in Lithuania.

(3) Permits are not necessary for the citizens of those states which, in accordance with the treaties with Lithuania, do not require the equivalent permits from Lithuanian citizens.

(4) Aliens offending this law shall be liable, according to the decision of the Ministry of the Interior, to a penalty of not over 1000 lita, or expulsion from Lithuania.

(5) The Minister of the Interior shall issue instructions for the application of this law.

The Lithuanian Minister emphasized that "from the above it would seem that no anti-Jewish measure was ever or is at present contemplated. The law clearly intends to safeguard the interests of Lithuanian citizens (including, of course, the Jews), and indicates that the Lithuanian government intends, by way of full reciprocity, to grant permits only to the citizens of those countries which extend a like privilege to the citizens of Lithuania."

Regarding the fear in Lithuanian Jewish circles that the law would apply to those who hold Nansen-passports, Mr. Balutis made the following statement:

"There are about 10,000 of the so-called Nansen-passport, or stateless residents in Lithuania. A great majority of them are Jews. But I do not think this law would apply to them, as those of them who have obtained these passports in Lithuania are considered to all intents and purposes (excluding political rights), as treated equally with the rest of the citizens. This was clearly indicated by Mr. Novakas of the Ministry of the Interior in his public statement."

Mr. Balutis added that "it would seem, therefore, that the great outcry and attempt to show this measure as being a discrimination against the Jews is unfortunate and, as such, should be deplored."

The reports of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency regarding the above-mentioned law did not say that it was specifically discriminatory against the Jews. They merely pointed out how the Jews of Lithuania, many of whom are not citizens, would be seriously affected by this measure. The Minister's statement that most of the stateless residents in Lithuania are Jews confirms the Jewish Telegraphic Agency's dispatches.—Editor's Note.

TEMPLE BETH-ISRAEL

DR. ERNST FEILCHENFELD TO OCCUPY PULPIT

Dr. Ernst Feilchenfeld an authority on International Law, at present occupying the position of Professor of International Law at Harvard University, will be the guest speaker at Temple Beth-Israel, 155 Niagara street, on Friday, Feb. 20th, at 8:15 p. m.

Dr. Feilchenfeld, although a young man, has made a reputation for himself in the field of International Law. The League of Nations has called him to Geneva repeatedly to seek his advice in many of their difficult league matters. He is coming at the invitation of Dr. Jacob Sonderling, the spiritual leader of the Temple, who is at present in Hamburg, Germany.

Dr. Feilchenfeld's subject will be "The Disintegration of the Independent Middle Classes and the Future of Jewry."

Cantor Joseph Schlossberg will officiate. The public is invited.

Last Friday evening the Temple had an unusual treat. Cantor Igor Gruenberg officiated at the services and Mr. Joshua Bell delivered the sermon.

Mrs. Albert Weiner will be the hostess at the Sunday morning Bar-Mitzvah boys' breakfast Sunday, Feb. 22.

A meeting of the Shomrim La Boker group, of which Mr. Samuel Ernstof is chairman, was held last evening.

Next Friday evening, Feb. 27, Dr. Arnold Margolin of Boston, Mass., will occupy Dr. Sonderling's pulpit. Dr. Margolin is the famous defender in the Beilis trial that took place in Kiev, Russia, some time ago.

COURT REVERSES FINE ON HITLERITE AGITATOR

Berlin, Feb. 20—(JTA)—The fine of 300 marks imposed on Fritz Waldman, Breslau leader of the Hitlerites, for spreading anti-Semitic propaganda, was cancelled today by the Breslau County Court.

In reversing the decision of the lower court, the County Court said that "Waldman was complying with the teaching of Hitler not to use crude force but to use spiritual weapons."

Irish Father Fights to Keep Children With Jewish Family

New York, Feb. 20—(JTA)—An Irish father, separated from his Irish-Catholic wife, is at present fighting in New York city courts for the right to keep his two children with a Jewish family and give them a Jewish education. This peculiar case is being tried this week before Supreme Court Justice Aaron J. Levy.

Michael Shanahan, an iron worker, who had been living with his wife, formerly Mrs. Irene Valentine, for five years, is now living with a Jewish family by the name of Dribel, on the East Side. Claiming that their mother is unable to take care of their two children, Ethel and Thomas, Jr., Mr. Shanahan is anxious to have the children stay with him and be brought up by the Jewish family. His wife, however, who, in contrast to him, is a pious Roman Catholic, objects to having their children brought up by Jews. Judge Boyle of the Children's Court, before whom the case had formerly been tried, had decided that the children be placed in a Catholic institution. Against this decision the father is now appealing.
