Tidbits and News of Jewish Personalities
By DAVID SCHWARTZ

History of Anti-Semitism

Charles D. Isaacson, former music critic of the defunct New York Globe, the man who was largely responsible for much of the municipally sponsored concerts, is writing a book.

The theme has nothing to do with music. It is our old friend, Anti-Semitism again. The book is to be a history of the various movements against the Jews, the blood libels, the concoction of the Elders of Zion conspiracy, Hitlerism and the like.

A variation in other words of the motif recently elaborated by Heywood Brown and George Britt in "Christians Only."

Even Chief Rabbis

Anti-Semitism is a long story, but it really is capable of great condensation, and the best condensation that I ever heard is the old wheeze. You remember it? I think it ran something like this: "The condition of the Jews is bad in Germany. In Hungary, it is even worse. But in Roumania, it is not so bad. In Roumania, a Jew can even become Chief Rabbi."

I am not, of course, referring particularly to Roumania. I am not posted on the day-to-day barometer of anti-Semitism.

She Was a Communist

Anti-Semitism is, of course, a horrid spectre—and yet sometimes, when I think of what a peculiar sort of people we Jews are—well, I begin to lose some of my severity towards the anti-Semite.

The other day the writer of these lines passed the Hyde Park of New York—Columbus Circle.

You have been there—if you have been to New York. You have heard the soap boxers there—the Atheists, Socialists, Communists, Single Taxers, Health Culturists and what not.

There was a young woman speaking, on the occasion to which I refer. She spoke with a distinct foreign accent. She was a Communist. She was shouting—"We Communists"—in every other breath. And she was continually harping on "What this country needs." She was a Jewess.

Prophecy and Dignity

Now, I have no objections to Jews or Jewesses being Communists. The truth is, that I am rather glad to see that the radical movements, irrespective of what they are, contain so large a percentage of Jews. I think it shows intellectual vitality. I think it shows the prophetic spark. Our ancestors were the greatest prophets of the world. A Jew should be a prophet. Should be a Utopian. Should dream of the end of social injustice and the coming of world harmony. That's all right.

Yet at the same time, does it not seem a little queer for a person whose own accent is foreign, to be telling a mob of natives what this country needs?

Wasn't it possible for this Jewish Communist to give her message without phrasing it in so objectionable a way? Isn't it possible, too, for even a Communist to convey his or her message without getting hysterical? Can't one be a prophet while practicing a little restraint?

Two Atheists

Reference was made in this erudite column last week to Dr. Isidore Singer's desire to put religion on a non-sectarian basis. Dr. Singer would abolish the synagogues, but confesses that he himself likes to go to "schul" occasionally.

Thomas Edison and the Jews

By JOHN DAVIS

When recently the whole world listened in to the celebration of Thomas Edison's discovery of the incandescent light, it was a Jewish Professor, Albert Einstein, who was elected to send over the world's greeting to the great American inventor.

It was a fitting choice. The greatest figure in pure science greeting the greatest figure in applied science. It was a choice, too, perhaps, not without a strain of irony, for the distinguished American inventor had been known in the past to express a not too high opinion of the workers in the field of pure science.

We may pardon this disparagement as a more or less natural foliole of a mind which had devoted itself completely to the laboratory method. Doubtless, the recent years must have shown to Edison that the line of demarcation between pure and applied science is a very thin one. There is a pretty story told, indeed, in this connection of Edison's greatest predecessor in electrical discovery—Faraday. That great scientist, you remember, worked too in the field of pure science.

The story goes that a member of Parliament one day visited Faraday and Faraday told him of his discovery. The member of Parliament was a bit contemptuous. "But what can you do with your discoveries?"

PROF. CROSBY WILL INAUGURATE CENTER LECTURE COURSES

Noted Brown Dramatic Art Professor to Appear Dec. 6; Many Notables on Season's Program

Prof. Thomas F. Crosby, Jr., Professor of Public Speaking and Dramatic Art of Brown University, will inaugurate this year's lecture course to be offered by the Jewish Community Center, Sunday evening, Dec. 6th. Other speakers engaged thus far are:

Isaac Don Levine, famous correspondent of the New York Times, Sunday evening, Dec. 27th; Rabbi Harry Levi of Temple Israel, Boston, Sunday evening, Jan. 24th, and Max Eastman, poet, author and journalist, Sunday evening, March 6th.

This program has not as yet been completed, because two more selections are to be made by the committee headed by Samuel H. Workman, and assisted by Arthur J. Levy, Milton C. Sapinsky and Executive Director Jacob I. Cohen.

Devoting practically a whole summer to the consideration of a large list of speakers, the committee has diligently searched throughout the land for the best possible material. It finally agreed on the above four as outstanding personalities in the literary, dramatic, religious and political world.

Prof. Thomas F. Crosby, Jr., at Brown University is too well known to need an elaborate description. He has devoted a life time to public speaking, dramatics and is well known as a dramatic reader of first grade. He will read one of Shakespeare's plays. Isaac Don Levine will speak on Russia, having recently visited the country and being the author of a book, "Stalin," that caused a furor when it was published last fall. Rabbi Harry Levi is admired both by Jews and non-Jews for his profound thinking and brilliant delivery. Max Eastman is an orator of international fame and is one of the most engaging personalities available for lectures today. His probable subject will be "The Future of Liberalism."

The selection of two more numbers is being made from the following: Michael Strange, Konrad Bercevic, Louis Untermeyer, Senator Robert M. La Follette, Felix Fox, pianist, and Arthur Fiedler with the Boston Sinfonietta.

A final decision will be made very shortly and announcement made by the committee. Course tickets for six numbers will be available at nominal cost. Persons may also enroll as a member of the Center, thereby being entitled to admission without charge.

"Well," said Faraday dryly, "I don't know—maybe some day you can tax it."

And how Faraday's prediction has come true! Millions and tens of millions of dollars of taxes have been collected from those researchers of Faraday.

And if one desires any further confirmation of the close relationship of pure and applied science, a splendid demonstration is found in the fact that the pure scientist, Heinrich Hertz, whose discoveries made radio possible, and who incidentally, was a Jew, later was confirmed in some of his findings by the practical research of Thomas Edison.

Perhaps the most intimate Jewish associate of Thomas Edison was Sigmund Bergmann, later to become a powerful figure in the electrical industry of Europe.

Edison regarded Bergmann as the greatest business executive who had ever been associated with him. But the association between Edison and Bergmann was much deeper than merely this business connection. Besides being a business genius, Bergmann, too, was something of an inventor, and in addition to that, he was a great practical joker, and Edison derived much enjoyment from some of Bergmann's antics. Edison later confessed that he missed the departure of no one of his associates more keenly than that of Bergmann. "Bergmann," said Edison, "came to work for me as a boy. He started on a stock quotation printers. As he was a rapid workman and paid no attention to the clock, I took a fancy to him and gave him piece work. He contrived so many little tools to cheapen the work that he made lots of money. I even helped him get up tools until it occurred to me that this was a too rapid process of getting rid of my money, as I hadn't the heart to cut the price, when it was originally fair. After a year or so, Bergmann got enough money to start a shop on Wooster street, New York, and it was at this shop that the first phonographs were made for sale. Then came the carbon telephone transmitter, a large number of which were made by Bergmann for the Western Union. Finally came the electric light."

It required a smart man to get the best of Bergmann. Some of Bergmann's tactics in saving money perhaps could not obtain the sanction of a high type of ethics. But Edison with his Yankee bent of mind, enjoyed their resourcefulness. "Once," said Edison, "a dynamo was installed in Bergmann's shop to permit him to test the various small

TO FORM ADVISORY COUNCIL FOR THOSE PLANNING SUICIDE

Wave of Suicides, Particularly Among Jews, Prompts Suggestion in Warsaw

Warsaw, Oct. 23—(JTA)—An Advisory Council for those contemplating suicide will be formed by the Warsaw municipality, the press here reports today.

This Council was suggested by the growing wave of suicides, particularly among the Jews, owing to the precarious economic situation. The proposed Council will endeavor to dissuade them from suicide by suggesting possible solutions of their problems.

The Social Welfare Department of the Municipality is now considering the memorandum describing the project in detail.

American Jewish Congress Adopts Resolutions To Aid Palestine, European Jewry

Mrs. Archibald Silverman Elected Vice President; Rabbi Stephen Wise Re-elected Honorary President; Richards Heads Political Work

MRS. ARCHIBALD SILVERMAN Vice President

RABBI STEPHEN S. WISE Honorary President

Philadelphia, Oct. 23—(JTA)—After listening to a severe indictment of the British Colonial Office and the Palestine Government by Dr. Stephen S. Wise and adopting resolutions affecting the welfare of the Jews in Poland, Russia and Palestine, the night session of the American Jewish Congress was brought to a close with the elections of officers to serve for the coming year.

Dr. Stephen S. Wise was re-elected as Honorary President, Bernard S. Deutsch as President and Dr. Joseph E. Tenenbaum as Chairman of the Executive Committee.

Bernard G. Richards, whose office of Executive Secretary was abolished because of the insistence of the faction representing the views of Dr. Stephen S. Wise, despite opposition by one faction of delegates, was elected a member of the Administrative Committee and will be named head of the department of political work and research of the Congress, it was announced. This is one of three new departments to be inaugurated by the administrative committee, the others being departments of finance and organization.

Rabbi Wise's attack upon the Colonial Office and Palestine Administration followed an address by Louis Lipsky who reported on the progress of Palestine upbuilding. Emphasizing that the Chalutzim are creating new values and a new formulation of Jewish life, Mr. Lipsky called for a greater measure of interest in Palestine on the part of American Jewry.

Says Passfield Paper Will Live in Annals of Infamy

Supplementing Mr. Lipsky's report, Rabbi Wise characterized the Passfield White Paper as a "damnable document that shall live in the annals of infamy," and accused the Palestine government of subtly, meanly and aggressively interfering with Jewish Palestine upbuilding.

"If we had decent justice in Palestine," Rabbi Wise declared, "our population there might have been 280,000 or more instead of 180,000 now there."

After paying tribute to the indomitable spirit of the Chalutzim, Rabbi Wise asserted "that a thousand Passfields will not shake the Yishub. But the Yishub would have been stronger under another administration."

By unanimous vote, the convention tendered its felicitations to Lieutenant General Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchope, the new Palestine High Commissioner, and wished him success in his new administration, "hoping that he will make a substantial contribution to the progress of the Jewish National Home, maintaining peace, restoring confidence and effectively establishing the mandate in letter and in spirit as the basis of governmental administration in the land."

Felicitations were also extended to Dr. Nahum Sokolow upon his presidency of the World Zionist Organization and the Jewish Agency.

Ask Aid to Zionists in Present Emergency

Another resolution referring to Palestine, pointed to the severe difficulties in continuing Zionist work in the country because of the economic depression and called the congress members, in co-operation with world Jewry, to active support and substantial sacrifice in meeting the present emergency that faces the builders in Palestine.

The convention in a resolution adopted, deplored the tendency to discriminate against Jewish applicants for employment in the fields of economic activity.

Referring to the situation in Germany, its resolution stated that it "viewed with alarm the growing tide of anti-Semitism in Germany and expressed its confidence in the ability and the will of the German people to suppress these unwarranted attacks."

Resolutions on Poland and Russia

The failure of the Polish government to relieve the unendurable economic situation of its Jewish citizens was strongly deplored, and the resolution adopted pointed out that the Jews are still subject to economic discrimination, excessive taxation and prohibitive industrial laws. The government of the Polish Republic was called upon "to fulfill her obligations under her international treaties which stipulated complete equality and justice to all elements of her population."

The convention noted "with satisfaction that the Soviet Government has found it wise to abolish the Yevsektzia" and regards with a sense of relief the reports emanating from Russia that there has been some relaxation in the rigorous persecution of that country. "The congress, however," continues the resolution, "still finds evidence of repression of religious liberty and particularly of the persecution of Zionists who are still subjected to the worst methods of terrorism by the Soviet political police, and appeals to the Soviet Government to heed the dictates of humanity and to carry further the policy of moderation which it has inaugurated with reference to the treat-

The Great Summons

By NATHAN STRAUS, JR.
The Relationship of Jews to Palestine

In the following articles, Nathan Straus, Jr., noted civic leader, and one of the Chairmen of the American Palestine Campaign, describes some current attitudes toward Palestine and gives his own estimate of the part that the rebuilding of the Jewish Homeland can play in the reshaping of Jewish life—The Editor.

"I am not interested in Palestine." You have heard this often. So have I. So has any man working for a cause, which calls for time, effort and money, with little immediate prospect of return on these investments except the satisfaction of doing what is right. "I am not interested in Palestine," say the lazy ones, the selfish ones, the smug. Some of them rich, some of them are poor in this world's goods, but all of them suffer from a spiritual deafness.

"I am not interested in Palestine" is a sentence not heard among the Jewish leaders of today. The leaders of thought and of idealism, whatever their talk in life, are people interested in Palestine and are giving of their souls and substance to help in the rebuilding of Palestine. The great Jewish leaders of America today, conspicuously the three greatest, Louis D. Brandeis, Stephen S. Wise and Felix M. Warburg, are interested in Palestine. They believe that it is the realization of a great hope and the promise of a great future.

For over two thousand years Jews of the world have prayed to be given an opportunity to rebuild the land of their fathers. This opportunity has been given to us in our generation. The world around us does not distinguish and cannot be expected to distinguish between those Jews who hold by the ancient hope and those who do not. These fine-spun distinctions make little appeal to a world which has for over two thousand years heard the Jew's prayer, "Next Year In Jerusalem."

For comparatively few generations the Poles have sought a rebuilt Poland and the Irish a re-constituted Irish State. The world does not much respect the Pole today who confesses himself uninterested and unwilling to help his country at the hour of its re-birth and the world does not much respect the Irishman who is not interested in the industrial and spiritual progress of the Irish Free State. But those dreams of rebuilding a homeland are recent compared to the Jewish dream. Ours is an ancient hope, enshrined in an ancient prayer. The world has its eyes upon us. It is watching us to see whether the best or the worst in the Jewish nature, so complex and so multicolored, will be reflected in the life of Palestine. It is watching us to see whether the competitive, commercial and material side of the Jewish soul, deformed by persecution and oppression, will prevail today in Palestine, or whether the soaring vision of an Isaiah or an Einstein will instead prevail. Like it or like it not, the world will judge us and will judge our children and our children's children by what we shall have built in the country that has been given us as our own.

These are the arguments which appeal to some, the inescapable compulsion of world pressure. However, what appeals to me most in helping to rebuild Palestine is the inner satisfaction that comes of giving people who have lost their way in the world another chance. I like the thought that Jews from countries of Europe where, like their fathers before them, they would have no opportunity for education, happiness and a free life, are being given in increasing numbers this opportunity in Palestine. I like to think that amid a world which is oppressing the Jew and striving to stamp out his courage, his initiative and his individuality, those who are rebuilding Palestine are giving a home not only to homeless individuals but to a people and its finest spiritual aspirations. I like to think of rebuilding Palestine as giving to a strife-weary and bewildered world a home for the people who once the world the thought, "They shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning-hooks," the people who gave the world its weekly day of rest, its Bible, and its God, the people who first gave birth to the thought, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

To those of us who sense in a rebuilt Palestine the gradual fulfillment of those ancient dreams the opportunity today to participate even in a small way in Palestine's years of birth, comes as a great summons, an opportunity quite as much as a responsibility.

There is no cause for despair in Palestine. Amid the countries of the world suffering from a world-wide economic depression Palestine is conspicuously free from unusual economic stress. Conditions oppressing the rest of the world are also oppressing it, but on the economic and financial side, the future looks today more encouraging than ever before. This may be the last great opportunity given us fortunate Jews of the New World to participate in genuinely helping that little country for which we have such high hopes.

Jewish Orphanage News

The children of the Jewish Home during the past week were the center of interest in the remembrance of friends of the Orphanage. Mr. Al Green of 70 Peace street supplied the youngsters with an excellent ice cream treat. Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Silverman, who always have the welfare and happiness of the children of the Home at heart, thought of them even while away, by sending them a goodly supply of Salt-Water Taffy from Atlantic City, as did Mrs. Harry Guny, another continuously interested friend of the boys and girls.

The older girls of the Home have again started their girl Scout meetings in the Summit Avenue Troop. In addition to the regular work of the troop they attend courses in sewing and housekeeping given at the Scout House on Benefit street, twice a week. The oldest boys are attending the clubs at the Jewish Community Center.

Through the courtesy and interest of the Board of Directors of Temple Emanu-El and of Rabbi Israel Goldman, all the boys and girls of the Orphanage are enrolled in the various classes in the Religious School of the Temple. Within the Home, Hebrew classes are conducted twice a week. Mr. Morris Shoham is the instructor.

Dr. Louis B. Wolfenson, Executive Director, conducts Friday evening and Saturday morning services in the Orphanage, in which all of the children participate, and four of the oldest boys take leading parts for reading Hebrew and English.

All of these activities, together with regular school classes, and visiting with friends and relatives, make a completely full program, which is greatly enjoyed by the children because of its variety.

Recent weighing and measuring of the youngsters shows a very satisfactory gain. One boy put on 25 pounds in weight, and six inches in height since August. Due to careful watchfulness of the diet and clothing of the children, the unusually fine health record still prevails in the Orphanage.

Ahavath Sholom Synagogue

The annual meeting of the Ahavath Sholom Synagogue was held last Sunday evening. The reports of the various departments of the Congregation were submitted. Samuel Plainfield, Henry Priest, Samuel Brown and others, was highly praised for its excellent work in selling the seats before the High Holidays.

Mr. Hyman Katz, President of the Synagogue for the past six years, well known for his sincere and constructive work in the Synagogue, was nominated for the Presidency, but due to his failing health, declined to accept it. The following officers were then nominated and elected:

Mr. Philip Abrams, President; Mr. Louis Ganz, Vice President; Mr. Morris Flink, Treasurer; Mr. Nathan B. Greenstein, Financial Secretary, and Mr. Abraham Linder, Recording Secretary.

Reports of the various committees will be read, the financial standing submitted, and the plans for the ensuing year will be discussed.

WARBURGS CONTRIBUTE $75,000 TO JEWISH FEDERATION DRIVE

New York, Oct. 23.—(JTA)—Two hundred and fifty-six persons, of a total of 329 people who in 1930 made special donations of $100 or more to the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies have increased their total gifts from $244,340 in 1930 to $334,634 in 1931, it was announced recently by former Judge Joseph Proskauer, President of the Federation.

The campaign of the Federation for $2,230,000 is still $1,630,000 short of its goal, after two weeks of campaign, it is announced, notwithstanding that only 70 donors reduced their 1931 gifts. The list of contributors last week is headed by Mr. and Mrs. Felix M. Warburg, who donated $75,000.

Mortality Rate and Conversion Increase as Births Fall Off

Vienna, Oct. 23 — (JTA) — With the mortality rate exceeding the birth rate, and Jewish converts to the Christian religion increasing, the Vienna Jewish community is undergoing a steady diminution, official figures made public recently indicate.

During the four month period extending from May to Aug. 246 left the Jewish faith, it is revealed, as compared with 85 converts during the same period last year. In the same period 837 Jews died, while only 383 were born.

The decrease in the number of Jewish school children has resulted in the loss of their positions by a number of Jewish teachers. The municipality, however, has thus far retained them in other departments.

Rabbi Goldman has chosen for his subject for this opening service, "Unemployed Religion." Cantor Harry Bettman will chant the service, assisted by the full Temple Emanu-El Choir, under the direction of Mr. Arthur Einstein and with Mrs. Joseph Webber as soloist.

These late Friday night services will be continued throughout the entire year until Shevuoth in June. A most stimulating series of addresses and sermons will be presented from the pulpit touching upon many phases of the modern religious life and of Judaism and also upon other vital matters of current interest and concern. Besides Rabbi Goldman, many other prominent Rabbis and clergymen will be heard from the pulpit. Several special Sabbath Services are to be held, which are designed to be of special appeal and helpfulness to the men, the women and particularly to the young people, not only of the congregation, but the entire community. The music to be rendered by the Cantor and choir has been carefully selected and will present only the best of the classic and modern Jewish liturgical composers.

RECEPTION TO 44 NEW MEMBERS

Immediately after the opening service on Friday night, a reception will be tendered to the 44 new families and members that have united with the congregation this year. Mrs. Carl Goldblatt is chairman of the reception committee. Greetings will be extended by the President, Mr. Philip C. Joslin; President of the Sisterhood, Mrs. Nat C. Cohen; President of the Men's Club, Mr. A. L. Jacobs, and by some of the other officers of the other activities of the congregation.

The following are the other members of the reception committee: Mrs. Haskell Frank, Mrs. Casper Frank, Mrs. Morris Sackett, Mrs. Samuel Blazar, Mrs. J. L. Coplan, Mrs. E. Shein, Mrs. H. Fine, Mrs. Joseph Basson, Mrs. Joseph Blazar, Mrs. H. Kaufman.

SERMON TO BE DISTRIBUTED

Following many requests for Rabbi Goldman's sermon, "The Challenge of the Unattained," preached on the first day of Rosh Hashonah, the office of the Temple is preparing a copy of that sermon for distribution. Copies will be distributed after the opening late service this coming Friday, Oct. 30th.

The windows of the Jewish students' house were smashed by the demonstrators and a Christian worker, passing through the street, was seriously injured.

ANGLO-PALESTINE BANK RELIEVES COIN SHORTAGE

Haifa, Oct. 23 — (JTA) — The coin famine here was relieved to some extent owing to the efforts of the Anglo-Palestine Bank, which brought a large quantity of silver from Jerusalem.

Hundreds of people thronged the bank, among them town Arabs and Fellaheen, but the bank was able to satisfy the demand.

A quantity of coins was supplied by the bank to government and other public offices and also to other banks. The exchanging of notes for silver is expected to continue.

The coins were brought to Haifa by car with an armed guard of two British constables.

RESHAPING WORLD JEWRY

The American Jewish Congress in Philadelphia this week has voiced the necessity of a program which has for its aim the complete revision of our present Jewish life. So ambitious a program advocated by a less intelligent and less distinguished body might be met with some semblance of a smile, but issuing from a convention so important and so well attended by brilliant contemporary figures in American Jewish life, it commands not only our attention but our serious consideration as well.

The plight of the Jew the world over has not been improved by the general economic crisis. Always more prominent in finance than his fellows, the Jew must look upon the unstable exchange as another threat against his own security. Anti-Semitism has run rampant and continues to do so in most continental countries, and the present congress declares a similar and no less deplorable condition of discrimination throughout our own country. All things told and considered, the Jew must revise his life in such a way that he may progress toward that security of political, social and educational advantage which to him and to others may finally spell a deserved equality with other sects.

That, however, is something which we have been striving for ever since the walls of the Ghetto were torn down, less than a century ago. How far we have gone since then is not obscure, for in all countries and in all the professions, the Jew is a significant force. Dr. Wise, with his usual precise vision, cries out for courage and hopefulness among us to supplant timidity and fearfulness. He, in conjunction with many other prominent Jews, is a strong advocate of a World Jewish Congress, which should convene to discuss methods and means of reshaping world Jewry.

The World Congress is in the trend of the times. Nationalism is being battered by internationalism, and as has always been realized, the Jew is and can never be other than an international figure. Since this is the case, such a world convention of Jews should be an important and worthwhile event. We have seen that only a percentage of our people have seen the vision of a political Zion, and that for many of them such a homeland is a dream. They, more than anyone else, need the inspiration of a world convention to recall former hopes and aspirations. The Jewish people must learn to look on Jewish misfortunes in the world of today as a passing phase of our great struggle to achieve self-confidence and worthy identification. The attempt to reshape our aims and to transform our psychology at a World Congress of Jews could come at no better time than the present.

Tidbits and News of Jewish Personalities

I should have told at the time, apropos of this, one of my favorite stories.

Two Atheistic Jews were sitting discussing Atheism.

Said No. 1: "There is no God, that is just a superstition." And he went into a long discourse, essaying to prove the non-existence of a Deity.

"Sure," agreed No. 2, "there is no God. Who believes in God? Only fools, women and children."

And so they talked. In the midst of the talk, No. 1 drew an apple from his pocket and began to eat.

"What about making a 'broche' before you eat?" asked No. 2. "What are you—a goy?"

"But there is no God—you said so yourself—why should I make a broche?"

"That has nothing to do with it," replied the other, "whether there is a God or there is no God—no Jew will eat without making a broche."

Journalistic Boom

Whatever may be the situation financially, there would seem to be no literary depression in the House of Israel.

No less than two new journals are shortly to make their appearance. A weekly, sponsored by James Wise, to be called "Opinion," is expected to make its debut in November. John Smertenko, I am told, is to be managing editor, and Dr. Stephen S. Wise will pen the editorials.

And during November—the Current Jewish Record—a digest of periodical Jewish literature, edited by Sidney Wallach, is also scheduled to make its appearance.

The Adlers' Experiment

And even the Yiddish theatrical world, whose demise has been so long prognosticated, refuses to stay down. While Thomashefsky has withdrawn from Broadway, Maurice Schwartz is still struggling bravely with his Yiddish productions in English.

The Adlers are trying a new twist on Broadway. Instead of attempting to give Yiddish shows in English, they are proposing to take English shows and translate them into Yiddish.

Their first venture will be a translation of "The Royal Family"—the play dealing with the family history of the Barrymores.

The Adlers, on the Yiddish stage have a career, not a little paralleling that of the Barrymores on the English stage. Well, it will be interesting to watch the new experiment.

What Price—Homeliness!

The world really continually grows more and more interesting. There was a time, for instance, when a rough looking countenance, was a great handicap. Today, it would seem even certain types of ugliness are not only detriments, but actual assets.

There is Edward Robinson—the star of "Five Star Final." Robinson, whose real name is Goldenberg, credits much of his success to his gangsterish looking countenance. And you remember the late Louis Wolheim. His nose was smashed in football, and years later, he found that accident his boon and bane.

He wanted to have the proboscis rectified and beautified—but the movie people said—No. It was that smashed nose which made him so great a film asset.

It seems to me that facts like these prove the relativity theory more than the Michaelson measurements of the speed of light!

Multum In Parvo

For succinct comment of the graft investigations in New York, I know nothing better than the one sentence of former Judge Jacob Panken: "New York has the best judge that money can buy."

Ancestors

It would be rather interesting, if you could get one's ancestors and sort of scramble them together in the same room with some of their descendants. If you get, let us say, Daniel Webster, that old rock-ribbed patriot and conservative, and introduced him to one of his collateral descendants, who happens to be the international anti-patriot, Max Eastman—or let us say, suppose you get the Wilna Gaon and brought him together with one of his great-great-great-grandsons, who happens to be Sam Warshawsky, publicity man for the radio pictures. And it may in-

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Jewish Herald:—

"Resolved, That we extend our thanks to the press of New England and especially to The Jewish Herald of Providence for their liberal publicity and support."

terest you to know that Warshawsky has just written a play, which is soon to be given Broadway production—called "Women of Destiny."

Mr. Ginsburg's Christian Name

Polish Federation Z. Tygel is responsible for this one.

Mr. Ginsburg came home all excited.

"Where have you been?" asked the Mrs.

"I was in court, I was fined fifty dollars."

"You were fined fifty dollars! What for?"

"I don't know. Maybe you know."

"What do you mean? What were you fined for? Were you speeding?"

"Listen, mama, I don't know. I was a witness in court, and the judge asked me—What is your name? So I said Ginsburg. And the judge said—What is your Christian name? So I said—Don't be a darn fool judge. So he fined me."

"I feel keenly," he says, "that the Jew has no future. By that I mean that the Jew will tomorrow be as he is today, scattered throughout the world, borrowing much from the world's culture, contributing more to it; constantly and inevitably being blended with his surroundings and environment—and yet never surrendering his heritage and the spark of Judaism in him.—The Jew will remain, a Frenchman, an Austrian, a German and an American. And he will also remain a Jew."

Wise of New York City, at a luncheon at the Narragansett Hotel in the interest of the Joint Distribution Committee. As a result of this con-ference, it was decided that the Rab-bis of the Conservative congregations and of Temple Beth-El shall consti-tute themselves a committee to or-ganize a local effort to raise funds for the relief of Eastern European Jewry shortly after the termination of the Community Chest Campaign.

DEPLORES LACK OF ABLE RABBINICAL LEADERSHIP

Easton, Pa., Oct. 23—(JTA) — The lack of able Rabbinical leaders in the United States, was deplored in an address delivered here by Rabbi I. M. Davidson of the Chev Zedek Syna-gogue, of Wilkes-Barre, to members of his congregation.

"The American Rabbi," he stated, "is often forced to perform functions and is given duties not consonant with his high office. He is required to raise money, to be a go-getter, a high pressure salesman for the mate-rial benefits of his congregation," Rabbi Davidson charged.

He placed responsibility for this sit-uation on the lack of an intelligent Jewishly conscious laity.

The Book Case

Comments on Jewish Authors and Their Books
By FRIEDA R. BIENSTOCK

"Creeps by Night"

"Creeps by Night" (John Day, $2.50), the publishers have titled as by Dashiell Hammett, or at least that is what I inferred from the jacket. But the book is a collection of "chills and thrills" that have been selected by that popular mystery story writer. Some of the stories have been published before, I believe, some appear for the first time. All are sufficiently weird to give one a bad hour or two if alone at the time of the reading!

But I must confess to a feeling that despite Mr. Hammett's modest declaration in his introduction to the effect that "few weird stories have run successfully to any great length," his own full-length mysteries have been far more exciting and hair-raising. Yet, in justice to this collection, in which are represented William Faulkner, John Collier, Robert Dean Frisbie, Andrew Maurois, Peter Fleming, Philip MacDonal, Hanns Heinz Ewers, L. A. G. Strong, W. B. Seabrook and as many more authors. I will say that if one does not compare the work of the contributors with that of the editor as evinced in "The Maltese Falcon" their is far superior to the usual run of blood-curdlers.

One that is guaranteed to send shudders up your spine is "The Spider," by Hanns Heinz Ewers. I've never read anything like it before. I'd like to read something similar again, but the next time I'd like warning so that I can read it out on my front porch in broad daylight with people passing by and an occasional friend to say hello to. . . . Just so I'll realize I'm reading a book and not undergoing a mild form of the horrors!

"Strange Animals I Have Known" Raymond L. Ditmars in "Strange Animals I Have Known" (Brewer, Warren and Putnam, $3.50), has written an interesting and unusual volume. We recommend it for those who like their animals a bit different. They certainly are in Curator Ditmars' volume. Copiously illustrated the charm of the book lies in the ability of the author, who is curator at the New York Zoological Park, to tell his really interesting story simply and well. The reason for this may be that the new famous expert in the field of zoology was once a reporter on the New York Times.

Some of the chapter headings which I found particularly appropriate are: "Snakes Did It," "What Is a Skunk?" "Some Fish Climb Trees," "Studio Revels," "Wild Parties" and "The Fight to Live."

An informative, instructive volume, interesting alike for the adult and for the youngster, male or female, who has a genuine interest in zoology.

Notes on Books and Authors

A final date has been set for "Job," Book of the Month Club selection for November, authored by Joseph Roth, who is, I understand, a feature writer for the Volks-Zeitung. Mr. Roth's book, which deals with the story of a modern Jew, who suffers the trials and tribulations of the Job of old, has been a best-seller in Germany for months. The American translation is by Dorothy Thompson, wife of Sinclair Lewis. The book will be published here Oct. 30 by Viking Press.

Viking also has another good bet scheduled for October publication and that is Franklin P. Adams' "Christopher Columbus and Other Patriotic Verses."

In connection with the educational work carried on by the Department of Synagogue and School Extension of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, four new publications, I am told, have just come off the press and a fifth will appear within a few days. They include: "In the Days of the First Temple," by Dr. Jacob S. Golub; "The Great March," by Rose G. Lurie; "A Project in American Jewish History," by Dr. Solomon A. Fineberg, based on "The History of the Jews in the United States," by Dr. Lee J. Levinger, and finally, "What We Jews Believe," by Prof. Samuel S. Cohn. We presume that copies of these volumes are even now en route to your columnist and they will be reviewed at length on receipt.

Five different Rabbis have written to ask me confidentially who the hero (?) of "Rabbi Burns" is. I wish I knew. Anyhow, I've been warned about the libel laws, so there's no danger of my guessing out loud in print!

Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, Senator Hugo L. Black of Alabama and Donald R. Richberg, nationally known legal authority on public utilities, have "just sent their unqualified endorsements of Jack Levin's book on public utility propaganda, "Power Ethics," Alfred A. Knopf, the publisher, or at least his publicity agent, writes us.

Mrs. Israel Davidson of the Women's League of the United Synagogue of America, writes to tell us that Deborah M. Melamed's "The Three Pillars" (Thought, Practice and Worship for the Jewish Woman), has just been published in a new and enlarged edition. "It contains everything a good Jewess ought to know and is invaluable to those women who are anxious to live up to the letter as well as the spirit of the Jewish laws." I, for one, believe sincerely that few Jews, men or women, are sufficiently acquainted with the rituals and laws of their religion. I'd like to see a copy of such a volume in every Jewish home. Then I'd feel certain that these Jews, who edge off toward assimilation, knew what they were missing in being ignorant of the beauty of their own religion!

TO ASK UNITED STATES TO OPPOSE CALENDAR REFORM

New York, Oct. 23—(JTA)—A request of the United States government to make known its opposition to the proposed calendar reform, was forwarded by the Union of Orthodox Rabbis of the United States and Canada.

The proposed changes in the calendar were discussed at a special meeting of the group and its unalterable opposition was expressed.

ONLY 12 JEWISH TEACHERS IN POLISH SCHOOL SYSTEM

Warsaw, Oct. 23 — (JTA) — The charge that qualified Jewish teachers are not accepted in the Polish school system despite the great scarcity of teachers, was made recently in the Polish Sejm, by Deputy Sommerstein.

Deputy Sommerstein revealed that 369 teachers' posts remain unoccupied in the Polish schools because of the compulsory examinations for teachers. Notwithstanding this great dearth, qualified Jewish teachers are not assigned to the vacant posts. Of 317 Jewish applicants, only one was accepted, he stated.

There are only 12 Jewish teachers in the entire Polish School System, Deputy Sommerstein pointed out.

LEADER URGES CALLING WORLD CONGRESS ON IMMIGRATION

Cincinnati, Oct. 23 — (JTA) — The convention of a World Jewish Congress, limited to a consideration of Jewish immigration, by the Independent Order B'nai B'rith, is urged by Dr. Z. Bychowski, prominent Polish Zionist and intellectual leader, in an open letter, which appeared in the B'nai B'rith Magazine.

In his letter, Dr. Bychowski describes the economic and social misery of millions of Jews in many lands who are virtually prisoners because no other country will take them in, even if they should be able and willing to emigrate.

Discrimination in Employing Jews Revealed by Study

New York, Oct. 23 — (JTA) — Figures on the growth of discrimination against Jews in employment were revealed recently by Rabbi J. K. Cohen, Chairman of the Committee on Economic Discrimination of the American Jewish Congress. An investigation carried on by this committee, disclosed that 91 of 100 Employment Agencies visited by Jewish investigators posing as applicants for positions as bookkeepers, clerks, stenographers, and the like, informed them that they were unacceptable because they were Jews.

Eighty-nine per cent. of 400 prominent corporations and business establishments in New York prefer Christians only as their employees, Rabbi Cohen declared in an address delivered over Station WHN. These figures were compiled by him in an investigation of the files of an agency which served the corporations mentioned.

Until recently, stated Rabbi Cohen, a number of agencies carried placards reading, "Applications not accepted from Jews." One of the committee's investigators reported that his application blank was thrown into the waste basket when it appeared that he was Jewish.

Discrimination against Jews, he asserted, includes those whose names appear foreign, and children of mixed marriages. Jewish men and women find great difficulty in being registered. When in desperation they change to non-Jewish sounding names, they find the going easier, provided they can also "pass" in other respects. "Conditions will become even more serious unless definite remedial measures are evolved," he concluded.

ST. PAUL CHARITY ASKS 50% INCREASE IN FUNDS

St. Paul, Oct. 23 — (JTA) — A 50% increase in Jewish community funds is sought by the Jewish Federation of St. Paul because of the sharp increase in the number of persons requiring relief, it was announced. The Federation will shortly launch a campaign for $1,500,000.

With figures on unemployment already high, officers of the board anticipate that the winter months will bring increased demands on its resources, and that the number of applicants for aid will be the highest in its experience.

MOSLEM CONGRESS TO DISCUSS WAJING WALL AND CALIPHATE

Jerusalem, Oct. 23 — (JTA) — The Wajing Wall question and the revival of the Caliphate will be among the matters discussed at a Moslem Congress called by the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem on Dec. 7th, it was learned here.

The congress, it is understood, has been called by the Mufti to strengthen his position which has been considerably weakened recently by growing opposition in Arab ranks.

ORDERED TO REFUND HEBRON YESHIVAH TWO YEARS' RENT

Jerusalem, Oct. 23 — (JTA) — The Palestine District Court recently instructed an Arab landlord to refund the Hebron Yeshivah a sum covering two years' rental paid in advance by the Yeshivah.

The court's order states that the Yeshivah directors are not obligated to pay rental for the period following Aug. 23, 1929, when the Yeshivah was destroyed and a number of its students and Rabbis massacred by the Arabs.

CRITICAL CONDITIONS OF ORT CAUSES ILLNESS OF ITS HEAD

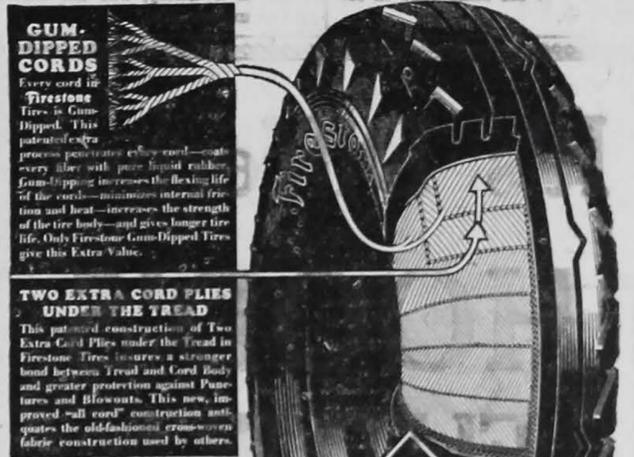

Warsaw, Oct. 23 — (JTA) — The critical condition of the Polish O. R. T., which works for the productivization of the Jewish population by enabling them to engage in industry, artisanship or agriculture, has caused the serious illness of its head, Dr. Moses Silberfarb, who was the first Minister for Jewish Affairs in the Ukraine before the country came under the Soviet regime.

LESSER URY, JEWISH PAINTER AND ETCHER, DIES AT 70

Berlin, Oct. 19 — (JTA) — Lesser Ury, distinguished German Jewish painter and etcher, died here Oct. 18, at the age of 70.

Ury was one of the outstanding representatives of the Secessionist school in Germany. Last summer a special exhibition of Ury's work was arranged in the German National Gallery on the occasion of his 70th birthday.

CAR OWNERS DEMAND VALUES—not Claims!

MOTORISTS are finding the Greatest Values in Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. Ever since Firestone and Firestone Dealers began advertising the true facts about tire quality and construction and actually demonstrating the Extra Values in Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires, distributors of special-brand mail-order tires have grown bolder and bolder with misleading claims and comparisons in the desperate effort to interest car-owners.

Car owners bought more Firestone Tires in May, June and July, than in any like period in history. This clearly shows that car owners are interested in Firestone Extra Values and are not interested in comparisons based on an almost obsolete tire size—confusing laboratory analyses—meaningless definitions—impractical challenges with unfair claims of twenty-five per-cent savings—and deceiving price comparisons.

Why risk a tire of unknown manufacture when you can get the Extra Quality, Extra Strength, and Extra Safety of the special patented construction features of Firestone Tires—Gum-Dipping, and Two Extra Cord Plys under the Tread?

You get these Extra Values—plus our Service and the DOUBLE GUARANTEE of Firestone and ourselves—at no more cost!

Drive in today.—We have sections cut from Firestone Tires, special-brand mail-order tires and others.—See the evidence.—Take nothing for granted.—Judge for Yourself.

NEWS WRITTEN FOR THE JEWISH HERALD BY GEORGE JOEL

JEWS PLAY SIDE BY SIDE ON HARVARD FOOTBALL TEAM
 When the opening whistle sounded at the Harvard-New Hampshire game, two Jewish boys, standing side by side, lined up for the Crimson. It was the first time in the history of America's oldest college that such a happening occurred. Many Jewish boys have made Harvard teams, but not since the days of the Horween brothers has more than one Jewish boy received the starting call, but now Henry Myerson and Dave Kopans have broken the tradition.

Last year, I recounted in great detail, the exploits of Myerson, one of the best guards in the East and a choice for the All-Jewish team. Around Boston he doesn't receive much attention from the papers as he is one of those steady, consistent, efficient linemen who delights a coach but fails to thrill the crowd. So far this season he has been playing even better football than he did last year. Perhaps one of the reasons is that the fellow playing tackle right next to him is our other Jewish friend, Dave Kopans. Kopans is a Sophomore and has two more years of Varsity football ahead of him, but he has already shown the stuff and certainly should develop into an outstanding player.

TULANE ALL-TIME TEAM LINE-UP WITH TWO JEWS

This week football news seems to come in two's. From New Orleans comes the word that in a recent contest conducted by the "Times-Picayune" to select an all-time Tulane University football team, two Jewish boys, both members of undefeated Tulane teams, were named by a wide margin for the two guard positions. Milton "Irish" Levy, all-Southern Conference guard in 1925, and Morris Bodenger of the 1929 squad were the Jewish players chosen.

Tulane, incidentally, is seldom without its Jewish players. During the last fifteen years, only once has the "Green" been Jewless. This year, our race is well represented with a fast, hard charging tackle in the person of Louis Boasberg, a Sophomore, who is making the fans sit up with his remarkable playing.

AND YET MORE FOOTBALL NEWS

Southern California, after losing a game to St. Mary's College, seems to have hit its stride and the rabid rooters down in the southern end are not quite so mournful. Beating Washington State 28-6 bolstered up the team's morale no end. A Mr. Rosenberg performed at left guard for the California team and turned in a fine performance.

Goldenberg of Wisconsin is still the best quarterback that school can put on the field. The Jewish boy is playing his last year of college football and not doing badly at all.

I may be wrong, but there seems to be a Jewish boy playing football for Colgate, in the person of Bob Samuel, who is Sophomore halfback. There hasn't been a Jew on the Colgate team since little Levinson played end three or four years ago.

It is difficult to stop writing about Nat Grossman of New York University, newest of this year's football sensations. Nat didn't get into the game against Georgetown until the second quarter, but when he did get in he showed the boys how touchdowns should be made. His team won 34-0. The New York team with Grossman, Firstenberg, Itzkowitz and Greenblatt, is one of the best New York University teams of all times.

Long Island University, the other almost All-Jewish team, defeated C. C. N. Y. in their annual encounter. At one time there were 22 Jewish players on the field. The City College boys were mortified at their unexpected trimming. You know how Jews are? Maxamovich scored the touchdown for L. I. U. and Kaplowitz did the same for C. C. N. Y. The fine score was 7-6.

ARABS, JEWS AND BRITISH TO TAKE PART IN JEWISH OLYMPICS

Arab teams from Syria and Egypt, British military teams from Palestine will be among the international entries in the Jewish Olympic games, which will be held at Tel-Aviv, Palestine. The Maccabee Association of America announces that the games will commence on March 28th and continue through March 31st of the coming year. More than 2000 athletes are expected to participate from practically every country in the world.

Dr. S. Rosenfeld, Vice President of the World Maccabee Union, which is the organization sponsoring the games, arrives in America this week and hopes to stimulate interest in the forthcoming events. The British government has allotted the city of Tel-Aviv a plot of ground on which will be erected a huge athletic stadium.

CHATTERINGS

S. Bernstein of Chicago tells me that the prolific and talented Dr. Phil Weintraub of that city is not only a dentist, musician, radio artist and writer, but a very able tennis player. I'd like a chance at him myself. Writing tennis players are my meat!

Captain Horwitz of Chicago played against Samuels of Michigan when those two old rival schools met at Ann Arbor a few weeks ago. Michigan won, but it wasn't Horwitz's fault.

Benny Leonard, whose comeback attempt ended so unsatisfactorily, has been indefinitely barred from the New York ring by the Boxing Commission. The former champion, however, will not remain idle, as he will fight in Boston before this month is out.

Yale Okun, the Jewish heavy-weight, popped back into the fistic scene the other night at the Sharkey-Carnera fight in New York. He fought in the preliminaries and turned in one of the best battles of his varied career.

M. W. Waldman, Captain of B. U. Basketball Team

At a meeting held Thursday noon, Maxwell W. Waldman was unanimously elected Captain of the Boston University Law School basketball team for the coming year.

Irving Rosenblum was elected manager.

BROWN ELEVEN MEETS LEHIGH SATURDAY AT THE BROWN STADIUM

Lehigh, a long-time rival of Brown, will visit Brown Stadium Saturday to play the Bruins for the first time since 1926, which was D. O. "Tuss" McLaughry's first year as Brown coach. On the occasion of Lehigh's last visit, the Bears treated their visitors from Bethlehem, Pa., rather roughly, winning 32-0 and exhibiting the qualities that enabled them later to win fame as the undefeated "Iron Men" team.

Lehigh brought a great team to Providence not so long ago, however, for a Thanksgiving Day contest. It was in 1923, when Brown had a better than average eleven, captained by John Spellman. The field was a sea of mud, and the Pennsylvanians battered the lighter Brown line for a 12-6 victory.

Although Lehigh has not had an impressive record so far this season, it is McLaughry's policy not to take any opponent for granted. Lehigh lost its opening game with Ursinus, by a 12-7 score, and then scored its first victory at the expense of Pennsylvania Military College, 13-0. John Hopkins surprised the Lehigh eleven in a 20-12 upset, and University of Pennsylvania was too powerful for A. Austin Tate's pupils the past Saturday.

Tate is being assisted by Hyman Goldman as line coach, John Hudak as backfield coach and John McCool as end coach. Sixteen lettermen of last year are gone. Lehigh boasts an unusual leader in Allen T. Ware, 191-pound halfback, who also is captain of basketball and baseball. This only three-sports captain in Lehigh's history does the bulk of the punting and much of the passing, and is a hard-running back. Brown has a three-sports letterman, the only one in college, on the eleven this year, Tom Sawyer, from New Rochelle, N. Y., regular right end. Sawyer is the only Brown man who ever captained three Freshmen teams, football, track and basketball.

Brown will take Lehigh in stride and then comes Holy Cross, Ohio Wesleyan and Columbia, three major games in a row. Brown will probably fill the air with passes against Lehigh, as this department of the game will require polishing for coming games.

Sigma Phi Delta to Hold Supper-Dance on Thanksgiving

The Alpha Eta section of the Sigma Phi Delta Fraternity has completed its plans to run a formal supper dance in the Venetian Room of the Biltmore Hotel, Thanksgiving night, Nov. 26.

The completed arrangements seem to indicate that this will be one of the finest dances ever sponsored by a fraternity in Rhode Island.

The band secured has been featured at Wilbur's, the Casino at the Pier, Crescent Gardens at Revere and at various other places this summer.

The affair is under the personal supervision of Joseph K. Levy, who is chairman of the committee, and is being assisted by Robert Sharp, Louis Blackman, Julius Bloom, Nat Pritcher, Harold Weiner, Sam Posner, Judah Greene, Arthur Bander and Joseph Feinselber.

devices which he was then making. He rented power from another Jew, who owned the building. Power was supplied from a fifty horse-power engine to other units on the several floors. Soon after the installation of the big dynamo machine, the landlord appeared in the shop and insisted that Bergmann was using more power than he was paying for. The landlord had finally discovered the dynamo. "Mr. Bergmann," said the landlord, "I know where my power goes," and he pointed to the dynamo. Bergmann gave the landlord a withering look of scorn and said: "Come, I will show you." Throwing off the belt and disconnecting the wires, he spun the armature around by his hand. The landlord did not know that the machine when the wires were connected, could stop his own engine.

Edison also liked to tell the story of a joke that Bergmann played on another Jew, by the name of Epstein. This man Epstein had once got the best of Bergmann, and Bergman decided to get his revenge. Epstein was a buyer of odds and ends, and was particularly interested in the chips of brass which the Edison factories produced as a waste product.

One day Epstein came to Bergmann. "Mr. Bergmann, have you any chips?"

"No," said Bergmann, with his poker face, knowing that Epstein knew better.

"Won't you look to see if you have?" continued Epstein.

Finally, Bergmann looked and uncovered a barrel of chips. "But you have to buy that by the lot, if you want it," said Bergmann.

Bergmann looked at the barrel and tried to move it. It was very heavy. "I'll give you $250 for the lot," said Epstein. "Sold," said Bergmann. The money was handed over, and Bergmann took his hat, saying he had to go down to Wall Street.

"It's very heavy," said Epstein. "Full of chips." He began to try to move it. Finally, he saw why it was so heavy and couldn't be moved. Bergmann had screwed the bottom of the barrel to the floor.

Bergmann said Edison was the best poker player that he had ever seen. No one could win from him. One day all of the principal employes of the Edison works traveled together to a convention in Chicago.

They started to play poker as soon as the train left Jersey City and they played through the night until they reached Chicago. When the trainman called out: "Chicago, Union Station," Bergmann exclaimed: "Chicago! Why I thought it was only Philadelphia." So absorbed had he been in the game.

Bergmann, as I have said, later became an important figure in the electrical industry of Europe. Another Jew, who became a world figure through the Edison industries, was Emil Rathenau, father of Walter Rathenau. Emil Rathenau, who was an engineer, came to the United States in 1878, and after a visit to the Edison plant went back to Germany and organized the electrical octopus of Germany.

Another Jew, who had interesting relationships with Edison, was a Jewish Edison, Emil Berliner. Their relationship, of course, was not lacking in elements of rivalry. And it is a strange fact, on how many similar inventions both of them worked, and both succeeded. Edison, of course, has received more of the world acclaim, and no doubt, he deserves it. Unhappily, Berliner never received the meed of praise, which was due him. Yet in some of the battles between Edison and Berliner, it would seem that Berliner was victorious over the far more famed Edison.

Edison had a hand in the perfection of the telephone and so had Berliner. The fight over the telephone was a fight waged between the Western Union and the Bell Telephone Company. After Bell came out with his telephone, which was a rather crude affair, the Western Union, a different organization from the present Western Union, decided to enter a similar field. They said the Bell phone was worth little, and they got Edison to work to perfect an invention of their own. The truth is, that the transmitter of the Bell telephone was a poor instrument. A royal fight ensued between the Bell and Western Union interests.

More than six hundred legal suits were fought by the Bell interests. But the legal battle was only one phase of the fight. After all, the final test was in the hands of the people. If the Western Union could produce a better phone, they would win in the end.

It was Emil Berliner and his transmitter which finally won the day for the Bell interests. Thanks to his invention, the Western Union withdrew from the field of telephony.

Similarly, both Edison and Berliner invented talking machines. Edison invented the phonograph and Berliner the gramophone. There is little use in going into the intricacies of these battles. The truth is that most great inventions generally have a history of multiple inventors, and the wise judgment is the old war aphorism—"there is glory enough for all."

UNIV. OF WISCONSIN JEWISH STUDENTS PLAY ACTIVE ROLE

Over 500 Attended Night and Day Services During the High Holy Days

Madison, Oct. 23—(JTA)—Approximately 900 Jewish students are included among the 8000 persons who were enrolled in the University of Wisconsin at the beginning of the school year, according to figures just released by the Registrar's Office. The number is almost 100 short of the total number of Jews who came to Madison last year, but the decrease is proportional to the fall from 10,000 students who were in the university during 1930-31.

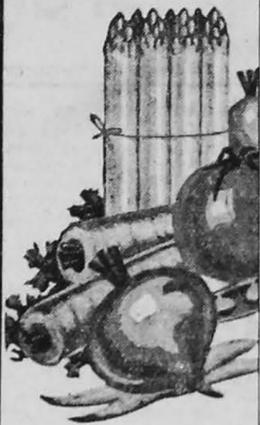

While the society of Jewish students at Wisconsin is divided into the distinct groups of those affiliated with fraternities and sororities, and those who call themselves "independents," a general bond of social spirit is to be found in the Hillel Foundation, a Wisconsin Chapter of Avukah, and a Chapter of the Junior Hadassah. The latter two work through the Hillel foundation.

During the recent Yom Kippur Holiday, approximately 500 students attended the night and day service held under Rabbi Max Kadushin, who has succeeded Rabbi Solomon Landman as head of the B'nai B'rith Order. In view of the fact that the holiday fell on the final day of university registration, officers of the foundation expressed satisfaction with the attendance of students.
