The Surprise Twist

The surprise ending is in rather bad repute in good literature. And the objection to it, I suppose, is that it is an artificial sort of thing. Genuine literature should mirror life and life is a sort of inevitable affair.

Such in general is something of the case against the surprise ending, and it seems to me a weak case.

For the surprise ending is pretty common in life. Consider the Jews of Russia.

Consider Colonization

Remember, some two and three years ago, how excited we all were about colonization of Jews on the land of Russia. The Jews were declassed in Russia. They were not proletarian workers, and therefore had no place in the new Russia. But the Russian authorities were very nice about it. They would help along in the colonization. They even spoke of special Jewish republics. And no inconsiderable steps were taken towards making the Jew of Russia a land-animal. Of course, there were some objections. My good friend, Dr. Melammed, for instance, raged. What, he exclaimed, is the end of it all, that the Jew is to become a moujik? Is that what we served the Lord for on Mt. Sinai? Is that for what we studied the Talmud?

After Maimonides and Spinoza and Bergson and Einstein—to become again a brother to the ox and dig up the land!

But the problem of the declassed Jew seemed real enough and colonization appeared the only way out.

A Problem Passes

That was yesterday. But today—the whole problem which brought forth who colonization project has collapsed. I do not know the present status of those efforts at colonization which were begun. I presume that those which were started are proceeding along their original lines.

But there is no more need for further colonization. The industrialization has absorbed every Jew that wanted to work. There are no more declassed Jews in Russia.

And it is likely that even if the present Soviet system should collapse, that the present condition as far as Jewish employment is concerned, would continue. For Russia, under any other regime, would need building up.

Thus, almost imperceptibly, a great problem affecting several millions of Jews has been solved. The surprise endings of fiction are puerile in comparison to this. Nature works very much like O. Henry.

A New Vocation

There may be a depression in the land, but the ingenious, it appears, find ways to meet it.

Consider the case of Solomon Quartin. Mr. Quartin is a Jew who came recently to New York from Germany. He teaches mathematics, but could find no job here. So what does he do?

He inserted an ad in the papers offering to give lessons in the Einstein theory. The statement that only a dozen people could understand the Einstein theory is wrong, he declares. After twenty-five or thirty lessons, he can teach anybody except a moron the theory.

And he has gotten pupils who are helping to keep the wolf from the door.

Don't Look, Please!

And then there is the case of another German Jew, a Dr. Solomon.

The Religious Question In Spain and the Jews

DR. O. BRACHFELD

For nearly two months the religious question has been the burning question in Spain. The new republic is dealing very firmly with the question of the separation of State and Church, notwithstanding the vigorous protests of the parties of the Right, especially in the Northern Provinces, where the population is still deeply religious.

Now the religious question in Spain has inevitably resulted in bringing to the fore something also of Jewish question in Spain, of a kind that has not been known in modern times, certainly not in the sense in which it is understood in the countries of Eastern or Central Europe.

The Jewish inhabitants of Spain are estimated at the most optimistic—there are no reliable figures—at about 20,000. The number of families of Jewish origin, who have been Christianized in the course of the centuries, but have in several respects maintained a specifically Jewish tradition, is, of course, very much larger, but it is impossible to estimate it off-hand. Apart from those living in Morocco, the Spanish Jews have adapted themselves completely to the life of the Spanish people. And yet, even those Jews who have identified themselves religiously with the Catholic Spaniards, the Marranos, or Chuetas, are for the most part still recognizable by their family names.

The Jewish question in Spain is consequently not an internal problem. It has come up in connection with the project of bringing back into their Spanish homeland the so-called Spanish Jews living in the European Orient, who have retained their Spanish language. The project has been in the air for years and the present powerful anti-Monarchist and anti-Catholic wave that is sweeping the country, has turned it into one of the questions of the day. The expulsion of the Jews from Spain is being presented as one of the crimes committed by the Catholic King, and the clearest exposition of this view is to be found perhaps in "El Crim dels Reis Catolicos," a notable book which has just been published by a famous Spanish writer and philosopher, Dr. Diego Ruiz.

The return of the Spanish Jews abroad to Spain is still very much of a Utopia, but it is interesting for Jews to observe the growing tendency among the Spanish people to put it forward as a desirable measure, and to apologize for the wrong that was done them by the rulers of Spain in the 15th century.

There was a very important speech dealing with this question that was delivered a few weeks ago in the Spanish Parliament by the Minister of Justice, Professor Don Fernando de Los Rios. To quote the official parliamentary record: The Minister of Justice Don Fernando de Los Rios, said that there are several ways in which we can deal with the question of the religious orders and congregations. There is the method of expulsion, but I would ask the house to consider well before it decides on this course. The history of Spain shows a tendency towards decline since the year 1492, when Spain expelled the Jews, to whom I wish now, at the first opportunity, while the chamber is debating the question of religion, to pay a tribute of respect, and to express our esteem and our gratification. Long and stormy applause drowned the Minister's concluding words.

According to the press reports, the Minister said: The history of Spain is full of elimination tendencies since 1492, the year of the expulsion of the Jews, to whom I wish now in this house, while it is discussing the religious question, to express our tribute and admiration.

Such a historic scene was impossible without a wave of deep emotion. Parliament was swept off its feet by the oratory of the Minister and by the ardent feelings of its members, and for several minutes the house stood and cheered the Jews. The representatives of the Spanish nation for the first time freely elected by the free vote of the people, stood and cheered the Jews, who had nearly five centuries before been murdered and expelled by their monarchs.

It is not surprising that this historic speech, and especially its reference to the Jews, has had a tremendous repercussion in the press. To take one or two instances, at random. There is Don Pedro Mourlane Michelena, one of the outstanding authors in the country, who, writing in the great daily newspaper, "El Sol" heads his article, "Marginal Notes on the Religious Debates: Let Us Speak Now of the Jews of Spain." After tracing the history of the Spanish Jews from the 13th to the 15th century, Mourlane goes on to write: The sons of Israel were persecuted in Spain. Even such human Kings as Alfonso X., or Jaime II., were blinded by fury against the synagogue. The wise King Alfonso of Castile protected the scholarly and scientific Jews. In the Tablas Alfonsies he has the collaboration of Rabbi Zagben Zegur and of the afterwards

Philip C. Joslin portrayed the feelings and love of the community for the guest of honor and said that to be singled out for love to fellowman is the greatest honor that can come to any one. He presented Mr. Magid with resolutions signed by the leading Jewish organizations in the state.

Among the other presentations was a group photograph of all those present which was taken earlier in the evening. This was presented by Leo Logan.

Louis F. Rosenberg, hard-working chairman of the dinner committee, made a presentation of an enormous

American Jewish Committee Presents Analysis of Activity At 25th Annual Meeting

Exhaustive Report on Polish-Jewish Situation Given; Immigration, Unemployment, Discrimination and Calendar Reform Activities Reported

New York City, Dec. 11.—(JTA)—An exhaustive analysis of the position of the Jews in Poland with reference to the recent excesses and the general economic and social disabilities under which they have been living since the establishment of the Polish republic, was presented at the twenty-fifth annual meeting of the American Jewish Committee on Sunday morning at the Hotel Astor, in the report read by Judge Horace Stern of Philadelphia, chairman of the executive committee.

ALL-JEWISH RADIO PROGRAM WILL BE BROADCAST, DEC. 15

Innovation in Rhode Island to be Presented Through Courtesy of Cherry & Webb Co. WPRO

For the first time, Rhode Island Jewry will be afforded the pleasure of an all-Jewish program from a local radio station, through the courtesy of WPRO, Cherry & Webb Broadcasting Company, on Tuesday evening, Dec. 15, at 10 o'clock. Plans have been made by that station, to make this innovation a most enjoyable one and will present the following program, arranged by Miss H. Fredberg:

(1) Erech — Apian, by the Temple Beth-Israel Choir. Cantor Schlossberg will lead in the solo work. Baritone solo to be sung by Mr. Shapiro; (2) Piano Solo, by Mrs. Harold Libby, The Lark-Glinka Balakirew; (3) Sermonette, Religious Freedom, by Rabbi Maurice Mazure; (4) Cornet Solo, Russian Fantasia, Jules Levy, played by Frieda Gertsacov, 13 years old, accompanied by Walter Nelson; (5) Kol Nidre, Violin Solo, Max Bruch, played by Benjamin Premack, accompanied by his sister, Miss Premack; (6) Enosh.

The choir members are as follows: Miss Henrietta D. Fredberg, Miss Laura Leichter, Miss Celia Teplitzky, Miss Etta Fierman, Jack Wolfe, Jack Smith, Mr. Shapiro. Accompanist, Walter Nelson.

RABBI SAMUEL GUP TO ADDRESS FORUM OF RELIGION, DEC. 15

Roman Catholic, Protestant and Agnostic Have Accepted Places on the Program

Rabbi Samuel M. Gup of Temple Beth-El, Providence, will be one of four speakers at a forum of religion to be held at the Carlton Theatre, Providence, Tuesday evening, Dec. 15, starting at 8:15. His subject will be, "Why I Am a Jew."

Other speakers who have definitely accepted places on the program are Clarence Darrow, celebrated criminal lawyer, on "Why I Am an Agnostic"; Michael Williams, editor of The Commonwealth, New York City, "Why I Am a Catholic"; Rev. Walter Earl Ledden, Mathewson Street Methodist Church, Providence, on "Why I Am a Protestant."

Each speaker will be allotted thirty minutes. There will be no rebuttals and no decision of either judges or audience.

The coming of Clarence Darrow to Providence recalls his spectacular part in many of the great court room battles of the past half century. He was counsel for the McNamara brothers in the Los Angeles Times dynamiting case; Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone, labor leaders, charged with the murder of ex-Governor Steunenberg of Idaho; Loeb and Leopold in Chicago; Dr. O. H. Sweet and ten associates in Detroit; John T. Scopes in the famous Dayton, Tenn., evolution trial, with William Jennings Bryan as his opponent.

Michael Williams, the Catholic speaker, formerly was on the editorial staffs of Boston, New York and San Francisco. He is a convert, who is regarded as one of the leading Catholic laymen in America.

Reservations for this unusual four-way discussion are being made at the Carlton Theatre at a nominal price. Indications are that a capacity audience will attend.

While the committee views with relief the occasion of physical attacks in Poland, it considers the widespread economic boycott agitation a source of great menace to the Jews. On the basis of investigations, made by its representatives, the committee finds that the Jews have never fully received the rights guaranteed them by the Treaty of Versailles and by the Polish Constitution, and that in addition to their impoverishment as an aftermath of the World War, they are also the victims of specific economic discrimination.

A report of the disabilities under which the Jews suffer in Poland was drawn up by Morris D. Waldman, Secretary of the American Jewish Committee, and submitted to the Polish authorities. While the justice of these complaints was generally recognized little has been done to alleviate the Jewish position, the report stated, declaring the situation of Polish Jewry to be tragic.

Domestic Affairs
Judge Stern, in his report, discussed the activities of the committee in domestic affairs, with particular reference to immigration, discrimination in the universities and in employment and calendar reform. The situation abroad, in Germany, Mexico, Cuba, Greece and Roumania, as well as Poland, was described in the report.

The committee greeted the establishment of the Spanish republic and took note of the fact that since the proclamation of the republic "several members of the Provisional Government have expressed their benevolent intentions toward the descendants of the exiles of 1482 and their eagerness to expunge from the laws of the land the edict of expulsion."

The committee made a strong effort to prevent a further reduction in immigration, and the enactment of alien registration legislation the report declared.

Referring to discrimination in employment, the report stated that while the committee projected a thorough study of the situation, the investigation has not yet been started since the fund for such a purpose is not completed.

Jewish Medical College
The committee expressed its opposition to the establishment of a Jewish medical college on the ground that it is not a proper solution of the problem.

The American Jewish Committee worked together with the League for Safeguarding the Fixity of the Sabbath and other organizations, to prevent a change in the calendar which would disturb the fixity of the Sabbath. It made representations to the American Government, pointing out the opposition of a large part of the Jewish people to such reform; took the initiative in drawing up a petition signed by prominent laymen, expressing this opposition and was instrumental in the appointment of Jewish representatives to the International Calendar Reform Conference which decided to postpone the entire matter.

A public meeting was held in the afternoon to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the establishment of the committee. Addresses were delivered by Dr. Adler, Judge Irving Lehman and James Marshall. Tribute to the late Louis Marshall, president of the committee from 1912 until his death in 1929 was paid by all the speakers.

The American Jewish Committee has published, as a memorial to Mr. Marshall, a biography of Dr. Adler containing also memorial addresses delivered by members of the committee.

TEMPLE EMANU-EL

YOUNG PEOPLE TO OCCUPY PULPIT

On next Friday evening, Dec. 18th, the second service of the Sixth Annual Jewish Youth Conference will be held. The central theme, "Jewish Youth In a Non-Jewish World," will be discussed from the pulpit from various angles by the following young people: Edward Goldberger, "The Background of Racial Prejudice;" Miss Esther Goldsmith, "The Present Situation in Race Relationships;" Martin Zucker, "The Solution of the Problem From the Jewish Point of View;" Paul S. Mackesey, "The Solution of the Problem From the Christian Point of View." Miss Miriam Coplan and Sydney Ballon will lead in parts of the services.

PROF. MILLER AT NEXT MEN'S CLUB MEETING

Prof. Harry E. Miller will be the main speaker at the next regular meeting of the Men's Club to be held on Thursday evening, Dec. 17th.

Prof. Miller's subject will be "The Wet Parade and the Dry Crusade."

Another great attraction will be the presentation of the well-known Prof. W. J. Faucher, who will render a program of violin solos. Mr. Nat C. Cohen, chairman of the program committee, announces that the next meeting is designated as Friend's Night and invites every member to bring a friend. The other members of his committee are: Mr. Michael Tieman and Mr. Abraham Rotman. Mr. Abraham L. Jacobs will preside at the business meeting. Alfred Green and Samuel Rosen comprise the prize committee for this meeting. Sam Cohen is chairman of the refreshment committee.

BAR-MITZVAH OF LOUIS TARNAPOL

On next Sabbath morning, Dec. 19th, the congregation will celebrate the Bar-Mitzvah of Master Louis Tarnapol, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Tarnapol. A most cordial invitation is extended to the congregation and to friends.

FLORAL OFFERING

The floral offering for the Sabbath of Dec. 11th and 12th is the gift of Mrs. Maurice W. Bliss in memory of her dear departed father, Leon Marcus. May his memory be for a blessing.

GIFTS

The School Board wishes to acknowledge with thanks the gift of $52 from many parents of the school who became patrons of the school book, "The Emanuelite."

B. M. B. HOLDS INITIATION

Besides the installation of officers

by the Rabbi at last Saturday's meeting of the Bar-Mitzvah Brotherhood, the initiation of Berrick Joslin took place.

Before the ceremonies began, Herbert Brown, chairman of the athletic committee, announced that the B. M. B. has the use of the Jewish Center Gymnasium on Tuesday nights at 8 o'clock. Mathew Marks, chairman of the religious committee, announced that the monthly breakfast will be held on Sunday, Dec. 13. Mrs. Louis S. Kaufman will act as hostess.

SCHOOL NOTES

The Chanukah issue of the Emanuelite made its appearance last Sunday morning at the Chanukah entertainment of the Religious School. The staff consists of the following:

Eunice Flink, editor-in-chief; Dorothy Greene, associate editor-in-chief; Merrill Hassenfeld, business manager; Irma Coplan, circulation manager; Gladys Bernstein, literary editor; Stanley Summer, art editor; Sylvia Kniznick, spotlight editor; Melvin Schwartz, Hebrew editor; Edith Israel, humor editor; contributing editors are Anita Percelay, Beatrice Samdperil, Sylvia Greenberg, Gladys Chernack, Mathew Marks, Miriam Leviné, Herbert Brown and Arthur Spear.

The board expresses its thanks to the Hassenfeld Brothers for stapling the magazine.

NEW CLUB FORMED

Another club was added to the numerous ones already organized on Tuesday evening. The following officers were elected:

Norman Klibanoff, president; Abraham Belilove, vice president; Mitchell Blazar, secretary, and David Fink, treasurer. All boys of the Temple from the ages of 11 to 13 are invited to join.

COL. BUCHANAN HEADS NEW PARLIAMENTARY COMMITTEE

London, Dec. 11—(JTA)—A new Palestine Parliamentary Committee similar to those existing in previous Parliaments, was organized last week in order to "watch over the interests of the Jewish National Home in Palestine."

Col. John Buchanan was elected chairman of the committee, Col. Josiah Wedgwood, vice chairman, and Barnett Janner, secretary.

A number of prominent members of the House of Commons and the House of Lords attended the meeting, as well as Jewish members of Parliament who have previously not been associated with Palestine. Dr. Selig Brodetsky, who was present by invitation, delivered an address on Jewish emigration, the Palestine development scheme and other problems connected with the Jewish National Home.

Among those who attended the session were: The Duchesse of Atholl, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Winston Churchill, Megan Lloyd George, the Marquis of Hartington and George Lansbury.

TEMPLE BETH-ISRAEL

SERVICES

Saturday morning services begin at 9:15. At this service the Bar-Mitzvah of Harold Goldenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Goldenberg, will take place. Cantor Joseph Schlossberg with full choir will chant the services.

SISTERHOOD MEETS

A regular meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth-Israel was held on Monday evening, Dec. 7th. Mrs. Leo Weiner presided.

Reports were rendered by the various chairmen and plans were discussed for the welfare of the Sisterhood. Mrs. S. Deutsch, membership chairman, assisted by Mrs. B. Salk, reported very good progress. The following women were enrolled as new members:

Mrs. C. Sentler, Mrs. B. Woolfe, Mrs. E. H. Austin, Mrs. Charles Bojar, Mrs. Samuel Dick, Mrs. Abraham Loeber, Mrs. Israel Ballon, Mrs. D. Golden, Mrs. S. Hayman, Mrs. J. Keller, Mrs. J. Finklestein, Mrs. M. Talan, Mrs. D. Press and Mrs. M. Goldstein.

At the gentlemen's night, held recently, 25 tables of bridge were in play and a prize was awarded at each table.

CHANUKAH KIDDUSH

Mrs. Morris Chusmir was chairman of the Chanukah Kiddush, held in the parlors of the Temple last Friday evening. In spite of the bad weather, there was a very fine attendance.

Delegates to the Americanization Institute are as follows:

Mrs. Leo Weiner, Mrs. L. Marcus, Mrs. S. Ernstof, Mrs. A. Wrazlowsky, Mrs. S. Littman, Mrs. C. Hoffman and Mrs. J. Bell.

CHANUKAH EXERCISES SUNDAY

The Chanukah exercises, to be held under the auspices of the Religious School, will take place Sunday afternoon, Dec. 13, at 3 o'clock. An elaborate program has been prepared. Cantor Joseph Schlossberg and choir will render special Chanukah numbers. The Sisterhood will distribute the annual holiday treat to the pupils of the school.

BIBLE STUDY CIRCLE TO MEET THURSDAY

The Women's Bible Study Circle will meet next Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rabbi Maurice M. Mazure will conduct the class. This would be a good time for new members to join the circle as Rabbi Mazure has just concluded the introductory lectures to the main study.

PLANTS DONATED

A beautiful rubber plant has been presented to the Temple by Mrs. Leo Weiner, President of the Sisterhood. Mrs. Weiner formerly donated a palm and several other plants. Mrs. Boris Nelson presented the Temple with a lovely palm. The flowers for the pulpit were the kind gift of Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Goldenberg, in honor of the Bar-Mitzvah of their son, Harold Goldenberg.

CONGRATULATIONS

We extend our congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. James Goldman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lazarus and Mr. and Mrs. Max Rosen on the celebration of their 20th wedding anniversaries.

MAZEL-TOV

We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Rice upon the arrival of a son and Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Pearlman on the birth of a daughter.

THE RABBI IN THE COMMUNITY

Rabbi Maurice M. Mazure was the guest of the Vaad Hakashruth, Monday evening at their annual meeting, delivering the principal talk of the evening.

Jewish Orphanage News

CHANUKAH OBSERVED

The Chanukah season was ushered in on Friday evening, Dec. 4th, at the Jewish Orphanage on Summit avenue, with traditional services and lighting of the candles.

Through the splendid interest of Mrs. Louis M. Grant, chairman of the committee on arrangements of the Ladies' Auxiliary, for the party, the boys and girls of the Orphanage were entertained in a lovely fashion on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 5th, at the Home. Mrs. Grant on this occasion presented to the Home a Chanukah Menorah, which graced the festive party table, with its other attractive accessories, including ice cream, cookies, cake, candy, fruit and punch.

Games were entered into with much enthusiasm and prizes were presented. The committee of interested friends at the party carefully made their plans for its success, and the children in turn rendered Chanukah recitations, sang Chanukah and other songs, and joined in dancing. Throughout the afternoon a good home spirit of happiness and joy was apparent.

MR. AND MRS. I. S. MARCUS GIVE TREAT

For many years it has been the annual custom of Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Marcus of 85 Savoy street to give the children of the Orphanage a treat, on the occasion of the birthday of their daughter, Gertrude. This year was no exception, and upon Gertrude's attaining the age of 14, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus supplied the youngsters of the Home with ice cream, cookies and candy.

On Sunday morning, Dec. 6th, the children of the Orphanage were included in the Chanukah entertainment at Temple Emanu-El Religious School.

THE JEWISH EDUCATION ASSOCIATION REPORT

One of the great fears of many Orthodox Jews in this country has been the thought that Judaism was slowly dying. There are many facts and statistics which would prove this fear to be groundless. In the field of education alone, which must be the cornerstone of all Jewish life, the indications are so optimistic as to be stimulating.

According to the report of Israel Unterberg, President of the Jewish Education Association, more than 16,000 Jewish children in New York have been enabled to continue their studies in religious schools through the aid of scholarship grants made by his organization. This association has been functioning for ten years with the one purpose of encouraging religious education. In addition to scholarships, it has given 27,650 prizes to reward good attendance and worthy scholarship.

This report does not take into consideration the hundreds of children who can afford and want to get religious instruction. For this reason, we must naturally realize how much in excess of this number are those who make religious study a part of their daily curricula.

The association's officials deal with parents as well as with children. They interview them and urge them to give their children the proper training, a course of action which is almost always effective. They take pains to perfect the physical equipment of the schools. They have also established a system of licenses for Hebrew teachers.

This organization is not without its Ivriah, or women's division. It has also an incorporated mortgage service, which is valuable in helping along the construction of new Jewish religious school buildings. With men like Judge Cardoza, Lieutenant Governor Lehman and Adolph S. Ochs interested in its work, the Jewish Education Association must appear an important and influential factor in American Judaism.

It would show us, in our smaller and less wealthy city, that Jewish religious education should be and can be systematized with remarkable results. One of our Temples is doing a magnificent piece of educational work, but it seems to be alone in the calibre and quality of its achievement. All the other Temples and Synagogues should keep pace with it, if we are to reap the full reward of a work that is vital and beautiful, the preservation of a Judaism, rich, interesting and human.

Photographers just now are doing a tall lot of complaining. People don't seem to take pictures any more, they say. When they want a picture, they just go into the Photomats and get eight for a quarter. What are the real photographers for?

Dr. Solomon faced this problem, too, so he got himself a periscope. Aha, you say, the doctor is going to give up photography and join the navy. But no—the doctor is using the periscope on land. He is using it in his photography.

With the aid of the periscope, he now takes pictures without looking at the person. He seems to have his camera focussed on quite another thing, and lo. he has a picture of you.

With the periscope device, he has taken many snap-shots of celebrities, who refused to be snapped. And as a result, he has been in great demand by the newspaper syndicates. His fame is such now, that he was invited to the White House to photograph the President and Laval and also Ghandi.

It's a sort of painless and informal photography.

greeting card upon which were inscribed the names of all those present. Mr. Magid, in acknowledging the testimonials and presence of his friends, said:

"To be chosen among our fellows for any great honor is always a joy.

"To be chosen among the many of our fellow citizens for high distinction is even greater joy.

"To be chosen simply because I have served my community, is the greatest joy I know.

"My heart goes out to you in generous, and let me say, helpful thankfulness for having been thought worthy of this great honor tonight.

"Your party for me, on this, my 50th birthday, is very dear to me, and all that was said tonight has been to my estimation, Magnified.

"Perhaps I can do some of those things, now that I have gone through the experimental stages, and beginning tomorrow, on my 51st year, I will endeavor to do some of those things that you have expressed yourselves as being completed in the past years.

"What an ideal it is that every man be true unto his own community.

"To make sacrifices is the high ideals for which we stand.

"Let us give our praise to kindly Providence for the fine leadership we have had here in the past.

"Let us give our praise for the high quality of man, the high principles of brotherhood and the blessing of a continuous harmony and peace in our city and state."

Other speakers were Walter I. Sundlun, President of the Jewish Orphanage; Alexander Brin, of Boston; Benjamin Brier, brother-in-law of Mr. Magid and business partner for many years, and Arthur J. Levy, who delivered the toast.

Those seated at the head table were Judge Jerome J. Hahn, Walter I. Sundlun, Charles Brown, Dr. Ilie Berger, Louis Lyons, James Goldman, Louis F. Rosenberg, Philip C. Joslin, Max L. Grant, Leo Logan, Charles Silverman, Benjamin Brier and Jacob Pasner of Boston.

The committee of arrangements was headed by Max L. Grant and included: Treasurer, Charles Silverman; Secretary, Charles Brown; Chairman Personalities Committee, Arthur Levy; Chairman Dinner Committee, Louis F. Rosenberg; Chairman Entertainment Committee, Dr. Albert Berger; Chairman Speakers' Committee, Walter I. Sundlun; Chairman Reception Committee, Maurice Bliss.

Others assisted the King in writing the "Book of Astrological Science," and an Ibn Gabirol, a Yahuda H'leve, a Bachya, and Abraham Ibn Ezra, a Maimonides, beyond just as much to our Spanish history as those who worked here in Latin, Arabic, Catalanian or Galician.

We hope, he concludes, that the Sephardim of the Orient will find hospitality in Spain, so that it shall no longer be said that they live only by smelling at an empty goblet.

There is another characteristic article in the anti-clericalist, "Fray Lazo" of Madrid. "Quo Vadis Israel? To Spain!" is the heading of this article written by Dionisio Perez. Great Britain has deceived the Jewish people, Perez writes. The promise contained in the Note, issued by the Foreign Office on Nov. 2nd, 1917, has not been kept. Zionism does not solve the question. So there is now a new Zionism. The establishment of independent Jewish States, spiritual fatherlands, where the Jewish people will be offered at least a free territory, which they can inhabit and colonize. The Spanish Jews, the article concludes, can find such a homeland in their old Spanish fatherland.

I have taken these two articles at random, without any attempt to traverse the whole field of this kind of writing in the present-day Spanish press, and without in any way wishing to identify myself with the idea that the repatriation of the Spanish Jews to Spain is practical politics or practicable. But however that may be, taken in conjunction with the speeches that are being delivered in parliament and with the general feeling that exists now in Spain in regard to the Jews, it shows how philo-Jewish sentiments have come to the fore in the new Spain, and how modern liberal and Democratic Spaniards deplore the wrong that was done to the Jews centuries ago, and how they feel that the wrong must be made good to us, a feeling that has found its best and clearest expression in the words spoken in parliament by the Minister of Justice, Don Fernando de Los Rios.

Rabbi Maurice Mazure Addresses Hadassah Members at Meeting

Rabbi Maurice Mazure of Temple Beth-Israel addressed the members of the Providence Chapter of Hadassah at a meeting held on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 8, at Temple Beth-Israel. The Sisterhood of the Temple acted as hostesses.

A set of resolutions was drawn up in memory of the late Mrs. Ida Z. Feinberg, as follows:

"Whereas, In His infinite wisdom, God, the Father of all creation, has called to life eternal Mrs. Ida Feinberg; and

"Whereas, We, the Providence Chapter of Hadassah, are saddened by her passing, having lost a friend, wise counsellor and ardent worker; "Be It Resolved, That Providence Chapter of Hadassah grieves for the death of Mrs. Feinberg and that trees be purchased in Hadassah's Grove in Palestine as a memorial in her name;

"Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to her family, to be published in The Jewish Herald and be recorded in the minutes."

Reports of the National Convention of Hadassah, held in Atlantic City, were given by Mrs. S. Michaelson, Mrs. H. Swartz and Mrs. Felder. Chanukah money was contributed by the Sunday Schools of Temples Beth-Israel, Beth-El and Emanu-El and Orm Street, Howell Street and several other Synagogues towards the Penny Luncheon Fund. Two hundred dollars was voted to annuity to the Hadassah Medical Organization quota and $48 towards the National Fund quota.

Mrs. Samuel H. Ernstof and the President of the Sisterhood, Mrs. Leo Weiner, served as hostesses and presented an entertaining program of recitations by Freda Bojar and Roslyn Roberts and musical selections on the violin by Myer Mushlin.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Mrs. Samuel Michaelson; First Vice President, Mrs. J. D. Grossman; Second Vice President, Mrs. Jacob Ernstof; Third Vice President, Mrs. John Olevson; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Alex Kleinberger; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Sol Korn; Financial Secretary, Morris Beeber; Treasurer, Mrs. Herman Swartz.

The President was presented with a corsage by the committee and at the conclusion of the meeting tea was served.

Fischel David of Newport Is Victim of Carbon Monoxide Gas

Fischel David, one of the best known Newport Jews, died early Monday morning at his residence, 11 Everett street, from carbon monoxide gas from an unvented gas heater. Mr. David, fully dressed, was seated at the breakfast table, when the odorless monoxide fumes overpowered him and caused him to slump forward. Mrs. David and their son, Frank, who were in the room, were slightly overcome at the time, but were not made unconscious, and were able to call for help.

Fischel David was born in Austria about 57 years ago. First he located in Fall River, and on coming to Newport conducted a meat market and later established a wholesale grain and produce market on Elm street, where he built a large warehouse and had continued in the latter business until his death.

He was instrumental in re-opening the Touro Synagogue in the nineties, after it had been closed for many years; was President of the Congregation Jeshuat Israel for a few years, and had been a trustee of the Synagogue for 33 years.

He was also interested in the securing of the Jewish Community Center and was a director. He was a member of the Chevrah Kadish Society of this city and for several years was a member of the old Representative Council.

He is survived by his widow, a son, Frank David; a brother, Nathan David, and a sister, Mrs. Rose Greenwald of Miami, Fla.

CAPACITY AUDIENCE

A capacity audience, who greeted Prof. Thomas F. Crosby, Jr., last Sunday evening, listened to his superb reading of "If I Were King." At the end of the evening, Prof. Crosby received enthusiastic applause. His appearance opened formally the J. C. C. course of lectures and concerts. The next event in the program is Isaac Don Levine, who will discuss the Russian situation Sunday evening, Dec. 27th.

CHILDREN PRESENT PROGRAM

An over-crowded auditorium attended the Chanukah program presented by the children of the Religious School last Sunday afternoon. Mr. Cohen opened the program.

The J. C. C. Concert Orchestra under the direction of Sydney M. Lewis, furnished a musical program. A play, "By the Light of Chanukah," coached by Nat Roy, assisted by Evelyn Siegal, concluded the program. Candy was distributed to the children.

SPONSORING COMMITTEE ACTIVE

Under the leadership of Mrs. Joseph J. Sefer, the Sponsoring Committee for the course did fine work. Thus far over 50 new members were proposed. The following on the committee are to be especially commended:

Miss Elizabeth Davis, Miss Rose Singer, Mrs. Frank D. Markensohn, Miss Claire E. Greenstein, Miss Saudie Silverman, Mrs. Henry Hassenfeld, Mrs. Samuel Workman, Mrs. David Adelman, Mrs. Samuel Wachenheimer, Mrs. Louis Hurwitz, Mrs. Samuel Chase, Mrs. David E. Feldman and Mrs. Benjamin Salk. The committee will continue its efforts until Dec. 27.

MEN'S GROUP MEETS

evening, Dec. 3rd, to discuss men's activities at the Center. Milton C. Sapinsley, chairman of men's activities, presided. The following were present:

Dr. Samuel Starr, Mr. Herman Galkin, Morris Sydel, Myer M. Cooper, Howard Pressel, Lester Selonek, Louis Chase, Max Tarnapol, Nathan Temkin, Sydney Rabinowitz, Dr. Israel Mandell, David Isserlis, David Geffner, Dr. Ezra Sharp and Mr. Alfred L. Morse.

Executive Director Jacob I. Cohen urged the men who were present to interest more men in the Center activities for the purpose of building up a lively men's group under the roof of the Center. The name, "Jewish Community Center," must be justified and the entire community must rally around the Center, Mr. Cohen declared. A lively discussion followed with many suggestions on the kind of activities that men would be interested in. Mr. Sapinsley appointed the following committee to give the suggestions close consideration:

Dr. Starr, Herman Galkin, Howard Pressel, Morris Sydel, Alfred Morse, Dr. Sharp and Jacob I. Cohen.

YOUNG MEN TO MEET

The Jewish Young Men's Association will hold its third meeting Sunday afternoon, Dec. 13th. At the last meeting, the constitution was adopted. At the next meeting the nominating committee will submit a list of officers to be elected for the ensuing year. Young men 19 or over are urged to attend this meeting.

BROCKTON TO PLAY

The first basketball game of the season has been set for Saturday, Jan. 9th, with the strong Brockton Jewish Center aggregation. Brockton, although having only a small Jewish population, has recently completed a new Center at a cost of $100,000.

TEMPLE BETH-EL LEAGUE

The Temple Beth-El League is the name by which the Young People's Society will hereafter be designated. This name was formally adopted at the meeting on last Sunday evening. It was decided to administer the affairs of the league through a committee of selectmen.

Those elected to this committee were Helen Gerber, Libby Jaffa, Stanley Loebenberg, Justin Parvey and Ruth Tenenbaum. The next meeting will be held on Sunday, Dec. 20, at 7 o'clock.

CHANUKAH CELEBRATION SUNDAY

The program for the Chanukah celebration to be held on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 13, at 2:30 o'clock, will be as follows:

A play in Hebrew "Hachshmonaim," coached by Miss Miriam Berman, with the following cast: Joseph Weisman, Joslin Berry, Maurice Davis, Samuel Rouslin, Shepard Rosenberg, Barbara Finkler, Bella Hodosh, Selma Krasnow, Beatrice Schreiber, Bella Kroll, Herman Kaplan, Norman Brill, Arthur Kotlen and Seymour Goldstein.

"The Unlighted Menorah," a Chanukah fantasy of the time of Felix Mendelssohn, coached by Lester M. Selonek, with the following cast: Albert Kleinberger, Muriel Feldman, William Odesky and Earl Fleisig.

Moving pictures, Our Gang Comedy, "Chicken Feed." Distribution of gifts by the Sisterhood. Property manager, Mr. Howard Presel.

PROMISES SUBSIDY FOR JEWISH SCHOOLS WITHIN SHORT TIME

Bucharest, Dec. 11—(JTA) — The Roumanian Government has promised to grant a subsidy to the Jewish schools within the course of the coming month, as a result of a protest lodged with the Minister of Education by a delegation of Jewish deputies headed by Deputy Theodor Fischer.

The government's promise was given in an effort to conciliate the Jewish Party, which has resolved to withdraw its support of the Jorga government and to join the opposition. The action of the Jewish deputies is a protest against the government's attitude toward the Jews and its complete ignoring of Jewish interests.

RABBI ALSTET COMING TO B'NAI ISRAEL SYNAGOGUE

For the first time in five years, the Congregation B'nai Israel will have a full-time pastor as the result of action taken Sunday, when Rabbi Murray Alstet of New York was unanimously elected spiritual leader. He will resume his duties on Tuesday.

About five years ago Rabbi Phineas Israeli severed his connection with the local Synagogue after years of service. Since then the congregation has had visiting Rabbis, and a number of prominent figures in Jewish life at local gatherings and services.

Rabbi Alstet is a graduate of Columbia University and the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York. He comes from Jackson Heights, L. I., where he served the community. The officers and members of the Congregation B'nai Israel are looking forward to Rabbi Alstet's coming and expect an impetus to local activity.

Officers of the congregation were elected Sunday as follows: President, Arthur I. Darman; Vice President, Sam Macktaiz; Treasurer, Arthur Kornstein; Honorary Secretary, Philip Hopp; Recording Secretary, Morris Yaraus; Financial Secretary, Abraham Hopp; Directors, Louis Sadwin, Morris Rubin, Robert Levine, Henry Kassiday, Abraham E. Goldstein, I. Eisenberg, Morris Diamond and Sigmund Berger.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED

Miss Isabelle Shalovitz was hostess at a dinner and bridge given at the Alconia Inn in honor of her sister, Beatrice Shalovitz, a January bride-elect. Covers were laid for 28 at a table beautifully decorated with crysanthemums and lighted pink tapers.

Bridge was played at seven tables and prizes were presented to successful scorers.

Miss Shalovitz was pleasantly surprised recently, when a group of friends called at her home and presented her with many beautiful gifts in honor of her coming marriage to Max Greenbaum of Hartford. Lunch was served by Mrs. H. G. Shalovitz, after which bridge was played.

CANTOR SHLISKY TO BE GUEST SUNDAY

Plans have been completed for the Chanukah celebration to be given at the B'nai Israel Synagogue, Sunday afternoon.

Cantor Shlisky, famous singer, will be the guest of the Synagogue.

Playlets will be given by the Hebrew and Sunday schools. The Hebrew Choral Society will also sing at the afternoon celebration.

Plans Completed for Miriam Hospital Linen Shower-Bridge Monday

At the Miriam Hospital Association Board meeting, held on Monday at the home of the President, Mrs. Abraham Klemmer, final arrangements were made for the annual linen shower and complimentary bridge to be held on Monday afternoon, Dec. 14, at 2 o'clock, at the Women's Republican Club.

Mrs. Maurice Felder, chairman, outlined the program, assisted by the following chairmen:

Mrs. Charles C. Brown, prizes; Mrs. Max Temkin, refreshments; Mrs. Isaac Woolf, reception; Mrs. Abraham Klemmer, cards; Mrs. Morris Waldman, telephone squad and co-chairman; Mrs. Louis M. Grant, treasurer; Mrs. Benjamin I. Sass, secretary, and Mrs. Joseph Smith, printing.

The committee appeals to the Jewish women to make a special attempt to attend this affair. Sheets are especially needed at the hospital, the regulation size being 72" by 108". All contributions will be welcome as the authorities are in a position to buy linens at a more reduced price than the every-day purchaser.

Presidents' Day to be Observed by Jewish Council Women, Dec. 15

Presidents of constituent organizations of the State Federation of Women's Clubs will be the guests of honor on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 15, at 2 o'clock, in the Temple Beth-El Vestry, when Providence Section, Council of Jewish Women, will observe its annual Presidents' Day. The Sisterhood of Temple Beth-El will be the hostess organization.

Reports, showing various phases of interest of the Council of Jewish Women, will be given.

Miss Leona Samuels will present an illustrated lecture on the subject, "American Homes," from the time of the landing of the Pilgrims to the present day. Her lecture promises to be illuminating and fascinating, as well as of practical value for every home and art lover. Miss Samuels is a graduate of the School of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, and has studied in Europe for several years. She has lectured on art appreciation at the Girls' High School, Boston, and was on the interior decorating staff of large concerns in Philadelphia, Boston and New York.

The lecture will be followed by a social hour.

The next meeting of the Literary Group of the Council of Jewish Women will be held Monday, Dec. 14th, at 2:15, in the Plantations Club drawing room. Mrs. Allen Markoff, in her review of Romain Rolland's "Mahatma Gandhi," will discuss the problems raised by the activity of the Mahatma.

The next meeting of the International Relations Group of the Council is scheduled for Friday, Dec. 18, at 2 o'clock, in the home of its chairman, Mrs. Samuel Wachenheimer, 395 Lloyd avenue. There will be a roll call on arms reduction, and Mrs. Wachenheimer will lead the discussion on international current events.

Home For the Aged Assn. Meets; Election of Officers Held

A regular meeting of the Home for the Aged Association was held on Wednesday at Zinn's Banquet Hall, with Mrs. Jennie Goldsmith presiding.

Mrs. Milton Fuld reported for the by-law committee and presented the revised by-laws, which were accepted unanimously by the body. In the absence of Mrs. Louis Linder, Mrs. Morris Mellion and Mrs. S. Deutch reported for the admissions committee that a new member had been added to the Home family. Other reports

MRS. LOUIS FISHBIEIN

Mrs. Louis Fishbein heads the committee in charge of arrangements for the concert to be given on Sunday evening, Dec. 13, at the Providence Plantations Auditorium by the Independent Jewish Mothers' Alliance of Rhode Island.

The association, which has been in existence over twelve years, consists of a group of devoted women in Providence, who are attempting in some measure to help take care of those orphans who cannot be aided by the local committees because of the prevailing critical economic conditions. All the money that they are able to raise is sent to the Orphan Homes in Poland, Lithuania, Russia, Roumania and Palestine. An excellent musical program has been arranged, including the following artists:

Mischa Tulin, Theremin Artist from Boston; Benjamin Premack, well-known local violinist; Helen Walker, recitations; Helen Horowitz, piano selections and songs, both from Boston; Cantor Joseph Schlossberg, classic songs, and Madame Regina Russakoff, noted soprano, will give a group of songs. Assisting Mrs. Fishbein on the committee are the following:

Mrs. Getzel Zaidman, associate chairman, and Mrs. Samuel Schprecher, secretary and treasurer; Mrs.

Nathan Beresofsky, Mrs. Harry Weiner, Mrs. Benjamin Rice, Mrs. Henry

Intermediate Miriam Hospital Assn. to Hold Free Dance on Dec. 22

The annual free dance of the Intermediate Miriam Hospital Association will be held on Tuesday evening, Dec. 22, at Temple Beth-El on Broad street.

Invitations have been issued to several sororities, fraternities and other clubs. The past affairs of similar nature have proved most successful and the club is again looking forward to welcome many of its friends.

Miss Mildred E. Marks is chairman of the affair, assisted by Miss Rose Schoenberg, Miss Mary Hazman, Miss Charlotte Sonion and Mrs. Barney Gorman.

Birth Announcements at Miriam Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shechtman, 217 Jewett street, announce the birth of a boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Zawatsky, 39 Reynolds avenue, announce the birth of a boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Perelman, 211 Jewett street, announce the birth of a girl.

Dinner-Bridge Given for Marie Zarchen and Dr. H. F. Klibanoff

Miss Marie Zarchen of Central Falls and Dr. Harold Fred Klibanoff of this city, recently betrothed, were the guests of honor at a dinner and bridge given on Thursday evening by Mrs. Martin Curran and Miss Myrtle Lucknsiansky at Mrs. Curran's home on Marbury avenue, Pawtucket.

Covers were laid for twelve at a table attractively decorated with lighted tapers and a centerpiece of cut flowers. Besides the guests of honor those present were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Curran, Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Zarchen, Miss Lucknsiansky, Miss Ethel Zarchen, Mr. and Mrs. Ben M. C. Poulten, David Berger and Harry Feldman. Prizes at bridge were won by Mrs. Poulten, Dr. Klibanoff and Miss Lucknsiansky.

The hostesses presented the engaged couple with a gift.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Meller and Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Koppe sailed on the S. S. Monarch for a few weeks' stay in Bermuda.

The annual luncheon of the League of Jewish Women's Clubs will be held on Monday, Jan. 25, at 12:30, at the Narragansett Hotel.

Tickets must be bought two weeks in advance by making reservations with the presidents of the respective organizations.

The Jewish Home for the Aged Association will hold its annual bridge on Wednesday, Jan. 20, at the Narragansett Hotel.

Mrs. Peter Woolf is chairman of arrangements, Mrs. Joseph Black is the treasurer and Mrs. I. Singer is secretary.

Miss Rose Petow of Charles street was entertained on Thursday evening, Dec. 10, at a miscellaneous shower and bridge given at Zinn's Banquet Hall on Mathewson street.

Mrs. Anna Petow, the bride-elect's mother, and Mrs. Abraham Cohen, mother of the groom-to-be, were the hostesses.

Twenty-five tables of bridge were in play. The high scorers at each table were presented with attractive prizes.

Miss Petow will be married to Mr. Ernest Cohen, the latter part of January.

A shower, luncheon and bridge were tendered Miss Freida Fishman at the Narragansett Hotel on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Frank Brodsky was hostess. The luncheon was served at two tables which were decorated with chrysanthemums and arranged in the shape of a horseshoe.

The prizes for the bridge game were small pewter bonbon dishes. Many guests from Fall River and Boston as well as Providence were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hazman of Prairie avenue, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sadye Hazman, to David Levine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Levine, of Fall River, at a dinner on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 8. Covers were laid for 20 members of the immediate family.

In the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Hazman held a reception at their home for 75 guests from Brockton, Fall River, New Bedford, Lynn and Providence.

A regular meeting of the Alpha Omega Sorority was held at the home of Miss Jean Shepard on Carrington avenue, on Monday.

After a short business meeting, bridge was played, prizes being won by Miss Esther Botvin and Miss Mary Bazarsky.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and a social hour followed.

Mrs. Nathan Alpert and Mrs. Charles Feinberg of Fall River arranged the bridge held Monday evening by the Sisterhood of Temple Beth-El.

A personal shower and bridge was given on Monday in honor of Miss Sarah Hittner at her home on Goddard street by her sister, Miss Fannie Hittner.

Four tables of bridge were in play, prizes being awarded to Mrs. Elmer Gunther, Mrs. Ralph Miller, Mrs. Joseph Miller and Mrs. Evelyn Berg. Dancing and entertainment followed.

Guests were present from Seekonk, Fall River, Attleboro and this city. Miss Hittner will become the bride of Mr. Jack Gleckman of Seekonk on Wednesday, Dec. 30.

The Bab-Nabs held their first meeting of the season, Sunday, Dec. 6, at the home of Miss Rene Cohen on Pinehurst avenue. Officers elected are as follows:

President, Miss Jean Silver; Secretary, Miss Irene Greenberg; Treasurer, Miss Rene Cohen; Publicity Manager, Miss Edith Hassenfeld. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Katz of 123 Woodbine street entertained several out-of-town guests on Sunday. Among them were the following:

Mrs. Jack Schneider of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mr. Philip Kaplan of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. J. Goldman of Dorchester, parents of Dr. H. I. Goldman, fiancé of Miss Rebecca Katz, Dr. and Mrs. E. Cohen of Everett and Miss Ethel Goldman of Dorchester.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Preston Pearlman of Carr street announce the birth of a daughter on Nov. 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Halprin of Detroit, Mich., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Leila Halprin to Mr. Louis E. Feital, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Feital, of Jenks street, Central Falls.

Miss Jessie Strauss of Niagara street entertained at a personal shower and bridge at her home on Tuesday in honor of her sister, Miss Lillian Strauss.

Seven tables of bridge were in play and prizes were presented to the high scorers.

A novel event for the Ko-Ketts was held on Monday evening at the Jewish Center in the form of a stork shower for Stanley Arnold Tolchinsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tolchinsky.

Bridge was played and prizes were presented. A buffet supper was served by the hostesses, Miss Rose Schoenberg and Miss Mildred Zisquit, assisted by Miss Lillian Schoenberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Bander, formerly of Davis street, this city, have changed their residence to Cheswick Park Manor, Brighton, Mass.

After a week's visit with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Max Pepper, in New York, Miss Bertha Pepper has returned to her home on Dudley street.

Mrs. Harry Rosen entertained at dinner Tuesday at Zinn's Banquet Hall on Mathewson street for her sister, Mrs. Marvin Serin, of Buffalo, N. Y., the former Miss Kae Rubino-vitz of this city.

The Ochee Club held a Chanukah celebration on Friday evening, Dec. 11, at the home of Miss Ida Lyon on Wayland avenue.

The committee in charge of arrangements consisted of Miss Lyon and Miss Sadie Goldenberg. The members were presented with gifts.

Miss Pearl Singer was guest of honor at a birthday surprise party at her home in North Broadway, East Providence, Sunday evening.

A large birthday cake lighted by candles was the centerpiece for the supper table, which also was decorated in yellow and green.

Out of town guests were Mr. Harry Gordon and Mr. Frank Miller, both of New York.

Miss Irene Cohen has returned to her home on Pinehurst avenue following a few days' stay in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Satloff celebrated the Bar-Mitzvah of their son, Irving Satloff, Sunday evening, at their home on Lippitt street.

A speech given by Master Irving was received with applause by the many guests, who attended from New Bedford, Fall River and this city.

At a recent meeting of the Tau Sigma Gamma, held at the home of Miss Esther Frank on Howell street, plans were made for a dance to be held at the Edgewood Yacht Club on Tuesday, Jan. 19. Music will be furnished by Doc Holmes and his orchestra.

The committee in charge comprises the Misses Sylvia Presser, chairman; Edith Rotenberg, Ella Bernstein and Irene Friedman.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Estelle Epstein on Miller avenue.

The Beta Sorority of Temple Beth-El, Fall River, will hold its annual mid-winter frolic on Tuesday, Dec. 29, at the Temple.

Many guests are expected from this city, Newport and surrounding cities.

The committee in charge includes Miss Toby Zangwill, Miss Anne Goldstein, Miss Zulnia J. Posniak and Miss Helen Bloom.

Miss I. Edythe Karp Given Bride-Shower at Aperia-Plaza

A miscellaneous bridge and shower was given on Wednesday evening, Dec. 9, at the Aperia-Plaza in Roxbury in honor of Miss I. Edythe Karp of Dorchester. Mrs. C. Berkowitz, sister of the bride-elect, was the hostess.

Twenty-five tables were in play and prizes were presented at each table to the high scorers.

Miss Karp, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Karp will be married to Mr. Norman L. Feinberg, of this city, son of Mr. Morris Feinberg and the late Mrs. Ida Zelda Feinberg, on Sunday, Dec. 27.

Junior Hadassah of Pawt.-C. F. Will Hold Supper-Bridge, Dec. 16

The Pawtucket-Central Falls Chapter of Junior Hadassah is planning another of its popular social affairs, in the form of a public bridge and supper, to be held Wednesday, Dec. 16, in the House on the Hill in Pawtucket.

There will be about twenty-five tables in play, with a prize for each. As only a limited number of tickets is available, they should be obtained in advance.

The committee in charge of the bridge comprises the following: Miss Ann Miller, chairman; Miss Diana Fietal, Miss Myrtle Lucknsiansky and Miss Marie Zarchen.

Mrs. N. Joachim Gives Party In Observance of Son's 2nd Birthday

Mrs. N. Joachim of Fifth street was hostess at a party given Saturday afternoon at the East Side Pheasant Coffee Shoppe on Cushing street in honor of the second birthday of her son, Gerald Philmore.

Covers were laid for forty-five children, at a table beautifully decorated with flowers and a huge birthday cake with lighted candles formed the centerpiece. The hostess presented the children with toys and favors. Games were played and entertainment consisted of dancing exhibitions by Eunice Woolf and songs and dances by Avis and Phyllis Strauss.

Ten tables of bridge were in play for the mothers of the children, and prizes were presented at each table.

Assisting Mrs. Joachim in receiving were Mrs. J. W. Strauss and Mrs. Henry Weiner.

Mr. and Mrs. Joachim and their son, left this week for Brooklyn, N. Y., to attend a party to be given on Sunday, Dec. 13, in honor of Gerald by his paternal grandmother Mrs. R. Joachim.

Annual Jr. Hadassah Cabaret and Dance to be Held February 3

Plans are underway for the annual cabaret and dance of the Providence Chapter of Junior Hadassah to be held on Wednesday evening, Feb. 3, at the Narragansett Hotel. Miss Nathalie Samdperil, chairman, outlined her plans briefly at the Junior-together of the Chapter held on Monday evening at the Providence Biltmore Hotel.

Mrs. Samuel Michaelson, President of the Senior organization, extended greetings followed by the guest speaker of the evening, Joseph Smith, President of the Zionist District of Providence. Miss Rose Millman, accompanied by Miss Rose R. Millman, gave a group of songs. The following were chosen to attend the annual convention to be held at the Hotel New Yorker in New York City on Dec. 27, 28 and 29:

Delegates, Miss Matilda Goldblatt and Miss Belle Temkin; alternates, Miss Bertha Bazarsky and Miss Anne Bernstein. A report was rendered on the recent successful bridge held at the East Side Pheasant Shoppe.

Another of a series of chain bridges was held last week at the home of Miss Beatrice Flanzbaum with two tables in play. On Thursday evening, Dec. 10, Miss Belle Temkin held a bridge at her home on Prospect street with six tables in play. Mrs. Samuel Michaelson also announced that she will hold a three-table bridge at her home in the near future for the benefit of Junior Hadassah.

Young Judaea Clubs

THE MACCABEANS

The weekly meeting of the Maccabeans was held on Monday, Dec. 7, at Temple Beth-Israel. A short business meeting was held, after which all the members attended an entertainment given by the Chev'tzi-Bah Judaeans.

CHEV'TZI-BAH

A regular meeting of the Chev'tzi-Bah Judaeans was held at Temple

Beth-Israel on Monday evening. The Maccabeans were the guests of the evening. After a short business meeting, entertainment was furnished by the members. Dancing followed and refreshments were served.

SENIOR JUDAEANS

The regular meeting of the Senior Judaeans was held on Tuesday, Dec. 8th.

It was announced that Walter Nelson would be assistant leader in place of Miss Pullman, who is now at another club.

The educational program consisted of a talk by Muriel Botvin on Current Events and a report on the Judaeans convention. The discussion which followed was in charge of Sam Levine. The subject was: Resolved, The Jewish Sabbath should be changed to Sunday.

It was decided that the topic, Resolved, That the Jewish religion, at present, is suffering from a depression, would be used for the debate between the Senior Judaeans and the B'nai Jehuda, to take place on Tuesday, Dec. 22, at 8:30, at Temple Beth-Israel.

The social program consisted of a play by Irving Siegal and Harry Fain, assisted by Sam Levine, Julius Hoft, William Gordon and Miss Bessie Mazo.

FLOWERS OF ZION

A regular meeting of the Flower of Zion was held on Monday evening at Temple Beth-Israel.

The cultural work consisted of a talk by Helen Tversky on "Jewish National Fund" and a brief talk on Herzl was given by Grace Lofsky.

Final arrangements were made for the Chanukah party to be held on Monday, Dec. 14. A play, called "Hannah," will be presented. Dancing will follow. The guests of the club will be the Blue and Whites.

JOLLY JUDAEANS

The regular meeting of the Jolly Judaeans was held Tuesday, Dec. 8, at Temple Beth-Israel. Helen Leavitt presided.

The history of Chanukah was given by Dorothy Kahn and Dorothy Cokin. A general discussion followed. Entertainment consisted of solos given by the misses Sally Pressman, Sarah Smith and Ethel Shukovsky.

B'NAI Y'HUDAH

The B'nai Y'hudah Club met on Monday, Dec. 7, at Temple Beth-Israel.

After a discussion on the subject, "Is Anti-Semitism Justifiable In the United States," plans were suggested for increasing the membership. Harold Roberts volunteered to give a talk for the following week on the book, "The Island Within," by Ludwig Lewisohn.

The Book Case

Comments on Jewish Authors and Their Books
By FREIDA R. BIENSTOCK

Floyd Dell was a favorite author. I could go further and say that he still is, were it not that his last two works have left me with a rather sad feeling. . . . Floyd Dell was great during adolescence and even better during the period of cynicism, but now as I hover about the thirties and am inclined to be, or fancy myself in an ultra modern role, Mr. Dell gives me nothing so much as a slight nostalgia for those halcyon days when we all, youths and maidens, held hands and thought bold thoughts, and marvelled at the more daring who carried some of these ideas into practice.

Almost without a doubt Mr. Dell's type of novel is dated. He doesn't seem to realize that the days of being able to break conventions do daring things are over for a while. There are no conventions left to break and no daring things undone. Just as the Europeans flight by airplane threatened to become a joke so Floyd Dell's most precious shock-eries (if I may be permitted to coin a word) fall flat because the youngsters of today are so far ahead of him. He is merely amusing to them!

Yet with it all Mr. Dell writes a grand novel. He has all the elements of a good story and is, we believe, trodding leisurely the path of the popular novelist. So be it. There are perhaps enough embittered realists. There need be but one Faulkner to make us appreciate how woefully teapartyish most of our popular novelists have become. But I would rather have written Faulkner's "Sanctuary" and never anything else than have been the author of Mr. Dell's 57 varieties of radicalism gone stale and senile! (Farrar, Rinehart, $2).

Notes About Authors

Edna Ferber won't see interviewers if she can help it. She has cost more than one young reporter his health in pursuing her! Viking, her publishers, send out a little booklet instead, expounding her views. But that's almost as hard to obtain as the interview!

"Hot Money," Aben Kandel's play, starts on Broadway this week. What with "Rabbi Burns" and "Hot Money" it would seem that Mr. Kandel deals only with heated subjects. A great asset in these chilly days.

Thrya Samter Winslow, we are more than delighted to hear, is coming back this fall with a new offering. Since the old Jewish Tribune (olav hasholem) days we have been a staunch admirer of Mrs. Winslow's and were never more thrilled than when we were invited to tea at her lovely home in Kew Gardens. We remember the incident very well because we only had cab fare one way to her home,—or something similarly embarrassing,—and the prospect of a long trudge back to the station kind of took the pep out of us. But later,—when she took this trembling bit of mortality to the Algonquin for luncheon we succumbed entirely to Mrs. Winslow's charm and vivacity and went home determined to emulate her personality. But we found, to our intense disappointment and chagrin, that such a personality is easier envied than copied. In fact we came to a belated conclusion that a good deal of Mrs. Winslow's charm of personality and her ready chatter, which is so intriguing, is a part of her make-up and takes good solid brains!

As for Fanny Hurst, who is sometimes credited with being the smart sister in the literary field, we have nothing but good to say of her, although we did make a hot and dirty trip up to her apartment—a church-like, ghastly affair,—after a hot and dirty day, only to be received by a somewhat amorphous damsel in a stunning black kimono who was evidently just fresh from her bath and looked cool and dainty to this parched reporter. And picture our intense pain when Fanny airily refused to admit that her secretary had made a date for her with us. And sure enough we had to come back another day. Which made us good and sore and caused us intense anguish at the smash of another idol of adolescence!

CLAIMS OZET ORGANIZATIONS LACK GOOD LEADERSHIP

Moscow, Dec. 11—(JTA)—The Ozet organizations in Russia have broken down because of lack of leaders, the "Emes" complained recently and accuses the Central Ozet of negligence.

The paper complains that even such large centers as Minsk, Mohilev, Moscow, Rostov and Berdichev are not working. It asserts that the reputed three hundred thousand membership of the Ozet is merely fictitious.

The "Emes" appeals for a conference to reorganize the Ozet in view of the fact that it has exceedingly important work before it.

First Palestine Pioneers Issue Appeal For Keren Kayemeth Fiftieth Anniversary

The Jewish world, interested in the upbuilding of Palestine, is now celebrating a double anniversary. This year marks the 50th anniversary of Jewish colonization work in Palestine which began in 1881 with the migration from Russia of the so-called Bilu Group, and the establishment of the Jewish National Fund thirty years ago. This event is being celebrated throughout the world and in accordance with a resolution adopted at the recent Zionist convention, held in Atlantic City, is to be commemorated in many Jewish communities in the United States at banquets given for the benefit of the Keren Kayemeth.

The above picture, taken in 1912 in Geder, Palestine, shows a group of the Bilu (B for Beth, I for Ia'akov, L for Lechu, U for Unelchu—House of Jacob, Come, let us go!), pioneers among whom are some of the signatories to the stirring appeal issued by the survivors of the group, urging the Jewish world to increase the resources of the Palestine Land Fund on the occasion of its 30th anniversary.

Fanny Belkind-Feinberg, the late Mrs. Fanny Frieser-Hissin, Dr. Chaim Hissin, Mrs. Hasia Beninson-Zalalichin, A. Zalalichin, Dov Lebowitz.

A Magic Box

The tin box, with the Star of David, reproduced here, is a sort of magic box, yielding, annually, considerable amounts for an important Jewish national purpose. The monogram (in the center), is a combination of the initial letters of three Hebrew words, "Keren Kayemeth Lelsrael," whose equivalent in English is, "Jewish National Fund."

Throughout the world more than 1,000,000 boxes are functioning in that many Jewish homes where the purpose of the fund—the redemption and reclamation of the soil of Palestine as the inalienable property of the Jewish people—is highly cherished and remembered on every occasion. In the United States more than 60,000 J. N. F. boxes are functioning in that many homes and offices. The semi-annual clearance of a part of these boxes, several weeks ago, has yielded a sum of approximately $30,000 for the Jewish National Fund of America.

ABBE CHARGES CONSPIRACY TO CORRUPT CHRISTIAN MORALS

Quebec, Canada, Dec. 11—(JTA)—A new contribution to anti-Semitic incitement in the Province of Quebec has been made by Abbe Edouard V. La Vergne, in a leading article in "L'Action Catholique," mouthpiece of the Catholic Church in this French-speaking province of the dominion.

Writing under the heading, "Jewish Domination of the Cinema," the author brings citations from various Christian theologians and a proselyte Jew, by the name of Levy, purporting to show that the Jews, however small their number may be, seek to dominate the Christians wherever they are found.

Expressing alarm that two local cinema houses are about to come under Jewish control, the Abbe states that is another proof of a "general Jewish conspiracy to corrupt the Christian morals and undermine Christianity."

JEWISH CHILDREN RALLY FOR UNEMPLOYMENT CAMPAIGN

New York, Dec. 11—(JTA) — The pennies of thousands of East Side children, pupils of Hebrew schools and Hebrew parochial schools, have been added to swell the fund for unemployment relief, according to a report delivered at a mass rally of the children recently at the Commodore Theatre, under the auspices of the Jewish Education Association.

The children visited 12,000 stores, 6000 homes and 4200 of them had to date themselves contributed. The children are co-operating with Samuel C. Lamport, division head for the Lower East Side in the Block-to-Block Canvass under the leadership of former Police Commissioner Grover Whalen.

1200 ATTEND LOUISVILLE, KY., TRIBUTE TO JUSTICE BRANDEIS

Louisville, Dec. 11—(JTA)—More than 1200 people, including members of the Brandeis family, filled the Adath Jeshurun Synagogue to capacity to honor a distinguished native son, Justice Louis D. Brandeis, whose seventy-fifth anniversary occurred on Nov. 13th.

High tribute to Justice Brandeis as a jurist and a Zionist was paid by Morris Rothenberg of New York, National Chairman of the American Palestine Campaign, who was the principal speaker.

"Justice Brandeis did not casually become a Zionist, he thought the Jewish problem through and arrived at the conclusion that the solution thereof involved not only the removal of the disabilities under which individual Jews were suffering in many lands, but also the recognition of the collective rights of the Jewish people as such, a need which could be satisfied only in a Homeland of their own," said Mr. Rothenberg.

The sum of $2000 in cash was raised at the meeting toward the American Palestine campaign for $7500, which St. Louis Jewry has pledged itself to raise.

A luncheon and reception were held in honor of Morris Rothenberg.

INITIATION HELD

On Tuesday, Dec. 9, the Order of Hebraic Comradeship ran through a rapid initiation form and gave three candidates their first degree. Simon Feldman, Max Broomfield and Noel Smith successfully passed their first test. Due to cramped quarters and an unavoidable delay of certain paraphernalia the same three candidates will be given another degree at some future date.

At the close of the exercises, refreshments were served. The committee consisted of George Labush, Israel Marcovitz and Abe Press.

MYSTERY AFFAIR

The Mystery Affair is no longer a mystery. According to our Social Director, Edmund Wexler, he is planning a New Year's Eve Party for club members and their friends. A location outside of the city is already being considered. Since this is the first affair of its kind the club has ever attempted, Mr. Wexler wants to be assured of the full co-operation of its members before completing final arrangements. At the next meeting this matter will be discussed thoroughly.

BOWLING NEWS

A very interesting race is being held between Abe Press, Isadore Saxe and Morris Filler for high individual average. So close are these three near the top that each week finds a new one of the three at the head.

Pat Pobirs found his stride last week and broke the high three-string by bowling 347, breaking the former record of Abe Press by four pins. Captain Winicour's team is leading the league, but with a few slight changes, the other teams will catch up with him very shortly.

Wurafit's team holds first honors for 100 per cent attendance and for most consistent scoring.

Bowling takes place every Thursday night at the Majestic Alleys on Mathewson street.

SPORTING WORLD

NEWS WRITTEN FOR THE JEWISH HERALD BY GEORGE JOEL

And So Ends a Football Season

The 1931 football season, save for an occasional intersectional game, is about over. It was the most turbulent in the history of the sport. Two things stood out—the number of upsets and a falling off of the gate receipts. When the season started the various graduate managers issued statements to the effect that the proceeds from the game would be affected by the current depression, and for once these gentlemen were correct. Only New York University, with its Jewish players and a Jewish populace to draw from, showed any appreciable increase in gate receipts over 1930. The feeling was apparent that the mere playing of a football game was not sufficient lure to drive customers through the turnstiles. Added incentives were necessary and N. Y. U. supplied them with its Jewish players.

The upsets that occurred during the season are not properly within the purview of this column. It is impossible to point to any one team and say, "There are the champions." I thought you might be interested in knowing how this column came out in its predictions. I have perused the records carefully and find that I made thirty-three guesses. In twenty-five instances I was lucky enough to pick the winner. Six times I was wrong and two games were tied. According to my trick way of figuring I had an average of .757 out of a possible 1000. Translated into money it means that if you were daring enough and able to get bets on these choices you should have enough cash for a not too elaborate Chanukah.

Let's I forget—you should also know that this column predicted in bold type that Michigan would win the Big Ten Conference Championship. The guess was partly correct, Michigan won but so did two other teams as a triple tie, is how things stand.

It is too early to receive complaints about my all Jewish team, but since it was printed, Schwartz of Notre Dame, Rosenberg of U. S. C., Gilman of Ohio State, Samuels of Michigan, Myerson of Harvard, Newman of Michigan, Hirschberg of Pittsburgh, Fishel of Syracuse, Firstenberg of N. Y. U. and Grossman of Rutgers have all received some mention on somebody's All-American or All-Sectional team. For the first time in years there was no Jewish star in the South and the line material far outnumbered the backfield players. The fact that there were so many good Jewish linemen is interesting. One of the three million mythical objections to the Jew as an athlete has always been that although he might be faster and smarter than his Gentile teammate, he suffered in comparison, as a physical specimen. Now we find that it is the Jewish linemen that stand out and to play in a line today, one must be big, rugged and strong.

Next year's prospects for Jewish players is bright. Kopans of Harvard, Eliowitz of Michigan State, Grossman of N. Y. U. and Newman of Michigan are among the players who have a career ahead of them on the gridiron.

Hakoah to Play for the Benefit of the Maccabees

On Dec. 13th at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, N. Y., the All-Star Hakoah will meet the New Bedford team of the American Soccer League in a benefit game. Most of the proceeds will go towards a fund, now being collected for the purpose of erecting a Sport Stadium at Tel Aviv, Palestine, where the Jewish Olympic will be held next March. People living in New York are urged to attend this contest, which should be thrilling as a spectacle. Tickets may be obtained at the Hakoah club rooms at 230 East 15th street, New York City, and at the headquarters of the Jewish Olympic Committee, room 307, 799 Broadway, New York City.

This game is one of the first shots fired by Dr. Rosenfeld in his attempt to build that stadium at Tel Aviv. Another spot on the program is to be a series of boxing and wrestling bouts which will be held at the New York Coliseum some time in January.

I have been requested to make an appeal to readers interested in the welfare of the Jewish youths for funds to help carry on Maccabee work. The chapters of the organization in various cities have formed committees to sell "bricks" issued by the Maccabee World Union to raise money for the erection of the stadium. Your contributions may be sent to the Maccabee Association of America at 152 East 116th street, New York City. If you feel you can't afford "bricks," then the least you can do is to attend the various events staged by the organization.

Seligson and Greenspan Rated in Eastern Tennis

The executive committee of the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association issued its ranking for the 1931 tennis season and lo and behold, two Jewish players were ranked among the seniors. In the men's division Julius Seligson was given number nine ranking, while Clara Greenspan was spotted six among the ladies. Of course, this ranking will not be of much import in the national ratings as most of the leading players come from the West Coast.

Singer Now Singing

Al Singer, the Jewish lightweight, had better be careful lest he become the "Pride of the East Side" again. The dethroned champion has been so successful in his comeback attempts that he has been matched to fight Kid Chocolate at Madison Square Garden this month. If Singer, who trimmed the colored lad a few years ago, can repeat, he will be very near the top again.

Chatterings

Up at Syracuse, where they take their football seriously, the local "Journal" printed an All-Time All-Star Syracuse football team. Two Jewish boys made the grade, Harry Kallet, at end, and Joe Alexander, at guard. Both men are now practicing physicians, both are local Syracuse boys, and both members of Zeta Beta Tau. Alexander, so the "Journal" said, was the greatest lineman ever to wear a Syracuse uniform. He was chosen on Walter Camp's All-American team for three years. Kallet was also a Camp choice.

Ted Berger, former Illinois linesman, is now living at Sunnyside. He is an artist.

The New York State Boxing Commission reports that the depression has added to its woes. Not only are more youngsters trying to get licenses to become fighters, but many of the old boys who were on the retired list are trying to get back into the ring. The commission notices an increase in the number of Jewish applicants.

R. I. W. B. A.

The Junior Activities Committee entertained a gathering of over 150 at a smoker and entertainment which was held at the R. I. W. B. A. club rooms on last Wednesday. The club rooms, which are open every evening, are for members and the good attendance of late has been very encouraging to the boys.

Louis Hayman and his social committee are making elaborate plans for a grand get-together, which is to be held in the near future. We are confident that they have a big surprise in store.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S LEAGUE HOLDS ANNUAL CONVENTION

New York, Dec. 11—(JTA) — The eighth annual convention of the Young People's League of the United Synagogue of America was held recently at the Theological Seminary at America.

Joseph Rotenberg Receives All-State Football Honors

Joseph Rotenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Rotenberg, of Potters avenue, star tackle of the Classical High School football team, was signally honored when he was placed on the All-State Interscholastic Football Team by the Providence Journal, Bulletin and News-Tribune.

This is considered the greatest honor among the school boy athletes of the state and young Rotenberg's exceptionally fine all-round playing throughout the season entitled him to this award on the mythical team. He was also chosen on several other all-star teams by other coaches.

He is the only Jewish boy in the state to achieve this honor.

Leavitt of Hope High was placed on the All-Star Interscholastic Team by the Providence Journal.

Pawtucket B'nai B'rith Celebrates Chanukah at Party

The Henry Friedman Lodge, B'nai B'rith of Pawtucket gave a most enjoyable Chanukah party in the Vestry of the Synagogue on Sunday, Dec. 6. A Punch and Judy show was presented and exhibitions were given by a magician and ventriloquist.

The children were presented with books and refreshments were served. Mr. Maurice Yaffe was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

BEQUEATHS FUNDS TO JEWISH CHARITY BODIES

Goshen, Ind., Dec. 11—(JTA)—By the will of the late Harris A. Oppenheim, age 66, one of Goshen's wealthiest citizens and Polish-born Jew, four Jewish institutions in various sections of the country will receive a total of $8000, according to the will just probated.

The sum of $2000 each is bequeathed the Shearith Israel Synagogue of Goshen, the National Jewish Hospital for Consumptives at Denver, Colo., the Sir Moses Montefiore Keshet Home for the Aged and Infirm at Cleveland, O., and the Chicago Home for the Jewish Orphans, Chicago.

After Mrs. Oppenheimer's death the palatial Oppenheim home is to be the property of the Goshen City Board of Education for use as a meeting place of Goshen educational and fraternal organizations.

First Odessa I. B. A.
Holds 25th Anniversary
Dinner and Dance

The First Odessa Independent Beneficial Association observed its silver anniversary with a dinner and dance at the Narragansett Hotel on Tuesday night, Dec. 8, with more than 300 members and friends attending.

Among the guests and speakers were Louis Loeber, first president of the association; Joseph Bergel, Barney Kessler and Jacob Uloff, all charter members; Rabbi Werner; Samuel Berg, president; Max Resnick, vice president; Israel Halpern, first trustee; Morris Rotman, chairman of the jubilee dinner committee; Mrs. Jennie Mike, recording secretary of the Ladies' Auxiliary; Mrs. Lillian Adelberg, president of the auxiliary, and Judge Howard B. Gorham of Sixth District Court.

On behalf of the auxiliary, Mrs. Adelberg presented the association a set of the American and Jewish flags. Silver spoons were given women guests as souvenirs.

Besides the president and vice president, other officers of the association present were Charles Holland, treasurer; John Schneider, financial secretary; Myer Rosenfield, recording secretary, and Jacob Chernov, inside guard.

Why
Firestone
DEALERS
give you the GREATEST
TIRE VALUES

THE Firestone organization own and control their own business—every employee a stockholder.

Firestone buy their crude rubber direct from the plantations. Firestone buy their cotton in the primary markets, and have their own most efficient Cord Fabric Mills.

Firestone have the most efficient tire factories in the world, with daily capacity of 75,000 tires.

Firestone make tires only for Tire Dealers and Car Manufacturers.

Firestone do not manufacture special brand tires for others to distribute—but do manufacture a complete line of tires bearing the Firestone name and guarantee, for their Service Dealers and Service Stores.

This line of tires not only meets the price but beats any special brand tire distributed by mail order houses or others, in quality and construction.

Firestone have invested $25,000,000 with their Dealers to establish the most economical distributing and servicing system.

Come in today—let us show you the Inside Facts from cross sections—that you may understand the Extra Values in Firestone Tires.

Equip your car today with a complete set of these tires for your Fourth of July trip.
