Elaborate Program to Mark Temple Celebration

British Economist Speaks at Center Sunday Evening

Reception, Tea to Follow

S. K. Ratcliffe, noted British economist will appear as the third speaker in the Center's Sunday evening programs, at the Jewish Community Center at 8.30 o'clock Sunday evening. Mr. Ratcliffe's subject is "Twenty Year After." Samuel H. Workman will preside.

Mr. Ratcliffe is a journalist and lecturer of long standing in the English-speaking world. He spent five years in India as editor of The Statesman, Calcutta, one of the leading English newspapers of the Orient. In London, he has been an editorial writer for The Daily News, and The New Statesman and Nation, and during recent visits to the United States has been special correspondent for the London Observer and the Spectator.

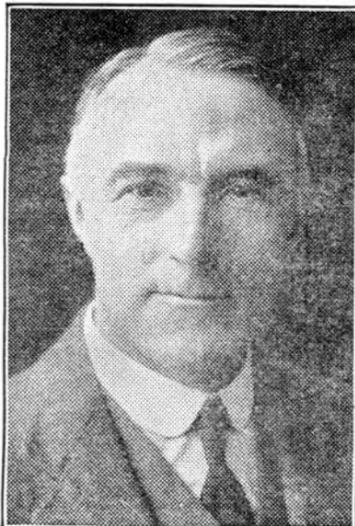

He is a frequent radio speaker for the British Broadcasting Corp., and was chosen to do the broadcast description for the British Isles and Western Europe of President Roosevelt's inauguration.

Mr. Ratcliffe has lectured throughout the United States, from coast to coast, at universities and colleges, churches, schools, forums, businessmen's organizations and before general audiences of all kinds.

Every winter since its foundation, he has delivered a series in the Town Hall, New York and during many years before the Institution of Arts and Sciences, Columbia University and the Brooklyn Institute. At Yale University he has been a lecturer on the Bromley and Bergen foundation and at Cornell of the Schiff and Messenger foundations.

The lecture is free to members and a nominal charge to non-members. The women's committee of the Center cordially invites all to attend a reception and tea in the main building following the lecture.

CENTER SPEAKER

S. K. RATCLIFFE

Prof. Finkelstein is Lecturer at Temple

The series of lectures sponsored by Temple Beth Israel and Temple Emanuel in conjunction with the Seminary Institute of Jewish Affairs which started so auspiciously December 8, will be continued with the second lecture this Sunday evening, at 8 o'clock, at Temple Beth Israel. The speaker will be Professor Louis Finkelstein of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, and his subject will be "Jews in a Changing World."

Dr. Finkelstein has been the guest of Temple Beth Israel on several previous occasions and has won a warm place in the affections and esteem of the congregation. His addresses have always received a warm reception.

The Zionist Honor Roll Insignia depicted above bears the names of those who have sold at least ten Roll Call Certificates.

The Zionist Organization of America wishes to mobilize American Jewry for a greater Palestine, by means of a record registration. This is made possible by the Zionist Roll Call, which shows that for every Jew who entered Palestine since the Balfour Declaration, there is a corresponding supporter. Approximately 300,000 Jews have entered Palestine during that period.

The Zionist Organization must demonstrate to the world that large numbers of Jews stand behind the organization, and by means of their registration in the Roll Call, are supporting the Palestine program for the acceleration of the building of the Homeland. It is very evident that the Roll Call is of the most importance.

Cooperation on the part of the Jewish people is an essential thing, and the Zionist Organization asks them to make this small effort on behalf of the history of our people.

Act promptly! Tell your friends and acquaintances about this fine movement. The success of the Roll Call depends largely upon the results the organization hopes to obtain from the National Conference on Palestine, to be held January 20, in Washington.

Visualize among yourselves the great need of these aged people in their declining years, years when they are dependent upon this socialized organization for their contentment and happy abode. Strive with all your might to ease their harassed beings, mentally and physically. Our work is the most difficult of all, since we have no outside cooperation with a community fund or similar organization, but must needs derive our sustenance from local

Congregation Beth Israel Will Elect

The annual election meeting of Temple Beth Israel will be held Thursday evening. Max Rosen, president of the congregation for the past two terms, retires from office at this meeting and a new slate will be presented by the nominating committee and acted upon by the congregation.

The extraordinary progress of the congregation during his regime makes for an optimistic outlook. The administration of Mr. Rosen is responsible for the recalling of Rabbi Schusheim to the spiritual leadership of the Temple in 1933, and for the resumption of activities on the scale commensurate with former years, prior to the Rabbi's leaving for Palestine.

The meeting will, therefore, be both a testimonial to Mr. Rosen's leadership and a welcome to the new administration. Every member is urged to be present. A social hour

Jewish Problems Discussed at Center

The problem of the Jew in economic, social and religious worlds was discussed Sunday night at the Jewish Community Center in a symposium between Ethel Levene, Muriel Krevolin, William Matzner, Archie Smith and David Hassenfeld, guided by questions placed first by Ezekiel J. Londow, field secretary of the Jewish Welfare Board and later by the audience. The occasion was the third annual Jewish Youth Night Forum.

The problem of the Jew in America was pointed out as being questionable, the rise of anti-Semitism in this country necessitating a careful path in the future. Zionism was lauded as presenting the Jew to the world not as a money changer but also as a builder, a home-maker. Palestine will give to the Jew the necessary confidence that other races find from their home countries.

Over 500 were present in an audience that even stood to hear the interesting discussion. Refreshments were served. Mrs. B. Bernhardt, Mrs. Sam Markoff, Mrs. Harold Cohen, Mrs. Louis Kramer and Mrs. Saul Abrams poured.

Miss Dorothy Markoff was chairman for the evening.

Summerfield and Milton F. Tucker.

Youth Forum

On Thursday, Jan. 3, the Executive Committee of the Youth Forum met and planned the program for the rest of the year. The following were present: Norman M. Zalkind, Jack C. Anhalt, Jr., Zelda Hodosh, Madaline Cohen, Neda Payton, Arthur Rosen and Milton Scribner.

Meetings are planned for the following Sundays: January 13, February 17, March 3, March 17, April 14, April 28, May 12.

Two important social events are scheduled for Saturday nights. The first is March 23 and the second which is the final affair for the year is set for May 18. The chairmen in charge of these affairs are Jack C. Anhalt, Jr. and Neda Payton.

Other important affairs that are being planned are a debate and a Jewish culture night.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL NOTES

Keren Israel Bazaar

Each week a Keren Israel collection is taken in the Religious school for the purpose of aiding our fellow-Jews wherever they may be in need. At certain assemblies throughout the year, the children vote on the distribution of that money which they have contributed.

The seventh and eighth grades feel that the contributions add to an amount too small for distribution among the many causes which they consider worthy. They are, therefore, planning an evening of entertainment and sociability, at which they hope to raise an additional sum for Keren Israel.

On Saturday, January 26, at 7:30 p. m. you may visit at Temple Beth-El a scene typical of the Eastern bazaars of old. Goodies of all kinds will be for sale. Surprise packages, dancing, entertainment, fortune telling, jewelry, a "white elephant" table, and waffles are some of the major attractions.

The entrance fee of ten cents gives everyone a chance for the door prize. An original poster contest which closes next Sunday gives all the children in the school a chance for a prize.

Your hearty cooperation is asked both in contribution and attendance. The children are interested and eager—do encourage them by coming with your friends for an evening new in Religious School experience.

Assembly

The assembly program on January 6 was devoted to the reading of the Honor Roll containing the names of the pupils who did exceptionally well in the last bi-monthly period or who attended each Sunday without missing a single session or being late more than once. Many pupils were so honored. It is hoped that all pupils will attend more regularly during the next bi-monthly period.

On Sunday, Jan. 13, services will be conducted in the assembly period and on the 20th of January, the two dramatic clubs will present playlets dealing with the coming Jewish holiday — Chamiso Osor B'shevat.

members are welcome. The chairman of the group is Mrs. Joe Sindle. The group is under the leadership of Dr. Abraham I. Schechter.

Roll Call Mass Meeting

A Roll Call mass meeting of the Zionist District of Providence has been called for Sunday evening, at the Sons of Jacob Congregation, Douglas avenue, at 7:30 p. m.

Abraham Goldberg, noted orator and Zionist leader of New York, will be the principal speaker. Schechter, the Rabbi of the Congregation, will be chairman of the evening. ## MUZZLING THE PRESS

A year ago, when the Austrian government deported the correspondent of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency from Vienna for bringing the situation of Austrian Jewry to the attention of the world, the authorities were under the impression that this deportation would lead to the muzzling of the press on the anti-Semitic policy which the government had adopted.

Now, when such newspapers as The Manchester Guardian, The London Times and The New York Times come out from time to time with exposures on the anti-Jewish discrimination which the Austrian government encourages, the Austrian Minister of foreign affairs, Berger Waldenegg, threatens to persecute foreign correspondents responsible for such exposures.

No terror will prevent the press of the world from watching the Jewish situation in Austria and bringing it to public notice.

HELP POLISH JEWRY!

The appeal of Jewish leaders in Poland to Jews abroad "to give brotherly help for the ruined Polish Jewry along proportions required for the three and a half million Jews in Poland" is a document which will be quoted in Jewish history. It is the cry of one of the largest communities in the world. It comes like a call from a sinking ship.

Polish Jewry today must be saved. The greatest efforts must be made to take as many Jews as possible out of the country. Those of the Polish Jews who wish it, should be given the chance to go to Biro-Bidjan. Those of them who could be admitted into Palestine, should be enabled to go to Palestine. The maximum energy should be concentrated to assist a large emigration of Jews from Poland, no matter where they wish to go.

Simultaneously, serious efforts should be made to alleviate the position of those Jews who must remain in Poland, by granting them relief from abroad and by exercising all the pressure possible upon the Polish government to understand that the Jews, too, are citizens of the Polish Republic and must be treated as such.

Polish Jewry must be helped!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Readers of this newspaper are invited to send in questions regarding the Protestant, Catholic or Jewish faiths. These questions may touch upon any aspects of these faiths. Questions will be answered in this column as promptly as possible and should be addressed to this newspaper or to the National Conference of Jews and Christians, 289 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

Q.—A Chester, Pa. clergyman asks in what way we think unemployment insurance will most likely help the unemployed minister.

A.—Our understanding is that plans for unemployment insurance do not make provision for the ministry. Unemployment insurance laws which are in effect in other countries do not make provision for the ministry. Many persons who recommend unemployment insurance are thinking only of the industrial workers or at least the worker engaged in trade and industry. Agriculture is also excepted from these plans. Unemployment among ministers is most likely to be remedied by voluntary action which the religious bodies themselves may and should take. It is a question of controlling the number of students in the theological seminaries and of controlling the standard in such institutions. In this connection we may note that there is some agitation at present for the inclusion of professional persons in unemployment insurance plans now being drawn up by the Federal Government. It is possible that this agitation will have some result.

Q.—Has the Catholic attitude toward birth control ever been defined in a Papal encyclical? Does it discuss the "rhythmic" method?

A.—Rev. Demetrius B. Zema, S. J. of Fordham University answers this question as follows: The Catholic attitude towards contraception has been very clearly defined by Pope Pius XI in his encyclical on "Chaste Wedlock" under date of December 31, 1930. In it the Pope deals comprehensively with the nature, purpose, benefits of matrimony, the indissolubility of marriage and erroneous theories with regard to it, and the remedies to be applied against its abuses. Among the vices opposed to marriage he condemns, besides contraception, abortion, sterilization, adultery, divorce and secularized marriage. Summing up the Pope says: "There is no possible circumstance in which husband and wife cannot, strengthened by the grace of God, fulfill faithfully their duties and preserve in wedlock chastity unspotted."

Concerning the "rhythmic" method, the same encyclical, while not discussing it in detail, has this to say: "Nor are those considered as acting against nature who in the married state use their right in the proper manner, although on account of natural reasons either of time or of certain defects, new life cannot be brought forth."

Q.—Where are Jewish Rabbis trained?

A.—Most of the older Orthodox Rabbis in America have been trained in Yeshivah (Talmudic Colleges) in Europe or have received ordination from some distinguished scholar or Rabbi. The younger Orthodox Rabbis have, for the most part, received their education at the Isaac Elchanan Yeshivah (also known as Yeshivah College — the only Jewish Parochial College in the United States) in New York, or the Jewish theological seminary in Chicago. Most Conservative Rabbis have been educated at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America in New York, while Rabbis in the Reform Temples have received their degree either from the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati or the Jewish Institute of Religion in New York. These two latter seminaries are as one in their theological interpretations. It sometimes happens that a rabbi trained in a Conservative school accepts a Reform pulpit and vice versa.

PRODIGY WITH SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Grisha Goluboff, with violin donated him by Henry Ford, who is at right.

The Providence Symphony Orchestra will have a boy violinist as soloist at its next concert in the Metropolitan Theater the night of Jan. 29. He is Grisha Goluboff, a 12-year-old prodigy who has made a sensation in the musical centers of this country and Europe. His contribution to the program will be Lalo's "Symphonie Espagnole" played with orchestra on a Stradivarius valued at $150,000 given him by Henry Ford.

Grisha was born in San Francisco and at the age of seven appeared with the Los Angeles Philharmonic. "Hearers gasped at the genius," wrote Redfern Mason in the Examiner. The triumph of the occasion was repeated soon after with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra and then in New York where he made his debut in November, 1931, with Symphony in Carnegie Hall. On November 2 last, he gave his first Town Hall recital in New York, receiving an ovation.

Last summer, while appearing in the middle west he attracted the attention of Henry Ford who loaned him the Stradivarius from his collection to play in a Ford Hour over the radio with the Detroit Symphony. Last month, when the boy gave a recital in Orchestra Hall, Chicago, the instrument was given outright.

While abroad the young prodigy has been acclaimed as enthusiastically as in his native land. He was only nine years old when he made his European tour which took him to Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Budapest, Amsterdam, and The Hague. Over there he studied with Jacques Thibaud with whom he played in recital. In this country with Mishel Piastro, concertmaster of the New York Philharmonic Symphony.

Danning; treasurer, Gustave Schmeltzer; monitor, Robert G. Mirman; assistant monitor, Irving Eisenberg; warden, Isaac Ozarin; trustees, Simon Aidinoff, Alfred Gamins and Fred Kashman. A representative of the Grand Lodge will install the officers. Rabbi Gutstein will deliver the installation address and the entertainment committee will carry out a very interesting program.

THE JEWISH MEN'S CLUB

The Jewish Men's Club entertained the members of the Kadimah Organization of New Bedford, Mass., at a dance given at the C. J. I. Community Center, Tuesday evening, January 1. The music was provided by the Joe Levin Orchestra. All the young people of Newport attended the Dance, which made it very successful socially. The Jewish Men's Club basketball team is having a very active season now, playing with teams of Newport and outside of Newport. The athletic director of the club is Dr. Frederick S. Danning.

Last Tuesday evening a meeting of the club was held at the Center. Everett Hess presided, and plans for an active cultural program were made. Arrangements for the dedication of the new clubrooms at the Center to be held next month were discussed.

CHAPTER OF HADASSAH

The Newport Chapter of Hadassah will hold its annual installation of officers Jan. 16, at the C. J. I. Center. Mrs. Max Adelson was re-elected president, and Mrs. Harry Eggert was elected vice president. The installation ceremonies will be carried out by Rabbi Morris A. Gutstein. A musical entertainment and a banquet are on the program.

LADIES' AUXILIARY

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Congregation Jeshuat Israel (Touro Synagogue) gave a very successful charity bridge at the Center on January 3. Louis Hess, Mrs. Samuel Gold and Mrs. Nathan Kuznitz were the hostesses. The proceeds of the bridge will be used for local Jewish charities, which is the principal work of the Auxiliary.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Louis Hess, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Touro Synagogue since 1925, left for a visit to California where she will stay with her daughter for the remainder of the winter.

Samuel Friedman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Friedman will be Bar Mitzvah at the Touro Synagogue on January 26. Mr. and Mrs. Friedman will tender a confirmation banquet in honor of their son on Sunday afternoon, January 27, at the Center.

Last Monday evening, Rabbi Gutstein delivered an address at the Y. M. C. A. on "The Saar Problem and World Peace." Rabbi Gutstein will be the principal speaker at the Mt. Olivet Church of Newport, on Sunday, January 27, at the Julius Rosenwald Memorial Services.

RECORD NUMBER OF TOURISTS IN FLORIDA

A check up of the railroad, steamship, plane and automobile traffic, leads one to wonder "is anyone staying north this winter." Every mode of transportation to Florida reports record volume of travel southward bound. Is the depression over? Certainly, yes, by these indications.

That Florida has much to offer goes without saying. Royal Palms wave in the soft sea air, white capped breakers roll in upon golden sand. Pleasure crafts crowd the bay. Luxurious hotels (above is pictured the beautiful Hotel Floridian in Miami Beach). Casinos, cafes, with lavish entertainment, are right at hand. Swimming pools, tennis courts, championship golf courses, polo fields, race tracks, both for greyhounds and the world's finest horseflesh, bowling greens, and plenty of fishing. In fact, nothing is overlooked or lacking to fill the visitors' hours and to bring joy and satisfaction.

Besides the entertainment already mentioned, saddle horses may be obtained on which to explore the delightful bridle paths, water excursions to nearby points, open air concerts are held in city parks. On the outskirts of Miami are located several alligator farms and Seminole Indian villages. Several miles away is the naval air hangar. Here commercial planes are available for trips to Bermuda or Cuba.

Though Miami and Miami Beach are no doubt facing the best winter season in their history, hotels and apartment houses plan to keep prices down to a reasonable level.

Every conceivable type of hotel accommodations are available from the modest family type to most luxurious places. Several fine hotels are being operated under the plan where Jewish dietary laws are observed.

Of these, The Floridian, on Biscayne Bay in Miami Beach, is the outstanding one. A splendid management is assured, as The Floridian is being operated by that well-known hotel man, Frank E. Selden. Here arrangements have been made where-by guests are given the privilege of using the twin aero-car service to the beaches, as well as to the Roman Pools, without charge. Guests may don their bathing suits in their own private rooms, slip on a pair of pajamas and be driven in the car direct to the pools.

"COMPLAINT"

All thru my life I've wanted
A someone with whom I could share
Not only my joy and my laughter
But also my grief and despair.

I thought that my search was a vain one
Until suddenly you came along
To fill my heart with gladness
And to make my life a sweet song.

I swore that I'd be faithful
And you promised that you'd be true
But whom were you out with last night, dear
When I dropped in to call on you?

SO HE WOULDN'T TALK!

Dr. Biderman (my personal dentist, and he's the top) told me this one: It seems a gangster rushed into a dentist's office and shouted to the dentist, "Pull a tooth right away!" The dentist who was very timid and afraid of the gangster, stuttered out, "W-w-which one?" Whereupon the gangster snarled, "Find it yourself,—I ain't no stool pigeon."

OUR FAN MAIL

HONORS FOR THE WEEK

The award of merit of the week goes to Jacob I. Cohen, executive director of the Jewish Community Center. Mr. Cohen has acted in this capacity since November, 1926, and from a very small start he has increased the membership to about 1400 members. He has organized over 100 various activities in which 4000 take part, with nearly 80,000 attending the activities within the year. Some record, I'll say, and we Jews should be proud of such a leader while Mr. Cohen should feel justly proud of his record. Of course, most of you know that Mr. Cohen is at home recuperating from an injured leg and we all send him our best wishes for a speedy recovery. Good luck and good health and the award of the week to you, Mr. Cohen.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS

"I'll pay you back tomorrow, pal."
"That was my ace you trumped, partner."
"Stick 'em up."
"Guaranteed for a lifetime."
"Insufficient Funds."
"We'll live with your mother."

Personal nominations for a swell contract bridge team of four: A. H. Klein, Lou Abedon, Lou Schwartz, Louis Rosenberg.

JEWISH YOUTH NIGHT

Probably few socialites had a merrier time on Sunday night at the Jewish Community Center's third annual Jewish Youth Night than did the debs and their beaux. The post-debs and the young wedded set were also there enjoying the musical program and the discussion by Ezekiel J. London.

My hat's off to Ethel A. Levene, David Hassenfeld, Muriel Krevolin, William I. Matzner and Archie Smith for their part in the discussion. The Center may once more boast of the fine crowd which attended.

They were greeted by Chairman Frank W. Barad and Co-Chairman Freda Simon. Others on the reception committee were Beatrice Gross, Al Gurwitz, Sidney Long, Jack Alprin and Esther Brier, who cheerily greeted their many friends. After

The Passing of a Dreamer

BY DR. HARRY BROADMAN

One day last December our daily papers in reporting the death of Dr. Gomberg, told us that he had practiced medicine here for forty years, that he was once a champion chess player in these Plantations, mentioned the several medical organizations in which he had held membership, by whom he was survived, that he was in his sixty-first year, and—that was that.

The press accorded him the honor that is accorded every respectable citizen who dies here. But to those of us who have been close to him in daily life for any number of years, his passing meant more than the mere loss of a beloved friend. To us it meant the loss of a courageous leader in a life-and-death struggle which dates back to the time when he hung out his first shingle.

Dr. Gomberg came here at a time when any one who knew how to apply cups, leeches, and poultices, could, upon presentation of a certificate to that effect from an older medical practitioner, call himself doctor, hang out a shingle, and receive people for treatment or call at their bedside.

But not our young Dr. Gomberg. He could not place the dollar above his conscience. He came here with a medical diploma from the oldest and most venerated medical college in the country. He came here because there were no regular Jewish doctors in the Jewish colony of this city. He came to drive out the several imposters, those old country "feldshers" and barbers who had never seen the inside of a medical school but who had succeeded in pulling the wool over the eyes of the poor Jewish and non-Jewish immigrants by dressing and conducting themselves like European professors.

Our young idealist even went a step further before picking up the battle-axe. He applied for an internship in the then only hospital in the city, passed the entrance examination with high marks, but was never given an appointment though Providence had never been part of Germany.

But since internship did not mean much in those days and since very few medical graduates applied for it, Dr. Gomberg was not the worse off for it; but he felt hurt for having been discriminated against.

The cost of living forty years ago was not what it is today. One could get along without a telephone. Automobiles and radios did not exist, steam-heated homes were not known rent was cheap, and one could get a ton of the finest coal for five dollars or less and have it last him a whole winter, yet when Dr. Gomberg opened up his office he found it very hard sailing. That was because he was alone in his fight with the vultures, those self-styled doctors, with whom his countrymen were afflicted. Did he conquer them?—No. He outlived them. But he could not outlive the damage that had been done by them. If he could have outlived this he would not have been so poor a man as he was when he died.

Since nature takes care of most of our minor ailments without the aid of medication, and since the lay public does not know that, it was readily possible a generation ago for a group of untrained fellows, as described above, to take advantage of the lax state laws and hold themselves out as doctors.

To further hide their ignorance they resorted to frequent consultations with qualified physicians, and since it was a matter of self-preservation with them not to introduce any properly qualified Jewish physician to the Jewish public, it remained, therefore in the minds of our people that only a non-Jew was capable of coping with real medical and surgical problems—THAT WAS THE DAMAGE.

Dr. Gomberg was a brilliant, capable, and a multi-talented man. Chess was not his only pastime. He could write poetry as easily as he could prescriptions, and in literature and in Biblical lore many a so-called scholar felt like a pigmy in discussion with him. On dull and rainy days one would often find him at his piano holding communion with the great composers of the past. Had he commercialized any of his talents there is no doubt in our mind that we would have had an entirely different story to tell about him, one with a metallic taste, perhaps. But no—he was a rare type, the type that you may see only in Zangwill's works, one who lives and dies for his ideals, and his ideal was medicine. Had he settled in a large city, with a large Jewish population he would have become a leader in the medical world, a great consultant, and socially he would have ranked with the Louis Marshalls and the Wisers.

Was it his mistake that he did remain here when he found it so hard in the beginning? No.

He loved this city and he saw in the communal life of his co-religionists here a fertile field for his ideas, preachings and teachings, and there came a time later when Dr. Gomberg was the spiritual and religious leader among his fellow Jews in the city. And maybe he would have fared better as a Rabbi? No. His religion was medicine—He was the traditional medical priest, for he lived, acted, and breathed medicine as if by divine inspiration.

Dr. Gomberg is gone—he who lived, toiled, and dreamed in our city for forty years—a great loss to our community—a great void in the life of those of us who were close to him.

Note Increasing Popularity in City of Knitting Hobby

At no time since 1918 has knitting so taken the fancy of our womenfolk. It is supplanting in popularity such matters as afternoon movies, tea-dances and the like. Today, the bridge club is no longer only a bridge club but also a knitting circle. This is undoubtedly due to the psychological effect of knitting upon the human system.

It has been definitely shown that knitting favors relaxation of the human organism and causes relief from mental and physical strain.

Realizing the great need in this city for a shop where people might gather to knit, or be instructed in knitting useful articles for themselves, the Chase Yarn Shoppe on the fourth floor of the Alice Building has been established under the capable direction of Mrs. Jeannette Shain Nathans, formerly of Filene's in Boston and Shepard's in Providence.

Pride in one's own workmanship, plus the fact that it is inexpensive, makes a dress, a sweater, a pair of gloves, collar or scarf more dear to a woman. You will be assisted in selecting the yarn necessary for making any garment you desire. You receive free instructions in knitting. The Chase Yarn Shoppe features Tioga Boucle yarn exclusively and is running specials every week.

Miss Ann Port and Miss Stella Matzner, who are assisting Mrs. Nathans, are most capable and will be at the Shoppe daily to serve you.

Parochial School Sponsors to Convene

Dr. Schechter will also give a complete outline of future plans in Providence and will also tell of his conference with A. J. Stoddard, superintendent of Providence schools.

The following chairmen have been appointed at the last meeting of the Parochial School Association: Harry Leach, ways and means; Morris Fishbein, constitution; Abe Heller, propaganda; Morris Feinberg, finance; Max J. Richter, budget; Rabbis Bachrach, O. W. Werner, Joshua Werner, Abraham I. Schechter and Jacob Gelman, education. The other chairmen and committees will be announced at a later date.

The early delivery service featured by Hochman's enables you to have fresh bread and rolls in time for the breakfast tables. These, and all other Hochman Bakery products are produced with the special formula of, and under the personal supervision of Mr. Hochman. A complete line of groceries is also carried.
