Rabbi Harburg, who will discuss Reformed Judaism, is well known throughout Massachusetts for his eloquence and advanced ideas. His appearance at the Men's Club will be his first in Providence. Rabbi Goldberg, a conservative, is the founder and well-respected spiritual leader of his Fall River congregation. Rabbi Isaiah Rackovsky, orthodox, has won an excellent reputation for his oratorical gifts and sincere leadership. His work in Pawtucket is considered praiseworthy by all who are acquainted with that community.

Herman Aisenberg, president of the Club, will preside and urges members and their friends to attend early. This meeting has been designated as "Ladies Night."

Relate Interesting Background of Con- servative Movement

Thirteen years of activity will be celebrated by Temple Beth Israel with an elaborate Bar Mitzvah Anniversary celebration, to commence Friday evening, March 1 and concluding the following Sunday evening. The Temple, which is located at 155 Niagara Street, was organized in October, 1921.

It is planned that the guest speaker at the Friday night services will be a rabbi of national prominence and greetings will be extended by representative communal leaders. On Saturday morning, a Sisterhood Sabbath will be observed with a special service conducted by and for the women. A reception will follow. On Sunday morning, a reunion is slated of the various classes that have been confirmed during the history of the congregation. This will be followed by a reception. Sunday evening, a banquet will wind up the celebration, with Elias Margolies, president of the Rabbinical Assembly of America as guest speaker.

At the beginning of the last decade in the 19th century, a movement was started in America for the preservation of traditional forms of Jewish life that would still be in consonance with the spirit of progress and modern times. The prime movers in this were the Rev. Sabato Morais, Dr. Alexander Kohut, Dr. Cyrus Adler, Judge Meyer Sulzberger, and Dr. E. Solis-Cohen.

The movement came in protest to the radical departure from Jewish tradition by the early American reformists. A tangible expression to this movement came in the organization of the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York. Sabato Morais was the first president. In 1901, Jacob Schiff donated a site and building to the Seminary Corporation, and in 1902, Dr. Solomon Schechter became President of that institution, and held office until 1915.

Conservative Judaism Organized
Dr. Schechter realized the necessity of organizing the synagogues with a modern traditional point of view into a national organization. To carry out this idea, he founded

The OBSERVER

A grand howdy and a "gooten tag," my friends. This is your old pal, "The Observer" who has been doing a bit of observing and is ready to give you a variety of lowdown on the various higher-ups.

Attending the evening performance at the Strand Theater on Saturday, the Observer saw K-24 "Pinkie" alias Irving Wattman (some monicker I'll say) with his one and only, Frances Singer. A swell pair, my friends, who are thinking "that way" about each other. Sitting beside them was a cute and petite damsel, Freda Gertsacov, the accomplished cornetist whom we all know, with an import from the wilds of Pawtucket, a swell chap named Abe Snyder.

We noticed that another one of the K's, Seymore Bedrick, was absent from his usual rendezvous, Hills Grove, on Friday evening. Everybody missed his ever-ready puns so we will have to ask his return.

Again being seen around town is Phyllis Luber of the Oak Hill Lubers, after having been confined to her bed from an operation on her leg. During the time of her convalescence, the Lubers were constantly warming the tea kettle for her many admiring visitors.

Did you folks know that the two inseparables, Jack Pritsker and Joe Herr, have become interested in two very pretty sisters? And have you heard that "Lou" Adelman will soon walk the sacred aisle with Ruth Solomon? And you people who are interested in the biological lives of ants and other such, get a peek at one of the checks from the State Agriculturist Harry Horvitz. The trimmings around it comprise a bug circus by themselves.

Many inquiries have been made concerning the famous twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goldman of Hoxie. They are the two boys who supplied many an evening of entertainment for the summer colony in that neighborhood. We inform you that the boys are doing well, and that they are awaiting the return of their many friends during the coming summer to supply them with more entertainment.

We hear that Brown is planning to enroll Hope High's Sherwin Kapstein who is graduating in June. If the plans work out all right they will welcome in September, the plunging fighting fullback who received unanimous choice on the first team of the all-state football squad.

Have you prominent "nite-clubbers" seen Ben Abrams and that lovely blond from Pawtucket? And speaking of an eyeful, you young ladies who take so much pride in the originality of your dress, cast your gazes upon this smart creation. A very novel evening gown in a burnt orange shade with an eight inch Queen Ann quilted hem, and likewise, quilted epaulettes in Queen Ann style. This is direct from the bay window of a New York shoppe and worn by Esther Trutt. And have you noticed some of the originals that "Tessie" Rodin has been knitting. She's an artist with the skeins and the needles.

And away out in Woonsocket, rumors have it that our old pal, the charming Bernice Rubin, will be walking the sacred aisle, in a very short time, with one very fine and dignified gentleman from outside of "Rhody." And another dignified personage from the Hills of Woonsocket is "Bud" Darmon who has been seen beating a steady path to yonder East Side section of Providence. "Bud" is a young student at Brown while the young lady is a student at the R. I. College of Education. Stopping at the Edison in New York recently, were Dave Dwares and Sam Menoff who had been doing a bit of business prospecting in neighboring New Jersey. From Florida we hear that the Berrys are registered at the "Lois" and intend to pass the remainder of the winter basking in the glows of old mother sun.

We see that the two rising young merchants of Pawtucket, the Saltzman brothers, have

The affair this year is being held at the Elks Auditorium because it is felt that it lends itself to a more intimate atmosphere. Queen Esther and five court attendants will be elected by popular vote. Miss Simon announces that a well known Boston orchestra is now being negotiated with. She also states that Camp Annisquam at Gloucester and Camp

Milford at Kent, Conn., have offered one week's vacation each to the lucky winners of the Queen Esther contest.

Operetta to be Presented

EXPERT RADIO REPAIR

Leo Miller, a native of Providence, does one thing and does that well—repair radios. He has been in the radio business since 1922 when radios were nothing more than mere contraptions for people to fool around with. After owning the Empire Radio Company for ten years, Mr. Miller decided to open a radio laboratory.

In the past 18 months, his establishment has repaired over 6000 radios. He not only provides quick service day or night, but uses the most modern equipment attainable. His laboratory certainly is the last word in modernity. Naturally, Mr. Miller gives his personal attention to every radio problem. Nationally-advertised radios are for sale, while free estimates are given on service work.

Jimmy Linder and his RKO Albee orchestra have prepared a special novelty overture for this week.

The screen attraction, "The Scarlet Pimpernel," tells the story of a band of secret adventurers who hazard their lives to save nobles caught in the French revolution.

just acquired a concession at the Big Chief. Good luck to you, boys.

From Washington we have news that one of Providence's own boys is making good. Simon Rottenberg is the name, girls. Sy is the fellow who had high aspirations, and one day he took a civil service exam. He came through with flying colors, and he was immediately sent to Washington to a minor position. But since then he has made steady progress. He has been promoted three times in eighteen months. He also attends Georgetown University. With him at college is Russ Brown, son of the well known representative Charles Brown, who is trying to get his fill of knowledge. Two boys who are working hard and deserve to make good.

So, my friends, I bid you one and all a merry "au revoir" and invite you to send in your comment, news and questions, and hoping that you are not forgetting to enclose your renewal subscription to the Herald.

A NEW DEAL FOR JEWISH SOCIAL WORK

What is happening in Jewish Social Work? What are some of the recent developments? How does our community compare with others in New England and throughout the country?

These and other interesting and vital questions were discussed a week ago Monday evening at a meeting of the Providence Council of Jewish Social Workers. At the inspiring meeting, Miss Jessie Josolowitz, executive secretary of the Jewish Family Welfare Society, was chosen president of the Providence Council of Jewish Social Workers, Mr. Maurice Stollerman having resigned because of pressure of other work. A prominent speaker from the National Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds addressed the gathering.

Meetings of this sort, where our social workers can discuss and lay plans to meet new phases of their activities, not only are of benefit to the workers themselves, but they are of the greatest benefit to our community in which these workers function.

TREMENDOUS APPEAL IN DONORS' LUNCHEON

On February 27 the Jewish Home for the Aged Association (the women's division of the Home) is to hold its annual donors' luncheon at the Providence Biltmore Hotel. Similar annual affairs have been held during the past three years, and are the outgrowth of many months of work in connection with a campaign for funds. A large body of devoted and loyal women has responded to the appeal of the need of the aged again this year, and the donors' luncheon is to be presented to those who have rallied to the cause. We are told an outstanding program of entertainment is being arranged for the occasion.

It is well to relate the appeal that this major welfare activity in our community makes. Those grown old and feeble, who are not blessed with material means or children who can give them the attention they need, would be in a truly pitiable plight without the Jewish Home for the Aged, that beautiful edifice on Hillside Avenue. There is a homelike atmosphere about the building, created by the numerous dwellings in a residential section of the city, away from the hustle and bustle of commercial and other activities. The building is spacious and immaculately clean, and those charged with the welfare of the aged inhabitants have a filial devotion to their work. Here the old men and women can have congenial companionship. A religious atmosphere is supplied by the synagogue and study room, and the women have an opportunity of kindling their own Sabbath candles on each Friday evening.

Devoted medical men of the city give gratuitously all attention needed by those in impaired health. Miriam Hospital affords a place in Jewish surroundings for treatment of those requiring hospitalization.

But the Jewish Home for the Aged can keep its doors open only through the generosity of those in the community who will contribute from their own sufficiency for those less fortunate, for this institution is compelled to operate as an independent Jewish agency, because it has not a membership in the Community Fund or other similar organization.

Now more than ever the assistance of the women is necessary. The goal set by them this year is 500 donors, which would result in the raising of $5000. Thus far only 400 have responded. We sincerely hope that the additional 100 will come forward. Mrs. Jennie Goldsmith, past president of the Jewish Home for the Aged Association, heads the committee working for the project, with Mrs. Leo Logan and Mrs. Manuel Ostrow as her energetic co-chairman. These good women working so zestfully to put across the campaign deserve your support. Don't fail them.

Last Sunday, Grade IV presented a patriotic program. Miss Ruth Pansy prepared a short dramatization.

The attendance banner was awarded to the Confirmation grade. The same class also won the Keren-Ami Banner.

Plans are being made for a Children's Carnival at the school. Various games, side shows, and the sale of Palestinian objects and refreshments will be some of the features of this carnival. the United Synagogue of America. The movement has spread until today there are about 500 synagogues throughout the country affiliated with the United Synagogue, and several hundred additional communities are receiving guidance through this organization.

In Rhode Island

For several years, prior to 1921, a movement was growing among the younger members for the creation of a religious organization that would reckon with the needs of the young people while still retaining loyal association with the Jewish past. Among the prime movers were Harry Rosen, Leo Grossman and Joshua Bell. This movement reached fruition in the organization on the first day of Rosh Hashana, 5662, of a congregation called Providence Conservative Synagogue. Services were conducted in a building rented from the Niagara Club. B. Leon Horwitz, a student in the Seminary was invited to conduct services.

Following the organization of the congregation, the building was purchased on Oct. 10, 1921; on Oct. 13, 1921, Providence Conservative Synagogue was incorporated with the following incorporators: James Goldman, Joseph Gartner, Leo Grossman, Harry R. Rosen, Abraham White. Joshua Bell acted as attorney. Mr. Rosen and Mr. White contributed $500 each towards the purchase of the building. Rabbi B. Leon Horwitz was elected the first spiritual leader of the congregation. Benjamin N. Kane became the first President of the new congregation, with the following officers: Pincus Silverman, 1st vice-president; L. J. Bachman, 2nd vice-president; Myer Levitt, treasurer; Boris N. Nelson, financial secretary, and Joshua Bell, recording secretary.

Following the organization of the congregation, a Sisterhood was formed with Mrs. Henrietta Fredberg as president; Mrs. Morris Gershman, vice-president; Mrs. H. B. Bornside, treasurer; Miss Fannie Borod, secretary.

Building Remodelled

After the High Holidays, it was found necessary to remodel the building to make it suitable for a religious institution. A heating plant was installed, classrooms equipped, a board room and a rabbi's study fitted out. Since that time, the following additions and contributions have been made: Torahs were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Reuter, Mr. and Mrs. Max Wunsch, Mrs. Hanna Heller, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Goldstein, and Mrs. Louis Smira. A Poroketh was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Markenson and by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bojar.

In the summer of 1934, the Temple was again remodelled and repainted. To the Sisterhood credit goes for the installation of an oil burning system, a remodelled lower vestry, with additional classrooms and a stage, and to Albert Weiner, who equipped a prayer room for daily services.

More Than 400 Attend Annual Dinner-Dance of Council of Jewish Women at the Biltmore

By GERTRUDE M. WOLFENSON

The annual dinner-dance of the Providence Section, National Council of Jewish Women attracted some 400 persons Thursday evening to the ballroom of the Providence Biltmore. There was no formal arrangement for dinner; individual parties were made up at will. Red and white were effectively combined in the decorations, giving the ballroom a brilliant, colorful, and festive appearance. The tables were brightened with red carnations, and tall lighted tapers in red holders, with crepe paper streamers with hearts attached to them, across the whiteness of the table cloths.

In addition to the dance music furnished by Billy Lossez and his ten piece orchestra, there was other musical entertainment. All in all, it was an outstanding affair socially and financially. The proceeds will be used for the organization's social service work.

Mrs. Edward Deutch, general arrangements chairman, headed the patrons and patronesses, which included: Mr. and Mrs. Saul Abrams, Mrs. Louis Borod, Rabbi William Braude, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brier, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Colitz, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Deutch, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gartner, Mrs. Isaac Gerber, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hassenfeld, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hoffman, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Libby, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Logan, Mrs. Samuel Markoff, Mrs. Caesar Misch, Mrs. Samuel Newburger, Mrs. Samuel Priest, Mrs. Esther Pritsker, Mrs. Saul Rothschild, Rabbi and Mrs. Morris Schussheim, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Slocum, Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Sundlun, Mrs. Samuel Wachenheimer, Dr. and Mrs. Louis B. Wolfenson.

The committee who assisted Mrs. Edward Deutch in arrangements for the affair follows:

Reservations, Mrs. Leo Cohen; program book, Mrs. Joseph W. Ress; treasurer, Mrs. David C. Adelman; secretary, Mrs. Harold Rogell; reception, Mrs. Pierre Brunschwig, Mrs. Edward Deutch, Mrs. Samuel Markoff, Mrs. Saul Rothschild, Mrs. Louis B. Wolfenson; milk fund booster page, Mrs. Samuel Blacher; dinner and music, Mrs. Matthew Segool; decorations, Mrs. Eske Windsberg and publicity, Mrs. Louis B. Wolfenson.

Since the paper went to press before all the high spots of the dance could be collected, a further account of the gala affair will be given in next week's issue of the Jewish Herald.

JEWISH VETS MEET

Rabbi Maurice Schussheim of Temple Beth Israel addressed the Comrades and Sisters of R. I. Post No. 23, Jewish War Veterans of the U. S. at their meeting last night, held at the Post quarters, 100 Niagara Street. His subject was "Abraham Lincoln." Refreshments were served by the Auxiliary.

Senior Vice Commander Esmond Borod, chairman of the ways and means committee submitted a complete report of its program for the year 1935. Commander Barney Taber presided at the muster.

Financial secretaries: Mrs. Joshua Bell, Mrs. Theodore Max, Mrs. B. N. Nelson.

Functions and Activities

Eminent men of affairs and scholars have been the guests of the synagogue on various occasions, among whom can be mentioned Dr. Jacob Kohen, Rabbi Solomon Goldman, Rabbi Max D. Klein, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, Dr. Raymond Bressler, President of R. I. State College; Dr. Alexander J. Stoddard, superintendent of Providence Schools; Dr. Clarence A. Barbour, president of Brown University; Governor Norman S. Case; Judges Ira L. Lets, Capotosto and Walsh; Reverends E. M. Baker, Robert H. Schacht, and Edward Holyoke; Prof. Louis Finklestein, representing the Seminary, has addressed the congregation several times.

A memorable visit was that of the late national poet, Chaim N. Bialik. The congregation conducts regular daily, Sabbath and Holiday services. The following have acted as cantors: Joseph Scholssberg, Igor Gorin, Jonas Goldenberg and Morris Constantine. A choir for festival occasions was conducted by Jonas Goldenberg, with Miss Bella Goldenberg as organist. A daily Hebrew school and Sunday school have been maintained since the organization of the congregation. Classes for adults in Bible, Jewish History and literature are also a regular feature of the regular congregational activities. The congregation has participated in every communal and national effort, and has been host to practically every charitable organization of the city.

Around The Town

With JOSEPH M. FINKLE

A NIGHT WITH THE REPERTORY PLAYERS

The Repertory Players presented their first 3-act play of the season at the Barker Playhouse last Saturday night. Their work was a revelation to this writer and to the 200 or more who comfortably filled the small theater, which was built especially for the Players, Providence's premier dramatic group. "This Thing Called Love" which will be remembered as the starring vehicle for that beautiful stage star, Miss Violet Heming, was the offering and it was indeed an ambitious undertaking — a farce comedy which succeeded in bringing out the histrionic ability of the Repertory Players.

The Repertory Players, organized about a year ago by a handful of our local young people, lovers of the drama, have already produced several plays and playlets, but their performance of Saturday night would do credit to many a professional troupe. Their performance was as good and better than some that we have viewed at our local "legit" houses. This writer fully appreciates the study and effort of amateur groups — the pursuing of business and professional duties during the daytime and rehearsal at night — the learning of parts. If I remember correctly not a cue was missed and the prompter was unnecessary — if this be a record I say "Bravo" and a thousand bouquets to our Repertory Players.

Miss Mildred Simons and Abraham Blackman in the "lead" roles played their respective characters in flawless fashion — their support of each other was splendid and at no time was the reading of their lines tinged with that artificiality which one expects at an amateur production. Miss Simon's voice, poise and diction coupled with her delightful appearance makes us want to see her often and to Mr. Blackman we say — you were "great."

Miss Florence Shapiro gave her characterization all that belonged to it and it was not an easy task. Milton L. Potter as "her better half" contributed a fine portrayal of Harry Bertrand, the unhappy husband.

Miss Frances Smira, as the gossip, question-asking Dolly Jarrett was the "laugh" hit of the evening. Her performance reminded us of so many whom we all see in every-day life.

L. Frederick Summerfield, playing the part of Normie Dewitt, that dashing bounder who makes a specialty of entertaining misunderstood wives, looked the part and played the part. Mrs. Arthur J. Leon was a real female "menace" and her Peruvian accent was the "real thing." Doris G. Trinkel and Simeon Kinsley in domestic roles did fine work with their lesser parts.

It was an evening well spent and I say "congratulations" to our Repertory Players, who by their support are continuing and encouraging the splendid work of this "little theater" group. Bouquets also to the coach, William E. Smith and his assistant, Selma Smira for a well directed production.

Come again soon, Repertory Players, we eagerly await your next appearance.

BETWEEN THE ACTS

I have already stated my impressions of this fine group of players, but I know you are interested in other highlights aside from the actual performance itself and I will say that the audience was indeed a fine one and it represented every phase of our community life — doctors, lawyers, business men, business women and many, many others.

Here is genial Bert Bernhardt, president and general manager of the production, supervising all and seeing to it that everyone is having a good time while friend wife (Helene Donig), beautiful as ever, has a more retiring role as a mere watcher-on.

Henry Hassenfeld downstairs in the dressing room giving his O. K. to the makeup artist (but wasn't Milton Potter's face a bit too red in the first act?) ... Abe Blackman's little daughter asking mother (Martha Pritsker) why is daddy kissing that woman? and believe me, folks, Abe was the real Clark Gable in his love scenes ... Dr. Jay Fishbein and Dr. Myron Keller with that lonesome look ... and Dr. Emanuel Benjamin alone.

Smoking between the acts medicos Bolotow, Saklad, Kramer, Greenstein ... Charlie Genter ... Here is an old friend, Doc Jimmie Krasnoff with his friendly better half, the former Muriel Dimond ... The Archie Alberts, Irving Shein and his wife sitting directly in front of me ... Bessie Deutch ushered me to a good seat ... there are the Lou Huddishes telling about the newest antics of their little son.

Bless my eyes, here are the Meyer Tenenbaums — telling me about the swell "feed" the Bert Bernhardt's threw before the play ... Professors Ben Brown and Crosby from Brown were interested observers and by the looks on their faces seemed to be having a swell time — and why not ... Valencia Lapsitz arrived just in time to make Act I ... Here are the Summerfield Bros. ... Paul and Sam with their wives and their mother, to see younger brother Freddie "do his stuff" and here, girls, is another Ronald Colman — girls, please do not crowd ... advocate Sam Silverman.

The Saul Abrams, the Caspar Suttons, the Murray Goldfarbs, the Al Pilavines ... Lester Selonek with a pretty miss ... Charlie Bolotow and Sam Temkin with their pretty wives ... petite Mrs. William Silverman

The editor of the JEWISH HERALD announces the addition to the reportorial staff of Maurice Chorney, a student at Providence College. Mr. Chorney will conduct a new column, entitled "The Observer." This column will be concerned chiefly with the activities and personalities of the younger set in this city and state.

Mr. Chorney is a member of the A. Z. A., the junior order of B'nai Brith and is active in extra-curricular programs at Providence College. Contributions to the new column will be appreciated by "The Observer."

accompanied by sister-in-law Ruth Silverman ... the Henry Hassenfelds and Mrs. H. is as sweet a lady as I ever knew ... the Bernie Shasets ... advocate Aaron Helford ... Mrs. Caesar Misch and her gratification at niece Mildred Simon's acting ... and so many, many more ... well I've told you about everything that one mere mortal could see between acts — so please forgive me if I missed anyone.

SIDELIGHTS

Nat Landy, proprietor of that well known barber shop located on Eddy Street in the rear of City Hall is one of the best hearted men I know — for the past few years he and several of his assistants have journeyed to our Jewish Home for the Aged and trimmed the hair of the children at no cost. He has also invited the children to his shop on Eddy Street so that they may always appear well groomed and neat — I am always happy to tell of good deeds in this column — I know that Nat's efforts are greatly appreciated by the children of our community.

Good old Joe Schlossberg (and what a voice) with a bandage next to his collar (darn those carbuncles) Joe has one of the finest personalities that I know ... is well liked and thought of by Gentiles as well as Jews ... Doc Harry Dimond wants to meet Valencia Lapsitz — O. K., Doc t'will be arranged ... Sally Baker, window shopping with sister-in-law Mrs. Nat Torgan ... Jack Felder who operates one of the finest laundries in New England and is a very active member of Temple Emanu-El ... the Sam Flanzbaums have left for Florida while son Sidney and son-in-law Ted Galkin do the chores at home.

Norman Fain on the main street enjoying that few days vacation from school ... Harold Hassenfeld is seriously considering beginning a collection of foreign stamps ... do you know that Violet Marks is program director at WJAR and that Murray Low (Perlow) is one of our leading and best-liked announcers at WEAN?

A great big crowd of friends and well wishers said good-bye to the Morris Feinbergs at the Providence Line dock on Monday night as they began the first lap of their journey to Palestine — spotted also on the boat was Sam Strong and Martin Lippman journeying to the big city for business reasons.

Arthur J. Levy, one of our better known advocates, former newspaperman and sports editor ... a leader in the community, president of our Jewish Family Welfare Society ... raised in Pawt. but spent most of his time in our city, thereby enriching all of us ... has contributed much to the welfare of our needy and underprivileged ... the greatest thing he ever did was when he became married to his wife, the former Harriet Dimond, whom I consider (and hundreds of others agree with me) to be one of the nicest and one of the most intelligent women anywhere.

Irving J. Fain had a late ride to Boston on Sunday night after the meeting of the new Junior Unit of the Amer-Jewish Congress but after all he had real pleasant company, Rabbi Shubow and one other ... Thank you, Walter Cobe for your kind letter ... The Irwin Silvermans (Archie's Boy) are receiving congrats in N. Y. — (reason, a new arrival).

CAREER OF JUDGE ROBINSON AN INSPIRATION TO OTHERS

By GERTRUDE M. WOLFENSON

George Washington, father of our country, had no middle name; neither had Abraham Lincoln, our country's savior; neither had Judge Maurice Robinson, but he has erected for himself the name of "square" meaning "fair". There is about him that indefinable something which inspires confidence.

The city of Providence, hardly less than Maurice Robinson himself, should take pride in the fact that he has served as Police Court Judge since 1931. At present he has been re-elected to succeed himself by the Board of Aldermen, and it is expected that the Common Council will concur in his election shortly. Curiously enough, Judge Robinson was endorsed by both parties. Although he is a Democrat, Alderman Rush Sturges, republican, who seconded his nomination, is the man who Robinson beat by 18 votes for the Senatorship in 1926, out of approximately 75,000 votes. But I am getting ahead of my story.

"I was a Democrat," Judge Robinson relates, when Democrats were scarce, a rare species with nothing to look forward to, with full knowledge that we were the minority party. I was born a Democrat, but I am a convinced Democrat. Way back in 1896 when William Jennings Bryan was running for the presidency something got under my skin. I have staff at St. Joseph's. Glad our boys are getting their well-deserved opportunities. Well, I am dining with the Abe Percelays tonight — so nothing more today but I'll see you all next week.

been a Democrat ever since. Now we have a New Deal in Washington, and in Providence the cards are being shuffled also." Speaking of cards, Maurice Robinson's chief recreation is pinochle.

He is a jovial, enthusiastic little man, talking fluently on all questions of the day. He is a vivid personality, human, and accessible. In the twinkle of his eyes one sees the humor with which his conversation is imbued, as he tells, for instance: "An amusing thing happened in 1910. In my high school year book someone inserted after my name: 'Chick Robinson' (as they called me for some unknown reason) hopes some day to be a judge." I didn't even know at that time that I would ever be able to go to college," he laughed.

Early Life Not An Easy One
For Maurice Robinson's whole early life was a continuous struggle to secure the education he so much coveted. He was forced to work his way not only through high school and college, but even through the grammar school. Certainly complete proof of how eagerly he wanted to broaden his knowledge and gain an education.

With the exception of a few years

in Boston, he has lived his entire life in Providence, graduating from the Point Grammar School, Classical High School, and Brown University. He completed his course at the Boston University in 1910; served a clerkship in the offices of Edward M. Sullivan and then opened his own law office in 1911, since which time he has been a practicing lawyer. He remembers the early years when there were few Jewish lawyers in Providence. "Today there about approximately 100 Jewish lawyers in the city" he declared.

Judge Robinson talks freely about his political career. "I was always interested in politics. In 1913 I was elected to the School Committee, on which I served for two years. That was my first public appointment. After that I did not run for any public office until I left the Army in 1918, when I ran for Secretary of State, but was not elected. In 1920, I ran for Alderman of the Sixth Ward, after being elected on the returns, I was counted out on a recount."

Jews Interested in Politics

"Jews are now taking a more active interest in politics," he continued, "but in 1926 when I was elected Democratic Senator. I 'Broke the Ice'. It was the first time that any Jew had served in that capacity. I was the only Jew in the Senate at that time and the only Providence Senator as well. I served for four years. You see, in those days Providence had but one Senator; now the city has been divided, and there are four Senators from Providence. Hence I didn't run again in 1930 when this new law dividing up the city came into being. It had been my privilege of being the lone Providence senator for so many years."

The Police Court over which Judge Robinson presides at present is a City Court, which has charge of all violation of city ordinances, traffic, violence, drunkenness, disorderly conduct, building laws, health laws—in fact violation of any law which is created by the City of Providence comes under the jurisdiction of the Police Court. Judge Robinson's human understanding and sympathetic interest in his fellow beings qualifies him excellently for the position of trust which he holds. Unfailing kindness and courtesy are among his foremost qualities. He has played a conspicuous part in the lives of young men struggling to get ahead, as he early had to struggle, and thereby has established friendships from that time until the present—friendships which have remained unbroken and inviolate.

Maurice Robinson is happily married since 1928. He has one daughter Phyllis.

He is a member of the Board of Touro Fraternal Association. Other organizations which he is affiliated with include: Knights of Pythias, the Dramatic Order of Knights of Khorassan, the Elks, Providence Fraternal Association, and the Zionist Organization.

Judge Robinson's re-election to his position as judge of the Police Court is expected. It will be a fitting reward for the faithful service and uniformly just administration of his office. All those who have had occasion to come before the Court over which he has presided have been assured of "square" treatment, and with Judge Robinson in this position, the City of Providence has been assured of the best tradition of administration in its municipal affairs.

OPENS NEW STORE

"HY" COHEN

All is in readiness for the grand opening today of the Sample Shoe Shoppe by "Hy" Cohen, formerly of Elkin's. This new and attractive store at 214 Alice Building, 236 Westminster Street, is one of the most inviting spots in town. A complete line of high grade, women's sample shoes of famous makes—sizes 2½ to 9—is stocked in the rows on rows of boxes—waiting for Providence's fashion-wise and dollar-wise womanhood to take advantage of the remarkable bargains obtainable here. And all expectations point to a quick, united response, not only from Providence but from out-of-town points as well.

For the smart styles, offered by the Sample Shoe Shoppe at such amazingly low prices, are inducement enough for any woman to travel a bit to buy. And fortunate indeed are those Providence dwellers who may drop into the Sample Shoe Shoppe, so conveniently and centrally located. Here even those who wear widths AAAA or EEE can be suited. No longer need you be told, "You have an expensive foot to fit." The Sample Shoe Shoppe has revolutionized this idea.

Mr. Cohen, who left this city about 12 years ago to assume the post of buyer for one of the leading Boston department stores, has built up an enviable reputation. Several years ago, he managed stores in Quincy and Waltham, specializing in the sale of high grade samples and factory rejects.

In this newest Sample Shoe Shoppe, you may take advantage of the mistakes of others. Factory rejects that contain almost imperceptible imperfections which you will undoubtedly not even notice, but which caused them to fall below the factory's standard of perfection, are priced to your advantage. Samples make up a large part of the stock, and you are sure to find exactly the type of shoe you desire in the Sample Shoe Shoppe's wide selection.
