Call Conference to Discuss Jewish Problems

WELFARE BOARD HEARS REPORTS

To Sponsor Spring Clothing Drive

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Jewish Family Welfare Society took place last Monday evening, in the Carpenter Memorial Building, 100 North Main street. Reports from the various committees were presented.

An interesting announcement made by the Clothing Committee was that the Spring Clothing Drive for the Clothing Center which the Society conducts in conjunction and cooperation with the R. I. League of Jewish Women's Organizations will be held during the week of May 10. Friends of the Society are urged to make their contributions of useable and wearable clothing.

Miss Jessie Josolowitz, Executive Director, reported on the Society's activities over the Passover holidays and further reported that to date, the organization has been actively interested in 285 family situations.

WILL PAY TRIBUTE ON MOTHER'S DAY

As a tribute to Mothers on their day, May 9, the Y. W. H. A. of the Community Center has planned its annual Mother's Day Program, scheduled for 8:30 on that evening. Miss Gertrude Friedman, will be guest speaker.

Music will be supplied by Ben Primack and his Community Center Orchestra. Folk songs, with Sam Berditch as soloist, are scheduled.

To complete the program, Sholem Aleichem's hilarious play "Mazel Tov" will be presented in Yiddish. This is coached by Miss Frances Carter. The cast includes the Misses Sophie Nemarck, Sarah Pressman, and Ethel Levine, and the Messrs. Sidney Goldstein, Martin Cohen, and Leon Ackerman.

Chairman of the event is Miss Ruth Berger, assisted by the Misses Frieda Simon, ex officio, Thelma Niestein, Ida Snell, Ethel Levine and Rebecca Goldstein, under whose supervision a reception will be held after the program.

NAZIS GET MERCY PLEA FOR HIRSCH

Berlin (WNS) — The German government has received a plea from the American embassy here, a plea for clemency for Helmuth Hirsch, 21-year-old Jew under sentence of death for alleged high treason.

Acting on the recently established fact that Hirsch is an American citizen, the embassy urged Germany to consider his youth and to allow for the fact that he was misled by others and had never before been accused of any crime.

The reply to the plea, if any, can only come from Hitler.

Deny Rumors of Blum's Impending Resignation

Paris (WNS) — Rumors long current in political circles and published in the Premier paper Echo de Paris that Premier Leon Blum would shortly resign were denied by Socialist members of his People's Front Cabinet. It was said that Blum was worn out by the heavy task of heading the government and dealing with domestic and foreign crises.

To Speak Here

DR. SERINI

Although born into an assimilated Jewish family, Dr. Serini, when he neared his twentieth birthday, became interested in Zionism. He then went to Palestine to realize his Zionism instead of talking about it. His impressions and beliefs will be told on Sunday evening before members of the National Labor Committee at the Paole Zion headquarters on North Main street.

Honor Morgenthau, Sr., as Immigrant Who Made Good

New York (WNS)—Acclaimed as the "best possible type of citizen", Henry Morgenthau, Sr., former United States ambassador to Turkey and father of the Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, received one of the scrolls of honor awarded to three distinguished immigrants who made good in America.

A native of Germany, the senior Morgenthau was honored by the National Institute of Immigrant Welfare as one of the "distinguished citizens of foreign birth who have made significant contributions to American life".

NAZI SHADCHONIM

Berlin (WNS)—Ignoring the fact that the use of shadchonim as Cupid's intermediaries originated with the Jews, the Nazi eugenic authorities have opened an official bureau for the training of match-makers as part of their campaign to increase marriages and births. Fifty students are enrolled in the first class.

Temple Emanuel Carnival to Begin Tuesday Night

On Tuesday evening, Samuel Rosen will light the fuse of the Temple Emanuel carnival sky-rocket, which will unfold entertainment, prizes and fun, such as have never been seen before on the Morris avenue grounds. Musical entertainment will be furnished by Donald (Bud) Cohen and the Top Hatters. Included among the various booths will be a doll booth, cake sale, bingo, children's booth, refreshments, jewelry and grocery booths. The money realized by the carnival will go toward the Rosen, are the following, Michael mortgage fund.

Assisting the chairman, Samuel Tiemann, co-chairman; Ralph Krauss, co-chairman; Louis Hurwitz, treasurer; Daniel Jacobs, secretary and ticket chairman; Nat C. Cohen, publicity; Joseph Dressler, Martin Zucker and Ralph Krauss, finance committee; Samuel Resnick, flower department; Edward Kossove, drug department; Jacob Berkelhammer, liquor department; Joseph Kessler, refreshments; Nathan Eugene, general merchandise; Nathan Fertman, fruit department; J. J. Teath, specialist committee. Mrs. A. H. Gilstein is chairman

ORPHANAGE WILL SUMMER AT CAMP

Voluntary Donations Make Camp Possible

The present administration of the Jewish Orphanage of Rhode Island has in progress a plan which is fully and completely consistent with the humane program of the Child Welfare League of America.

With May 1 designated by Congress and by proclamation of the President of the United States as "National Child Health Day", all child welfare agencies and organizations throughout the United States will stage a National Demonstration for the Children of America, with the accent on "Health Protection for Every Child". Isaac Carmel Will Address Delegates Delegates of Jewish organizations in Providence will meet Monday evening, at the Hotel Biltmore, to discuss vital problems affecting the Jewish people in Poland and Germany.

Nazi Germany, which has confiscated only recently the property of the Bnai Brith, a Jewish fraternal order, has thrown hundreds of Jewish orphans of the institution maintained by the Bnai Brith in Germany, and have thrown out into the streets the aged Jews who were housed by this institution. These disturbances will receive due attention at this conference on Monday evening.

The conference will also deal with the Jewish situation in Poland, which is appalling. In Poland, a campaign of hate and prejudice is being carried on by political parties, some of which are even supported by the Polish government.

500 JEWISH COPS NOW IN PALESTINE

New York (WNS)—Palestine now has 500 Jewish policemen, in addition to the recently appointed 1,000 supernumeraries and special constables, it was reported by Dr. Stephen S. Wise, national chairman of the United Palestine Appeal, in a statement revealing that of the total of 410,000 Jews in Palestine 110 are to be found in the ranks of labor.

The largest group in this category are farmers and farm laborers who number 33,700 or 30 per cent of the total. Those engaged in industrial and manufacturing enterprises are estimated at 25,000, while public works have enrolled 10,500, in addition to 2,000 engaged on state and municipal projects.

First of 7 Planes for Tel Aviv Arrives

Tel Aviv (WNS-Palcor Agency)—The development of flying among Palestine Jews took its first important step forward with the arrival at Lydda of the first of seven training planes that have been ordered from Poland.

The machines have been purchased by the Palestine flying group of Tel Aviv as part of their program for the training of Jewish pilots in Palestine.

The machine that was brought to Palestine today was piloted on its way from Poland by Major Ziembinsky.

John Holmes Will Address Men's Club

"Is America Headed for Disaster" will be Dr. John Hayne Holmes' lecture topic when he addresses members of the Temple Beth-El Men's Club next Tuesday evening in the vestry of the

Dr. Holmes has been minister of the Temple Beth-El Men's Club for 30 years. He is an author, playwright, and for many years the Community Church in New York has contributed articles to "World Tomorrow" and "Opinion". Milton Tucker is chairman for the evening.

Blum Blushes as Youthful Book on Love Boomerangs

Paris—Premier Leon Blum intimated today that his literary wild oats sowed in a book which he authored some twenty-five years ago has proved an embarrassing boomerang.

Leon Blum

Since the re-publication of the book, when Blum became premier, the treatise on marriage has become a best-seller in France and in England. The premier now insists his viewpoints on women and marriage have changed; but his excuses sound like those of an adolescent justifying his first love affair.

Happiness in Marriage

In the book which he discusses means of finding happiness in marriage, the premier argues that no love match ever succeeds. He also sponsored the idea that a man should sow as many wild oats as possible before marriage, and thereby increase the chance that the marriage would succeed.

His code for successful marriages incorporated the following:

1. Don't marry for love.
2. The best marrying ages are for women, 30, for men 35.
3. Reciprocal love never lasts forever, so don't love your wife too much.

On Arranged Marriages

4. Marriages made in a bank or a lawyer's office are no good, because arranged marriages are based on equality of wealth and social status.

5. Marriage between girls of 20 and men twice or thrice their age are deplorable, because the men are too experienced for their fledgling wives.

6. Men should sow their wild oats young, otherwise married life will soon strike them as insipid.

7. If a man must choose between love affairs before marriage and love affairs after marriage, the

JUNIOR HADASSAH DINNER, MAY 20

More money is needed for the maintenance of the Meier Shefayah (children's village in Palestine), and Junior Hadassah has been asked to help raise this money.

In answer to this appeal, a capacity crowd is expected to attend the Donor's Dinner of the Providence Chapter of Junior Hadassah which is to be held on May 20 at the Narragansett Hotel. Arrangements have been made to bring a prominent speaker to address the gathering, and a variety of entertainment has been planned. Installation of officers will also be held at the dinner.

Miss Muriel Dauer, chairman, and Miss Ann Smith, co-chairman, are assisted by the following committee: The Misses Matilda Goldblatt, Miriam Silverman, Gertrude Katz, Claire Ernestof, ex-officio, Esta Wexler, Irene Mitchell, Faye Mittleman, Paul Dauer, Bertha Feinstein, Rhea Gittleman, Rose Kleinman, Betty Gilbert, Molly Chase, Ann Berkowitz, Celta Kapelow and Selma Woodman.

LAGUARDIA SLAPS DICTATORS AGAIN

Speaks at Annual H I A S Convention

New York (WNS)—"Ich kenne die drei menschen — der schlag soll sie nehmen" (I know the three men—a plague on them) Mayor LaGuardia said in a rich Yiddish speaking at the 28th annual convention of the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society.

The Mayor arrived just as the Rev. H. Masliansky concluded an address in Yiddish in which he blamed the difficulties of racial minorities in Europe, (Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini), who are the cause of most of the troubles there.

Reports showing that 60,522 Jews emigrated from Poland, Germany, Roumania, Lithuania, and other countries of Eastern and Central Europe during 1936, including 9,024 immigrants and 6,175 non-immigrant Jews admitted to the United States were laid before the meeting which adopted a resolution expressing the hope that with recovery under way in the United States "the time has come for the Department of State to instruct its consular representatives to lift some of the temporary requirements introduced during the depression years tending to further restrict immigration of those who might otherwise be admissible under the prevailing immigration law."

NAZIS HIRE JEWS TO BREAK BOYCOTT

New York (WNS)—Revealing that German firms selling abroad are engaging Jewish salesmen as a means of breaking the anti-Nazi boycott, the Joint Boycott Council announced that it is preparing a list of such agents which will be circulated among wholesalers throughout the country.

This practice of German firms is in conflict with Nazi efforts to get German companies to dismiss their Jewish representatives abroad but it is being winked at in the interest of circumventing the boycott.

J. C. R. S. Dance to Be at Stork Club

The first Annual Dinner Dance of the Jewish Consumptive Relief Society will be held at the Stork Club on June 8, with Mrs. Max Fradin, chairman, and Mrs. Frank Abrams, co-chairman, in charge of arrangements.

Mesdames Fradin and Abrams are assisted by the following captains of teams: Mesdames Joseph Kominsky, Benjamin Poulten, Sol Rubenstein, William Lipson, Irving Gordon and Harry Uloff. An evening bag of hard mesh will be presented the member selling the greatest number of tickets.

Women's League Has Two New Groups

A meeting of the R. I. League of Jewish Women's Organizations was held last Monday afternoon at 42 Weybosset street, with Mrs. Max A. Cohen presiding. After the business meeting, Mrs. S. Wachenheimer presented an interesting talk on "Little World, What Now?" Moving pictures, shown through the courtesy of H. P. Hood & Sons, Inc., were another feature of the meeting.

Two new organizations have been voted into the League, bringing the total up to twenty affiliated organizations. It was reported that through the League, the sum of $430 had been contributed to the Cause and Cure for Cancer.

Argentine Finds Nazi Leader Slain by Bandit

Buenos Aires (WNS) — The mystery of the murder of Joseph Reidel, head of the Nazi movement in Argentina, whose killing was denounced in the Nazi press of Germany as the work of "Jewish-Communist elements" was solved when the police announced the arrest of Felix Buccì, who confessed he shot Reidel during an attempted robbery. The police had all along maintained that Reidel was the victim of bandits.

Makes Deal With Nazis

KURT VON SCHUSSNIG

Venice—Jews in Austria expect a wave of anti-semitism now that Chancellor Kurt von Schussnig and Premier Mussolini have decided on a coalition government. In a joint communique it was proclaimed that German participation was necessary in consolidating peace in the Daubian Basin. This Nazi influence, it is feared, would be the instigator of anti-Jewish legislature.

New Sect in England Observe Mosaic Code

London (WNS)—Jewish circles here expressed keen interest in press reports of the rapid growth in England and Ireland of a new religious sect called the True Law Party whose adherents scrupulously observe the Mosaic code. Organized nine months ago, the party is said to be gaining followers.

Its leaders are two Christians, Hemshire and O'Donnell, who are said to be in Palestine seeking the grave of Moses and the alleged hiding place of the original Ten Commandments.

Ben Ami Plans Second Annual Dance

The second annual dance of the Ben Ami Fraternity will be held on May 4 in the gymnasium of the Jewish Community Center. Abraham Friedman is chairman of arrangements, assisted by Gustav Awerman, Paul Samuels, Israel Zukroff, Ira Stone, Ray Gerstenblatt, George Furman and Martin Cohen, ex-officio.

Invitations have been extended to various sororities and fraternities in Pawtucket, Newport, Fall River and New Bedford, and more than three hundred guests are expected to attend.

PLAN CAKE SALE
R. I. Founder's of Tubercular Patients have completed plans for a cake sale to be held on Tuesday. Mrs. B. Feinstein was appointed chairman for the affair. Mrs. P. Page will act as co-chairman. Nomination and election of officers will take place at the next meeting.

OBITUARY

MORRIS KELMAN

Funeral services for Morris Kelman, of 8 Sheldon street, who died of a heart attack last Thursday night were held last Friday morning. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

Mr. Kelman, for 20 years owner of one of the largest grocery stores in the Fox Point section, was active in Jewish organizations. He was a member of the Hebrew Free Loan, Ahavath Sholom Synagogue and the Bickur Cholim Lodge.

He is survived by his wife Elizabeth; three sons, Harvey, William and Harold; and two brothers, Philip and Benjamin.

Expansion Program Voted by Jewish Welfare Board

New York (WNS)—A broad expansion program providing for closer identification of its constituent societies and their individual members through the publication of a popular periodical in addition to the present quarterly and quarterly supplement, the issuance of membership cards by the national body, the interchange of membership privileges from one center to any other in the country and the convocation of all types of convocation of participating members in every section of the country was unanimously approved by the 600 delegates attending the 20th annual convention of the Jewish Welfare Board, parent body of the Jewish community center movement.

Acting on a plan drafted by Harry J. Applestein, former president of the Pittsburg YMHA., the convention called its constituent societies, their members and regional federations to cooperate in carrying out the project and set aside a special fund to put it into effect.

Judge Irving Lehman, who was reelected president, reviewed the history of J. W. B. since 1917 and reported that since 1921, when it merged with the National Council of Young Men's Hebrew and Kindred Associations the organization has grown to be the parent body of a movement with 324 societies, 233 of which have their own buildings valued at $35,900,000; 171 have full-time professional executives; the total membership increased from 100,000 in 1921 to 370,000 today.

Beth-Israel School Group to Tour Newport

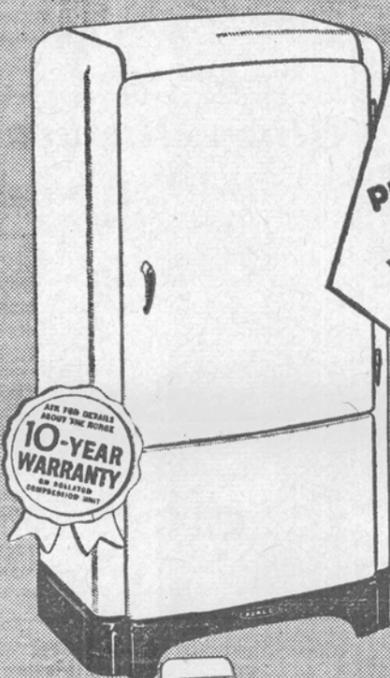

The pupils of the Religious School of Temple Beth Israel, their parents and teachers, together with the Rabbi, will make their annual pilgrimage to Newport on Sunday, May 9. The annual outing of the entire congregation with all its constituent organizations will take place at Goddard Park.

Morris W. Shoham, leader of the Bar Mitzvah Boys Group for the last seven years, will be the host to the children at breakfast this coming Sunday morning.

RABBIS AT ODDS OVER COURT PLAN

State Pro's and Con's Before Committee

New York (WNS)—Denunciation of the Supreme Court reform plan by Rabbi William Rosenblum of New York before the Senate Judiciary Committee has drawn a reply from spokesmen of rabbinical groups which sent telegrams to the committee indicating that their organizations were in favor of the reform.

Rabbi Rosenblum, who appeared before the committee as an individual, endorsed the social and economic program of the New Deal but objected to the judiciary reform on the ground it might set a precedent for "foreign crackpot ideas" to "trample on the rights of minorities" if an independent judiciary was unable to check them.

JEW-BAITING PLAN ADOPTED BY POLES

Jews, As Jews, Forbidden From Party

Warsaw (WNS)—Political and economic anti-Semitism became an official government policy in Poland for the first time since the establishment of the republic in 1919 when the country's 3,000,000 Jews learned that the new government party, the Camp of National Unity, which was organized by Marshal Edward Smigly-Ridz, successor of the late Marshall Josef Pilsudski, with the backing of President Ignaz Moscicki, had announced that Jews were ineligible for membership and that the party was committed to a program of anti-Jewish boycott until enforced Jewish emigration solved the Jewish problem.

The sensational announcement was made by Colonel Jan Kowalski, chief of staff of the party in a special communique.

The announcement stated that only such Jews as can prove by their deeds "to be good nationalist Poles" will be admitted to the party. Jewish converts to Christianity are eligible but all others, even those who fought for Poland in the wars of independence are barred.

"Jews, as Jews", the communique declared, "are no more entitled than are Tartars or Mohammedans to qualify for membership in an organization which is based on predominance of Christian principles. It would be as incompatible for Jews, as Jews, to be accepted in the new party as it would be for Poles to join a Zionist organization".

Feuchtwanger's Wife Loses Citizenship

Berlin (WNS)—A new list of persons deprived of their German citizenship which has been made public here includes the name of Mrs. Martha Loeffler Feuchtwanger, wife of Lion Feuchtwanger, world famous German-Jewish author. The Official Gazette also reported the cancellation of the title of doctor earned by Julius Katzenstein at Griefswald University in 1917.

At the Theatres

"Wake Up and Live"

Today's flash from the motion-picture front is a good-news flash, for "Wake Up and Live," the film musical featuring Walter Winchell, Ben Bernie and Alice Faye which opens today at the Majestic Theatre, is by all odds the sweetest, hottest, most galamorous and galloping musical ever made by Twentieth Century-Fox.

A sweetheart of a show, as Mrs. Winchell's boy Walter might put it, "Wake Up and Live" takes the famed Winchell-Bernie feud to new heights of merriment, with Your New Correspondent and the Old Maestro engaged in a furious vendetta in the midst of one of the most eye-filling musicals of the year.

Warner Oland in "Charlie Chan at the Olympics" is the second feature.

"Hit Parade"

That dance bands have a distinct personality as truly as do top-notchers on the silver screen is proven in a novel and entertaining fashion in Republic's musical sensation "The Hit Parade," which is now at the R.K. O. Albee.

Carl Hoff, maestro of the Hit Parade Orchestra, belongs to the directorial school sired by Paul Whiteman, who organized his orchestra with full representation of stringed instruments as well as the usual brass, saxophones woodwinds and rhythm instruments. being, in effect, a symphonic or-

WRITER HITS AT PARTITION PLAN

A Confession of Failure Says Columnist

London (WNS-Palcor Agency)—Partition of Palestine would be a confession of British failure, readers of the London Times were told in the column of Scrutator, the Times' columnist who is Herbert Sidebotham in private life.

After extolling the "brilliant achievements of the Jews in Palestine", he concentrates on the difficulties of partition, pointing in the first place, to the inability to secure the consent of Jews to give up Jerusalem.

And that, he said, would be "Zionism without Zion". Scrutator then talks of the possibility of splitting the Zionist movement with its "resultant injury to the British reputation abroad". The noted columnist then proceeds to oppose the partition plan from the point of view of Britain's interests.

chestra with a flair for "swing." A popular modification of this type is used by some orchestras who discard brass, introducing a piano-accordion, and concentrating on woodwinds, clarinets, oboes and bassoons.

Jean Muir and Preston Foster star in "Outcasts of Poker Flat," the second feature. Beginning Thursday, May 6, the Albee will present Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in "Shall We Dance."

"That I May Live"

A love so steadfast that your heart exults with a warm glow the exciting events of "That I May Live," the Twentieth Century-Fox production featuring Rochelle Hudson, Robert Kent and J. Edward Bromberg, which opens today at Fay's Theatre.

A dramatic romance of young love menaced by the shadow of prison walls, the film tells the deeply moving tale of a youthful couple who cling defiantly and desperately to their love, fighting bravely and gloriously for the happiness which they have earned.

The Stumbling Block

The Nazi rulers of Germany would rather destroy their country and ruin its people than give up their fanatic determination to exterminate the Jews. That is the meaning of an important dispatch to the New York Times from its Berlin correspondent, Frederick T. Birchall.

Mr. Birchall points out that all the soundings for an international economic conference which would help Germany out of her economic crisis will come to naught because of Nazi anti-Semitism.

He emphasizes that every new measure against the Jews, Catholics and Protestants means the intensification of the anti-Nazi boycott, which in turn further tightens the economic ring around the Reich. He also notes that Germany's foreign exchange restrictions cannot be lifted as long as the Jews seek by every possible means to leave the country and take their capital with them. And, says Mr. Birchall, as long as Germany cannot remove her currency restrictions "she cannot join any movement for a freer international exchange of goods and money."

In other words, anti-Semitism remains the cardinal point in the Nazis' domestic program. The more the Jews suffer the worse becomes Germany's economic plight. The Nazis know this, but they refuse to budge.

This is the best proof we know of that the men who now control the destiny of Germany are mad careerists. If they were anything else they would understand that, apart from the moral and human issues involved, anti-Semitism is a rope around their own necks.

The Vanishing Alien

The alien-baiters have been enjoying a field day these last few weeks, scaring people by telling them we are being flooded with foreigners who are taking the bread out of the mouths of needy Americans. It is easy to stir up people against aliens when they don't know the facts.

Consequently it is important to call attention to some pertinent figures presented by Edward J. Shaughnessy, Acting United States Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization.

In 1920, he said, there were 7,430,809 un-naturalized aliens in the United States. Ten years later this figure had been reduced by 1,146,196, and since 1930 there has been a further decline of 2,000,000. He also pointed out that from 1917 to 1936 8,716,972 aliens left the country, were naturalized, died or acquired citizenship through some one else's naturalization. These statistics, viewed in the light of the fact that emigration now exceeds immigration, justifying Mr. Shaughnessy's prediction that by the end of the next decade an alien may be a rarity in this country.

The whole anti-alien hysteria is predicted on the unmoral idea that persons born outside the borders of the United States are of an inferior breed. The fact of the matter is that we are the greatest nation of aliens, since nearly half of our people are foreign-born or the children of naturalized immigrants.

Most of those who are still technically aliens are on the road to citizenship and are here to do what millions of other aliens did before them—to have a part in the development of American democracy.

Harlem's Gift to Mirthdom Tells How Ma and Pa Gave Him His Start

MILTON BERLE

Believe me, it's harder to be funny than to be serious. Especially about the business of writing about yourself as if you were somebody important. Nothing ever happens in a comedian's life. He's too busy looking for a new joke to enjoy anything else. And in some cases he is no more successful than the fellow who tried to bottle sunshine.

COMEDIAN FORMULA

If you were to ask me what makes a good comedian, I would say it's being able to repeat a joke fifty times and still giving the impression that it's the first time. My technique is very simple. It's not particularly original, but I have found it quite effective. I don't always seem to know just what I'm going to say. Maybe that's not so funny. But it does give you an added sense of spontaneity. And spontaneity is the most important element in humor.

For a new-born babe Harlem is as good a hunting ground as any. I was born there twenty-eight years ago and it didn't seem to bother me much at the time. I was a normal child until I started to go to the movies. Then my mother began to worry about her little Milton. Ma Berlinger (that was the family name) was worried by the faces I used to make at everybody. Charlie Chaplin and Ben Turpin were my favorite comics. Between the two of them, between Charlie's wobbly walk and Turpin's eyes, my imitations would make me look like the Hunchback of Notre Dame. I never improved in my acting.

BAR MITZVAH

But my Bar Mitzvah was a decided success. I still remember it. It went something like this: Dearly beloved parents. From this day on I join the Jewish congregation. As I stand upon the threshold of adult life I feel the many obligations and privileges that go with membership in the Jewish fold. On and on I went. My mother's eyes were filled with tears. By the time I finished my speech—it was about fifteen minutes long—I felt that I had come closer to Judaism than I had ever before or would ever again in the future. It's one thing to get up in front of a congregation in a shiny new talls. It's quite another to come trotting out on a stage all set to lay them in the aisles.

DECIDED ON THEATRE

At thirteen the footlights and my ears were already straining for the sound of applause—the music that makes every actor swoon. You can have your Beethoven and your Gershwin. Give me the resounding clatter of applause—the whistles and catcalls that make the curtain and your salary go up and up and up. I don't care how old an actor is. I don't care how many years he has spent on the stage. Expose him to an enthusiastic audience and he will relive his first successful performance.

So I cut my Jewish education down to eating gefillte fish on Shabbos and not smoking at home on that day. The rest of my time went to a theatrical career. If I had been a girl I might have been a second Shirley Temple. Think of it—"Shirley Berle", back in the Biograph days. Some of my friends still say that I should have stuck to the comedy field of going into the movies instead. But I think that it's just a case of professional jealousy—or have I been insulted again? Yes, I had hardly finished my Bar Mitzvah celebration and before I had a chance to break my Bar Mitzvah presents, I was acting in the moving pictures in the Bronx. I still remember the stars I acted with—Ruth Roland, John Bunny, Pearl White and other such headliners in those days.

MILTON BERLE

Scene Around Town

By Jacob Leichter

A GOOD BEGINNING

Came the Sabbath morn and to Temple Beth-Israel where a capacity audience witnessed Harvey Isaac and Michael Meiselman being inducted to the tribe of Israel, and well did the young men speak of their intentions regarding Judaism . . . Among the interested listeners, we noted Samuel Cohen, Jake Felder, Herb Tieman, Bill and Muriel Smira, Archie Silverman and granddaughter, the Alex Weiners, Mrs. Jonas Goldenberg and a host more of friends and relatives . . .

LOST AND FOUND

Attention everybody: From the U. S. S. R. comes the following pathetic note: Dear Sir: Can you help me find my sister Sifra Siskiewna Grosman, or my brother Yanky Siskiewich Rosenberg? Let me know if you hear from them. . . . If some kind reader has any knowledge of the above mentioned people, kindly communicate with me at once . . .

DOGS AND DANCES

There are six dogs in the United States worth between ten and fifteen thousand dollars, not including Fred Astaire's or Ruby Keeler's dancing puppies . . . We noticed that the Weinsteins of restaurant fame are readying a place across the way of the old stand, that will be tops in Kosher dining, with a capacity of over six hundred . . . Looks like there will be little excuse for some of these non-Kosher Fresses on the plea of no capacity . . . Monday nite at the Met "The Great Waltz" played to an overcrowded house . . . And I noticed many customers standing . . . During intermission, the Bert Bernhards strolled by . . . Helene Koppe, Bess Refrigerator and sister, Sally . . . Ben Victor, Sam (Refrigerator) Cohen . . . While music and dancing went on at the Met, a different kind of waltz was watched at the auditorium by Ben Kane and his gang . . .

POPULATION INCREASE

Tuesday nite saw an initial banquet of the Simcha Bowling League, with about thirty potential strikers present . . . Looks like the Fain girls are touring . . . It's a girl over at the Nora and Milt Potters, and all three are doing well . . . And the Barney Loviti's (she was Goldie Katzman) are proudly planning a Briss for their newly arrived himage . . .

RENO-BOUND

Don't be surprised if two pairs of Mrs.'s and Mrs.'s call it a day soon and move into single tents . . . A wag calls in to tell us that perhaps Justice Roberts believes "A switch in time will save nine" . . . And just a word to Irwin Zura—hurry up and get well . . . Jack Temkin and Zelda Fisher swing well to swing music . . . Frieda Ernstof walked around in circles the morning after the sorority dance . . . Leo Miller will open his new modernistic show room on the Boulevard soon . . . The Herman Swartz's and family are back from Europe after visiting relatives in France . . . Phil Glanzman looks well after his tour of the continent . . . Abe Flink and Irving Eisenberg braved the waves with him . . . Bertram Botwin will be Bar-Mitzvahed very soon . . . Harry Mincoff is collecting letters from celebrities recommending his poststrami turkey sandwich . Optical reflection:—Few women wear pincenez as well as Mrs. Joshua Bell. Add theme song for C. I. O. men: "Brother, pull up a chair and sit down." And we hear on good authority that the Minsky brothers, of burlesque fame are going in for double features . . . Maybe a Siamese strip tease act . . .

CORONATION-EMBLEM

Simon Goldberg, formerly of Blemble is heading for the Coronation . . . No one can produce a silence as eloquent as S. B. Flanzbaum . . . I wonder does Gloria pick out hubby Max Siegal's ties . . . The German-American Bund, Nazi organization of N. Y., just ordered 10,000 bronze emblems inscribed: "Your fight is my fight" . . . These emblems are being manufactured by a John street firm, non-Aryan, of course . . . Add paradoxes in the news: Italy, which ravaged Ethiopia because it needed room for its population to expand, has imported 10,000 Chinamen to work there . . . Dr. Albert Einstein, who hasn't been to a theatre since his wife died, came out of retirement last week to witness a performance of "The Eternal Road" . . . Add tragedy in the news: Morris Ambutter, hailed as a second Caruso five years ago, is now starving in New York . . .

IT'S IN THE BOOK

Sign in local butcher shop: "Our tongue speaks for itself" . . . The $100,000 suit instituted by Dr. Landsteiner of Rockefeller Institute against the publishers of "Who's Who in Jewry" for including his name in that publication is reported to have been settled—with the doctor's name remaining in that book . . . the Myron Kellers have just purchased a love-nest . . . Stephen Wise will be here a week from next Wednesday to give us Hail Columbia on our bad American Jewish Congress job . . . We hear that Ira Low is doing real well in New York, and doesn't intend to come back to Providence . . .

LOCAL COLORITES

Itzl Korn is heading the committee for the production of "Counsellor-at-law" . . . Ada Bernstein's ambition is sure to make the program a tremendous success . . . When Justin Huddish speaks, ladies do listen . . . Bill Fain has been in town for a couple of days looking for a location . . . That silver fox cape that Mrs. Sam Mencoff wears is right near the top . . . Estelle Kritz of Hartford was in town last week—she expects news from the stork sometime in June . . . Jerry Cohen and Milt Ernstof were enthusiastic spectators at the tennis match Sunday night . . . ditto Howard Presel, Aaron Roltman . . . Way down in front Earney Marinsky sat as referee . . . Jean Mazo is trousseau hunting . . . The Temple Emanuel carnival ought to be a "wow" judging from the vim and vigor in the preparations . . . Repertory Players are backing a sure-fire hit with Pearl Silverston and Gerald Bronstein taking the leads . . . and maybe we'll see you at the races . . .

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Swartz and daughter, of Elmway, have returned to this city after a three weeks' cruise to France.

Hadassah Donor Luncheon Wed.

MRS. NATHAN TEMKIN
Luncheon Chairman

JUDGE LOITMAN-BARON
Guest Speaker

Proceeds to Further Projects in Palestine; 300 Donors Expected

The Providence Chapter of Hadassah will bring their current drive for donors, to a climax with a luncheon on Wednesday in the Biltmore Hotel. Close to 300 subscribers are expected to attend the event.

Judge Jennie Loitman-Barron of the Court of Massachusetts will be guest speaker. Judge Barron is well known for her keen active interest in the welfare of women and children. While a student at Boston University, at the age of 18, she formed the first group there to campaign for Women's Suffrage, as she was already then one of the league working with Carrie Chapman Catt to bring women the right to vote in this country. She is a former member of the Boston School Committee, and honorary president of the Beth Israel Hospital, Boston. She is active in Hadassah, and has toured a good part of the country in behalf of this cause.

Mrs. Sarah Olch Webber will entertain with a program of vocal selections; Miss Fania Weinberg of New York, will be piano soloist. Luncheon music will be played by a trio.

The arrangements' committee includes: Mrs. Abraham Golden, chairman, Mesdames Jules Irving and Rose Markensohn, menu; Mrs. John B. Olevson, telephone squad; Mrs. Bertram Bernhardt, reservations; Mesdames Albert Pilavin and Everett Cowen, floral decorations; Mrs. Maurice Felder, hospitality. The hostesses will be: Mrs. Saul Abrams, Mrs. A. Golden, Mrs. Sam Michaelson, Mrs. John B. Olevson, Mrs. J. D. Grossman, Mrs. S. B. Plantzbaum and Dr. Clara Loitman-Smith.

MRS. ROOSEVELT AIDS OLD FOLKS

New York (WNS)—A substantial check toward the fund being raised for a new building for the Home of the Daughters of Jacob in the Bronx was presented by Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of President Roosevelt, to officers of the home's auxiliary at a luncheon in her honor.

Mrs. Roosevelt received a gold medal as "America's beloved mother" and the inspiration of her son, Mayor LaGuardia, who made the presentation, hailed the home as "the symbol of the ancient civilization of the East" and described Mrs. Roosevelt as the "mother of the head of the young civilization of the west".

America's first mother was elected honorary member of the auxiliary.

Would Curb Nazis Through State Laws

New York (WNS)—The existence in many states of laws "sufficient to suppress drilling by arms and the wearing of uniforms" was cited by Roger N. Baldwin, director of the American Civil Liberties Union, in a letter to Representative Samuel Dickstein urging him to make public the material he has collected on Nazi groups in this country for use by the Senate Committee on Civil Liberties and by state authorities for prosecution where laws prohibit drilling by arms. "We are anxious to see such legislation enforced, and where it is lacking, passed," Mr. Baldwin said.

In ancient Egypt and Babylonia, learned books were not valued so much for new ideas or knowledge they contained as for the old, time-tried lore they preserved.

local committee of the American Jewish Congress, of which Dr. Ilie Berger is chairman, will hear an address of Isaac Carmel, national organizer, who is coming from New York especially to address those assembled.

The delegates of Jewish organizations assembled at the Biltmore, Monday evening, will also make elaborate preparations for the visit of the distinguished Jewish leader and great tribune, Dr. Stephen S. Wise, who will be the guest of the Jewish community of Providence, Wednesday evening, May 12.

All Jewish organizations are invited to send three delegates, besides their officers, to attend this meeting, whose purpose it is to adopt resolutions on the Jewish situation in Poland expressing sympathy to three and a half million Jews, and to take action against Nazi Germany's massacre of Jewish charitable institutions depriving the Jewish aged and Jewish orphans of home, care and sustenance.

Arrangements have been made to stage the mass meeting at which Rabbi Stephen S. Wise will speak at Temple Beth-Israel, it was announced today by Dr. Ilie Berger, chairman.

WIN BRIDGE TITLE

New York (WNS)—The Four Aces, consisting of Oswald Jacoby, Howard Schenken, B. J. Becker, David Burnstine and M. D. Maier won the grand national bridge team-of-four championship and the Crockford Cup by a margin of 8,460 points at the conclusion of the tournament sponsored by the United States Bridge Association.

Speaking of Women

BY EDYTHE JAY

Here come the brides—and the bridesmaids, and the maids of honor—and the flower-girl—and the brides' mothers! . . . The annual orgy of bridal party costuming is on—and goes on and on until practically the last day of June—and then begins to slow up a little . . . There's the usual goal of beauty, picturesqueness and charm always striven for by designers, plus the increasingly popular idea that wedding clothes be adaptable to everyday wear, after the momentous ceremony has faded into history . . . Need we mention that the wedding veil is the exception to the latter idea? . . . It's a bit difficult to imagine the May or June bride mincing along the avenue on a September morn with six yards of white tulle breezing out behind her . . . Perish the thought . . .

But to get down to business . . . This Spring the chic bride's veil will flow from a simple wreath of forget-me-nots or tiny calla lilies, and will not cover the crown of her head . . . A second, shorter veil falling over the long one gives a pretty line, preventing any possible caved-in effect at the back . . . If the wedding is to be an outdoor affair, the zephyrs and shrubbery act much kinder to a three yard veil than to the usual six-yard length . . .

BRIDESMAIDS' HATS

The bridesmaid who finds the traditional "picture hat" irresistible may choose a huge sun-colored shantung straw, trimmed with apple-green and fuchsia grosgrain band and streamers, with two clusters of green cherries and baby daisies on the brim . . . Luscious, I call it . . . Or she may want something in a hat of stiff white fabric, covered with black or colored lace, and trimmed with brilliant two-toned patent flowers with a narrow-heart shaped back . . . This dream of a hat can be worn forward on the head—but has more je-ne-sais-quoi when worn back, poke fashion . . . Dangerously near to stealing the show is the bride's mother, wearing a wee black taffeta hat in an open-work leaf design, cut very high on one side, with a butterfly bow posed over one eye . . . So much for how you'll be "heading" for a wedding . . .

WISE AND WELL

Five years ago they stood in the front line, and diadems crowned their heads . . . Today Ziegfeld girls pay their own checks . . . "We should have more customers like them," quoth the attendant at a fashionable Gotham bar . . . "They come in, order a Manhattan, a Scotch and soda, or a Martini . . . Nothing heavy, you understand . . . Just two or three drinks apiece . . . Nobody gets drunk . . . They leave a quarter apiece for a tip—and they pay their own checks." . . .

It was the first anniversary club meeting of the Ziegfeld Girls' Club, held recently . . . There were two hundred girls—wearing smartly tailored suits and furred pieces . . . Most of them have out well—and wisely . . . Which means that few remain in business . . . Some used their Ziegfeld nest eggs ($50 to $250 a . . . to start dress shops . . . One is head of a department store's cosmetic division . . . Some are clerks . . . A couple work in night clubs . . . Most are housewives . . . Their looks remain fair, taking only a dab of powder and thin line of rouge for lips, that were never too full . . .

The vein of the conversation was mostly about clothes, cocktails, cigarets—and how dumb was that girl, who was second from the left, that still remained . . . One of the girls, who went to the movies for R. K. O. said it is inevitable that the Ziegfeld girls should make good . . . Blowing a cigaret spiral into the air, she said Ziegfeld had given her the secret . . . "You take Earl Carroll," she said . . . "His girls were the 'hard-boiled' kind . . . Carroll was bourgeois . . . He used to address his girls . . . Ziegfeld knew that to make a girl beautiful, you put clothes on her" . . .

of R. L. likewise will present a program, expressing the ideals embodied in the National Child Health Day.

Plans are rapidly nearing completion for the establishment of a modern summer camp for the children of the Orphanage. A beautiful site has been acquired on the old Point Judith Road in Narragansett Pier. Plans for the proper erection of necessary buildings have been drawn, and from present indications the Summer Camp for children of the Orphanage will be ready to receive them at the close of their present school term.

"This has been made possible by the generous and voluntary contributions of a number of 'real humanitarians', whose kindly hearts prompted their wholehearted participation in the worthy undertaking," said Walter I. Sundlun, president of the Orphanage. "Not one cent of the cost of this undertaking has come from our general funds. The entire cost is to be defrayed, as stated, by voluntary contributions.

"We invite all our friends to join with us in the great pleasures that are bound to flow from this undertaking. I desire, as president, to publicly thank our many friends who have made possible a pleasant summer for our children at the Jewish Orphanage Summer Camp."

8. A happy marriage—for there is no such thing as a perfect marriage—is one which makes living together possible and pleasant.

9. Base happiness on verified knowledge of each other's feeling.

M. Blum is now 64 and gray-haired. But the book is the first person story of a youth who recites in detail his conquests, including a play-by-play account of his meeting with a girl who has two hours to wait for a train. They seek quiet at a nearby hotel when M. Blum discovers that her husband is an old college friend.

BETH-ISRAEL WILL INSTALL OFFICERS

Mrs. Lewis Goldberg is Guest Speaker

Sisterhood of Temple Beth Israel will have Mrs. Lewis Goldberg, wife of Judge Lewis Goldberg, of the Massachusetts Superior Court, as guest speaker at the installation luncheon to be held at the Narragansett Hotel, Monday noon. Mrs. Goldberg, national vice president of Hadasah, is a well-known orator and lecturer.

Mrs. Joseph Schlossberg, chairman of the luncheon committee, and Mrs. Jacob Kenner, co-chairman, announced that Miss Sybill Block, cornetist, and Miss Dorothy Waldman, vocal soloist, will be accompanied by Miss Alice Giblin, at the piano.

Mrs. Isadore Singer, outgoing president, and Mrs. Barney Taber, incoming president, will both be honored, as well as the incoming slate of officers, which are: Mrs. Barney Taber, president; Mrs. Aaron Cohen, first vice president; Mrs. Samuel P. Lazarus, second vice president; Mrs. Morris Narva, treasurer; Mrs. Oscar Klemmer, financial secretary; Mrs. Joseph Fowler, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Samuel Brier, recording secretary.

BRIDGE TO LAUNCH 2ND ANNUAL DRIVE

The second Annual Membership Drive of the Jewish Consumptives Relief Society is being launched with a Complimentary Bridge, to be held at the Club Tea Room on May 3. The bridge is for paid-up members who introduce and bring new members. A brief moving picture exhibition of modern winery will be shown, and a bottle of nationally advertised wine will be presented each woman. Bridge prizes will be awarded at each table, in addition to the door prize.

Mrs. Harry Uloff is chairman, assisted by the following: Mesdames Martin Bernstein, Max Fradin, Charles Blackman, Frank Abrams, Joseph Kominsky, Morris Ratush, Zelig Gordon, Irving Gordon, Israel Dickens, Maurice Russian, L. Blau, N. Tolchinsky, Vincent Sorrentino, D. Goldstein, R. Summers, F. Bronstein, S. Silverman, Michael Cohen, M. Rosenfeld, R. Cohen, and L. Yarlas.

102 Years Old—Shares Bequest With All Aged

Lutzk, Poland (WNS) — All Jews 80 years or over in the vicinity of this town are assured of passing their remaining years in unexpected comfort thanks to Isidor Finkelstein, 102 years old, who is reported to have inherited $200,000 from his brother Moses, who died in New York at the age of 90.

Not knowing what to do with so much money at his age, Finkelstein decided to use it for the benefit of all aged Jews in and around Lutzk.

Unbalanced Budget Forces Aged Couple to Seek Divorce

But Friendly Judge Remedies Difficulties

It was in Budapest on November 6, 1902 that Laura Krale and Jacob Rosenthal were married. A short time later they moved to England, where they remained for two years, and then came to the United States. Their married life was adventurous, but happy, and it came as a great surprise when, one day recently, Laura went to Family Court in New York, to get a separation. But now—reconciled—they're willing to explain what caused the rift.

"It was money," Jacob said. "You see, we haven't any. I'm over seventy now, and I get $30 a month as an old-age pension, and $20 a month more from the ERB. I am sick and Laura is sick, and we pay $20 a month for our two-room apartment. With the rest of the money we buy food, clothes and coal, and pay for the gas and electricity. We have to have our laundry done, too, because Laura can't do it. The city doctor who comes here has put us on special diets. We have a dollar a day for all these things, including the diet, and—well—we just couldn't find a way to get along. Our decision to separate" he said, "didn't come suddenly. We talked it over—day and night. We counted our money and sought some way to pay for the things we had to buy. But, it couldn't be done."

A SENSIBLE DECISION

The Rosenthals didn't break up with any quarrels or hard words. Just sat down like friends and weighed the things pro and con, and then decided to get a legal separation. They figured that if they separated each would get a home relief allowance, giving them more money than their joint allowance. Said Jacob, "In these modern days, people can't let sentiment stand in the way. We have to be practical and adjust ourselves to the world. This was our problem and we found the answer to it like modern-minded people should."

ARRANGEMENTS MADE

The elderly couple went to Family Court and were interviewed by an attache of the court. Then they appeared before Judge Rosalie Loew Whitney, who after hearing the case, started an investigation, to see if it were possible for them to get more money from the home relief people. Finally it was found out that they could get ten dollars more per month.

"Under those circumstances," said Mr. Rosenthal, showing a happy smile, "we decided not to separate. The regular allowances, to which we would be entitled if we separated, would be less than this. Like I said before, we are modern people, and we can't be blind to the economics of any situation, so we went back home—together."

Such is the explanation that Jacob and Laura give for their separation and reconciliation. In their two-room, coal-stove heated flat in the East Eighties, today they budget their augmented income.

Between the Lines

On Minsky, Child Guidance, Horseracing and Iron Rations

By WALTER RUTMAN

Now that the better class cabarets have recognized strip teasing as an art, Minsky's burlesque emporiums, specializing in variations, have done a landoffice business. At the Oriental, the marquee reads, for this week, "Yes, My Darling Oughta." The producer of the current hit, "Yes, My Darling Daughter," yesterday warned Morton Minsky to change the marquee sign.

"I don't know why you should complain," Minsky replied. "We've burlesqued Shakespeare's titles—'Julius Teaser,' 'Merchant of Venus' etc.—and HE didn't squak."

A NOTE ON CHILD GUIDANCE

Genial, his face resembling a lobster slightly parboiled (he and the Mrs. vacationed in Havana) Maurice Stollerman, superintendent of the Orphanage is back in town to resume his duties. As you talk with Mr. Stollerman you discover a quiet enthusiasm about his work rippling through his words. For, without ostentation he has accomplished wonders in renovating the futures of children under his guidance since taking over the controls of the local institution.

Mr. Stollerman, during our conversation, said he was born very young. He began his child guidance work at an early age and, following his graduation from Fordham University, he began the circuit of more and more responsible jobs which took him from New York to Chicago, via way towns, and then to Providence.

About children,—his favorite topic—he says there are no such things as problem children or bad children. There are children, he went on to say, with problems which are the by-products of problem parents. Parents should do more steering and less blowing, is his opinion. Further, parents should come down to the child; not the child up to the parents.

Mr. Stollerman then gave his pet definition of discipline, which, he says, "is an evasive, defensive device by which parents release themselves of the efforts to think through their problems and 'get at' solution."

Mr. Stollerman, as previously noted, is married. He has two girls, Janice and Judith. He has a penchant for red ties. His chief aversion is having people read over his shoulder.

HINTS ON HORSERACING

Last week a telegram addressed to a Union street merchant, in care of the drawing room he had reserved on the train en route to Washington, was delivered in North Philadelphia. The wire was marked with two stars, indicating that the message was urgent and serious.

It read: "SORRY TO INFORM KEPI DIED IN CHILDBIRTH. R. FRIDAY."

The messenger boy waited for some sign of emotion but the merchant merely laughed. The message was actually from his secretary who had placed a bet for him on a horse named Kepi. His girl Friday knew that Western Union sends no wires concerning horse-bets, and had phrased the message that way . . . It meant that Kepi had been left at the post!

BULLETS VS. EMPTY STOMACHS

Dr. Goebbels, I hear, is ecstatic about the outburst against LaGuardia. "All the furor against LaGuardia," Goebbels said, "helps deflect attention from Germany's real problem." This admission by Goebbels is further proof that economic ulcers are forcing Germany to a soft diet.

"Because of the shortage of meat," writes John Dickson, Chicago Tribune correspondent, "Germans frequently are compelled to eat the famous 'Kohlrueben' of World War Days. While the German people grumble when the little butter they get is of very inferior grade, if not adulterated, they still hope that the next harvest will be good. But foreign observers, long in Germany, are more skeptical."

Even iron is now being rationed, according to latest restrictions. Steel firms, excepting, of course, those manufacturing arms, must have their requisitions approved six months in advance. Still further, manufacturers are forbidden to persuade customers to purchase goods they do not need immediately.

More recently, Reichsbank President Hjalmar Schacht announced that Germany, in spite of herself, would be forced to divert part of her foreign exchanges she reserved for munition imports, for foodstuffs.

It is apparent from the above that Hitler's errand boys realize that empty stomachs might prove more fatal than assassins' bullets.

A. Z. A. ACTIVITIES FOR MONTH GIVEN

The Roger Williams Chapter, No. 283, of the Aleph Zadick Aleph, is planning a Mother's Day program the afternoon of May 9, at the Jewish Home for the Aged. Guest speakers, initiation of new Alephs, and a fitting tribute to the mothers, are a part of the tentative arrangements. May 9 is also the Barmitzvah anniversary of the International Order of the Aleph Zadick Aleph, Junior B'nai Brith, and a part of the program will be devoted for its observance. The committee consists of the following Alephs: Bernard Berman, Lester Bernstein, Millard Levy, and Erwin Robinson.

At the last meeting of the chapter, H. David Falk, retiring president of the Roger Williams Lodge of B'nai Brith, spoke to the Alephs and thanked them for their cooperation in helping him form a new chapter of A. Z. A. during his administration. Guests at the meeting besides Mr. Falk were Harry Fine and Matthew Robinson, advisor.

The chapter received permanent meeting quarters through the courtesy of Allie Zura, father of Aleph Irwin Zura. The quarters are located at 169 Weybosset street, and the chapter meets every Monday night at 8 o'clock.

85th Birthday Tomorrow

RABBI HENRY MENDES

Dr. Henry Pereira Mendes will celebrate his 85th birthday tomorrow by preaching in the Spanish and Portuguese synagogue in New York of which he has been spiritual leader for 60 years. His congregation is the oldest Jewish and one of the oldest of any denomination in this country, having been founded in 1655.

Former State Instructor Gives Lecture in Memphis

Harry J. Prebluda of Johns Hopkins University presented a lecture and demonstration before the annual meetings of the American Society of Biological Chemists meeting last week in Memphis, Tenn. Mr. Prebluda and Dr. E. V. McCollum, of Johns Hopkins, have discovered a chemical reagent which is used for the detection and estimation of several millimoles of a gram of Vitamin B.

Mr. Prebluda is a graduate of R. I. State College and was formerly instructor of organic chemistry at that institution.

PROF. BROWN WILL TALK AT CENTER

Russian Theatre is Discussion Topic

The Center Players will hold their third and final open meeting of the season on Sunday, at 8:30 o'clock, at the Center Gymnasium, Jewish Community Center, Benefit street.

The guest speaker of the evening will be Professor Ben Brown of Brown University, who is to talk on the Soviet Theatre. Professor Brown recently spent some time in Russia observing and studying its theatrical efforts and has some interesting things to say. After the lecture there will be a question period.

The balance of the program will consist of Essex Dane's one act play "The Wasp," the locale of which appropriately enough is set in Russia during the Revolution, directed by Florence Shapiro who also plays the leading role. Other members of the cast are: Lewis Schwartz and Harold Tregar who has also designed the set. Leo Cohen is assisting in the direction of the play, and Theodore Baldwin is in charge of lighting.

The Center Orchestra will also entertain with selections and musical interludes. As usual this meeting is free to members of the Jewish Community Center. A small admission fee will be charged to non-members.

The average housewife walks five miles a day at her work, according to one estimate.

ARE YOU GETTING WHAT YOU PAY FOR?

You pay for Kosher poultry, and when you buy it, be sure that it carries the Kosher Seal on the leg.

If the fowl is properly marked and sealed, it is your guarantee that your poultry has been slaughtered by a recognized shochet, under the supervision of the United Orthodox Rabbinate of Providence.

DEMAND THAT YOUR POULTRY BE MARKED WITH A SEAL

Beside being a sure sign of KASHRUTH it is also a badge of honor . . . signifying that you cooperate with your community for the welfare of a religious ideal and for the welfare of orderly living.

HELP US TO HELP YOU!

Watch for the seal and be sure that when you pay for Kosher fowl, it actually is Kosher.

TEMPLE CARNIVAL ENDS TOMORROW

Silverware, jewelry, high grade furniture, summer hotel vacations, are only some of the gifts to be given away Saturday night at the closing of the Bazaar at Temple Beth-Israel. All week long valuable prizes have been distributed every night, but the most valuable are being kept for the closing night.

The many hundreds of people who have thronged the premises every night have expressed surprise at the fine things displayed, bought and won. Especially have the ladies' committees of the Sisterhood worked in arrangement of the various booths and the preparations of tasty refreshments.

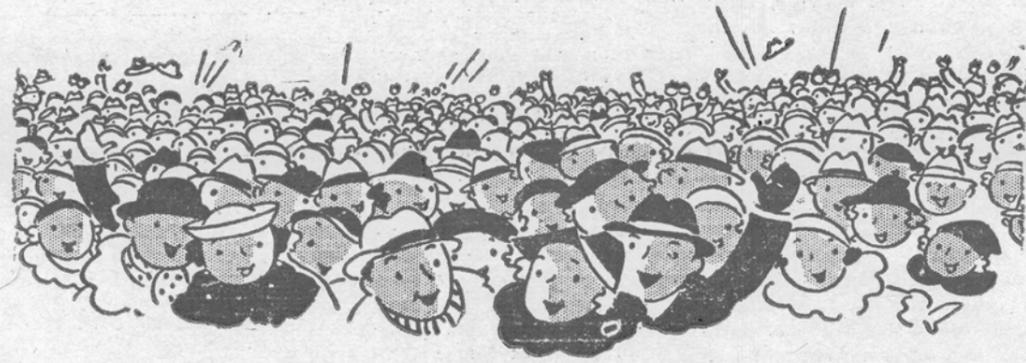

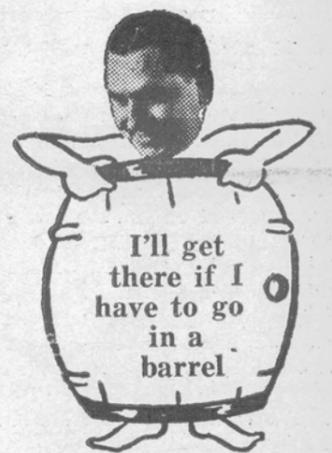

Installation Supper Held at Port Arthur

"My conception of fraternalism is brotherhood, sincerity, and faithfulness," said Leo Waldman in his welcome speech at the Installation Supper held last week by the Delta Chapter, Zeta Epsilon Pi Fraternity, at the Port Arthur. Other speakers were David Salk, Albert Gordon and Milton Forman. New members were initiated and then sworn into the organization. Joseph Golditch was in charge of the affair, assisted by Reuben Marks and Leo Swartz.

A method has been developed whereby seedling grapes of certain varieties may reach the fruit-bearing stage in 18 months, instead of four or five years.
