Million for Religion

The gift of $1,000,000 by the Friedsam Foundation for the improvement and extension of religious education among the Jewish youth of the city, must be saluted as an act of inspiring faith.

Religion apparently has reached an extremely minor place in a world filled with war and hatreds, just as it was elaborately ignored by the world of scientific materialism. This reassertion of the importance of spiritual interests could never have been more timely. It calls attention to the enduring value of peace, conscience, inner serenity and human brotherhood.

The fund is to be administered without sectarian bias, among the various Jewish groups; all are to share its benefits. If only this magnificent gift produces a definite religious touch upon young lives, the founders of the Friedsam Foundation will deserve wholehearted thanks.

Running Wild

Since Father Coughlin promised the National Association of Broadcasters to control his tongue and exclude the topics of race and religion from his Sunday sermons, his publication "Social Justice" has become more violently anti-Semitic than ever before.

From the tone adopted in scurrilous articles one begins to wonder whether Father Coughlin really believes himself the voice of Catholicism in America. He condemns those who oppose his policy within the church with the same fervor as he does Jews. He still insists that his fight is against "Jewish Bolshevism," but nothing is said, of course, against "Nazi Bolshevism."

On the other hand the Pope's last Encyclical denounced the Soviet-Nazi pact declaring that anyone who would uphold or defend it was un-Christian. And since you have been carrying the torch for the Nazis, enemy of Jews and Catholics, does that make you a Communist, Father Coughlin — or merely a man with a loud voice?

Grammar

The neatest grammatical note to emerge from the so-called war to date comes from the portals of the British Foreign Office. Relayed by the British magazine Time and Tide, it was a purported summary of the cockeyedest shift in the continent's ideological alignment which was climaxed by the Soviet-Nazi pact. "Now," the British Foreign Office solemnly remarked, "all the isms are wasms."

Anti-Jewish Riots Renewed in Wilno

KAUNAS. — Anti-Jewish riots broke out anew in Wilno (Vilna) last week, with Jewish homes plundered and windows smashed. Meanwhile, on the frontier between Lithuania and German-occupied Poland, 1,000 Jews from the Polish district of Suwalki were expelled into the no-man's land without food or adequate clothing. They include many children, some of whom died from exposure.

After intervention by Lithuanian Jews, the authorities allowed entry to twenty, and hope was entertained that others would be admitted.

Hierarchy Scores Literature Sale After Church Meeting

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Sale of anti-Semitic literature after a recent meeting of the United Christian Front and Missouri Friends of Social Justice on neutrality in the gymnasium of St. Louis university, a Catholic institution, has been condemned by Christian H. Winkelmann, auxiliary bishop of St. Louis, and H. B. Crimmins, S. J., president of the university.

The statements of condemnation were made after a special committee of the Jewish Coordinating Council, in an interview with Father Crimmins, and a letter to Bishop Winkelmann, had called attention to the fact that such literature as William Dudley Pelley's pamphlet, "Dopes of Judah," and the forged "Protocols of the Elders of Zion" had been displayed

Women Troubles Haunt Fritz Kuhn

NEW YORK. — Fritz Kuhn's greatest fears in his trial, which opened in New York yesterday, do not come from any accounting evidence which Prosecutor Dewey may produce, but rather from a nine-times married woman, Virginia Cogswell, whose companionship with the Nazi Bund leader is now known in detail to the District Attorney's office, according to information disclosed here.

Kuhn's lavish expenditures of the Bund's funds are alleged to have been made not on Miss Cogswell alone but on other women as well.

Find Hebrew Poet Safe in Palestine

NEW YORK. — The report published several weeks ago that Uri Zvi Greenberg, Hebrew national poet, had been killed in a Polish prison when the Soviet army occupied Poland was erroneous, it was stated this week by Morris Levison who said the publication's London correspondent reported that Mr. Greenberg had escaped through Rumania and was now safe in Palestine.

Restriction on Food Hits Cologne Jews

COLOGNE, Germany. — Restrictions on food purchases by Jews in Cologne were disclosed this week to provide that they may buy only in designated stores and only between 1 and 3 p. m. Fowl and fish—except the canned variety—are forbidden to Jews.

In the cases of mixed marriages, the rules provide, the principle must be applied that the women, not the men, are responsible for the housekeeping. Hence, Aryan women married to Jews may buy in Aryan shops, but Jewish women married to Aryans must patronize the designated shops and must not send their husbands to do the shopping.

Czech, Jew Jailed For Insulting Nazis

PRAGUE. — A German law court has sentenced a thirty-nine year-old Czech workman to a year in prison and a twenty-six-year-old Jew to seven months in prison for "insulting the Reich and the Fuehrer."

It was said that the Czech made an offensive remark about Hitler to a German co-worker in a Prague textile factory and that the Jew in the hearing of three Germans said that "The Germans have grown too big for their boots."

Arrange to Absorb Younger Element

Class Zionists As Undesirable

LONDON. — Jews in Soviet-occupied Poland, especially in Galicia, including Polish Jews who managed to escape from Nazi-occupied Poland into that section occupied by the Soviet army, are being subjected to close examination by communists in an effort to determine the extent or the lack of their proletarian persuasion.

Information reaching here this week disclosed that this mass scrutiny of a large group of people was being pushed in an effort to expunge those considered bourgeois or leaders of religious groups. Considered particularly undesirable by communist officials are Zionists, labor leaders, religious leaders and religious students. Those whose proletarian status is undetermined are also being made to suffer privation and want.

It is believed that the Bolsheviks are anxious to absorb the young element of Jews into the Soviet order of things and for that reason have set about to win them over by offering them work in factories and in government offices.

Brown Professors Emanuel Lecturers

Prof. Campbell B. Beard of the Department of Political Science at Brown University will be the second lecturer of the Fall Semester of the Institute of Jewish Studies for Adults at Temple Emanu-El this Wednesday night, November 15. New Funds Sought By Zionist Group

PHILADELPHIA. — A campaign for enlargement of its membership and its financial resources to speed development of the Jewish National Home in Palestine was outlined in Philadelphia recently by the National Administrative Council of the Zionist Organization of America.

In a statement explaining the purpose of the drive, Louis Lipsky, Vice-President of the Organization, declared:

"To safeguard and to extend the Jewish National Home, in which there repose all our hopes for the future, is now the primary task of the Jewish people."

Conference to Elect Executives for Drive All Groups Urged To Participate

An organization conference will meet at the Crown Hotel on Sunday afternoon, November 19, 2 o'clock, to set up an executive structure for the forthcoming campaign of the United Jewish Appeal for Refugees and Overseas Needs.

In calling the meeting, Dr. Ilie Berger, chairman of the arrangements committee, said "Each Jewish organization has always been most cooperative in taking part in campaigns to alleviate Jewish suffering. The amelioration of the desperate plight of the stricken Jewish population in war-torn Europe and their settlement in Palestine and other countries of haven, will now require such cooperation more than ever before."

It is expected that all Jewish organizations in the city will send representative in adequate quantity and calibre, to the conference to aid in the election of conference officers, and thereafter combine forces to assure the success of the campaign.

Heinz Calendar Still Valuable

The 24-year Hebrew-English calendar, offered free by H. J. Heinz Co. is still good. The booklet not only covers this full year, 5700, which has just begun. It goes up to the end of next year, 5701, as well.

This calendar gives all the English dates and their Hebrew equivalents from 1917 to Sept. 1941. It is a great help in looking up Yahrzeits, Bar Mitzvahs and other anniversaries.

For a free copy of this excellent calendar, just send a letter or post card to H. J. Heinz Co.; Dept. J1; Pittsburgh, Pa.

Jews Seek Refuge In Soviet Poland

NEW YORK. — An increasing flood of Jewish refugees from German-occupied Polish territory into Soviet Russia's new holding was reported in an Associated Press dispatch from Moscow which said that the stream of Jewish refugees was estimated unofficially as between 500,000 to 1,000,000.

The population of Bialystok, on the Russian side, normally 100,000, is said to be nearly doubled. Wilno, which Russia gave back to Lithuania, was also said to be jammed with refugee Jews.

According to the dispatch the Jews are being received cordially by the Red army which is providing work for them.

Sixty thousand Jews were killed during the war in Poland, according to Joel Cang, former Warsaw correspondent of the Manchester Guardian.

Says Nazis Shot Rabbi Without Trial

BORDEAUX, France. — Rumors that Senator Moses Schorr, of Poland, 65-year-old old chief rabbi of Warsaw, had been executed by the Nazis, were confirmed today by a brother-in-law of the eminent Polish Jewish leader. The relative, a refugee from Poland, declared Rabbi Schorr was shot without trial by a German firing squad immediately after the Nazi occupation of Warsaw.

Must Jews Pay To Stay Jewish?

"More money is being spent every year by American Christians in direct attempts to convert American Jews than is being contributed by these same Jews to American Judaism's first line of religious defense," Dr. David Max Eichhorn writes in the first of three articles on "Christian Missions to American Jews" appearing in "The Jewish Layman" published by the National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods.

Despite objections of such leaders as Dr. Everett R. Clinchy to missionary work among the Jews, Dr. Eichhorn states that "most American Christians believe that some day, all Jews will accept the teachings of Christ."

Brown Eager for Win Over Yale Sat.

Rebounding into the victory column with a one-sided triumph over Tufts, the Brown eleven drilled hard this week in preparation for the Yale game Saturday at the Yale Bowl.

Frustrated in all three previous attempts for a major win against Colgate, Holy Cross and Princeton, the Brunonians are especially eager for a triumph over Yale for there is no greater rival on the Brown Schedule, and Brown victories over Yale number only five in 42 attempts.

Against Tufts, Coach McLaughry used his regulars very sparingly, 38 men seeing service in the Jumbo encounter, and it is hoped that the respite will aid the regulars to enter the Yale game in top condition.

Sisterhood Re-enacts Radio Presentation

"Should the Arms Embargo Be Lifted?" as presented by America's Town Hall Meeting of the Air, was re-enacted at a regular meeting and tea of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth El, held on Monday afternoon in the vestry of the Temple.

Mrs. Therese F. Wachenheimer was chairman, and participants were Mrs. Benjamin H. Rossman and Mrs. John J. Rouslin. During the afternoon, questions were directed from the floor.

A social hour and cake sale followed the meeting.

Million for Jewish Religious Teaching Money Given by Friedsam Fund

NEW YORK.—The newly formed Jewish Education Committee of New York City this week has an additional $1,000,000 for its work in extending and improving religious instruction among the City's 280,000 Jewish children, following a gift from the Friedsam Foundation.

Justice Samuel I. Rosenman, of the New York State Supreme Court, president of the committee, accepted the gift declaring the Committee's first step would be to get more of the City's Jewish parents interested in the question of extending their children's religious education.

Stressing that no particular type of religious instruction would be insisted upon, Justice Rosenman declared that never before had the youth of the World stood in greater need of spiritual instruction, especially in view of the sweep of anti-religious action in Europe. Seventy-five per cent of the City's Jewish youth are now receiving no religious instruction, he declared.

Spotlights will come and spotlights will go
And various visions they see
When it was time to leave the Beth-El dance
Our "Spot" said "Oh, gee! Must we?"

When our "spot" was accused of being a bit too-feminine-conscious, last Saturday night at the Temple Beth-El formal dinner dance, he just beamed brightly, as if to say, "Well, you'd beam too, if you were watching these glamour girls."

So, afraid of missing something, our Girl Saturday climbed up alongside him in his hidden nook in the Biltmore Hotel Ballroom—and there were the two of them—Spotlight and Girl Saturday, taking notes for us, quite unbeknown to the more than 200 dancers . . . On Monday morning, quite proudly, they produced the following fashionable facts: . . .

Phyllis Littman, wearing a gown of gleaming white satin, the bodice of which was fashioned of satin petals . . . An orchid was her flower . . . Esther Whitman, that attractive Pembroke, was outstanding in a gown of turquoise silk jersey . . . Brunette Helen Gerber was dressed in exciting red satin . . . Completely lovely in sophisticated black lace and net, was Mrs. Mowry Lowe . . .

Mrs. William Braude wore a camellia in her coiffure, and on her chic black and green velvet gown, another camellia . . . Noticed as she entered was Mrs. Harold Sydney, in a long and stunning wrap of white wool . . . Her blonde coiffure was laced up the back with brown ribbon . . . Mrs. Morton Zeit's white gown was attractively brocaded with gold flowers . . .

There, too, Mrs. Ida Chaset, in an intriguing gown of misty gray crepe, with gold ornamental accent . . . The gown had a darling hood . . . Stately and graceful

Quality of Mercy

A fox will tear a grouse apart
And lap his tongue upon its heart;
The grouse, to feed the fox, must die;
To live, the fox must even loot the sky.

A man will dog a fox to death
And watch it batting out its breath;
The fox must die, for man must kill,
His bloodthirst must have its savage fill.

So will the lustful earth take toll
Of man and his unworthy soul;
Hunger and thirst will lick the sod
Till mercy returns in the winds of God.

Have You Looked at the Calendar Lately?

Keep up with the calendar! Perhaps you've grown used to "putting up" with old-fashioned inconveniences . . . while countless other Rhode Islanders have waked up to the fact that a well-constructed house can almost always be remodeled to suit modern standards of comfort and convenience.

Notice how many homes are being made over, inside and out . . . brought up to date from exterior trim to kitchen cabinets.

Decide for yourself how vastly your home can be improved by a thorough program of repairs and modernization . . . and then consult an Old Colony representative.

We can help you spread the cost of house repairs and remodeling over a convenient period . . . while you benefit by immediate improvements that make your home more comfortable to live in and more economical to operate.
