Fascist Formula

Propaganda from organized groups in this country to promote anti-Semitism as an instrument in their ultimate purpose to establish the same sort of regime which exists in Germany and Italy is increasing daily.

The method and technique are exactly the same as those which gave Nazism its sudden and sinister rise to power. In brief the formula is as follows:

Divide the nation into groups; get one group to hate another and be suspicious of another; fasten invidious labels on every man who stands for the old American ideals of honor, freedom and fair play; call every fearless liberal a dangerous radical; call every champion of justice a Communist, as Haguism does; call every Jew and every friend of the Jew a Communist because Hitler says that Jews and international Bolshevism are the same; call every labor leader in the North and every organizer of the pitiful sharecroppers in the South an enemy of the established order; call every defender of justice for the Negro a traitor to white supremacy — in short, stir up enough prejudice and antagonism and you will make democracy unworkable and the stage will be set for the dictator to arise.

Faith alone in the original concepts of democracy is not sufficient to counteract this poisonous virus. Similar tactics of Propaganda must be employed so that we can develop an immunity to the Nazi idea of religion and race.

Puzzle

If the Germans are so short of labor that they find it necessary to order German citizens working in Denmark, Holland and France to come home, why do they need colonies to which to send their "surplus population"?

American Refugees

Daily, news dispatches and campaign publicity, focus the eyes of American Jewry on the plight of Central European coreligionists. There, persecution, by decree and rule, has deprived the Jew of even the elementary means of earning a livelihood. Thus, with all campaign emphasis placed on overseas problems, one important angle has been overlooked — that of the American Jewish refugee.

These refugees are the American-Jewish jobless. Their position, either through shortsightedness or a desire to avoid the frightful reality that such conditions exist, has been ignored.

Because of the current economic fashions, abetted by prejudice, and discrimination by Jewish employers, these jobless find themselves unable to secure employment. With their savings gone, depressed spiritually by continual rebuffs, they face an economic persecution that is a close relation to the enforced political degradation of Jews abroad.

Local Jews agencies are not set up, nor have they sufficient funds, to see the situation. But, while we shouldn't underestimate the importance of foreign relief, we must not forget these American Jewish fugitives from starvation.

The collection of old furniture, clothes, shoes, etc., from the homes of Jewish residents in Providence, operating similarly to the Salvation Army. The work will at first be conducted by volunteer members of the organization, and a method has been suggested as to the ultimate sale of the merchandise thus collected.

Morris Cohen, chairman of the HIAS, said this week, "We will attempt to increase our revenue to a point where we will be able to materially assist the unfortunate who come seeking our aid. Woman Wails, Judge Pays Citizenship Fee Hearing her story, Judge Moscowwitz paid the $5. The technical error causing the trouble was that Mrs. Rifkin gave 1906 as the date of her entry from Russia instead of 1905.

Arabs Divided On Appeasement Plan

Mufti Demands Immigration Halt

LONDON. — The long and lone negotiations by Britain's young colonial secretary, Malcolm MacDonald, failed yesterday to heal the sharp breach among Arab delegates to the newly-opened Palestine conference.

MacDonald conferred at length yesterday afternoon and again last night with the Arabs, attempting to end the quarrel between supporters of the exiled Grand Mufti, spiritual and political leader of the Palestine Moslems, and the more moderate Arab defence party group on the question of representation.

The Mufti group thus far held the lead, having kept the defence party delegates from the opening of the conference which seeks to end the long dispute over Jewish immigration in Palestine which the Arabs oppose.

The question of Jewish immigration more likely will bring discussions to an end. Then Britain would be forced to put her own (Continued on Page 8)

Man With 3 Wives Freed by Application of Rabbinic Law

JERUSALEM. — Acquittal of a Jew on a bigamy charge by the Palestine Court of Appeal on the ground that Jewish law does not clearly prohibit a multiplicity of wives has stirred a campaign for an amendment to the rabbinic law.

The "most-married Jew in Palestine" was Zvi Melnik, a Talmudic scholar, who married three women in the Holy Land after abandoning four wives in Poland and for a time managed to keep each spouse ignorant of the existence of the others.

Police investigation disclosed that Melnik had obtained dowries from three of his wives. He played devoted husband to each by living at night with one in the guise of a daytime-worker, living with another in the daytime on the pretext of working at night and spending week ends with the third.

A major question in the case was the validity of the eleventh-century dictum of Rabbi Gershom against bigamy. Under Palestinian law, a court must apply the statute of the religious community to which a person belongs when a case of his personal status arises. It was the varying opinions on the validity of this law that led to the final acquittal.

Classification of the investments was as follows: construction of new buildings and additions to existing buildings, industry and handicrafts, agriculture, rural and urban land purchases, commerce transportation and service.

Providence movie-goers cannot see the Soviet-made film, "Professor Mamlock," or the French picture, "Amphytrion," according to a ruling yesterday by the Bureau of Police and Fire. Members of the Bureau upheld Capt. George W. Cowan, the amusement inspector, in banning the pictures because they felt that "no liceness should be issued for pictures tending to endanger class hatred or to disseminate propaganda, or for those of a salacious character."

They felt that the films were excellent for private showings to selected groups, but not for public exhibition at the present time, when there seems to be enough hatred in the world."

Hitler Aide Bars "Jewish States"

BERLIN. — Alfred Rosenberg, supervisor of the spiritual and philosophy development of Nazism, proposes that "reservations" be allotted to Jews under international control in either British Guiana or French-owned Madagascar.

Room would be made for 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 Jews under the Rosenberg plan which he advanced to diplomats and newspapermen last night with the assertion Germany still was determined to get rid of every Jew.

"The entire problem narrows down to these two territories," Rosenberg declared in the most specific proposal yet advanced by a high Nazi official.

Nazis to Impose 20 Per Cent Capital Levy on All Property

Believe Catholic Church to be Next Victims for "Forced" Subscriptions

WASHINGTON. — From diplomatic sources in London and Paris, William Philip Sims, Scripps Howard foreign editor was informed this week that the Reich's economic situation is so grave that a plan is already in reserve to denounce foreign and domestic loans and impose a capital levy of 20 per cent on all German property.

But for the murder of Ernst vom Rath, Nazi diplomatic attacks, in Paris last year the plan would have been put into effect before now. The expropriation of Jewish wealth, it was explained, brought a breathing spell, which two internal loans served to prolong.

These loans, it was further stated, were raised with the greatest difficulty. Insurance companies, banks and even private investors were virtually forced to subscribe. At that, it is said, these were only stopgap measures, and the churches — first Catholic, then Protestant — will be the next victims.

Must Have Market

A census of church properties is under way. The Catholic Church is extremely rich. But its wealth is mostly in the form of buildings, art treasures and so forth, which, if converted into cash, would have to be put on the market. There is no way of estimating what these would bring.

Whether these reports are true or not remains to be seen. But on last Monday Reichsfuehrer Hitler admitted to the world that Germany's economic situation is "extremely grave," though he said a way out had been found. At the same time he said Germany would have to export more goods "or die."

For increased exports there seems to be little hope in the near future. The Jewish boycott is not without its effect. Recent estimates indicate that the closing months of 1938 showed a drop of something like 100,000,000 marks under 1937.

As in previous years, The Jewish Herald will award an inscribed loving cup to the winner of the Queen Esther Contest. Names of contestants will be announced at a later date.

Montagu Norman, head of the Bank of England, of dire consequences if the British refused to grant Germany a much-needed loan. During Mr. Norman's visit to Berlin just before Dr. Schacht was ousted as head of the Reichsbank Dr. Schacht is said to have told him that if Britain did not come to his aid the German government would be forced to denounce all its short-term loans held abroad.

These are said to amount to something like $200,000,000 and are mostly held by private banks. They are now subject to the standstill agreements whereby Germany acknowledges the debt, but pleads inability to pay, though she continues to pay interest.

Devaluation of the mark is also reported to be in the direction of inflation.

TURNABOUT IS FAIR PLAY

Just about this time of year
When a girl's thoughts are full of Spring
A man somehow feels duty bound
To tell some lady that love's the thing
He gets right down to loving facts
When Feb. is in its fourteenth day
Methinks, however, his written pact
Means "Here's my love, but not for aye!"

He'll ask me, without an inhibition
If I'll promise to be his honey
But tomorrow I'll find I'm one of the crowd
Doggone it, it's not even funny . . .
So, if he can say it (and mean it not)
"Oh, will you be my Valentine?"
Why can't I beat him at his game
And ask him, rather, if he'll be mine? . . .

Count Them In

BY LEWIS GANNETT

Democracy begins at home, counsels Lewis Gannett, literary critic and student of the negro problem, whose article "We're Another," appears in Survey Graphic's special February issue "Calling America."

Democracy, Individual Matter

"Democracy is a matter of the individual; it asks only equality of opportunity for individuals," writes Mr. Gannett. It does not ask that either races or individuals be treated as equal. It asks that no man be stopped from fulfilling the possibilities within him because of his religion, his poverty, or his race. It does not demand "social equality;" it isn't concerned with social rank. It does not demand that where distinctions are made, they be not made en masse, because of skin color, nose angle or racial inheritance.

"The Democratic duty as to Negroes is simply to count them into the democratic system — not to treat them as the Jews are being treated in Germany today."

"The Negro is not counted in. He never has been. The Declaration of Independence did not include Negroes under the head of "men" when it talked of equal creation, or of rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. The ordinary American doesn't include Negroes today when he talks about the beauties of democracy. There are even Jews and Catholics who, asking equal rights for themselves, feel annoyed when some "agitator" suggests that their problems and the Negro's problem are one and the same."

Negro Discrimination

After documenting his statements that in schools, labor and play, the negro is largely and systematically discriminated against, Mr. Gannett continues:

"The Ghetto the Negro has always known — sometimes by law, always by custom. The Supreme Court may declare segregation ordinances unconstitutional; the facts remain almost unchanged. Even in the northern cities custom segregates him; if he wants better accommodation he must pay more than white men for it. Like the Jew in Hitler's Germany, he is a second class citizen. He has only a part of the privileges of democracy.

"We need not touch lynching. There we are worse than Germany — except in this, that lynching is seldom openly condoned by high government officials and is never an official government policy.

Trend Hopeful

The picture is not all dark; the trend is not all backward; and it is fair to remember that after all, we are only three quarters of a century removed from Emancipation, and so from slavery. The parallel between the place of the Negro in America and of the Jew in Germany is so close that it is well to insist again upon the difference in direction. We are growing out of the Ghetto past established in days of slavery. The shibboleths of race prejudice are losing their old emotional domination. The silly shout of "social equality" no longer has its old effectiveness as a bugbear. The South is escaping from its post-bellum inferiority complex, and with it from exaggerated fears of Negro domination. A new democratic school, which has not yet become vocal in southern politics, is nonetheless asserting itself.

Notes Progress

"Increasingly the intellectual leaders of the South have met negroes as individuals, not as members of a race. The University of North Carolina, always a leader, invited the late James Weldon Johnson to lecture and when he came, gave him precisely the welcome it would have given to a white poet and scholar-statesman of equal distinction; the example has begun to spread. New York University in 1936 made Dr. Johnson a full member of its faculty — the first time any white university had taken such a step in its liberal arts college. Several universities have had Negroes as visiting lecturers or part time faculty members in medical schools, notably Chicago, North-western, Illinois and Harvard. All over the South, young people's groups meet today almost flaunting their determination to abolish the tabus which once kept the two races apart and ununderstanding. The injustice of the discrimination against Negro schools is being agitated, and faced, today as never before.

"But . . .

"We still have a habit of forgetting about Negroes when talking about democracy in America. And while we are resenting the plight of the Jews in Germany, we may well think harder still a-

Slovakia Leader Threatens Jews

Says New Leaders Will be Instituted

BRATISLAVA. — Jews remaining in Slovakia were alarmed this week by a statement of Sano Mach, chief of the Propaganda Press Service, that strong anti-Semitic measures will be instituted soon.

Mach, addressing a mass meeting of almost 10,000 persons at Risnovec, attacked both Czechs and Jews, as "parasites." To Slovakia's store of anti-Semitic slogans, he added another: "No more cake for Jewish children until each Slovak child has some."

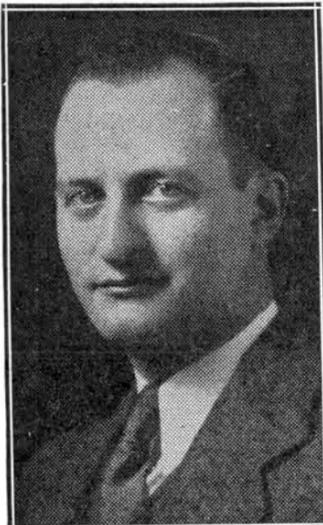

He said that the Government of Slovakia, autonomous province of Czecho-Slovakia, recently eased up on anti-Czech and anti-Jewish measures merely to obtain time in which to plan carefully the most efficient way of getting rid of both.

Dominican Republic To Accept Refugees Hope to Establish New Industries

LONDON. — It was reliably reported here that the Dominican Republic has offered to accept 100,000 Jewish refugees as a means of establishing new industries without disturbing the existing sugar, coffee, and cocoa industries.

The Dominican Republic, which occupies nearly two-thirds of the Island of Santa Domingo, the second largest of the Greater Antilles, situated between Cuba and Porto Rico, with an area nearly twice that of Palestine and a population under 1,500,000, has been working with the Intergovernmental Commission on Refugees.

Jewish organizations are said to be favorably impressed by conditions of the offer. Acting for the Republic Major Frederick F. Charles, Dominican Consul General in London, suggested an organized plan of settlement with financial guarantee by which colonists would attempt to establish new industries.

Princess Hohenlohe, Reich Propagandist to Visit U. S.

NEW YORK. — Princess Stephanie Hohenlohe, a recognized and confessed propagandist for the Nazi government, announced in London last week that she contemplates a trip to the United States for the purpose of cementing cultural relations between Nazis and Americans and "to win Americans to a more sympathetic view of Nazi Germany."

In order to expose the true nature of the Princess' visit, the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League is making every effort to see that she is required to enter this country in her true capacity — that of propagandist.

Accordingly the League today dispatched telegrams to the Commissioner of Immigration, the Department of State, the Dies Committee, all in Washington and the local heads of Military and Naval Intelligence calling attention to her affiliations and demanding that she be required to register upon entry to this port as a propagandist for a foreign government as required by a recent act of Congress.

Because of her high position in the world of cosmopolitan society it is safe to assume the Princess will be entertained here in homes of wealth and influence. She will probably maintain, upon disembarking, that her visit is a purely social one.

Stand on Dictators Has Aided Religion

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — The assertion that America's firm stand against dictatorial powers helped to bring 836,000 new members into the churches of the nation during 1938 was made here by Dr. Herman C. Weber, editor of the Yearbook of American Churches.

As a result of President Roosevelt's recent declaration before Congress that faith is necessary to democracy, Dr. Weber asserted that religion in America is gathering new strength.

Dr. Chamberlain said that the only means of taking Jews from Germany in an orderly way was

Rep. Fish Would Prohibit Nazi 'Army'

Bodyguard Units In Uniform Hit

WASHINGTON. — Representative Hamilton Fish of New York this week introduced a bill prohibiting formation of "private military forces, such as uniformed Nazis, Communists or other alien groups."

"Private armies," Fish said, "lead to domestic strife and interference with civil rights. Their activities promote violence and open conflict between those holding different political opinions. Such activities interfere with the right and liberties guaranteed by the Constitution."

The activities of Nazis in arming and drilling German Americans have aroused considerable public indignation and the fear that such a precedent will be copied by other groups."

Anti-Semitic Meeting Leaves Boston Public Indifferent

BOSTON. — Under the guise of a defense demonstration for free speech, a mass meeting was held last week by the self-styled Committee for the Defense of American Constitutional Rights, in Boston, and was the first public anti-Semitic meeting witnessed by that city. The Committee is known for its anti-Semitic tendencies and a Jewish reporter who managed to get into the auditorium, listened to two hours of attacks on President Roosevelt, the Loyalists in Spain and veiled references that "all Communists are Jews and all Jews are Communists."

Supposedly a Protest

Announced as protest meeting against those radio stations who have barred Father Coughlin, Boake Carter and other radio speakers, the meeting turned into a demonstration in behalf of Father Coughlin's attacks on the Jews. In vehement tones the chairman of the meeting declared that "America must be saved for Christian civilization before Jewish reds will destroy it."

However, it was noted that despite the scorching addresses of the leaders in the movement, the audience was cool and almost indifferent to the rantings of those who elaborated on the Jewish question. The audience seemed to feel that they came to a patriotic rally but were now listening to an anti-Semitic demonstration.

As could be concluded from the sponsors of the meeting, this first public anti-Semitic demonstration was a flop. During the meeting a collection was taken up to defray expenses of the affair, but it was stated by those in charge that the money raised was far below what was needed.

Boy's Bee-Raising Hobby Is Yielding Heavy Sugar

NEW YORK. — A very efficient little world of 60,000 bees dozed away quietly in a tiny patch of Flatbush while bee-keeper Irwin Firschein made production plans for the coming season.

Last year the Flatbush Honey Company, of which Irwin is fourteen is sole stockholder, chief apiarist and bill collector, made a neat profit. When Irwin closed his books he found he had made $40 on an initial investment of $28.

This year there should be some really important money. Something big. Maybe $100 even. The money helps, but Irwin regards bee-keeping purely as a hobby.

"At first I didn't know very much about bees and I was bitten regularly by some of the 10,000 bees I started with," Irwin began explaining.

Builds Bite Resistance

Mrs. Firschein gave the other side of the picture: "When his arms and face began to puff up to gargantuan proportions, Mr. Firschein and I thought our boy should call it quits."

But Irwin, a sophomore at Samuel J. Tilden High School, persisted. His body built up a resistance to the formic acid of the sting and now a sting bothers him less than a mosquito bite.

The neighbors object sometimes. But not about the bees. Irwin practices his saxophone occasionally.

Soft Diet Stand Bys

It happens to almost everyone who ever stayed in bed long enough to have an honest illness. Just when life begins to look rosy, and you're plotting to proposition the nurse for a juicy steak dinner, along comes a doctor who puts you on a soft diet.

You'll cheer up soon enough though, when you see a trayful of the delectable dainties. Why strained foods have all sorts of possibilities nowadays for the adult diet as well as fine infant fare. They have variety aplenty — fresh flavor — beautiful clear colors — and a high nutritive content to help build you up.

When the doctor gives the word to elaborate your diet, you can have these same strained foods es to add variety to your menus. They can be made into velvet smooth soups — tender souffles — delicate desserts. You'll agree the babies have no corner on the strained food diet when you taste these savory dishes:

APRICOT FLIP

1 can strained foods*; Butter, ple sauce.
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ pint ice cream (approximately)
1½ pints dry gingerale (approximately.)

Combine strained apricots and apple sauce and lemon juice. Put 2 generous tablespoons of this mixture in each of 3 tall glasses. Add 2 or 3 large tablespoons ice cream. Fill glass with cold gingerale. Stir. Serve immediately.

BAKED POTATO WITH BUTTERED VEGETABLE

1 can strained foods*; Butter, Salt, Baked potato.

Combine strained vegetables, 1 tablespoon butter and ¼ teaspoon salt. Heat. Cut hot baked potato in half. Remove center and mash. Season with butter and salt. Refill shell halves, make depression in center, fill with strained

Alaska Favored As Exile Colony

British Guiana Second Choice

BERLIN. — Alaska was designated first choice for mass-Jewish colonization this week by the publication Juedisches Nachrichtenblatt, only remaining legal organ of German Jews. British Guiana was made second choice.

Britain's Kenya Colony and Northern Rhodesia were thought less suitable in view of the social difficulty of employing large numbers of Jewish agricultural workers in Negro Africa as well as unfavorable industrial prospects. The publication pointed the climatic suitability of the Sitka region in Alaska, the agricultural, fur trade fisheries possibilities and the prospects for industry in the mineral wealth of Alaska.

Repertory's "Pursuit of Happiness" Pleases Audiences For Two Nights

Repertory Players presented last Wednesday and Thursday evenings at Barker Playhouse, to capacity audiences "The Pursuit of Happiness," an American comedy by Lawrence Langner and Armina Marshall Langner, under the direction of William E. Smith, assisted by Frances Pritsker.

With the principles of American democracy as the main theme, the play moved merrily along, capably portrayed by a well-chosen cast. It told of a young Hessian, Max Christmann who deserted the British army to come to America, because he believed in the country's constitutional rights — life, liberty, and as he expressed it "the running after of happiness."

He is captured on the Connecticut farm, of Aaron Kirkland, but when he explains he is on the side of the Americans, he is released. He attempts to quicken his pace in pursuing happiness when he first glimpses Kirkland's daughter, Prudence, but his style is cramped when the county sheriff, Thad Jennings, asks for Prudy's hand in marriage. Prudy, of course, is in love with the Hessian, and one night when he comes to call, they "bundle" to keep warm. Rev. Banks, who has tried to rid his congregation of the "evil practice of bundling," spies on them, and draws the mistaken conclusion that it was Thad Jennings in bed with Prudy, and not Max. From then on, there is a heavy feud as to the propriety of "bundling," and just who Prudy was "bundling" with.

Mr. Gurwitz was a very likable and real "Max," and left little to be desired in his portrayal. The naive Prudence was convincingly played by Martha Kaplan. We were kept giggling by the delightful performance of Claire Smira, as the flirty housemaid, whose remarks were swell double talk. The "total abstainer" sheriff was characterized aptly by Sidney Long. Sydney Shepard turned in a good performance, as the rather broad-minded Aaron Kirkland. Jules Goldsmith should be complimented for his fine rendition of the bigoted Rev. Banks. Mildred Field, as Comfort, Aaron's wife, was a typical teetotaler. Bernard Kiefson made a gallant Southern gent, in his role of Colonel Sherwood. A perfect Negro shuffle and lingo was adopted by Harold Roberts, in his role as the slave, Joshua. Bert Sonis filled the role of the Son of Liberty.

Delegation in Town For Jeshiva Fund

Rabbi Jacob Halberstam will be the guest of Rabbi David Werner, Mulberry street, over the weekend.

He is visiting Providence to raise funds for the erection of a new building at Divri Chaim Yeshiva in Jerusalem. Accompanying Rabbi Halberstam is Rabbi Aaron Kahn, religious leader of New York.

On Saturday morning they will visit the Ahavath Sholom Synagogue, corner Howell and Scott streets; on Saturday afternoon they will go to the B'nai Zion Synagogue on Orms street, and on Saturday evening will attend the M'Alave Malke reception at the Congregation Beth David on Chalkstone avenue.

At one time during modern times, the Prussians forbade the use of German in the sermon by Jewish Rabbis, as being an imitation of a Christian institution.

"Fight For Your Ideals..." Says Dr. Hendrick Van Loon

NEW YORK. — "If you are not willing to fight for your ideals," said Hendrick Willem Van Loon, "others are not going to be found willing to let you live for them."

"But don't you believe," asked the reporter, "that another general war would destroy our civilization for good and all?" Dr. Van Loon and the correspondent were cruising in a taxi through the upper East Side.

"It's better to let our world go to physical wreck and ruin, in a good fight, than to let Hitler and his crew turn it into a hopeless moral shambles. I can think of nothing worse than their ideology — it's worship of everything we detest."

Dr. Van Loon made it abundantly clear that he still preferred fighting for an idea, to living in corrupted peace, but it was also apparent that his rage had sufficiently cooled to permit him to believe that war might not be the only way out of the impasse.

"Dictatorship," he said, "has several things in common with crime. One of them is that, just as there is no perfect crime, there is no perfect dictatorship. Democracy is like a pyramid — it's built

Gets Kosher Food In "Red" Russia

MOSCOW. — Kosher food has been made available to Samuel Reshevsky, the American chess champion, by an orthodox family here. When he arrived to compete in the International Chess Tournament, Reshevsky, a devout Jew, was forced to adopt a vegetarian diet, because no Moscow restaurant serves kosher food.

Before finding the Kosher oasis, he had been living on a vegetarian diet of fruits, vegetables, orange juice and tea. During the first part of the chess tournament, which was held at Leningrad, Reshevsky met an orthodox family which took him to their home, slaughtered their own meat and prepared it according to the Jewish dietary principles. In Moscow, however, he did not at first have the same luck.

on a broad base. Earthquakes and hurricane may shake the pyramids, but they don't collapse. But dictatorship is balanced on the point of a sword, and so it's easily upset. Look at Robespierre. He lasted only two years. Napoleon held out for about fifteen. The Romanoffs did a great deal better, but they, too, went the way of all tyrants. If history teaches anything, it is that dictatorships cannot endure."

There was always a glimmer of hope, he said, in the element of chance. He recalled a favorite saying of Frederick the Great. "In our life, Monsieur Chance is still the most important partner."

"What Monsieur Chance will do," said Dr. Van Loon, "I cannot predict, for he isn't in the habit of taking me into his confidence. But he may do something. Anything may happen."

"There is no harm," he said, "in hoping for the best, but that doesn't mean that Americans should persist in being a bunch of Micawbers. There's no doubt whatever that this fellow means business, and the only sensible thing is to be prepared for the worst."

AT THE THEATRES

FAYS

"The Arizona Wildcat," starring Jane Withers, is the current attraction at Fays Theatre this week. It's funny, exciting story of how Jane brings law and disorder to the great open spaces of the West. Also in the cast are Leo Carrillo, Pauline Moore, William Henry and Henry Wilcoxon. Bert Walton and company head the vaudeville bill this week at Fays. Others on the stage are Emmett Oldfield, Dave Manahan, and Ann Pritchard and Jack Lord.

MAJESTIC

Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Jesse James" is the feature this week at the Majestic Theatre. Jesse, to the simple folks who knew him, was a victim of injustice; to the world, he was an outlaw, and a killer, but to the girl who married him, he was a brave and gentle lover. Starred in the cast are Tyrone Power, Henry Fonda, Nancy Kelly and Randolph Scott. Selected short subjects complete the Majestic bill.

ALBEE

The much-publicized, much-awaited "Gunga Din," starring Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., occupies the screen of the RKO Albee theatre this week. Inspired by the drumbeat rhythm of Kipling's heroic lines, it's the story of the reckless, lusty swaggering sons of the thundering guns of storied India, always roaring for battle, or ready for love. Others in the cast are Sam Jaffe, Eduardo Cianelli and Joan Fontaine. The current "March of Time," is being shown at the Albee, plus a Walt Disney review.

$5,000 Goal Set For ORT Campaign

Dr. D. Lwowitz Opens Drive

At a conference of the ORT, held last Sunday at the Narragansett Hotel, Providence Jews pledged themselves to contribute $5000 to the fund for establishing trade schools and training farms for the rehabilitation of the Jewish masses in Eastern Europe.

Dr. David Lwowitz, guest speaker, said "In this day when finding employment for refugees has become a serious problem in many lands, little difficulty is encountered in placing an emigrant who has been trained in ORT schools. The immediate problem of world Jewry is to train those refugees who are now being dumped in "No Man's Land," along the borders of East European countries.

"At the Evian refugee conference recently, 32 governments said it would be difficult to admit Jews without training, but if they are skilled in crafts, their admission into other countries is practically assured."

Officers and members of the local campaign committee are: Morris Berren, chairman; Peretz Fine, vice-chairman; Louis Strauss, treasurer; Mrs. Lewis Yarlas, financial secretary and speakers committee; Harry Beck, Mrs. Samuel Brodsky, Mrs. Peter Saslaw, Mrs. P. Fine, Leo Levine, Israel Fine, Mrs. Samuel Korb, Henry Halpern and I. Rothenberg.

The headquarters of the campaign committee are at 29 Snow street. Contributions and correspondence are received at that address.

May Establish Base

LONDON. — The British Government was reported this week to be taking new steps to keep peace in Palestine and to guard trade routes through the Mediterranean by establishing an army reserve base in the Holy Land.

The report was welcomed by Jews and resented by Arabs who are here for conferences on Palestine.

Jews interpreted it as an indication of British determination to carry out the mandate with its obligation to promote a Jewish national home in Palestine.

Lady Reading Arrives Here To Aid Refugee Settlement

NEW YORK. — Arriving in the United States for her first visit to this country, the Marhioness of Reading, chairman of the British section of the Palestine Foundation Fund, declared that unless the nations of the world that stand for freedom and democracy act quickly "the entire Jewish population of Germany will be wiped out."

Lady Reading described the refugee situation in Europe as "tragic beyond all words," stressing the fact that both British and American Jewry must concentrate their efforts on the expansion of immigration and settlement in Palestine as a means of providing a permanent solution for the plight of many of the thousands of homeless and oppressed Jews in Germany and other lands.

Lady Reading observed that while Palestine also cannot provide the complete solution to the refugee problem it represents "the heart of the solution." She pointed out that during the past five years Palestine has taken in more than 30 per cent of all the Jewish refugees from Germany, estimating that within the next five years Palestine could absorb more than 200,000 additional Jews. "Palestine," she said, "is the one great hope in the hour of bitter need for the Jewish people."

Report Agreement on Status Of Polish Jews in Germany

At the same time it was reported that one of the principal causes for dissension in German-Polish relations—that status of Polish relations—the status of Poland a solution.

Ribbentrop's visit to Warsaw was described in authoritative quarters here as primarily "representative," calculated for its impression on the nations of Southeast Europe, particularly Czechoslovakia and Hungary. An extension of the present Polish-German treaty may result, but it was considered out of the question that Poland would join the anti-Communist front which comprises Germany, Italy, Japan, Hungary and several smaller countries.

Pact on Jews Reported

It was understood that the German-Polish commission negotiating on the status of Polish Jews in Germany has reached an agreement that there would be more deportations and that the cases of Jews already deported would be reviewed.

The 16,100 Polish Jews already expelled from Germany will be permitted to return for periods ranging from a week to two months to settle their business affairs, it was reported reliably, and will be allowed to take all their movable property back to Poland with them. It was said that they would be required to deposit the proceeds of the liquidation of immovable property in special bank accounts in Germany. It was expected that they would ultimately receive only a small percentage of these deposits.

Archbishop Launches Drive To Promote Labor Unionism

DETROIT. — The Most Rev Edward Mooney, Catholic Archbishop of Detroit, outlined steps to make Catholic membership in labor unions an organized force for sound unionism at a two-day meeting of the Catholic Conference on Industrial Problems, sponsored by the National Catholic Welfare Conference, of which he is administrative chairman.

The Catholic Church commends proper labor organization to worker and management alike, he declared.

Archbishop Mooney urged the priests of the archdiocese to set themselves "energetically to help their Christian workers train themselves in principle and tech-nic to assume the leadership in the unions which their numbers justify."

"If our priests by action or apathy encourage the members of their parishes to stand off from active and constructive participation in the affairs of their unions, they are derelict in a duty which the highest authority of the Church misses no occasion to emphasize."

Some observers considered it significant that Fr. Charles E. Coughlin, Royal Oak, who broadcasts messages on social and economic problems each Sunday, was not invited to address the conference.

Beatrice Genser, Muriel Kaplan, Sydney Trager, Jean Pierse, Norers, Frances Sanders, Stanley Leman G. Orodener, Gloria Sanders, Frances Sanders, Stanley Levine, Bruce Levine, Walter Grubert, Harold Grubert, Irving Greenberg, Everet Silverman, Bernard Boxerbaum, Morris Gordon, Shirley Sugarman, Ruth Davidson, Jackie Millman, Joan Reich, Harold Kaplan, Barbara Weinberg, and Lillian Schechtman.

Charles Woolf and Morris Rose, who were confirmed last week, received Bar-Mitzvah certificates from Rabbi Nathan Taragin, A message on "The New Year of Tress," was delivered by Rabbi Taragin, and Harry Leach, president of the congregation, delivered the invocation.
