Home for Aged

The story behind the story of the Home for Aged Donor's luncheon is one of desperate need.

The Jewish Home for Aged of R. I. is not affiliated with the Community Chest, as for instance, is the Jewish Children's Home. The former derives its revenue only from activities sponsored by its own membership, such as the Donor's Luncheon to be given next Wednesday afternoon by the Ladies Association at the Narragansett Hotel, and the Home's annual carnival, to be held in the late Spring.

Today, because of the generally extended span of life, the number of aged folks is larger. In addition to this, the number of aged Jewish folks is greater because of the heavy immigration to this country during the years 1880 and 1890.

Officials and members of the Home, as early as 1934, realized a definite need for a hospital ward at the Home, to facilitate the care of the invalid aged, as well as to separate them from the well. Three years ago, the women's group started an elevator fund, recognizing a pressing need for the installation of an elevator in the building. To these ends are all members and friends of the Home striving.

A percentage of the proceeds from the forthcoming Donor's Luncheon is given to the Home proper, while the remaining amount is used for the elevator fund.

Whole hearted support of all the Home's endeavors are urged, to assure the happiness of those, so unfortunate during their active years as to have been unable to lay aside enough to see them through the twilight of their lives. There is the greatest tragedy of mankind. All of us perform a true blessing by helping them.

Mr. Welles Listens

Sumner Welles, our touring undersecretary of State, is reported to have made an excellent impression on Hitler.

Now it is safe to state that Mr. Welles did not leave Washington without some general information on the treatment of Poles and Jews alike in the Nazi-held territory. And we are sure that Mr. Welles in his hop through Central Europe was not permitted, by Nazi authorities, to get a glimpse of barbed-wire fences around concentration camps, at the yellow badges and white armbands, and at the misery that followed the conquering path of Nazi civilization.

Since it was reported that Hitler, spoke for 90 minutes without interruption, the "excellent impression" obtained, no doubt, was due to the fact that Hitler did all the talking and Mr. Welles, the listening.

How to Save London

Stephen Fothergill of London, a conscientious objector to military service, called before a tribunal to show cause why he should not be conscripted, said: "I would allow the German army to march into London, and instead of greeting them with machine guns I would give them cups of tea. That would completely demoralize them."

Even better, give them cups of that stuff the English call coffee. Boy, that would shatter

Fascists Confiscate Jewish Charity Fund

LONDON. — The Italian Government has confiscated the sum of 5,000,000 lire (about $250,000) bequeathed by the late Jewish engineer and industrialist David Almagia to Jewish educational charitable institutions in Rome, according to a Rome dispatch reaching here which said that the will was annulled and the money confiscated under the Italian anti-Jewish legislation.

Court Scores Broadcast of Rulings; $610 Award Upset

NEW YORK. — Max Zlatin said Harry Owen owed him $610, and so one Sunday in 1937 he invited Owen to attend a broadcast.

The broadcast was of the proceedings of the Jewish Court of Arbitration in Brooklyn. Owen signed a paper, he said, which he thought was a registration of attendance. Instead, it was an agreement to arbitrate his dispute with Zlatin.

"A hearing was then held before three arbitrators," the Appellate Division in Brooklyn decided. "The appellant, Owen, was given two minutes to state his defense. He was not advised that he might call witnesses nor did he have any adequate understanding of the proceeding. At the conclusion he was advised made against him."

Supreme Court Reversed

Owen appealed to the Supreme Court. The decision of the arbitration court was upheld. The Appellate Division yesterday reversed the decision, asserting Owen's agreement to arbitrate was obtained fraudulently and, in addition was on Sunday, a day when legal proceedings are not to be conducted.

The decision also scored the practice of broadcasting the arbitration court proceedings, saying: "In the practice of broadcasting arbitration, time and the furnishing of public entertainment are likely to take precedence over considerations more important to the true administration of justice."

Says There Shall be No Palestine Ghetto

NEW YORK. — The new Palestine land laws, under which sales to Jews are restricted by the British Government, are virtually anti-Semitic, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, former president of the Zionist Organization of America, told 4,000 persons last week at Carnegie Hall.

The meeting was called by the Emergency Committee for Palestine, whose members represent the Zionist Organization, Hadasah, Mizrahi, Poale Zion, and young people's groups.

"The Jewish race has been betrayed by a friend," Rabbi Wise declared. "But we are determined. There shall be no ghettos in Palestine, and regardless of obstacles, the building of a national home shall continue."

"Mr. Chamberlain will know that we will resist persecution wherever we find it, particularly in Palestine. The land laws of the British government are clearly acts of persecution."

Disorder Marks Curb of Land Sales

JERUSALEM. — The police imposed curfew regulations at Tel Aviv after breaking up widespread anti-British demonstrations in which Jewish participants and officers were injured. The demonstrations were against British restrictions on the sale of Arab lands to Jews. Angered Jews erected barricades in the streets and hurled missiles at the police.

In Haifa the demonstrators stoned a police station and damaged a district officer's automobile. In Jerusalem the protesters threw stones at policemen who dispersed their processions.

The lecture will be part of Rhode Island World Affairs Week, and is being presented under the joint sponsorship of the Jewish Community Center and the Brotherhood of Temple Beth El.

Rabbi Liebman, who will be introduced by Dr. William G. Braude, will discuss the sociological and psychological aspects of Anti-Semitism in the light of present world trends.

Soviet to Operate Matzoth Bakeries

2 Octaves Above High C Is Child's Play to Singer, 14

PITTSBURGH. — Music isn't written high enough for Myra Weiner's voice.

This 14-year-old girl can sing two octaves above high C, according to her instructor, Byron D. Blumenthal.

In the operatic world a singer who can reach E flat has a high range. Highest recorded is F sharp. Two octaves above high C is the highest note on the piano.

"Many times, when Myra is practicing, people have mistaken her voice for an instrument," her mother, Mrs. Nathan Weiner, said.

However, everyone, including Myra's teacher, agrees there is no particular value to be able to sing so high.

"No music is written for such highnotes," Blumenthal said. "And seldom are notes above high C played; however, special music could be written for her and parts of well-known selections could be adapted."

U. S. Jewish Group Gets Pope's Thanks

CHICAGO. — Pope Pius XII, through Bishop Bernard J. Sheil of Chicago, last week thanked the United Jewish Appeal for Refugees and Overseas Needs for its gift of $125,000 for use among Catholic refugees from religious persecution, and praised the spirit of cooperation and goodwill shown between members of the two religions.

The Pope was especially grateful, that the gift was intended as an act of homage to the memory of his predecessor, Pius XI.

"The memory of Pius XI's magnificent struggle against the inhumane and anti-Catholic doctrine of racialism continues to inspire all of us," Bishop Sheil said.

Father Flanagan of Boystown, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Jewish Children's Home of Rhode Island on Sunday evening, March 31 . . . Maurice Stollerman, superintendent of the Home, visited Father Flanagan recently, and induced the nationally known priest to come East for this occasion . . . Father Flanagan's work which was immortalized in the picture "Boystown," starring Spencer Tracey and Mickey Rooney, needs no introduction to Rhode Island's audiences . . . This event should go on your must-list . . .

Three Score Birthday

Archie Silverman was well feted on his 60th birthday last Tuesday at the Biltmore by over three hundred guests . . . Jew and Gentile alike lauded those fine qualities that have made him an outstanding citizen in Rhode Island . . . From start to finish, the affair was as close to perfection as any I've ever attended . . . But, for one incident, we might have called it perfect . . . Each speaker was allowed five minutes to say his piece for the guest of honor . . . All but one, did his utmost to live up to the time schedule . . . This one, a gentleman of the cloth, by the way, earned the ill wishes of the body at large, when he usurped seven times his allotted speaking time

That Man—Again

According to Ben Brookner, Confucious, who he maintains shortened his name from Confucionisky, did say: "Man who pawns kessel, hocked a chinack." . . . We note that Mussolini is now insisting on more woppy and less whoopee . . . A friend of The Herald called in to ask who the charming femme might be, who's being seen frequently in the company of Arthur Shiffman . . . It might have been an optometrists' convention the other night at the Lying In Hospital . . . What with Drs. William Waxler, Joseph Miller and Joseph Berger all visiting their wives and newly born babes, at the same time . . .

New Associate

Sid Shepard is now associated with the firm of Kornstein and Swartz, in the insurance business . . . A club was recently opened in the North End Section of our city . . . Though it is ostensibly a social organization, some of its leaders have a definite political axe to grind . . . Rumor hath it that if you work for the city, and belong in the ward where that club is located, it would be wise to be a member, and its registration fee is a bit stiff . . . As one of the boys from the neighborhood puts it, "You either— or else!" . . .

Puns with Punch

Subscribers to "Punch," are still chuckling over the Low Cartoon which shows Hitler and Stalin playing poker — with Hitler saying: "I'll raise you a neutral." . . . A punster offers this one: The Russians don't eat any more fish — because of the Finns . . .

BY EDYTHE JAY

Two weeks they waited to give their affair
All on account of the snow
But give it they did—and the nite was fair
And the girls were a real fashion show . . .

If they felt a bit abused about the way the weatherman treated them on Valentine's day and nite, the Junior Hadassah chapter of Pawtucket had a perfect right to . . . You see, they had scheduled their annual dance for that evening at the Crown Hotel . . .

We haven't forgotten yet (and who has) the immensity of the snow storm and gale, which chose to come to town on that nite—and we did shed a couple of tears for the group, knowing that they had planned such a grand evening . . . But our tears were wasted, because those Pawtucket girls didn't take it too much to heart . . . They declared it must be fate and postponed the affair until February 28 . . .

The latter date being Wednesday of last week, after this column had gone to press, we saved the story until now . . . Noted during the evening: Molly Cokin, in a gown, made with a full white net skirt, and a silver lame top . . . Marion Levine had on a deep orchid velveteen gown, regal looking, with its sweetheart neckline . . . A strapless gown of light blue marquisette, with tier effect from top down to hem was chosen by Ruth Berger . . . Esther Levine had on a smart black flowered dirndl skirt, with a white puffed sleeve blouse . . .

Mrs. Hy Cokin, chic in acquare marine taffeta . . . Mrs. Sidney August wore white net, strapless . . . The skirt was of the net, while the top was white lame . . . A large bow at the neckline . . . Gish Levin, in a charming black and white tissue taffeta gown . . . It had thin black straps and black lace ruching around the neckline . . . Very full skirt . . .

Harriet Goodman chose a gown of pink marquisette, topped with black lace and fashioned with three-quarter length sleeves . . . A black and gold snood on her coiffure . . . A dainty thing of black lace, with rows of gold embroidery around the bottom worn by Evelyn Goldberg . . . Mrs. Harvey Logowitz was there in a bright and cheerful Roman striped dirndl skirt, with a white top . . . She complemented it with a necklace and bracelet of the same colours as were in the skirt . . .

Sylvia Berger wore a black velvet gown, with puffed sleeves . . . A décolletage gown of pink marquisette, accented with black lace was worn by Myrtle Korenbaum . . . Goldie Slefkin was chic in black brocaded lace, with a full skirt . . . Drifty rose coloured chiffon was worn by Tillie

Her chapeau was trimmed with matching fur . . . Mrs. Peter J. Katzman, co-chairman, in a stunning biege jersey frock, trimmed with brown velvet collar and cuffs . . . Mrs. Abraham Klemer, Jr., wore a dress and hat of ashes of roses . . . A black dress, and a smart flowered hat, with loads of veil, was worn by Mrs. Barney Taber . . . Mrs. Joseph Krasner had on a navy blue frock, trimmed with opaline pink . . . Her hat was of the same colour scheme . . . Miss Israella Schussheim was darling in a black dress, with polka dots, cut on simple lines . . . Her hair she wore in Scarlett O'Hara fashion . . . Mrs. William H. Smira had on a black dress, with a white beaded yoke . . . Her hat was chic . . . Mrs. Joseph Fowler appeared in a black dress, with a blue top . . . A CHILD CAN PICK

A "MATCHLESS" COAL

Heretofore, only experts could tell one hard coal from another—by its looks. But now our Famous Reading Anthracite is plainly trademarked with red spots. When you see this trademark, you know it's genuine laundered coal—actually scrubbed with water and sand at the mines to free it of impurities—a real premium product at no extra price. For high heat value, low ash and non-clinking qualities burn our Famous Reading Anthracite—the low ash anthracite.

List of Personal Assets Demanded

Austrian Jews Fear New Levy

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia. — Salesmen arriving here from Vienna have shown forms, recently disturbed in Austria, for the declaration of all personal assets. These forms are almost a replica of the ones supplied to German Jews in 1938, with new paragraphs for reporting the value of all properties, securities and cash, metals, precious and otherwise, jewelry and works of art, carpets and furniture.

Although it is stated that the information is being sought to estimate the national wealth, a further paragraph says that false declarations will result in increased payments.

These forms, which have to be returned tonight, have given rise to the opinion in Vienna that a possible levy is being planned by the government.
