

Ledgemont Demands RIGA Discipline Point Judith CC

Ledgemont Country Club in Seekonk, in a letter written by Richard Loebenberg, chairman of the Greens Committee, addressed to Edward Perry, secretary of the Rhode Island Golf Association, demanded that Point Judith Country Club be forced to comply with the rules and regulations of the RIGA or be requested to resign from the association.

Prior to the recent RIGA 4-ball championship tournament held at Ledgemont, Mr. Loebenberg telephoned his counterpart at Point Judith, Hugo Mainelli, and requested that he take three to four foursomes of Ledgemont members during the championship tournament period.

This is a normal request made to all RIGA members when a state tournament is held on their course.

Mr. Mainelli, according to Mr. Loebenberg, replied that he did not think much of the RIGA and that the only good part was the Burke Scholarship Fund. He further informed Mr. Loebenberg that the Point Judith course was too busy to grant reciprocity.

In his closing paragraph Mr. Loebenberg criticized the lack of cooperation of Point Judith with fellow member clubs and said that their arrogance deserved censure.

At press time it could not be determined when the board of directors of the RIGA would meet and consider this request.

Leonard Blazar, president of the Crestwood Country Club, said that he had sent a letter to the members of the club concerning the Point Judith Country Club which said:

"I am quite sure that all of you are aware of the recent article that appeared in the

Providence Journal of August 10 concerning the action taken by Ledgemont Country Club and the anticipated action to be taken by Crestwood Country Club concerning members of the Point Judith Country Club being unwelcome at both golf clubs.

Our board of governors had voted two weeks ago that, due to discriminatory practices by Point Judith to certain minority groups — a fact which they have denied by word but shown to be true by action — we would bar the use of our club for any purpose to members of said club. This would include any tournaments held at Crestwood, either self-sponsored or under the auspices of RIGA or RIWGA. It was further voted that a letter should be sent to Point Judith Country Club notifying them of our action and that another letter be sent to the RIGA — with copies to all member clubs — requesting that the question of discrimination by Point Judith Country Club be formally brought before its governing body.

I am writing this letter to our membership, which will, in the very near future, be followed by letters to RIGA and Point Judith Country Club to restate the board of governors' position: no member of Point Judith Country Club (which will include any member having a dual membership in Point Judith and another course) will be welcome at Crestwood Country Club either for golf or socially whether invited by a Crestwood member as part of any function being held at our club or as a participant in any tournament sponsored by any group including RIGA.

It is understood that all of our members shall abide by the above decision as duly voted by the board of governors."

New Temple To Hold Open House

Temple Judea in Warwick will hold an Open House this Friday following Sabbath services which start at 8 p.m.

It sounds an ordinary enough notice such as we print in the Herald regularly.

But it isn't.

Temple Judea is a new temple in Warwick; a Reform temple which keeps with the usual traditional yarmulkes, Hebrew prayers, etc.

According to Sherwin Zaldman, one of the six founders of the new temple (his wife and two other couples are the others), the purpose behind their venture is to gather those Jews in the Providence area, Cranston and Warwick who are unaffiliated with any temple. There are several hundred people, he says, in the Rhode Island area who have no affiliation with any temple, because they are not interested or because the cost seems too high.

Because he and his wife,

Rhoda, feel that because the cost of membership may often be too high, the membership dues of the new temple will be $100 per year per family; $50 per year per individual; $60 per year per retired couple, and $85 per year per divorced person with children.

They are meeting at present in the social hall of the Church of the Resurrection at 336 Norwood Avenue in Warwick. Their expenses are small and they mean to keep them small. If expenses increase to the point where the membership dues does not cover them they will run affairs, anything from bingo to fairs or flea markets which is legal and will bring in the extra revenue without surtaxing their members.

There is more to the story of Temple Judea and it will be written for next week's paper. However, there open house is this Friday and they will welcome anyone who comes.

Provision Affects Bequests Made To Institutions Abroad

WASHINGTON — The Nelson tax reform bill, now in the hands of the Senate Finance Committee, contains a provision that may affect bequests made by Americans to institutions abroad, including those in Israel, it was learned.

When the Jewish Telegraphic Agency made inquiries about the measure, Senate committee staff members observed that England, France and Israel are among the countries ranking high among those whose institutions receive such bequests.

The Nelson Bill, introduced by Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D. Wis.), has among its 50 provisions one that says a bequest by an American "shall be deductible (for income tax purposes) only if it is to be used predominantly within the United States or any of its possessions." The word "predominantly" in the bill's context has not been precisely defined, the JTA was told.

No hearings have been scheduled or any section of the measure and it is considered unlikely that it will be discussed on the Senate floor at this session.

The JTA was informed, moreover, that if the bill should pass the Senate it is virtually certain to be rejected by the House. The Nelson bill is co-sponsored by 11 Democrats. They are Sens. Hart; Kennedy; Eagleton; Tunney; McGovern; Mondale; Church; Harris; Hughes; Humphrey; and Metcalf.

Committee Charges Israel Registers Non-Jewish Immigrants As Jews

NEW YORK — The Committee for Jewish Survival, an ad hoc organization of Orthodox Jews, has charged that the Israel government was registering non-Jewish immigrants as Jews and that many such registrants were returning to their home communities with the Israeli "proof" that they were Jews and should be accepted as such. They include Americans, the committee said.

Yosef Wilenkin, general secretary of the committee, said that committee members in Israel handed a report last month to the Knesset Interior Committee, making the charge and listing the names, registration numbers and other information on what the committee said were 160 non-Jews who had been registered in Israel as Jews on their entry papers and identity cards. Wilenkin said that the committee had offices in Israel, Britain, Canada, France, Brazil, and in Los Angeles, Miami, Philadelphia and Chicago in this country.

Wilenkin said that the report given to the Knesset committee was based on two months of "grass roots" research by committee members in Israel, the United States and Britain. Asked why non-Jews would want such "proof," he said that there had been a recent trend by conversion-seeking Gentiles who, "for one reason or another are pushed off from conversion or are not accepted as converts in their communities" to seek acceptance by spending some time in Israel as an immigrant and then returning home where they are fully accepted as Jews in their communities.

Included among such Gentiles, Wilenkin said, were non-Jews married to Jews who wish to enroll their children in a Hebrew school or join a synagogue, and non-Jews seeking to marry Jews. He said "they often find it tedious and sacrificing to obtain an Orthodox conversion. Many of them do not want a Reform conversion and even those who do, often find it time-consuming." He asserted that "for a Gentile to become converted to Jews through the aliyah process is not at all difficult. In many cases, the immigration authorities do not ask the applicant's religion and in other cases the applicant merely lies."

He said the Committee had conducted its study in the United States, Britain and Israel. He said Committee members had interviewed persons who had either returned home after a brief stay in Israel or who were living in Israel with identity cards bearing the label "Yehudi." He asserted that some of them were married to or intending to marry Orthodox partners who assumed they were Jews.

The specifics on 160 such persons, he said, had been presented to the Interior Committee by Rabbi Shmuel Chafetz and Yehuda Paldi. He charged that Interior Minister Yosef Burg, who directs all immigration activities, had responded to the committee's report by asking Israel's secret service to investigate the committee, known in Israel as the Committee for Jewish Integrity, to learn how it obtained the information in the report." He charged Dr. Burg "wants to keep the whole matter concealed."

NAMED TO TEMPLE BETH AM: Rabbi Bernard Rotman of Flushing, New York, has been appointed as spiritual leader of Temple Beth Am in Warwick.

Rabbi Rotman was ordained from the rabbinical department of the Jewish Theological Seminary, and also holds a Master's degree in Hebrew Literature from the seminary's School of Judaica.

A member of the Hebrew High School faculty at Congregation Oheb Shalom of South Orange, New Jersey, Rabbi Rotman also taught at the Temple Beth Shalom Religious School of Roslyn, New York. He has had experience with the United Synagogue Youth and B'nai B'rith Hillel.

Married to the former Benita Bass of Worcester, Massachusetts, the couple spent a year in Israel participating in a study program sponsored jointly by the seminary and the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Dutch Minister Criticizes Israel Aviation Heads

AMSTERDAM — Foreign Minister Norbert Schmelzter has criticized Israeli aviation authorities for refusing to grant the Dutch airline, KLM, additional charter flight landing rights in Israel. Schmelzter said last Friday that he was "seriously concerned and disappointed" by Israel's attitude.

He warned that the attitude "is likely to influence Dutch public opinion regarding Israel. The ban on charter flights has already inconvenienced hundreds of tourists and has caused a great deal of ill feeling," Schmelzter said.

On July 1, Israel increased KLM's regular landing rights at Lydda Airport from three to four flights a week. The increase was said to have been in exchange for a promise by The Hague Government to persuade the government of The Netherlands West Indies to grant El Al landing rights at Curacao which have not materialized.

Governor Rockefeller Clarifies Statement Made While In Israel

NEW YORK — Governor Rockefeller, returning from a four-day visit to Israel, said that there had been a meeting of the minds between Mr. Nixon and the Soviet hierarchy on the emigration of Soviet Jews and that "the proof of the pudding" lay in the increased flow of Soviet Jews to Israel so far this year.

But the Governor said he had not intended to say in a Jerusalem news conference that President Nixon had reached a formal agreement with Soviet leaders at the Moscow summit conference to permit 35,000 Jews to emigrate annually to Israel. Mr. Rockefeller spoke at the Marine Air Terminal at LaGuardia airport shortly after his return.

The Israel state radio played without comment a tape recording of the Governor's conference in which his voice was heard to say, with respect to the Soviet Jewish question and the President's Moscow trip, that "this was one of the items on the agenda and he secured an agreement at that conference which is now — what? — 35,000 coming a year."

Israeli and American officials estimated, even before the Moscow conference, that the total number of Jews leaving the Soviet Union annually for Israel would be about 35,000. The State Department said that 15,650 left the Soviet Union in the first six months of this year. In all of 1970, about 1,200 Jews were allowed to leave.

Mr. Rockefeller denied that he had said that he got the information about the "agreement" from Mr. Nixon or Henry Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security. He declined to say, however, where he got the information.

"It was more in the area of a meeting of the minds rather than any signed document," the Governor said. "I said that the President had taken up the matter in Moscow and as a result there was a swelling of the flow."

The Governor, who is chairman of the New York State Committee to Re-elect the President, was asked whether his four-day visit to Israel, his first to that part of the world in 25 years, had been related to attempts to win over American Jewish voters for President Nixon.

"Absolutely not" answered the Governor, adding that the White House knew nothing of his trip. He said he had originally planned to speak at the 75th Zionist convention in Israel. However, he said, those plans were changed at the last moment by the death of his mother-in-law, and his visit as a guest of the Israeli Government was postponed.

Accompanying the Governor were the State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz, and Samuel Housman, a former chairman of the United Jewish Appeal and the Governor's informal advisor on Jewish affairs.

REPORTS RAID
NEW YORK — Betar, the Jewish activist group, reported that its 11th floor offices were

"broken into and raided" and that files, machinery and demonstration materials were stolen. Also taken, said Gilad Freund, a member of the group's National Executive, was a "legally registered" M-1 rifle used by the group at its training camp. Freund said the police who responded to Betar's call described the incident as an "inside job."

THREATEN MURDER
JERUSALEM — Threats to murder prominent Arabs of East Jerusalem and the West Bank for "treason" arrived last week in the mail of several news agencies. The leaflets, signed by the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, singled out for death Anwar Nusseibeh, former deputy minister of Jordan, and Hikmat el Maari, former speaker of Jordan's parliament. The treason referred to their alleged collaboration with King Hussein.

ELECT COMMITTEE

PARIS — The Paris Jewish Students Union elected a new "revolutionary" Committee that violently opposes established Jewish communal organizations; accuses the French Jewish community of being racist and reactionary and advocates a form of "revolutionary Zionism" for Israel.

AJCongress Director To Run McGovern Effort

NEW YORK — Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic nominee for President, has named Richard M. Cohen associate executive director of the American Jewish Congress, to direct the nationwide effort to win Jewish votes for Sen. McGovern, Democratic campaign sources said.

Sources close to Cohen, who has served the AJCongress for many years as public relations director and was named associate executive director recently, said he would serve the McGovern campaign on an unpaid leave of absence.

The Democratic sources also told the JTA that a Jewish section of the McGovern campaign committee will be announced in mid-August. To date, they said, no individual has been named as head of the Jewish committee but it has been indicated informally that Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, the Connecticut Democrat who had been considered for the vice-presidential nomination, has been advising campaign managers on Jewish vote-getting and that an insurance executive, Hillel Gross, has been directing that effort in New York.

Rep. Shirley Chisholm Endorses Mideast Direct Negotiations

WASHINGTON — Rep. Shirley Chisholm (D.N.Y.) scorns the Gary resolution on Israel as "ridiculous," wants the Soviet Union and the United States to cease sending arms to the Middle East, and recommends direct Israeli-Arab negotiations as the only way to settle the conflict. Above all, the only Black woman member of the House of Representatives continues to insist that "Palestine" is the "root cause" of the conflict and that resolving it is essential for "peace and harmony" in the region.

In an interview Mrs. Chisholm declined comment on the strongly pro-Israel plank in the Democratic Party's Middle East platform, specifically the provision that the U.S. recognize Jerusalem as Israel's capital, saying that she had not "had a chance to go over the entire platform." But in what may be a major development in her Mideast outlook — possibly significant in that she will be campaigning for the Presidential candidate she sought to deter in the primaries — Mrs. Chisholm said she was accepting an Israeli government invitation to visit Israel before year's end to "see things there for myself."

During her Presidential campaign, the fiery former nursery school teacher based her Mideast views on a position paper calling for a United Nations "guarantee" of the "stability and territorial integrity" of all States; a "limitation of all arms shipments" to the area; U.S. economic aid to the region's less-developed nations; "full representation for the Palestinians in all negotiations concerning the return or compensation for Palestinian Arab property," and "immediate consideration of the problem of the lack of status of the several hundred thousand people who left Israeli-held territory in 1948 and 1967."

In that position paper Mrs. Chisholm said the U.S. had "allowed the Soviet Union to posture as the real friend of the poor in the Middle East," adding: "While courageous governments in Libya, Egypt and the Sudan, for example, struggle to maintain their freedom and independence from Soviet influence, we have been sidetracked into forgetting about the Palestine problem and simply engaging in endless maneuvering with the Soviet Union."

At the Democratic Platform Committee hearings here, Mrs.

Chisholm was asked why she had not repudiated the since-modified anti-Israel resolution of the National Black Political Convention. Mrs. Chisholm repudiated the statement of the Congressional Black Caucus lauding Israeli contributions to Black Africa, saying she had not been consulted on the statement, issued after the Gary, Indiana convention and before the steering committee's modification of the resolution.

Thus, Mrs. Chisholm now appears to have swung towards a major platform premise — direct negotiations — which her position paper did not set forth, and has come out against the Gary resolution. Asked specifically if she believes Israel should be a "free, independent Jewish State," she replied: "There's never been any doubt in my mind about that," adding: "Mrs. Chisholm has always believed in a Jewish State and has been identified very closely with the Jewish people because she believes in humanity whether it's white, black or pink. I have no time for racial hatred or bigotry, be it in the form of white hatred or black hatred, because all hatred destroys the human individual."

Community School Board Willing To Act On Racism Complaint

NEW YORK — Mrs. Eleanor Holmes Norton, chairman of the city's Commission on Human Rights, reported that the head of Community School Board 1 had said that the local board was prepared to act on any complaint of racism that might be brought against the district's new superintendent, Luis Fuentes.

Mrs. Norton made the announcement after a meeting held at the commission's office with representatives of the Lower East Side School board and four leading Jewish organizations that have accused Mr. Fuentes of making anti-Semitic remarks and derogatory references to other ethnic groups.

In her statement, Mrs. Norton said that Mrs. Georgina Hoggard, the chairman of the District 1 board, had told the meeting that the board first heard of the allegations of racism against Mr. Fuentes "through the newspapers" and after his formal appointment July 19.

Some of the charges against Mr. Fuentes were first raised four years ago while he was principal of Public School 155, then in Brooklyn's Ocean Hill-Brownsville experimental district.

Mrs. Norton's statement did not indicate what action the local school board would take if and when a formal complaint were made against Mr. Fuentes, presumably by those who have protested his appointment.

Mrs. Norton said that she regarded the charges of bigotry raised in connection with the Fuentes appointment to the $37,000-a-year post as "extremely serious" and said she was "pleased at the good faith and problem-solving attitude" displayed during the meeting.

Attending the meeting, in addition to three representatives of the District 1 board, were officials of the American Jewish Committee, the American Jewish Congress, the Jewish Labor Committee and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

Earlier School Chancellor Harvey B. Scribner expressed the hope, in a statement of his own, that the Fuentes controversy could be settled at the community level. He said that his office was attempting to "ease tensions" in an informal way.

Dr. Scribner also noted that the decentralization law provided grievance procedures and that individuals and groups who were dissatisfied with the actions of a community school board could appeal the matter to him.

Last week, Joseph Monserrat, the president of the city Board of Education, charged publicly that Mr. Fuentes was a racist.

State Education Commissioner Ewald B. Nyquist said that the city Board of Education and Dr. Scribner should handle the Fuentes matter "in the first instance" and that if they could not resolve the situation, "I'll institute the next step."

RETURNED TO CAMP LONDON — Soviet Jewish sources reported that Lev Yagman, Victor Boguslavsky, Hillel Shur, Lassa Karinsky, Arkady Spilberg and Boris Penon have been returned to the Petna Labor Camp in central Mordovia from the Saransk prison.

TO BUILD NEW HOTEL HEBRON, West Bank — A 30-room Jewish-owned hotel is scheduled for Kiryat Arbah near here, according to Israel's Minister of Tourism, Moshe Kol.

Pocket Calculators

If you are a typical American adult, you detest the chores of addition, subtraction, multiplication — and unquestionably, of figuring percentages. If you're like me, therefore, you hall with delight any machine that will do the arithmetic for you.

This is the reason why — after I had visited an electronics show in Japan in 1970 — I spent $390 for a 5-1/2 by 9-1/2 inch made-in-Japan calculator I could use at home. And I have found the three-pound machine a joy ever since.

This is the reason why I am now even more entranced by a calculator which is made in America, is priced less than $100, and is so small and light I can easily carry it in my coat pocket or purse. For now my calculator and I can be in the same place when I need it. Now whether I'm in the office, at home or in a hotel room, working on a plane, a train or bus, I can trust whatever figures I am putting together because the machine is doing the calculations, not me.

As prices of these sophisticated devices drop in the months ahead, an upsurge in demand is a virtual certainty. In fact, "annual sales to consumers will rise to those of portable electric typewriters, or 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 units a year," predicts Edward A. White, president of Bowmar Instrument Corporation, the nation's leading maker of pocket calculators. Within five years, White forecasts, there will be a pocket calculator in one out of every three U.S. homes.

These estimates may be exaggerations — but without fear of exaggerating, I can see housewives across the nation using these calculators to doublecheck charges at the supermarket counter, department store sales slips, credit card invoices, etc. Just the mistakes in arithmetic they may find could more than pay for the machines. And also without fear of exaggerating, I can see students everywhere letting the machine do their arithmetic (thereby not even learning the math I've forgotten). And the varied uses for the pocket machines in an office or store or factory are obvious.

But HOW do you buy a calculator sensibly? What pitfalls should you be on guard against?

* Deal only with a reputable manufacturer with experience in the calculator field and with the means to back up the machine's warranty. As in all other areas, this rule must come first and it will become particularly important as cut-throat competition increases in this field — and it will.

* Buy an American-made machine. (What a pleasure it is to write that for a change!) Imported pocket calculators, White explains, "cost more because two of the machine's main elements — the display and integrated circuit chip — are manufactured in the U.S." In short, the price of an imported machine will be higher because those parts have been exported from and then imported back to the U.S.

* Be sure the calculator you buy is accurate — which means it has to have a floating decimal point capability. If the machine doesn't have this — and many don't — it won't be accurate.

Try some sample calculations to test the machine. For instance, divide 123 by 456. Your answer should be 0.2697368. If your answer is 0.26, the machine doesn't have a floating decimal and that is the start of its basic, inherent accuracy. To illustrate again, multiply your first answer by 789 and you should get 212.82233. If you don't have the floating decimal point, your answer will come out to 205.14 — quite a difference.

* Since you're buying a pocket calculator, that's what you should get — a unit that fits into a shirt pocket, that is about 3x5x1.5 inches in size and weighs less than 12 ounces. As for prices, they now range from slightly under $100 to more than $300 and some more complex machines cost close to $400.

* A few final hints: all the digits on the machine should be of uniform light intensity to prevent your reading the calculator display inaccurately; you should be able to read the calculator clearly and distinctly at arm's length; the machine should have a "CE" or clear entry button which permits you to erase a single faulty entry without erasing your whole column of figures.

Only In America

By Harry Golden

I am convinced that one of the great events, probably the great event, of the 20th century was the Bolshevik revolution. I say this because 53 years ago Russia was a country populated largely by illiterates.

I am not arguing that the Russians could not have made the same advances if the revolutionaries of 1917 had opted for democracy. They could. I am arguing that Russia would still be largely a nation of illiterates if there had been no revolution. Indeed, Russia has paid dearly for its scientific progress.

It took the mechanical Soviets 50 years to produce a poet like Yevtushenko where once Czarist Russia could boast such writers as Tolstoy, Dostoevsky, Chekhov and Gogol. No composer growing up in the Soviet has ever begun to compare with Mussorsky, Rimsky-Korsakov, Borodin, or Tzchaikovsky.

Ironically, our election day in 1967 fell on the 50th anniversary of the November revolution, the day the Bolsheviks took over Russia.

Both countries have come a long way. In November, 1917, the British and French generals were annoyed with Woodrow Wilson for

Ministry Of Health To Ban Cigarette Ads

JERUSALEM — Recommendations by a government committee of civil servants that cigaret advertising be banned from radio programs and that cigaret packages carry health warnings similar to those required in the United States were reported by the Ministry of Health which said the proposals will be considered for legislative action.

The committee also recommended reducing government subsidies to Israeli tobacco growers and encouraging them to switch to less dangerous crops. Also proposed is a ban on persons shown smoking during television appearances.

Israel does not carry advertising on its TV programs but if advertising is introduced, the committee said, a similar ban on cigaret advertising should be applied.

NEW YORK: The Federal Aviation Agency is now working on a revolutionary detection device designed to sniff out bombs the way dogs do at some airports. The device is called the "Smellometer." Bonds To Fit Investment Goal

Q: I wish to achieve monthly payments from corporate bonds yielding 7-1/2%. The amount to be invested is $50,000. My broker advises me that interest on corporate bonds is payable only semiannually. Is this true? G.C.

A: Yes. In order to achieve a monthly return from bonds you will have to invest in a portfolio of at least six different issues with varied payment schedules. For your portfolio, I have selected bonds carrying ratings of BBB or better with maturities 17 to 32 years away, and yielding an average 7.9% currently. 9M Ashland Oil 6.15s of 1992 and 10M Western Union 6-1/2s of 1989, which sell about $170 below face value, will provide approximately $650 in income for February, May, August and November.

The four other bonds are trading at premiums of $70 to $130 and will return between $630 and $700 in each of the remaining months. Purchase seven bonds each of Carolina Tel. & Tel. 9-1/8s of 2000, Pacific Tel. & Tel. 9-1/8s of 2004 and Southern Bell Tel. 9.05s of 2003. 8M G.D. Searle 8.7s of 1995 will round out your monthly income bond portfolio. Readers interested in bond portfolios for various investment goals, including capital gains; should send their request with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Roger E. Spear, care of this newspaper.

Q: Some years ago I purchased Houston Fearless Corporation, which has changed to Image Systems (OTC). What is your opinion on this stock? J.V. & J.B.

A: Refinancing in May of $8 million in notes has improved Image System's working capital position. Noteholders agreed to convert $3 million of the debt to 6.5% nonvoting preferred shares with dividends due after 1973. A 472,507 unit rights offering, filed with the SEC for distribution in September will also strengthen finances. Sales for 1971 were up 45% to $6.1 million, while a 51 cent share loss was sustained. Losses have been reported in each of the last four years as well as in the first quarter of the current year. Sell.

A&P Switches To Discounting

Q: Should I sell my Great Atlantic & Pacific (NYSE) shares and take a big loss? A.W.

A: This is largely a matter of how much patience you have. The company's move into discounting should eventually turn the tide for this giant retailer but it will not be a rapid process. With about 70% of the company's 4,265 outlets now converted to WEOs (Where Economy Originates) — A&P reported the first year-to-year sales increase in seven consecutive quarters. For the 13 weeks ended May 27, sales were up 9% to $1.5 billion and according to management the trend is continuing. Cost of the conversion, however, was held responsible for the 83 cent a share loss reported in this first fiscal quarter. By the third quarter these costs should begin to level out, although profit margins are bound to continue reflecting the reduced take-down available from a discounting operation. For this reason, recovery to former levels of profitability are certainly not anticipated over the near term.

Q: I usually purchase stocks in 25 to 50 share lots until I have accumulated 100 shares. Would I save on commissions and fees waiting until I could buy 100 shares? B.T.

A: Yes, there is a fairly substantial savings on a single 100 share transaction as opposed to four 25 share purchases or even two 50 share lots. The greatest difference in commission costs occur in the higher price ranges. On an $80 issue, the four odd lots cost about 120% more than a round lot, two 50 share blocks about 70% more. For lower priced stocks fees are around 25% higher for two 50 share lots and 50% higher in four 25 share amounts.

Some saving has been passed along to the odd lot investor recently, however, by the New York Stock Exchange. The odd lot differential which was formerly 1/4 point (25 cents) on shares selling at $55 and above has been reduced to 1/8 point (12-1/2 cents). The differential on shares selling below $55 remains unchanged at 1/8.

Churchill Investigated Foreman Before Selling Film Rights

LONDON — Before allowing him to buy the film rights of his biographical work, "My Early Days," Sir Winston Churchill had Carl Foreman's past and background investigated.

Foreman, a card-carrying Communist in his youth in Chicago — "It seemed to me, as a Jew, that the only opposition to the Nazis and Fascists at that time came from the Communist Party" — was later, in the McCarthy era, banned from Hollywood despite his record as the creator of such film classics as "High Noon," still considered by John Wayne to be a work of dangerous leftist tendencies.

Churchill, who, after all, had dealt with Stalin when circumstances warranted it, concluded that Foreman was unlikely to violate his character and turn him into a Bolshevik and permitted him to buy the film rights for an extremely large, but undisclosed, sum of money. That was ten years ago.

Films frequently take a long time from conception to creation but ten years is still exceptional. Churchill himself was impatient and one day growled: "We got the Second Front started much quicker than it's taking you to make the film."

Foreman replied: "You had more men and more money." There were casting problems. Simon Ward, who played Churchill, was still a schoolboy in London ten years ago. There were location problems. India had two wars in the period and, as usual, there was trouble in the Sudan.

After Sir Winston's death, Foreman was helped by his grandson, Winston and, among the "props" he loaned, was Winston's signet ring, worn in the film by Simon Ward.

NAMED GENERAL CHAIRMAN: Louis Handwerger, president of the Rau Fastener Division of U.S. Industries, Inc., has been named general chairman of the area division for the 1972 campaign of the Jewish Federation of Rhode Island, it has been announced by Albert I. Gordon, general campaign chairman.

An attorney and member of the Rhode Island Bar Association, Mr. Handwerger is also a member of the New York and Federal Bar Associations.

Mr. Handwerger is a member of the board of directors of the Jewish Home for the Aged and the Jewish Federation of Rhode Island. He served as associate chairman of the Initial Gifts division of the 1971 campaign.

$1.5 Million For Cancer Research

NEW YORK — A $1.5 million gift for cancer research has been made to the Weizmann Institute of Science in Rehovot by Chicago industrialist Arnold R. Meyer, according to Abraham Feinberg, chairman of the American Committee for the Weizmann Institute of Science and chairman of the institute's board of governors.

Matched by Israeli government funds, the gift will enable the construction of a cancer study center to be known as the Arnold R. Meyer Cancer Research Institute, Feinberg said.

Mrs. Harvey D. Rappoport

Miss Lorraine Raschelle Singer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Singer of 11 Sid Court, Troy, New York, was married on Saturday, January 12, to Harvey David Rappoport, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norton Rappoport of 81 Payton Street. Rabbi Noach Valley and Cantor Abraham Mizrahi officiated at the 10 p.m. ceremony which was held at Temple Ohav Shalom in Albany, New York.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of ivory organza, fashioned with an empire waist and A-line skirt. Appliqued with pearl and crystal Alecon lace, the bodice was styled with a Victorian collar and fitted sleeves. The skirt was made with a pearled Alencon hem and ended in a detachable applique sheer tubular chapel length train. Her matching headpiece held a three tier illusion veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of white crystal roses.

Miss Beena Singer served as maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Miss Diane Frank, Miss Dawn Huber, Miss Beth Messinger, Mrs. Evelyn Rappoport and Mrs. Susan Rappoport. The honor attendants wore full length gowns of chiffon fashioned with empire waists and bell skirts ending in flounced hems. The gown of the maid of honor was in ivory and yellow and those of the bridesmaids in ivory and peach. They carried clutch bouquets of yellow and peach carnations and roses.

Stephen Rappoport, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and ushers were Harvey Feldman, Charles Levitt, Michael Nulman, Howard Rappoport and Ronald Rappoport, brothers of the bridegroom; Frederick Ribner, Steven Rodyn and Jeffrey Singer, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at the temple immediately following the ceremony. The couple will live in Framingham, Massachusetts, when they return from a wedding trip to Bermuda.

The bride was graduated from Troy High School and Boston University School of Education. The bridegroom is a graduate of Hope High School and Boston University College of Liberal Arts. He is presently attending the Massachusetts College of Optometry.

Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chaet of Miami Beach, Florida.

HONOR LIBRARIAN

Mrs. John Estes, librarian of Temple Beth El, received a special recognition award at the recently held Seventh Annual Convention of the Association of Jewish Libraries in Toronto, Canada. The Association, which includes the synagogue, school and center division and the research and special libraries division, presented the surprise award to Mrs. Estes in appreciation for her many years of devoted service.

ENGAGED: Mr. and Mrs. George Konisky of Van Nuys, California, formerly of Providence, announce the engagement of their daughter, Eileen Frances Konisky, to Stephen Stanley Cohen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Cohen of Cranston.

Miss Konisky is attending Los Angeles Valley College and Mr. Cohen is attending Babson College.

ENGAGED: Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Kozlov of 7 Williams Street, Ayer, Massachusetts, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elaine Gerri Kozlov of 11 Madison Street, Warwick, to Steven H. Shapiro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Shapiro of 29 Annual Drive, Cranston.

Miss Kozlov is a graduate of Ayer High School, Wilfred Hair-dressing Academy and the Warwick Academy of Beauty Culture.

Mr. Shapiro was graduated from Cranston High School East and Johnson & Wales College.

An April 8 wedding is planned.

ENGAGED: Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Myers of 111 Elton Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gayle Myers of 208 Fuller Street, Brookline, Massachusetts, to Philip Erwin Sock of 4891 Washington Street, West Roxbury, Massachusetts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Sock of 44 Betsy Williams Drive, Cranston.

Miss Myers is a graduate of Hope High School and the University of Miami, and is attending Suffolk University to earn her master's degree in reading specialist.

A graduate of Cranston High School East and the University of Rhode Island, Mr. Sock is attending Suffolk University where he is working for his master's degree in business administration. He is employed as an assistant account executive of Footwear Merchandising Services in Boston.

A May 27 wedding is planned.

ENGAGED: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cooper of Hyde Park, Massachusetts, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rona Iris, to Marshall H. Glasshoffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Glasshoffer of Cranston.

Mr. Glasshoffer is a graduate of Rhode Island Junior College and is presently attending Roger Williams College.

A November wedding is planned.

Last week's hand was a Grand Slam that took a squeeze to make. Today's is somewhat similar but doesn't start out that way. Furthermore in this hand only twelve tricks have to be taken. However, the counting and planning are here just as they should be in every hand. The only difference is that some are more intricate than others.

Harry Lieberman was Declarer, no one vulnerable, North Dealer with this bidding:

N	E	S	W
INT	P	2♣	P
3♥	P	3♠	P
3NT	P	SNT	End

As soon as South heard North's opening bid he planned on a small Slam but wanted to check on a few things first. His two Club bid was Stayman, North's Heart reply at the three level showing a maximum with a four card Heart and denying four Spades. South's Spade bid was forcing and now simply asked if partner had three Spades, North saying no when he bid No Trump again. He would have raised Spades with three. Note that South now jumped right to six without asking about Aces. He did this because he knew there couldn't be two out for his partner had shown him a top No Trump, at least 17 points. They were playing a range of 15-18. Most pairs ended in the same place and many made it. The idea here is to show that those who almost had Heart attacks before they finally eked it out should have been a bit more confident when it came time to make the key play.

Most Wests led a low Heart, South winning East's Jack and now again as usual came counting time. Three high tricks can be counted in Hearts, Diamonds and Clubs plus at least two in Spades after the second Ace is knocked out. If the Spades break evenly or the 10 falls on the second round the remaining needed tricks can be found there but on testing that suit neither happened.

The most likely next place to try was the Hearts, Declarer had carefully noted East's play of the Jack at trick one likely indicating that West would have the ten but East might have been false-carding and this Declarer was not inclined to take unnecessary chances when there might be a certainty. He intended to take that Heart finesse only as a last resort (Today's moral). He played all of his other high tricks before touching those Hearts and this is what happened, all of which he carefully noted. East had already shown out of Spades so West was known to have the high 10 there. This card was one he had to hold on to. On the third Club he threw one of his three Diamonds but now what could he discard on the third Diamond? Certainly not that Spade for he also had seen his partner show out and knew what Declarer had there. He had to discard a Heart but had a sunken feeling as he did so.

Now came the Hearts and North's 9 became a sure trick when West's 10 had to be played on the third round. Some of the other Declarers did take that Heart finesse which did work but they experienced a very anxious moment before East showed out and that same 9 became their fulfilling trick, too.

Moral: Finesses are a fine way to gain tricks but should only be taken as a last resort when there is no other way to get that trick. Also, they should be postponed if something can be tried first.

Throw Bags With Blood At Ukrainian Dancers

NEW YORK — An attempt to halt the performance of the Ukrainian Dance Company at the Lincoln Center by two young Brooklyn Jewish activists, who threw plastic bags filled with animal blood on the stage, failed when plainclothes detectives rushed the two out of the building, police reported. The stage was splattered with blood but any other plans the activists had to stop the performance were foiled when they were ejected and arrested.

Avran Malek, 21, and Joseph Klein, 19, ran down the aisles 15 minutes after the Russian dance troupe began its regular performance and threw the blood-filled bags on stage. Some of the bags burst on impact but the dancers finished their number.

The company began a two-week run here on July 24 while 40 members of the National Conference for Soviet Jewry and the Student Struggle for Soviet Jewry demonstrated outside the building.

Shortly after the arrests, a woman called a New York newspaper and read a statement which said "we have just received word that the condition of Silva Zalmanson and Raiza Palatnik," two Jewish women activists now in Soviet jails, "has alarmingly deteriorated in recent days." The message also said "Soviet culture will not be allowed in New York while Soviet Jews languish in concentration camps" and "Silva and Raiza die of starvation and disease."

Cardinal, Primate Condemn Soviet Anti-Semitism

LONDON — Cardinal John Heenan of Westminster and the Anglican Primate, Archbishop Michael Ramsey of Canterbury, presided at a meeting of the Council of Christians and Jews, which condemned Soviet antisemitism.

The cardinal and the primate are joint presidents of the council.

"We find any discrimination on grounds of religion and race to be abhorrent and we continue to witness against it," Dr. Ramsey said.

But, he said, he welcomed wholeheartedly the news that many Jews are being allowed every month to emigrate from the Soviet Union "to the Holy Land."

Foreign Policy Clash Between Rabin, Eban Introduced At Cabinet

JERUSALEM — Foreign Minister Abba Eban told the Cabinet at its regular weekly session that United Nations peace emissary Gunnar V. Jarring did not offer any new ideas to Israel at a recent meeting with Israel Ambassador Yosef Tekoah at the UN. Eban also briefed the Cabinet on the meeting between Yitzhak Rabin, Israel's Ambassador to the United States and US Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco. However, the Cabinet secretary refused to give any details of the Rabin-Sisco meeting.

The widely-bruited foreign policy clash between Eban and Rabin was taken up briefly at the Cabinet meeting when Moshe Kol, the Tourism Minister, asked about it. Kol implied that the publicity was harmful. Israel Gallil, Minister-Without-Portfolio and confidant to Premier Golda Meir, intervened to say the matter was being handled by Mrs. Meir and Eban and that therefore there was no point in the Cabinet discussing it.

Gen. Rabin had cabled Eban a suggestion that Israel withdraw from the Jarring talks, which the Swedish envoy sought to resume at UN Secretary General Kurt Waldheim's request. Rabin also proposed that Israel reduce its UN representation. Both proposals found their way into the press.

Eban told newsmen Rabin's ideas had not found a single supporter in the Cabinet but another Minister, believed to be Gallil, said later that Rabin's suggestions had not been brought up before the Cabinet. The Cabinet secretary declined any comment to set the record straight.

In an interview after a television interview here, Rabin said he was "shocked" that his messages to Eban had been released, particularly he said, since the released reports were not accurate. What he had suggested, he declared, was that Israel's Foreign Ministry "learn the lessons" from reverses at the Security Council. He suggested that Israel refuse to return to the Jarring talks until Dr. Jarring agreed to try to bring the two sides together in direct negotiations. He added that he had not suggested that his ideas be made public.

Rabin said in the television interview that both Israel and the United States felt the best chance for Mideast peace lay in an interim agreement for re-opening of the Suez Canal. He said Israel should therefore concentrate on that goal and try to "close the option" on an overall settlement based on Security Council Resolution 242, Dr. Jarring's efforts and the UN.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

North Sea Holdings Benefit Indiana Standard

Q: I have owned shares of Standard Oil of Indiana (NYSE) for many years. We are now retired living on Social Security. I wonder if these shares go up to $80 again, as they did in 1964 before the two for one split, should I sell? L.M.

A: At a time when many of the major oil companies are experiencing difficulties in earnings and with the Arab and OPEC nations, Indiana Standard emerges as an exception. More than two-thirds of its production comes for North America and for the future, output from its major participation in the North Sea holds exceptional promise.

Although the company has not escaped the effects of chronically weak refined product prices that have plagued the entire industry, it is one of the few producers that managed to life profits in the first quarter. Indiana Standard reported a 5% gain in net income on a 7% increase in revenues for the period. With the overall profit picture expected to improve over the balance of the year, full year earnings could reach $5.25 a share. Thus, unless you are in need of the capital, shares should be retained.

Q: I have no knowledge of the bond market and am concerned about bonds left to me by my husband. The bonds are $5,000 Pacific Northwest Bell Telephone 6-3/4s due 2007 and $10,000 Standard Oil of New Jersey 6% due 1997. I am interested in preserving my capital for my grandchildren and in providing income for myself. P.J.

A: Although both these highest quality bonds are trading below par value, there is no reason to be concerned about their safety. Interest charges are amply covered by earnings, 2.51x for Pacific and 5.87x for Standard. Based on current selling prices, your bonds yield 6.9%, a better interest rate than is available in savings certificates.

These debt obligations will continue to provide a secure income during your lifetime, while retaining their full face value at maturity.

Interior Minister Burg To Maintain Liberal Policy
 JERUSALEM — Interior Minister Yosef Burg told the Knesset that he intends to maintain his liberal policy with regard to granting Israeli citizenship to applicants not covered by the Law of Return. He said that last year all but two out of 151 such applicants were granted citizenship, the two having been rejected for security reasons. The Law of Return confers Israeli citizenship on Jews arriving here who opt for it.

Dr. Burg issued a strong warning to foreigners who traffic in drugs. He said that expulsion orders would continue to be issued against such persons, Jewish or non-Jewish. He also warned tourists who take jobs in Israel without securing a permit or who extend their visits without renewing their visas that they face possible expulsion.

The Interior Minister said vigorous measures were being taken to detect such persons.

NEW YORK — William Mercur, press agent for more than 100 Yiddish theater productions here and on tour in the last 40 years died last week in Beth Israel Hospital. He was 74 years old and lived at 223 Second Avenue.

Mr. Mercur was currently publicist for "Yoshe Kalb" by I. J. Singer, scheduled to open in October at the Eden Theater. Last season he handled "The Laughmaker" starring Leo Fuchs, at the same theater.

For 20 years Mr. Mercur had been press agent for the late Maurice Schwartz and his Yiddish Art Theater and for 10 years for Jacob Jacobs and his Yiddish musical comedy productions at the Anderson Theater. He was the author of "Mercurios," 1948, and "Walls Have Ears," 1968, both of which deal with the Yiddish Theater.

Mr. Mercur began as an actor in his native Galicia in 1916 and came to the United States in 1920, acted in theaters here and in Chicago and wrote plays for the Yiddish stage.

A son, Dr. Leon Mercur, survives.

5,000 Youngsters In Summer Camps
 NEW YORK — Merkos L'Inyonel Chinuch, the educational arm of the Lubavitcher movement, announced a record enrollment of 5,000 Jewish youngsters in the more than a dozen Lubavitcher summer camps located on six continents.

A spokesman for the Hassidic organization reported that the youngsters in the boys' camps, called Gan Israel, come from a variety of backgrounds, observant and non-observant.

The spokesman said, "we encourage the mixture of Yeshiva students and children of other backgrounds. While one enjoys an intellectual rest and a period of physical development, the non-Yeshiva child is given the opportunity for spiritual growth. The effect on the latter remains with him long after he leaves camp," he asserted.

Hello Again!
 News of the Sports World by Warren Walden

SAME DIFFERENCE, BASIC: If everything is the same, there is no difference; if everything is "major," there is no "major." And, starting there, "—Quo Vadis?" It's a problem, this expansion in the professional sports world. Is it wise or, in the case of major league baseball, is it coinciding with the fable of the greedy beggar? Or, who plays third base for Kansas City and who is the right fielder for Houston? And can the fans tell the players without a scorecard? Are there too many teams; too many pennant races.

SHADE OF THE FEDERAL LEAGUE: Back in the early 1900s, the Federal League came into existence; raided the ranks

TIME MARCHED ON: (It usually does. And does anybody recall that old radio program with its stirring music and the voice that so seriously said, "Time Marches On!") In more recent years, the famed Branch Rickey moved into the baseball spotlight once again. He was in it in the days of the Federal League, moving back and forth in and out of prominence like a swinging door. This time, Mr. Rickey was promoting an idea for a third major baseball league under the name of the "Continental League." One of our outstanding Attorneys, a man of great wisdom, was unofficially "in" on Branch Rickey's plans. It was Walter G. Sundlun, a great baseball fan for many years, who had conversations with Mr. Rickey. And, it was at that time that Mr. Sundlun presented a logical theory concerning a new location for the home park of the Red Sox. It was a good one, the soundness of Mr. Sundlun's suggestion for a location being proven by the success of Schaefer's Stadium, home of the Patriots. He still has the plans and the presentation.

WAS IT THE REASON? Shortly after the plans for forming a third Major League became known, the American and National Leagues expanded from coast to coast. And was the expansion move a good one? Is the fact that Major League Baseball is in so many territories, coupled with television broadcasts the reason why Minor League Baseball started disappearing; cutting off the supply of players at the grass-roots?

AND NOW: The American and National Leagues, divided into several sections, are apparently seeking something new. Talk is about three eight team leagues — or — four six team leagues. I favor the three-eight-team idea. Discussions concerning relative merits would keep gossip humming. Teams in each league would be seen more often; fans would get acquainted with the players; know what to expect. Discussions, conversations, arguments! All keeping interest at fever pitch. And fans would know the players — with or without — a scorecard. — CARRY ON!

a new book by Mike Timkies, "It Sure Beats Working: the Robert Mitchum Story" . . . William Parker, who was voted "Singer of the Year" in 1970 by the National Association of Teachers of Singing, will make his screen debut in "The Great Waltz."

Dustin Hoffman, whose most famous film, "The Graduate," has just been re-released around the country, said he didn't know he wanted to be a movie star until he won the role in that film. "I'd always wanted to be an artist," he said. "Sure I had studied acting before, but in those days, all I did was choose the classes which had the prettiest girls. I paid no attention to the teachers."

During the filming of "Midnight Cowboy," Hoffman and his costar, Jon Voight, would accompany the director, John Schlesinger, to fancy restaurants in New York — in character: Hoffman as the greasy hustler and Voight as the male prostitute. "Now THAT'S how to learn about a character," Hoffman commented. "After all, we actors are all liars. We're just making someone else believe something that's untrue."

NEED MORE STEPS
JERUSALEM — More steps need to be taken so that new immigrants can arrange, under one roof, all of their affairs which usually involve several government departments, according to a report by Absorption Minister Natan Peled to the Knesset.

Warns Security Of Jews Cannot Be Achieved With Only Right Or Left

JERUSALEM — Rabbi Arthur Hertzberg, the president of the American Jewish Congress, warned here that the security of the Jews in America and in Israel could not be achieved by any permanent alliance with either the left or the right. Speaking at the opening session of the tenth annual American-Israel Dialogue at the Van Leer Jerusalem Foundation, the Englewood, N.J. rabbi declared that "Jews are safest in the non-doctrinaire, non-ideological regimes."

He added that when revolutions of both right and left try to remake men to fit their image they "always find the Jew to be obdurate and peculiar." Rabbi Hertzberg, who is also a Columbia University history professor, assailed the "thesis of left-wing opinion that revolutionary change towards a new social order will inevitably make an end of anti-Semitism." The AJCongress-sponsored dialogue annually brings together some 40 leading American Jewish and Israeli scholars. The theme this year is "Jews and Revolutionary Forces."

Rabbi Hertzberg added that modern revolutionary dogma has maintained that the Jew was "irretrievably alien and even dangerous and that the new world of the future had to safeguard itself by excluding him." He said "It is not at all surprising that the State of Israel has not succeeded in convincing the third world that it is the forerunner of contemporary post-colonial national development."

But he also criticized Jews in Israel and in the United States who "overreacted" and moved radically to the right. He said that "right-wing regimes are no friendlier to Israel than the new dictatorships of the left." He added that "in the United States, there is some reason to suspect that reactionary forces are quite consciously willing to offer much of the Jewish position in American society to other ethnics — not only Blacks — so that those who really control the American economy will be left relatively untouched."

Dayan Denies Promise To Greek Composer

TEL AVIV — Mikis Theodorakis, the world-famous composer who is in exile from his native Greece, is carrying on his campaign against the "regime of the Colonels" during his current visit to Israel, a campaign which drew a flat denial from Defense Minister Moshe Dayan of an alleged promise several years ago to the composer to help him in his anti-government effort.

The composer came to Israel to participate in the annual drama and music festival and has spent some of his time meeting with leftist groups in Israel at which he has expressed his opposition to the Greek regime.

One of the meetings was held at the home of Amos Kenan, a dissident Israeli journalist. There the composer reportedly said that several years ago, Gen. Dayan promised him help in creation of a Greek underground.

Theodorakis, said then to have been a member of the Communist Party, told the meeting at Kenan's home that he had brought the purported Dayan offer before his colleagues and that they rejected it.

A spokesman for Gen. Dayan said the Defense Minister had never met the composer and had accordingly never talked about such a proposal.

ABORTIONS INCREASE

JERUSALEM — An epidemic of German measles during the past two months has brought about a rise of between 30-50% in the number of medical abortions performed in Israeli hospitals, it was reported. The disease can cause death or malformation of an unborn infant if contracted by the mother during the first three months of pregnancy.

12 Israelis Rescued From Burning Ship

TEL AVIV — The lives of all but one of the 13 members were saved from the burning wreckage of the SS Bat Tiran, which exploded off a Greek island and shortly thereafter was declared lost. The victim, the only non-Israeli aboard, was identified as the ship's 43-year-old Yugoslavian petty officer. His body was taken off the flaming hulk when rescuers from Greek tugboats came to the scene.

The 2,500-ton freighter was enroute from Yugoslavia with a cargo of materials including chemicals. Flames spread so fast as to engulf the life boats before there was time to lower them. The crew managed their escape via the self-floating dinghies, which were bobbing in the water and separating before the rescue seamen arrived to assemble the survivors. Five of the men were slightly injured.

The Bat Tiran, flying an Israeli flag, was still burning as a team of Israeli experts left for Greece to investigate.

FACES EXAMINATION
NEW YORK — One of the 10 Soviet Jewish activists ordered to report for military duty has been ordered to see a psychiatrist, according to Jewish sources in the Soviet Union. The sources said Victor Yakhout, a scientist and an officer in the Red Army reserve, faces a psychiatric examination. Yakhout is regarded as one of the most militant of the Jewish reservists protesting their call-up orders. All have applied for exit visas to go to Israel. The orders to report for duty are seen as a device to get the most militant Jewish activists out of Moscow before President Nixon arrives there for summit talks on May 22.

The Treasure Chest

Of Outstanding Offers and Opportunities
 By Alan Shawn Feinstein

Hello again. Here's what we have for you this week.

First, a little known publication chock full of ideas and ways on how to make money from mail order; marketing tips and information, new product news, dealer opportunities and more. For your free copy write to "Timely Tips" Magazine, Box 3455, Merchandise Mart, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

There's another magazine, just out with its first issue, called "Guide to Earning Extra Income." I haven't been able to confirm yet if they will send out free sample copies but if you write them requesting one, stating you're interested in extra income ideas and possibly subscribing to this publication, chances are they'll comply. You're doing it at a right time — when they're new and most anxious to attract readers. (And before the usual glut of mail starts coming to them.) You can write them c/o Ziff-Davis Publishing Company, One Park Avenue, New York, New York 10016.

Have you a new product or invention — or a good idea for one? Write Gordon Merryfield, 3623 North Pine Grove Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60613 and tell him about it. He keeps in close touch with individuals and companies looking for all kinds of new items. With the know-how, money and promotional skills to put to work for almost anything worthwhile.

Interested in making your savings grow? There are several ways worth considering. To mention a few, no-load mutual funds, scotch whiskey and rare coins have rewarded investors handsomely at various times and under certain conditions. I'll be discussing them in some future column.

That's it for now. But coming up next, more aids to help you make money. Plus some valuable items for you free.

That, my friends, is for you next week. P.S. Please realize that a lot of requests for any items reported in these columns can cause a delay in replying, perhaps several weeks. So try to be patient. However, should you get no response at all from something in my columns, please let me know. Though everything is checked before inclusion, occasionally something becomes suddenly no longer available without my knowledge. Should this happen, as soon as I know I'll delete it from further mention.

Do you know of anything you feel would be worth mentioning in "The Treasure Chest?" If so, send it to Alan Feinstein, Box 2174, Cranston, Rhode Island 02905. Items of most merit will be used, with acknowledgement to their senders, in later columns.

Reunite Jewish Woman With Half-Brother

TEL AVIV — A Jewish woman, who was found recently living as an Arab in a refugee camp near Ramallah, was reunited with her half-brother at the Ramallah police station. Esther Shihroun embraced and kissed Joseph Assor of Haifa, after verification of their family ties.

Kidnapped 26 years ago by an Arab in Haifa, she was taken to Jaffa. Twice married she had three children by her second husband, who has since returned to Jordan. She said she planned to return to Haifa and declare her return to the Jewish faith. Two of her three children will go with her to Haifa.

She was found by Rabbi Hannala Derli, who locates Jewish children abducted in the pre-State period.

Israel Refuses To Sell Building

JERUSALEM — The Foreign Ministry has sharply rejected an offer by President Idi Amin of Uganda to buy the former Israeli embassy building in Kampala. President Amin, who ousted Israel's diplomatic and commercial missions from Uganda, announced he intended giving the building to the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Israel's rejection was conveyed via the Italian government, which has been handling Israel's interests in Kampala since April when all Israelis were evicted from Uganda. Amin reportedly had asked the Italians to act as go-betweens to negotiate the purchase of the building.
