JEWISH CENTER PLAYERS VICTORS IN SPRINGFIELD CONFERENCE COMPETITION

Providence Group Triumphs Over New Haven and Bay State Performers

To Give Herbert Operetta

Six years of earnest effort to build up a Jewish dramatic organization in Providence that would achieve widespread recognition, were climaxed this week by the triumph of the Jewish Community Players in a contest with New Haven and Springfield groups in the latter city.

The Providence players were awarded highest honors at the second annual conference of New England Association of Jewish Center Executives held there. Coached by Mrs. Samuel Starr, they presented "Forgotten Souls" with a cast including Evelyn Siegal, Mina Uditsky and Leo Cohen.

Started In 1927

Organized in 1927, the Jewish Center Players have pleased thousands with their performances of comedy and tragedy from the start. The first coach was Mrs. Frederick Thompson and later Miss Phyllis Rivard took over the burden. For the past four years, during which the players have made their greatest progress and attracted most interest, Mrs. Starr has guided their performances.

This year the players presented three one-act plays and will close the season May 31 at the Providence Plantations Club with a performance of Victor Herbert's two-act operetta, "Sweethearts."

Only Jewish Group

The players are the only Jewish dramatic organization in Rhode Island.

The cast for the final play of the season will consist of 45 persons with leads taken by Miss Siegal, Mary Orlandsky, Dorothy Waldman, Macy Gordon, Leo Cohen, Fred Summerfield, Sigmund Block, Al Gurwitz, Sidney Long, Dorothy Spiegle, Norma Gouse, Ethel Shukovsky, Rebecca Goldstein, Charlotte Snow, Hilda Raphael and Joseph Gordon.

Louis Feiner Association Elects Officers; Plans Banquet and Installation

Mr. Zuckerberg, chairman of the annual banquet and installation, to be held the latter part of April, reported that plans are progressing.

Judge Harry M. Fisher was chairman of the temporary committee which called the meeting. A permanent organization was formed and officers were elected.

More than 150,000 persons are expected to attend the fair that day because of the Jewish interest, Jacob M. Braude, president of the Zionist Organization of Chicago, declared. Rabbi Solomon Goldman, chairman of the permanent committee, and Meyer W. Weissgal, executive director of the

PALESTINE MAY BE HAVEN FOR GERMAN JEWS

Commissioner Promises to Consider Permitting Refugees to Enter Land

Will Give Answer Soon

Jerusalem, April 7—(JTA)—A promise to consider sympathetically the question of the entry of German Jews into Palestine was made today by the High Commissioner, Sir Arthur Wauchop, when Dr. C. Arlosoroff, head of the political department of the Jewish Agency, called on him with a report of the Jewish situation in Germany.

Dr. Arlosoroff submitted three requests to the High Commissioner. He asked firstly, that the immigration department should make immediately available for German Jews without means several hundred immigration certificates; secondly, that a larger immigration of German Jews with capital should be made possible; thirdly, that Palestinian residents should be privileged to bring into the country relatives from Germany, particularly wives and children.

It is understood that the High Commissioner promised to give a considered reply to these requests on Thursday.

London, April 7—(JTA)—A powerful plea was made in the House of Commons today for the relaxation of immigration restrictions into Palestine for German Jewish refugees, by Col. Josiah Wedgwood, Commander Locker Lampson and James Maxton.

Sir Philip Cunliffe Lister, Minister for the Colonies, pointed out in reply that the Jewish Agency was in a position to make representations to the High Commissioner on the question of immigration. He added, however, that it was impossible to depart from the principle of regulating Palestine immigration in accordance with the economic absorptive capacity of the country. He observed that the immigration figures for the last year, which showed a considerable increase over previous years, were already exceeded this year. Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister concluded with emphasis that any departure from the principle of absorptive capacity, involving a considerable increase of immigration, would mean disaster, especially as it might be interpreted that the Mandate was not being carried out with equal favor toward Arab and Jew.

Soviets Permit Matzoth Baking

Permission Granted After Intervention by Religious Unit

Moscow, April 7—(JTA)—Following intervention by the Religious Commission of the Central Executive Committee, the Moscow Soviets finally permitted the Kehillah to open a bakery for Matzoth. The community immediately engaged thirty bakers to cope with the baking, in view of the short time to Passover, and the fact that it will be the only Matzoth bakery for the whole of Moscow.

It is hoped to satisfy all the requirements for Matzoth in Moscow, particularly as the majority buy only small quantities in view of the high cost and many will satisfy themselves with the home-baked Matzoth.

In the provinces where the technical difficulties connected with the installment of bakeries are insuperable at such short notice, Matzoth will be baked in small ovens, each family providing for itself.

J. T. A. OFFICES CARRY OUT FIRST TELEPHONIC TALK

Berlin, April 7—(JTA)—The first successful experiment at telephonic communication between Berlin and Jerusalem was made recently when the Berlin office of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency conversed with the Jerusalem office.

The conversation, which consisted of an exchange of greetings, was excellently heard.

Pressure in Cabinet Forces Hitlerites to Amend Boycott Plan

Jewish Food Shops Permitted to Open Next Two Sundays

Jewish food stores in Providence will be permitted to remain open as a result of the Passover holidays on the next two Sundays April 9 and April 16 it was announced today.

Rabbi Joshua Werner of the South Providence Orthodox Congregations indicated that Police Chief Edward Kelly has granted this request as a special dispensation for the Passover holidays.

Prominent Local Cantor Succumbs

Abraham Cohen, 67, Had Been Providence Resident Over Forty Years

Abraham Cohen, well-known Cantor of the Anshe Kovno Synagogue, Orms street, died Sunday evening at his residence, 312 Douglas avenue, after a brief illness. He was a resident of this city for more than forty years.

Mr. Cohen was born in Russia and settled in Providence when he came to this country. For the past ten years he had been Cantor of the synagogue and last year was President of the congregation. He was also a former President of the Max Nordau Lodge and had been active as a member of the Independent Order of Brith Shalom, the Independent Order of Brith Abraham, the Hebrew Free Loan Association, the Jewish Home for the Aged and the Providence Yeshivah Association.

Burial took place at noon Monday from his home. Mr. Cohen leaves his wife, Rose; seven sons, Joseph, Albert, Jacob, Ernest, Harold, Martin and Sidney; three daughters Mrs. Morris Gomborg of Fall River, Mrs. Abraham L. Jacobs and Miss Jeanette Cohen of this city, and seven grandchildren.

Von Neurath Reported to Have Threatened to Resign; Non-Nazis Oppose Idea

Hindenburg Ready to Act

Berlin, April 7—(JTA)—It is understood here that the last-minute modifications in the Nazi boycott plans in Germany, were due not only to Foreign Minister Neurath's threatened resignation, but also to pressure from Hugenberg, leader of the Nationalists, and Dr. Schacht, head of the Deutsche Bank.

It appears also that strenuous efforts were made by the non-Nazi members of the cabinet to compel a complete abandonment of the boycott and that these efforts were reinforced by the representations of some of the greatest German industrialists, including Krupp's and Siemens'. It was only in deference to the Nazi argument that complete abandonment would be too much of a strain on the discipline of the Nazi troops and might produce widespread violence, that the majority of the cabinet agreed to the one-day boycott, but with the strict stipulation that it would not be resumed.

There is also strong reason for the belief that President von Hindenburg threw his weight on the side of the abandonment of the boycott and was even prepared to use the powers left to him by the Enabling Act, which created a cabinet dictatorship.

It is expected that President von Hindenburg will today reply to the appeal for intervention made to him by German Jewish organizations last week.

Jewish Shops Reopen

Jewish shops reopened Tuesday in Berlin and in cities throughout Germany. Although the threat of a resumption of the boycott still hangs suspended over the head of an apprehensive Jewry, there is a feeling that the boycott will not be resumed.

The fact that it has become known that the boycott evoked strong opposition in the cabinet is also regarded likely to produce public expressions of disapproval of the boycott action, which might otherwise not have found expression.

Sale of Transjordan Land To Jews Upheld In Council

Amman, April 7—(JTA)—A last effort to block permanently the sale of Transjordan land to Jews failed last Saturday when the Transjordan government, which is in opposition to Emir Abdullah, was defeated in their effort to carry a bill prohibiting the sale or lease of land to non-Transjordanians.

The bill, which was before the closing session of the Transjordan legislative council, was defeated by thirteen votes to three. The government representative, sensing defeat, urged that the bill be deferred to the next session, and that the matter be left open until that time.

Insist on Vote

The majority, however, insisted on an immediate vote, thus totally and finally disposing of the opposition, and demonstrating that they wished the doors of Transjordan to be opened to the Jews. The whole discussion and debate connected with the bill, made it quite clear that the question of Jewish settlement in Transjordan was the main subject in the minds of the members of the legislative council.

The result of the voting is regarded in Jewish circles as a supreme victory for the Emir's policy of inviting Jewish settlement.

Police Leave Banned

Jerusalem, April 7—(JTA)—All leave for Palestine police during the Nebi Mussa Festival has been cancelled. The entire police force is to be mobilized from the 3rd to the 23rd of April, during which period all police will be on continuous duty and subject to orders at any moment during day and night.

The Palestine government has informed the Jewish Telegraphic Agency that it has no reason to believe that the Nebi Mussa Festival this year will pass differently from last year.

The Nebi Mussa Festival, celebrated by Moslems in Palestine, has frequently coincided with outbreaks of fanaticism and bloodshed, resulting from the fanatical processions, the demonstrations, and the wild sword dances that accompany the pilgrimages from the towns and villages to Nebi Mussa, south of Jerusalem, believed by Moslems to be the tomb of Moses.

PASSOVER MESSAGE

By M. P. OSTROW
Supt. Home for the Aged

Passover brings the message of liberation and freedom. Nature is liberated of bonds of winter darkness and cold, and man is supposed to be led to the freedom from slavery of prejudice, hatred and egotism. Nature celebrates the holiday in dressing up jubilantly in a bright costume of green, and sprouts forth blossoms of what will grow into beautiful flowers and luscious fruits. Unfortunately, man has as yet not learned the lesson of Passover. At this time, more than any other, many of the nations of the world are held fast in the throes of hatred, prejudice and selfishness.

As Jews, we hold sacred our ideals of freedom and cling to them with the hope that humanity at large will learn the lesson before long.

There is nothing more beautiful than the Seder ceremony as performed by the truly religious Jews. In the Home for the Aged, the old folks will wear traditional white robes, and will go through the ceremony of eating bitter herbs and reciting portions of the Hagaddah in song and recitation, in accordance with our established tradition. Anyone who comes to witness these services could not help but become inspired with the beautiful lesson of liberation and freedom that the Jews have carried to the world for many thousands of years.

HOSPITAL COMPLETES PLANS FOR PASSOVER

By CHARLES M. HOFFMAN, MIRIAM HOSPITAL

The traditional practice of the Passover ritual will be observed as usual this year at the Miriam Hospital, during the eight days beginning Monday, April 10th. Special preparation will be given to all food for patients according to the strict requirements of the dietary laws. A special committee from the Miriam Hospital Association, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Louis Lovett, will alternate in the supervision of all meals served, and another committee headed by Mrs. Louis Smira will provide the Passover cakes and goodies that will be required from day to day during this important holiday.

The patients who are expected to remain in the hospital during the Passover period are elated at the fact that they will be enabled to observe their Holy Days in the same fashion as they would if they were in their own homes. So far as we know, there is no institution in Rhode Island that has either the facilities or the inclination to cater to the unfortunate sick of the Jewish faith, and this is another step taken forward by the Miriam Hospital in satisfying its patients in every detail and injecting the home atmosphere, thus hastening for a speedy recovery.

The Passover menu will be prepared to satisfy the most fastidious patient, and the mere mention of it will make the mouth of anybody "water." Kugle, lotkis, knedlich, matzoth balls and bursht will be alternated on the daily menu and served where the condition of the patient permits. sacramental wine will also be on tap. In addition, the female patients will be provided with facilities for benchen lecht whenever indicated.

The Rhode Island Supply Company, 755 Westminster street, through Benjamin Bliss, presented a high chair, to the Home to facilitate the work.

BASKETBALL

"Zelda is fond of walking, but her favorite sport is talking."
"Joseph, as a basketball star, in the future should go far."
"Beatrice is gaining weight; the cook she is trying to emulate."
"If about any subject you want to know, to Dr. Wolfenson you should go."

TEMPS FROUD FRANCE IS ASYLUM FOR REFUGEES

GIRLS GIVEN PIANO LESSONS

Three girls of the Home, who have been given instruction on the piano since last October by Miss M. Sigal, 750 Potters avenue, are making good progress in music.

The Orphanage now has three pianos, the gift of interested friends, and thus has facilities for all children who have ability in the line of music.

TREATS FOR CHILDREN

The lives of the youngsters were again "sweetened" this week by a generous gift of candy from the E. Rosen Company, Charles street.

Nathan Landy of Landy's Barber Shop, has taken over the cutting of hair for all the children of the Orphanage, without cost.

PASSOVER — THE FEAST OF EMANCIPATION

Passover, which begins this year on the evening of April 10, has, from remote antiquity, been taken to commemorate the deliverance of the Israelites from Egypt after 430 years of bitter servitude. The account of the sufferings of the Israelites and of their liberation occupies the first fifteen chapters of the Book of Exodus.

Compliant with the Biblical command, the observant Jew, during the Passover week, abstains strictly from the use of all leavened substances. Instead of the ordinary yeast bread, a species of large cracker, called Matzoth or unleavened bread, is eaten.

While the entire week is festive in its nature, the large public gatherings for Passover worship take place in the synagogues only at the beginning of the Passover week and at the end. Orthodox Jews have two days of "holy convocation" at either extreme, while Reform Jews observe only the first and seventh days.

Perhaps the most significant and beautiful aspect of the Passover celebration is the service which is held within the Jewish home on the first evening of the feast; among Orthodox Jews, upon the first and second evenings.

The members of the family and their guests sit around the dinner table, which is spread with festive elegance. Upon the table are "bitter herbs" and the roasted shank bone, the egg, the parsley, the bowl of salt water, the unleavened bread and other symbols. The service is read or rather chanted from a curious old book, called the "Haggadah," which tells, with not a little wit, humor, pathos and sublimity about the deliverance from Egypt, giving thanks for the great act of divine mercy, in many a psalm and hymn.

As a rule, the topic for pulpit disquisition on Passover is some thought related to the theme of "religious liberty." On Passover, above all other festivals, the Jew finds the traditions of his religion in striking accord with the ideals of American life.

TIDBITS AND NEWS OF JEWISH PERSONALITIES

By DAVID SCHWARTZ

A Nazi Conversation

Max Goebel, in the bosom of his family circle, in Berlin, expressed great gratification, at the Hitlerist drive against the Jews.

"We must teach these verdammete Jews a lesson," said Goebel. "Hitler is right. But we must even go further. We must not only boycott them, but we must boycott everything of any Jewish origin. You understand, Hans, everything Jewish, even in origin, must be banned. Everything Jewish is damned, Hans, damned, do you hear?"

"Yes, father, yes," said Hans, as he approached the radio to dial in for a broadcast by Hitler.

"Stop that radio immediately," said Goebel.

"But father, I am tuning in to hear Hitler."

"Not even for that," thundered Goebel. "Throw that radio out. Break it into pieces. There should be no more radios in German homes. Don't you know that the radio was built on the theories of a Jew, Heinrich Hertz, discoverer of the Hertzian waves. Besides that, there have been any number of other Jewish inventions in the perfection of the radio."

"All right, father," said Hans, "we'll have a party of Nazis here in the evening and won't we give that radio hell. We'll smash it up right."

"That's a boy," said Goebel. "I see you have a true Nazi soul. Germany is safe with such as you. We Germans are great enough, not to need any Jewish assistance. We are the greatest cultural people in the world. What other nation has won so many Nobel prizes?"

"The Germans have won not less than eleven of the Nobel prizes," continued Goebel.

"But, father, I understand, seven out of those eleven were Jews," said Hans.

"They were, were they? I didn't know that. Well, that only goes to show we must boycott the Nobel prizes. Yes, Hans, we must extend the boycott to include them."

"I guess you are right father," said Hans. "How about a game of chess?"

"What!" said Goebel, "play a game as Jewish as that. Sixty per cent. at least of the great chess players are Jewish. Almost all of the champions of the game are Jewish. The philosophy of that game has largely been formulated by Jews. No, sir, Hans, the proper game for a Nazi is not chess, it is playing with swords and fists. There is a lot of fun, Hans, in smashing things, more fun than in chess, I warrant you."

"But there is nothing to smash now," returned Hans. "I can't play the radio and I can't play chess. It's so dull. I guess I'll go down to the show."

"What show?" asked Goebel.

"Oh, I don't know. Maybe I'll drop in at Max Feinhardt's. They say he is staging Shakespeare, as it never has been done before."

"What! to see that verdammete Jew show?"

"Oh, I don't think he is much of a Jew. He is married to a Christian woman, and has never been particularly Jewish."

"What did I tell you? Anything with the least taint of a Jew is forbidden."

"Well, father," said Hans, "if that is the case, a great many things will have to stop. The greatest of German industries, the chemical industries, notably the dye-stuff industry, is largely the product of Jewish chemists."

"Well, then," said Goebel, "we must close them. The new Germany must be under no obligations whatever to Jews."

"And Germany's steamship lines," continued Hans, "are largely traceable to Albert Ballin, who was a Jew."

"Well, we must burn them to bits and build up new ships," said Goebel.

"But, father, almost all of our agriculture would revert to a stage of primitiveness. Our fields today are largely fertilized by the nitrogen secured from the air, by a process discovered by the Nobel prize winner, Fritz Haber, a Jew, who, you remember, was head of the chemical organization of Germany during the war."

"Then let the fields lie fallow," said Goebel.

"Perhaps you are right, father. Well, I think I'll go and read something. I have an interesting book of Schmitzler's plays."

"Schmitzler, eh? There will be no reading of Schmitzler in this household. No Schmitzler, and no Zweig and no Wassermans—none of that Jewish breed, you understand?"

"Well, I don't know what I can do with myself," said Hans. "I wish Oscar would come," said Hans, starting to whistle.

Ich weiss nicht was soll es, bedeuten das ich so traurig bin.

"Stop that, stop that," shouted Goebel. "I want no whistling singing or even mentioning of the name of Heine in this household."

"But, father, he is one of the greatest of the German lyric poets."

"No, Heine, do you understand?" said Goebel curtly.

"Oh, well, all right," said Hans.

"I suppose," continued Hans, "that means that I mustn't play any of the works of Rubinstein, Meyerbeer or Mendelssohn."

"Exactly," said Goebel.

"But suppose I get married, and my bride insists on the Mendelssohn wedding march?"

"A good Nazi," said Goebel, "doesn't get married that way."

Hans didn't quite understand. "There is danger in not getting married," said Hans. "It can't come to any good being single all the time. Disease, you know, and the first thing you know, you may have to use that Jewish Professor Ehrlich's famous remedy—a remedy, which you must admit, has saved tens of thousands from one of the most dread of diseases."

For the first time Goebel's face lighted up with a smile. "A good Nazi I repeat, is immune from that disease, you understand, my boy."

Hans began to understand. "Well," said Hans, after a time, "there is nothing to amuse oneself with. I guess I'll go and do my lessons. I'll do my physics examples. You know, dad, physics isn't what it used to be. The Einstein theories have virtually given us a new physics."

"The Einstein theories, eh? No son of mine will study those theories."

"But, father, you can't study physics today without studying those theories as well as many other contributions of Jewish physicists and mathematicians."

"Then," said Goebel, "we'll get along without physics. Certainly no Nazi will demean himself to study Jewish theories."

"Well," said Hans, "I don't know what I can do. Maybe, I'll study my psychology. Germany and Austria, you know, have been the leaders in all of the new psychology. There is psycho-analysis and then there is the gestalt psychology."

"What," said Goebel, "you'd dare to mention to me the gestalt psychology and the psycho-analytical theories—both the products of Jewish minds. All the psychology I want you to study is that of the pure German mind. The psychology that was good enough for my ancestors 100 years ago is good enough for you."

"Do you think the Bible would approve a policy like yours?" asked Hans, exasperated. "Do you think Jesus would approve? Didn't he say: 'Blessed are ye that are persecuted?' Then it is the Jews, who, according to Him, are blessed."

"I want no Bible in my household. What was Jesus but a d— Jew!" replied Goebel.

Are You Vulnerable? Make A Contract With Yourself To Save

In contract, you've got to win a game to be vulnerable. Then when you win again, you do some real scoring. But if you lose, what penalties!

It's something like the principle of "the higher they climb the harder they fall," with multiplied rewards for continued skill and persistence to offset the increasing hazard.

Well, saving in Old Colony is like that . . . in all but the luck and the falling. There's no luck in it. The more persistent and consistent you are, the greater your rewards and pyramided dividends. But if, through some unforeseen factor, you can't continue . . . you take no fall as a penalty. Every penny you've saved is there with the dividends your money has earned, and at the appointed time is paid to you in full.

Come in and learn all about the Old Colony plans of Systematic Saving. One of them, or some combination of them, will exactly fit your desires and circumstances.

"Mardi-Gras Tea Caravan" Being Loaded at Warehouse

Above photograph depicts "Mardi-Gras Caravan" loading up at Ceylon Warehouse for its weekly trip to Seaport where tea is loaded for distribution throughout the United States.

Remove Poison Element From Mardi-Gras Tea

Caleb B. Warner, a much traveled citizen, had an interesting story to tell, of his recent visit to Ceylon where the world's finest tea is grown.

Mr. Warner had been a martyr to indigestion for some years, and on arrival in Ceylon had been advised to try drinking Mardi-Gras Tea. To his great joy he found relief and, consequently, when he received an invitation from a prominent Ceylonese to go and stay at his Walauwa (which means country mansion), he provided himself with a supply of this tea.

During the first evening meal at the Walauwa he spoke of the wonderful find he had made in Mardi-Gras Tea.

Precious Package Disappears

Next morning the package of tea was nowhere to be found and both guest and host were greatly distressed at its disappearance. It seemed possible that one of the servants knowing the virtue of the tea, had been unable to resist the temptation to appropriate it.

The host conducted searching enquiries into the matter with the servants of the house without result, and, at last, greatly incensed at this offense against the law of hospitality, he decided to call in outside aid.

A message was sent to the neighboring Temple, and was answered by the appearance of three Buddhist priests. Having been informed regarding the disappearance of the tea, the priests had the servants called up and began to examine them. All their inquisitive efforts however proved futile to solve the mystery, and at last the senior priest, a very old man, asked to be allowed to see the outhouses, accompanied only by his companions. They were gone some 20 minutes or so, and then returned with the request that the servants be collected outside at the back of the house.

Apply the "Rooster Test"

The servants were duly lined up at the place indicated and there the old priest proceeded to address them. A great wrong had been done, he said, to the stranger within these gates, and the truth must be uncovered. He directed the servants to pass one at a time into a dark hut nearby, where each would find a cock tied by the leg which each must stroke. He then informed the host, in the hearing of the servants, that when the guilty party stroked the cock it would crow.

One by one each servant passed into the hut, and was gone a little while, during which time all present waited in tense silence to hear the result. The cock however withstood the attentions of all concerned without crowing, and the matter seemed again at a deadlock. But the old priest appeared undisturbed and gave instructions that the servants be lined up standing facing him with their hands outstretched towards him, palms uppermost. The priest then passed along the line in front of the servants, bowing over each pair of hands as he came to them. At the end of the line he halted and returned to the third man from the left. It was a dramatic moment, for said he sharply, "this is the thief!" (mayka tumye hora) and the man indicated wilted and fell on his knees with guilt written in every line of his face.

Afterwards the old priest explained to the host that they had rubbed Citronella Oil on the back of the chicken, so that anyone stroking it would get the strong smelling oil on his hands. By bowing near the hands of the servants, the priest detected one pair of hands untouched by the oil, the owner of the hands being afraid to stroke the bird as he was the guilty party. It is not recorded what the cock thought of his part in the affair.

Mardi Gras Tea is now being imported into America and can be obtained conveniently packed from any grocer in this city.

Eliminate Poison Element

This tea is made from the finest young leaves taken from hill-grown tea only. Free Tannin which is contained in most tea is eliminated in Mardi-Gras Tea by a special process of oxidation which changes its character. Further, Mardi-Gras Tea begins with less Tannin than common tea owing to being hill-grown, and also, owing to the fact that the youngest tender leaves contain less Tannin. It has been found that sunlight causes the development of Tannin in the leaf of the tea bush, and consequently the tea grown in the sunny tropical plains develops more of this substance than that grown in the cloudy, misty hills. If the astringent Tannin were entirely eliminated from the low grown tea it would become tasteless and dull as it has no flavor owing to the quick growth in the hot forcing climate of the plains. High grown tea, however, has a delicate, attractive flavor of its own, and therefore, when the Tannin is eliminated, the flavor is left, and we have a fragrant, stimulating, but harmless drink. Therefore, do not buy cheap, common tea, but pay a few cents more for the real drink you will enjoy. Tea is such a cheap drink that a few cents more per pound means nothing when you consider the cost of a cup.

Supervises Activities of B'nai Brith Hillel Foundations

DR. A. L. SACHAR

Cincinnati, Ohio — Dr. A. L. Sachar, director of the B'nai Brith Hillel Foundation at the University of Illinois, has been named National Director of all eight Hillel Foundations by the B'nai Brith Hillel Foundation Commission.

Dr. Sachar succeeds Dr. Louis L. Mann, of Chicago, who served as Acting National Director since the death of Rabbi Benjamin Frankel, the founder of the Illinois Hillel Foundation. Dr. Sachar will continue as Director of the Illinois Hillel Foundation in addition to serving as national director.

Born in New York in 1899, Dr. Sachar was educated at Washington and Harvard Universities and spent three years of graduate research at the University of Cambridge, England. He taught modern European and English history at the University of Illinois for several years before becoming director of the B'nai Brith Hillel Foundation at that institution. He is the author of the popular "History of the Jews," and has contributed to the Menorah Journal, the B'nai Brith Magazine, and other periodicals. He is a brilliant and forceful speaker, and has appeared on many platforms in behalf of the B'nai Brith Wider Scope campaign and other causes.

Rabbi Frankel founded the Hillel Foundation at Illinois in 1924 as a center for Jewish students. He appealed to B'nai Brith to sponsor the movement and institute Foundations throughout the country. The Order responded by taking over the entire Hillel Foundation movement, and established Hillel Foundations at the Universities of Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio State, Cornell, West Virginia, Texas, and California, in addition to the parent body at Illinois.

Each Foundation rents a large home, where classes in Jewish history, ethics, and religion are held. Each Foundation sponsors social affairs, dramatic events, forums, discussion groups, religious services, holiday observances, and social work all of a Jewish nature and interest. At Dr. Sachar's Foundation, university credit is granted for the Hillel courses.

-:- TIDBITS -:-

By SYLVIA L. ROBIN

Father and son celebrated their birthday on April first in the Jacob Gertz (Hope street) family. And Mrs. Gertz, in spite of her small stature, has a great deal of vitality. For in the afternoon there was open house for the youngsters to help Billy celebrate his fourth birthday. . . . they had a grand time and all but wore out the young host's mother; however, the lady was all fresh and spruced up again and ready to participate in the Surprise Party for her husband the very same evening.

After the surprise wore off Jack proceeded to make himself agreeable—and as a host he has an enviable reputation. The John Rouslins brought a big package, which, upon being opened, proved to contain a very small gift, indeed. A celluloid parrot in a celluloid cage—and it could be made to squeak. The recipient got quite a kick out of it, and gave it a prominent place in his library. Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Cohen brought floral offerings.

Bridge was a feature of the evening and prizes were won by Mrs. Harry Hoffman and Barney Taber. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Comras, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoffman and Mr. and Mrs. Barney Taber, Miss Hope Pulver was the sweet little lady who assisted the hostess.

Max A. Cohen, recuperating from an operation at the Newport Naval Hospital, received a large delegation of friends there last Sunday afternoon. His bed was surrounded by visitors and gave proof of the place which he holds in the hearts of those who know him. We wish him a speedy and complete recovery.

Champion of knishes makers is Mrs. Otto Politzer of Hanover street. And when she makes knishes, she makes knishes. All the neighbors receive generous samples, and still there remains plenty for her guests.

Mrs. Irving Pliner is also at the Miriam Hospital—a more recent arrival there. Best wishes to her and hopes that she will soon be well again and out among her friends.

Good cheer to Miss Bessie Robinson, who is recovering from an operation at the Miriam Hospital. It won't be long before the lady is back at her familiar place again—that is where we want to see her.

Dr. J. Sanford Siegel
Opens Offices Here

Dr. J. Sanford Siegel, dental surgeon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Siegel, of 63 Pleasant street, this city, has opened his offices in suite 810, 290 Westminster street, the Lapham building, for the practice of dentistry.

Dr. Siegel is a graduate of the Tufts Medical College and Columbia University. Before coming to this city he practiced in New York with offices in the Times building.

His staff connections were with the Mount Sinai Hospital and Hospital for Joint Diseases, both in New York, and the Hecksher Hospital and St. John's Hospital on Long Island.

Sephardi Community
In Palestine to Appeal
Against Land Decision

Jerusalem, Apr. 7.—(JTA)—A trial lasting thirty years, involving the Sephardi community of Palestine, will come up before the Palestine High Court in connection with a large area of land which a number of Arabs are claiming on the Mount of Olives, affecting the cemetery of the Sephardi community.

The claim of the Arabs started thirty years ago, when they made an effort to build a road through the Sephardi cemetery. The Sephardi community then submitted to the Turkish government documentary evidence showing that this land had belonged to the community for over four hundred years. The Turkish Code then decided in favor of the Jewish community. The Arabs then appealed to a higher court, and the case came up several times until the war started and Palestine was occupied by the British.

Now the case is again coming up before the High Court of Palestine, since the Palestine Land Court recently decided in favor of the Arabs.

NEWS WRITTEN FOR THE JEWISH HERALD BY GEORGE JOEL

Being right between seasons, i. e. in door vs. outdoor, is like being out on the proverbial limb. Remarks about the indoor boys are stale, while to do pieces on the coming season would be a question of guessing so the only thing left for a guy to do is to indulge in a bit of reminiscing.

Ten years ago this month I was a student at college. Things were moving in the usual sluggish pre-spring manner. Suddenly the campus was all twitter, somebody had spoken out of turn and said that a certain Jewish boy, a member of the college swimming team, had actually been elected captain, but the Gentile manager of the team, who counted the votes, had given the honor to a fraternity brother of his. The news got out because after the election members of the team compared votes. Word of the latest Jewish atrocity reached the ears of the head of the university. He called the manager and questioned him until the young man broke down and confessed his heinous sin. The prexy, a sane man, had been accused of anti-Semitism just a few months before, acted swiftly—dismissing the boy from college. He called a meeting of the student body, told them exactly what had occurred, delivered a talk on the subject of anti-Semitism and demanded another vote. Yes, the Jewish boy was elected. Everyone felt better and the papers in the vicinity editorially burst forth with paeans of praise on the broad-mindedness of the institution's head.

At the time I was duly impressed. Later I found that the manager had miscounted the votes because the members of his fraternity insisted he do it. I also realized that such things were not exceptional. Only a few months ago I learned that my old college friends were up to the same tricks. This time the manager wasn't caught. It does seem hopeless, doesn't it?

This subject of anti-Semitism is perplexing. Even among newspapermen, thought to be a most liberal-minded group, you will find this same stupid prejudice. The famous Gridiron Club, which is made up of Washington correspondents, has a bar against Jewish newspapermen. Also perplexing is the attitude of many Jews to this prejudice. In the incident of college quoted above, I remember that the local newspapers had gotten hold of the story and called upon the most prominent Jewish fraternity in the college for a statement. Did the boys stand up and say anything? They certainly did—although they had men in their own house who had been victims of prejudice, their statement to the press was that they knew of no prejudice existing; if boys were discriminated against, it was because of personal reason. The next year one of the boys of this fraternity, who was on the football team, was permitted to work the ball from his own 20-yard line to his opponent's 10 mark strip and then allowed to stand around while the quarterback, who wanted to be captain, let one of the backs, who controlled four votes, buck the line four times without success.

The boys on the campus made much of this fear to speak out. They realized that they could get away with almost anything and they did and probably still are.

CHATTERINGS

Julie Katz, 118-pounder, was a member of the New York Golden Glove boxing team that went to Chicago. He won his event. Among the Jews on the Chicago team, which incidentally won the meet, were Leonard Cohen and Irving Goldstein.

The national A. A. U. swimming championships were held in New York last week. The only Jew to enter was Al Schwartz, former Northwestern and Olympic star. Schwartz finished second in the 100-yard swim.

The big league baseball clubs are starting to leave their respective camps and are heading North. I don't have to tell you of Babe Ruth's sacrifice—of accepting a mere $52,000 for a year's play. Why the great man is making less money than the President, by the way, I wonder what happened to our great sportsmen who were sniffing at presidential salaries a few years ago?

And have you been reading about the Jewish professional hockey player named Levinsky, who has been playing with the Toronto club this season. The young man is a mighty stick wielder.

Poor Maxie Baer, who is scheduled to fight Schmeling for the heavyweight title, is suffering with a bad neck, so painful that he can't turn it about. He had better not get into the ring, he won't be able to turn around to his corner for instruction.

Maxie Rosenbloom defended his title again last week and almost knocked out his opponent. Maxie was so surprised that he stood in the ring open mouthed as the other gentleman reclined on the floor. The bout was stopped in the fourth round after Max had opened up a pair of cuts on Godwin's face.

That Jebby-Dundee fight is going on before the outdoor season opens. Neither fighter is satisfied with the result of the last meeting.

More than one prominent Jewish college athlete, who a few years ago refused offers to enter professional sport, has decided that he might better forget his brains for a while and make a living with his hands.

Lazar of St. John's College was the only Jewish player to get mention on the College Humor magazine All-American basketball team.

Ben Hecht, after a busy season at the typewriter, has started boxing again, in a modest way, of course.

Have you heard—in Georgia, if a banker marries a white girl they shoot him!

JEWISH REFEREES AND BOXERS ARE BANNED

Berlin, April 7—(JTA)—Among the victims of the boycott is Dr. Zander, Under-Secretary of Finance for the Reich, who has been ordered to resign immediately.

The boycott has also infiltrated into the field of sports, the German Boxing Federation having forbidden Jewish boxers or referees to take part in or officiate in German championship contests.

SLOGANS AND COUNTER- SLOGANS APPEAR DAILY

Berlin, April 7—(JTA)—"Purchasing at Jewish shops is attended with danger to life," reads a Nazi slogan, which has appeared recently, and which has been posted up throughout Berlin.

Although the boycott is complete, there are several cases where Jewish merchants have shown courageous defiance by putting up slogans of their own outside their shops. In one case a Jewish shop bears the inscription, "I served four years at the front; this is my reward." Another Jewish shop carries the slogan, "We are Jews but we help to pay for the unemployed."

Rediscovery of Famous Saadia Gaon's Lost Work Announced

New York, Apr. 7—(JTA)—Dr. Cyrus Adler, the editor of the "Jewish Quarterly Review," announces that the forthcoming April number will include the 23rd volume of the New Series issued by Dropsie College.

Skoss, of the Dropsie College, with regard to the discovery of the lost philological works, Grammar and Lexicon of the great Saadia Gaon, which Professor Skoss found last summer in the State Library of Leningrad. Other articles are: "The Graeco-Roman View of Jews and Judaism in the Second Century" by Norman Bentwich, former Attorney General of Palestine; a further discussion of "Abraham Bedarshi's Purim Letter," by Prof. Israel Davidson, of the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York; "The Midrash of Thirty-Two Rules of Interpretation," by Dr. H. G. Enelow, of New York; a note on "Intention as One of the Controversial Points Between Jose and Judah," by Prof. Solomon Zeitlin, of the Dropsie College.

gogues, where sermons were delivered and prayers recited for the safety of German Jews.

JEWRY OF RHODE ISLAND AWAKEN

We are faced with the tragedy taking place in Germany. The Hitlerites, who for over 13 years have poisoned the minds of the Germans, have come to power as the government of enlightened Germany. Any one who followed the Hitler propaganda before he came to the power as the dictator, knows that the fate of German Jewry is sealed, and disaster will overcome them unless the German intellect forces a change of government.

History repeats itself too often since we were taken as captives to Babylon. Through the ages, in Rome, Germany, Spain, Russia, Roumania, Poland, Ukraine and now in modern, civilized Germany, the Jew has not found a secure home. Always harassed, deprived of all rights, life endangered by bloody pogroms, he has fears of tomorrow.

Zionism was built on the hope that we, too, may have a land where we can live and develop in peace, where our children may enjoy the rights of free men and grow up without fear of the nightmare we are at present witnessing in Germany. We are a proud people, proud of our accomplishments.

We have given of ourselves to make every country of our adoption the finest, the most prosperous and safe to live in. We have given the world Spinoza, Meyerberg, Mendelssohn, Wasserman and Einstein and countless others in Germany alone to make Germany the cultured nation she now is, and what are results! As a result of the World War the nations of the world gave us a National Home in Palestine where we can build for the future, legally assured and secured! And what have we done! Stood by and watched our future disappear through the indifference of our people.

A small group of zealots have worked tirelessly and over 120,000 Jews from every part of the world have found a haven in Palestine since the World War. The great mass of Jewry remained indifferent and even hostile to this undertaking. Had we the co-operation of every Jew, Palestine would have been able to absorb a large number of our unfortunate brothers from Germany or Poland. Our greatest difficulties were not with the Gentile world, but with our own Jews. They found every imaginable pretext to hinder the work to such an extent that even some of the workers were discouraged.

It is true that Palestine is too small to accommodate all the Jews of the world, but if we can provide for one million we shall have saved so many from ruin and built a commonwealth of our own. Transjordan is being opened to us. It means that we will be able to accommodate four or five million, but this is idle talk unless we come to the assistance of the agencies working in Palestine. We have received imploring cables from Dr. Naham Sokolow, president of the Jewish Agency, that the work in Palestine by the agency is threatened with failure. On account of the financial condition throughout the world, the moneys for the annual budget of the agency for schools, sanitation, colonization, administration and immigration could not be met at the minimum, possible. It would be disastrous to all our hopes if Palestine is to be proclaimed a failure.

The world will be justified in telling us that we are not builders, that we live as parasites on countries already built up.

I am appealing to every Jew in our state to come to our rescue. Join the Zionist movement and strengthen its hands for the rebuilding of Palestine.

DR. ILIE BERGER.
Member, Administrative Committee of America.

Beth - El Sisterhood Meets; Several Gifts and Donations Made

A regular meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth-El was held Monday afternoon, in the vestry of the temple. Donations were voted to the Isaac M. ### IN 1938 PALESTINE JEWS WILL OUTNUMBER ARABS

Jerusalem, April 7—(JTA)—Palestine Jews will outnumber the Arabs of Palestine within 25 years, predicts the official report of the 1931 census, which the government will publish this week.

It declares that the Jews double their number every nine years, while every 28 years.

It estimates that as there were 175,000 Jews in 1931, they will reach 350,000 in 1940, 700,000 in 1949 and 1,400,000 in 1958. The Arabs however, will be less than 1,200,000 in 1958.

The Palestine government's calculations are based on the figures of natural birth plus the present rate of immigration.

Pressure In Cabinet Forces Hitlerites to Amend Boycott Plan

15,000 Affected
Two announcements provide the keynote for what is occurring in Germany, as far as the Jews are concerned. The first is an official statement by the government to the effect that the boycott was to be resumed Wednesday. The second was issued by the Nazi Party and confirmed what was already known though it was not expected that it would be issued from the house-tops, that the exclusion of Jews from professions has nothing to do with the boycott and it is therefore left unaffected by the raising of the ban on Jewish businesses.

The boycott of Jewish professional men, academicians and teachers is estimated to affect between 10,000 and 15,000 Jews, most of them heads of families, and is therefore a problem of no lesser gravity than the more spectacular and dramatic boycott of last Saturday.
