Community Drive to be Waged November 12 to 19

Plan Miriam Hospital 10th Anniversary Event

HENRY HASSENFELD

MRS. JOSEPH SMITH

Henry Hassenfeld, chairman of the banquet committee and Senior Hadassah, chairman of the ticket committee who are actively engaged in preparations for the celebration of the 10th anniversary of the founding of Miriam Hospital, to be held Sunday evening, November 10, at the Narragansett Hotel.

Providence Chapter Joins in Senior Hadassah Drive

The national membership campaign currently being conducted by Senior Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America, marks the beginning of a two-year plan to increase Senior Hadassah's enrollment to 50,000 in time for the 25th anniversary of the organization, which will be celebrated Purim, 1937. At present there are approximately 32,000 members in Senior Hadassah. Eighteen thousand new members are therefore needed over a period of two years to reach the objective, or 9,000 per year. The year 1937 will be marked by three extraordinary events for Hadassah: The organization's Silver Jubilee, the planned dedication of the Rothschild-Hadassah University Hospital and a pilgrimage of Hadassah members to Palestine. Hadassah leaders feel therefore that to show simultaneously a membership of 50,000 would be a fitting accompaniment to the triple celebration, and it is believed that the three events coming together, should prove a source of inspiration for membership work.

From Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, 300 chapters functioning in 40 states are holding intensive local drives in an effort to enroll a large number of Jewish women from their respective communities into the field of active Zionist work.

The month's concentrated campaign will end shortly before the 21st annual convention of Hadassah, which will be held in Cleveland during Thanksgiving week-end. Special effort is being made by chapters to boost membership figures in order to report exceptional results at the convention.

Conditions in Palestine, contrasted with those in Europe, have convinced Zionist leaders more than ever of the urgent necessity of increasing the forces that work for the upbuilding of Palestine in all its phases of development, in order to enlarge the absorptive capacity of the country, upon which depends the extent of immigration. The attainment of its objective 15,000 new members in the next two years would aid substantially in finding a real solution to the Jewish problem.

The local chapter of Senior Hadassah is making fine progress in this campaign. 30 new names having been added so far to the roster and it is anticipated that many additional ones will be obtained before Nov. 12, the date set for the "Victory Luncheon" which will designate the finale of the present drive.

Hospital Aide Plans Complimentary Bridge

Mrs. Bernard Goodman, general chairman of the annual complimentary bridge sponsored by the Miriam Hospital Association, announced today that plans were completed for the event which will be held next Monday afternoon in the foyer of the Biltmore Hotel.

Assisting Mrs. Goodman will be Mrs. Max Temkin, refreshments; Mrs. Charles C. Brown, decorations; Mrs. Samuel Moroin, secretary; Mrs. Oscar Klemmer, treasurer.

The following will serve: Mesdames Joseph E. Adelson, Nathan Bulow, Nathan Braverman, Leo Cohen, William B. Cohen, Samuel Dubinsky, Arthur Feiner, Murray H. Goldfarb, L. Justin Huddish, John J. Myers, David Spont and Louis J. Temkin.

Molested, Threatened Jews, Two Germans Seized by Police

Charged with continued beating and brutal treatment of a Jew and his family, a butcher and a harness-maker of Hassloch, Germany, have been interned in a concentration camp. The men were accused of having disturbed public law and order with conduct calculated to injure the prestige of the National Socialist party and the interests of the State.

The butcher, according to the state police, was especially guilty of undignified conduct because he persistently molested the Jew but also meanwhile sought to do business with him and to borrow money from him.

$3,000 FUND DRIVE TO BE ENDED

Mrs. Archibald Silverman will address workers of the Jewish National Fund at the final wind-up meeting of the $3,000 campaign next Monday evening at Zinn's Banquet Hall. Thus far an amount equal to last year's total subscription has been obtained and campaign officials are certain that this year's goal will be reached.

At Jewish National Fund headquarters it was also announced that the remainder of this month has been set aside for the clearance of more than 50,000 Blue-White Boxes, repositories for small coin contributions towards the land redemption cause, which are functioning in that many Jewish homes in all parts of the country.

The Blue-White Jewish National Fund Box, which was pressed into service of Palestine land redemption more than 30 years ago, has yielded an amount exceeding $3,600,000. A recent bulletin from the Jewish National Fund headquarters in Jerusalem reveals the interesting fact that one-half of the Valley of Jezreel containing 163,000 dunams on which 26 agricultural settlements have been established, has been redeemed by the Jewish National Fund at a price equal to the yield of the Blue-White Box. ### Five Important Jewish Social Agencies Depend on Campaign for Support

WALTER I. SUNDLUN, Head of Jewish Orphanage of R. I.

MAX L. GRANT, Head of Miriam Hospital

With the coming of the Providence-Cranston Community Fund Campaign from November 12 to 19, inclusive, interest in the five large Jewish social agencies in Providence which are members of and are coordinated by the Jewish Federation for Social Service undergoes revitalizing and in view of the coming request which will be made for subscriptions, the Jewish Herald has obtained and is pleased to publish herewith for the benefit of its Jewish readers a bird's-eye-view of these active local charities.

"Providence Jewry," said Max L. Grant, president of the Federation, "has always supported these institutions in generous manner and has reason to be proud of the record made by its dollars and its efforts through the years. A few in our community, of course, have taken advantage of the privilege of subscribing once a year instead of in small amounts throughout the year to curtail their giving, but most of us have done our bit. I am convinced however, that if the work of these charities were known in greater detail, the amount of financial support would increase in direct proportion."

The following information, assembled for Herald readers is based on data furnished by Arthur J. Levy, chairman of the educational publicity committee of the Providence Community Fund and publicity chairman for the Federation.

JEWISH ORPHANAGE OF RHODE ISLAND

President, Walter I. Sundlun, Superintendent, Maurice Stelerman.

Founded 26 years ago, the Orphanage has behind it a record of child care of which it may well be proud. Its building and grounds, located on Summit Avenue in Providence, provide every facility for the proper upbringing of Jewish children. Those who have been deprived of parents for one reason or another find in this institution a foster home which does everything in its power to replace those parents in every respect. An especially noteworthy part of the policy of the institution is its follow-up work among those who have left, by way of its educational fund, by finding employment, by advising regarding future homes and vocations and in many other ways.

During 1935 thus far, the Orphanage has cared for 48 children, 43 of whom are now in residence. Nine children were admitted during the year and five were discharged. At present there are 15 girls and 22 boys, ranging in ages from 5 to 16 years, playing, working, studying, behaving — occasionally misbehaving — laughing and learning — all on their way to becoming worthy Jews and worthy Americans.

MIRIAM HOSPITAL
President, Max L. Grant
Vice President, Alter Boyman
Superintendent, Major Charles Hoffman

Celebrating its 10th anniversary this year, the Miriam Hospital has established a record of which the Jews of Providence may be proud. For years it has carried the Class A rating of the American Medical Association. Offering its services as a strictly Jewish hospital to all who may come, regardless of race, or creed, it fills a notable place in caring for the health of the community.

The service figures of the hospital reach astonishing amounts but only give a small idea of the human suffering which is relieved and prevented. Here is the record for the last full year of operation.

Total number of bed patients	1340
Days of treatment given to house patients:
Free treatment	4006
Partly free treatment	4027
Private patients	4156
Operations performed	834
X-Ray examinations	518
Pathological examinations	10,019
Free treatment in clinics	5098

JEWISH FAMILY WELFARE SOCIETY

President, Arthur J. Levy.
Executive Director, Jessie Jossalowitz.

This institution was organized in 1930 to take over the family case work previously carried on for many years by the Montefiore Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent Society and the South Providence Ladies' Aid Society. Since that time it has conducted the work of caring for families in distress with modern case work methods. As soon as it was organized it was thrown immediately into the middle of the depression and has had to care for many more families than was ever originally contemplated. Its annual budget is a great deal smaller than that of similar Jewish Family agencies in other cities. It is in need of considerably increased funds. (Continued on Page Three)

Community Fund

Nevertheless it has carried on and has been responsible not only for the expenditure of all of its own available funds for relief but for the expenditure of many times that amount from public funds and from other sources.

The last year it has devoted its attention to the affairs of 285 families in distress of which 141 families are receiving relief and services at this time. The case load has ranged up to about 200 at a time. Some 3,000 articles of clothing have been distributed within a year through the Clothing Center and quantities of coal, oil, milk and other things have been given either out of the funds of the society or out of funds placed at its disposal by other organizations.

JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER

President, Milton C. Spina-ley, Executive Director, Jacob I. Cohen.

This institution is now completing its 10th year under its present broad community policy in addition to ten previous years of foundation building. It serves the entire community with a program of recreation and of character building which is the source of constant amazement to those who encounter it first-hand for the first time. With a membership of more than a thousand, the Center has an annual attendance record of about 100,000 in the quantity of the work it does it is probably the most active character building agency in the Community Fund. Its gymnasium is filled to overflowing with a succession of classes for those of all ages. Its religious school is likewise overcrowded. It conducts classes and clubs for those of all ages from tiny children to adults. In addition to many clubs and groups who meet because of common interest and similar age, there are many classes for the study of a wide variety of subjects such as music, handicraft, sewing, dramatics, etc.

Unlike other agencies whose charitable work involves direct aid, the Center receives nominal dues as in the case of other similar institutions throughout the country. These dues pay for only a very small part of the services rendered, but they distinguish the institution from a settlement house and thus makes their character building and communal services available to a large number who would not participate except on a membership basis.

The Community Center is one of the institutions which was officially credited with giving Providence the lowest insurance rates in the country for protection against certain hazards.

NORTH END DISPENSARY

President, Mrs. Milton Fuld, Registrar, Mrs. Saul Rothschild.

This institution was originally organized by the Council of Jewish Women and is still chiefly sponsored by that organization although for a number of years it has operated separately with its own independent officers and directors. It conducts a clinic or out-patient department at 49 Orms St., in one of the most congested districts in the city. Operating quietly and with an unusually small budget it renders services to a surprising and large number of patients who need those services urgently and cannot afford to pay.

The number of patients treated within a year in the various clinics without regard to race or creed is as follows:

Medical	2,020
Surgical	679
Eye, ear, nose and throat	990
Hay fever	646
Asthma	464
Pediatrics	310
Vaccination	69
Total	5,178

Nazis' Influence on German-Americans Seems on the Wane

NEW YORK (JTA) — The influence of the Nazis over German-American societies was seen on the wane last week after the German Day rally, in marked contrast with that of the Jewish issue.

Reports from Berlin said the official German news bureau had hailed the rally of the United German Societies and the German American Conference in Madison Square Garden, significantly avoiding mention of the abortive demonstration of the Friends of New Germany.

The "Friends," which last year controlled the German Day rally and injected the Jewish issue into addresses with venom, this year was barred and tried in vain to hold its own rally. The local Nazis were locked out of the St. Nicholas Palace, where their meeting had been scheduled, at the last moment when David Veteahleiser, Jewish manager, discovered the nature of the rally and cancelled the engagement.

The crowd of about 1,500 then formed ranks and marched into the Central Park Stadium with swastikas flying and singing the Nazi Heil Wessel song. Police dispersed the crowd, although Fritz Gissibl, president of the "Friends," said Mayor LaGuardia had given permission for the outdoor meeting.

At the United German Societies rally last night, Mayor LaGuardia, Samuel Untermyer and Magistrate Brodsky were denounced, but attacks on the Jewish people were carefully avoided. German Ambassador Hans Luther assailed the Versailles Treaty as an "anti-pacific document."

He concluded his address with the cry, "Heil Deutschland! Heil Vereinigten Staaten!", avoiding the usual salute of the Third Reich, "Heil Hitler!"

Nazis Shopped in N. Y. Jewish Stores

NEW YORK (JTA) — The party of Nazi Jurists who had been forbidden to leave the Governor Clinton Hotel as a result of picketing by anti-Nazis, departed for home today in a mood to forgive the United States for its anti-Nazis.

The party, comprising members of the Association of National Socialist Jurists, had spent the last day here shopping in a large department store owned by Jews. The jurists also went bargain hunting on the lower east side, and what's more — one of them confided — enjoyed it.

Dr. Ludwig Fischer, spokesman for the 45 characterized the demonstration which had expelled the hotel manager to advise them to go elsewhere, as "purely Jewish."

He added: "They were just some fellows who were too darned fresh. You have the same kind everywhere, in all countries. We understand these fellows did not represent America. When we went into the country we met nothing but hospitality."

Three of the party had been se vexed by the picketing carried on by fur union members that they left the party, but rejoined it at Niagara Falls, it was revealed.

Pleaded Poverty During Lifetime; Find $40,000 Hidden After Death

TORONTO, Ont., (JTA) — A shoe repairer so "impecunious" he borrowed money from a local synagogue two years ago to bury his wife, has a fortune of $40,000 in cash and securities, it was discovered today after his death.

Ansel Weinstein, the cobbler, died two weeks ago in the public ward of the Montreal General Hospital. Until the last moment he steadfastly refused to draw a will.

A safety deposit box receipt led to the discovery of Weinstein's small fortune, which comprised $6,000 in cash, $30,000 in Victory Bonds and $4,000 worth of utility shares.

Relatives in Brooklyn, N. Y. are the only known heirs.

Weinstein had carried on his shoe repair business on Huntington Street West. The lower part of the building was used for his place of business, and he lived with his wife in the upper portion. They had no children.

The pair lived very modestly. Neighbors always considered them as having been in straitened financial circumstances.

The local synagogue has issued a writ for the debt incurred by Weinstein when he borrowed money for the burial and for the memorial services for his wife.

Noted Anti-Semite Again in Trouble

NEW YORK (JTA) — Raymond Joseph Healey, self-styled "American Hitler" was arraigned again this week before Magistrate Louis B. Brodsky, who recently sentenced him to 60 days in the workhouse for disorderly conduct.

The charge was disorderly conduct once more. Ephraim Weiswasser, a Jewish newsstand dealer in Yorkville, charged Healey bought a newspaper from him and then, striking him with it, shouted:

"This is for you, Jew Jew!"

The dealer's brother went to his assistance, the complaint said, and both were set upon by eight men and four women who were with Healey. The brothers charged they were struck with blackjacks.

Magistrate Brodsky held Healey under $500 bail for examination.

New Pipe-Line to Serve Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (JTA) — For the first time in recent history the residents of Jerusalem will have an adequate water supply when the Ras-el-Ain pipe-line opens on or about Nov. 1.

The demand is at first expected to be about 1,000,000 gallons daily. The present consumption of water is less than 750,000 gallons.

Two or three pumps will be used continuously, each pumping 800 gallons of water a minute. If the demand increases, there is room for installation of a fourth set of Diesel engines and pumps.

The profits of the first two months' operation of the new system are expected to defray the cost of scrapping the present pipe-lines. (JTA)

AN INCIDENT IN SILESIA

A categorical denial by the Nazi government that any of its agents were in any manner responsible for the recent brutal death of a Jew who was assaulted during a football match near the German-Polish border despite ample evidence to the contrary, is definite proof that outrages committed by the Nazis are true. Sceptics throughout this country have been saying that the Jew has been crying "wolf" without cause; that the outrages against Jews in Germany are highly exaggerated.

This glib official denial of the football incident was routine explanation by the Nazis who invariably deny all excesses charged against them. But the probe of reliable persons indicated that a football match did occur between Polish and German teams in Breslau. That Jewish onlookers were tolerated until the end of the game when they were savagely attacked and brutally beaten. That one was pummeled into unconsciousness and later died without regaining consciousness. He was buried secretly and confusion regarding his identity was due to Nazi censorship. And that Polish sport associations with Jewish membership have consequently resolved not to send Jewish members to play against German teams in the future.

This latter attitude would certainly not have been prompted if the members of the sport association had not been eye-witnesses to the tragedy. But this incident should teach our American sceptics that under the scab there is an unhealthy condition which, if malicious poison is permitted to be disseminated, will affect the position of the Jew throughout the world.

PLIGHT OF GERMAN REFUGEES

It is expected that at least 20,000 Germans, mostly Jews, will be emigrating annually from Germany, due to the recently announced legislation at Nuremberg by the Nazi party. These helpless victims of political upheavals require a comprehensive program of aid that only a body such as the League of Nations can execute.

Certain League members have proposed that the League assume responsibility for these "stateless" persons but the proposal was not accepted. The opposition came from countries who feared "League interference" in their internal affairs. Other representatives of reactionary regimes were loath to see League authority extended over refugees exiled because of their liberal and socialistic tendencies.

This half-hearted or dilly-dallying attitude by the League will not hasten the solution of the refugee problem, especially that of the Jew. The Jew in Germany can no longer feel secure. Limits imposed on cultural fields have been extended. Among the first to feel the pressure of economic oppression were the Jewish business men in smaller towns. Fleeing from this neighborly persecution the rural Jew has entered the cities where he hoped to gain a little immunity. But even the cities are undermining Jewish business and the confidence on which it depends.

During the last two years, private organizations have voluntarily offered their moral and material aid to the German refugee. But now the German exodus which was panicky in the first days of Hitler, has tended to become a steady, even stream which will continue as long as Nazi Germany insists upon relegating the Jew to the ghetto.

It is inevitable that the German refugees will consist mostly of children and young folk. Adding this yearly burden of 20,000 homeless to the troubles of the world cannot be solved alone by American organizations whose facilities are over-taxed. These young people must be given an opportunity for a free life. And it is only through full cooperation of all League members that the present crisis can be solved.

THE WEEK IN JEWISH NEWS

Germany: Hirsch Arrested
For good reason Columbia House in Berlin has gained the sobriquet, "torture chamber of the Gestapo." Last week one of the most important Jewish leaders, Dr. Otto Hirsch, was confined there by the dread Nazi secret police.

His offense (no official charge was lodged against him) was that as president of the executive of the Reichsvertretung der Deutscher Juden he signed a Yom Kippur message protesting anti-Jewish calumnies.

Informed foreign critics obtained information that the Nazis intended to hold Dr. Hirsch hostage until the Reichsvertretung would sign a statement that the Jews were satisfied with the ghetto laws and asking cessation of the anti-Nazi boycott.

If Dr. Hirsch would have been in Berlin Yom Kippur he probably would have been seized then. But he was out of town. And so the Gestapo arrested the other signer of the message, Chief Rabbi Leo Baeck. Dr. Baeck was released after 24 hours in the Columbia House.

The message said: "We declare with a feeling of abhorrence that the lies which are directed against us and the calumnies which are spread against our religion and its testaments are repudiated by us, root and branch." The message never was read in the synagogues, as had been scheduled. The Gestapo saw to that.

Bared from participating in winter relief, the German Jews, through the Reichsvertretung drew up plans for a separate fund-collection campaign. Government approval for the plans is awaited.

Palestine: War Echoes
High Commissioner Wauchope is in London, said to be arranging with the Colonial Office details of the proposed legislative council. War echoes perturbing Palestine caused him to send a message calculated to reassure the population. It declared that the Ethiopian war is localized and that there is no ground for fear.

A Jewish Telegraphic Agency survey revealed that Haifa has not been fortified, reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

Synagogue to Welcome its 58 New Members

At a meeting of Ahavath Shalom Congregation last Thursday night at the Howell St. Synagogue, a special committee was appointed to plan a welcome for the 58 new members who recently joined the congregation. The gathering will be staged next Sunday evening. The committee includes J. S. Wald, M. Pullman, and S. Gans.

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary will be hostesses to the children of the Hebrew School and the Junior Congregation for the Simchas Torah celebration next Sunday. The committee in charge includes Messieurs Joseph Adler, J. A. Copland, H. Priest, P. Abrams and M. Borosofsky.

The Palestine government approved plans for expanding the Hebrew University, including construction of a Sol Rosenbloom building for the Faculty of Humanities named for the late Pittsburgh merchant.

United States: Nazi Setbacks

Nazis received three setbacks in this country last week — one of them quite physical.

Six Hitlerites, five in uniform, drove through New York's garment center in a truck to advertise a Nazi rally. Their tactics enraged 3,000 workers who were idling on the streets. (It was lunch hour.) The workers stormed the truck and beat the Nazis. One of the Hitlerites and two workers were arrested and later given suspended sentences for disorderly conduct. One more Nazi and a Jew were arrested in a clash outside the courtroom.

In Washington, Dr. Karl Ritter, chief of the economic section of the Berlin Foreign Office, completely failed in desperate efforts to save some of the United States trade Germany stood to lose when the most-favored-nation treaty expired Tuesday.

In Atlantic City, the American Federation of Labor again backed the anti-Nazi boycott.

The Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, largest of the 33 A. A. U. associations, tabled a resolution supporting the Olympic boycott at a stormy meeting. The New Jersey Association instructed its delegates to the national convention to oppose United States participation in the Berlin games.

Brown-Dartmouth Clash Tomorrow

Brown and Dartmouth renew one of the oldest and most fiercely fought rivalries in football when the two meet in the 25th game of the series on Brown Field tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon. The series opened in 1894 with a 20-4 conquest by Brown, and has continued down through the years until today the count stands, Dartmouth 12, Brown 11, with one tie.

Thousands of Brown alumni will return to Providence drawn by the game and the first Alumni Day which will be one of the features of the week-end. The activity opens this (Friday) afternoon with the Brown-Dartmouth soccer game. Tonight (Friday), a monster dinner will be held in the Brown gymnasium as a forerunner to the next day's activities on the gridiron. Saturday morning will be featured by special class-room and laboratory demonstrations as returning Brunonians return to the halls to learning and in many cases greet their old professors again. And Saturday afternoon, Brown meets Dartmouth in a game that will be one of the high points of this season.

Brown and Dartmouth have played a series that shows a wealth of scoring all through the years. Brown has been shut out only four times in 24 games, Dartmouth has failed to score only five times. And 14 points is the widest separation of the two since 1918 when the S. A. T. C. teams represented the two institutions.

And singularly enough, the series has been marked by not a few upsets. Two notable instances were the 1918 and 1919 games. Brown's 1918 team was rated good in that particular era, yet Dartmouth crashed through with a 28 to 0 triumph. In 1919, Dartmouth had one of her teams of destiny, and Brown was a much-tossed about Bruin. That is, he was tossed around until Capt. Nichols gathered in a blocked kick and romped through for a touch-down in the final two minutes of play to give Brown a 7 to 6 verdict that had its reverberations around the entire gridiron world.

Dartmouth has a great team this year. Brown is off to a slow start, but previous records won't mean a thing when the two New England rivals renew their series this week.

COMMUNITY FUND CAMPAIGN BEGINS ON NOV. 12

Leaders of Providence Jewry will again take an active part in the Providence-Cranston Community Fund Campaign beginning Nov. 12 and continuing for one week. Already a special prospects group has been formed under the leadership of that well known veteran, Bernard M. Goldowsky. This important committee will soon begin its work and upon them will depend the securing of probably the largest part of the funds to carry on the work of the five Jewish Social Agencies which are associated with the Community Fund.

In connection with the campaign a Welfare Exposition will be held soon on the second floor of the Arcade. Graphic exhibitions and demonstrations will be presented showing in detail the work of all the social agencies. Miss Maud Fine and Lawrence Hoffman, a local young artist are arranging the Jewish exhibit, which I understand will depict the fine work of our own charities.

TEMPLE EMANU-EL ACTIVITIES

Closely following the announcement of the Jewish Center lecture series comes the good news from our conservative Temple Emanu-El of the fine and celebrated list of speakers and teachers who will take an important part in the eighth annual Institute of Jewish Studies of that religious institution. This movement has been gaining in popularity with each succeeding year.

One of the features this year will be an art exhibit on Monday evening, Nov. 4, by Sam Rankin, internationally known Jewish artist who will bring to Providence more than 100 fine subjects. The entire community is invited to attend the exhibit.

The Men's Club of this Temple which, incidentally, is one of the largest in the state, also has announced its program for the year which in my estimation is the best that this live body has yet presented. Among the speakers who will address the club will be Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and that stormy "petrel," General Smedley Butler. These men as well as the others on the program will undoubtedly attract tremendous audiences.

HERE AND THERE

Rabbi Goldman will again this year lecture before classes at Brown University . . . this is his third year . . . Rep. Charlie Brown is wearing the smit that won't come off because Sam Russell has been elected to the Law Review at Georgetown University Law School, an honor which is customarily granted only to students who have maintained high scholastic standards . . . evidently Sam Russell is a chip of the old block because Charlie himself is one of the cleverest men in town and I regard him as one of our foremost citizens.

Pity these four well known locals who on Sunday last were obliged to turn back when half way to Boston because of motor trouble and thus disappointed and four Boston young ladies—maybe it will be a lesson to that physician to keep his car in order . . . Several betrothals in

NEW YORK LETTER

By H. W.

They may think they have quite a war in that Italo-Ethiopian fight, but it's only a dinky little fist fight of the street-corner variety when it's stacked up against the fireworks that are being popped off in the United States.

In the event you haven't guessed it, what we're referring to is the business of deciding whether the United States permits its youth to be "summoned by Hitler" to his Olympics given in his own Nazi backyard — a backyard, by the way, which he is walling in with a great big fence labelled "For Aryans only — Keep out! This Means Jew!"

The deciding is going to be done right here in New York on December 6, 7 and 8 when several hundred persons of the Jewish, Catholic and Protestant faiths, representing not so much their respective creeds as their sectional branches of the National Amateur Athletic Union, meet in annual convention.

The convention, of course, will take up other affairs. But they'll be completely dwarfed by the one tremendous issue — shall we or shall we not send our athletes over to Germany?

When that issue came up at the convention in Miami last year, it was sidetracked. For one thing, the Olympics at that time still seemed too far off for a definite, irrevocable stand to be taken. Much could happen in Germany between then and the games to change the entire picture. For the better as far as treatment of Jews was concerned, it was hoped.

Things took a decided change in Germany since that convention in Miami. And the change was for the worse as far as Jews, Catholics and even Protestants were concerned. As a result of that change for the worse, sentiment in this country has been crystallizing at a great rate for America's withdrawal from the Olympics.

And now, little more than a month from the date when the rubicon is to be crossed—a rubicon as definite and vital in its way as that which Mussolini crossed when his legion marched on Adum—the pro-anti-Olympics forces are lined up on either side and the battle is at its hottest.

Coming up to the main encounter in December, this is the situation: Sectional conventions have been held throughout the country. Some two score A. A. U. branches have elected delegates to the December national convention. As far as I have been able to ascertain, there are two instances, however, where the associations definitely instructed their representatives to take a stand at the national conclave against participation by the United States. These are the New Jersey A. A. U. and the South Atlantic A. A. U. The Central A. A. U., among the strongest in the country, sidestepped the issue. And here in New York, the Metropolitan A. A. U., the strongest and most influential of the affiliate organizations, battled all night over the question of whether or not to instruct its delegates on the question — and decided finally to settle it at a special meeting prior to the convention.

In some quarters, this failure of the Metropolitan A. A. U. to take a stand on the momentous question was an ominous indication. It was hinted darkly here and there that since this group, the largest in the union and comprising a large proportion of Jews and Catholics, ostensibly the two most interested factions in seeing that the United States stays out of the games, failed to instruct its delegates, the cards were definitely stacked against the boycott.

For some time, there has been talk of the hush-hush variety that the United States, come rain, shine or flood, would be marching in the grand parade when the Olympic games opened in Berlin. The bankers, the shipowners, the wiremen, wanted it thus and thus it would be. Certain bankers, the sotto-voiced, had big stakes plunked down on the Olympics. They had invested heavily in the Olympics factory in Berlin in the hope of reaping rich harvests from the hundreds of thousands of visitors to the games. And these certain bankers, they

Social Workers to be Headed by Miss Jessie Josolowitz

Providence Council of Jewish Social Workers held its final meeting of the season last Monday evening at the Dreyfus Hotel at which time officers for the ensuing year were elected. They are: Miss Jessie Josolowitz, president; Jacob I. Cohen, vice president; Miss Claire Reiben, recording secretary; Miss Ethel Levine, corresponding secretary; and Miss Gertrude Tarnapol, treasurer.

Assisting committees were appointed and include Miss Janet L. Pain, hospitality; Miss Marie Rotman, membership; Dr. Louis B. Wolfenson, publicity; and Miss Eunice Goldsmith, research project. Members officially welcomed into its group Mr. and Mrs. Isaac E. Feinstein, the former having been recently appointed superintendent of the Jewish Home for Aged.

Mr. Cohen outlined to the group the purpose of the Council of Social Workers. A program for the year was discussed. The following members were selected for the program committee: Jacob Cohen, Isaac Feinstein, Miss Sylvia Mann, Dr. Louis B. Wolfenson, Maurice Spillerman, Miss Selma Smira and Dr. Joseph Smith.

A resolution was adopted by the group expressing its deep sorrow in the recent death of its first vice-president, Mrs. Sophie Gordon. She had been an active member of the Council since its organization.

The Council's next meeting will be held at the Jewish Community Center on Nov. 25.

hinted darkly, are (hold your breath and don't tell anyone we told you) some pretty prominent German Jews who lived safely . . . not too happily among the "Aryans" and who, because they wanted to continue to live safely if not too happily had practically been forced into putting up their money and backing their money with their international influence to see that America came over.

But the wisenheimers, as they are known in not-so-diplomatic quarters, may be proved wrong before more than two inches of snow flies. In circles as well informed as, if not better than the set-to-voiced, wide wagers are being laid that the bright-eyed American athletes will not get the chance to come down with mal-de-mer by boating over to the Olympics in Germany. And they're also betting (with the odds even on this one) that the men, some and muscle of America, some Hitler's summons to the youth of the world, the whole Olympics house that the Nazis have built up such great expense and with such ingenuity will collapse with one of the most sickening thuds in history. And the black-haired, bemuscled "Aryan" Number One of Germany will have plenty of fast talking to do to explain that to the efficacy of Das Dritte Reich.

department of the religious school will be held on Oct. 27. All classes will be in full swing on the opening day. All pupils must register before that date.

High School Department

A new catalogue is being issued by the school board describing the work of the high school department this year. Registration for the high school department will be held on Oct. 27 and classes will begin on Sunday, Nov. 3. The two courses to be offered this year:

Jewish Sociology — An analysis of the internal and spiritual life of the Jews in America, Palestine and European countries, and the factors which contribute to the survival of the Jewish people. Special interest will be given to consideration of the problems arising from the Jew's attempt to adapt himself to conditions in the various countries, such as anti-Semitism, Zionism, Assimilation, etc.

The Golden Age of Hebrew Literature — In the medieval period when the rest of the world was steeped in darkness, Jewish life attained its highest stage of development. This can best be understood by a study of the literary products of the time. In this course the actual writings of such men as Judah Ha-Levi, Solomon Ibn Gabirol, Chasidai ibn Shaprut, Abraham Ibn Ezra, Moses Maimonides and a host of others will be studied in connection with their historical background. Selections of every phase of Jewish thought will be considered.

In connection with this curriculum a number of extra-curricular activities will be conducted. These will include study activities, social gatherings and trips to local and distant points of Jewish interest. Boys and girls of high school age who are confirmants of the Religious School or who have an equivalent Jewish background are eligible.

Alumni Association

At the season's first meeting of the executive board of the Alumni Association of Temple Emanu-El, plans for the coming year, which promises to be the most successful in the history of the Association, were discussed. A series of cultural and social programs for each of the monthly meetings was presented by Samuel Goldstein, director of extension activities of Temple Emanu-El, and was formally adopted by the committee.

The first meeting of the entire organization will be a supper-meeting in the Temple on Sunday evening, Nov. 3. Guest speaker will be Irwin M. Tobin, director of the Rhode Island Peace Council, who will lead a discussion on "The Present European Crisis and Prospects for Future Peace." A good-will film entitled, "Good Neighbors" will be shown in connection with the talk. The annual election of officers will also be held at this time.

Library Gifts

Contributions to the Temple Emanu-El library fund have been received from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nutman in honor of the Bar Mitzvah of their son, Norman; and from Mrs. Philip C. Joslin, in memory of the late Hyman Frank. A gift of a white Ark curtain has been made by Morris Abramowitz, in honor of the approaching Bar Mitzvah of his grandchild, Mayer Abrams.

Printed Sermons

For the opening late Friday night service on Nov. 1, the congregation will have ready for distribution a printed pamphlet containing the two sermons preached by the rabbi on the first two days of Rosh Hashonah.

Our Temple Family

THE DECLINE OF GHETTO GENIUS

By ALVIN HELLMAN

Yehudi Menuhin is the last of the long line of "ghetto geniuses" who have carved niches for themselves in the gallery of musical fame. The conditions that led to the development of the Elmans, Heifetzes, Zimbalists and others of the great Jewish musical dynasty have changed and a great Jewish era in music is, perhaps, passing from the scene.

So, at any rate, thinks Mitchell Cherniavsky, the famed cellist, who played before the Czar Nicholas II, at the tender age of seven and has engaged in more than 2,500 concerts in all parts of the world since that day.

The combination of persecution, suffering and sacrifice which made up the ghetto background of the Jewish musical genius no longer exists in the same proportions, Cherniavsky explains, and the forces which served to mould the artists character don't function in the same way now.

Life Too Easy

"What chance has the young Jew now?" he asks. "He can't know what it is to drag a fiddle as big as he is into the woods where he has to sleep because he is a Jew and must hide? His father can't sacrifice for him as in the old Russian days. He doesn't work and starve and suffer till his music is part of him, till he himself has lived the entire tragedy of the Jews."

"No," he answered his own question. "The young Jew hasn't this advantage: Life is so much easier for him. Take my son. (Cherniavsky has four sons of whom he is inordinately proud). He's a bright, talented boy, a fine student, but he hasn't the chance I had. He doesn't have to struggle, to work to suffer. I'm glad of that — but such conditions do not make for musical geniuses."

Cherniavsky is going to Palestine next March for a three weeks' concert tour. It will be his first trip to Palestine and he is quite excited about it. Huberman and Elman have sung the fame of Palestine audiences far and wide.

"Musicians tell each other," he explained, "in Palestine you get enthusiastic, appreciative audiences. Every musician wants audiences like that. It's a joy to play to them."

Knows Jewish Audiences

Cherniavsky has had experience with audiences — particularly the Jewish. Forty-two years old now, he has been playing for them since the age of six, in about every country of Europe and on five continents.

With his brothers, Jan and Leo, he formed a celebrated trio that visited all parts of the world and brought music to the very outskirts of civilization. He vividly recalls travels by stage-coach in Australia a little more than 30 years ago, and trips in ox-carts in South Africa not so many years after the turn of the century.

Jewish communities in those days would turn out en masse to hear Jewish artists and Jewish music and Jews would come from miles around to welcome the lads.

Cherniavsky recalls how many times these Jews, who fled from pogrom-ridden Czarist Russia, wistfully recalled the old days there, and recounted happy experiences in Kiev, Odessa — Pogroms? Yes, but they lasted only a few days and then it was quiet, they would say.

Cross Brings Frigidity

He tells one story of Johannesberg in 1908. The three lads were giving a concert there. They had with them, Mme. Maria Hooton, a talented singer. The audience was almost exclusively Jewish. The boys were tumultuously applauded. Mme. Hooton who wore on a chain around her neck, a large cross, was received in frigid silence.

Came the intermission and there was a lot of discussion in the audience. Then the management was advised that unless the singer appeared without the cross, the audience would leave. Mme. Hooton obliged and was duly applauded for her remaining numbers.

The point of the story was not that the Jews objected to the symbol of an alien religion — a symbol that had meant suffering to them in their former homeland — but that they were Jews, come to hear Jews play Jewish music for them and resent anything foreign.

Today, Cherniavsky points out, the Jewish audience does not fill the concert hall only because the artist is Jewish but because he is an artist. Of course, he points out, the fact that the artist is a Jew does not handicap him in attracting an audience. In Johannesburg and other South African cities today, the Jews still attend concerts in great numbers despite the competition of the wireless and the cinema — but the concert is not necessarily a "Jewish affair" as it was years ago. He knows, for he has just returned to his home in England from — was it his 50th or 60th? — South African tour in which he has given more than 410 concerts there.

New Germ in Palestine

I asked Cherniavsky if his explanation for Jewish musical genius didn't rule out the development of musical genius in Palestine.

"Wait and see," he advised. "Conditions and circumstances there may create a new set of forces which, working from an entirely different direction, may develop a germ of musical genius rivaling that to which the ghetto gave birth."

DRIVE JEWS FROM CULTURE

Dresden (JTA) — The extermination of Jews from German culture has been completed, Hans Hinkel, special commissar for Jewish intellectual and artistic affairs, declared in an address before a Nazi meeting here.

Hinkel pointed out that Jews have been completely ousted from the German theater. Jews have also been completely eliminated from the journalistic field and from the schools he said. "Their influence on German culture today is nil," the Nazi cultural commissar added.

MUST LEAVE GERMANY

Berlin (JTA) — German Jewry was urged by its leaders Tuesday night to concentrate on leaving Germany "since there is no other alternative left," at the first public meeting devoted to emigration.

Services

Services for the concluding days of the Succoth festival will commence this (Friday) evening at 6 o'clock, and tomorrow (Saturday) morning at 9 o'clock. During the Saturday morning service, Yiskor will be recited and those who will recite this special prayer are urged to be in the Temple no later than 10 o'clock. Saturday evening, Maasiv and Hakofos will commence at 6 o'clock. Services for Simchath Torah on Sunday morning, will be held at 9 o'clock.

The most beautiful Succah in the history of the Temple was erected for the congregation in conjunction with the Succah festival under the chairmanship of Mrs. Leo Bojar, assisted by Mrs. Isadore Singer and Mrs. Joshua Bell. Following the general plan outlined by the rabbi, the Succah, as constructed, was a beautiful symbol of the ancient Succah and greeted the congregation with the blessing on the doorway: "May the Lord Re-establish for Us the Tabernacle of David." Generous contributions of wine, fruit and cakes from many of the members added to the spirit of the festival as exemplified in the Succah.

Succah Party and Hakofos All children of school age are invited to participate in the Succah party and Simchath Torah festival which will include Hakofos tomorrow (Saturday) evening, at 5 o'clock. Every child will receive a token and will march in the procession of the Torahs.

Sisterhood Meeting The season's first meeting of the Sisterhood was held under the chairmanship of Mrs. Isadore Singer, president, last Monday night in the Temple Succah which lent added color to the session. An outstanding address was given by Rev. E. M. Baker, of Westminister Baptist Church, and vocal selections, including English and Yiddish folk songs, were given by Morris Bromberg, tenor of the Temple choir.

Reports for the summer bridge and the cake sale were given by Mrs. Samuel H. Ernstof, chairman. Mrs. Arthur Galkin, chairman of the annual dinner dance, reported on plans for the event which will be held on Nov. 20 at the Biltmore Hotel.

Assisting Mrs. Galkin are co-chairman, Mrs. Max Scherer, secretary, Mrs. Joseph Schlossberg; treasurer, Mrs. Morris Schussheim; Kiddie Page, Mrs. Samuel H. Ernstof; menu, Mrs. Morris Narva and Mrs. Jos. Schlossberg; music, Mrs. Wm. H. Several novel entertainment numbers have been engaged for the evening and the meeting promises to be an most interesting one. A complete program for the year will be announced in next week's issue of the Herald.

Adult Study Activities

Study groups, organized two years ago, will be conducted this year with an enlarged program. A series of Saturday evening meetings for women is being organized by the rabbi and will include a number of outstanding authorities as invited lecturers. The rabbi will continue his Sunday morning lectures on the development of Jewish life. The Seminary Institute of Jewish Studies will also be conducted this year.
