PURIM MASQUERADE BALL AT ELKS' HALL, MARCH 19

ARCHIE SMITH

The fourth annual Queen Esther Purim Masquerade scheduled to be held Tuesday evening, March 19 at the Elks Auditorium, under the auspices of the Jewish Center Council, promises to be a more colorful event than ever, according to the announcement made by Mrs. Joseph J. Seefor, president of the Council and Miss Freda Simon, chairman of the event. Archie Smith has been appointed as co-chairman.

For the past four years the Jewish Center Council has sponsored the most unique affair with the result that the beautiful Jewish holiday Purim is better known in the community than ever before. The purpose of this event is to bring out the jolly aspect of the festival by asking persons to come in costume and also by choosing Queen Esther and five court attendants, thus reenacting the biblical event. The masquerade and the Queen Esther features make the event a most interesting one.

Miss Simon and Mr. Smith stated that the committee is making strenuous efforts to offer beautiful prizes to the young women who will be fortunate enough to be chosen as Queen Esther and to the five lucky ones to be chosen as her court attendants. The choice is made on the evening of the affair by popular vote by those who attend the event. Any Jewish young women in Rhode Island, 17 years or over may enter this contest. There is no registration fee of any kind and young ladies planning to enter the contest are urged to make their entries at once either by filling out a blank appearing in this issue of the Jewish Herald or by calling the Center office, Dexter 6730.

The entry does not have to be made necessarily by the young women but any person may nominate a young woman for the position of Queen Esther or her court attendants.

The probable prizes will be vacations in well known summer resorts in New England as well as prizes donated by the local merchants. The coronation of Queen Esther and her attendants is the additional prize to be offered to the lucky winners. The masquerade feature of the event will also offer attractive prizes to those appearing in the most original, most humorous and most beautiful costumes. There is no necessity for entering the masquerade contest in advance but the committee urges that those planning to come in costume give some thought to the type of mask to be worn that evening.

Dancing, of course, will form the main part of the program and will begin at 8 o'clock. This year's event is being held at the Elks' Auditorium because it is felt that it is more suitable for this type of affair. The auditorium is centrally located at the corner of Washington and Green Streets, next to the Providence Public Library. Further details of the affair will be released in coming issues of the Jewish Herald.

Pioneer Resident of South Providence Dies After Illness

Isaac Marks of 34 Robinson Street, first Jewish resident in South Providence, died Wednesday, January 30, at his home after an illness of six months. The funeral took place from the synagogue on Robinson Street, with Rabbi Werner officiating. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

Mr. Marks had lived in South Providence for 55 years. He is survived by his widow, Bertha, and seven children: Mrs. Jack Davis, president of the Providence Section, National Council of Jewish Women; Maurice Marks, Mrs. Samuel Finegold and Miss Reka Marks, all of this city, and Joseph Marks of Los Angeles, California; Mrs. Herman Rubin of Miami Beach, Florida; and Lester Marks of Algonac, Mich.

Mr. Marks was a member of the South Providence Austrian Congregation of Robinson Street; the South Providence Lodge, I. O. B. O., No. 323; United Hebrew Lodge, I. O. B. S.; Jewish Home for the Aged; the Hebrew Free Loan Association; and South Providence Talmud Torah.

Unique Program Presented at Meeting of Temple Beth-El Sisterhood Conducted Last Tuesday

By GERTRUDE M. WOLFSON

Members of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth-El enjoyed last Tuesday afternoon one of the outstanding programs of the season, a "Historical Calendar Tea" compiled and arranged by efficient Mrs. Harry Parvey. Tables for the twelve months of the year, fittingly decorated, formed a semi-circle in the vestry, and Sisterhood members enacted various roles, in appropriate costumes.

"In our portrayal of great moments of American history," Mrs. Parvey said, "we have tried to present in as brief time as possible the great dramatic incidents in American history, which through their enactment forged each link in the chain, eventually welding itself into the America we have today."

And so, as Mrs. Parvey turned back the pages of the calendar, she presented first:

September 14, 1814—The birth of America's national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner." Mrs. Saul Rothschild presented the story. "The song was first sung in Baltimore," she said. "It became popular. Although it never received official sanction by Congress, it was adopted by the army and navy as the national anthem."

October 12, 1492—An adventurous trip which was fateful to American history—the discovery of America. How interestingly Mrs. Charles C. Brown, wife of the President of the Temple, visualized the characters of the Court of King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella, so cleverly shown on her table. There were Jewish men who backed Christopher Columbus, 56 years of age, who set out with three ships and a little crew of 88 men on the famous voyage, to open, as Columbus thought, a new passage to the Indies.

February 22, 1732, the birth of illustrious George Washington, first President of the United States. Sweet-faced Mrs. Leo Lozano read a resume of Washington's life. She impersonated Mary Ball, Washington's mother, and quoted him as saying: "All that I am I owe to my mother," which was followed by the singing of "Hail Columbia."

March 2, 1841, a daily newspaper appeared for the first time in Brookline. Mrs. Lillie Stummerfield traced the newspaper from its infancy, and her table displayed old manuscripts and newspapers.

April 19, 1775, the Midnight Ride of Paul Revere. Mrs. Moses Mickler, behind imaginary church steeples where the lanterns were hung, gave a biographical sketch of the famous man, whose home still stands in Boston, and who was immortalized in Longfellow's stirring poem.

May 4, 1776, Mrs. George Wise becoming ill in blue to harmonize with the blue of the pretty little flags on her table, gave her version of the Independence of Rhode Island. Founded by Roger Williams in 1636, Rhode Island declared its independence in 1776. Roger Williams claimed that the basis for his new theory was in the Old Testament. Because of the religious freedom offered in Newport, Jews settled there as early as 1636.

July 14, 1777, Betsy Ross and the first American flag, with its original 13 stars. Mrs. Samuel Markoff typified a delightful Betsy Ross, as she busily sewed the flag. Mrs. George Nathanson, president of the Sisterhood, read a description of that first Yahzeit. This week the congregation observes the Yahzeit of: Frank Markensohn, Monday; David Brownstein, Sunday; Abraham Weinberg, Sunday, and Harris Kenner, Sunday.

Bar Mitzvah. A very large congregation attended the beautiful Bar Mitzvah exercises last Saturday conducted for Jerome Brier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Brier. Greetings were delivered by the officers of the congregation and the Sisterhood. A Bible was presented and the ceremony followed the usual custom of the Sisterhood.

September 14, 1814—The birth of America's national anthem. "The Star Spangled Banner." Mrs. Saul Rothschild presented the story. "The song was first sung in Baltimore," she said. "It became popular. Although it never received official sanction by Congress, it was adopted by the army and navy as the national anthem."

October 12, 1492—An adventurous trip which was fateful to American history—the discovery of America. How interestingly Mrs. Charles C. Brown, wife of the President of the Temple, visualized the characters of the Court of King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella, so cleverly shown on her table. There were Jewish men who backed Christopher Columbus, 56 years of age, who set out with three ships and a little crew of 88 men on the famous voyage, to open, as Columbus thought, a new passage to the Indies.

November 11, 1918 — Armistice Day, when the guns of the World War ceased. Of course it was Mrs. Samuel Wachenheimer, the Sisterhood's Peace Chairman, dressed becomingly in a white robe with a staff on which the dove of peace was perched—who spoke these stirring words: "Today nations of the world are spending more on armaments than ever before in the history of mankind. Women affiliated with churches and synagogues are endeavoring to make this not only the last World War, but the last War, so that the ten million brave soldiers who died in the belief that it was a war to end war, shall not have died in vain."

December 21, 1620, there came to the shores of New England the "Mayflower." Mrs. Milton Pliner presented a beautiful picture in the garb of an early Pilgrim woman, as her delicate voice sang a selection symbolic of the time of our Pilgrim fathers. She feelingly told of the courage and fortitude and zeal of these first white settlers, driven by storms, finally landing at Plymouth, where they wrestled for themselves a home in American wilderness.

And so ended the recital of "Great Moments in History," which had been interspersed with patriotic songs in which the assembled audience joined from time to time. "My Rhode Island" was enchantingly sung by Mrs. Harry Parvey, Mrs. Adolph Gorman and Mrs. S. Rothschild. Miss Sonya Robinson played all accompaniments. All told, it was a truly unique and inspiring afternoon, and much credit is due Mrs. Harry Parvey for her earnest, effective work in arranging and compiling this "Historical Calendar."

Previous to the program, Rabbi Braude gave a gripping address on his early harrowing experiences in Europe. A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. J. George Nathanson.

Consumers Council
Lauds Moreheat Coal

While investigating the price of coal in Providence, the City Consumers' Council, in its final report, noted that the Moreheat Anthracite coal has more heating qualities at a lower cost per ton. The Council emphasized the quick heat, lack of clinkers and slate in this Bernice Anthracite which is mined in Pennsylvania.

Naturally a coal free from extraneous particles, will burn longer and give more satisfaction. This coal, which is endorsed by the Consumer's Council, is distributed by the Auburn Coal and Coke Co. of this City.

R. I. STATE COLLEGE NOTES

By Clinton Greenberg

Results of the mid-year elections of the Alpha Epsilon Pi Fraternity held last week are as follows: Master, Harold Solovetitz. Westery; lieutenant master, Harold Bernstein. Newport; exchequer, Norman Fain. Providence; scribe, Albert Rouslin. Providence; house manager, Allick Factoroff. Providence; sentinel, Albert Salk. Providence; and Hyman Feldman, Newport, chairman, social committee.

The dinner guest last week was Prof. Robert Rockefeller of the business administration department.

The Alpha Epsilon Pi Fraternity basketball team is undefeated as yet. They have two more games on their schedule before engaging in the play-off for the championship of the college. At the last Dad's Day, this team played the Lambda Chi Alpha team as a preliminary to the varsity game.

Mervin Bachman, '36, Providence, has been made a member of the College varsity debating team. He and Donald O'Brien, Newport, will engage the Upsilon College team of New York the first part of March. Present plans call for Bachman making the trip with the debating team to New York on a week's debating tour of the leading colleges of New York State.

Hyman Feldman of Newport, and Ruth Waldman of Providence, have roles in "Apron Strings," to be put on by the Rhode Island State College Players.

Announce Opening of China Food Shop

The China Food Shop of New York announces the opening of a food shop in Providence, located under the same name at 85 Snow Street under the capable management of Sam Huie who has been with the China Food Shoppes for a number of years.

Women's Study Group Meets

The Women's Study Group met Monday evening, at the home of Mrs. Max Tippe. A most interesting and entertaining evening was enjoyed. The discussion centered around the recognition of Hebrew as a foreign language to be included in the High School and University curricula.

The next meeting of the Group will be held Monday at the home of Mrs. Ben M. Poulten, 16 Donelson Street. Mrs. Lipsey will review "Salvation" by Sholom Asch. A discussion will follow.

Chevre Annual Meeting

The Chevre Mishnayot held its annual meeting on Sunday evening in the vestry. A supper was served to the large assembly of members and friends. Rabbi Schechter delivered a forceful message, which was enthusiastically received by the assembly.

The following officers were re-elected: I. Friedman, president; B. Orzick, vice-president; Rev. M. Pressman, secretary, and Hyman Finkle, treasurer. Mr. Friedman was toastmaster. Among the speak-

Grocery Shower Nets Contributions to J. F. W.

The annual Grocery Shower was held in the vestry of Temple Emanuel-El, with Mrs. Abraham Rotman as chairman.

A large amount of canned and package groceries were received. These groceries are turned over to the Jewish Family Welfare Society who, in turn, distribute them to needy families.

After a short business meeting which was conducted by the President, Mrs. Esther Pritsker, Rabbi B. H. Ziskin of Temple Tifereth Israel of New Bedford was introduced by Mrs. Peter J. Woolf. Rabbi Ziskin gave a very interesting book review of "Salvation" by Sholom Asch. A reception was tendered to all present, with Mrs. S. S. Halpern as chairman, assisted by the following: Mrs. Max Berman, Mrs. Jack Cerei, Mrs. Joseph Chernack, Mrs. Samuel Curland, Mrs. Morris Curran, Mrs. Abraham Goldblatt, Mrs. Louis Gony, Mrs. Morris Mellion, Mrs. Jacob Oskern, Mrs. I. Siegal.

ers were: Mr. Friedman, Max J. Richter, president of the Congregation; Mr. Orzick, vice-president of the Chevre, and Mr. Sandler, the "Rebbe" of the Chevre.

Religious School Play

The second annual affair sponsored by the Religious School Teachers' Staff will be given Tuesday evening, Feb. 26, at the Jewish Institute. As last year, the Staff will present a Dramatic Hour and dance.

The Dramatic Hour will consist of two plays; the first, "Business is Business," will be in English, and the second, "A Doctor," will be given in Yiddish. Members of the Teachers' Staff and of the Men's Club will participate. The plays are directed by Mrs. Abraham I. Schechter.

The Dramatic Hour will be followed by a dance. A splendid orchestra will supply the music for the dancing. Tickets can be procured from members of the Teachers' Staff. The committee in charge of arrangements consist of: Jack Alprin, Gustav Awerman, Sam Greenstein and Irving Kopit. Extensive plans are being made to make this affair an outstanding and enjoyable one. The public is asked to procure tickets early.

Daughterhood Organized

At a meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Dickens, a group of girls organized into the Daughterhood of Sons of Jacob, Miss Blanche Dickens was the hostess.

An initiator of the movement to organize the young girls of the Congregation, Mrs. A. Awerman, president of the Sisterhood, Mrs. L. Dickens, vice-president of the Sisterhood, and Mrs. L. Samuels addressed the girls and encouraged them in their work for the Institute and Congregation. The following officers were elected: Blanche Dickens, honorary president; Charlotte Shushansky, secretary, and Lillian Shushansky, treasurer.

THE RECORD OF RABBI RACKOVSKY

Congratulations to our sister community. It is a year since Pawtucket has received in its midst a young man, silent, modest, intense and persevering. He came highly recommended, but refused to receive the plaudits to which such recommendations entitled him. He assumed the burden of the Rabbinate in Pawtucket refusing to be installed with ceremony. There was work to be done and he started immediately. At the end of the year still without the blowing of trumpets and without unnecessary show, an inventory shows tremendous accomplishments.

Under the guidance of Rabbi Isaiah Rackovsky, Pawtucket has built in this short time, a model Religious School, has organized a Hebrew School which has practically solved its financial problems so that the children who live far are offered transportation to school; has created a Sisterhood of a membership of some seventy-five mothers, is conducting a series of lectures on the week days and special late services on Friday evenings. Pawtucket has become a thriving, active, wakeful community and its Jews have become conscious of their union and strength. Its influence has spread also into Providence, where the Rabbi of Pawtucket has become a familiar figure in the pulpit and on the platform. As an orator he ranks among the best.

Again we say to Pawtucket, "Congratulations! May you long be happy with your Rabbi and may he be happy with you."

CAMP LIFE FOR UNDER-PRIVILEGED CHILDREN

This is the season when children are shut in more or less, due to inclement, severe weather. Even the affluent children can scarcely venture out in the rigorous storms of the winter. As a consequence, spring and summer finds all children in need of outdoor life. The strongest children in most comfortable circumstances are frequently those who are sent to camps during the summer months.

This being true, how much more does the under-privileged, undernourished child who has lived through the winter with perhaps scant food and insufficient clothing, need physical up-building, and the opportunity for wholesome recreation? When you add the ills of cold weather to those to which children are normally subject, you have a situation that seriously needs attention.

Now, more than ever, it is necessary to consider the plight of under-privileged children. The inroads of economic want and deprivation will be apparent later on. More than ever charitable and socially minded persons must give attention to this matter.

The truly noble work which the women's committee of the Jewish Community Center is furthering by its bridge last Wednesday evening, is to be commended because of the opportunity which it will afford a large group of boys in need of camp life next summer. Every thoughtful person who has not considered the claims of this inspiring work, should do so and do his bit. Such work is bound to pay large dividends in the future. Some child merely on the border-line of health and vigor, may lapse backward for lack of health and spirit-giving opportunity that comes from camp. In the case of under-privileged children this is sure to impose a burden upon the community in the future. Everyone saved at this time is so much gain; and it is the ounce of prevention that will make unnecessary the pound of cure.

We should all support this highly necessary work upon which the women's committee of the Jewish Community Center has embarked.

A COMMENDABLE SELECTION TO A HIGH POST

The selection of Dr. Morris R. Lebow as president of the Rhode Island State Dental Society is more than an honor. It is an achievement. It represents the growing power of a keen mind and the skill of a deft hand in work.

Dr. Lebow is one of the distinguished group of workers to advance the cause of knowledge for the welfare of humanity. His has been no search for material rewards. His has been no striving for honors in affairs of government. But all the greater is the merit of the man who made his knowledge and skill of practical application for the salvation of his fellow-man.

An experienced practitioner in dentistry, he was not content with existing accomplishment, but reached out for further knowledge in the domain of things that were often called impossible. It was not his purpose to change the course of nature, but to utilize the ways of God to repair the accidents of nature. Orthodontia and its benefits have been made available to the average man by the high-mindedness of Dr. Lebow and his confreres.

His plans for disseminating information on the subject of dentistry are sure to prove of benefit to everybody. This, too, is a high type of social service. We congratulate Dr. Lebow on having quietly and without fanfare accomplished so much — an accomplishment recognized by his associates in unanimously electing him president of the Rhode Island State Dental Society.

We shall await further achievement and benefit with confidence of their materialization under Dr. Lebow's guidance.

BROTHERHOOD DAY — FEBRUARY 17

On February 17, another gathering sponsored by the Rhode Island Seminar on Human Relations, affiliated with the National Conference of Jews and Christians, will be held in Providence. The movement is of outstanding significance in that the three divisions of Monotheistic religion, the Jewish, Catholic, and Protestant, are working together in the effort at better understanding. Even a brief quarter of a century ago such a situation would have been inconceivable.

Individuals of the three faiths have often been closest of friends in the past. There have been evidences of individual good-will of one person for another, but until recent years there has been no official working together on the part of the three faiths, for better understanding.

The president of Brown University, Clarence A. Barbour, is chairman of the committee which is arranging the program. The chairmen of the Seminar here are Joseph H. Gainer, Max L. Grant, and Herbert M. Sherwood — communal leaders of the highest standing in their respective fields. Real good is to be awaited from this movement of enlightenment and understanding. Prominent clergymen of the three faiths as official representatives will attend the meeting in this city, thus cooperating fully.

Moreover, the Rhode Island Union Ministers Association, by a unanimous vote, endorsed the observance of Brotherhood Day on February 17, thus lending official cooperation locally as well as nationally in the movement.

The world does move onward. We must move with it, or we will be left behind.

PIONEER CLUB MEETING

Mrs. Harry Beck will read and explain the resolutions adopted at the last Women's Pioneer Convention held recently in Chicago, at the regular meeting, Monday afternoon, at Arcadia Hall, 102 Washington Street. Mrs. Louis Smita will give a detailed report on the proceeds of the annual dance held Jan. 22 at Froebel Hall. A review of current events will be given by Mrs. Joshua Bell.

The last board meeting of the club was held last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Henry Burt, 560 Wayland Avenue. Plans were made for a Donor's Dinner in May. Attempts are being made to secure Mrs. Irma Lindheim as principal speaker. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Misses Anne Goldberg and Eva Pullman were hostesses at a personal shower and bridge held January 28 at the Old France, in honor of Miss Sadye Ruby who will be married in March to Harvey Logowitz. Prizes were awarded to Mesdames William Laffey, Jack Kerzner, Harry Less, and the Misses Laura Foca, Gertrude Goldberg, Rita Volpe, Sadye Pullman and Ceal Ruby.

Sperber-Marcus Nuptials Jan. 28

Miss Bertha Rowena Marcus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marcus, 193 Lenox Avenue, and Charles Bernard Sperber, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Sperber of Boston, were married January 28 at the Providence Biltmore. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi William Braude against a very effective background of palms and roses.

The bride was given away by her father. She was dressed in a gown of white satin and wore a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Edward Frye, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and the bridegroom's brother, Abraham D. Sperber, was best man. Mrs. Frye wore a rose colored maitelasse gown. The bride's mother was dressed in black and gold and the bridegroom's mother's gown was green and silver. Both mothers had corsages of orchids.

The usher corps included Dr. Edward Frye, Dr. Louis Schwartz, Leo Golden, Joseph Kelly, David Lavién, all of Boston, and Fred Weitman of this city.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, the young couple will make their home in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kantowitz of Northampton, Mass., announce the birth of their second son, Feb. 3. Mrs. Kantowitz was formerly Gertrude Smith of Providence.

Mrs. Edward Finberg, retiring president of the Rhode Island League of Jewish Women, last week attended the 15th annual Federation Convention of the Jewish Women's organizations of the country. The conference was held in New York City.

Rose Shapiro entertained at her home, 804 Public Street, last Monday evening. Prizes at bridge were won by Eva Smith, Eva Pullman and Frances Lipson. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Gladys Feinstein.

OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. Jessie Eisenstein was hostess to Mr. and Mrs. J. Gomborg and a number of friends at her home, 2 Taudvin Court, last Sunday. A dinner in honor of the 25th wedding anniversary of the Gomborgs was served to 20 guests. Mrs. Eisenstein's home was appropriately decorated with potted palms and flowers. Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Oken assisted in making preparations for the dinner and celebration.

RKO ALBEE

Five big acts of RKO vaudeville headed by Mr. and Mrs. Radio Ramblers, Sid Rice, Irving Lane and Sammy Vine, are being featured this week at the RKO Albee Theatre. The screen attraction is "Rendezvous at Midnight" starring Ralph Bellamy.

The Radio Ramblers give impressions of the various radio stars—and are described as "America's premier Mimics." Rice impersonates Jimmy Durante, Ed Wynne and Singing Sam; Lane does Bing Crosby, Kate Smith, Rudy Vallee and the Street Singer; Vine gives his impressions of Morton Downey, Rubinoff, Lawrence Tibbett and Gigli and Rosa Ponselle.

Next on the vaudeville program is Joe and Jane McKenna who entertain with patter, song and dance.

Grace Du Faye is seen in an act entitled "Dancing Unusual" and is assisted by Dot, Don and Teddy and Eddie Stuart. Miss Du Faye is reputed to be the best contortion dancer in the world.

"Original Surprises" is the vehicle presenting large and Morgenstern. They entertain with unusual gymnastic and dancing routines.

Williams and Charles, another act on the big program, are best described as musical clowns and offer their ding upon situations and their unusual props to carry the effect. They are two of the finest pantomime artists on the stage today.

The Case of Children With Problems

Problem Parents

By MAURICE STOLLERMAN

Philosophy of Discipline

It is a rather strange but true observation that the most precious products of civilization are yes, to become the beneficiaries of a perfected science for their proper guidance and development. In spite of the fact that we are challenged daily with problems presented by children, there has failed to emerge, on the part of parents, an approach equal to that challenge.

An objective re-examination of the techniques and practices employed in the discipline and correction of children clearly reveals a faulty and archaic procedure. It is apparent that what we generally denote as discipline problems, in truth indicate that those who administer discipline are themselves the problem and that their point of view and behavior needs correction.

It seems that the terms "discipline and punishment" have played too dominant a part in the developmental history of children. This must be construed as a confession of our inadequacies.

Parents must build up an entirely new concept and a new approach and dispossess their minds of thoughts of "discipline" and "punishment" and substitute for these terms "treatment" and "cure." We are inclined to discipline children not so much by reason of the reprehensible character of their acts of omission or commission, but rather because of the annoyance and the shock to our conceit provoked by the children's repudiation of our excited arbitrary methods of ultimatum.

We have altogether too often emphasized obedience as an end in itself. There must be a larger horizon. A particular behavior deviation of a child must be treated with the self-same techniques employed by a physician treating a physical defect. There is such a thing as a behavior prescription which ought to be applied intelligently and with a careful recognition of underlying symptoms. There must be some sort of connecting link between the remedy we apply and the behavior ill. To illustrate:

"X, a child of ten persistently breaks windows in his neighborhood. Father, incensed by the loss of the same techniques employed by neighbors, threatens to send X to bed every night at an early hour."

Now clearly, what relationship has the remedy prescribed by the father to the specific act committed by the child? Logically, the tendency to be destructive must be treated and the child's terrifying energies redirected to constructive and useful channels. We must build up in the structure of the child's personality and in the machinery of his mind a safety factor for constructive pursuits. In this case the child will stop breaking windows because he does not relish the idea of going to bed early, but certainly not by reason of an appreciation that breaking windows is destructive, anti-social, and contrary to the standards of respect for private property.

We must, therefore, by an intelligent process build up within the child a sense of values; to build up constructive attitudes as well as wholesome outlook. Thus, the treatment must have a direct relationship to the particular offense. All plans must center around the condition complained of. Surely, sending a child to bed early is sound treatment, but not for breaking windows. It is perhaps the right treatment for going to bed late.

It is vitally important that "know your child" become a household slogan; that parents take inventory of the personality makeup of their children, and learn to spell out and to interpret the motives behind their conduct, and to steer through the heavy traffic of emotional and mental blockings.

Do not think in terms of punishment. For it is but a transient and emergent palliative. Let us then, within our own minds develop a healthier method of procedure. Every attitude that we employ must be carefully thought through. It is not amiss to observe that we give considerably more thought, planning, and patience to matters of lesser importance. Our foremost aim should be to build up a basically sound structure, a patient and understanding plan of treatment. Let us not take the growing-up of children for granted and stay away from them all week and at our first contact discover that they have done something wrong and arbitrarily seek to punish them. Let us, equally, break down to our own selves the antiquated and hoary tradition that self-expression of the child is an infringement of the exalted status that parents seek to occupy in the relationship with their children. Respect of children can be won and not exacted.

On the Upbuilding of Palestine

We must work, give, and do our best, And build a country for the rest To marvel at. And it will be A cradle of true liberty.

Faith, hope and charity will be our goal For every persecuted soul. All deeds of greatness done by Jew Will now be given its just due, For our dear homeland as in days of yore, Will be again the seat of learning, faith and wisdom evermore. Our kith and kin o'er all the world Shall never once again be hurled Out of their homes, their business and their life, Their children shall not know the strife, Our little ones in Germany Are undergoing constantly. Our Jewish Government will be on hand To see that justice's done to us in every land. With heads held high and dignity, We'll walk thru life in liberty.

MASADA STUDENT'S LEAGUE

Milton Taylor, chairman of the membership and propaganda committee of the Contra Masada Student's League in New York, addressed the Providence group Tuesday evening at Temple Beth-Israel. He pointed out that the three ideals of the Masada are development of Palestine as a Jewish state, Jewish social and economic achievement, reconstruction of the Jewish people as an entity, and the development of the ideology of liberalism in all countries, under all conditions.

Mr. Taylor stated that there are 75 chapters of Masada in the United States. He also reminded the members that any relationship is necessarily bound to the Zionist organization in all its principles. At his invitation, the Providence chapter will debate in New York in early April.

The next meeting will be Monday at the South Providence Hebrew Institute on Chester Avenue.

WINS MEDICAL AWARD

Eugene A. Field, 25, of 27 Forest Street, has been awarded the William H. Hemingway scholarship of $250 in the Columbia University School of Medicine, it was announced this week by Dean Willard C. Rappleye.

Around The Town

With JOSEPH M. FINKLE

Names make news and names are sometimes interesting. During the past week my social engagements have carried me to a number of places where it has been my good fortune to meet again scores and scores of old friends and people — I know that we all like to read about our good friends so here is hoping that these NAMES and NAMES will be of interest to you — you — and you.

AT THE JEWISH CENTER FORMAL — NARRAGANSETT HOTEL

As per usual this annual event was planned and carried out in the best of style — and the chairman, Lou Davis also demonstrated what the well-dressed man should wear "When Life Begins at 8.30" — full dress, opera hat and all the fixings — and then a sweet miss on his arm — here is Abe Blakman and Mrs. — and Abe wants me to know that Allen Robert, their 5-year-old son is a big improvement on the "old man" — O. K. Abe, I'll have to take your word for it.

The committee room from what I could see was certainly a busy spot — Evelyn Siegal waltzing as never before — this young lady dances nearly as well as she sings — ah, here is Frank Slepok, the advocate from the wilds of Riverside — in the grill room between dances my eager eye sees the Saul Abrams — the George Triedmans — the Arthur Levys — Moe Hendels — Paul Summer-fields — Max Tarnapols — Dave Meyes — the John Silvermans with son Harold and his fiancée Florence Silverstein — the Sol Fabers — the Carl Jagolizners — the Ben Woolfs all the way from the wilds of Auburn — and so many, many more.

In the mezzanine, forgetting the worries of medicine are medicos Stanley Friedman and Eddie Seltzer and with two beautiful cousins, too — Mrs. Walter Adler alone — guess Walter must be home preparing some important brief — it seems that about half of the legal fraternity is here — Lou Davis, Harold Moskoff, Frank Barad, Archie Smith (and he spent a lot of time writing letters in the writing room — why go to a dance, Archie) — Iz Korn, Moe Hendl and — oh, so many more — In Child's afterwards, Eddie Dendel looking for his better half, Bessie — Saul Feinberg drawing hearts on the menus for all the pretty ladies — his partner, Sid Hanzel looking on wishing he too were blessed with artistic ability.

LOOK AT HER!
Well, here's Valencia Lipsitz looking as pretty as ever, window shopping on Westminster Street. This girl is sure a stylist.

AT THE FAREWELL RECEPTION TO THE MORRIS FEINBERGS

At Zinn's on Sunday night 130 sat down to a farewell feast to wish good-bye to the Morris Feinbergs who leave for Palestine Tuesday next on the Countess De Savoie — here I find a wealth of names — some young — some older and the youngest man here is 80-year-old Simon Jess (what a man) uncle of Mr. Feinberg and Mrs. J. D. Grossman — tells me he is at the Orms St. Synagogue every day in the year at 5 a. m.

What energy this young fellow of 80 has and his presentation speech was the hit of the evening — this party was captained by popular Sam Michaelson and given by the Congregation Sons of Zion Hebrew school of which Mr. Feinberg is the president — as I look across the long table I find that at one end are the younger set, while at the opposite side there is a bit of the older generation while in the center I find still an older set in years, but young in spirit — the E. Rosens (every one know their sons — Sam (candy) and Hy) — Mrs. Rosen has always been so active in every Jewish endeavor.

Next to them are the B. F. Rosens — the Zeidels — the Blums — the Bergels — the Harry Lyons — the Harry Katzs with Itzy Katz, that bashful Romeo — the Irving L. Fains — Saul Grossman — Irwin Gortz — Morris Blackmans — George Sandperil — the William Hanzels — the Carl Michaelsons and Carl did a good job as toastmaster — Frank Lazarus introduced me to his sweet wife — Dr. Kilbanoff and the frau — across from me are the Hy Rosens — Doc and Mrs. Bantze Feinberg — the Norman Feinbergs thinking of Joel Irwin — N. Russell Schwartz — and at the end of the table are the Samuel Gereboffs and the Herman Bergels — Morris Cooper, that Barrington ice cream king making a toast and at the same time thinking of his friends, the Sam Shores in Florida — Archie Silverman, Dr. Ilie Berger — Rabbi Bachrach, Rabbi Schussheim, the Rabbin Werner, all expressed their kind

YOUNG JUDEAE NOTES

The mid-year rally committee of the R. I. Council of Young Judeaea met at the home of the council president, Morris Block, last Saturday. Samuel Strong conducted the meeting. The rally will be held at Temple Beth-Israel, Sunday, Feb. 17.

Special features will be the character presentation by Rabbi Morris Shussheim, a pageant by the "Flow-ers of Zion" showing the importance of various Jewish agencies, and the singing of Palestine songs. Mrs. Martin Cohen will conduct the singing.

Mrs. Morris Block was appointed to visit the Jolly Jewish Juniors, the youngest local group, to arrange a sketch in which they will take part. A meeting of the Jolly Jewish Juniors was held last Friday at the home of Eileen Paul. A story, brought in by the leader, Miss Trav-ers, was read. The meeting next Friday will be at the home of Harriet Krasnow.

In the absence of the president, Sylvia Kaufman, at the meeting of the "Glory of Zion" group, last Tuesday, at Temple Beth-Israel, Mil-fred Exter presided. Plans for a bridge were discussed and Ada Rap-paport presented a current events report.

Miriam Mistowsky presided over the "Daughters of Herzlia" meeting, Tuesday at the Temple. Raffle tick-ets have been distributed and a ticket committee was appointed. Selma Stone, chairman, is assisted by Ros-lyn Roberts and Jane Levinson. Proceeds will go to the Keren Ha-nod.

Miss Jennie Friedman, of the "Daughters of Judeaea," will vie for the prize speaking contest to be held February 19.

"The Judeaens of Temple Emanu-El" met Tuesday at their Tem-ple. Miss P. Acherman presided while plans were discussed for a bridge to be held Wednesday evening. The bridge will be held in behalf of the Palestine Scouts. The members are rehearsing a play.

Thoughts to the guests of honor — Cleve Maguire, all the way from Boston had one swell time and barely made that 10.15 — all in all it was a great party and was a fitting testimonial to the Feinbergs — this column wishes them the best on this trip to the Holy Land.

SIDELIGHTS

Ben Agronick is sporting a beautiful watch presented him by What Cheer Council, No. 11, Jr. O. U. A. M. Ben is the first Jewish person ever to be elevated to the office of Councillor and has just completed his term — Frank Golemba is the present councillor — Sid Hoffman — Ken Logowitz, Ben Reitman and Max are other boys of our faith in this order — Joe Keller, one of my favorites, supervisor of Young Ju-deaea, prominent member of Prov. Federation and everywhere where there are things to be done — Dr. Ilie Berger just called about the great 13th anniversary of Temple Beth-Israel — a three-day celebra-tion beginning Friday, March 1 — it will be a pleasure to help the doc-tor and his committee to publicize this momentous occasion. Great do-ings are being planned with great names coming to take important parts in the ceremonies.

Mrs. Jonas Goldenberg and Mrs. Ilie Berger sure have the knitting garment, and Mrs. Goldenberg her fourth — what patience — Martin Bernstein and Murray Goldfarb, two live boys doing a good job with Jackson's furniture — Sam Lazarus, another story of a poor boy now one of our leading figures in the oil industry, and Bernard Goldowsky, our "reliable" reporter that nearly two "grand" was realized from the Home for the Aged Ball on Xmas night — Nat Cohen reports a mem-ber-ship drive for this worthy cause to begin in April.

Recommended — the lectures of the Prov. Community Federation which begin at the Plantations Club this Sun — Dr. Shubow, fiery Rabbi from Boston will address the second meeting of the New Junior Chapter of the American Jewish Congress at the Biltmore this Sun evening — Dave Falk planning membership

DR. LEBOW ELECTED HEAD OF R. I. STATE DENTAL SOCIETY

By GERTRUDE M. WOLFENSON

In 1900, a week after coming to this country, a lad in kneepants, in Providence had to go to work to help support his mother and two sisters, for he had lost his father at an early age.

That had a fortnight ago was elected President of the Rhode Island State Dental Society—the first Jew to hold any office of importance in that organization in the 56 years of its existence.

"One has to be born with the urge in him," says Dr. M. R. Lebow, "if one wants to develop and advance in any field of knowledge, especially in the chosen field of dentistry. If one wishes to understand fundamentals and to solve knotty problems, he must use scientific methods. From childhood on I have always felt what I might call a scorching desire for finding the solution to all perplexing problems that have arisen in my field. And I am certain that this ir-ritating urge within me has been the most important factor in forcing me to ever seek further knowl-edge."

In the presence of Dr. Lebow you are conscious of a power that springs from fullness of knowledge and experience. A calm but precise demeanor; a genial countenance and personality and a keen and clear eye, attest the mature specialist and scholarly practitioner, with a mind constantly open to new develop-ments, searching always to assist his fellows.

Continued Work in Research

Dr. Lebow received his first dental training at the University of Maryland in 1907. He matriculated at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, in Baltimore, the first col-lege in the world to establish itself as a college in dentistry. Recogniz-ing the importance of a medical training, and realizing the inadequacy of dental education at that time, Dr. Lebow entered in his second year to the Baltimore Medical Col-lege where he could get broader ob-servation and training in medicine.

During his second year, in 1910 he helped form the Chapter of the Alpha Omega, which is today the largest Jewish Dental Fraternity in the world. After his graduation in 1912 he went into general practice of den-tistry in Providence. In 1924 he took up special work at Tufts College, and then gave up his practice to study Orthodontia in New York City with that famous teacher and in-ter his friend, the late Dr. Martin drive for local B'nai Brith — Fan Pinkerson just returned from Florida — Buddie Zetlin postcards also from sunny south — Marilyn Mack-taz, four-year-old of the Woonsock-et, Phil Macktaz's reads this column with the help of his mother — Lester Aptel announces the arrival of Mrs. Marilyn Irene — mother and daughter doing well at Homeopathic — the Temkin boys — Sam and Jack who read the entire New York Times Sundays from cover to cover — no wonder we never see him on the first day of the year — there is Joe Gartner, a little man but a giant in the business world — my sincere condolences to Milt Sapinsky on the loss of his mother.

Rabbi Goldman continues his course at Brown University and it is very popular — Dr. Ekele Wind-ersberg just called to tell me that our mutual friend Harold Mellion is re-covering at St. Joseph's Hospital — haven't seen Doc Nate Bolotow lately — he must be busy — Dr. Israel Makowsky, son of Mrs. Max Makowsky, of Bristol, doing great work at New York's Bellevue Hos-pital — Louie Kramer, one of our cheeriest medics with his charming wife, the former Jessie Shore — don't forget the Intermediate Mir-lan dance, Valentine Day night at Touro Hall — congrats to Doc Mor-ris Lebow on his election as presi-dent of the R. I. Dental Society. A really great honor and distinction — Harry Loeb Jacobs and son Gardner told the world this week of their new Bryant College — this is all for this week — see you next week.

Devey. Ever in search for greater learning, Dr. Lebow spent two years at Harvard and Brown University, and recently at Columbia Univer-sity.

Recalls Early Days Here
In a reminiscent mood Dr. Lebow tells that when he first came to Pro-vidence there were only a few Jewish families here, all grouped in the North End. The only Jewish profes-sional man at that time was the late Dr. Max Gomberg, Colonel Cut-ler and the elder Mr. Lederer were outstanding Jews of the time.

"Then I left Providence," Dr. Le-bow went on to say, "and for a num-ber of years I went from one univer-sity to another, because knowledge is not concentrated in one spot. One must seek and hunt for it, as one seeks and hunts for treasure."

"Upon my return to this city I practised general dentistry for twelve years in the North End on Orms Street, the Providence melt-ing pot. Do you know, at one time I counted thirteen nationalities com-ing into my office for treatment? I did indeed come into contact with many types and various faces. Since 1925 I have been at my present lo-cation on Thayer Street. —x 29—

Dr. Lebow has had many Jewish contacts as the years rolled by. He remembers as friends the late Jacob Eaton, one-time political leader, Rabbi Rubenstein, and Rabbi Bach-rach. The Jewish community at first was small, and every Jew knew ev-ery other Jew.

"It was after my graduation in 1912 when I took up practice in Pro-vidence, that a small group of Jew-ish men took up the professions. Ma-ny of them are now prominent loc-ally, among them Judge Maurice Ro-binson, and Adolph Gorman, the at-torney, Max Grant was just finish-ing school and getting into business. I took the State Dental Examination with Charles C. Brown one of my closest friends still. Among the non-professional men who were advanc-ing to the fore were Benjamin Kane

Bridge Party to Send Needy Youths to Summer Camp Conducted Successfully by Center Women's Division

The entire gymnasium of the Jewish Community Center, gaily decorated with many colored streamers, was the scene of an animated, largely attended bridge Wednesday evening, when loyal friends assembled to participate in a humanitarian enterprise. The bridge was sponsored by the Women's Division of the Center, of which Mrs. Louis I. Kramer is president. Its purpose was to raise funds to again send a group of 25 boys to camp this coming summer, as was done last year.

Mrs. Isaac Wolf is chairman of the committee who will select the most needy boys from among the large number at the Center, for a two weeks' vacation at Camp Avodah at Middleboro, Mass. It is a highly necessary adjunct of the welfare work of the community to supply this lack for the under-privileged boys who will benefit physically and mentally by camp life.

Mrs. David E. Feldman was arrangements chairman of the bridge, with Mrs. Louis Hurwitz, co-chairman. They were assisted by: Mesdames Saul Abrams, David C. Adelman, Eugene Austin, Walter Adler, Abraham Blackman, Bert Bernhardt, Harry Basse, Harold Cohen, Jacob Ernstof, Edward I. Friedman, Maurice Felder, David Genser, Isador Feldman, Herman Galkin, Max Grant, Henry Hassenfeld, Isaac Gerber, Miss Eve Greenstein, Mesdames Henry P. Shiber, Herman Swartz, Max Taniapof, Charles Temkin, Isaac Wolf.

Mrs. David C. Adelman acted as secretary and Mrs. Judah Semonoff was the treasurer. Mrs. Milton C. Sapsinsky and Mrs. Walter Adler were in charge of the committee. An attractively decorated tea table, centered with variegated seasonal blossoms, and brightened with tall tapers and tea service added to the festive appearance of the gymnasium.

Sandwiches in fancy shapes, and toothsome combinations, tempted the appetites of the guests after several hours of attention to cards. With these were served dainty pastries, colorfully decorated, assorted candies, and fragrant tea.

The list of subscribers present at the bridge included: Mrs. Abraham Blackman, Mrs. Joseph Shukovsky, Mrs. Benjamin Salk, Mrs. Nathan Curland, Mr. and Mrs. Herman S. Complimentary Donors' Tea and Musicals at the Home For the Aged Attended by Over 400 Women

More than 400 women braved the wintry weather last Wednesday afternoon to attend a complimentary donors' tea and musicals at the Jewish Home for the Aged on Hillside Avenue, under the auspices of the Ladies' Association of the Home. This social affair was preliminary to the third annual Donors' Luncheon to be held at the Providence Biltmore on February 27.

The guests, who filled the auditorium to capacity, were entertained for coming out, by the musical entertainment arranged by Mrs. John J. Rouslin, program chairman, who introduced the artists. Miss Mary Orliansky, known for her radio work in Providence, sang some delightful numbers, among them "Eli-Eli."

Eleanor Knasin, still in her teens, a member of the Young Artists' Chopin Club, rendered a group of piano selections.

Mrs. Isidor S. Low, president of the Ladies' Association of the Home, welcomed the guests and conducted a brief business session preceding the program. Mrs. Morris Sheer announced the all-day annual meeting of the League of Jewish Women's Clubs, to take place Feb. 25.

Mrs. Jennie Goldsmith, chairman of the Donors' Luncheon, stated: "We have already over 400 donors; our goal is 500. We are sparing no ef-orts to make the luncheon a delightful affair. There will be a fashion show by Miss Waterman. She solicited the further cooperation of Providence women to make the project a success."

During the social hour which followed, a bevy of young women, attired in modish gowns of ultra good taste, dispensed hospitality and luscious sandwiches, prettily decorated cakes, and tea. Adding to the charm and picturesqueness of these 30 young servers were the dainty organdie-bibbed aprons which they wore.

The tea tables, centered with baskets of colorful blossoms, with yellow and blue predominating, decorated with greenery and shining silver service, and colorful candy, added brightness and cheer to the hall, and were a fitting background for the servers. The pourers were: Mrs. Archie Albert, Mrs. Leo Logan, Mrs. Ephraim Rosen, and Mrs. William Rabinowitz.

Mrs. Leo Rosen, tea chairman, was presented with a shoulder corsage. Assisting Mrs. Rosen were: Mesdames Abe Berman, Bert Bernhardt, Charles Brier, Everett Cowen, David Dwares, Charles Emers, Lester Emers, Irving Fain, Jack Fain, Arthur Galkin, Murray Goldfarb, Saul Grossman, Maurice Handman, Carl Hyman, Samuel Kennison, Isador S. Membership Drive Planned by Home

Nat C. Cohen was appointed chairman of the membership committee at the monthly meeting of the Jewish Home for the Aged Thursday evening, Jan. 30, at the Narragansett Hotel. He reported that plans are being made for a membership drive in April.

Bernard M. Goldowsky, chairman of entertainment, announced that net receipts of the dance amounted to $1828.56. The president of the Ladies' Association, Mrs. Isadore Low, reported that 400 reservations have been made for the donors' luncheon this month. The budget for next meeting was presented by Charles C. Brown.

A committee composed of Arthur Fain, Charles Brown and Arthur J. Levy has been appointed to study the old age pension question. Mrs. Samuel Deutch, chairman of admission, reported one new resident.

MEN'S CLUB DANCE

Rabbi and Mrs. Abraham I. Schechter were patrons at the dance held by the Men's Club of Sons of Jacob Congregation Tuesday evening at Providence. The hostesses, Abel Soares was winner of an "amateur" contest which included the following contestants: Miss Sally Pressman, Fred Gorin and Harold Keller. Music for the contestants and dancing was provided by Wayne Simmons and his orchestra.

Sam Weinstein, Leo Miller, Sam Kagan, George Tabach, Sidney Gitteman, Sam Sharpstein and Max Weinberg formed the committee.

UNION AID SPEAKER

and Leo Logan; Archibald Silverman was already established in business."

In 1918 Dr. Lebow married Lillian Finkelstein, the only daughter of a prominent Boston family. Dr. Lebow is a member of the Masonic order, of Temple Beth-El, and the League of Nations Country Club.

For the past nine years he has been practicing the science of Orthodontia.

Work is Truly Humanitarian

"At one time we thought deformities of the human body had to be accepted as the will of God" Dr. Lebow remarked. "Today, by modern methods, crooked legs, crooked spines, crooked jaws, faces and teeth can be straightened."

Thus it is a truly humanitarian work Dr. Lebow is engaged in. He is even extending his good services to under-privileged children. For a number of years he has been treating without charge the children of the Jewish Orphanage of Rhode Island needing Orthodontic treatment, which will result in the greatest benefit to these boys and girls in the years to come.

The recognition which Dr. Lebow has received by being chosen president of the Rhode Island Dental Society is the reward of perseverance in following out that inner urge for greater knowledge which has always clung to him.

and flourishing condition of the Ladies' Association of the Jewish Home for the Aged. The organization is not only carrying forward the older members who originated and bore the brunt of the work to this point, but it has a large representation of younger women who have joined the ranks.

Dr. Marx to Lecture

It is with the greatest eagerness that the community looks forward to the visit of Prof. Alexander Marx to this city this coming Sunday evening. This is the first visit of Prof. Marx to Providence. He is to lecture at the Temple at 8 o'clock next Sunday evening and will speak on the subject, "The Romance of Jewish Books." This lecture is the third in the series of Sunday evening lectures sponsored by Temple Emanu-El and Temple Beth-Isra'el.

Dr. Marx is one of the most annual personalities in Jewish life today. His scholarship is only exceeded by his great charm and impressiveness. Because Dr. Marx is librarian of the greatest Jewish library in the world, therefore, he will be special guests at this lecture. Dr. Henry B. Van Hoesen, librarian of John Hay Library; Dr. Harry L. Koopman, librarian emeritus of the John Hay Library; Dr. Lawrence Wroth, director of the John Carter Brown Library; Howard Chapin, director of the Rhode Island Historical Society; Clarence Sherman, chief librarian of the Providence Public Library; Miss Margaret D. Stillwell, librarian of the Annmary Brown Memorial Library; Miss Grace F. Leonard, librarian of the Athenaeum Library.

Cokins Leaving for Palestine, Europe

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cokin of 115 Marbury Street, Pawtucket, will leave March 15 on the S. S. Countess de Savoie for a three months' trip to the Mediterranean, Palestine, Turkey and Russia. In the latter country they will visit Mr. Cokin's birthplace, the town of Senner. In Poland, several days will be spent in Brest-Litovsk, the birthplace of Mrs. Cokin.

Several months ago, Isaac Cokin of 192 East Avenue, Pawtucket, returned from a three months' stay in Russia. Equipped with a motion picture camera he brought back interesting pictures of the places he visited and the persons and scenes he observed. He has exhibited these pictures at many socials and organization meetings in Pawtucket and Providence, and last Sunday showed them at a special meeting in New York City of the Senner Branch, Workmen's Circle.

Hy Cokin, Mel Koppe and Joseph Pulver, all of Pawtucket, returned two weeks ago from a three weeks' trip to Central America.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

The 50th birthday anniversary of Abe Flink was celebrated last Sunday at the Flink residence, 205 Laurel Avenue, by 40 friends and relatives. Among the many and valuable gifts presented Mr. Flink was one by his mother, Mrs. Marie Flink.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Flink have a son, Ellis, an honor student at M. L. T. and two daughters, Eunice Fastle, a student at Pembroke and Shirley Fay, a pupil at the John Howland School. Mr. Flink is associated with B. Flink and Son, wholesale grocers.
