Anti-Nazi Meeting in N. Y. C.

Hitler's Religious, Racial Warfare Condemned

LOUIS LIPSKY, who presided at conference

NEW YORK (JTA) — Demanding that the United States government make official representations to Germany for the barbaric treatment to which Jews, Catholics, Protestants and workers are subjected, and calling upon all Americans to intensify the boycott against German goods and services, more than 2000 delegates representing hundreds of Jewish national and local organizations joined Monday night in the formation of a permanent body to coordinate all anti-Nazi activities and to combat the Nazi regime in Germany.

The meeting, which filled to overflowing the grand ballroom of the Hotel Pennsylvania, was called by the American Jewish Congress and the Jewish Labor Committee.

Strong expressions of condemnation of the Hitler regime and the bloody racial and religious warfare which it has inaugurated were sent to the meeting by more than 30 Congressmen and Senators. Among those voicing their protest and pledging their cooperation to the movement to halt the growth of the Nazi menace were Senator Borah, Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York; Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, Representative John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, chairman of the Congressional Committee to investigate Nazi activities in this country; and Senator Fred (Continued on Page Six)

Hundreds Will Attend Moonlight Sail Tuesday

Mrs. Joseph J. Seefor, president of the Jewish Center Council, announced last night that final plans for the second annual Moonlight Sail and Dance scheduled for next Tuesday evening, are completed. The steamer "Naugatuck" has been chartered for four-hour sail down Narragansett Bay. The boat will leave promptly at 8:30 at the foot of Orange Street and will return at 12:30 o'clock.

The committee has arranged a varied evening's program consisting of dancing to the tunes of a snappy orchestra, entertainment numbers from our own talent, a prize waltz contest and a bingo party with plenty of beautiful prizes.

The committee in charge of the sail promises that there will be plenty to do from the time the boat sails until it returns. Tickets for the sail should be obtained in advance from members of the committee or by calling the Center, Dexter 6750.

IMMEDIATE ACTION NEEDED TO SQUELCH HITLERISM

(Editorial)

Once again do the Nazis hurl into an already complicated and perplexed world the Jewish problem with all the force and venom of which only Nazis are capable and with a boldness and effrontery to world opinion paralleled only by the Czars who planned Russia's pogroms.

For a while it had been thought that the present rulers of Germany had eased up on their policy of anti-Semitism. Months passed without violence, and the world had come to believe that a more sober element was predominating in Hitler's council. But brutalities perpetrated last week in Berlin, the appointment of an arch anti-Semite to the head of the capital's police department, the wide reign given to Julius Streicher, the master of Jew-baiters, utterances by Goebbels, Goering and their lieutenants, further restrictions against Jews in every phase of activity — all these prove conclusively that Hitler and his gang are determined to relegate the Jew to his medieval position in the ghetto.

We Jews in America have kept ourselves better posted on what is going on in Germany than perhaps any other racial or religious element in this country. We have watched the noose slowly being drawn about the necks of our fellow-religionists in the Reich. We have read of and sympathized with the thousands of doctors, lawyers, dentists, journalists and professors ousted from their posts, deprived of means to earn a livelihood simply because they were Jews. We were told of the methods of terrorization, of the intolerable intimidations, and of soul-breaking humiliations practiced on Jews by Nazis organized to maintain and increase the spirit of anti-Semitism throughout the Reich, and our hearts have bled in feeling with our unfortunate brothers and sisters living in a land of enemies, yet unable to escape.

What have we Jews done to help the lot of our co-religionists? You may answer that we have joined in the international boycott on German-made goods. You may proudly point to your shopping expeditions in the city's stores and claim that despite the attractive prices for a pair of gloves, or a toy or whatever the item may have been, you desisted from purchasing. This is all good and commendable.

But with the crisis as acute as it has been brought to this month by the Nazis you are not doing enough. Do not think for a single moment that the troubles in Germany are the concern of the German Jews alone. Nazi ideas are spreading with alarming rapidity throughout Europe and a recent congressional investigation has shown that the United States is not immune to such ideas. You are protecting your own home, your own profession or job if by united action you help quell Hitlerism right now.

The boycott has been effective and has been partly instrumental for the present economic crisis in the Reich. But it has been only 50 percent effective, we venture to state. It has not been pushed by united groups. Jews have unwittingly bought German-made goods without being aware of their origin. The stores were at fault. This

CENTER CONDUCTING ITS PLAY SCHOOL

More than 300 children are having a grand time in the summer play school operated by the Jewish Community Center, in the rear of the main building at 65 Benefit St. The grounds have been open daily, except Saturdays and Sundays, since July 8 and will continue to operate until Thursday, August 15. The program is a busy one, beginning at 9:30 in the morning and continuing till 5 o'clock, with a one-hour interruption.

A varied program includes basketball, volley ball, baseball, ping-pong, checkers and other games. A large variety of apparatus includes swings, see-saws, sand box, slide, merry-go-round and many more. Every afternoon the milk station is open where children can obtain a half-pint bottle of milk for two cents. On Thursday afternoon ice cream is sold for two cents. Free showers are available every afternoon.

The summer program will close with a picnic at Lincoln Woods,

Providence Quota for J. N. F. Drive Set at $2500

At a special committee meeting last Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Samuel Michaelson, it was voted to conduct the Jewish National Fund drive the first week in October. The Providence quota this year is $2500. Mrs. Herman Swartz, local secretary, will, at a later date, announce the executive committee which will have charge of all arrangements.

JEW'S BOYCOTT PAPER WARSAW (JTA) — Several Jewish economic organizations here decided on Tuesday to boycott the Codzienny Gazeta Handlowy, Polish daily economic newspaper, for an article appearing in a recent issue favoring the dissolution of the anti-Nazi Boycott Committee, which was sealed by the authorities several weeks ago.

Thursday, August 15. Next Monday morning a group of 26 girls will be taken for an all-day

DREYFUS MEMOIRS TO BE PUBLISHED

PARIS (JTA) — Col. Alfred Dreyfus' four harrowing years on Devil's Island will be described in the late Jewish martyr's diary and memoirs, soon to be published here by Pierre Dreyfus, his son.

His term on the notorious penal colony made such an indelible impression on Col. Dreyfus' mind that in his last protracted illness, he was reported to have been continually haunted by memories of his experiences there.

Pierre, it was announced here, will also publish in connection with the memoirs, the letters of Zola, Clemenceau, Jaures and other famous figures who took an interest in his father's fate and aided in his ultimate exoneration.

A complete review of the world-famed "L'Affaire Dreyfus," written by Pierre, will accompany the memoirs.

World Lined up Against Nazism

So States Untermyer Prior to Sailing for Europe

HON. SAMUEL UNTERMYER, Head of Anti-Nazi League

NEW YORK (JTA) — Predicting a religious war as a result of the Nazi attempt to substitute atheism for Christianity, Samuel Untermyer, noted lawyer and head of the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League said Tuesday before sailing for Italy that there will be formed a world coalition to smash the Hitler regime.

"Protestants, Catholics and Jews," he declared, "will unite to hasten the end of the present German government by economic pressure."

Mr. Untermyer, who has been ill for some time, and who has been confined to his bed a good deal in recent weeks, sailed on the Conte di Savoia for a four-week trip to Venice and Lido.

"Not content with cowering and subjugating the German people and robbing them of their independence, Hitler now seeks to control their religion and what the churches teach," Mr. Untermyer said. "He and his cohorts, and the atheistic tribe, seem determined to destroy not only the Roman Catholic but the Protestant religion. I think this war will be confined to Germany, with the rest of the world against him."

"A boycott by Christians, similar to that instituted by Jews," Mr. Untermyer asserted, "would accomplish the economic disaster of the Hitler regime within 90 days."

Mr. Untermyer expects to join his daughter, Mrs. Stanley L. Richter, in Venice, and will return with her on August 22.

Vets Carnival Continues to Attract Throngs

With the Jewish War Veterans' annual carnival swinging into its last days, the general committee has arranged for several additional features for tonight (Friday) and tomorrow, including the awarding of a radio as one of the many free attendance prizes.

During the past week the Post's headquarters at 100 Niagara St., have presented a colorful scene of gay crowds patronizing the various booths and games, which provide entertainment for everyone. There isn't a dull moment throughout a carnival evening.

In order to be eligible for the free attendance prizes, Mr. Borod, general chairman, today announced that the winners must be on the grounds, or a new drawing will be made. This rule applies also to the radio prize. There is no entrance fee and festivities begin each evening at 7:30 o'clock, rain or shine.

DRESS—SWARTZ

Miss Hesta Irene Swartz, daughter of Mrs. Rose Swartz of Adelaide Ave., and Jack Dress, son of Mrs. Libby Dress of Douglas Ave., were married last Tuesday afternoon at Temple Beth Israel, Rabbi Morris Schussheim officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Yaffe attended the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dress attended the bridegroom. Only members of the immediate family witnessed the ceremony. Upon their return from a wedding trip to Atlantic City, Mr. and Mrs. Dress will reside at 63 Stanwood St.

Barrington Vacationists Hold Benefit Bridges

Under the direction of the Sisterhood of the Congregation Ahavath Shalom and Mrs. S. Magid, representing the Jewish Home for Aged, two charity bridges were staged last week by vacationists at Barrington Beach.

At the Sisterhood building 25 tables were in play at the homes of Mrs. J. August, Mrs. A. Golden and Mrs. M. Young. A door prize was won by Mrs. Bazarsky. Following the play, refreshments were served by the Misses Evelyn and Helen Goldenberg, Miriam Blackman, Libby Young, Cella Gilstein and Shirley Ann Levin.

An Open Letter

Dear Mr. S. Klein:
It was awfully nice of you, great Jewish dress merchant that you are, to donate that big consignment of animals to the Brooklyn zoo. But why on earth did you bring them over on the Hamburg-American liner Deutschland?

And while we're on the subject of ships, it's common knowledge that any Jewish newspaperman who gets free passage from Trieste to Haifa on the S. S. Tel Aviv of the Palestine Shipping Corp. . . . We intend to take advantage of that favor, that is, as soon as we can arrange similar passage to Trieste.

Attention! Keshrut Association Princess Heshla Tamanya, member of an Abyssinian Hebrew Falasha tribe, and reputed blood relative of Emperor Haile Selassie, is in New York . . . She complains of difficulties experienced in obtaining kosher food here.

Which in turn reminds us that Joseph Schechter, the Brooklyn kosher poultry man whose stubbornness upset the whole NRA, is still seen strutting nightly on the Coney Island boardwalk with an admiring butcher on each arm.

A Duel About Hitler

Although we never saw it in the American press, there recently popped up in London a good Nazi story, to wit, that at Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., Gunther Kiersch, a German exchange student, took offense at the way Morris Allen, a senior, portrayed Hitler in the college's revue . . . So after the performance he called on Allen, asked him to remove his glasses and challenged him to a duel with a slap in the face . . . Allen was going to choose swords or pistols as weapons, only he couldn't handle either, so he suggested boxing gloves . . . College officials, however, spoiled the climax of the story by calling off the "duel" . . . Kiersch later apologized and the subsequent showings of the revue went on without change.

And while we're mentioning Nazis, it may be noted that Dr. Hubert Schmuch, national president of the Friends of New Germany, is in Berlin on a secret mission . . . He is believed to be an American citizen . . . Also, the "Friends" have moved their offices from New York to Brooklyn, because New York Nazis are too preponderantly friendly to the rival Hitlerite organization, American National Socialist League.

Joitings

Ernst Toller, exiled German anti-Nazi author, has wired Lili Grantoff, an 18-year-old London girl . . . The Association of German Hairdressers has petitioned General Goering to reintroduce the old Teutonic beard . . . which can be called, I suppose a hairyan campaign . . . One of the most prominent exhibits in the New Jerusalem Jewish National Fund Building is the sun-helmet Dr. Herz wore . . . M. M. Ussishkin will show it to you with pride if you happen to visit there.

A total of 276,899 Jews have entered the United States since 1921, according to Hias . . . Edgar H. Burman has resigned as president of the Minute Men against Bigotry and Intolerance.

The Esperanto Association of North America convened in New York recently . . . It may as well be stated that the international language was invented by L. Z. Zamenhof, a Polish Jew, who was living on the Lithuanian border of Bialystok where so many languages were spoken that he had difficulty in conducting his business.

Those Rumors About Rabbi Gold For a long time it had been rumored that Rabbi Wolf Gold, president of the Mizrahi Organization of America, would resign and settle in Palestine permanently . . . and when he recently sailed hurriedly for Palestine some thought the rumors were true . . . Many Features This Year at Maplehurst

Reports from Maplehurst, that smart vacation hotel at Bethlehem, N. H., indicate that this popular place is having its best season since it was opened seven years ago. The hotel, a rendezvous for young and old, has always been on the lookout for the best in its social staff and its music for its beautiful ballroom, the finest in Bethlehem. Dancing is enjoyed every evening to the haunting tunes of Don Gorman and his orchestra and the social staff of seven people is headed by Danny Grayson, former Keith's vaudeville star.

On last Sunday evening, the operetta, "The Student Prince" was presented, with the lead taken by David Espinoza, well-known as the young man who figured so prominently in the dramatic production at Rhode Island State College. On Sunday afternoon, a vaudeville show was presented by the children vacationing at Maplehurst, and on Saturday night, Danny Grayson introduced one of the funniest shows ever seen in the mountains. There is something doing every minute.

This year, Bethlehem is represented by a baseball team composed of the pick of the college stars, coached by Jeff Tesrau, coach of the champion Dartmouth College team.

Golf, tennis, bathing and sightseeing are among the other features. The social staff is planning a barn dance, masquerade ball, and "kiddie" party for the coming week. Maplehurst also provides a playground and kindergarten teacher for children vacationing, with their parents. Maplehurst, this year, is providing free auto transportation from Providence. Reservations indicate that a great number of Rhode Island people will begin their vacations at Maplehurst next week.

THE BEAUTY

By NINA KAYE

Everybody was thinking about it. And no one said a word. Brightly polished nails drummed on the bridge table, hands trembled as they dealt cards and bids were wild and scores forgotten. Clinton's Bridge Club had no mind for cards that afternoon.

At last Polly Porter flung down her cards. "I don't care if she is beautiful!" she burst out. "We aren't exactly ugly ourselves."

The bubble burst. "She's gorgeous!" And sophisticated! And that lovely house, with all the money she wants to spend for dinners and parties!"

"Then why doesn't she entertain the married couples? Why is she always inviting us and the boys and then sitting there in that white leather chair of hers and smiling her slow smile and slaying the boys with one look from those great big grey eyes of hers?" Polly leaped up, flung to the window.

"Because," Miriam Solow answered sweetly, "she's used to having men crazy about her. And she doesn't care for married men."

"Except her husband. He's always right there. I don't know why she invites us at all, except as a foil for her loveliness. She could have Arthur bring along his friends and call it a party, for all she or anyone else notices us."

Mollie Berg twisted the diamond solitaire on her fourth finger. "Henry hasn't taken me out much since the Freunds moved to town. We're always there."

"Get married," Polly advised abruptly. "And she won't look at him."

"Isn't it odd," quiet Jen Rosen put in, "that she should have married a man like Arthur Freund?"

"Odd!" Polly hooted. "Look at his bank balance and it won't appear odd. Don't you see, she's crazy about the boys because she's never been in love!"

Mollie shook her head. "She's in love. Always has been. With herself. She'll always have a retinue of admirers. She'll attack every man she meets."

"Then what about us? I'm sick of her old parties and I'm afraid not to go because then I won't have a date at all."

"There isn't anything we can do," Miriam said with resignation. "She's been here half a year already and

Typhus Epidemic in Palestine Spreading; Due to Water Shortage

JERUSALEM (JTA) — The typhus epidemic raging in various sections of Palestine, as a result of the water shortage, has now extended to the Emek-Chefer (Wadi Havarith), claiming four victims there on Tuesday.

PLAN MOONLIGHT SAIL

The Ben Ami Fraternity at a special meeting last week delegated Israel Zukert to arrange for a moonlight sail at a date soon to be announced. Fraternity members are now summering at their Oakland Beach cottage.

They aren't tired of her. There hasn't been an engagement in town in as long a time. Or a wedding. And I did think Milton—" she finished with a sigh.

Polly Porter swung from the window. "We could run her out of town, as she says indignantly."

They burst out laughing.

"Or," she went on, "we could refuse to go with the boys at all."

"Then we'd never see them," Jen put in. "I tried it with Harry and he hasn't called me in months. He goes to Freund's alone and seems happy enough about it."

"I love it!" Polly declared suddenly. From the tone of her voice, they knew that she did, actually have it. And when she told them in an agitated whisper, they greeted the suggestion with crowds of delight.

Polly was the first one to meet Frieda Freund. Frieda hailed her from the sleek grey racer and drew up to the curb. "Polly, how are you?" she exclaimed, holding out an exquisitely gloved hand to Polly. But her eyes were on Polly's escort.

"Polly Porter," she chided, "a new man in town and I haven't met him."

Polly apologized. "You didn't give me a chance, Frieda. This is Dave Grossman."

Frieda gave Mr. Grossman not one, but both her hands. "How nice," she exclaimed. "And I'm not going to let you go until you promise to come to the party I'm giving tomorrow night. Polly will tell you how to get there. Perhaps," she smiled at him delightedly, "perhaps she'll even let you bring her."

He murmured his thanks and his promise to come, and followed Polly away.

Before Frieda started the car again, Miriam came around the corner. And in a moment Frieda was being introduced to Ben Segal and extending to him a very cordial invitation.

Frieda bumped into every one of the girls some time during the day. And to each new man she met, she extended her very cordial invitation.

Frieda dressed for her party with unusual care. Inside her the little flame of excitement which always burned when she was dressing flared more brightly than ever.

Arthur came in as she was applying perfume to her glowing dark hair. "Did I ever happen to tell you how lovely you are?" he demanded, attempting to kiss her and missing her mouth because she drew away.

She stood up. "Am I?" she asked. "I want to look well. It's an extra special sort of party. I've asked loads of new people." She didn't explain by "people" she meant men. But Arthur wouldn't have minded if she did. He was proud of his beautiful wife. And it pleased him that others found her beautiful as well.

Most of the guests had already arrived when Polly Porter came alone. She met Miriam Solow at the door and in the room where they left their wraps were the other girls. They went downstairs together, into the spacious living room. Frieda sat in her favorite white chair. And around her, in places of honor were crowded a score of men who never before had been to her parties. The room was filled with cigarette smoke and familiar figures, wandering disconsolately about.

At sight of the girls in the doorway, they came forward to meet them.

"Well, it's about time somebody got here," Milton Berg spoke for the group. "I was going to leave in another minute. Frieda's invited every waiter in town to this party!"

Miriam Solow asked innocently, "What's wrong with waiters? You know Frieda likes men. You haven't seemed to mind that."

More than one of the men blushed uncomfortably. "Well, it makes a fellow feel ridiculous, with her running after every man she sees — waiters included."

Polly answered him. "There isn't any law, is there, that says any of you men come to be made ridiculous, is there?"

"No, there isn't!" Milton exclaimed. "We're not coming again. Even if you girls want to!"

"Whatever you say, Milton," Miriam said meekly.

Mrs. Fay Goodman of Detroit, Mich., was honored last Sunday evening at a bridge held in the home of her sister, Mrs. Maurice Cohen of Pleasant St. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Shafner of Putnam, Conn., were among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving L. Woolf and son, Richard, of Baxter Street, are spending the summer at Shawomet. Guests during the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Morris Talan and children and Miss Evelyn Talan and Miss Lucille Benson, all of Providence.

Among those passing State examinations in optometry as announced last Friday by Robert D. Wholey, chief of the Division of Examiners of the State Department of Public Health are Max M. Kibianoff of Halsey St., and Charles P. Jagolnizer of Marlborough Ave.

A seventh inning rally enabled the Providence Braves to defeat the Providence Orioles 5-3, last Sunday morning in a play-off of a postponed game in the Jewish Inter-Club Baseball League. The O. H. C. nine eked out a 5-4 verdict over the Parker A. C. at the Pawtuxet River reservation.

Hearst Publication Brands Nazi Anti-Semitism as "Stupid"

NEW YORK (JTA) — Branding as "unbelievable stupidity" the outrages against Jews and Catholics perpetrated by Nazi hoodlums with the encouragement of Nazi leaders occupying high governmental posts, the New York American, a Hearst newspaper, on Tuesday carried a ringing editorial condemning the renewal of the campaign against the Jews.

"The intelligent people of the world," the editorial states "will neither forgive nor forget the physical atrocities upon the Jewish people in Germany.

condition as well as many others in pursuing the boycott must be remedied.

We advocate a joint Conference of the leading organizations in this city. We hope as the result of this Conference able men and women will be delegated to conduct a boycott with the same thoroughness and effectiveness that Hitler's agents are employing in Germany against the Jews. We suggest that the aid of the labor groups, the Catholics and the liberally-minded Protestants be obtained, for the Nazis' war has been extended to these groups as well as to the Jews. We are in the best position at the present time to gain powerful allies, and if the combined efforts of all are successful the Hitler regime will either be doomed or will be forced to modify its policies.

In the meantime we urge all Jews to telegraph or write their Senators or Congressmen protesting the persecutions and oppressions which the German government has been conducting and asking that appropriate action be taken to prevail upon the present government of Germany to restore itself to the family of civilized nations by treating its minorities and dissidents with fairness and humaneness.

While awaiting a call by our communal leaders for a meeting of delegates of the leading organizations for the pursuit of the boycott, we earnestly request that every Jew send a telegram of protest to any or all of the following in Washington, D. C.: Senator Jesse H. Metcalf, Senate Office Building; Senator Peter G. Gerry, Senate Office Building; Representative Francis B. Condon, House Office Building and Representative John M. O'Connell, House Office Building.

JEWISH DAILY BULLETIN SUSPENDS

The startling announcement on Monday of the suspension of publication of the widely read Jewish Daily Bulletin has been received with regret by thousands of its readers in every section of the United States. The Jewish Daily Bulletin adds its name to that constantly growing list of Anglo-Jewish newspapers which, because of prevailing economic conditions, have had to discontinue publication. The Jewish Daily Bulletin, founded in October, 1924, first in pamphlet form and then in the tabloid size, was received eagerly by many local people who were interested in authentic Jewish news from every part of the world. To those of us who were interested in the Jewish scene the passing of this newspaper will come as a great loss and I cannot see how it will be replaced. More now than at any time in this generation, with conditions as discouraging to our people as they are at the present moment, the Jewish Daily Bulletin was indispensable. It was the first Jewish daily newspaper, printed in the English language, and devoted exclusively to the dissemination of Jewish news.

A YEAR AGO THIS WEEK

A year ago this week the following items made news. Do you remember them?

Rhode Island Jews made plans at a meeting held at the Center to honor the memory of Chaim Bialik, Hebrew poet laureate who died in Vienna on July 13, 1934. . . . Bialik was the greatest Jewish poet in modern history.

Jewish welfare organizations report that relief demands are declining.

R'bnai Brith reports that anti-Semitism throughout the United States is regrettably and has a hold amongst thousands of bigots.

Rabbi Jacob Sponderling, former spiritual leader of our Temple Beth Israel is in Los Angeles helping drive of United Jewish Appeal.

Harry Brothman, former Presidence resident passes away in Brooklyn and is buried from the home of his daughter here on Eaton Street.

Mendel Bellis, Jewish martyr, dies in absolute poverty at Saratoga Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman J. Roth return from honeymoon spent abroad, Mrs. Roth is the former Hazel Kessler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Kessler.

Ben Trinkel and Lester J. Robinson win third place in consolation match of the Eastern bridge tournament held at New London.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis open their home at Rocky Beach for the summer.

Residents of our Jewish Home for the Aged observe the nine days preceding Tisha B'Av. . . . and enthusiastic reports are given by carnival committee.

David Croll, Mayor of Windsor, Ontario, is appointed Minister in the cabinet of the Premier of Ontario.

DOTS AND DASHES

Our disciples of Isaac Walton had a great time this past week fishing at Sebago Lake, Maine, it reports which I hear are true. — Morris Narva, Samuel Flatau and Ed Lipson sure made the fish "bite" at this popular spot. . . . I look forward to seeing Ben Kane's string of horses come back into their own at the next session of racing at Narragansett which begins the middle of August. . . . they tell me that many of our locals are making daily visits to the dog track at Taunton, some profitable and others not so good.

They say that Albert Pitou, French newspaperman is a perfect double for Hitler. . . . the other day Pitou strolled down the Promenade des Anglais in Nice where many German Jewish exiles are recuperating from Nazi concentration camps. . . . in no time a screaming mob forced double for Hitler. . . . French boys and girls attacked him, convinced that Herr Hitler had come to Nice incognito. The police finally rescued the unfortunate Frenchman and late reports say that Mr. Pitou will shave off his misleading mustache.

Mitch Glass and Sam Kornstein, leading Woonsocket business men, are getting ready for that needed vacation at Marblehead, a week ago and are accepting speaking engagements to narrate their thrilling observations. . . . Pat Fain is on vacation and brother Lou wishes he still were on his. . . . Doc Myron Keller chauffeured the family to Maine this past week-end. . . . Mrs. Saul Rothchild was nostalgic last week to her niece, Natalie Flatau of N. Y. . . . Mildred Waldman postcards from way up in Old Orchard, while other Rhode Islanders seen at this vacation spot are the Kornstein sisters and Freda Shaver of Woonsocket.

Localities now at Bethlehem are Mrs. Samuel Littman and daughter Phyllis, Mr. and Mrs. Mendel Marks, Mrs. Barney Kenner and Mrs. James Busch,

Variety of Camp Activities Enjoyed at Popular Resort

The Forest & Stream Club, situated in the heart of the Green Mountains, is enjoying renewed success in its camp activities. The past week indeed was a gala one. Bright sunny days, congenial guests and elaborate entertainment collaborated to make the week memorable. Activities during the day, claimed so many, that the hours slipped by unnoticed. Outstanding were the climb to Mt. Haystack, where the guests enjoyed a steak dinner broiled in the open at the top of the mountain, the all day canoe trip down Lake Deerfield to Whitehall. That is the largest earthen dam in the world, and the camp fire at night.

Dancing every evening to the music of Bob Talkov and his boys in the new social hall was a treat. The band has been augmented, and is better than ever. Encores for dances were done at every hour. The music is specially arranged by Bob, Ralph Berg and Henry Sidman.

On Friday night, the Forest & Stream Club Players under the direction of Frank C. Davidson, social director, produced a one-act play in three scenes, "The Monkey's Paw," starring Pauline DeCrocker and Milton Malkin.

On Saturday night, a new and original revue was presented, "Time Flies." Among the cast were Esther Solar, David Dawson, Ben Barkan and Jack Rose. Outstanding in his performance was Jack Rose, who has been on the social staff for the past six years. Jack is a topnotcher in the show business and entertainment. Not only has he proved popular for his rendition of current hits and tunes, but in addition, he displays a remarkable talent for writing popular songs. His "Twinkle Little Star," written with Marvin Segal, and "Let's Say Goodbye" are hit tunes of the club.

In addition, Jack handles the Wednesday night shows with Al Lewis, a clever entertainer on the staff.

Once again Joe Dell's exhibition was a high light. His amazing skill with a set of golf clubs, his wonderful control and dazzling trick shots are most intriguing. His new piece de resistance is to drive a golf ball through a 700-page telephone book.

Even greater heights in entertainment and fun are promised by Frank Davidson for this coming week.

For reservations call or write to the Boston office, Sydney S. Rosen, 294 Washington St., Room 401, Liberty 9825.

Performance of "Yoshe Kalb" Gets Praises of European Audience

LONDON (JTA) — "Yoshe Kalb" will have its London premiere this month at His Majesty's Theatre, it was announced here. The Yiddish stage sensation, performed by Maurice Schwartz and his troupe, has been touring European capitals and repeating its phenomenal New York success.

Schwartz and his company scored notable successes in Paris and Antwerp. In the French capital, a two-week run had been arranged but it had to be extended to eleven. In Antwerp and Amsterdam the company also had to give many extra performances.

a fine representation. . . the Davis cottage on Durey Ave., Conimicut, is sure one busy spot if the number of young people seen there last week is any criterion and why not, I ask, with the five comely Davis sisters around. . . Rep. Cannon of Wisconsin is seriously considering introducing a bill in Congress which would provide punitive taxes upon any American marrying an alien.

Harold Biller reports a restful vacation at the Pier. . . and Jessie Josoelwitz looks in the "pink" after a brief respite from her everyday labors. . . Irene Finkelstein says the hospitality is "just great" after attending that wedding in Worcester and I agree with her in saying Worcester hospitality is the finest and here again regards to Oscar Swartz and his "crowd" there. . . every time I see Bernie Goodman, he is always coming out of a bank - Taking it out or putting it in, Bernie? Every time I go to a bank, I know it is only "take".

Doc Joe Smith and wife had a fine time on that motor trip but nearly came to grief when they found out that neither had taken money along. . . a friendly innkeeper rescued the worried pair. . . Marion Rubin says the Bay of Naples looks like the best spot to spend her vacation days. . . the Sam Summerfelds' beautiful daughter Lesta is one of the brightest children I have ever seen.

Doc Sam Gorfine does plenty of sailing from his summer home at Hampden Meadows. . . all he needs now is a captain's hat. . . brother is and sister Frances will make an able crew. . . Sarah Grosman and Ethel Fish away from teaching duties are seen often at Ledgemont with lower scores every day. . . Mike Cooper is doing plenty of golfing these days at the Barrington Country Club and is now considered one of our better players. . . this reminds me that Lennie Levin shot a 72 at Ledgemont the other day. . . looks as though friend Len is out staying for the club championship this year if his present quality of play continues. . . so I'll be seeing you all next week.

ON TOUR OF DUTY

CAPT. WALTER ADLER

Capt. Walter Adler is on his annual tour of duty with his regiment at Fort H. G. Wright, N. Y. He is battery officer of the 544th C. A. (anti-aircraft) Reserve and is the head of the well-known law firm of Adler and Flint. In addition to his military activities he is interested in many civic and philanthropic endeavors. His home is at 33 Stadium Rd.

The OBSERVER

During the first part of the week I visited Narragansett Pier, the place where socialites reign supreme. There I spotted brawny Harold Levine, who was the object of admiration by many, many females. Close by was seated Ethel Sydel in a buckless suit which displayed a tan darker than she has sported so far this season. Miss Ruth Brown whose dimpled charms are a delight to visitors was amongst a gay group of young people. The magnificent coiffure of Thelma Wagner attracted the attention and admiration of many.

At a later visit to this same beach rendezvous we were delighted to see some new faces as well as pleasant old acquaintances. One of the sweeter of the visitors was Evelyn Bernstein who seemed to cause much of a furor in the heart of many young blades. Sprawled out in comfort was an old schoolmate, Bim Strasberg, who has been making a name for himself in athletics at Westminster Univ. His pal, Bernie Nemrow was also there.

A frequenter of the beach is Ruth Cohen who also seems to be in a very great demand as a socialite. But not to be daunted is Rose Lisker who methinks is another charming damsel. It has been rumored that Archie Carter, Milton Ladd and many more of the gang have been making night trips to these here parts and not for the sake of riding thirty-five miles. What's up, fellows? All in all, the Pier continues to be a top-notch social colony and beach-ball playground, as proven by Shirley, Eddie Korb, Jerry Weinstein and Archie Kapstein who succeeded in bouncing a ball on a few people's backs with inaccurately-aimed throws.

But now to leave the Pier and pass on to another lively spot, Barrington Beach. As tanned and healthy-looking as ever is "Firpo" Horovitz, who is rest-

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Samuel Millman and daughter, Esther, of Jillson St., are vacationing at Ocean Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hornstein and family are at Dudley Ave., Conimicut, for the summer.

Mrs. Reuben Fain and daughter, Jean, of Highland Ave., are now at Maplehurst in the White Mountains for their summer vacation. Irving Fain spent several days with them last week.

A benefit bridge party for the Jewish Home for the Aged was held last Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Joseph Uditsky at her Island Park home. Assisting hostesses were Mesdames Louis Smith, Morris Kaufman, William Gomberg, Louis Bernstein, Israel Peckovitch, William Grozen and Morris Horvitz.

opolized by Edythe Lavine and her friend Lenora Saphineux. Lenora seemed very much interested in the study of Philosophy, or perhaps its cause was the rainy weather and other trifling incidentals.

Once more I lay aside the pen and ink till next week when I'll be peaking at you.

Morton Rosenberg of Lauriston St., has been vacationing at Ocean Beach during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. David Myers and son are at Royal Ave., Conimicut, for the summer.

Mrs. Samuel Ernestof and family of Sumner St., are at Conimicut for the summer.

Mrs. Irving S. Nager of Savoy St., has just returned from a month's vacation at Nantasket Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beck of Hartford, Conn., announce the birth of a son on July 17. Mrs. Beck was formerly Dorothy Jess of Providence.

Miss Stella Matzner of Pembroke Ave., has returned from a two week stay in Bangor, Me., where she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Striar.

Mrs. Louis Slack of New York is at Narragansett Pier for the remainder of the season. During the past week she was the guest of her daughters, Mrs. H. B. Borside, of Ocean St., and Mrs. William Schmeltz, of Penn Ave.

Anti-Nazi Meeting

rick Van Nuys of Indiana. Louis Lipsky, acting president of the American Jewish Congress, presided. In opening the meeting Lipsky struck the keynote of the evening when he said:

As Americans, our heads are bowed down with shame that, so far as America is concerned, it has witnessed and heard without the stirring of a muscle of conscience, what is now taking place in Nazi Germany. Our faith in American traditions and ideals is greatly weakened by the strange reluctance, on the part of the Government of the United States, in any of its branches, to align itself with humanitarian sentiments, to denounce wrong, to speak a strong word against religious intolerance, to make a gesture even of public sympathy, to condemn an oppression that knows no bounds."
