Henry L. Hoffman Wins Prize for Original Design

For his original drawing of the medallion cover of the "Official Chronicle and Tribute Book of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations" recently printed under the auspices of the Providence Tercentenary committee, Henry Lawrence Hoffman, son of Major Charles M. Hoffman, superintendent of Miriam Hospital, was recently awarded first prize of $100. His design was selected as most appropriate by a committee of art authorities who considered a large number of drawings in a statewide contest.

Mr. Hoffman was graduated from the Rhode Island School of Design in 1933 after completing a four-year course in portrait painting. He was awarded the post graduate scholarship for aptitude in general art.

Presented with Gift in Appreciation of Work

A farewell banquet was tendered Rabbi Isaiah Ruckovsky last Sunday night upon his leaving the Congregation Ahavat Shalom of Pawtucket to assume new duties in Worcester, Mass. Approximately two hundred guests attended the banquet which was held in the vestry of the synagogue.

The officers of the various organizations of the Jewish Community spoke, expressing the sentiment of their groups. The chairman and toastmaster of the evening was Samuel Zarchen. Greetings were extended by:

Mrs. Charles Shoolman, president of Hadassah; S. K. Goodman, president of B'nai B'rith; Isaac Cokin, vice president of Gemath Chessed.

Abraham Fishman, chairman, School Board.

Musical selections were rendered by Cantor Harry Bettman, accompanied at the piano by Prof. Arthur Einstein. Martin Curran, an active member of the Congregation, also gave vocal solos.

The main speaker in the name of the Jewish Community was Samson (Continued on Page 2)

Boxer to Leave Roumania; Fans Attempt Lynching

Bucharest (WNS)—Embittered because Roumanian boxing fans tried to lynch him after he defeated a Roumanian in a match, Motyze Schpokov, boxing champion of Roumania for the last nine years, has announced that he is giving up his title and leaving for Palestine. Schpokov's statement has created a great stir in sporting circles here. After his last bout Schpokov was saved from serious injury by a group of Jewish athletes who dispersed a mob of anti-Semites that sought to invade his dressing room.

Jewish Doctor Develops New Form of Anesthetic

Philadelphia (WNS)—Divinyl ether, a new form of anesthetic which eliminates nausea after affects and produces more rapid unconsciousness, has proven successful in over 2,000 tests in the University of Pennsylvania medical school, Dr. Isidor S. Ravdin, its developer, informed the 15th annual Congress of Anesthetists. Dr. Ravdin, professor of research surgery at the University of Pennsylvania, reported that his anesthetic had been used on babies and persons as old as 75 with excellent results.

ORPHANAGE EXCELLS AS CHILD AGENCY

Children of Incompetent Parents are Accepted

It is naturally presumed that most people in a general sense are somewhat familiar with the aims, purposes and ideals of a child caring agency. It is, however, equally presumed that many people are not altogether familiar with the approach, techniques, and the social policy of the Jewish Orphanage of Rhode Island.

In the course of a year numerous inquiries are addressed to our agency, seeking information concerning our child care program. I believe, therefore, that these are the questions that may be asked of the solicitor as he proceeds to contact prospects:

Q. What types of children are accepted for placement by The Jewish Orphanage of Rhode Island? A. It is the practice of our agency to accept for placement (a) full orphans or children whose parents are physically or mentally disabled; (b) neglected or abandoned children; (c) children of incompetent parents; (d) those whose homes indicate incompatibility between parents or between parents and child; and (e) children from homes where there are disturbing influences which might interfere seriously with their normal development.

Q. What is the age composition of our agency's population? A. As a general policy The Jewish Orphanage of R. I. cares for children of school age to the age of sixteen.

Q. At what age are children discharged? A. While there are no hard and fast rules with regard to the discharge of children at the age of sixteen, the trend is to prepare children for their places in the community at that period of their lives.

Q. What is the average of a child in the Orphanage? A. The period of dependency of children is influenced by a multiplicity of factors which can- (Continued on Page 2)

JEWISH IMMIGRATION

Jerusalem (WNS)—Palestine Agency—Jewish immigration into Palestine continued its uninterrupted flow during the month of October, it was revealed with the publication by the Jewish agency for Palestine of figures showing that 1,153 Jewish immigrants entered the Holy Land during the past month. Of the total recorded, 217 were in the so-called capitalist category, possessing $5,000 or more.

Brandeis Service to be Held At Temple Emanu-El

Public is Invited to Pay Homage to Noted Jew

Temple Emanu-El extends a cordial invitation to the community at large to attend a special Brandeis Service to be held on Friday night, November 20th. A very large crowd is expected at this service to honor the 80th birthday of the great American jurist and Jew, Louis D. Brandeis, a member of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The various aspects of the life and achievements of Judge Brandeis will be considered by a number of speakers as follows: Judge Jeremiah E. O'Connell, Presiding Justice of the Superior Court of Rhode Island, will speak on the subject "Brandeis the Jurist"; Herbert M. Sherwood, former Senator and prominent member of the Rhode Island Bar, will speak on the subject "Brandeis the Liberal"; Rabbi Goldman will speak on the subject "Brandeis the Jew."

"Night of Stars" Draws Large Crowd and $75,000

New York (WNS)—The lavish third annual "Night of Stars," which drew a capacity throng of 20,000 to Madison Square Garden for a monster program of entertainment by virtually every leader of stage, screen, radio and concert platform, netted $75,000 for Jewish emergency needs overseas, according to an announcement by Harold Jacoby, chairman of the committee which sponsored the program under the auspices of the United Palestine Appeal and the Joint Distribution Committee.

Aftermath
Believe it or not, and don't let anybody shah-shah you, the anti-Semitic groups in this country, and particularly in California, are sitting a-livah... They know that President Roosevelt has already okayed a more sweeping investigation of their activities than was ever undertaken before... Incidentally, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding, no Jew will be appointed ambassador to the Soviet Union.

A number of workers at the Democratic National Committee who took a small salary during the campaign so as to place themselves in line for appointments will be disappointed... Among them some well-known Jewish figures...

All the attacks on Felix Frankfurter as the chief "brain-truster" of Roosevelt were wasted because if there was such a thing as a chief advisor during the President's campaign tour, it was Judge Samuel Rosenman, who took a leave of absence from his duties as a member of New York's Supreme Court, and never left the side of the Chief Executive...

Al Smith's activities did not affect the Presidential election but were directly responsible for the heavily reduced majority of Governor Lehman

... And that Jewish vote legend—that Jews vote for the progressiveness of party—took an aerial licking in New York... Plenty of Jews voted against Lehman... And Nathan D. Perlman, G. O. P. candidate for attorney-general, took his worst beating in New York City, where the largest proportion of Jews live... It sounds funny, but Lehman carried Yorkville, which is Narville, but he ran behind Roosevelt...

More Politics
That the Jews were heavily in favor of Roosevelt's humanitarian and progressive policies is clear from a study of the election returns... There was such an intense feeling on that subject that the Yiddish daily, The Day, had to refuse lucrative pro-Landon advertising because its readers protested too much after the paper had run one Landon ad... And now it can be told that William Allen White, Kansas editor and friend of Landon, did not like the harping of John Hamilton and ex-Senator Jim Reed of Missouri on Dubinsky and Hillman... As a matter of fact, White qualified this action, in a letter sent to a friend of his, as "spiritual harlotry."

Nathanson. He spoke of the deep appreciation which the city felt in having had the Rabbi in its midst for even such a short while. "The Jewish Community feels," he said, "that in the Rabbi it has had the finest symbol of Jewish leadership and scholarship. He is a gentleman, reticent, deliberate in his speech and judgment, considerate and kindly."

In conclusion, the president of the Congregation, Charles Tesler, spoke in the name of the synagogue and extended greetings and wishes. He then tendered the Rabbi a gift of money as a token of appreciation of the fine work and inspiration he was leaving behind him.

The Rabbi replied, expressing his thanks for the friendship which he had found among the people of the community. He hoped the community would continue in its constructive work and build itself to even a better condition than it had achieved heretofore.

Says He Defended Jews

New York (WNS)—Asserting that he had "never made an anti-Semitic utterance in his life," Father Charles E. Coughlin declared in a radio address that "some day the Jews will be glad to have me here to protect them from the Hitler philosophy in Washington. When they need help they will find the National Union for Social Justice ready to protect the minority Jews." He admitted that he had "challenged" the Jews to reject the eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth philosophy.

Appearing With The Ballet Russe

BALLET RUSSE TO APPEAR IN PROV.

At Metropolitan November 21st

Ballet loving audiences of Providence will find much of interest in the announcement that when the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, the world's largest traveling ballet company makes its appearance at the Metropolitan Theatre on Saturday afternoon and evening, November 21st they will include "Scheherazade" in their program. This ballet, one of the most dramatic and pretentious of all ballets, requires the services of the entire cast of sixty-four dancers and also draws upon the maximum facilities of a full symphony orchestra.

"Scheherazade," as its name implies, depicts one of the tales of the "Arabian Nights" and is rich in oriental pageantry. It is a choreographic drama with music by Rimsky-Korsakov, libretto by Leon Bakst and Michel Fokine, choreography by Fokine and scenery and costumes by Bakst.

Among the other ballets to be presented are "Lake of Swans," a lovely pastoral fairy tale, really a choreographic poem in one act with music by Chaikovsky and choreography after Petipa, "Cleopatra" a choreographic drama in one act with music by Arensky, choreography by Michel Fokine and costumes by C. Bakst, and "Sylphides," perhaps the most popular of all classic ballets set to the music of Chopin with choreography by Michel Fokine. "Danube" one of the great favorites among ballet lovers will also be presented during the Providence engagement.

Providence audiences will await with keen anticipation the performance of "L'Après Midi D'un Faune" with David Lichine in the role of the adolescent half human, half animal faun. When it was first performed in Paris twenty-five years ago it caused a sensation even among Parisian sophisticates and some two decades ago when it was first performed in this country at the New Century Theatre under the most eminent auspices of the Metropolitan Opera Company, its director-general, the great Diaghileff was requested to call at police headquarters and justify its apparent scandalous nature. Its revival in New York last week was received amid great applause both from audience and critics.

The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo which is the largest traveling Ballet Company in the world, is on its fourth annual tour in America, and its engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre on both Saturday afternoon and evening November 21st marks its only Rhode Island appearance this season and takes place immediately preceding its Opera House engagement in Boston.

Orphanage Child Care

not be readily isolated. Some of the more important factors include family status and age of children at time of admission, problems presented before and after placement, and available after-care facilities.

A question frequently asked is "Does the Orphanage follow up children after their discharge?" Supervision of children does not terminate at the time of the discharge of children from the institution. Our children receive after-care service in their educational, vocational and social adjustment. We seek to supervise them until such time as they are happily adjusted in the community and at the same time by a gradual process we attempt to withdraw the over-protective assistance. It is to be noted that long before a child is discharged, his future status is anticipated and a plan has been considered and developed.

Our child care program is progressive and in line with modern concepts. Our policies are governed by broad social principles and by a creed and educational faith incorporated into our living, thinking and approach to the problems of childhood. We seek to unfold children through the medium of educational standards. Ours is a spiritual method of approach to the personality of the child through understanding, sympathy, insight and love. We do not want our children to feel that they should have a special consideration because they come from the Orphanage.

With a view to giving children a practical sense of values, each child is taken downtown for clothing and other purchases. There is no such thing as making them take it simply because they are from the Orphanage. Truly may it be said that our children have a right to say "no" just as other children do in their own homes.

During the year 1935 The Orphanage had under its care forty-nine children, and during 1936 forty-three children. In 1935 seven children were discharged and nine new admissions were made. An analysis of the cases discharged brings the report that the children discharged have become self-supporting, and their homes have been re-established.

What has the Community Chest done for the Orphanage? Many noteworthy and commendable reasons have been advanced for the active participation in Community Fund Programs. I should like to present at this time the thought of the Community Fund in its relation to a child caring agency. It may well be said that the Community Fund has thrown a cloak of self respect around those we seek to serve in a child caring agency. It has given children a greater feeling of security, a greater feeling of independence. They must no longer rely for their needs upon the success of a linen shower or a clothing shower, but things can be bought for them and selected by them

Co-Chairman

MRS. BEN KANE

Plans are completed for the 15th Anniversary Dinner Dance of Temple Beth-Israel. It was announced by Mrs. Anna Goldenberg, chairman, at a committee meeting held last Monday evening. Samuel P. Lazarus, chairman of the Congregation has had in recent years. Reservations are rapidly coming in to Mrs. Oscar Klemmer, reservations chairman, and Mrs. Barney Taber, associate reservations chairman. Mrs. Benjamin N. Kane, is general co-chairman in charge of the dance proper. It is important to note the names of the reservations chairman as arrangements must be made immediately with them for the most desirable seating.

in the same way as you and I select and buy things for our children. That perhaps, to my mind, is the greatest by-product of the Providence Community Fund and commends itself to the embrace of every one who is not on the receiving line.

Hockey's Here

Big time hockey is underway and if you're one of those who follow the doings of the pucksters you'll be interested in keeping tabs on the Jewish players. Here they are: Maurice Roberts of the New York Americans; Max Kaminsky of the Boston Bruins; Sam Rothschild of the Montreal Ma-rooms; Alex Levinsky of the Chicago Black Hawks; and Jeff Kalbfleisch of the New York Americans. That gives us five Jewish players on four of the eight teams in the National Hockey League. This year there is also a Jewish manager, bespectacled, half-pint Cecil Hart, who is again bossing the Montreal Canadiens after an absence of four years. Once the ace team of the League, the Canadiens collapsed after Hart was let out.

Hot Stove League

In a couple of weeks baseball bugs will come into their own again, when the magnates get together for their winter meetings and start talking trades. Already the Cincinnati Reds are booming Phil Weintraub, their new out-fielder, as a coming batting champion. And the Washington Senators are banking heavily on Fred Singleton, also an outer fielder, who batted well over 300 for the Griffins in the closing games of last season. Our old friend Greenberg, happy over receiving a full share of the Tigers' world series money, is all set to regain his former standing as the American League's outstanding player.

Athletes' Corner

The Goldberg clan won't believe it, but the University of Pittsburgh's Jewish football star, Marshall Goldberg, is only half Jewish. His mother's name was McCormack. . . Bea Gottlieb, the only woman to beat King Edward VIII at golf, is now running a golf school, which makes her the country's only woman professional golf teacher. . .

Young William Rosenwald recently threw a party at the Waldorf-Astoria that cost close to $50,000. . .

Charles Angoff, ex-editor of the American Mercury, and Louis Wenzel, former Sunday editor of the New York World, will be co-editors of a new weekly which will rip the lid off everything and everybody. . . The Horst Wessel song, Nazi anthem, is now being sung at public functions in Italy. . . Edna Ferber now owns the swanky penthouse that once belonged to the late Ivar Kreuger. . . Beth-Israel Bar-Mitzvah Boys Have First Service

The Bar Mitzvah boys of Temple Beth-Israel had their first service of the year last Sunday morning, followed by breakfast served in the Temple. The boys meet every Sunday morning at 9 o'clock where they go through the complete service with Talith and Tefillin, under the instruction of their teacher, and are then served their breakfast. Following this they attend their regular Sunday School class. This activity has been in practice for the past three years and is a favorite activity of the boys. Non-member's children and boys who do not attend the Sunday School of the Temple are equally welcome.

Cultural Meeting Held by Beth-Israel Daughters

The newly organized Daughters of Temple Beth-Israel met last Tuesday evening in the Temple for the second meeting of the season, under the chairmanship of Miss Eva Tannenbaum. According to the plan of meetings, this was the cultural meeting of the month, and was the occasion of Rabbi Schussheim's opening lecture on the "Development of Jewish Life and Thought." The Rabbi will continue this series of lectures throughout the season, alternating this course with the business meeting, at a bi-weekly arrangement. Information concerning membership in this fine group may be obtained from Miss Eva Tannenbaum, 131 Lenox avenue, or at the Temple.

Intimate Glimpse

On upper Fifth Avenue overlooking one of New York's most gorgeous views of Central Park there's an apartment that for originality and Jewish interest deserves first prize. . . The apartment is decorated in Palestinian Jewish style. Every wall, door and window represents a Biblical, Palestinian or artistic concept of a Jewish motif. . . Strange to say, there's nothing Bezalel-like about this place, but rather does it create the atmosphere of a subtle blending of the modern and ancient worlds. . .

There are also some most unexpected contrasts in this apartment. For instance, in the salon, right next to a relief depicting a biblical scene stands the solid gold tea service which once belonged to the late Czar of All the Russias. . . On a little table nearby is also the fan which the late Czarina used to drive away the cold breath when she heard the revolutionaries knocking at the gates. . .

The master of this house presides at a traditional Sabbath table every Friday evening, making Kiddush in the traditional Jewish way. He washes his hands in water from a heavy silver carafe which also once graced the marital piece of the Imperial palace in Moscow. In case you haven't guessed it, we're referring to the home of Samuel C. Lampert, nationally known cotton exporter, communal leader, philanthropist and untiring fighter for racial good will. . .

"Gone With the Wind" to be Reviewed at Center

The Junior Hadassah of Providence and Pawtucket, the Junior Pioneers, Acherettes, Nu Alpha Sorority, Iota Phi Sorority, Gamma Sorority, Sigma Alpha Gamma Sorority, the Young Women's Hebrew Association of Woonsocket, and the Jewish students at Penrose College have been invited. Are You a "C-Man"?

Are you a "C MAN"? Have you joined the great army of workers and givers who,—by their increased contributions to forty essential charities in the Providence Community Fund,—have enlisted in the drive to arrest and shackle our real public enemies, Hunger, Disease, Crime and Despair?

Let us be frank. All summer long a representative Jewish committee examined the names of 2000 people who should contribute. They estimated carefully what they believed each could readily afford. Then they compared their totals with last year. Two vitally important facts appeared. One fact stuck out like a sore thumb. The other fact looked like a seven no-trump hand.

Here is the sore thumb. LAST YEAR THE JEWISH COMMUNITY GAVE LESS THAN HALF OF ITS CONSERVATIVE CAPACITY. Some gave generously, whether their gifts were ten dollars or a thousand. Some hundred dollar givers settled with their consciences for ten cents on the dollar. A surprising number of substantial people gave nothing at all.

But here is the grand slam. THE JEWISH COMMUNITY OF PROVIDENCE CAN EASILY GIVE ITS FULL SHARE OF SUPPORT TO THE 40 AGENCIES—INCLUDING THE SIX MAJOR JEWISH CHARITIES—IF EVERYONE WILL DO ONLY HIS REASONABLE SHARE. No one need sacrifice. All that is needed is a reasonable gift in accordance with income—subscribed in November and paid in installments out of income during 1937.

A Committee of One Hundred outstanding Jews of Providence and Cranston is on the job. Their reports thus far show the great majority writing down very substantial increases. Most of the red "C" buttons mark genuine public-spirited citizens. This Committee of one hundred is pledged to follow through, to see that this Jewish community does its full and fair share, to see that our Jewish Federation is reorganized to do more and better charitable work more economically and efficiently, to put the Jews of Providence in a position of respect and admiration by the rest of the community.

Are you a "C MAN"? If you haven't enlisted yet, you can and should before the campaign closes on November 24.

Louis D. Brandeis

Today America celebrates the eightieth birthday of Louis Dembitz Brandeis. Justice Brandeis stands out as one of the most remarkable personalities produced by this country. He is being hailed as a liberal force in the United States and as the personification of what is best in the traditions of our nation.

Jurists and authorities on law will pause today to pay tribute to Justice Brandeis as one who has contributed a great deal to the progress of American legal institutions. We, however, cannot refrain from testifying to the importance of his life as a moral force in Jewish life.

That he played a pivotal role in Zionist history is well known. That since his elevation to the Supreme Court 20 years ago he maintained an assiduous interest in the development of Palestine is also known to those active in the Zionist movement. But much more than his contribution to the Zionist ideology and to the various Zionist undertakings was his undaunted stand against the anti-Zionist forces that combated the Palestine movement as opposed to their status as American citizens. It is Brandeis' achievement more than any one else's that he destroyed the dangerous legend that Americanism and Zionism are incompatible.

The keynote of Brandeis' philosophy of life he himself expressed years ago in a terse phrase: "High thinking and simple living." To this Weltanschauung Louis D. Brandeis has adhered throughout the years, a man of the highest ethical principles whose only aim has been to serve the American people and his own race.

Pinch-Hitting for Leonard Harris

It's Like This

You see, it all happened this way. A bunch of the boys were whooping it up at the Biltmore the other afternoon. Leonard Harris was there too. I spied him just as he was founching his mandel soup... which he was sponging with enthusiasm. "Hello Labelle," says I. "One thing," says he, "I want to whomp about." Walter Rothman, our editor, is convalescing from his recent operation. I'm busy as the proverbial one-armed paperhanger. Will you write my column for me? All the while he was cutting one of those special... Billings some route with his fork, and at this point he gave me a free eye wash... The resultant squinting on my part was interpreted as consent and so here we are back at the old racket again.

Pleased to Meet You

A friend tells us that a Cleveland Jew, walking along a busy street deeply engrossed in the pre-election propaganda unintentionally bumped into rather Coughlin, late of radio fame.

Brother Clevelander began profuse apologies, but the reverend father became furious. "Thief!" he shouted. "Whereupon Brother Clevelander made a courteous bow, as if rep-onding to a self-introduction and said: "Cohen—I'm obliged to meet you."

And then there was that fellow who tried scaling the walls of that munis-try where dwell those who live taker the eyes at charity poverty and obedience only to break his ankle in the fall—that "goyishe kopp."

An Old Story

We see that our good friend Professor Jesse Bloom, Wessell of the Louisiana College for Women in New Orleans is to give a talk at Temple Emanu-El Saturday afternoon. The older boys must remember Bessie Bloom of Providence who married Professor Wessell, and then spent a couple of years at Brown doing research work for the Rockefeller Foundation. She told us that, late of radio fame, she had discovered an extraordinary number of persons who did not profess to be Jews, whose grandmothers spoke Yiddish or Hebrew. And they tell us she's going to prove that "The Melting Pot Does Not Melt." Well, a few minutes in front of Gladding's doors any afternoon will prove that.

Incidentally the Temple boasts 500 at their first Friday night service and at the same time queries, "How many can we expect from now on?" Well, there must be a reason. The Ben Ami boys at the Community Center had quite an installation Tuesday night, what with Milt Sapinsky doing the honors. And was Herr Goebels' face red when he found the boy he'd picked as the handsomest in all Hitlerland was the Dusseldorfer's Rebbe's grandson.

Small Town Stuff

Local hearts will beat easier to know that Mildred Waldman has returned from that trip up north. And Aaron Rothman left on another of those furniture show trips to Chicago. One of these days he'll be bringing back that shuro-baired first edition from the South Side in Chicago to Providence. Itzkie Korn is recovering from that unfortunate fall from a horse. Gerlie Brown has got husband Willie in a daze these days, celecting furniture one piece at a time. Sit Perlman's little red-headed boy voiced many an objection to naming his new sister Reva.

Repertory Gains in Rep

The Repertory Play received the highest praise from the critics. "That group sure is going to tops in a hurry under the leadership of Bert Bernhardt who does a good job with anything he tackles. . . . Walter Strauss is playing a wicked game of ping pong these days. . . . The Ledgemont affair at the Narragansett on Armistice Eve was a brilliant conclusion to a perfect evening's entertainment for the crowd who came in after the Repertory performance.

Wanted—Books

Ever notice how meager are the libraries of our Temples? . . . Beth-El is the only temple with a sizeable library and that has some good material—under heavy lock and key. . . . In the old days they went one better and put wooden fascicules of books on the shelves. My Chicago room-mate, Julius Hsiao of Omaha, Nebraska, was a student on the west over the week-end. As Executive Secretary of International A. Z. A. he came down to give advice to the Pawtucket Chapter. . . . And I've informed the local B'nai B'rith Lodge as about to sponsor an A. Z. A. chapter in Providence soon. . . .

Octogenarian

When you receive this copy you should be celebrating with Mr. Justice Louis D. Brandeis his eightieth birthday. . . . Einstein described him as "a person of swift and clear insight, of keen conviction, wanting nothing but to set forth his own beliefs." . . . Wilson, who appointed Brandeis the first Jew to sit on the Supreme Tribunal, was once asked, "Isn't it a pity that a man as great as Mr. Justice Brandeis should be a Jew?" . . . To which Wilson replied: "But he would not be Mr. Brandeis if he were not a Jew."

Always wondered where we'd heard "The last round-up" in infancy. . . . Now we learn it another version of "Draidle, draidle" of Chanukah fame. . . . It's getting pretty ritzzy with the Yuletide over here these days. . . . The Orms Street Synagogue has a private cab, and Howell street, not to be outdone, has gone in for beach waggon. . . . Marshall Marcus is doing a fine job presiding over Young Judea leaders among whom are such ardent workers as Alvin Hoffman, Sam Kessler, Dina Kornfeld, Ruth Fishbein, Zeld Deleson, Eva Smith, Helen Robinson and song-leader Martin Cohen. . . .

A Return to the Fold

Congratulations to Philip Marcus upon his unanimous election as President of the Zionist District. . . . We look for real accomplishments in his administration. . . . He started off with a fine talk at the meeting Monday night. We often wondered what a Zionist meeting would be like if hand-clapping were forbidden. . . . And what happens to the hand-clappers when they attend such meetings. . . . Among those we recognized were Joe Smith, Herman Priest, Walter Adler, Dr. Jago-luzer, Hillel Hasenfeld, Dr. Illie Berger, Mrs. Joe Smith, Mrs. Morris Sheer, Joseph Keller, Syd Robinson, Morris Rosenberg, Max Rosen-birsh, Moel Heudsh, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Michelson, Jacob Robinowitz and Herman Swartz. . . .

Are You a C-Man

One of the boys wearing the Community Fund "C" on a red background was challenged for membership in the Communist Party. . . . And by the way, we hope you boys paid in proper proportion for the privilege of displaying a button. . . . A Los Angeles man left $10,000 to a girl who refused to marry him. . . . Her kindness was never forgotten. . . . And as Bobby Burns, ex-pugilist, told Col. Samuels at the gym the other day, "Life is a serious proposition—it always ends up in a grave affair."

Emanuel Young People to Hear Prof. Shoemaker

The Young Peoples League of Temple Emanu-El will have its first meeting on Sunday evening, at 8 o'clock, at which Prof. James H. Shoemaker of Brown University will speak on the subject "War or Peace?" The address will be followed by a meeting, and refreshments will be served. Prof. Shoemaker of Brown University, Economics Department, has just returned from a round the world trip where he has visited Japan, China, Russia, Germany, Italy, and France, and has made a special study of the war possibilities in the world today. Herbert Woolf will act as Temporary Chairman at this meeting. Other members of the committee are Edwin Solovrenko, Milton Jacobs, Sylvia Gonska, Dorothy Nutman, Howard Blazar, Sylvia Kizivik, Elaine Frank, Gladys Chernack, Seymour Coplan, Mildred Sydney, Freda Solomon.

Tragedy of Living

"SMALL MIRACLE"

Girl, Evelyn Snyder; Second Girl, Frieda Lisler.

Two years ago "Small Miracle" appeared on Broadway and was later made into a moving picture entitled "Four Hours to Kill," with Richard Barthelmess in the leading role. The play opens with Tony Mako, public enemy No. 1, two-timed, hard-boiled gangster, handcuffed to Joe Taft, a detective, while waiting time between trains, at the 43rd Street Theatre, Abraham Blackman and Nathan Grossman as Mako and Taft, respectively, give excellent characterizations. Mako, anxious to get away so that he can revenge himself on Anderson (played by Gerald Bronstein), who has stool-pigeoned to the police in planning an escape. Meanwhile Anderson's wife, an usher at the theatre, is trying to extort $200 from Eddie, the check boy, for an illegal operation. Eddie's girlfriend, Helen, in an endeavor to get the money for Eddie, agrees to meet Mr. Temple, a department store magnate, at his secret hotel room. Mrs. Temple, excellently played by Zella Fisher, has been carrying on an affair with Carl Barrett, Jr. William Johnson, who goes to the theatre while his wife is about to make him a father, also becomes enmeshed in the plot. From then on, the action increases its pace, holding the audience breathless, culminating in the shooting of Mako's enemy.

Among the supporting cast, the performance of William S. Johnson, the extremely nervous father-to-be played by Simeon Kinsley, was very fine. Johnson's telephone conversation with the doctor was highly appreciated by the audience. Honorable mention also should be given Ferdinand F. Wachenheimer, Sidney Shepard as Captain Seaver, Lillian Greenberg as the filing clerk, Dr. Krasnof as Carl Barrett, Jr., Alec Gurwitz as Eddie, and E. Sybil Blackman.

Annette Kaufman and Evelyn Siegal assisted in the production of the play. Properties were handled by Frieda Lisler and Evelyn Snieder.

Hold Over

Not often do you have the pleasure of going to the theatre, and leaving it with the feeling that you have had a great deal more than you paid for. This will be your attitude when you witness the performance of Rinaldo, who is now appearing in person at the R.K.O. Albee Theatre.

Rinaldo was born in New York a little over 29 years ago. He is the seventh son of a seventh son.

There have been many so-called mind readers. People using confederates, codes, hidden telephones, etc. Rinaldo, however, it must be remembered, works without any assistance whatsoever.

Rinaldo is a mind reader, not a fortune teller, and there seems to be no thought anyone will concentrate upon, that he cannot read. Every generation has its wonders and the Twentieth Century has Rinaldo whose breath-taking experiments in thought transference leave you mystified and thoroughly entertained.

Robert Taylor, ace lover of the screen, has just signed a contract with MGM—More Gold May-be...

At the Majestic
 "Stage Struck," heralded by First National as the gayest and snarriest of all its long list of musical comedy hits, comes to the Majestic Theatre today.

There is an all star cast, which includes Dick Powell, Joan Blondell, Warren William, Frank McHugh, Jeanne Madden, and very recently Club Boys besides a large number of supporting principals and hundreds of extras.

Powell in the leading role has the part of a dance director who is driven to distraction by his star, who he cannot discharge because her money backs the show.

Joan Blondell plays the role of the actress, who has gained notoriety and riches through many marriages and the shooting of her latest mate.

A whimsical take-off on both the radio and motion pictures, providing thrills and hilarity, will be found in the new First National film "Here Comes Carter" which is the companion picture at the Majestic.

The picture concerns the activities of a Hollywood gossip reporter and the resulting difficulties he gets in because of his unwillingness to withhold some scandalous items on a certain screen star.

Glenda Farrell gives her usual fine performance as a smart-cracking secretary who knows all the answers before they are asked, but who, unfortunately, can't help falling in love with her boss although she knows her chances are practically nil...

Miss Nagel is the other girl who ditches her lover only to take him back when his virulent attacks prove justifiable.

A comparative newcomer to the screen, having entered picture play by way of stage musical comedy, she not only has a pleasing voice and magnetic manner, but proves herself to be a capable screen actress.

Norma Shearer, according to latest report, will try in some measure to fill the shoes of her late husband.

Asks Pardon For Taking Part in Nazi Olympics

Warsaw (WNS)—Confirming previous reports that he participated in the Berlin Olympic Games as a member of the Polish team against his will, Shepsel Rotholz, Jewish boxing champion, issued an appeal to Jewish public opinion here to understand his position, to forgive him and to permit him to resume his previous place in Jewish labor sports. In his statement Rotholz said that the Star Sporting Club, an affiliate of the left Poale Zion, of which he was a member, had expelled him when he went to Berlin despite its warning. He declared that as a conscript in the Polish army he had to obey orders and one of them forced him to go to Germany and compete for Poland.

Facing Nazi Prison, Man Attempts to Prove Origin

Detroit (WNS)—Faced with a term in a Nazi concentration camp unless he can prove his pure Aryan origin before November 15th, Arthur Meyer sent a pleading cable to the authorities of Detroit to find documentary evidence that his mother, who was born in Detroit October 19 1861, was an Aryan. Thus far the evidence he wants has not been located. In August the Detroit officials received a letter from Meyer saying: "I am suspected of being part Jewish. I have convinced them my father was of pure German Aryan origin, but they will not believe me about my mother." Failing to get a reply he sent the following cable: "Please help me; time getting short." A search of the records of churches, German societies and the city's vital statistics failed to disclose any reference to Meyer's mother.

Moving toward the establishment of these councils, the commission has scheduled citywide conferences in Boston (Nov. 15), Chicago (Nov. 22), Detroit (Nov. 22), Newark (Dec. 2) and Omaha, Fall River and Bayonne.

LUCKY REFUGEE

New York (WNS) — Lady Luck smiled broadly on the previously unlucky Herman Moses, a German Jewish refugee who came to this country penniless five months ago, when Daytona, on which Moses held a sweepstakes ticket, finished second in a British race, and tossed $75,000 into Moses' lap. Moses' wife and son came to the United States only two weeks ago and were living with his brother.

Jews Seized in Shooting of Arab are Released

Tel Aviv (WNS-Palcor Agency)—The 15 Jews who were arrested here in connection with the shooting of two Arabs passing through this city in a cab have been released. The investigation into the incident, which stirred the country, has taken a new turn as a result of evidence given by Jewish butchers who stated that they saw an Arab dressed in European clothing cycling in the vicinity of the scene of the crime shortly before the shooting occurred.

ARREST THESE PUBLIC ENEMIES

Skulking in the shadows! Haunting the poor and the helpless. Ever seeking a chance to attack and destroy. Four public enemies—constantly threatening the welfare of this community. Once they are allowed to prowl at will, no one's health, happiness or safety is immune. But everyone can—and should—do his part to disarm and arrest them. Be a C-Man. Give to the Community Fund, freely, generously, wholeheartedly. Greet the solicitor who comes to your door with a smile and an open hand. Make your contribution and know it will be a powerful link in shackling these four menacing public enemies—Hunger, Disease, Crime, Despair.

Your pledge to the Fund may be paid in monthly or quarterly installments over a period of a year.

COMMUNITY FUND AGENCIES DO NOT DUPLICATE TAX SUPPORTED SOCIAL WORK

NOT ONE PENNY of the money contributed to the Community Fund is spent for work that can be done by Tax-Supported Agencies.

The main offensive of the Government programs are against physical hunger and emergency privations. During the past year Community Fund agencies cared for 1,666 families including 7,662 individuals of which 3,956 were children.

- Supplied 91,595 free meals and 23,760 night's lodging to homeless, hungry men and women and cared for 1,778 dependent, neglected or abused children.

- Made 85,000 free District Nursing visits.
- Gave 32,450 days of free hospital care and 38,635 clinic visits.
- Provided 15,000 boys and girls, young men and women with character building programs and in many other ways served the sick, the needy, and the underprivileged.

So, in the name of humanity, do your part to enable these 40 agencies to carry on during 1937.
