The Syrian Armistice

The city of Acco (Acre), Palestine, was the scene for the negotiations and conclusions of the Armistice which brought to an end the paradoxical and tragic chapter of the Franco-British struggle for the control of Syria. Acco was the site of many exploits in Biblical times and of significant military events in later periods which affected the history of Palestine and of the Near East. Acco was also the place where Napoleon suffered one of the defeats which ultimately led to Waterloo.

The satisfaction manifested by the Arab populace of Beirut when General Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, Commander of the British Army, and General Georges Catroux, leader of the Free French forces, took over the reins from Vichy's High Commissioner Henri Fernand Dentz, will be shared by all who are concerned in the maintenance of peace in the Eastern Mediterranean and by all who are striving for the ultimate triumph of liberty.

Not least of all is the relief that has come to the Jewish National Home in Palestine and to its friends everywhere. The Jewish National Home, through its volunteers in the conquering army, made a valiant contribution which was acknowledged by Sir Henry in his praise of the young Palestinian Jews' courage and fortitude in battle.

Thus the danger that confronted Palestine from the north has been removed just as the danger that confronted it from the south was previously pushed back by the spectacular Libyan campaign.

There is cause for deep satisfaction with the present development.

Without taking too much for granted as to future eventualities, the outstanding fact remains that with the exception of several air attacks Eretz Israel has remained practically untouched by the events of the war and that the constructive upbuilding—in respect to land purchase, immigration and other activities—has not been interrupted for a single moment since the outbreak of the war in September, 1939.

Agudath Israel

In all lands of its activity the Agudath Israel has been a dissident element, rarely identifying itself with the whole Jewish community.

Contempt for the piety of the community has been the basic attitude of the Agudath. There is admiration for zealous adherence to fundamental religious values, whether they be expressed in precepts or in ritual. But when the fate of a Jewish community is at stake, no group, whatever its motives, has the right to jeopardize the proper functioning or the discipline of the whole.

Clearly, the Agudath Israel is in the wrong in its challenge to the Joint Boycott Council, which after examining the facts has urged that no food packages be sent to Poland.

Surely no one will accuse the leading Jews connected with the Council of lack of sympathy for the Jews of Poland. But when they have proof that these packages are ransacked by Nazis and that the mere transmission of them is helpful to the Nazis, the Agudath Israel merely calls attention to its almost professional belligerency against the organized Jewish community by refusing to comply.

Defense Training Given in Yiddish

Hear Siberian Exiles May Return to Russia

LONDON, (JPS). — As part of the civil defense training now being carried on throughout the Soviet Union under the supervision of British experts who flew there soon after the Russian-German war broke out, the Soviet Government has arranged for a series of talks on civil defense to be given in Yiddish cities having large populations.

Instruction is given in the use of gas masks, the dousing of incendiary bombs and first aid.

160,000 May Return

Rumors persist here that the large-scale alteration in Soviet policy now under way may result in the return from Siberia of about 160,000 Jews who were forced by various degrees of economic and political pressure to migrate to more remote regions. Most of them went to Siberia soon after the occupation of part of Poland by Soviet troops in 1939. Their return now depends on the negotiations under way between representatives of the Polish and Soviet governments.

Ben Cohen Aids In Power Program

WASHINGTON, D. C., (JPS). — The long-range power expansion program, involving half a billion dollars annually for years to come, is being formulated with the aid of Benjamin V. Cohen, counsel to the Federal Power Commission, the post which he recently left to join Ambassador Winant in London.

An experienced legal draftsman as well as an expert in power production, Cohen is regarded as one of the pivotal figures in preparing an adequate basis for the vital defense needs of the country.

Bronx Baker Attacked by Nazis

NEW YORK, (JPS). — Isidore Schwartz, a Jewish member of Bakers' Union Local 164, was attacked by a Nazi member of his union at a meeting in the Bronx and had to be taken to Fordham Hospital. The assault came after Schwartz had refused to reply to verbal insults.

The Nazi, whose name and address are known, disappeared from the scene and at last reports was being sought by the police.

Local Man, Touring Tropics, Sees Evidence for Victory

A letter, posted at Havana, Cuba, was received at the Herald offices this week, from N. Russell Swartz, Providence resident, who is on a cruise through tropical countries.

Mr. Swartz's letter said in part: "While on this trip, I have noted the continuous line of oil tankers bound for Britain. This indicates how foolish the enemy is to even conceive conquest of Britain, what with this invincible and ever-increasing strength being given Britain by the United States, and which Britain will continue to receive."

"Jimmy" Visits Labor Colony

Children Present Token Album to "Grandfather" FDR

TEL AVIV. — During his recent visit to the Near East and Palestine, Captain James Roosevelt enjoyed several hours in a number of Jewish labor settlements. One of the most colorful receptions tendered him was in Daganja, the 30-year-old Kvutza in the Jordan Valley.

The above picture shows Captain Roosevelt surrounded by children of the Daganja School, representing the second and third generation of Halutzim. They presented him with an album for his father, President Roosevelt. The Hebrew inscription in the album read, "To the good Grandfather of all the children in the world." In presenting the gift, one of the little girls expressed her hope that F. D. R. would soon defeat Hitler and restore peace.

Pointing out the inscription to their guest was Moshe Shertok (left) head of the political department of the Jewish Agency, and Joseph Baratz, (right), leader of the Histadrut, who has become well-known to American Jewry during his visits here in behalf of the National Labor Committee for Palestine.

Captain Roosevelt told the children that he hopes his father and mother will visit them after the war.

Ousted Ga., Dean Invited to N. Y.

NEW YORK, (JPS). — Dean Walter D. Cocking of the School of Education, University of Georgia, who has been ousted at the insistence of Governor Eugene Talmadge for advocating racial equality, has been invited by the Union for Democratic Action to come to this city to report on anti-democratic forces in Georgia.

Governor Talmadge has also dismissed Curtis Dixon, Vice-Chancellor of the University, and R. E. Davis of the State College of Agriculture, for once having been connected with the Julius Rosenwald Fund and its program of race relation improvement.

JERUSALEM. — The Association of Iraqi Jews has announced this week a day of fasting and prayer in memory of the victims of the pogrom in Baghdad during the short-lived regime of Rashid Ali Beg Gailani.

Charge Editorial Attacks Minorities

Flynn Supports Wording Of Committee's Bulletin

NEW YORK, (JPS). — Charging that Hitler's peace proposals, even if they should guarantee the independence of Nazi-occupied countries, would be protested in the United States by "refugee Germans and their fellow racial and religious brethren," the America First Bulletin, in an editorial called "Peace", comes out in its first published attempt to create a line of division among various segments of the American population. The Bulletin is the organ of the New York Chapter of the America First Committee.

John T. Flynn, New York chairman of the Committee, supported the wording of the editorial in a telephone conversation with representatives of the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League.

Professor James H. Sheldon, chairman of the Board of Directors of the League, sent a telegram to General Robert E. Wood, National chairman of the America First Committee, saying that the committee can "hardly claim to be 'American' when it uses the Hitler type of propaganda which tries to convince the public that all opposition is motivated by other than patriotic American motives."

Committee Rejects Negotiated Peace

NEW YORK, (JPS). — All discussions of a negotiated peace were called fantasy in the face of tragic realities, in a special statement issued here by the Interfaith Committee for Aid to the Democracies.

The statement says, in part: "We reject the widely held conviction that a just peace by negotiation lies within the realm of present possibilities. We believe the democratic powers ought to state their peace aims and that when the time comes, the affairs of the world should be re-ordered by the common counsel of all nations, victors and vanquished. The idea that the offer of just peace terms could at this time beguile the German people from their loyalty to the present German regime is to deal with tragic realities in terms of childish fantasy."

NEW YORK, (JPS). — The Council Against Intolerance in America, charging that propaganda is being disseminated by Nazis to create disunity among the new soldiers in camps, has launched a campaign to offset such propaganda which is designed to set trainees against each other.

Undermining America

WASHINGTON, (JPS). — Not only the representatives of foreign doctrines, against all of whom a vigilant watch is being kept no matter what turn the war takes, but also a native group who boast of their Mayflower heritage are responsible for trying to undermine the unity of the United States, Congressman Samuel Dickstein of New York charged in a speech in the House.

"I also call attention to the fact that there is a minority group in this country composed of native Americans, some of whom claim the distinction that their forefathers came over on the Mayflower — an organized group that is spreading propaganda to divide our own people within our own borders because of race, creed and religion. That is just as dangerous to democracy as the work of the Fascists, the Nazis or the Communists in this country."

Registrants Warned to Notify Boards of Change in Status

Brigadier General Herbert R. Dean, state director of Selective Service, disclosed today the fact that some registrants fail to notify Local Boards of changes in status. Pointing out that this is a most important obligation, he commented on the situation as follows:

"Neglect to notify Local Boards of changes of address is noted frequently. By this time, it is presumed that every registrant knows the location of his Local Board. That Board maintains a permanent record of the registrant, and, regardless of changes of address, he will always remain under its jurisdiction. Therefore, immediate notice of changes of address should be sent the Board, direct. However, if the Board's address is not known, this information should be submitted to headquarters, at 32 Custom House street, giving the exact address which appears on the registration certificate so that the proper Board can be notified."

"A check reveals that there are also instances of neglect in advising Local Boards of changes in marital, economic, and physical status. Changes in marital status may have a very important effect on classification. Consequently, the Board should be advised immediately of the marriage, or divorce, of a registrant.

"Local Boards should also be informed of changes in physical condition, subsequent to physical examination. Presuming a man were placed in Class I-B (fit for limited military service only), or IV-F, because of defects in his physical condition — poor teeth, for example, and he later had the defects remedied, or some other physical deficiency later corrected by an operation, the Board should be advised. On the other hand, if a registrant were classified in I-A, and his physical condition later fell below the standards prescribed for such classification, he, likewise, should make this fact known to the Board. Obviously, in both cases, re-classification would be in order."

"Since it is the policy of the Selective Service System to defer induction of so-called 'necessary men' engaged in essential industrial or agricultural endeavor, prompt notification of a change to, or (especially) from, such occupational status should be reported to the Local Board to facilitate the work of re-classification, if required."

Ho-Hum, Nazis Blame Jews For British-Russian Tie-up

GENEVA, (JPS). — The Nazi press, with the Italian papers piping an obedient counterpoint, is blaring away at "Jewish" responsibility for the British-Russian tie-up and American support of it.

B-Z am Mittag, a Berlin newspaper, talks of the "Jew-Bolshevik clique in power in Moscow," and says of Roosevelt that "he wants to shove the American people into the war from behind their backs. His Jewish associates are plugging their friendships in Moscow with all the means at their disposal."

Further attacks on Roosevelt are hurled by the Angriff, which calls the British-Russian pact "a brutal plutocratic-Bolshevik alliance led by Judah that is showing itself. Roosevelt, after getting himself elected with false promises, has now revealed himself as the willing tool of Hebrews and international crooks."

Blumenthal Will Has Large Bequests

NEW YORK, (JPS). — The will of George Blumenthal, banker and art patron who died on June 26th, contains substantial bequests to various charities — including 19 per cent of his residuary estate to Mt. Sinai Hospital, which he headed for 27 years, and 3 per cent to the New York Federation of Jewish Philanthropic Societies. Large art gifts were also made to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The widow inherited 54 per cent of the estate.

Colonization Experiment in Jersey Held Successful

HIGHTSTOWN, N. J., (JPS). — An effort to transplant Jewish clothing workers from the crowded Bronx to the agricultural soil of New Jersey under the auspices of the U. S. Farm Resettlement Administration was reported here a success five years after the experiment was begun.

Mayor Philip Goldstein, from the beginning chief executive of Jersey Homesteads, as the project is known, and his associates feel that the 100 families who remain of the first 120 who came here are happy on their half-acre plots from which they go to work in

On Advisory Board

HENRY MONSKY

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Roosevelt has named Henry Monsky, of Omaha, president of B'nai B'rith, to the membership of the National Volunteer Participation Committee, which will act as an advisory and planning body in the organization of the Office of Civilian Defense, headed by Mayor LaGuardia.

New Restrictions Passed in Belgium

LONDON. — Stricter measures against Jews in Belgium have been enacted by Nazi authorities there, according to reports reaching Belgian circles here. The new anti-Jewish restrictions provide:

All Jews must surrender their radios.

No bank is permitted to accept further deposits from Jews.

Jews are no longer permitted to dispose of their property without the authorization of the Nazi military commander.

Jews are no longer permitted to hold all their foreign exchange holdings.

Jewish firms must print the word "Jewish" on their stationery in French, German and Flemish.

Close Warsaw Labor Camps

GENEVA, (JPS). — All Jewish labor camps in the whole Warsaw district have been dissolved by a new German decree which sends Jewish workers back to their previous cities of residence. The measure is apparently intended to break up concentrations of Jews in any one center in view of the preoccupation of the German army with the war in Russia.

"V" Symbol is Traced to Kohanim

NEW YORK, (JPS). — The "V" symbol, which has been adopted throughout the world as the symbol of Victory against the Nazis, originates in the hand information used by the ancient Jewish priests when they blessed their people, it was pointed out here. The gesture has been retained in the practices of the Kohanim today.

near-by industrial establishments. Administration critics have branded the homestead project as wasteful, Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia claiming at one time that the Government had sunk $4,000,000 into the acreage.

It is admitted that the original idea of having the workers cultivate their farms as well as operate industrial machines has not been successful, since many who live here go long distances to work, the factories of the Jersey Homesteads having been bankrupted.

Urge Change in Anti-Zionist Policy

LONDON. — An appeal to the Soviet government to reconsider its anti-Zionist policy is published in the Zionist Review, official Zionist organ, in the form of an editorial carrying the title "The U.S.S.R. and Jews."

The Soviet government is now displaying a changed attitude toward the Poles in the Russian-Polish negotiations. A new approach on the part of the Soviet would appear to be called for in the case of the Jewish problem, also, the editorial points out.

A friendly gesture on the part of the Soviet government towards the Zionist movement, which is a movement for Jewish national revival, would create a favorable impression on millions of Jews throughout the world, especially among the Jews of the United States and Great Britain, the Zionist paper asserts.

Religious services were conducted on Friday evenings by Maurice Davis and Earl Epstein, while Saturday morning services were led by Joseph Fineberg and Barbara Blotcher.

Scholarships to a number of children were granted by the Women's Committee of the Jewish Community Center, which is headed by Mrs. Louis I. Kramer. Other agencies also cooperated in the enterprise.

Beach Pond Camp is conducted by R. I. Camps, Inc., of which Walter Alder is president. Mr. Cohen is a member of the executive committee, as well as chairman of the camp management committee.

Notorious Paul Revers Disbanded

NEW YORK. — The Paul Revere Sentinels, anti-Semitic followers of Father Coughlin, have disbanded as a result of financial difficulties, it was disclosed here. The anti-Semitic super-patriots were ousted from the New York headquarters for non-payment of rent.

Admitting that the Sentinels were no longer able to conduct their activities, James O'Kelley, chieftain of the Coughlinites, declared that the organization will be revived "when the country needs our services."

For a WOMAN'S fancy

BY EDYTHE JAY

Despite its dignified and colourful past

During auction — Rosecliffe lost caste . . .

Just about all that's going to be written, has been written, about the fabulous Oelrich's estate on Newport's exclusive Bellevue avenue . . . Perhaps it's no longer news . . . Leastwise, according to newspaper tradition of "nine-day wonders," it's not . . . However, we're willing to risk breaking the tradition by putting in our two cents worth at this late date . . .

Our summer furlough concurred with the exhibit and auction weeks of Rosecliffe, and like thousands of others who were drawn to it like a magnet, we joined the curious throng . . . Society snootily rubbed elbows with just plain, ordinary folks . . . From far and near they came — from all walks of life — with one thing in common — genuine wide-eyed interest . . .

'Twas one mid-A. M. when we arrived . . . First off, we looked in on the Ballroom, where the auction was in session . . . A tremendous room — comparable in size to the Ballroom of this town's Narragansett Hotel . . . Seated in front of a colossal fireplace (that would make any mere man appear microscopic were he to stand in it) were the auctioneers . . . Priceless items — linens, silver, furniture, paintings — went at all-out bargain prices . . . At the back end of the Ballroom was the magnificent organ, of which so very much has already been said in the press . . . A marble terrace opens from the Ballroom's right wall — and a rolling green lawn spills right out into the Atlantic Ocean . . .

The mansion's foyer was a museum room unto itself, with its long marble top tables, richly brocaded lounges and chairs framed in gold, and oil paintings . . . A two-winged staircase started in the foyer — you know, the kind that has lent itself beautifully to dramatic entrances of stars in untold numbers of films . . .

Non-conformists, anyhow, we pretended not to have seen the "no-admittance" sign roped across the staircase . . . Slipping under the rope, we ascended to the second floor . . . AND THEN — began the march through bedroom after bedroom after bedroom . . . We stopped counting them after twelve . . . And such bedrooms! . . . Overlooking the ocean . . . Huge mirrors covering half the walls . . . Massive furniture pieces, selected with infinite care and excellent taste . . . With each bedroom went dressing rooms, linen and clothes closets and luxurious baths . . . Tile that seemed more like porcelain . . . Handpaintings on the very bathtubs . . .

Continuing on through the countless rooms, we found ourselves in the library . . . A comparatively small room, it was stripped down to its last two shelves of books, and was a ghost of what it once might have been. Even if one didn't know, or hadn't heard, of the famous parties and soirees given by the Oelrichs in the elegant era, one could tell that the place had been very well lived in . . . Lush carpets that covered most of the floors were well worn — telling memory-choked tales all their own . . . Dozens of paintings had been removed from the walls of the second floor's long hall, revealing the true colour of the imported wall papers when they'd first been hung . . . A mustiness pervaded throughout the second story . . . You could almost reach out and touch it . . .

Back down the curvate stairway we went, hoping to view the huge dining hall . . . We shall always regret having missed it . . . Since it's situated in back of the Ballroom's stage, where the auction was being conducted, most of the furniture had been moved into the dining room, and thus was closed to spectators . . .

The steady drone of an auctioneer's voice becomes monotonous after a while, so we wandered out into the rose-bowered garden . . . Extremely neglected it was, but nonetheless it bespoke better times it had known . . . While picking our way aimlessly through the grounds, we spotted four or five small grave stones . . . Curious, we stooped to read the epitaphs, which we discovered were dedicated to "Floppy," "Moppy," "Foolish," and others . . . Even the dogs must have led a grand life . . .

Gorgeous marble statuary, placed on the expansive stretch of green lawn, was regrettably making its last stand, for the next day it was fated to go under the auctioneer's hammer . . .

In thoughtless, plebeian fashion, many folks leaving the mansion cut across the front lawn, completely ignoring the crescent shaped driveway . . . In respect to what Rosecliffe had been, we took our retreat via the gravel path . . .

In construction of Rhode Island's State House, 327,000 cubic feet of white Georgia marble were used, 15,000,000 bricks and 1,309 tons of iron floor beams.

Too Much Free Mail

With the exception of one interval of a couple of years, members of the House and Senate have enjoyed the privilege of free postal service. They may send through the mails, under the franking arrangement, any correspondence concerning "official or departmental business."

The abuses have been aired many times in Congress. The Republican National Convention had a plank in the 1872 platform calling for the abolition of the privilege. The next year Congress did abolish it, but in 1875 it was partly restored. In the following years, amendments re-established the old status.

One practice which has become common seems to be a violation of the law. Recently, Senator Wheeler admitted that he sent one million postcards through the mail, the cost of which was borne by the America First Committee, an organization which is veering totally to the Fascist idea in government.

It has been ruled that outside organizations are not supposed to address and distribute the franked mail of members of Congress. The law reads: "It shall be unlawful for any person entitled under the law to use the frank to lend said frank to permit its use by any person for the benefit or use of any committee, organization or association. This provision shall not apply to any committee composed of members of Congress."

The Old Tournament

There is something reminiscent of the medieval tournament in the Nazi-Russian war, for two men serve as the symbols of the two contending groups.

On the one side is General Jacob Shmuskovitch, Air Chief for the Soviet.

Directing the Luftwaffe is General Erhard Milch, former right-hand man of Marshal Goering, whom rumor reports to be in the disfavor of Hitler. The father of the Nazi commander was a Jew who was married to a non-Jew. Early in life the boy was adopted and trained by Hermann Goering. When Hitler came to power and people had to prove competence by ancestry, the mother of Milch issued a public statement affirming that her son had been born out of wedlock and was, therefore, a good Nazi.

The amenities of Anglo-Saxon English permit one to wonder what will be the outcome of this struggle led by a legitimate Jew facing a Jewish bastard.

Responsibility Of Refugees

The Jews of America have a responsibility to the refugees. In turn, these refugees owe a solemn responsibility to each other as well as to the community which acts as their hosts. The arrest of two refugees by the Government on charges of aiding the Axis powers was given widespread publicity, with emphasis on the fact that the two Jews had been in this country less than a year and ought still to have engraved on their memory the life of Jews in their native Austria.

Ed Sullivan, Broadway columnist of the New York Daily News and scores of other publications, remarked in a recent column that in view of the fact that refugees were supposed to have been stripped of their possessions when they left Europe

Wheeler Predicts New Political Party

On S. American Tour

NEW YORK. — Dr. Nahum Goldmann, chairman of the Administrative Committee of the World Jewish Congress, departed for an extended tour of Central and South American countries, via Pan-American Airways, to discuss with government leaders and representatives of Jewish communities a number of undertakings relating to the future of Jewish life in Europe.

Henry Ford Says World Needs Jews

Issues Statement On 78th Birthday

DETROIT. — "There's a need for the Jew in the world and it's bound to be recognized," Henry Ford told in Associated Press correspondent interviewing him on his 78th birthday.

The aged motor-car manufacturer may have been making a direct answer to a question addressed to him recently by the Reverend L. M. Birkhead and Robert Sherwood in a pamphlet entitled "Henry Ford Must Choose" (between tolerance and anti-Semitism.)

Out of the war now affecting the peoples of the world will come an "era filled with opportunity for everybody," Ford said. Asked by the Associated Press whether "the new world would be tolerant to the Jew," Mr. Ford replied "yes" that there was need for the Jew.

Army Problem Child Is In Clink — Awaiting "Transfer"

NEW YORK. — The irrepressible Albert Davidoff, sometimes known as that Wonderful "Little" character who speels his name as Bummy Davis of Brownsville, is in the news again, according to PM, New York newspaper.

This time he's in the clink — at Fort Jay on Governors Island for being AWOL.

Davis fought Zivic July 3 at the Polo Grounds. Five nights later he was in Kings County Hospital and among the reasons advanced for his presence there were:

He was badly hurt by Zivic and the injuries were just beginning to take effect.

He was beaten up in a brawl. He was suffering from amnesia. He had sinus trouble.

Anyway, it's been learned that earlier this week he was discharged from the hospital at Fort Jay and pronounced fit to return to Camp Hulen in Texas. He was made a member of the Military Police and threw his weight around a bit, then took it on the lam. That was some time Wednesday. Within 48 hours he was

Says Churchill Is Pro-Zionist

LONDON. — Prime Minister Winston Churchill was pictured as a pro-Zionist by Commander Oliver Locker-Lampson, Conservative M. P., in an address before a conference of the Federation of Polish Jews in Great Britain.

"I can assure you," Commander Locker-Lampson added, "that we can leave in his hands the future of the Jews."

The conference was held in an East End hall under the chairmanship of L. Joczowicz, with a representative of the Polish government-in-exile in attendance.

NAZIS SET PRICES

BERLIN. — The Nazis have adopted a "legal" way of plundering Jewish businesses in Greece by setting their own price for merchandise they are "buying" in transferring to Germany.

Perfecting Bomb

CHAIM WEIZMANN

NEW YORK. — Arthur Hale, Transradio Press news commentator, declared in a broadcast over Station WOR that Dr. Chaim Weizmann is perfecting a new high explosive which will, "so we are told, far exceed in power anything previously seen on the face of the earth."

Hooligans Invade Chile Jewish Club

SANTIAGO, Chile. — Members of the local Nazi party invaded the headquarters of the Jewish Club here, smashing windows and destroying furniture and books. Three employees of the Club who resisted were severely beaten.

The hooligans lined up officials and members of the Jewish Club and forced them to give the Nazi salute. The Nazis fled before the police arrived but an investigation was started immediately.

The liberal press of Chile condemned the outrage and demanded that the Government take necessary steps to cope with the situation.

Ban French Jews From Jury Boxes

VICHY. — The law against Jews serving as jurors was applied for the first time in the French courts this week.

The names of two jurors aroused the suspicions of the presiding judge of the Court of having its first sitting for the year. Querying the jurors, they admitted their Jewish origins and were immediately ordered out of the jury box.

Histadruth Decides to Send Delegates to Soviet Russia

JERUSALEM. — The Central Committee of the Histadruth, Palestine Jewish labor organization decided to send two Jewish delegates to Soviet Russia, one to deal with problems of medical relief and the other to encourage the Russian workers in their fight against Hitler.

This is the first time since the outbreak of the Communist revolution in Russia that organized Jewish labor in Palestine has decided to come in contact with the Soviet Government, as Zionism has officially been prohibited in Soviet Russia as "a movement supporting British imperialism." It is hoped here that a change in the Soviet policy in regard to the Zionist movement may now develop as a result of the present war in which Russia and Britain fight as Allies.

The forty-second Histadruth conference adopted a resolution to "warm encouragement" for Soviet Russia. The delegations which the Histadruth has decided to send will be instructed to maintain relations with the Soviet Government in order to ascertain what type of aid the Palestine labor movement can extend to Russia.

Senator Hints He Might Join Party

To Recruit Members From Non-interventionists

WASHINGTON. — Predicting that non-interventionist sentiment would crystallize "spontaneously" in a new political party in 1944, Senator Burton K. Wheeler this week hinted that he would leave the Democratic party and join it.

(It was reported a month ago by The Hour, an anti-Fascist weekly, that the groundwork for a third political party, constructed along Fascist lines, was completed and that members would be recruited from the America First Committee.)

Senator Wheeler, long a foe of President Roosevelt's foreign policy refused to commit himself when asked whether he would lead such a party.

"With the leaders of the Republican party and the Democratic party both favoring involvement in this war and action to tie up with European power politics every 25 years, the American voter cannot find a clean-cut issue," he said. "If the two parties continue to stand together on such programs as union now, the League of Nations and close connection with Great Britain, a new

Catholics Oppose Totalitarian Rule

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — The Catholic Church has not swerved in the opposition to totalitarianism which was first enunciated in 1864 by Pope Pius IX, said Father Michael J. Ahern of Western College at the Conference on Religion held here under the auspices of the Harvard Summer School.

Father Ahern discussed the "ghastly conditions in countries under Nazi control." He pointed out that in Holland Catholics who went over to the Nazis were threatened by the bishops with ex-communication, while in Belgium a pastoral letter appealed for loyalty to the country.

Walter Winchell Joins Navy During Vacation

NEW YORK. — Walter Winchell's on vacation until September 1st. There have been all sorts of rumors about Winchell, who began razzing the Nazis and Communists long before anyone else. He talked so much about patriotism, a lot of people wondered why he didn't stop talking and do something.

Rumor then said he had done something — that he had enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve. The general idea around was that he was going to be in the intelligence service, that uncovers information on spies and saboteurs and subversionists.

But actually, he is to report for duty on Monday morning at the Naval Reserve office in the Federal Building, where he will receive the title of Lieutenant-Commander, Reserve, and will be assigned to the publicity office.

In 1854, it took Arthur A. Den-ny, a member of the first territorial legislature, three days to make the 50-mile trip from Seattle to Olympia, Wash.

130 TELEPHONE COMPANIES IN FIVE STATES

We call ourselves the New England Telephone Company. But there are 129 other telephone companies in the same territory. . . . These other companies serve communities ranging from tiny hamlets to sizable towns. All are "telephone people," devoted to a common purpose — the best possible service for the lowest possible cost. About twice a year representatives of these telephone companies in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Vermont, New Hampshire, and Maine get together for shop talk about new methods, new telephone techniques and apparatus. . . . and afterwards a little sociability — town-meeting fashion.

Traveling or telephoning around New England, you'll find telephone people everywhere anxious to serve you. That's the way telephone people are.

Cupid Triumphs Over Hitler; "HIAS" Acts as Best Man

NEW YORK. — Not even, in this war, have the communiques from the battlefield or from the arena of international diplomacy registered a triumph over Hitler. Cupid, however, aided by humanitarianism, did score a triumph over him in the case of a young couple's love that was threatened by the Nazi Juggernaut but was consummated last week in the HIAS Building in New York.

The young man, Jacob Sandler, and his bride, Franciska Fruehzeitig, are refugees from Wien. Jacob left the former Austrian capitol in September, 1939.

While aboard ship enroute to the United States he was removed by a British warship. He was taken to the British Isles and interned. Due to the efforts of the HIAS-ICA Emigration Association, his releases and passage to the United States was facilitated.

Franciska, having remained in Wien, and not having heard from her beloved one, was about to sail for Australia to join her mother who found refuge there, when she was notified that her bridegroom had secured some-

Classical "Eli, Eli" Gets Streamlining

NEW YORK. — The newest song in BMI's end of Tin Pan Alley is a four-four arrangement of the traditional Hebrew lament, "Eli Eli," fitted with new words and subtitled "A Prayer for Moderns."

The title is "Peace and Love for All," and the news about it is that CBS, one of the bulwarks of BMI, the ASCAP rival, has refused to permit the song to be aired on its network, asserting that it's "controversial." The CBS ban became known when the song was stricken from a program. The new version has been played over numerous other local stations, without protest.

In time she received her quota immigration visa and sailed from Lisbon, Portugal. Upon her arrival in New York, the U. S. immigration authorities required that HIAS guarantee the consumption of the union "In accordance with the laws of Moses and of Israel."

Professional Anti-Semites Form New Fascist League

NEW YORK. — A new Fascist organization, closely associated with official Nazi propaganda agencies and headed by professional anti-Semites with police records, has recently begun operations in Philadelphia, it was reported here by The Hour, reliable anti-Fascist weekly.

The American Christian League was incorporated in March, 1941, as a "non-profit corporation." The purposes of the League, according to its articles of incorporation are:

"... to promote and foster social and business relations according to Christians by gifts and loans; trial, commercial and professional spheres; to assist worthy young Christians by gifts and loans; . . . to print and publish literature and periodicals and distribute the same; to preserve Christian ideals generally and in particular in domestic and business relations; to assure and promote the safety and security of the American Christian home and to acquire and hold property."

The Hour revealed that the incorporation papers were entered by James G. Wood, James A. Sweeney, John A. Sweeney, John A. Wasson, Leo P. Moylan and Describing the leadership of the American Christian League, The Hour states: "The Moylan brothers who are the real leaders of the League, formerly published Equalizer, a notorious anti-Semitic magazine. For some time they have maintained intimate contacts with the German-American Bund and other anti-democratic groups."

Labor Advised To Fight Prejudice

WASHINGTON. — A warning to labor to combat "all manifestations of anti-Semitism" and "the effort to arouse racial hatred and to provoke racial quarrel" was contained in a resolution adopted by Washington Central Labor Unions.

The attempt to arouse racial hatred "precedes an attack on all faiths of God-fearing men," declared the resolution, which was stated to be in accordance with the AFL's national policy.

David Ben Gurion Flies to London

JERUSALEM. — David Ben Gurion, white-haired tiny chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive, will fly 17,000 miles in order to get to London, which is only 3,000 miles from Jerusalem. Which means that the powerful Zionist labor leader will soon be streaking across the United States to reach the British capital before decisions on Palestine become frozen.

Frontists Show Propaganda Film

Cheer Lindbergh, Nye;
Boo Winston Churchill

BOSTON. — "West Virginia is anti-war and anti-Roosevelt. There, too, is a tremendous anti-Semitic feeling which seems to be spreading all over the country, yet the Jews do not seem to be taking the warning," declared Francis J. Moran, Christian Front Leader, before 500 members of that organization at its weekly meeting in Roxbury.

Moran, returned from a trip through eastern Canada, the Midwest and the South, said that in Michigan he found sentiment 80 per cent opposed to American participation in the war. The only ones who favored, he said, were too old to go or to have any one to send.

He charged the administration was lending aid to England at such a pace that our men were "unfit and positively untrained for the war for which we are being asked to prepare."

The Front's second showing of the German propaganda film, "Victory in the West," accompanied the talk. Mention of Charles A. Lindbergh and Senators Nye and Wheeler were cheered. Boos greeted the filmed appearance of Winston Churchill.

party will arise that will sweep the country . . .

"I am a Democrat and I want to go along with my party, but if Great Britain and the royal refugees are going to dictate the policies of the Republican and Democratic parties, then my choice is plain."

Wheeler believed the party would be along the lines of the 1924 progressive coalition which ran the late Senator Robert M. La Follette Sr. for President and Wheeler for Vice President. He said that it was unlikely the party would be created in 1942, an off year politically, but that it has "an excellent prospect in 1944."

Responsability Of Refugees

how did they happen to monopolize the swankiest hotels and summer resorts.

No one asks that the refugee in America should act otherwise than as a prospective or actual citizen of the United States. But it is not too much to say that theirs is an onerous obligation to avoid feeding the flames of anti-alienism which can only shut tighter the doors of this country.

Perhaps the National Refugee Service might undertake an effort at education of the Jewish refugees in terms of what they owe to the thousands of others who might be saved by immigration to the United States.

Part of German Zep Swells Aluminum Pile

PITTSFIELD. — A notable contribution this week to Pittsfield's aluminum collection was part of a longitudinal girder of the one-time German Zeppelin ZR-3, deposited in the name of Malcolm Sarna, 7-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph G. Sarna.

The German airship was surrendered to the United States after the World War and was commissioned the "Los Angeles" in the United States Navy. She was decommissioned and dismantled two years ago and the piece sent to the Sarna home was cut out by Malcolm's uncle, Russell Sarna, who was a member of the crew.

The Sarnas figured this was the appropriate time to return the memento to Uncle Sam.

Nazis Mobilize Jewish Doctors

STOCKHOLM. — The Nazis in Poland are mobilizing Jewish doctors and medical students to take care of the German soldiers wounded in the Russian war, according to a report reaching here.

The absorption of the Jewish physicians by the German medical corps, it is expected, will work disastrously for the Jewish communities where much disease is prevalent, because of undernourishment and unhygienic living conditions generally.

TO THOSE WHO HAVE THE OLD EDITION OF THE HEINZ CALENDAR

This publication has been asked to remind those of its readers who have the old edition of the 24-Year Hebrew-English Calendar of H. J. Heinz Co. that the dates in the book do not go beyond Rosh Hashanah of this year. However, Heinz has published a new calendar, going up to 1949. The new book is also free to everybody who sends for it.

The New Edition of the
Heinz Calendar
All dates - 1924 to 1949

If you have the brown covered edition (1917 to 1941), it is advisable to keep it but to send for the new calendar, too. The two booklets actually supplement each other.

To find Yahrzeit dates, Bar Mitzvahs and other anniversaries is a task of a few moments with this convenient book at hand. Jewish holidays up to the year 1965 are also listed on a special page.

To receive a free copy of the new calendar merely send a post-card or a letter to:

NOTES OF A NEW YORKER:

Movie Actor James Stewart is supposed to have had one side of his forehead sunburned one day at camp because of the overseas cap he wore. Next day he wore the cap on the other side . . .

The Top Sarge asked him what's the idea? . . . Without thinking, Stewart replied: "I did it to even up my sun tan."

"Stewart," was the reply, "we do not expect photographers."

One night John Edgar Hoover, the G-Whizzer, was telling some of us something off the record about a Nazi agent, who is posing as a decent American business man.

"Gosh," one of us said. "How did you find THAT out?"

"We've got a louse in his clothes," was the retort.

Orchestra Leader Ray Block overheard it the other night . . . A kibitzer-communist was trying to give his opinions in a war argument. "Well," he said after he thought he scored a point, "how would you like to have me on your side now?"

"I'd rather," was the snapper, "have appendicitis."

heard of him . . . "That's his fault," mourned the ham, referring to the star, "he's not satisfied to get most of the money. He takes the best laughs and all the publicity. All I get is obscurity."

The writer mowed him down . . . "Obscurity is right," he said, "and now you want to invest your time and money in it."

If Goering is actually in the clinkeroo it's what a lot of insiders expected. Hitler had no love for Fatso. He needed him, because Goering had a big drag in certain quarters . . . But being a sissy, Adolf hated Goering's Tazman manner. He burned when Fatso showed up for meeting, medals rattling and his uniform glittering like Lucius Beebe's Sunday overalls . . . Also, Hitler was tickled when Dimitrov let Goering have it at the Reichstag fire trials . . . Dimitrov, one of the accused, turned on Goering in court and accused him of being the firebug . . . Goering's sputtering convicted him in the minds of the reporters present. And they say Hitler laughed fit to kill.

Once a girl reporter from the U. S. gave Goering a sharp pain in the neck . . . She was Mildred Gilman, once of the Journal . . . When Goering granted her an interview, he fixed up his office with props to show her how he lived on raw meat and such. He even included a leopard which would prove he was so tough he needed wild animals for pets . . . But Miss Gilman did not, as expected, scream for help and try to get away from the leopard. She upset Goering's tough-boy pitch by fondling the ferocious thing.

National Defense is Keynote For 6th Annual State Fair

KINGSTON, R. I. — With the spacious grounds undergoing extensive changes, the State Fair, annual "show window" of Rhode Island agriculture, which will be held from August 26 to September 1, this year will present a vastly improved picture, with renovated and redecorated building, and improvements for the comfort and convenience of Fairgoers.

Arthur N. Peckham, manager, this week urged exhibitors to send for their free Premium books, containing official entry blanks, at an early date, since closing date to enter exhibits is less than two weeks away.

Soldiers and sailors in uniform will be admitted free on the first day, "Defense Day," and on Saturday, August 30, which will be observed as "City Day." The Fair management offers these free days to cooperate with the program to provide wholesome recreation for service men.

Four large restaurants, in addition to a number of smaller eating stands for "stand-up" refreshments, will provide wholesome and economical food for patrons, and the Midway will be brightened with shows and concessions making the Fair circuits.

Appeal for Policing Of Fascist Hoodlums

NEW YORK. — In New York City, street meetings urging extension of America's aid to Britain were broken up. In public advertisements, the Fight for Freedom Committee appealed to Mayor LaGuardia to halt the "Bundists and so-called 'Christian Frontists,'" from interfering with their meetings.

The police were charged with laxity toward the "terror tactics," the slogans shouted by the "gang of fascist hoodlums" were said to include: "Hitler is not so bad" and "What's wrong with Wheeler?"

REFUGEES WORRIED

ROME. — The new U. S. regulations with respect to the admission of refugees is working great harm on Jewish refugees in Italy as well as on Italian Jews who had hoped to escape from Italy.

As usual, children will be admitted free on Tuesday, the opening day, when several events on the program of particular interest to Young America will be conducted.

Dedicated to national defense, this year's State Fair, running seven days and seven nights through Labor Day, will depict the many-sided "farm and home" industry of the State and the part agriculture plays in keeping filled the "breadbasket of democracy" as well as implementing the "arsenal of democracy."

To Study Dangers Of Nazi Creeds

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass.—Recognition of the Nazi-Fascist creed of racial purity and superiority as potential "dynamite" in a country like the United States whose population represents a mixture of 47 old world nations, will bring American experts of race to the Williamstown Institute of Human Relations here, August 24 to 29, for a thorough discussion of means to forestall the spread of this ideology.

Ruth Benedict, Columbia University anthropologist and author of "Race and Politics"; Prof. Rayford W. Logan, Negro historian of Howard University; Dr. Otto Klineberg, eminent psychologist and author of "Race Differences"; and Godfrey Schmidt, New York State Labor Department authority on the cultural background of Americans, will head a forum discussion on the problem during the Institute, which is sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Women In The News This Week

BY MARTHA NEUMARK

The resignation of Mrs. Helen Holinstat Mann of Detroit from her job as Deputy United States Marshall brought to light the similar vocational pursuits of an entire family of four sisters.

In a tradition that recalls the course of ancient heritages or the history of the Soong sisters, each of the sisters on resigning her Deputy Marshall position to become a housewife has handed over her career to the next in line — Beatrice to Adele to Dorothy to Helen. Wonder how Marshall John J. Barc will take to a new family angle?

Your Favorite Recipe?

We're in the field for recipes — good ones — with which to create delectable morsels for ourselves and which we might pass on to the rest of you. We'd particularly like you to send us traditional holiday recipes — for the New Year soon to be with us, for Yom Kippur and Succoth and Chanukah and Purim and Passover and Shabuoth and any others that we may have failed to enumerate.

This whole subject was brought to mind the other day when Beatrice Kahn, Chairman of the Greater New York Army and Navy Committee of the Jewish Welfare Board, handed out some of the recipes that have brought local fame to her meals, whose underlying philosophy she enunciates thusly:

"I think meals should be simple in that they have few courses; but each dish should be superlative."

Mrs. Kahn collaborates on her recipes, it seems, with her husband, Elq Jacques Kahn, who is one of Park Avenue's better known architects in addition to being Consultant to the Federal Housing Authority. Maybe it's the slightly masculine flavor that attracted us to the following recipe, which we hope will inspire all of you — and that means the gentlemen of the family too — to bigger and better contributions:

Mr. Kahn's Spaghetti: Mix chopped beef (or chicken) with chopped garlic, onion, red peppers, lots of mushrooms, tomato paste and Worcestershire sauce, and let simmer for about 45 minutes. Then cook spaghetti — very lightly; it should be almost crisp, not mushy, when it is done. Put the above over the spaghetti and top this dish with lots and lots of Parmesan cheese. (Unfortunately, Mr. Kahn is not kosher; but for those of you who are — no cheese).

You've Heard of Them

Marriage Date Set

Announcement was made this week that the marriage of Miss Martha Gloria Kaplan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kaplan of Irving avenue to Milton Paisner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Paisner of Tenth street, will occur on September 14.

To Wed This Month

Miss Marcia Bloom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bloom of Miller avenue, will become the bride of Arnold Isenberg, of Newton, Mass., on August 24, at a marriage ceremony to be performed by Rabbi Joshua Werner at Sunset Lodge, in Sharon, Mass.

To Marry Soon

Miss Gladys Libby Chernack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Chernack of Fifth street, will become the bride of Sherwin Jerome Kapstein, son of Max Kapstein of Camp street, on August 31 at Temple Emanuel, with Dr. Israel M. Goldman and Dr. William G. Braude performing the ceremony.

Miss Chernack is a graduate of Pembroke College in Brown University, class of 1940. Mr. Kapstein was graduated from Brown University in 1939.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Michaelson of New York last week announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruth Michaelson, to William Charles Levy, also of New York.

Miss Michaelson is a graduate of Hunter College. Mr. Levy was graduated from City College of New York, and Harvard Law School, and is connected with the government in Washington.

Miss Michaelson's mother was formerly Irene Marks of this city.

For a WOMAN'S fancy

Dancing outdoors in the light of the night

Is the essence of something — if the moon is bright

Such mundane foods as the hamburger, the hot dog and baked beans, prepared by Ledgemont's chef, provided a tempting eight to nine o'clock supper last Saturday nite, at a summer dance given by that golf club . . .

After almost a complete week's leave with the sun, the moon found it expedient to beam brightly in the clear blue sky on Saturday nite, making the outdoor terrace dancing especially wonderful . . . And then, too, the nite was filled with music by Al Jahn's orchestra . . .

Country club costumes, most of them casual — some formal, some informal — became the wearers no end . . . We enlisted the aid of one of the female guests, and after putting our heads together (if you can do that over the phone) we had dreamed up the following "Girls and What They Wore" list . . .

Reading from top to bottom, it says: Murmuring black taffeta fashioned the stunning gown worn by Mrs. Alvin Rice, and her jewels were garnet necklace, bracelet and earrings . . . A red bow was placed in her hair, and her jacket was sable . . . Arline Gilman had on a capricious gown of burnt orange silk jersey, with bold flower printed skirt and blue girdle belt . . .

Mrs. Max Winograd, in a fresh-as-a-buttercup yellow linen frock . . . Reggie Spiegelblatt of Newport was looking radiant in navy blue, pleated around the skirt with white insets . . . Shirley Logan was a delight to behold in her outfit of two-toned grey, sprinkled with white dots . . . Fluid beige jersey, highlighted with coral jewelry — the chic selection of Gladys Press . . .

A dashing dress of Royal Air Force blue, made with gathering on the bodice and soutache braid as trim, was gracefully worn by Mrs. Stan Loebenberg . . . Brilliantly figured was Mrs. Joe Levin's formal frock, and over it an ermine jacket . . . Brunette Mrs. Joseph Pulver appeared in a starched chiffon gown, with voluminous Bishop sleeves . . .

Mrs. Norman Alper looked grand in a jacket dress of colored light blue spun rayon . . . A captivating gown of light blue chiffon, with a gold belt, becoming on Mrs. Haskell Frank . . . Long and flowing, and very drifts, as the aqua chiffon frock of Mrs. Bob Rice . . . Mrs. Julie Bloom was casually lovely in beige crepe, with scalloping on the pockets . . . Mrs. Murray Brososky wore an informal outfit of a soft blue hue . . . Mrs. Irving Loebner chose a charming figured gown . . . Mrs. Al Rosen was attired in a cotton gown of white, with floral print as motif in the skirt . . . Selma Krasnow was there in a pretty maize and white informal dress . . . Mrs. Leonard Goldman came in a simple and smart outfit of aqua . . . Mrs. Morris Biderman's short dress was of a summer print . . .

Moonglow is often bewitching, and we betcha ten pair of silk stockings, that we didn't get correct colours for all the costumes . . . Or woncha bet? . . .

Albee Presenting "Hold That Ghost"

Following up their sensational successes in "Buck Privates" and "In The Navy," Abbott and Costello occupy the screen of the RKO Albee Theatre this week in a hilarious comedy, "Hold That Ghost."

Operators of a gas station, they accidentally become entangled with a gangster and just as accidentally become his heirs. Their chief inheritance is a long-abandoned and supposedly haunted tavern, headquarters for rum-runners during the prohibition era.

The film has a big player roster in addition to Abbott and Costello, including Richard Carlson, Joan Davis, Mischa Auer, Shemp Howard, the Andrews Sisters, and Ted Lewis and his orchestra.

The Albee's co-feature is "Repent at Liesure," starring Kent Taylor and Wendy Barrie.

Triple Lake Offers Western Congeniality

"Speaking about a dude ranch brings romantic visions of the Far West," says Anne Barash, director of Triple Lake Ranch of Succasunna, near Dover, N. J., "yet here at Triple Lake, one can enjoy the adventure of an honest-to-goodness Western dude ranch, plus the comforts of home, with free golf, all sports and social activities."

"However," Miss Barash went on, "Triple Lake is more than a collection of interesting activities. In the final analysis, the best times are had with people, and it is the informal friendliness of young folks who come here that makes it seem like a Western house party or fiesta."

Epidemic Forces Ghetto Removals

Warsaw Ghetto Found To be Over-Populated

GENEVA. — A number of Jews in the Warsaw ghetto were ordered by the Nazi authorities to return to their former homes outside the walls, it is reported in the Gazeta Zydowska, the only Jewish organ in Nazi-held Poland.

The measure, it was explained, is due to the fact that the ghetto is over-populated to an extent which makes epidemic diseases unavoidable. Housing conditions in the ghetto, where over 400,000 Jews are crowded, are such that families consider themselves happy to find a place in dark cellars to which no sunshine and fresh air can penetrate. The number of deaths due to undernourishment and poor sanitary living conditions continually increases.

Returning to Stage After Seven Years On Wall St.

NEW YORK. — A living example of the legend that the stage gets into your blood is Georgie Price. Seven years ago Georgie quit vaudeville, which was dying, for Wall Street — which was virtually dead. Today the effervescent Mr. Price was headed back for show business, but nonetheless intends to remain senior partner of George E. Price & Co., 60 Beaver street.

Price & Co., has a seat on the Stock Exchange for which Georgie paid $90,000 in 1934. Today's estimate of its worth is about $32,000. He's hanging on to it because things might pick up.

However, seven years on the Street haven't left Georgie penniless. As a matter of fact, he calls himself "the miracle man of Wall Street" because he hasn't lost any money. But now the war indicates "we may be in restricted markets for a while."

That's one of the reasons Georgie's returning to the boards. Another is that he hasn't been able to escape being called on for a performance whenever he shows up in a night club — and without rehearsals, he felt he was "lousy."

War Dept. to Grant Discharge Of Key Men In Industries

Brigadier General Herbert R. Dean, State Director of Selective Service, commenting on a recent Memorandum from National Headquarters, advised that it is the policy of the War Department to grant discharge from military service to a former employee "who held a key position prior to induction or enlistment, and whose services are now required by his former employer by reason of the expansion of industrial activities or the shortage of skilled employees in his classification.

A separate request, addressed directly to the Under Secretary of War, must be submitted in the case of each soldier whose discharge is sought, the General asserted. Such request must be initiated and executed under oath by the responsible head of the firm which employed the man at the time of his entry into the military service. It must be established that the soldier is a key man specifically needed and that there is a shortage of technicians in his category. The firm must also agree to re-employ the soldier immediately upon his re-

No blanket classifications are contemplated, and action on each request will be based on the information submitted. It is also stipulated by the War Department, the General concluded, that such discharges may be granted to enlisted men of the U. S. Army only; Reserve Officers and U. S. Navy personnel are not included.

Podawicz is now putting into words the events of the nineteen month hegira that finally brought her and her seven-year-old son safely to these shores after their flight from their native Poland. Her husband, a reserve officer in the Polish Army and formerly a wealthy Warsaw manufacturer, was in a German prison camp the last she heard of him; her son is learning English and Americanism in a boys' camp in Maine; and she herself is putting her undoubted linguistic abilities to the test in the New York apartment of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Szyk; he is the celebrated miniaturist and cartoonist.

Some Jews Should Have Their Heads Examined

BY SOL KAUFMAN

Some Jews should have their heads examined. I mean the turn-the-other cheek, hit-me-again-you-didn't-mean-it contingent. They've been softened up so much by Hitler propaganda that they feel the only way to win friends and influence anti-Semites is to invite a second portion of abuse and physical attack.

Take the case of the kosher butcher, Kluger. One fine day when God seemed to be in His Heaven, Kluger was strolling through Union Square Park — you know the place, where the lunatic fringe gives voice to all its frayed edges.

As he strolled down the tree-shaded winding walk in Union Square park, Kluger beamed and swelled with patriotic pride as he watched democracy in action all around him. Suddenly he was attracted to one group by a loud rasping voice. A big Irishman by the name of Malrone was lambasting the Jews. They were responsible for everything including the Johnstown flood and the Chicago fire. Kluger elbowed his way through the small crowd around Malrone to defend the honor of the Jewish people. What happened after that you may have read in the papers. When Malrone ran out of words he began to use his fists and he found three very efficient helpers. Trees, walk and faces swam before Kluger's eyes as he became the target of hooliganism in action.

A minion of the law rescued Kluger from his assailants. Malrone and his friends were promptly hauled off to court. This was the great test for Kluger, the kosher butcher. And he came forward to prove that he was no ordinary mortal. The case against the hooligans who attacked him was solid and clear. But as the court was about to pronounce sentence, Kluger rose to confront the judge with a touching appeal on their behalf. Think of it, the victim rising in noble fashion to plead for those who had sinned and wronged him. Kluger said this was a democracy and a great country to live in. He wanted them to go free so that they would realize that there was such a thing as forgiveness. The papers ate it up. They went to his home on the East Side and interviewed his wife. Her husband was always like that — always forgiving, etc. said Mrs. Kluger. Kluger was definitely a hero. He had turned the other cheek.

But this was only the first act in a tragi-comedy. Kluger enjoyed many an exhilarating moment dreaming of the great good he had done for his people. Several weeks passed and his wounds healed. He was better than new when he found himself at Union Square again. What caused him to return to Union Square anyone can easily guess. There he was, back at the scene of his martyrdom for good will.

And believe it or not, there was Malrone again, too. Malrone saw Kluger first and started for him. The kosher butcher smiled, expecting a different kind of welcome. It was different — very much so. Malrone didn't run towards him to clasp his hand in gratitude. He lunged forward shouting: "There's that Jew again. I'm going to kill him this time."

The vinegar of human kindness drowned poor Kluger's protestations and once more the fists of the unregenerate Malrone landed on our hero's chin. It was a rude and sad awakening for poor Kluger. Malrone was hauled into court and this time Kluger stood silent and dour — a sad victim of appeasement. There was no more cheek left to turn, so Malrone went to jail.

If there were such a thing as a booby prize, Kluger would win it hands down. But he is not an isolated individual. There are too many Klugers who would substitute the grandstand play of turning the other cheek for the protection which the law provides against anti-Semitic attack.

Under our democratic system there are laws which make certain anti-Semitic manifestations a crime. These laws have been adopted for the protection of the entire community. When misguided individuals like Kluger insist that what they consider a higher law be substituted for the law of the land, they themselves become a menace to their own people. If the laws safeguarding the rights of individuals are good enough for the non-Jew, they should be good enough for the Jew.

I am sure that there must have been a great many Klugers in pre-Hitler Germany who thought that they could reform the Nazis by turning the other cheek. I wonder how long it is going to take Jews to realize that anti-Semitism cannot be cured by offering the lollipop of sweetness to its carriers.

Maybe Kluger was afraid. Maybe all Jews who want to turn the other cheek are afraid that the law may protect them against small abuses and leave them in the lurch if a more concerted attack were to develop. Let's forget about this business of trying to wear a halo in the midst of a thunderstorm. Let's be sensible and take cover under the law. If the law is good enough for all other Americans, it should be good enough for us too.

Plan Community Carnival To Eliminate Ticket-Selling

SIoux CITY, Iowa. — Determined to eliminate all ticket-selling by Jewish organizations to non-Jewish business houses or individuals, the Sioux City Jewish Community Council has arranged for a Carnival that will absorb the deficit that the various agencies might thereby suffer.

Each group submitted a financial report of the previous year's fund-raising activities among the non-Jewish public. A percentage arrangement was worked out for shares in the proceeds of the Carnival. The organizations agreed to solicit no one outside the Jewish community during the entire year except for the Carnival. The plan is regarded as a unique and effective way of improving good will in the community.

The novel Carnival will be held on October 20th with Lester Haeger and Nathan Green as heads.

Greetings of the camp to Mr. Shore were expressed by Robert Plainfield.

3,300 Refugees to Sail Soon

NEW YORK. — Morris C. Troper, chairman of the European Executive Council of the Joint Distribution Committee, is shown with Mrs. Troper as they stepped ashore from the Atlantic Clipper at La Guardia Airport, New York, on their return from the European headquarters of the J. D.C. in Lisbon.

Mr. Troper revealed that about 1,300 refugees are sailing from Spain and Portugal for the United States and other lands in the next few days, and another 2,000 by early September. He reported that outbreak of war between Germany and Russia had created vast new areas of Jewish distress, pointing out that organizations and institutions founded and supported by the J.D.C. during the past quarter-century are on the spot to deal with the need, given the financial support of American Jews.

Hungary Expels Foreign Residents

12,000 Jews Affected By Drastic New Law

BUDAPEST. — First news of the expulsion of foreign Jews from Hungary, which has been taking place for two weeks, was published in a form of a Government communique.

"Hungarian police revised resident permits of all foreign citizens residing in Hungary and exercising a detrimental influence on the economic life of the country," the communique said.

"During this revision police visited all Jews with Polish or Russian citizenship as well as Jews residing in Hungary for 10 years or more, who failed to acquire Hungarian citizenship, and expelled them from the country."

"At the same time raids took place at Budapest and provinces in an effort to find Jews who had entered Hungary without Jewish permits and who had not received resident permits. Twelve thousand such Jews have already been expelled."
