Editorials

Prejudice Wanes

In spite of the imposition upon the conquered countries of Europe of Nazi ideas and practices, including anti-Jewish legislation, the peoples of the Scandinavian and Low Countries, of France, Czechoslovakia and Poland are courageously clinging to their traditional democratic ideals and resisting the encroachments of Nazism by every means possible.

This, in a nutshell, is the conclusion of the American Jewish Committee, established in 1906 for the protection of civil and religious rights of Jews throughout the world.

As far as anti-Jewish agitation in America, the Committee agrees that it has struck a new low of disrepute during the past year. Even at its height, it says, this agitation never succeeded in making serious inroads on American public opinion but always remained an underworld movement, disapproved and condemned by all decent Americans.

There was a perceptible decrease in interest among those sections of the population which had formerly listened to the mouthings or read the scribbles of mischief-making rabble-rousers and mis-guided fanatics. Even during the national election, the Committee reports, the few candidates for office who were associated in one way or another with anti-Jewish activities, were defeated at the polls by the American people as a whole.

While these conclusions on anti-Semitism in the United States are similar to those reached by other independent bureaus, we must not recline and be satisfied with a job well done. Anti-Semitism may be in hibernation but we must guard against that Spring when rabble-rousing politicians find it expedient to bring it to life.

"The Italian army is terrible when aroused," writes Fascist editor Gayda. The results in Albania and Libya seem to indicate that Signor Gayda meant it was — well, just terrible. — Christian Science Monitor.

Sidney Hillman Commends Histadruth On Anniversary

NEW YORK. — Sidney Hillman, member of the "big four" of President Roosevelt's chiefs of national defense, joined in the world-wide tributes being paid the Histadruth in Palestine on the occasion of its 20th anniversary.

Referring to the "splendid, constructive work this organization has done in the rehabilitation of thousands of refugees throughout Europe," Mr. Hillman praised the "excellent job the Histadruth has done and is doing. I know of the hardships and suffering these people endured in their pioneer work and of their continuous effort to alleviate the suffering of others."

In New York, the annual Trade Union Music Festival will be dedicated to the Histadruth anniversary. The Festival to be held at Carnegie Hall on January 25, will feature Josef and Rosina Lhevinne, world-famous duopianists, who will break a long tour, and fly from Paris, Texas to New York especially to appear at this affair. Gregor Piatigorsky, noted cellist, will render special Jewish numbers on his 150-year old instrument, and the Jewish National Workers' Alliance choral society, directed by Leo Low, will mark its own 20th anniversary simultaneously with its appearance in honor of the Histadruth.

Nazis to Register Jews in Netherlands

THE HAGUE. — All Jews must register within six weeks in an official "list of populations," under a decree issued this week by the German Commissioner for the Netherlands.

Persons having only one Jewish grandparent will be classified as Jews, the decree held, and a grandparent who belonged to a Jewish congregation will be regarded as a full-blooded Jew.

Failure to register will be punishable by fines and imprisonment up to five years. At Amsterdam, where there are more Jews than in any other Netherlands city, the registration period will be extended to 12 weeks.

1600 Die In Nazi Concentration Camp

STOCKHOLM. — All of the 1,600 Polish Jews imprisoned in the Buchenwald concentration camp in the fall of last year have died in the camp, reports smuggled out of Germany disclosed this week.

Germans Ridicule Lazarus Charge

BERLIN. — The official news agency this week characterized as a fable the charge Isidore Lazarus, a Jew, had smuggled funds from Germany into the U. S. for German propaganda work.

(In Federal Court, in New York, last Friday, Richard J. Burke, assistant U. S. Attorney, charged that Lazarus, alias Lee Lane, had accepted the money of German refugees before they left Germany, returning them a small portion of it when they reached other countries. The remainder, Burke said, went to the accounts of ranking Germans like Herman Goering, Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Dr. Hjalmar Schact and others.

(Lazarus was given a two-year prison term and fined $2,500 for using a fraudulently obtained U. S. passport to cross and recross the German border.)

For a WOMAN'S fancy

BY EDYTHE JAY

Ledgemont held its Mid-winter event

No, 'twasn't any kind of a tournament

Rather, a very fine formal affair

Read on — we'll tell you who was there . . .

Saturday night, the mirrored walls of the Narragansett Hotel's Crystal Ballroom reflected a gay group of pleasure-bent folks, dancing to Lew Bonick's music at a formal affair given by the Ledgemont Country Club . . .

Done with much finesse, the evening's success was a tribute to the dexterous committee of arrangements . . . Everyone had a wonderful time . . . After dinner, trophies were awarded to various topnotchers in the Golf Club, and then tables were withdrawn and folks concentrated on the rhumba, conga and what have you . . . Without fear of correction, we'd say that "Frenesi" and "Down Argentine Way," were the big-two on the hit parade for the night . . . We wanted awfully to request them for the enth time, but the big blonde chap in the band who uses the castanets looked a little worn out, so we smothered the desire . . .

Some of the season's most lavish and extravagant gowns were to be seen . . . To wit: Bewitching black fringe that swung to and fro at the slightest gesture fashioned the entire gown chosen by brunette Mrs. Louis Rosenberg . . . Just returned from the South, with her blonde hair contrasted by deeply tanned skin, Mrs. Henry Sopkin was as trim as a sailor's knot in her gown of white crepe, made with a square sailor collar . . . Gold buttons were used for accent . . . Mrs. Sam Oresman was fetching in her gown of silverish-green metal cloth, which she contrasted by a necklace and bracelet of deep blue sequins . . . Sapphire and diamond earrings were the complement to the outfit . . . A jacketed frock of black and white on lovely Mrs. Max Winograd . . .

Mrs. Norton Mailman wore a wide-skirted gown of romantic black velvet . . . Carol Parnas was as slim as a Primrose in her satin gown of white . . . Net and stiffish lace were used for the luscious pink frock worn by Mrs. Harry Wolf . . . Mrs. Max Grant appeared in an elegant gown of countryside green crepe, with unusually chic treatment for the skirt . . .

A gown of whispering black taffeta, with gleaming rhinestone straps was stunning on blue-eyed Leona Smith, songbird of WPRO . . . Mrs. Irwin Kane had on a drifts frock of burnt orange chiffon, the top of which was applied with sparkling beads to match . . . A minute bodice of snow-white lace topped the black skirt of Mrs. Saul Abram's becoming gown . . . Mrs. Burt Finberg had on a dinner gown of subtle pinkish beige crepe, with long tight-fitting sleeves . . .

Mrs. Morris Biderman in a waltzy gown of black net and tulle, with adorable ruffled

Vice Versa

Women are funny
They're sweeter than honey
They're angels from heaven above . . .
They're dear little creatures
With delicate features
And hearts overflowing with love . . .

Women are funny
But any dumb bunny
Would know if he opened his eyes
Their sweet little paws
Have sharp little claws
Beneath all the pretty disguise . . .

Women are funny
They're smiling and sunny
Except in their feminine spats!
They're helpless as kittens
Who can't find their mittens
And all of a sudden they're cats!

Hundreds Jam Berlin Consulate Seeking Visas

Eased Restrictions Rumor Causes Rush

4,755 Leave Reich in 1940

BERLIN. — Several hundred Jews, encouraged by reports that United States immigration restrictions had been relaxed, panned the American Consulate this week to renew applications for visas to leave Germany to go to America.

Some officials said restrictions had been eased, particularly regarding the type of affidavits to be accepted from Jews and the question of their good character. During the closing months of 1940 each candidate for entry into the United States was required to pass a stiff examination and supply affidavits that he did not have a police record.

The Union of Jews in Germany reported a steady departure of Jews from the country last year. Complete statistics for the first quarter included 4,755 Jews who left Germany. The majority went to the United States, 1,000 to South America, 500 to Asia, and 100 to Africa.
