Manchester Jews Impose Their Own Curfew

Blame Fascists for Pogroms

LONDON—The Jewish section of Manchester voluntarily imposed a 10 p. m. curfew on Jews this week in a bid to halt a growing number of anti-Semitic demonstrations throughout the country.

Forty persons were arrested in Liverpool during the fourth straight night of anti-Semitic disturbances.

Trade unions and church organizations went into action to halt anti-Jewish incidents.

A committee representing 20,000 employes at the Vickers factory in Manchester issued a statement condemning anti-Semitism and appealing to all workers not to be influenced by mob hysteria.

The Bishop of Salford, Dr. H. V. Marshall, said that to seek revenge for murders in Palestine by attacking innocent persons in Manchester and Salford was "neither logical nor Christian."

The National Council of Civil Liberties has issued a statement saying the slaying of two British sergeants by Palestine extremists was being deliberately seized upon by Fascist elements to develop a campaign of anti-Semitic violence and riots.

Saved by Dutch Underground

Hidden by the Dutch Underground for two years, Ruth Michaelis, four-year-old war orphan who was brought to a new home in the United States by the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society (HIAS), colors a drawing in her American picture-book. In 1943, members of the Dutch Underground, investigating the mysterious disappearance of Ruth's parents, found the child (then only three weeks old) in her crib. Her parents, it was later learned, had been murdered by the Nazis in a round-up of Jews. Dutch Underground patriots sheltered the youngster until Holland's liberation.

Appeal for Blood Donors

A local Jewish family this week appealed to the community for blood donors in an attempt to save the life of a woman desperately ill with a rare blood illness. The woman is a patient in a Providence hospital.

Quantities of blood, types O and B, are needed immediately. Persons willing to donate blood to aid in her recovery are urged to call DE 1069 evenings.

Sells "The Atheist" At Seminaries' Site

NEW YORK—Irony in mid-Manhattan!

Smack in the middle of Broadway and 122nd street, the thoroughfare which runs between two of America's largest theological seminaries (the Union Theological for Protestant ministers, and the Jewish Theological for Conservative rabbis), stood a shrill-voiced, middle-aged huckster offering his wares to ecclesiastic passerbys.

To smiling clerics, he beckoned and called: "Get your copy of THE ATHEIST here. Just off the presses...only 5 cents a copy. Read about the progress of the American Society for the Advancement of Atheism..."

Australia to Admit Thousands of DP's

GENEVA—An agreement covering the immigration to Australia of 4000 Displaced Persons during the remainder of 1947 and approximately 1000 monthly thereafter, was signed by Arthur Calwell, Australian Immigration Minister, and the I. R. O.

Pointing out that it is the intake of "persons of good will," without discrimination as to race or religion, Calwell said that the emphasis will be placed on manual workers.

All Arrested While Asleep

JERUSALEM—Jewish extremists blew up a two-story government building in Jerusalem a few hours after British troops had seized about 60 Jewish political leaders, including four mayors, and put them behind the barbed wire of Latroun camp.

Informed Jewish sources said all of those arrested were leaders of the Zionist Revisionist Party, which allegedly approves or tacitly supports the Irgun's bombings, killings and kidnappings. The Revisionist party of the Zionist movement is classed as "opposition" of the more moderate and official Jewish Agency for Palestine.

A British communique said the blasting of the building, occupied by the public works department, killed three British soldiers and wounded one policeman.

Extremists bragged covertly that the building was blown up in retaliation for the British blasting yesterday of a Jewish home in which was found an underground arsenal. The British evacuated all the occupants of the Jewish building the day before they blew it up. The occupants of the public works building today were given 20 minutes' warning.

Rumors Say Seized Men to Be Sent to Africa

All British troops not on patrol were restricted to fenced-in and barricaded security areas. The dusk-to-dawn curfew on Jerusalem was to have been lifted last night, but after the blowing up of the building the curfew was reimposed.

The Jewish leaders were arrested so fast and so early that few besides those arrested knew what was happening. Unconfirmed reports circulated that they would be sent off to Africa.

The leader of the Brith Trumpeldor, youth movement of the Revisionist Party of the Zionist movement, also were arrested. High Commissioner Sir Alan Cunningham outlawed their organization and ordered all its funds confiscated. The Brith Trumpeldor is suspected of recruiting

Anti-Semitism Seen Rising in Germany

SEELISBERG, SWITZERLAND—Anti-Semitism is so widespread in Germany that "open conflict and the most severe violence" would develop between Jews and Germans if the occupying powers did not maintain order, a United States Army official said Monday.

Dr. Sterling Brown, adviser on religious affairs to the American military Government in Germany, said that as much anti-Semitism exists now in Germany as in the days of Adolph Hitler.

He added there also was anti-Semitism among American soldiers and civilians in Germany.

The military government is "actively combatting" anti-Semitism, Dr. Brown said, but so far the program has not "borne fruit."

An AMG Problem

Elsewhere on this page is reprinted a story out of Switzerland in which the problem of anti-Semitism in Germany is discussed. Not only is there a growth of race hatred in that conquered country but the disease is rampant even among American troops and civilians. So says the correspondent from Switzerland.

It is not surprising that anti-Semitism should still exist in Germany. Hitler planned well; and it was agreed during the war that many years, possibly generations, would have to pass before the German people were cured of that particular hatred. It simply points up the immensity of the task confronting the various military governments and shows that strong garrisons must be kept there.

It is amazing and highly discouraging, however, to read reports that Americans, whether in uniform or muffs, are also being ingrained with race hatred. It wasn't supposed to happen that way. Our forces were to love their brother men and attempt to imbue the Germans with the same feeling. We were supposed to demonstrate democracy at its best. From these reports, though, it would seem that the Germans are indoctrinating us instead of we, them.

Assuming the story to be true, an intolerable situation now exists in Germany, and, quite possibly, elsewhere as well. We learn that our American Military

London Paper Hits British Policy on Jewish Refugees

LONDON—The News Chronicle, in an editorial last week sharply criticized the government's decision to send 4500 Jewish refugees who tried to enter Palestine back to France. "Once again in our Palestine problem, reason has abdicated in favor of stupid irritation. It should be reinstated without delay before further damage is done," the paper says.

"Legally," the editorial continues, "we are within our rights returning these people to France enroute to Colombia since they hold passports with Colombian visas. But to stand upon the letter of the law ignores, in the most foolhardy way, all political implications. The government intends to teach the Jews a lesson. They don't seem to realize that Jews who have suffered as these immigrants have in Europe cannot be taught a lesson and will seek any way to leave that accursed continent. The only people benefiting from such unjust dealing will be the terrorists in Palestine. Those who suffer most are our own troops and police in Palestine."

Rabbi Buys Car—Finds It's a Gift

DENVER — When Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman of Congregation Emanuel went to pick up a new Buick convertible he had ordered, he asked Lou Cohan, the dealer, for a blank check.

"You'll find it in the envelope on the windshield," Mr. Cohan told the rabbi, according to Robert S. Gamzey, managing editor, of the Intermountain Jewish News here.

Opening the envelope, Rabbi Friedman, who recently returned from Europe after 2½ years as a chaplain working with the DP's, found a message from his congregation saying that the Buick had been bought for him as a home-coming gift.

Zionists, Jewish Agency Split Over U. S. Funds

NEW YORK—The political complications now facing the Zionist movement have not resolved a split within the Zionist leadership over financial issues.

The main issue now under discussion between American Zionist leaders and leaders of the Jewish Agency in Palestine concerns the right to use in America some of the funds raised through the United Palestine Appeal in this country. Agency leaders in Jerusalem insist that these funds be transferred in full to the Jewish Agency treasury which can then allocate them for whatever purpose it decides.

However, some of the American Zionist leaders believe that since the funds are raised in the United States, the allocations for major activities in behalf of Palestine in this country should be made by them.

The matter was discussed during the recent visits in New York of Eliezer Kaplan, Agency treasurer. Kaplan seems determined that sole control over the distribution of U.P.A. funds remain vested in the Agency.

British Arrest Jewish Leaders

for the Irgun.

Nearly all of the men arrested were asleep when the British came to get them. The British, equipped with warrants, ordered them to open up their doors and then watched them while they dressed.

Elaborate precautions were taken to prevent the underground from trying to free them. The mayors, surrounded by a heavy guard, sat in the back of a truck. The procession was escorted by tanks and armored cars.

None appeared worried and some even looked cheerful as the truck rumbled along. This correspondent followed the procession from Jaffa and some of the arrested men tried to attract his attention, but British guards would not let him get too close.

They were held in Criminal Investigation Division headquarters in Jaffa for two hours, then hurried to Latroun, 20 miles from Tel Aviv.

The British Government explained that it had ordered the arrest of the mayors and revisionist leaders because they "have shown sympathy towards policies of violence."

OUR FILM FOLK

by LEON GUTTERMAN

JOHN GARFIELD is flying to Italy shortly after he completes his role (Dave Goldman, the soldier) at 20th Century-Fox in Darryl Zanuck's production of the No. 1 best-seller, "Gentleman's Agreement." But—it will be strictly business and not a pleasure trip.

John, whose next independent production will be "Volpone," a period story crammed with action, plans to film it in Italy. "While I was over there with the USO during the war," he says, "I saw several places that I think will be suitable locations for the making of this picture. So, I'm going back to look them over again."

Garfield, who is starring with Gregory Peck and Dorothy McGuire in the picturization of Laura Z. Hobson's novel on intolerance, plans to make the trip late in August, soon after filling his commitment at the studio. He hopes to start production on his own film next summer.

The man who refused to tell was Walter Winchell, and the secret he kept faithfully until he went on the air over the ABC nationwide network was the winning slogan in the fight cancer contest conducted by the Damon Runyon Memorial Fund.

Incidentally, Walter is probably the most accessible celebrity to hit Hollywood in years. Following his announcement of the winning fight cancer slogan, he was deluged with telephone calls from all parts of the country, many of them offering new contributions to the Memorial Fund.

Winchell answered all calls personally, startling scores of persons who expected to be sidetracked by a battery of secretaries. "Just address me care of General Delivery, Los Angeles," he told them when they asked where they could write to him. "I'll be here for a month. I read all my mail."

Melvyn Douglas tells me that he is setting up New York legitimate theatre production offices in association with Herman Levin. The pair produced "Call Me Mister," one company of which has been on Broadway successfully for over a year and a second company of which is in its fourth month in Chicago. Melvyn says he plans to produce at least one play a year.

deal, which Abe Lastfogel, head of the William Morris Agency, set last week with Warner Bros., gives the comedian one-third of all profits. The down payment is merely $50,000, as compensation for Eddie working with the writers. Another deal is yet to be worked out for his recording the musical.

Tentatively titled "All My Life," the idea of Eddie appearing as himself was ruled out, although who will be Cantor's "Larry Parks" is as yet undecided, as is the selection of authors, tunesmiths, directors, etc. The only item certain is that it will be in technicolor and that Eddie, like Al Jolson, will be his own off-screen musical voice.

Cantor's autobiography, written in 1927 with David Freedman will not be used as the basis of the film because of incomplete

High Prices And Fat Profits

Reprinted
From PM

by ALEXANDER WIL

WASHINGTON—What I love about the American press and American politicians are their gimlet eyes when it comes to exposing something that involves their own pet interests or prejudices—say the way press agent Johnny Meyer entertained Elliott Roosevelt—and their equally obtuse blindness when it suits them. Cost of Living And Inflation

Right now, for instance, we are all beginning to get worried because of the way the cost of living is shooting up and the inflation that seems to have gotten off to a good start. There's the increase in the price of steel, new hikes in the price of automobiles; meat is getting out of sight, and the landlords are joyously preparing to leap aboard the gravy train.

'We're Just Too Carniverous'

And the solemn editorial gentlemen of the Washington Star are telling us that meat prices are high because we're "just too carniverous," coming to the eminently sound conclusion that "if we were more vegetarian in the hot weather the story would be quite different."

Everybody's got a different explanation. We need to work more. If Little Orphan Annie's creator had his way, we'd be back to the 12-hour day. Production costs are too high. That's all on account of the insatiable appetite for higher wages on the part of the American worker. The more wages he gets, the higher the cost of production the more you have to pay for things and the less the wages are worth.

It's just like one of those algebraic formulae: A plus B plus C minus D equals X and that's why your new ice box costs twice what it used to and anybody can see the perfect logic of it all.

The other day the jump in steel prices was discussed by the New York Herald Tribune in these terms:

"One after another this month the nation's steel manufacturers have announced increases in the price of their product, ranging between $3 and $10 a ton, due to constantly rising costs of production. The United States Steel Corporation and the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, the two largest interests in the industry, have now been compelled by the inexorable economics of the situation to join the parade. Coupled with the boosts in coal prices stemming from the wage awards to Mr. John L. Lewis' miners, this means that we shall soon be paying more for automobiles, washing machines, farming equipment, durable goods and in general for those items in which fuel and steel are cost factors."

You'll Never Find That Word

You see how clear it all is. You get all the factors. Increased wages. Increased coal costs. Increased freight rates. Increased costs of replacing worn out equipment. It's all part of the "inexorable economics of the situation" and you have your algebraic formulae spelled out completely except for just one thing: PROFITS.

You can read that editorial backward and forward until you're blue in the face, and you won't find the word "profits" mentioned once. You'd think that they had nothing to do with the case; that, somehow or other, they didn't belong in the lovely formula that produces the "in-exorable economics of the situation."

And you can go back and read hundreds of other editorials on this subject and look at other hundreds of cartoons and almost never do you find anything or anybody labeled "profits."

It's always:
"Mounting costs of production" or
"Higher wages" or
"Short hours" or
"Labor featherbedding"

But how many times can you remember seeing:
"Eat profits"?

Now, nobody can be opposed to profits. They are as necessary to our economy as the sun is to the things that grow in the fields. But no fair-minded man can possibly discuss the factors that go into prices without discussing profits and how big or small they are. To get up your algebraic formulae and then calmly leave one of the crucial factors may be good editorial strategy, but is just mathematical nonsense. And yet the American press, in its vast majority, has done just that.

Last Thursday in PM, I. F. Stone pointed out the story of profits as U. S. Steel revealed it in its own statement justifying its increase in prices. He showed how this year's earnings will run from two to three times those of the profit-rich war years if business continues good.

In the current issue of Time, there are a few figures about profits that are worth reading. The Department of Commerce is cited as showing that "estimated" profit after taxes would be $17.4 billions, up 28% over last year."

Offer Chance for Year of Study, Travel in Palestine

The education department of the Zionist Organization of America, in co-operation with the Palestine Office of the Jewish Agency, this week announced that a limited number of opportunities for young people between the ages of 18 to 28 to spend a year of supervised study and travel in Palestine are available. The first six months of the course will be devoted to studies in such subjects as Hebrew language, Bible, Jewish history, Zionism, Hebrew literature, etc. The remainder of the year the students will work in various agricultural settlements and will include a two-month tour of the country.

Although the Jewish Agency will cover tuition, administrative expenses and all costs of instruction, the young people chosen for the course will be expected to cover their travelling expenses to Palestine as well as pay their living costs for the twelve months of their stay in the country. This will amount to approximately $1500.

The course is scheduled to begin on or about October 1, 1947. Applications should be made to the Education Department of the Z.O.A., 41 East 42nd street, N. Y. not later than August 11. Each letter of application should contain the following information: date of birth, country and place of birth, citizenship, brief statement of affiliation with and work in the Zionist movement, general educational background, Jewish education (including proficiency in Hebrew). In the case of applicants under 21 years of age the application should be accompanied by a signed consent of parent or guardian.

The preliminary work of the teachers in Germany will be the establishment and supervision of elementary schools and kindergartens, the selection and supply of text books, and the supplementary training of teachers.

Mizrachi Resolution Asks Aid for Deported Jews

A request for assistance for the 4500 Jews who were stranded at Port DeBouc, near Marseilles, France, last week when their ships were turned back from Palestine by the British was contained in a resolution adopted Sunday by the Mizrachi Organization of Providence. The resolution, drawn up following the Mizrachi picnic at Haines Memorial Park, East Providence, will be sent to Secretary of State George C. Marshall, U. S. Senators Theodore Francis Green and J. Howard McGrath and Congressmen John Fogarty and Alme J. Forand.

The text of the resolution sent to the four Rhode Island legislators follows:

"At a large gathering attending a picnic sponsored by the Mizrachi Organization of Providence

August 3 at Haines Memorial Park, East Providence, a group of Rhode Island citizens voted to request your assistance. We would like to have you see the Secretary of State, George C. Marshall, in behalf of the 4500 Jewish people who are at Port DeBouc, near Marseilles, France.

"These Jews were deported from Palestine against their wills. They were headed for the 'promised land,' Palestine. It would be unfair to let Great Britain deport them, like cattle, to an unknown destination.

"Where, may we ask, would Providence Plantations have been if they had deported Roger Williams to a foreign land and did not allow him to come to this, OUR 'promised land?'"

"The Jewish people are fighting for their independence, the same way the Irish people or any other peoples have fought for theirs and just the same as we Americans had to fight for our independence from England.

"If England could ask for billions of dollars for economic purposes, we could ask them to let the Jews enter Palestine, throwing these doors wide open to them.

"We hope that you will intervene in their behalf, for the sake of humanity, so that the United States' Secretary of State will see to it that the 4500 Jewish refugees are returned from France directly to Palestine, with the aid of Great Britain."

To give broiled liver the gourmet's touch, pour a teaspoon of sherry over each piece just before removing from the broiler.

Says UN Report Won't be Favorable

SHELBYVILLE, Ind. — Declaring that the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine would probably bring in a report not as favorable as that of the Anglo-American Commission last year, Abe Goodman, prominent Zionist, said he did not think a Jewish state would be established in the near future, the Jewish Post reports.

Mr. Goodman returned a few weeks ago from a 3-week trip to Palestine, where he spent some time at Meier Shefeyah, his 'pet' project. Already having made two $5,000 gifts to the Junior Hadassah colony in the past two years, Mr. Goodman wrote out another $850 check for kitchen utensils on this visit.

Passover Buying Program Started

NEW YORK—To provide the necessary foods and other supplies to make it possible for every Jewish survivor in Europe to celebrate Passover, 1948, the Joint Distribution Committee has already embarked on its Passover purchasing program, it was announced recently.

Orders have been placed for 2,000,000 pounds of matzoth, 500,000 pounds of matzoth meal, and 2,200,000 pounds of wheat. The wheat will be sent into Germany for conversion into flour, from which matzoth will be baked.

As in 1946, it is expected that JDC orders for matzoth will require full-time production facilities of all major matzoth-producing companies in this country. For the 1947 observance of Passover, the JDC shipped more than 6,000,000 pounds of Passover supplies to 14 European countries.

Prevent Protest Rallies, Is Plea

FRANKFURT—Lt. Gen. Clarence Huebner, deputy commander-in-chief of the U. S. zone in Germany, this week urged a delegation of the Central Jewish Committee to prevent future demonstrations, such as last Thursday's zone-wide protest rallies against the deportation of the "Exodus" refugees from Palestine, declaring that meetings outside the camps might lead to violence.

Gen. Huebner revealed to the Jewish leaders, who were accompanied by Judge Louis E. Levinthal, newly-appointed advisor on Jewish affairs to the U.S. military command here, that a German woman who was watching the demonstration here had been arrested by Army investigators when she shouted: "Damned Jews, why didn't we kill all of them?" He pointed out that if the marchers had heard her, a riot might have occurred.

The Central Committee spokesmen explained that they had taken over leadership of the demonstrations to prevent "extremist elements" from gaining control.

Jews Given Property

ROME—The Italian Government has promulgated a decree transferring to the Union of Jewish Communities all heirless property left by Jews who were victims of Nazi or Fascist persecution after September, 1943.

Experiments With Soil-less Farming Made in Palestine

NEW YORK—As part of its over-all program of enlarging Palestine's productive capacity, the Jewish Agency for Palestine has made a special grant for the establishment of a hydroponic experimental station to engage in research on the production of agricultural crops in water tanks without soil.

The experimental station has been set up at the settlement of Beth Eshel near Beersheba in the Negev where its findings can best be put to test since the soil in that area is poor and farming conditions are extremely difficult. Construction has already begun on a system of tanks covering approximately three hundred square meters.

Medical Library Branch Opened at Hebrew University

JERUSALEM—The first step toward the establishment of an independent Medical Library at the Hebrew University-Hadassah Medical School has been taken here with the opening of a Medical Library Branch of the Jewish National and University Library in the Nathan Ratnoff Building, which houses the postgraduate medical research departments of the Hebrew University.

This branch library was made possible by the transfer of the medical collection of the University Library, and at present comprises about 20,000 volumes. According to present plans, the library of the Medical School eventually will have its own building. It will provide accommodations for teachers, students and members of the Palestine profession, and there will be space in the stacks for 100,000 volumes.

JDC Free Loan Program Aids Over 1000 Greek Jews

ATHENS, GREECE—More than a thousand Greek Jews have been given a new start in life as small businessmen since the liberation, through Joint Distribution Committee free loans, representatives of the relief agency here report.
 Thus far, more than 775,000,000 drachmas have been advanced to help establish Jewish survivors as bakers, barbers, butchers, carpenters, welders, radio repairmen, musicians, small manufacturers and shopkeepers. They are also receiving hard-to-get tools and supplies.
 Under the loan program, the Greek Jewish businessman applies to one of two local committees

Anti-Semitism "A Gentile Disease"

NEW YORK—Declaring anti-Semitism to be "not a Jewish problem but a Gentile disease," Rabbi William F. Rosenblum, president of the Synagogue Council of America, in an interview last week, urged that hatred for minority groups "be declared a sin which will debar church members from the rights and privileges enjoyed by the faithful. It will do more to destroy the age-old crime of anti-Semitism than all the polite assurances of good will by creed leaders, which, the masses feel, are spoken "for reasons of policy," he declared.

Rabbi Rosenblum left by air for London. He will visit several European countries to make first hand observations and to confer with religious and civic leaders in an effort to point up American cooperation for stamping out the new wave of religious intolerance which is enveloping war-shattered countries. He will attend the Workshop Against Anti-Semitism in Switzerland, July 30-Aug. 5.

functioning in Athens and Salonika. He receives up to 1,500,000 drachmas—approximately $300 at the present official rate of exchange—with no interest charged. Repayments begin four months after the loan is made and are spread over a fifteen-month period.

In addition to loans of this nature, the kassas offer assistance to skilled workers, enabling them to secure tools necessary for their trades. Loans are also made to small industrialists who otherwise could not buy the machines needed to put their factories back into operation. As a result, many new businesses and workshops have been reopened since the end of the war, providing employment to large numbers of Jewish men and women who otherwise would remain jobless and dependent.

Forced Out After Blaming Jews for Black Marketing

LONDON—Cheers rang out in Commons last week when food Minister John Strachey announced the resignation of Brig. Tennyson Ford, food controller, who had stated, at an interview with German newspaper men visiting Britain, that the Jews were mostly responsible for black market activities.

Replying to remarks by Conservative MP Nicholson which implied that the majority of black market offenses are by Jews, Mr. Strachey said if any one could prove, or if any evidence was produced to show that offenses against the food orders were committed disproportionately by any particular race, no one would object to such a fact being made public, but no evidence of this sort is available.

While we accept Mr. Ford's statement that he did not intend to reflect on the Jews as a race, Strachey said, the administrator of an office must not only act impartially but his impartiality must be evident in everything he does and says.

UN Group Ignores Cyprus Detainees

JERUSALEM—The UN Special Commission, at a closed meeting here last week, voted 6 to 3 against visiting the Cyprus deportation camps and 5 to 4 not to grant hearings to representatives of the Cyprus detainees. At the same time the Commission adopted a motion by the Indian delegate to invite all Arab states to present evidence on the Palestine case, and on a proposal of the Yugoslav delegate, extended a new invitation to Jamal Hussein, Chairman of the Palestine Arab Higher Committee, to reconsider the boycott of the UN Commission and cooperate fully with it.

Post to Seek New Members

A joint meeting of the executive board, the membership committee and the ways and means committee of the Lt. Leonard Bloom Post, J.W.V., will be held soon to formulate plans for a membership drive. Saul Rosen and Elliot Skill are co-chairmen of the membership committee, which is planning to visit all veterans in the South Providence area in order to interest them in joining this Post.

It Happened This Week

All this talk of late regarding princesses reminds us that a local "queen" is about to return to the headlines. We refer to Miss Avis Swartz, daughter of the Frank Swartz's, who was crowned Queen Esther at the Jewish Community Center's Purim dance earlier this year.

One of the awards given the queen every year is a vacation trip with all expenses paid. Well, Avis will leave on August 17 for one week at the Lake Spofford Hotel in New Hampshire as a result of her winning the 1947 contest ...

Plan for Yom Kippur Dance
 Plans are already getting under way at the Center for the Yom Kippur dance. Looks like the summer season is on its last legs ...

Time for New Year Greetings
 With the Jewish Holidays practically around the corner, this might be a good time to remind you to place your orders with the Herald now for your New Year greetings. Our first Holiday issue will appear on September 12, just three days before Rosh Hashonah. Write the Herald, or phone GA 4312 ...

Word from Newport has it that the formal dedication of Touro Synagogue as a national historic site has been set for August 31. We hope to have more on this subject later ...

Word From Florida
 While trying to cool off from the heat, we received a card from Mrs. Jack Kessler of Kessler's Bakery, who is vacationing at Miami Beach with her daughter. It can't be much hotter, even in Florida.

New Song Title
 Remember the lyrics of the "Anniversary Song" that made such a hit in the "Jolson Story"? Well, some wag has parodied the first line into a new song title: "Oh, how I danced on the night we were wed; I needed a wife like a hole in the head." ...

Mazeltoy!
 Mazeltoys will be the order of the day this Sunday, when three weddings will take place. Rachael Allen, daughter of the Abraham Allen's, of 46 Taylor street, and Jordan Abrams, son of the Julius L. Abrams, of 900 Main street, East Greenwich, will exchange "I do's" at the United Commercial Traveler's Hall; the Regina Schlossberg-Irving J. Kalmin nuptials will be held in the Indian room of the Narragansett Hotel, followed by a reception from 4 to 7 o'clock in the Crystal Ballroom, and Jean Kloner, daughter of the Solomon Kloners, of Mulberry street, will wed Leonard H. Flax, son of the A. W. Flax's of Pocomoke City, Md., at the home of the bride's parents.

Bigger and Better ...
 Watch for some changes in the Herald. It will soon be a bigger and better newspaper. More on that subject in September.

THE JEWISH JESTER

By ELYEH NATHANS.

Of all the various aspects of Jewish humor that of Rabbinical wit is the least known and possibly the most rewarding. For hundreds of centuries the village Rabbis were the mentors of the Jewish people, giving them not only spiritual guidance but teaching them how to cope with daily problems.

The Jewish people in general held them in high respect but there were of course certain skeptics who sought to mock and humiliate them. A skeptic once elected to pit wits with his village Rabbi and boasted to his friends, "I can ask him a question which he cannot answer."

Taking a small bird in his hands and cupping them so as to conceal it, he said to the Rabbi, "What do I have in my hands?" "You have a small bird," was the reply of the wise man, who could hear its wings flutter.

"But is it alive or is it dead?" the skeptic persisted. If the Rabbi said, "It is dead," he planned to open his hands and let it fly away. If he said, "It is alive," he planned to throttle the tiny creature and present it

Noted Jewish Composer Dies

LONDON—Samuel Alman, one of Britain's most prominent Jewish composers, died last Sunday at the age of 70. Although his opera, "Melech Ehad," produced in 1912, met with great success, he devoted most of his energies to the creation of liturgical works. His musical settings to the poems of Bialik and other Hebrew poets are also among his better-known compositions.

Spivack's Honored at Surprise Luncheon

Mr. and Mrs. David Spivack were feted at a surprise luncheon which was given in honor of their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Morris Lecht, 17 Lippitt street. Twenty guests attended. Hostesses were the Mesdames Morris Lecht, Matthew Raphael and Joseph Herr. A chrome tea service set was presented to the guests of honor.

dead. The Rabbi answered, "That is in your hands," and walked away, thus sustaining his reputation for wisdom, and leaving the skeptic to extricate himself from his dilemma.

Another Rabbi was traveling by coach, and sitting besides him was an elderly, wizened fellow.

"I just got out of jail this morning," he told the Rabbi. "It will be difficult to face old friends."

"Verily, I can sympathize," answered the latter. "I am just going back to my congregation."

Government is "actively combatting" anti-Semitism, but that the program has not "borne fruit." From that it would appear that the AMG will have to change its tactics and change them in a hurry. Either that, or intensify its efforts, especially among its own personnel. If they cannot convince their own soldiers, it is senseless to expect them to succeed with the Germans.

There should be a concerted effort made to halt this spread of anti-Semitism before it progresses to the stage where it might get out of hand. We have every reason to believe that significant and substantial gains have been made in this field in recent years. We must not—we cannot—permit these gains to be lost in a resurgence of this terrible social disease.
