Women Pledge $61,500 at Initial Gifts

To Direct General Solicitation of Men and Women

ARTHUR KAPLAN

JOSEPH W. RESS

MRS. BERTRAM BERNHARDT

MRS. SAUL E. R. FEINBERG

Arthur Kaplan, Joseph W. Ress and Sidney Kane (Mr. Kane's photograph was not available as we went to press) are co-chairmen of the general solicitation of the general division of the 1947 campaign of the General Jewish Committee of Providence. Mrs. Bertram Bernhardt and Mrs. Saul E. R. Feinberg are the co-chairmen of the general solicitation in the Women's Division. The general campaign for $1,125,000 got underway last night with a mass meeting at the R. I. School of Design Auditorium.

Donors Double 1946 Pledges

A smashing total of $61,500 was pledged to the 1947 General Jewish Committee's fund-raising campaign by an audience of 300 women assembled at a $100 minimum gifts luncheon at the Sheraton-Biltmore hotel last Monday afternoon.

The pledges more than doubled the 1946 contributions of the same persons. Substantial increases in gifts, almost without exception, were announced by the members of the women's division present at the affair. Numerous individuals pledged five to six times the amount of their 1946 contribution.

Mrs. David M. Levy, chairman of the national women's division of the United Jewish Appeal, was principal speaker at the luncheon which marked the official launching of the local women's division campaign.

"A high note of enthusiasm is evident at this remarkable gathering," Mrs. Levy declared in her opening remarks.

She emphasized that the relief problems of Europe's homeless and destitute Jews had worsened considerably since her six-week tour of Europe and Palestine earlier this year.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Philip Dorenbaum, women's division chairman, who introduced Mrs. Albert Pilavin, chairman of the initial gifts committee, who presided during the remainder of the affair.

Prior to introducing Mrs. Levy, Mrs. Pilavin presented Archibald Silverman, GJC president, and Alvin A. Sopkin, 1947 campaign chairman, who spoke briefly but declared that they were "confident that the women's division this year will raise a gratifying portion of our $1,125,000 goal."

"Magnificent Response" After announcement of the individual pledges, both Mr. Silverman and Mr. Sopkin declared themselves to be "extremely gratified at this magnificent response." Officials of the women's division revealed that cards shortly will be distributed to workers, and a community-wide solicitation will be launched "during which every greater Providence Jewish woman will be contacted."

The committee in charge of arrangements included Mesdames Samuel Michaelson, Nathan Samors and Joseph J. Seefer, associate chairmen; Alvin A. Sopkin, treasurer; Max L. Grant, record-

Jewish Education

It seems odd—to say the least—that the "People of the Book" should have to be reminded of such a cardinal duty as educating the young. Yet that is the meaning of the proclamation recently issued by the American Association for Jewish Education, calling an American Jewry to observe September as a "Jewish Education Month." This proclamation is both a reminder of the sad status of Jewish education in America and of the indifference many Jewish parents in this country are displaying in the matter of meeting the spiritual needs of their children.

There are, of course ameliorating circumstances—the tempo of American life, the general school program, the cost of added education, the strain and stress of business, the lack of Jewish educational facilities in a given neighborhood or community and other such factors. But the outstanding contribution to the neglect of Jewish education in America is derived from one of two sources—the indifference of Jewish parents toward their parent duty of giving their children a Jewish education or ignorance of the great heritage which sustained Israel through the ages. If the "Jewish Education Month" serves to remind these parents of their erring ways, it will have contributed a constructive voice to the plea for Jewish education. Surely it focuses attention on a sore phenomenon in Jewish life in America.

Synagogue Sets Date for Consecration

The board of directors of the Ahavath Sholom Congregation has set Sunday, November 9, as the date for holding ceremonies to consecrate the land at its site at the corner of Rochambeau avenue and Camp street to the erection of a new Synagogue and Talmud Torah. The land is now in process of being cleared and levelled in preparation for the modern building to be erected there.

Samuel L. Kasper, Samuel H. Levinson and Harry Charren are in charge of preliminary arrangements. Rabbi Morris G. Silk, spiritual leader of the Congregation, will direct the religious rites at the ceremony. Further details will be announced shortly by the committee and the event will be open to the general public which is invited to attend.

A E Pi to Hear Conclave Talk

Arabs Lunch With Sec'y Marshall--No Comments

FLUSHING — Secretary Marshall lunched this week with the head of the five Arab UN delegations as Arab spokesmen elsewhere, turning their anti-Zionist policy into high gear, virtually threatened war against UN unless the Palestine decision goes their way.

The lunch, at which—according to U. S. informants—the Arabs talked and the Secretary listened, was held at nearby Fort Totten, headquarters of the Army Transport Command.

With nearly every American representative present who will have anything to do with the Palestine problem at this session of the General Assembly, it was the kind of affair at which major decisions could have been made. But U. S. spokesmen later insisted the lunch simply proved a sounding board for Arab leaders who had wanted to reach the Secretary personally.

Marshall brought with him Herschel Johnson, No. 3 man on the U. S. delegation who will represent this country on the special UN committee on Palestine; Maj. Gen. J. H. Hilldring, newly appointed alternate delegate who will be deputy to Johnson on the special committee, and George Wadsworth, Ambassador to Iraq, and Paul Ailing, both of whom are political advisers to the U. S. delegation on Arab affairs.

Present for the Arabs were Emir Feisal al Saud of Saudi Arabia; Faris Bey El-Khoury of Syria, Camille Chamoun of Lebanon, Gen. Noury As-Said of Iraq and Mohammend Hussein Heykal Pasha of Egypt.

The Americans were close-mouthed after the affair and the Arabs cautious. The Lebanese delegate said he thought "the atmosphere seemed more favorable for the Arabs" after the talk.

US—PALESTINE AIRLINE JOHANNESBERG — Establishment of a Jewish-owned airline which would link Palestine to the United States is envisioned by a prominent local financier.

Jewelers Will Meet Thursday

Members of the Jeweler's Trade Division of the 1947 General Jewish Committee campaign will have a dinner meeting next Thursday evening at 6 o'clock in the Narragansett Hotel, it was announced today by Charles Rothman, chairman, and Max Kestenman, co-chairman, of the Division.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Mrs. Fannie Barzilai, a recently arrived refugee from Europe. She will relate her experiences in DP and concentration camps.

Sr. Hadassah Plans Program

At a meeting of Senior Hadassah held at the home of Mrs. Maurice Robinson on Eighth street last Friday, Mrs. Everett Cowen, program chairman, discussed with activity chairmen and officers of the unit the programs to be presented during the current year.

The following list of delegates to the Hadassah convention in Atlantic City, from October 24-28, was announced by Mrs. Irwin Silverman, who is in charge of delegate reservations: Mesdames Maurice Robinson, Abraham Percelay, Saul E. R. Feinberg, Samuel Michaelson, Sarah Felder, Max Greenbaum, Gilbert Maker, Nathan Samors, Saul Abrams, Irwin Silverman, Isaac Gerber, Jacob Ernstof, Bernard Bell, Israel Mandell, Alex Miller, Daniel Miller and Albert Pilavin. Those seeking reservations should contact Mrs. Silverman at PL. 8118.

Highlights Of the Initial Gifts Dinner

Henry Morgenthau, Jr.'s comment on the high cost of living and "the need for a special session of Congress to establish some form of control over skyrocketing prices" was his first public statement concerning this critical situation. Given off-hand to a Providence Journal reporter, it was featured by that newspaper as a front page item the following morning.

Harry Hirschfeld, noted radio humorist who concluded the speaking program, insisted that he was "a tired man" when the meeting began. "I was so tired," he insisted, "that if I had a date with Betty Grable, I wouldn't take 'Yes' for an answer!" After listening to the gathering of 300 men present pledge almost $500,000 to the United Jewish Appeal, Hirschfeld maintained he was "positively rejuvenated!"

GJC executive director Joe Galkin's famous wide grin reached new dimensions as individual after individual announced substantial increases over their 1946 contributions. Gertrude Tarnapol and Martin Peppercorn, at the workers' table, were hard pressed to keep up with the rapidity of the pledges but they, too, were beaming.

A wave of laughter swept the audience when it was announced that the meeting, held in a huge tent, actually was on the site of the third hole of the Ledgemont golf course. "I've lost many a dollar on this third hole," commented one substantial donor, "but tonight it cost me thousands!"

Alvin A. Sopkin, 1947 campaign chairman, did a fine job in handling the calling of cards, and no one was offended.

If Partition, Zionists Can Mobilize Powerful Army

JERUSALEM—If the United Nations should decide to create a Jewish state in Palestine, the Zionists could mobilize a security force of 50,000 armed and trained men within a short period, according to informed estimates here. In a national emergency the mobilization of 100,000 men and women might be attained.

Center Players Pick New Play

More than 25 persons attended the inaugural meeting of the Center Players, held recently at the Jewish Community Center, and heard plans for a busy season outlined by Gerald A. Oster, director. Included on the Players' schedule are five major productions and a radio workshop, to be conducted by Anita Bornstein.

Chosen for the first production was the play "Heaven Can Wait", seen in the movies as "Here Comes Mr. Jordan". The play will be presented on Sunday and Monday evenings, November 9 and 10 at the Center.

A theater party is being planned to see the musical "Oklahoma" next week.

Edith Fink, president of the Players, presided at the meeting.

DPs Prevented from Sailing to U.S.

MUNICH—Scores of Jewish men and women wept openly here this week when they were forced to leave a train which was about to start them on their journey to the United States. At the last minute, after 315 displaced Jews had boarded the train bound for Bremerhaven, they were informed that there was no ship available to take them from the German port to points of debarkation in America.

Buy United States Savings Bonds and Stamps!

These are the figures in the minds of Zionist statesmen who have repeatedly told international commissions that in the case of British evacuation from the Holy Land the Zionists could take care of themselves. Such is the military strength that the Hebrew press lately has been suggesting that the Zionists might contribute to the implementation of the partition plan of the United Nations Special Committee of Inquiry in case the British Government should demand assistance.

It has long been known that the Haganah underground defense force of the Palestine Jewish community numbers upward of 70,000. Inside and outside Haganah, according to reliable calculations, there are 80,000 Zionists in Palestine who have received some degree of training in military and police forces, not including those who fought in foreign armies and partisan units. About 30,000 Palestinian Jews served in the British forces alone during the war.

Youth High in Population

A wartime military force consisting of 10 per cent of the total population is generally considered normal for any country. In the case of Palestine, whose Jewish population is mounting toward 650,000, the age composition is lower than usual because of the influx of youthful immigrants. The able-bodied manpower potential is consequently higher.

There is also a higher percentage of women in Palestine who might serve as auxiliaries. Like the American pioneer women, able-bodied girls in isolated Zionist settlements learn how to handle a rifle.

"Crossfire" Tense Thriller Attacks Bigotry

Robert Young, Robert Mitchum and Robert Ryan, co-starred, contribute powerful characterizations to "Crossfire," which opens Wednesday, October 1, at the RKO Albee Theatre, Providence, R. I., a hard-hitting, realistic, mystery drama, which takes a sensational blast at the evils of intolerance.

The story has a Washington locale and centers around the murder of a Jewish ex-serviceman. Unpremeditated and lacking in motive, the crime presents the police with a tough problem. The stories of the many suspects offer only a dense mass of tangled, contradictory evidence. The case is finally cracked when the murderer, in co-operating with the authorities, over-reaches himself and falls into a clever trap.

Young, in the role of a determined, hard-working detective, is a far cry from the breezy sophisticate of his other films. Mitchum is one of the suspects who tries to draw the police away from his war buddy, and Ryan, in his first unsympathetic role, is the bigoted ex-army sergeant. Important roles in the supporting cast are filled by Gloria Grahame as a cheap dance-hall employee, Paul Kelly as her down-and-out husband, Sam Levene as the murder victim, Jacqueline White as the young wife of the chief suspect, impressively played by George Cooper, Steve Brodie as an ex-serviceman who opens his mouth once too often, and Richard Benedict, Richard Powers, William Phipps, Lex Barker and Marlo Dwyer. For RKO Radio Edward Dmytryk directed from a screenplay by John Paxton.

In addition to offering a tip-top mystery thriller this production by Adrian Scott is credited as being a fearless treatment of a timely and vital subject.

Kaplans Get Together In "Big Four" Reunion

When Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kaplan of Elmira, New York, paid a visit to Providence during the summer, they made it possible for no less than four generations of Kaplans to be together at one time.

That is, they helped to bring about that situation. Some assistance was required from Robert M. Kaplan, who spends much of his time in New York. The handicaps of distance once out of the way, the four Kaplans, Louis, Ben, Robert M. and Bruce Allan, —lost no time in posing for the family picture that appears on this page.

Gatherings of all the male members of the family are necessarily few, since only half the group can usually be found here in Providence at any time. Louis, the eldest of the Kaplans, and now retired, has made his home in Elmira since arriving in this country from Russia many years ago. His son, Ben, well known in local radio and business circles, and head of the Ben Kaplan Advertising Agency has lived in Providence for several years.

The third generation's representative, Robert M., technically lives in this city. However, he is and has been connected with several successful Broadway hit shows. Consequently, he is forced to do some long-range commuting and is as likely as not to be away from home.

Little Bruce Allan, two-and-a-half-year-old great-grandson of Louis, lives with his mother, Norma, and his father, at the home of his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hurwitz of Wayland avenue. Bruce, by the way, also has another great-grandfather Mr. Samuel Blostein, formerly of Elmira, and now of Providence and Florida.

It is interesting to note that all four Kaplans were born in different places—Louis in Russia, Ben in Bosley, N. C., Bob in Sayre, Pa., and Bruce in Providence.

Bob's latest show, incidentally, is just beginning to catch the public eye. Titled "High Button Shoes", it opened last Friday in Philadelphia. On October 6 it will definitely reach Broadway this fall.

Under the professional name of Bob Martin, the third Mr. Kaplan specializes in vocal arrangements. Formerly associated with Lyn Murray of choral group fame, Bob also is responsible for the vocal arrangements of the smash hit, "Finian's Rainbow."

While it is yet too early to tell what Bruce will do when he grows up, it is a safe guess that, inasmuch as he even now is reported to be the liveliest man in the family, he will carry on in the family tradition. At any rate, as the fourth generation of Kaplans, he has his work well cut out for himself.

General McNarney's Report on the

facing the Jews of Europe

Excerpts from an address by General Joseph T. McNarney, former commander of United States Forces in the European Theatre of Operations, at the Emergency Conference of the United Jewish Appeal, Wernersville, Pa., on June 8, 1947.

The surviving Jews of Europe are in a critical position and they are moving rapidly toward a crisis. Though I am proud and gratified that the American Army was able to save the lives of tens of thousands of Jewish men, women and children by liberating them from the horrible concentration camps in the first instance, and by giving them asylum and necessities of life thereafter, I am not happy about the fact that they are still unable, two years after the end of the war, to live normally.

There are even now some 250,000 Jews in Displaced Persons Centers. There are even now other tens of thousands in Eastern Europe who are destitute, unwanted, and almost shorn of hope.

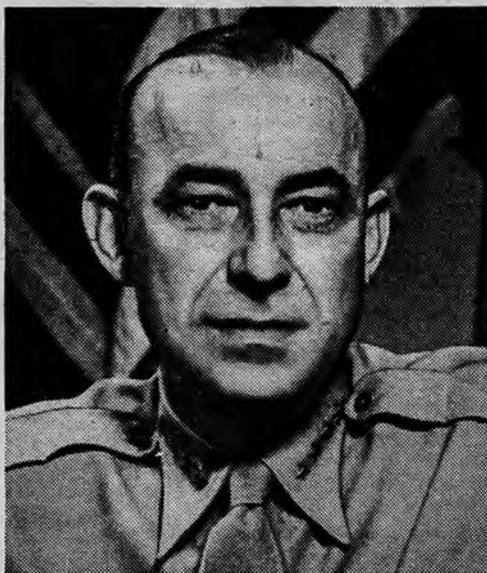

You, too, can take pride that through the United Jewish Appeal you shared with the American Army in the preservation of these worthy people. The Joint Distribution Committee, whose splendid work I had the opportunity of observing for a long time at first hand, did yeoman service in supplementing the help that the Army was able to give. But you too have cause for unhappiness about their present position.

When UNRRA steps out of the picture, (on June 30) the International Refugee Organization will presumably begin to function. But what are the resources of the IRO? The budget of the IRO is $150,000,000 to cover the needs of more than a million DP's all over the world. The staff of the IRO will number approximately 700 at the peak for the world. Compare this with the far larger sums which were available to UNRRA and to the staff of 5,000 in Germany alone which UNRRA commanded.

This adds up to a very drastically reduced program of aid for the DP's in Germany. It means that a much greater responsibility will be placed on private agencies like the Joint Distribution Committee.

Army funds that can be used to help the DP's are not inexhaustible. Growing difficulties stand in the way of utilizing supplies which up to now have been taken from the German economy for assistance to DP's.

I do not mean to say that the American Army intends to stop trying in every way possible to do what it can. On the contrary, we shall redouble our efforts to find ways and means of carrying on this desperately needed assistance. But we cannot do it alone.

The Army has the responsibility for maintaining order in the areas it occupies. The success of the Army in performing its total mission is closely linked with its success in performing adequately this phase of its project. And I do not think I am exaggerating when I say that there is also a link between the United Jewish Appeal campaign and the Army's responsibility for maintaining order.

Recently the caloric ration of Displaced Persons has of necessity been reduced from 2200 to 2000 per day. This is barely a subsistence level. Surplus Army and captured enemy equipment from which we furnished clothes, housekeeping and work equipment and medical supplies are practically exhausted. All these are elementary needs. They must be maintained on at least their present level. If they are not, I think you know what is almost certain to happen, especially when the victims, through no fault of their own, have lived through years of horror and suffering.

A human being can stand just so much and then there comes the straw that breaks the camel's back.

We must prevent that last straw from being added to their burden. We must move heaven and earth to avoid the irritations and the frictions that this last straw would induce. We cannot afford to wait until a despairing man or a despairing group of men, in frantic, unconsidered action, create an incident or a series of incidents between them and some of the German population or even between them and the soldiers of the American Army.

The problem calls for Jewish statesmanship—American Jewish statesmanship, for you are the only Jewish community capable of action on the required scale. Through your campaign for $170,000,000 you must take up as much as possible of the slack that will result from the reductions in aid I have already forecast. I am glad that you will not have to do it alone. You have the sympathy of your Christian fellow-citizens in your great work and I am sure you will have a generous measure of their support. I join with President Truman, Secretary Patterson, and General Eisenhower in calling for this support.

I have said little about the general European situation because my own experience has been largely with the DP's in Germany. I am aware, however, that the Joint Distribution Committee has a great responsibility in other parts of Europe.

We cannot blink the fact that in some parts of Europe anti-Semitism is still rife. What is to happen eventually to those who can never again reestablish themselves in a Europe which holds such a dread memory of the past for them, such an unhappy present and such an uncertain future?

In my contacts with the displaced Jews I found that the majority desired to go to Palestine. I trust that the United Nations will achieve a just solution to the problem of Palestine so that the deepest wishes of these people may be fulfilled.

The United Palestine Appeal, which is responsible for the settlement of Jews in the Holy Land, will be called upon, I hope, to make a historic contribution to the solution of the displaced persons problem.

Many of the displaced persons in Europe have relatives in our own great land whom they wish to join. Others look to the United States as the traditional asylum for human beings in need of a helping hand. For these, the United Service for New Americans stands as a beacon of hope. I understand that legislation has been proposed to make available the unused, war-time quotas for the immigration of displaced persons. I know these people and believe they will make good citizens.

The $170,000,000 you seek are the 170,000,000 units of healing medicine. I wish you Godspeed and success in your sacred task.

United States to Play Deciding Role in Palestine

by BORIS SMOLAR

L'Shonah Tovah: The Jewish New Year coincides with the opening of the session of the UN General Assembly ... It becomes more and more obvious that the United States will play the deciding role at the Assembly on the Palestine issue ... It must be remembered that the British Government, in presenting the Palestine case to the UN, reserved for itself the right not to carry out the recommendations of the UN ... The U.S. is the government that can exercise the greatest influence on the British Cabinet.

THE UN OUTLOOK: The lineup with regard to the power which will assume trusteeship over Palestine for the interim period seems to be as follows: ... Britain, as well as the U. S., is interested in keeping the Soviet Union from getting a foothold in the Mediterranean ... Therefore, they will do everything they can to prevent a joint big-power trusteeship over Palestine ...

In this they will probably be successful, if an understanding is reached between the U. S. and Britain under which the former will support a proposal that the Palestine trusteeship be vested in the hands of Britain ... However, the understanding will also have to provide that Britain may call upon any government she wishes to share with her the administration of the trusteeship ... Britain will then obviously call upon the U. S. but not the U.S.S.R.

... PRESSING PROBLEMS: Zionist leaders are seriously worried over the unified economy which the UNSCOP report recommends ... Economic unity for the Jewish and the Arab states in Palestine means that the Jewish state would support the Arab state ...

The UN General Assembly session will probably last at least three months ... While other aspects of the UNSCOP report can stand a three-month discussion and perhaps other delays, there is one recommendation which requires immediate action ... That is the recommendation to admit 150,000 displaced Jews ... The recommendation definitely states that these refugees should be admitted beginning this month.

ECHOES FROM AFAR: From time to time, Jews in this country read reports about the Jewish refugees in Shanghai ... But there is also a normal Jewish life in Shanghai ... Jews have been living in Shanghai for many decades ... Many settled there after leaving Soviet Russia about twenty-five years ago ... Jewish clubs and organizations existed long before refugees from Nazi persecution fled to that city ...

Jewish refugees in Shanghai are well-organized and extremely active socially and culturally ... As the years go by, there will be no refugees in Shanghai ... Some will return to Europe and some will become permanent residents ...

Jews in Sweden Aid Nazi Victims

STOCKHOLM — The Jewish Community of Sweden made a public report which shows that although there are only 10,000 Jews in the country, they have contributed $1,100,000 to the support of Jewish victims of Nazism in Sweden since 1933. The report disclosed that the Swedish Government during the same period allocated $400,000 to Swedish Jewry for aid to Jewish refugees in the country.

Writer Predicts U.S. Fascist Dictatorship

NEW YORK—Widely discussed in the press last week was the novel "Tom Walker," by Marl Sandoz (Dial Press) who is convinced that a Fascist military dictatorship is the inexorable fate of this country within the next few years. Miss Sandoz traces three generations of American veterans, beginning with a disillusioned veteran of the Civil War; his son, facing similar but more ominous problems after the first World War; and his grandson, wounded in World War II who sees the rise of a "token Hindenburg" to the Presidency some time after 1948, followed closely by an American Fuehrer.

Says reviewer Nathan L. Rothman, in the Saturday Review of Literature: "It is a haunting nightmare. It is reminiscent, it is not impossible, it is not inevitable. That is the thought that clings still to the mind as you put the book down. It is a compelling book and it will shake any reader, cause him to re-examine his own concepts. ..."

Publicity in Ouster Case May Terminate Law Suit

WASHINGTON—Adverse publicity may bring an end to a law suit seeking to force a non-Jewish wife to evict her Jewish husband from their home in a "restricted" suburb of Washington.

It was learned this week by PM that the nine plaintiffs, including one high Governmental official, have been alarmed by newspaper stories disclosing their part in the suit.

The Government official involved is J. Otis Garber, $10,000-a-year chief of the Field Service of the Budget Bureau. Garber and his wife, home-owners in suburban Bannockburn, Md., joined seven other residents in the filing of the suit aimed against Aaron Tushin, 49-year-old examiner in the U. S. Patents Office.

Garber could not be reached for comment, but it was understood that he and several of the other plaintiffs regret their action and would like to withdraw the suit. Their attorney, James H. Pugh, would not comment on the report except to say that he was "prepared to go ahead with the case if my clients are." It is now scheduled to be heard in Maryland circuit court next month.

Tushin and his wife, who have three children, moved into their Bannockburn home a year ago. The home was purchased jointly by husband and wife. When Tushin's Jewish blood was discovered some of the residents in the 52-family community sought to force the family's ouster.

However, since Mrs. Tushin is not Jewish and a co-owner of the home, it was found impossible to proceed against the two.

As a consequence, the present suit was devised to get around the situation. It specifically seeks to compel Mrs. Tushin to force her husband to move out of their home, on grounds that he is a Jew. The suit alleges that Tushin's presence in the neighborhood has caused "irreparable damage" to other residents and is a violation of a restrictive covenant imposed on home buyers in Bannockburn.

The covenant was put into effect by the Bannockburn Improvement Co., which built the middle-class development. Under it, home buyers agree that "said property shall never be used or occupied by ... Negroes ... Jews ... Persians and Syrians, except that this paragraph shall not be held to exclude partial occupancy of the premises by domestic servants of any of the owners of said property."

The Tushins maintain that they were unaware of the covenant when they bought their home.

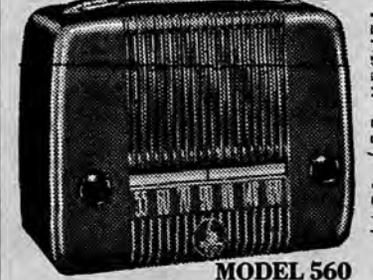

Recently, members of the Bannockburn Citizens Assn., to which most of the 52 families belong, were asked to approve filing a suit to compel Tushin's ouster from his home. A majority indignantly refused. In the end, four families elected to go ahead with it.

Besides Garber, the other plaintiffs are Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Kern, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Senour, and a Mrs. Mary Rawlings, wife of a local dentist. All have denied that they are anti-Semitic and insist that their only interest is to protect the terms of the covenant.

None of the plaintiffs are immediate neighbors of the Tushins. However, some of the immediate neighbors have offered to testify in the Tushins' behalf.

"One Man's Opinion"

Four In District A

By BERNARD SEGAL

The introduction of religious issues into the forthcoming primaries for the Providence school committee is highly deplorable.

Four candidates have entered the race in District A. They are Buonanno, Kapstein, O'Reilly and Miss Healey. It does not require great subtlety to guess at the national origin of each of the four candidates. One is of Jewish, one Italian, and two of Irish stock. Neither of the four candidates will withhold this information from any voter.

But woe is unto our democratic system of government if the Irish, the Jewish, and the Italian voters of District A will each pick their candidate on the basis of their religious affiliations or national origin.

Fitness should be Rule

The voters are to express their preference for one candidate or another on the basis of fitness only. Religious background and national stock have no bearing on the qualifications of the three aspirants.

As far as the voter is concerned, he is confronted with four young Americans who aspire to public office. He will cast his vote for or against one or the other candidate, because of his merits as an individual, and not because of his ancestry.

All this is so self evident that it sounds trite in repetition. It has been expounded, elucidated, and reaffirmed in countless utterances ever since the founding of this Republic.

The Freedom Train, soon due to arrive in Providence, will no doubt contain documentary evidence of the basic principles governing the election of candidates for public office. These principles definitely guarantee the citizens of the United States the right to vote and to be voted into office regardless of race, creed, and nationality.

All this we say is self evident and needs no repetition.

And yet here we are in these Providence Plantations, the cradle of freedom of religion, airing editorially, in two newspapers, the religious background of one of the candidates for the school committee.

We do not propose to pass judgement on the propriety or the impropriety of the candidacy in question. We question the propriety of bringing up the religious issue altogether. It only beclouds the true issues involved. Witness the charges and the counter charges exchanged between the two editorial writers. The Visitor reads into the Journal editorial (see Bulletin editorial page of September 19) meanings of which the impartial reader was not aware. In all fairness to the Journal editorial, there is no mention in it of adverse criticism of the Parochial school system. But such is the nature of religious controversies. They can not be discussed calmly, impartially.

The merits of one school system over another are not the issues in these primaries. But a discussion of the Parochial versus Secular education, once allowed to enter into the pre-election arguments, is liable to push into the background the real issues involved in this campaign.

And what are the real issues?

First and foremost is the issue of teachers. Our school system has received a very poor mark in a recent educational survey. We have been found wanting in efficiency and equipment. What are the candidates going to do about improving matters in the city's schools?

Closely connected with the calibre of teachers is the matter of salary. Good salaries attract good teachers. What stand will the candidates take with regard to teacher's salaries if elected?

Then there are the personal qualifications of the candidates. The voters want to know about their education, their experience, their past record, their civic interests, their cultural interests, their social philosophy, their intellectual honesty, and their motives for seeking public office.

These are the things the voter wants to know about the candidates. These are the issues that ought to determine the outcome of the campaign.

Let us not probe into the creeds and ancestry of Miss Healey, of O'Reilly, Kapstein, and Buonanno.

Young Adults Give Ten Thousand at Initial Gifts

In what was termed by veteran General Jewish Committee officials as "one of the most inspiring campaign meetings ever held," an audience of 100 members of the Young Adults' Division pledged a total of $10,200 to the 1947 GJC campaign at an initial gifts dinner Wednesday evening, Sept. 17, at the Ledgemont Country Club.

Archibald Silverman, GJC president; Alvin A. Sopkin, 1947 campaign chairman; Joseph Galkin, executive director, and Joseph W. Ress, co-chairman of the businessmen's division, who attended the YAD affair, later declared:

"The generous financial response of these young people and their realization of the plight of their Jewish brethren overseas was most inspiring. Their gifts, in many instances, were truly sacrificial. It was a heart-warming occasion to watch these future leaders of our Jewish community in action."

Dramatic Highlights

The meeting was replete with dramatic highlights. Many of the World War II servicemen in the audience pledged their State bonus or terminal leave bonds as contributions. Four young members of the Sopkin family—sons of Alvin A. and Henry Sopkin—pledged a total of $2000 among them.

Miss Claire Ernstof, chairman of the Young Adults' Division, opened the buffet-meeting and introduced Bernard Bell as chairman. Bell and Ronald Sopkin served as co-chairmen of the initial gifts division.

Phillip Bard, artist, writer, and member of the United Jewish Appeal speakers' bureau of New York City, was the principal speaker. Mr. Silverman and Mr. Sopkin also spoke briefly.

Center Reveals Program for Sunday School

Registrations are now being received at the Jewish Community Center for the Center Sunday School which is scheduled to open on Sunday morning, October 5, it was announced this week.

Consistent with the plan adopted last season, progressive teaching techniques will be employed with maximum use being made of motion pictures, dramatics, arts and crafts and informal play, as well as approved text books.

The curriculum will include instruction in Jewish history, customs and ceremonies, choral work and the Hebrew language. Classes will be available from kindergarten through high school. Children as young as four years of age will be accepted for registration.

The teaching staff engaged for the season includes Felice Bernstein, Henry Wenkart, Diane Wolk, Helene Korb, William Sweet, Irwin Marill, Geraldine Segal, Robert Abel and Irene Polikoff.

Special arrangements will again be available for transportation. Additional information may be secured by calling Mr. Browdy at the Center.

Labor Organizations To Observe Succos

Al Harris, stage and radio artist of New York, will be the guest entertainer at the annual Succos celebration of the Poale Zion and the Jewish National Workers' Alliance to be held this Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in Temple Beth-Israel.

Abe Hamlin, N. E. Director of the National Labor Committee, who recently returned from Palestine, will be the guest speaker.

Refreshments will be served. Samuel Black, Nathan Ostrov and Harry Waxman are in charge of arrangements.

Temple Sisterhood To Hear Mrs. Holzman

The Sisterhood of Temple Beth-Israel will meet for the first time this year on Wednesday evening, October 1, at 8 o'clock in the Temple vestry. Mrs. Irving Arnoff, president, will preside.

Mrs. Arthur Holzman, guest of the evening, will present a timely book review. Mrs. Samuel Deutsch will be hostess. She and her committee will serve refreshments.

It has been announced that a Succah, erected for the holiday through the courtesy of Mrs. James Goldman and Mrs. Rosen, will remain standing for the Sisterhood members to enjoy.

WEIZMAN INSTITUTE
JERUSALEM—The "pouring of the roof" of the Weizman Institute here took place recently.

Temple Sisterhood Plans Succos Party

The opening service of the Festival of Succos will be held on Sunday evening, September 28, at 8:10 o'clock with a sermon by Rabbi Israel M. Goldman on "Give and Take". Following the services a Congregational Succah Party and Harvest Festival will be held in the Succah. Mrs. Lester Emers is chairman.

On the first day of Succos, Monday, September 29, services will be held at 9 o'clock, with the Rabbi preaching on "The Jewish Idea of Beauty". On the second day of Succos, Tuesday, September 30, the annual Children's Succah Service and Succah Party will be held. The program is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Klein, and will be presented by Joel Klein and Malcolm Singer. The refreshment committee is headed by Mrs. Benjamin Goldberg.

FDR's death was attributed to various causes, none confirmed. Postmaster General Hannegan (a target for the same killer) says FDR died from hi-blood presh. ... Secretary of Commerce Harriman was quoted in the gazettes as alleging that air travel is "eight times more dangerous than railroads." How-cum the editors neglected to add that Harriman owns railroads?

"I wish," wishes a bore, "you would put something in the paper about the way the American Legion acted like kids!"

Remember when they were only kids and had to act like men?

Your Uncle Sam has started shipping munitions to Peron in plain view at a Hudson river pier. The half-tracks and armored cars are clearly stenciled "Argentina." (Hmf). ... Kirsten Flagstad's booking at the Chicago civic opera house (in November) will be in the role of Isolde—the Nazi party's old heroine? ... A private survey shows that 63 trade journals and mags of national importance have folded since January 1. Because of news-print shortage. Fifteen more expected to perish before New Year's. ... Mrs. Wendell Willkie says her son Phillip will not enter politics for several years—until he has finished law school and traveling.

Why did they put that iron railing around the statue of Father Duffy in Times Square? To keep the poor and homeless from sitting at his feet? The good padre wouldn't have liked it.

Philip LaFollette, former governor of Wisconsin, will be an unofficial campaign manager for Gen. Douglas MacArthur. He served on the general's staff in the Pacific. Young LaFollette (son of the great Midwestern liberal and civil rights champion) has been quietly sounding out sentiment for MacArthur-for-president and chinning with Repubiggles in Washington. ... Senator Taft's great mission in life right now is to stop Tom Dewey from copping the GOPrize. Taft already has kissed his chances ta-ta and knows it.

Growth (By Tom Weatherly)
... There's rain against the window pane. ... There's moan among the eaves. ... The young man finds his first love slain. ... And, oh, how foud he grieves. ... There's salt stain where the spray is tossed. ... There's tear stain on the sea. ... Again the young man's played and lost. ... But weeps less bitterly. ... There's frost atop the new turned earth. ... There's piercing wind and cold. ... The young man's lips are curled in mirth. ... The young man's growing old!

The drop in "angel" money has driven the Messrs. Shubert back into producing. ... When Wall Street closing figures are high, it is easy to get backers for stage-shows, especially musicals, most precarious of ventures. ... A few years ago, there were flourishing agencies as go-betweens, bringing together men with hopes and ideas and men with hopes and dough. ... Theaters were at an unheard-of premium, because productions were fighting, bribing and overbidding to get into New York. ... Prospects for the forthcoming season are the reverse—more theaters than attractions. ... You can pass up a wish to create a show and stay even. ... But you can't afford to keep houses at from $30,000 to $100,000 annual rental, plus taxes and incidentals, dark. ... The Shuberts, who produced hundreds, bowed out; they are returning only because they own so many theaters.
