"Ten Days of Destiny" Close Campaign

Home Honors Mrs. Samuel N. Deutch

At the annual meeting of the Jewish Home for the Aged of Rhode Island Mrs. Samuel N. Deutch, chairman of the administration committee, was honored in recognition of her 20 years service as Chairman of that committee. A resolution was passed giving Mrs. Deutch a rising vote of thanks and appointing her as honorary chairman of the admissions committee for life. Jacob Felder, president, is shown in the above picture, congratulating Mrs. Deutch.

Cranston Center Drive Reaches $30,700

Construction of the proposed new Cranston Jewish Center drew nearer within the past few days as campaign pledges rose to more than $30,000. Announcement of the new total was made at the special emergency meeting of the Cranston Community Club in Legion Hall, Cranston last Friday night. Members of the Club were jubilant as the new figures were announced and the building fund committee charted the course of the campaign, which has a goal of $100,000. Pledge cards were distributed to the members present and plans made for another report meeting at Legion Hall next Monday night. Abel Gurwitz, president of the club, called last Friday's meeting to acquaint the membership at large with the building fund committee's plans. In answer to telegrams, a large enthusiastic group gathered. Following a brief welcome by Mr. Gurwitz, the meeting was turned over to Archie Chaset, chairman of the building fund committee. A call for further pledges and recapitulation of previous contributions brought the new total to $30,700.

Blacher to Direct Home Membership

Announcement was made this week by Jacob I. Felder, president of the Jewish Home for the Aged, that Harry Blacher will head the Membership committee for 1948-1949. Mr. Blacher will appoint five or six captains who in turn will select a number of co-workers for their team. While there may not be an intensive drive of short duration, it is planned to have the membership drive continue throughout the year. It is Mr. Blacher's intention to have meetings of workers from time to time, and he hopes to increase the membership of the Home to about 3,000 during the coming year. In these days of constantly rising operation costs the problem of meeting our obligations in serving all who need us is particularly acute. The budget for the current year will be close to $80,000. The annual membership dues are at present our main source of income. To meet the increasing cost of operation, and in order to serve the 80 old folks at the Home we must enroll every Jewish family as a member of the Home", Mr. Blacher said.

Beth David Synagogue To Install Officers

Installation of officers of the Beth David Congregation will be held Sunday, November 28. A program of prominent speakers, entertainment and refreshments has been arranged by a committee including Max Resnick, chairman; William Bishoff, Irving Broman, Samuel Shienfield, Joe Gladstone, Sam Wallick and William Bard. Rabbi Aaron Goldin of Pawtucket, Rabbi Morris G. Silk, Rabbi Carol Klein and Joseph Schlossberg will be present.

Rabbi Bohnen A Veteran At Working With DP's

By SYD COHEN

For a Jewish Chaplain to achieve prominence of position in the Armed Forces during the war of recent memory was practically an impossibility. In fact, only one rabbi managed to reach as lofty a position as assistant chaplain of an Army division.

That rabbi, Eli A. Bohnen, will be installed as spiritual leader of Temple Emanuel this evening at services which will usher in a four day period of activities in his honor.

While that in itself could be considered a military achievement, Rabbi Bohnen carried the distinction much farther. His work with the wretched DP's who had just been liberated from German control at the infamous camp at Dachau was so outstanding that he was awarded the Bronze Star and the Army commendation ribbon.

It was under Rabbi Bohnen's direction that these same DP's received their first practical lessons in the operation of a democracy.

through an ingenious program of "internal economy" by which the victims of Nazi oppression were paid in food, clothing and other obtainable items for the amount and kind of work they performed in the camps.

Material for Nightmares Two and a half years have passed since Rabbi Bohnen left the DP's in Europe, but the terrible sights he saw there have left an indelible impression on his mind. As he puts it:

"I have enough material for nightmares to last the rest of my life."

Rabbi Bohnen has been in Providence for several months now with Mrs. Bohnen and their two children, Judith, seven, and (Continued on Page 2)

Poale Zion Speaker

BARUCH ZUCKERMAN

The first annual celebration of the Jewish State of Israel will be held Monday, November 29 at the Sheraton-Biltmore, under the auspices of the local Poale Zion. The principal speaker will be Baruch Zuckerman, president of the Labor Zionist Organization of America, who will speak on "The United Nations and the State of Israel." This meeting is open to the public.

All new members recently enrolled in the local branch will be installed at this time.

In charge of the program are Max Berman, chairman, Joseph Biller, Alter Boyman, Harry Chaet, Harry Finkelstein, Nathan Izman, Arthur Korman, Solomon Lightman, Harry Richman, Eli Wein and Isadore Wuraffic.

Intense Activity to Mark Period

A 10-day period of feverish full-scale activity—proclaimed as the "Ten Days of Destiny," from Nov. 26 to Dec. 6—will wind up the 1948 fund-raising drive of the General Jewish Committee of Providence, campaign officials announced this week.

The "Ten Days of Destiny," which begin today, will culminate with a final report luncheon for all workers Monday Noon, Dec. 6 at GJC headquarters, 203 Strand Building.

An emergency report luncheon will, however, be held next Monday Noon, Nov. 29 at GJC offices, at which all outstanding pledge cards must be turned in, covered or uncovered.

Open Until 9 O'clock Campaign headquarters will remain open until 9 o'clock Nov. 29, and workers, who cannot attend the report luncheon, will be expected to stop in before the late evening deadline with all remaining pledge cards in their possession.

All cards not covered will be immediately reassigned to a "Recovery Squad," composed of the campaign's most effective solicitors. These key workers will operate on a day and night basis during the final week of the drive, until every card has been covered in every division of the campaign's organizational set-up.

"Every card must and will be covered," emphasized Alvin A. Sorkin, campaign chairman, and Archibald Silverman, GJC president, in a joint statement this week.

"We are resorting to drastic measures in order that we may tell the United Jewish Appeal our final total truly represents the whole hearted cooperation of every member of our Jewish community in greater Providence.

Healing of Rift Predicted for Zion Groups

NEW YORK—The prospect of an early peace between the United Palestine Appeal and the rival Committee of Contributors and Workers, which grew out of disagreements over UPA policy, was forecast this week by Herman L. Weisman, acting national chairman of UPA.

Weisman's prediction was made as four former presidents of the Zionist Organization of America, members of the executive committee of the Committee for Progressive Zionism, endorsed the program—but not the separate existence—of the Committee of Contributors.

One Issue at Stake The four are Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Louis Lipsky, Judge Louis E. Levinthal and Robert Szold. The program they favor calls for granting Jewish communities throughout the nation equal representation in UPA with that of existing Zionist groups. The Committee of Contributors has charged domination of the appeal by the ZOA.

Negotiations now under way might result in the dissolution of the Committee of Contributors in the event that at least part of its demands are satisfactorily incorporated into future UPA policy.

The future of at least five of the six executives of UPA who resigned over policy remained in doubt. The question of the return of Henry Montor, former UPA executive vice chairman, now a member of the Committee of Contributors, did not arise at negotiations. Nothing could be learned as to the other five who quit UPA but have not as yet joined the committee.

big obstacle. Cards already covered show increases averaging 25 per cent on an overall basis. But, because almost 1500 cards are still outstanding, our campaign total at this time is only slightly in excess of $1,000,000.

"We know that there are hundreds of persons ready to give to this greatest of all charitable causes. Our job, during these next 10 vital days, is to see that every possible donor is covered and urged to increase his gift to the most sacrificial extent possible.

"We Can't Quit!"

"The Jews in Israel aren't quitting. Jews in DP camps aren't quitting. We can't quit! We have too much at stake. Immigration, settlement and development programs in Israel—relief and rehabilitation activities in Europe and North Africa—Americanization and welfare functions in this nation—are all dependent upon the success of the nation-wide United Jewish Appeal.

"It is no exaggeration to say that the future of every Jew in the world is closely tied in with the future of the new Jewish State. And Israel's future, in turn, will be determined by our success in meeting its present emergency needs now!

That is why we, in greater Providence, must work like we never did before during these remaining 'Ten Days of Destiny'. We must give unstintingly of our time, our labor, our effort. It's the responsibility of every member of the General Jewish Committee to see this fight through to the finish!" concluded Sopkin and Silverman.

Rabbi Bohnen

Michael, a year and a half old. The Bohnen family came directly from Buffalo, N. Y., where the Rabbi was spiritual leader of another Temple Emanuel. Aside from his Army service, he served at Buffalo's Emanuel continuously from 1939.

The Rabbi himself is not a native of the United States. He was born in Toronto, Canada, where he was raised and attended schools. He is a graduate of Toronto University, where he majored in semitic languages, including arabic, assyrian, syriac and aramaic.

Following his graduation, Rabbi Bohnen attended the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York City, from which he was ordained as a rabbi four years later—in 1935. An interesting sidelight is that, while no other member of the Bohnen family ever had aspired to the rabbinate, Eli never wanted to be anything else. As he puts it, he can't remember the time when he didn't want to be a rabbi.

The first rabbinical assignment for Rabbi Bohnen came immediately following his ordainment, when he became assistant to Rabbi Max D. Klein at Congregation Adath Jeshurun in Philadelphia.

Succeeded Installing Rabbi

In 1939 came the call from Buffalo, where he succeeded Rabbi Morris Adler, the same Rabbi Adler who will deliver the installation address at tonight's exercises.

It was shortly after he had assumed his duties in Buffalo that Rabbi and Mrs. Bohnen were married. The couple met while she was a student (and a very popular one, says he with a twinkle), at Temple University, where the Rabbi was advisor to Jewish students during his tenure at Congregation Adath Jeshurun. The courtship did not receive its impetus, however, until the future Mrs. Bohnen, a native of Ellenville, N. Y. had graduated from

Installation, Reception, of Rabbi Bohnen

Jacob S. Temkin, chairman of the installation committee, has announced that plans have been completed for the induction of Rabbi Eli A. Bohnen as spiritual leader of Temple Emanuel. Special services will be held at the Temple this evening at 8 o'clock. Rabbi Morris Adler of Detroit, Michigan will deliver the installation address. Samuel Rosen, president of the Temple, will formally introduce Rabbi Bohnen, who will respond to the installation charge.

On Monday evening the Temple will conduct exercises and give a reception in honor of Rabbi and Mrs. Bohnen at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel. The exercises, which will begin at 8:15 o'clock, will include addresses by Governor John O. Pastore; Mayor Dennis J. Roberts; Rev. Earl Hollier Tomlin, executive director of the Rhode Island Council of Churches; Dr. Carl Woodward, president of Rhode Island State College; Judge Philip C. Joslin; Samuel Rosen, president of the Temple, and Rabbi Bohnen. Rabbi Aaron Goldin, president of the Rabbinical Association of Rhode Island, will deliver the invocation. Jacob S. Temkin will preside.

Beth El Bowling

By JULES P. GOLDSMITH

The interest in the bowling league seems to be at an all-time high this year, probably reflecting a large increase in the Brotherhood membership rolls. In fact, the league has overflowed the top floor of the Casino Alleys, and two additional teams had to be formed, so that one match each week will be decided downstairs. There are now 16 regular teams, of 6 men each.

With the season well under way, it's about time to report how the boys are doing, which, in fact, isn't at all bad. There are 17 men with averages of 100 or better, Sam Gordon showing his heels to everyone again with a 115 average. Fifty four men are in the 90-100 group.

In team standings, Perry Shatkin, Phil Shaolson, and Murry Trinkle captain the 1-2-3 teams, although Saul Lerman's team has the highest average pinfall—580. E. Goldenberg's 140 stands as high single, so far; Al Rosen's team's 642 is a team single that will be hard to beat.

A new low in bowling efficiency was hit by Charlie Silverman's wildcats when they rolled a 6-man game of 461, exactly one spare marking the sheet. But, the boys bounced back quickly and are in high gear again.

Home Residents

Donate to GJC

The 79 residents of the Jewish Home for the Aged contributed a total of $125.50 to the 1948 "Year of Destiny" GJC campaign, it was revealed this week.

In an accompanying letter to GJC headquarters, the residents of the Home pointed out:

"The peace and security that is ours during the remaining years of our lives is still a hoped-for dream on the part of hundreds of thousands of DP inmates. Our total contribution to the General Jewish Committee in this crucial campaign may be small in amount—but so, also, are our resources. Nevertheless, our collective gift represents almost a 60 per cent increase over that of last year.

"We pray that every Jew in America will do his part in answering the call of those unfortunate who are ill and poverty-stricken."

Triple Tie Exists In Football League

A triple tie for first place exists in the Herald Touch Football League this week as the result of Sunday's game between the Blazers and the Comets. The Comets pulled themselves into a tie by downing the previously unbeaten Blazers 19-6 while the Eatons took advantage of the Comets' generosity by defeating the Olympics 27-7 to draw even with the other leaders.

The Eatons, certain of a forfeit win this week against the defunct Dukes, now are sure of a playoff berth. The Comets and Blazers both will be heavily favored to win their games against the Smokies and Olympics, respectively.

This Sunday's schedule, which will wind up the regular season, finds the Blazers meeting the Olympics at Hope Field and the Comets battling the Smokies at Mt. Pleasant Field. Next Sunday, the two playoff contestants will meet at Mt. Pleasant for the league championship.

TEAM	Won	Lost
Blazers	3	1
Eatons	3	1
Comets	3	1
Olympics	2	2
Smokies	1	3
Dukes	0	4

It looks like the layoff due to the Armistice Day holiday did the gals no good. Most scores were considerably lower than on previous nights. Ann Steingold's 101 was high single, while Estelle Cohen's 274 was high for three strings.

The Steingolds took four points from the Hochmans and high team three with 1249. Edith Hochman is trying desperately to keep her team in the running, but the fact that she has not been able to have a full team for any one night has hurt considerably. Ruth Roffer gave her the most help while showing a great improvement over previous weeks.

The marriage of Miss Lorraine Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward I. Rose of Cole Avenue, to David Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Allen of Taylor Street, took place Thursday evening, November 11, at Temple Emanuel. Rabbi Eli A. Bohnen officiated at the double-ring candle-light ceremony, assisted by Cantor Jacob Hohenemser. The soloist was Mrs. Sidney Factor, accompanied at the organ by Mr. Arthur Einstein.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in an antique ivory satin gown, en train, trimmed with pearls and rhinestones. Her finger-tip veil fell from a pearl headdress. She carried a bible with white orchids and streamers of stephanotis.

Miss Sally Shuster, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor, chose a gown of gold taffeta and carried a bouquet of green pompoms and yellow roses.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Rudy Schneider, sister of the bride, who chose a bronze lame gown covered with bronze Chantilly lace and matching stole. She carried aqua gardenias and bronze orchids and wore a headdress of gardenias and orchids.

Sylvia Schwartz, maid of honor, wore a gown of Nile green taffeta, with a full hoop skirt and fitted bodice. She carried yellow talisman roses and bronze gardenias and wore a matching headdress.

Letterhead Committees

All of us have wondered at one time or another at the lists of names on letterheads and in newspaper releases which identify prominent persons as sponsors or committee members of dubious and self-starter projects.

Few sane persons would willingly sign their names to a blank check and hand it to a total stranger; why then is it that so many people of stature and repute are so profligate with their reputations that they lend the dignity of their names to organizations about whose antecedents, purposes and activities they know little or nothing?

Unquestionably, many are inspired by good motives, and permit use of their names as "sponsors" out of a commendable desire to be of aid.

The unpleasant fact remains, however, that the INDISCRIMINATE granting of permission to organizations for use of one's good name ultimately does violence to worth-while causes.

The reading public, grown cynical over shabby projects theoretically sponsored by imposing "letterhead committees," is increasingly less likely to be favorably impressed by meritorious community and national efforts to which all of us are proud to lend our names.

The Need for Truthful Reports

Keeping pace with the success of Israeli troops in the field, as well as with the continuing organization of the Jewish state as a functioning democracy, adversaries of Israel propagandize ceaselessly.

One of their most effective devices has been to charge the Jewish state with permitting or encouraging desecration of Christian and Moslem holy places. For example, the Archbishop of York—and from this vantage point we do not know whether he is propagandist or propagandized—consistently uses the House of Commons as a sounding board to warn the world that Jewish rule poses the threat of suppression or destruction of Christian and Moslem institutions in the Holy Land.

For this reason, reports such as RELIGIOUS FREEDOM IN NAZARETH, written for the New York HERALD TRIBUNE by Ruth Gruber, deserve the widest circulation.

Miss Gruber questioned the vicar of all Galilee, Monseigneur Antoine Vergani, an Italian-born priest who has lived in Palestine for 38 years. He informed her that the Israelis had not molested a single church or holy place, and that in all Galilee, "across which I travel constantly, there has been only one small incident. An Israeli soldier took down a cross on the Mount of the Beatitudes in Capernaum. As soon as we reported it to the army, the soldier was punished immediately."

Accurate reports should help disclose not only the nature of a good many current lies about Israel, but also the identity and purposes of those who spread them.

"One Man's Opinion"

If you should build a house

By BERNARD SEGAL

The other day, while visiting my friend Harry Beck, the conversation turned as usual on life and manners in the old country. Since we are practically Landsleit, and our backgrounds during childhood and the 'teen years were very much alike, we always find common ground for reminiscences. In the course of the evening, Mr. Beck remarked that his grandfather's house in Horodok was built in accordance with Jewish Law. When I showed surprise at this statement, he explained that the house had four doors on all four sides with four little porticos.

This sent me hurrying to the shelves of the Beth El library where one can browse to his heart's content among volumes on Judaism in Hebrew, Yiddish, and English. I looked up every reference I could find on the art of building a house in the Jewish tradition. I soon realized that I was deplorably ignorant. Jewish tradition regulates not only personal conduct, but also the architecture of dwellings.

Since it is quite possible that what was news to me will also be news to many of you, and what fascinated me will also prove interesting to you, I shall relate a few things I learned about the art of building a Jewish house.

The first and foremost reference is in the Books of Moses, the source of all law. It goes thus:

"When thou buildest a new house, then thou shalt make a parapet for thy roof, that thou bring not blood upon thy house, if any man fall from thence".

So we have the first mark of a Jewish house. A nice little railing all around the top of the house, made of boards, stone, or wrought iron. It is made primarily for the protection of workers repairing the roof. But it can also serve as a protection for the children playing on the flat roof. The parapet has many ornamental possibilities. Also very handy to lean over and peak at the neighbor's backyard.

Here are some architectural hints from the Talmud,

1. Build your house with lumber from trees that do not bear fruit, such as cedar and cypress. This, I suppose, is a conservation measure, or the timber of non-fruit-bearing trees might be better for building. Any expert opinion on the matter?

2. Make your windows narrow from the outside and wide inside, so that light may spread out in a wide area of the house.

3. Make your house wide open. Make in it four openings to the four winds. A door to the East, a door to the West, one to the North, and one to the South, so that the house can be entered from all sides. Thus the poor who come to find rest and to be fed in your house do not have to circle the building until they find an entrance.

4. Do not make your gates too stout, because you might not hear when the poor knock at your door. Let the poor be like your own house-hold, and not like strangers, in your eyes.

5. Do not spare any effort to make your house and the furniture in it as lovely as possible, because a pleasant home and beautiful things in the house bring peace of mind to a man. It is better, therefore, that you cut down on your eats and drinks and add on to the improvement of your house.

6. And do not raise a mean dog in your house unless it is tied to a leash, otherwise people will avoid your house.

This last one, though of no architectural significance, meets with my whole hearted approval. I have been scared away from many a nice house by a growling dog.

So, if you are about to build a new house, you are welcome to use these hints free of charge. On the other hand you might want to consult an architect. No hard feelings at all.

Play Presented Before 1000

Approximately 1000 persons attended the Thrift Supper and three-act play at West Senior High School sponsored by the Pawtucket-Central Falls Chapter of Senior Hadassah last Saturday evening. The play, "Stage Door", was presented after the supper by the Center Players, directed by Gerald Oster.

In charge of the affair were Mrs. Max Alperin, general chairman, Mrs. William Fellner, co-chairman, and Mrs. Philip Hak, supper committee chairman. The proceeds will benefit the Child Welfare Fund.

SYD COHEN:

The Curse Of the Weekly

About a month ago, my column schedule called for a piece on the National League—a discussion on the merits of the various managers and my choice as the best manager of the year. As it happened, I thought that accolade belonged to Billy Meyer of Pittsburgh. A few days before the column was to be written, the Associated Press came out with its annual survey and named Meyer as the sportswriters' choice for top honors.

Dismayed at being beaten to the punch, and afraid that I might be called a copycat, I dropped the idea for my column and substituted something else, even though I thought I had some pretty good ideas.

Last week's column about the lack of a stadium in Providence was thought of several days in advance and was written on Sunday—FIVE FULL DAYS BEFORE THE HERALD REACHED ITS READERS. Imagine my chagrin, then, to read the Bulletin on Wednesday, two days BEFORE this paper came out, and discover that Frank Lanning had the same idea I did, and that he beat me to the punch with an excellent cartoon on the same subject!

That's how it is with a weekly. And that is the reason why I dread to read the daily papers when I have written on a general subject. The same thing happened to me several times when I wrote a sports column for another newspaper; and I can tell you from sad experience that it is a terrible feeling to get an idea and develop it ahead of anyone else—and then see it blow up in your face because your stuff is published only once a week, while the daily writer can be several days behind you in getting the idea, and yet beat you to the public with it.

The Herald's deadline is usually Tuesday. Because of the unseen (to the public) problems of production when you print four pages at a time, instead of the entire paper, as does the daily press, all columns and articles must be written far ahead of deadline and set into type, so that at the last minute there won't be an unholy rush to get everything done.

So much for my wounded feelings. As long as I had to be beaten to the punch, I am delighted it was on that particular subject and by one of the finest cartoonists in the nation, who commands a large reading audience and puts more thought into his work than most columnists.

I hope something may be done about it. Toward that end, I have sent a copy of my column to Lanning and will try to get something started about a stadium at the next meeting of Words Unlimited, the local sportswriters and sportscasters' association.

Regret, not Criticism

The following is written in regret, not criticism. The manner in which an experienced coach handles his team, and the style he uses, are his own prerogative and that of the men who pay his salary. So this is no denunciation of Ken Loeffler's handling of the Steam Rollers.

Yet, I wonder how many local basketball fans must join me in the wistful wish that the team employed a style that would permit Ernie Calverley to play like the Calverley of old, with the thrilling long, impossible shots, the breathtaking wizardry and the astute field generalship that made him the toast of the nation so few years back.

Ernie doesn't score much—or play much—now and apparently is being eased out of the Rollers' picture in favor of a taller man. If he has become morose and despondent over the events of the past season and a fraction, I find it hard to blame him, even though we know the team comes first, etc.

There is no glamor or thrill now to seeing the strictly business-like play of the Rollers and most other teams. The paying public should be entitled to witness the famed gallop of the light Calverley. If Ernie is traded, I hope it is to some club that makes use of his scoring ability.

I would view any such trade with regret.

Kent Lodge Has 10th Anniversary

The tenth anniversary of Kent Lodge and Chapter, B'nai B'rith was celebrated on Wednesday evening, November 10 at Temple Ahavath Sholom in Warwick. Carl Cushner, master in chancery of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and a past president of Haym Solomon Lodge, Boston, was principal speaker.

During the program, the origin and formation of the lodge and chapter during the first decade of its existence was traced by Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Silverman. Other speakers were Joseph M. TRADEMARKED COAL?

When you find a razor blade that satisfies, you ask for that same brand every time—and depend on the trademark to protect you against substitution. Why not try the "trademark way" when buying coal?

When you call us for red trademarked Famous Reading Anthracite, you get a better Pennsylvania anthracite. Then notice how long a ton lasts... and how little attention it requires. Once you've tried it you'll want it again. And the tiny red trademark spots—put right on the coal—will be your assurance that you're getting what you ask for.

Around Town

With ARLENE SUMMER

Very Special

Lois Jagolinzer is wearing a small, shining object over her heart that means a lot more to her than any ordinary piece of jewelry. It's a fraternity pin belonging to Bert Fain.

Dinner Party

The Lou Mirman's gave a dinner party Saturday night in honor of the 15th wedding anniversary of the Max Goldens. The invitations were cleverly written in verse. Guests raved about the lobster entree, too!

Roses for the Bride

Mrs. Dexter Cohen (formerly Lois Shatkin) received a corsage of roses when she and her new husband went to the Cabana Saturday night. The management offered the corsage to the couple married for the shortest time. Lois and Dexter took the prize—married less than six weeks.

Thanksgiving Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Hurwitz were married last November 27, which was Thanksgiving day. Yesterday wasn't the 27th, but it was Thanksgiving, so the Hurwitzs celebrated their anniversary then.

It's No Surprise

Harold Jacober and Gladys Talan have been "that way" about each other for a long time. Harold, now in the army, came home last Saturday at 6 in the morning and two hours later was ringing Gladys' doorbell with an engagement ring in his hand.

Home Again

Thanksgiving means vacation time to students everywhere. Betsy and Stelli Goldsmith have returned from the University of Syracuse to spend the holiday with their family.

Here Comes the Groom

A couple of weeks ago it looked as if Bruce Jacober would hop down the aisle on December 5, the day he'll wed Joan Rosenfield. Bruce hurt his leg while playing football and has been walking around with the aid of crutches. The doctor has assured him, though, that by December 5 he'll be able to skip down the aisle.

Birthdays

It's a double celebration for the Sackett family. November 28 is the birthday of Barbara Sackett, and it's also the day niece Susan Sackett will be two years old.

Pleasant Trip

When Mrs. Abe Percelay and Mrs. Esther Pritsker went to Atlantic City for the Temple Sisterhood Convention, they were surprised and happy to meet an old friend, Mrs. Irving Disraelly, who was formerly Yvette Brenner of Providence. Mrs. Disraelly is president of the Temple Sisterhood in Binghamton, New York, where she is now living.

From Atlantic City, Mrs. Percelay and Mrs. Pritsker went to Baltimore where they planned to meet the Haskell Franks, and Alex Rimpler's and Abe Percelay.

Seventh Anniversary

The Harold Homonoffs entertained for the Reuben Cohens Sunday night. The Cohens were celebrating their seventh wedding anniversary.

Girl Scouts

Hold Investiture

A traditional candle-lighting investiture was held by Girl Scout Troop 17, Monday, November 22, at the home of their leader, Mrs. Murray Andelman. Miss Carol Stanzler was invested and presented with a Girl Scout pin.

Refreshments were served by the Misses Sandra Rubin and Dianne Huddish, and entertainment was presented.

In charge of the program were the Misses Merrel Wurafitic, Lois Andelman, Sheila Andelman, Harie Ross and Carol Stanzler, assisted by Mrs. Martin Ross, co-leader.

The annual Thanksgiving Dinner Dance sponsored by the Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel will be held tomorrow evening at the Narragansett Hotel. A cocktail hour, starting at 7 o'clock will precede the dance.

Two orchestras will furnish the music for continuous dancing from 8 to 1 o'clock—Carl Tatz in the ballroom, and a rumba orchestra in the parlors.

The executive committee includes Mesdames Albert Rosen, chairman; Arthur Kaplan, reservations, and Ephraim Feingold, treasurer.

Emanuel Bowling

By JACK PLATKIN
Dick Chase's Browns hold the record for the new high single with a score of 555, thanks to the good throwing of fellows like Morris Waldman, Goralnick, Nate Weiss and Harry Chase. The previous high of 551 was set by Babe Chase's Tigers.
On October 25 there were 31 bowlers with an average of 100 or better, but at this writing the number had dwindled to 25. Here's hoping it goes no lower. We have to get the Herald Bowling Cup back.
The Temple Emanuel Ladies' Auxiliary bowlers are really serious about their bowling, putting aside everything in order to be present every bowling night. I might add that several of these ladies could compete with the men upstairs.

Olympic Bowling

By SIDNEY GREEN

"Waltz me around again, Willie" was the theme song this week as the boys started on the second lap of our four lap season. The Avens pulled the upset of the night by taking 4 points from the Jacobsons. After the first two strings ended in ties, the Avens took the third string and so earned four points. The Levines were finally halted and the Rodyn five proved to be the boys to do it as they took three points with one particularly impressive high single string of 582.

Haskell Frank took high single honors with 148. And the Gordons continued their torrid pace with a high three of 1654, a new record. Watching Lennie Chernack bowl convinced me that he has more sweeping curves than Betty Grable, and if you've never seen a short-arm bowler, drop in and see Moish Cofman sometime.
