Hillel to Celebrate "Silver Jubilee Week"

RABBI NATHAN ROSEN

The "Silver Jubilee Week" of the Rhode Island B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations, March 20-27, will feature the interpretive dance artists, Delakova and Berk; "Hillel Nite"; the "Silver Jubilee Ball", and a brunch in honor of Hillel parents. The festivities are in celebration of Hillel's 25th anniversary in America and its second birthday on Rhode Island campuses.

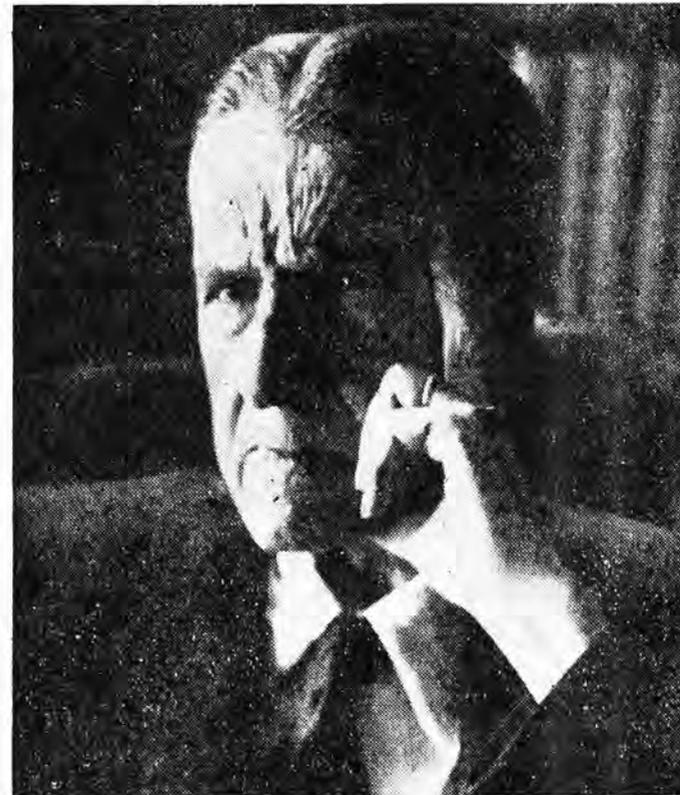

Katya Delakova and Fred Berk, the only dance team in America devoted to the Jewish Dance, will return in a new program Tuesday, March 22, at 8 o'clock in Alumnae Hall, Pembroke. The public is invited free of charge to the concert which is made possible by the Hillel Hassenfeld Memorial Fund. B'nai B'rith men and women will be present as Hillel's guests of honor.

Hillelites will in turn be feted by a B'nai B'rith "Hillel Nite" Wednesday, March 23, at 8:00 o'clock at Plantations Auditorium. Rabbi Arthur J. Lelyveld, national director of the Hillel Foundations, will be guest speaker on the program which will also include "A Ballad for Hillel" to be sung by the Hillel choral society; Rabbi Nathan N. Rosen, Director of the Rhode Island Hillel Foundations, and Bert Bernhardt, president of

Einstein Elected To Harmony Societies

Wise to Defend Melishes in Sermon

NEW YORK—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, who was seventy-five yesterday discussed freedom of the pulpit and Zionism, two major themes in his forthcoming autobiography.

In his apartment the tall, thin theologian was at work on his sermon at the Free Synagogue, which he founded in 1907. His subject will be "The Melish Case and the Cause of Pulpit Freedom."

"I will defend the Melishes' right to speak as they do," Dr. Wise said. "Dr. Melish is doing what one minister of religion can to avoid or avert the greatest tragedy in human history, the third world war."

In his own refusal to accept the rabbinate of Temple Emanu-El in 1907 because he would have been "subject to and under the control of the board of trustees of the congregation," Dr. Wise found a parallel to the case of Dr. John Howard Melish. Dr. Melish's ouster as rector of the Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church in Brooklyn had been voted by nine members of the vestry and ordered by the Right Rev. James Pernet De Wolfe, Bishop of Long Island.

"At that time," Dr. Wise recalled, "I said that I must remain a free man in the pulpit. Nothing gives a minister of religion power except freedom, his inalienable dower and right."

Schwartz Gives Centerland $1000

Harry A. Schwartz of 281 Rochambeau Avenue has given to Camp Centerland, Country Day Camp of the Jewish Community Center, a gift of $1000, according to Milton Kay, chairman of the Center Camp Committee. The Center has under consideration at the present time several urgently needed construction projects at Camp, notably a lodge and shelter for the junior camp of 4 and 5 year olds, bath houses, and a porch addition to the recreation hall. Mr. Schwartz's timely gift will be used toward one of these projects, Mr. Kay has stated.

Bill to Ban Bias Voted in N. J. Senate

TRENTON—The State Senate this week adopted a civil-rights law making racial and religious discrimination in employment, public admissions and education subject to a maximum fine of $500, a jail term of one year, or both.

The legislation, backed by more than fifty organizations in New Jersey, was sponsored by Assemblywoman Grace M. Freeman, Republican, of Essex County. It had passed the Assembly Feb. 7, but was amended in the Senate before adoption there. The amendments provide for special advisory committees in each municipality to report violations to the State Commissioner of Education, who is the enforcing agent.

Israeli Vessel Dedicated in N. Y.

NEW YORK—The Haifa, first trans-Atlantic cargo ship in the Israeli merchant marine, was dedicated this week at ceremonies at the vessel's berth.

The ceremonies were attended by some 500 civic, political and shipping leaders who applauded predictions made by every speaker that the Haifa will be followed by many other ships flying the Israeli flag in trans-Atlantic shipping lanes. The Haifa is the former Canadian Liberty ship Fort Yukon, purchased by the Israel-America Line of Haifa as the beginning of the new nation's merchant fleet.

Plans Completed For Institute Meeting To Feature Hillel Activities

Rabbi Lelyveld To Address Lodge Wednesday At Hillel Silver Jubilee

The first B'nai B'rith Institute meeting to be held in the Rhode Island-Southern Massachusetts zone is now definitely scheduled for April 27, 1949 and will be held at Hope High School, Providence, starting at 8 P. M.

The Institute idea is a new one with B'nai B'rith and it is designed to give newly elected officers, board members and committee chairmen a better idea of how to perform their duties with a minimum of effort and at the same time accomplish more and better things.

Representatives of all the lodges and chapters in the zone will be present. The entire assembly will meet in the auditorium of Hope High for a short resume of what the Institute will accomplish after which the group will divide into 12 sessions—one for each of the various officers or committee chairmen.

Among the well known personalities who will preside at the various sessions will be Oscar Goldstein, Mrs. Bess Burstein, Herb Levy, Louis Herman, Bertram L. Bernhardt, Al Blazar, Joe Finkle and A. B. Kapplin.

Cooperating with the local committee in making the arrangements for the affair are the B'nai B'rith Young Women, who will help with registration and keep records on the various sessions.

The March meeting of Roger Williams Lodge will be held on Wednesday, March 23, 1949, at Plantations Auditorium, starting at 8 o'clock. A most interesting evening has been planned for those who attend and will feature a stirring address by Rabbi Arthur J. Lelyveld, National Director of the Hillel Foundation.

The background for this meeting can actually be traced to a day twenty-five years ago, when the first Hillel Foundation was established on the campus of the University of Illinois by a Christian educator, Dr. Edward C. Baldwin and a self-sacrificing young Rabbi, Benjamin Frankel. It is this event that the meeting will celebrate.

Since that day, the Hillel idea has spread to almost 200 college campuses all over the world. These Hillel units, each headed by a trained rabbi or professional youth leader, serve as cultural, religious and social welfare centers and reach thousands of Jewish college men and women with a program designed to inspire them with an awakened interest in and respect for Jewish culture and traditions and to prepare them to take their place in the fabric of communal leadership. During most of this 25 year period, Hillel has been under the guidance of B'nai B'rith.

RABBI A. J. LEYVELD

It was not until 1947, however, that a Hillel Foundation was established on the campus of Brown University. During the term of President E. Max Weiss, several years of planning came to fruition and local B'nai B'rith members can now see Hillel in action.

Rabbi Nathan N. Rosen was chosen as director of the local Hillel Foundation, and it wasn't long before students at Bryant College and R. I. State College were clamoring for Hillel activities. They are now a part of the program in Rhode Island.

To show a few of the many projects which occupy much of the spare time of these students, the meeting will also feature the local Hillel choral and dramatic groups. Rabbi Rosen will tell about his work since assuming the local directorship and Rabbi Lelyveld will tell the story from the national level.

Several hundred students have signified their intentions of being present and from any one of them, B'nai B'rith members can learn at first hand, just what Hillel has done.

Following the formal meeting there will be dancing, with music being supplied by Al and Irving Rosen's Orchestra.

ADL Briefs

Citizens of Florida these days are more than a little fed up with the Ku Klux Klan.

In the wake of a hooded motorcade which passed through the streets of capitol city Tallahassee, an indignant city commission unanimously adopted the first anti-Klan ordinance of its kind—outlawing masked parades, meetings and demonstrations. Miami's city commission also reacted a few days later by passing unanimously on the first reading an emergency measure which contains anti-mask provisions and also outlaws cross-burning on private property.

Support for all these ordinances came from local veterans' organi-

The Story of Rabbi Lelyveld

Rabbi Arthur J. Lelyveld of New York City, National Director of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation, who will speak at our March 23rd meeting is well-known in Jewish communal and educational circles throughout the country.

Formerly Rabbi of Temple Israel in Omaha, Nebraska, Rabbi Lelyveld was called to serve as Executive Director and National Vice-Chairman of the Committee on Unity for Palestine of the Zionist Organization of America. In that post he travelled to every State of the Union and directed a nationwide program of education and interpretation of the idea of a Jewish State. In Omaha he headed the Industrial Relations Committee of the Omaha Urban League was chairman of the Omaha Fair Employment Practice Council and served as Public Panel Chairman for the War Labor Board. He is a member of the Commission on Justice and Peace of the Central Conference of American Rabbis.

A founder of the National Federation of Temple Youth and an honorary member of the National Board of that organization, he was at one time editor of "The Youth Leader", published by the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, and is a member of the Executive Committee of the American Zionist Youth Commission.

A native of New York City, Rabbi Lelyveld attended Columbia University where he received his Bachelor of Arts Degree and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in 1933. Continuing his studies at the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati, he was ordained as Rabbi and received the degree of M.H.L. in 1939.

Rabbi Lelyveld came to Hillel as Associate National Director in 1946 and succeeded Dr. A. L. Sachar in the National Directorship on January 1, 1948. A frequent contributor to the Jewish periodic press, he is the author of several articles in the Universal Jewish Encyclopedia.

zations, churches and civic groups and ADL's Florida regional office.

The attitude of these organizations was aptly and tersely expressed by Governor Fuller Warren, who called the Klan a group of "covered cowards" hooded hoodlums and jerks" and said he would ask that state legislature to outlaw the Ku Kluxers and "other such terrorist organizations." He complained that the state had no law which would prevent a "mob of potential murderers from parading in Florida."

In contrast with Florida is the action of the Georgia state legislature which tabled indefinitely an anti-mask bill. Typical of the op-

Although it has been mentioned in this column before, it is only proper that we mention Hillel again at this time.

The occasion of the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the founding of Hillel, is a time for some reflection on the work which has been accomplished by the tireless efforts of B'nai B'rith men and women.

Today the Hillel Foundation is nationally recognized as the best equipped, by experience and resources, to carry the responsibility for Jewish students service, and most of the other groups who have been experimenting in the field have withdrawn.

No other fact speaks so eloquently for the leadership of Hillel, now under the guidance of Rabbi Lelyveld, who succeeded Dr. Abram L. Sachar. These two men have inspired the membership of B'nai B'rith to the point where it is more than just willing to work. In many cases they have acted on their own and accomplished many things for Hillel.

It was so, here in Rhode Island. The leadership gave the initial spark and the local lodges and chapters supplied the needed energy and financial support, to insure Hillel's continuance. There is rarely a week passes that some group doesn't participate in some Hillel activity or program.

As head of Roger Williams Lodge, I feel proud of what these members are doing and I know that when I promise that Hillel will continue to get the support it needs, I'll not be disappointed.

Congratulations to Hillel on 25 years of service. Roger Williams Lodge pledges anew, its determination to advance the ideals on which it was founded.

The Gordons really re-enacted the almost forgotten Black Sox scandal in their match against the front-running Rodyn five by dropping four very important points—important, that is, to the Levines and the Cohens. Capt.
Gordon's alibi is that he's been up every nite with the new addition, but ALL the others couldn't have been keeping him company.

The Avens finally stopped the on-rushing Schwartzes by taking two points, while the Lobels lost 3-1 to the Jacobsons. Only two men were available at the start so the Jacobson subs included the Misses Kaplan and Carlin, and
Mrs. Jacobson ... the all-important fight for second place ended in a stalemate as the Cohens and Levines split.

The Rodyns took HT3 honors with 1539 and the Avens' 539 was tops for team single. Misch Satloff's total pinfall of 347 was high for the nite and Reeve Zatlloff and Winn shared high single honors with 128. Other good scores included J. Hochman—124, S. Hochman—123, Rodyn—119, H. Cohen

Dear Rabbi Gordon:

I am proud to learn that within the borders of our State, The Providence Hebrew Day School, a school dedicated to Jewish learning, is making such fine progress. In our great country where freedom of conscience and worship is a cardinal principle, the inculcation of religious traditions provides a high and indispensable service to life on the American scene. This Day School, by providing instruction in those subjects which have given humanity its rules of civilization in addition to the daily secular work, assures our nation of a group of fine citizens and able leaders.

I take this opportunity to compliment you on the contribution which you, as a religious and educational leader, are making towards the betterment of our community through the medium of this splendid institution.

Day School City-Wide Drive Sunday

High point of the one week drive on behalf of the Providence Hebrew Day School will be a breakfast rally to be held at the school building, 151 Waterman Street on Sunday, March 20 at 9:30 o'clock. Archie Smith, president of the school, will preside and describe the plans for a city-wide solicitation which will take place all day. The current drive was opened at a dinner meeting sponsored by Max L. Grant at the Narragansett Hotel last Wednesday. Those present listened to Rabbi Herschel Schachter speak on the philosophy of the Day School movement and its position and influence on the American scene. Rabbi James I. Gordon, principal of the Providence Hebrew Day School, spoke briefly on the accomplishments of the local school.

A large audience, at a public meeting held later in the evening, heard Rabbi Schachter emphasize the current need for Day Schools in every large Jewish Community and urged the entire community to spare no effort in making the current drive a great success.

Letters from Governor John O. Pastore and Mayor Dennis J. Roberts lauding the efforts of the school and praising its accomplishments on the educational scene, were received by Rabbi Gordon last week.

Gabrilowitz Family Meets Tuesday

The Purim celebration of the Gabrilowitz Family Circle will be held Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis D. Gleckman of 45 Mulberry Street. Bill Kloner is in charge of the program. Arrangements for the evening were made at the last meeting of the Circle, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Garfinkle of 237 Willard Avenue.

Beth Israel Bowling

By SAUL HODOSH

Two weeks ago I neglected to mention a rather outstanding sheet turned in by Howie Nelson's Dartmouth team when they hit season's high team three with 1889. While I must commend this score, it is rather a bitter pill to take as it was recorded against Iz Krasnoff's Cornell team of which I am one of the more important members.

This past week, Sam Segal snapped out of the doldrums and took high three with 320, followed by Oscar Dressler with 312, with Marshall Erenkrantz 311. High single went to Doc Siegal whose name I am very happy to mention for the sake of assuring his wife that he does bowl on Tuesday nights. Jack Epstein and Sam Segal both turned in good strings of 117 and 114 respectively.

Emanuel Bowling

By JACK PLATKIN

The Tigers, captained by Baby Chase and with bowlers such as M. Weinberg, Mike Miller, Babe Silverman and Joe Primack, are sure worth their weight in wildcats. Joe had the Athletics number last Monday night. However, with competition like Dave Ettine, Abe Press, Blackman, Albert Chase and Frank Goldstein coming up, they've got a tough schedule. But I'll add—Good luck to the young fellows and more power to the aged ones.

Irving Chase almost took off that high single with a neat 146, and 348 for three. Zucker had a good single of 130, and 342 for three. Other good threes were Blackman 338, Al Chase 329, Ross 322, Press 331, and Lang 328. Sam Gordon and Mel Paynor chipped in with their usual good strings.

Quite a few of the boys will be in attendance at the testimonial dinner for Leo "Radio" Miller next Wednesday at the Narragansett.

And Happy Birthday to that aged but able captain of the Athletics, Morris Kramer.

Opening the Way to Peace

The agreement made at Rhodes Friday for a "complete and enduring" cease-fire pact between Israel and Transjordan marks a further step toward the consolidation by Tel Aviv of its position. It stands to reason that the truces between Israel and its two most important Arab neighbors tend to open the way to definite peace pacts. The success of the current negotiations constitutes a tribute to the work of Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Acting United Nations Mediator for Palestine.

That the negotiators at Rhodes plan to go ahead in an effort to settle pending disputes was indicated when the Israelis presented demands for what they call their rights in Jerusalem. The representatives of Transjordan will make counter-proposals. It is recognized that accord between Israel and Transjordan on the future of Jerusalem would mark an important step toward a definite settlement of the status of the new state. It is possible that the reported desire of King Abdullah to take over that part of Palestine which is not incorporated in Israel may play a role in the discussions concerning Jerusalem.

It is, all in all, the general expectation that truces will be made between Israel and all of the Arab states and that when that has been accomplished the plans can be laid for general negotiations to set up the boundaries of the new state in treaty form.

Tel Aviv, largely through its own military effort and with considerable support from abroad, has accomplished much since the U. N. Assembly resolution. Out of all the plans and out of the present situation representing the result of Israel's fighting, a final settlement seems now on the way.

There appears no great obstacle in the north, where the differences between Israel and Lebanon and Syria are not fundamental. As for the southern boundaries of Israel, most observers believe they will follow along the lines of the truce arrangement with Egypt, allowing for a reasonable solution of the Elath dispute. There would remain to be settled, of course, the status of Jerusalem, with respect to which numerous suggestions, including a U. N. regime, have been made. It constitutes perhaps the most difficult of Israel's problems.

Complete Plans for Center Enrollment

The 1949 Center Membership Enrollment took definite shape last Sunday when some 45 captains and division heads assembled at the Wayland Manor for an organizational breakfast.

Under the chairmanship of J. I. Cohen a plan was completed to recruit 400 workers during this week. Some 1800 prospects in special divisions by occupation will be covered in the week of March 27. On Sunday, April 3rd, which has been designated as "C-Day", Center Membership Day, the entire enrollment force will assemble at the Center at 9 o'clock for breakfast and a send-off for quick coverage of some 2200 prospects—to be completed on the morning of that day.

Several speakers highlighted the meeting last Sunday. Raymond G. Franks, Center President, declared that the Center was at a turning point in its history. Bertram L. Bernhardt stated that it was essential to raise $15000.00 this year from membership dues in order to finance the big program planned. Saul E. R. Feitberg pointed out that the Center was for all the people in the community and therefore deserved the support of all. He emphasized the service of the Center to youth and children and concluded with the statement that "your child and my child are the concern not alone of our respective families but of the community as a whole". Joseph Ress and Mrs. Bertram Bernhardt informed the group about the management of one-day campaigns as they had learned about them from the General Jewish Committee campaign last year.

"One Man's Opinion"

Made in Israel

By BERNARD SEGAL

The Hebrew dailies in Israel, and there are twenty of them, are fond of featuring little bits of wit and humor sent in by readers. Mothers write in of the wisdom of their children. Teachers jot down spontaneous quips of their pupils. Most of them revolve around some turn of a phrase or twist of a word, and they lose their meaning in translation.

But I have here a few that are based on recent events in Israel, and they are characteristic of the mood of the people in the young State.

U. S. A.

An American Jew visiting Jerusalem was delighted to see a jeep with the letters U.S.A.

"Ah, good old Uncle Sam. I knew that our America will give you a hand. Even jeeps they sent you from U.S.A."

A native dampened the enthusiasm of the Yankee by remarking:

"This is not the same U.S.A. you are thinking of. These three letters mean Unzer Shtikel Arbet". (In Yiddish it means "our own gadget".)

Either too Big or too Little.

Six year old David, on seeing his father and uncle enlisting in the army, complained to his mother:

"Yesterday when I cried you told me I am big and that it is not becoming for a big boy to cry. Now that I want to enlist in the Hagannah, you tell me that I am little. Make up your mind, mommy."

An Officer on Furlough.

This same David told his mother of his plans for the future.

"When I grow up I will be an officer like daddy."

"But, David darling, you will have to be away from home, except for short furloughs. Mommy will miss you."

"Don't worry"—said the future Eisenhower—"I will never leave you like daddy. I will be an officer on furlough all the time."

For a Start.

The Secretary of the Treasury of Israel received a letter and a five dollar bill from an old lady in Brooklyn. The letter said:

"I am sending a few dollars just to help you start in business."

They might Steal It.

Little Miriam noticed that the guard on the street is doubled at sundown. She whispered to her brother:

"I know why they double the guards at night. Somebody might steal the State of Israel in the dark. It is so small".

On the Hind Legs.

A wag sent in a sketch for a postage stamp of the new State. It is to have an outline of the map of Israel, and a picture of Ben Guryon, the Prime Minister, on horse back, with the horse standing on its hind legs.

"Why on the hind legs?" he was asked.

"Because there is no room for the front legs on the map", quipped the fellow, hinting at the pitiful size of the State.

No Treasury Either.

An old faithful worker, who was away on a mission somewhere in South America while the posts in the cabinet of the State of Israel were distributed, came to see the Prime Minister, and very indignantly complained.

"After all the years of service to the party, is this to be my reward? Not even a place in the cabinet? Not even the post of Ambassador?"

"You are right"—replied Ben Guryon—"you deserve to be rewarded. I will appoint you to the post of Secretary of the Colonies."

"Secretary of the Colonies? But we have no colonies."

"That's nothing"—replied the Prime Minister, who is a great wit. "Look at the Secretary of the Treasury. Does he have money?"

And this last one is cute

"Don't talk with your hands," lectures teacher to five year old Sarah.

"But I must, teacher. My mouth is too small, and I can't say everything with my mouth only."

List Delegates To Circle Conference

Louis Rottenberg and Miss Harriet Gregarman were elected delegates from Providence to the conference of English-speaking divisions of the Workmen's Circle to be held April 2 and 3 at the WC Center. Delegates and guests will be present from New England, New York State and Canada.

Plans for the conference include a hay ride and barn dance at Fenner's Hall in Swansea, Mass., with music by the Roving Ramblers and Curley Joe, local radio artists. Tickets may be obtained from the committee in charge, including Lawrence Carner, Miss Shirley Myerson, Arthur Levin, Jason Orlov and Leonard Marrenberg, or from the following:

Miss Rosalie Jacobs, Miss Harriet Jarcho, Al Finger, Saul Kroll, Miss Laura Gershman and Miss Tillie Schwartz.

Historic Ramblings

By JOHN SOLOMON
CHAPTER II

I grew up in the town of East Greenwich where my father conducted a clothing business for many years. He was considered one of Rhode Island's early clothiers. Many years ago, while reading some early history of that town, I came across a most interesting phrase which stated that the house standing at the corner of Main and Long Streets was built by Dutch Jews. Nothing more was said, so it leaves a lot to the imagination as to when it was built, what they did there or how long they remained. It is a sturdy brick structure of Dutch colonial design and has always been occupied.

East Greenwich was a town of approximately 1000 souls in early colonial days, having a fairly good harbor on an arm of Narragansett Bay. Early history of the town says it carried on considerable trade with Surinam, a Dutch colony in South America, now called Dutch Guiana.

Quite likely much of this trade was in Jewish hands, which may be the reason why these Dutch Jews came to East Greenwich to compete with their Spanish-Portuguese brethren of Newport for some of the West Indies and South American trade. I have made many inquiries relative to this settlement but no one has been able to shed any further light on this most interesting story. To me it appears as a lost Jewish colony.

Aside from Newport's interesting Jewish history, the histories of early Rhode Island Jewish communities seem very vague. It is said some small Jewish shopkeepers established themselves in Providence around 1840 in the Market Square and South Main Street districts, but I am frank to admit I have but little information about them.

Some Jewish families resided in the Broad Street section and conducted a small reform temple on Friendship Street.

From here on I will attempt to narrate the highlights of Providence Jewish history from personal contacts and observations as best I know them, dealing mainly with the history of the Congregation Sons of Zion, which has played a very prominent part in the late 19th and early 20th centuries here.

My father, Isaac Solomon, may he rest in peace, came to Providence in 1874 when 19 years of age. He was born in Balberishuk, Lithuania, a small town near the Polish border. He had lived in England for five years before coming to America and his elementary English schooling surely stood him in good stead for he was able to keep a set of books in English, and retained a slight English accent in his speech.

He was the envy of his companions because he was able to read the local newspapers and always had a ready audience when he read the news to them aloud. He thus became a natural leader among his friends and always retained their respect.

When my father came to Providence in 1874 he found a small number of Jews residing in the North End section. All of them were deeply religious and sabbath services were held in private homes; but after numerous discussions and several informal meetings the sum of $65 was raised and they organized themselves together as the B'nai T'sion or the Congregation Sons of Zion.

CHARITY Rackets

By SYD COHEN

(This is the last in a series of articles written exclusively for the Herald on a subject of major importance to the reading public. It is hoped that these articles will be of assistance in helping expose those who solicit funds nefariously, in the name of charity. Ed.)

In the last article it was recommended that a communal board be established to judge the merits and demerits of any and all charity drives contemplated within the near future and to inform the public as to the worthiness of each drive.

Made up of religious and communal leaders this board could, for example, be operated by the General Jewish Committee, which is the central fund-raising agency of the Jewish people in Providence.

Such a board, awarding certificates of approval to charities it has investigated and found to be worthy, and warning the public against any drives it finds wanting, would constitute our communal control.

To conclude this series, let's discuss the problem from the individual point of view—that of the housewife and the business man, who are constantly asked for donations for one drive or another. These are the people who are submitted to the most abuse from charity rackets.

Record Charity Payments

First, it would be my recommendation that, busy or not, they (the housewife and business man) record every charity payment made throughout the year and keep that record where it will not be lost or forgotten. The name of the charity, the amount given and the date should be tabulated.

Receipts definitely should be kept. But receipts are no good unless the name of the charity and the name of the solicitor appear legibly thereon; so Mr. and Mrs. Public should insist on that. Insist is the word, too. They are giving their money to what they hope is a worthy cause, and they have every right to demand whatever insurance they may obtain that they are not being cheated.

Such a list would serve more purposes than meets the eye. First, it would force charity racketeers to be more careful—possibly more honest. Second, it would protect the giver against those who ask for charity and can show no written right to solicit public funds. Third, it might save quite a bit of money. With such a list the housewife may find before making a contribution that she has already made a donation to another solicitor for the self-same organization that is now represented at her door. Many have complained that they give several times to the same appeals without being able to check on the matter.

Don't . . .

A good "don't" for charity is this: Don't give money for charity merely because the word "Palestine" is used. It has been pointed out in this series how even the Israeli government openly condemned a charity drive that was conducted ostensibly in the interests of Palestine.

In other words, the word Palestine is not in itself a guarantee of honesty. The UJA and its affiliated organizations raise millions every year, with most of the funds raised being sent overseas to Israel. Small, independent appeals for that country should be checked. They may be costly duplication, they may be dishonest.

There are worthy independent charities for Palestine, of course, but in order to protect them and see that they get the funds they need we must stop the others from raising money that is not being used wisely.

If you suspect that a solicitor or a drive are not aboveboard, don't harbor the suspicion by yourself. Make your complaint, or inquiry, to the public agency in which you have trust. You may be wrong about your suspicions, but you will help drive out the illegitimate—and thus you will benefit the honest charities.

Another don't—don't lend your name to any drive or campaign, even if your friends or relatives are serving on it, unless you have checked on its integrity. Friends and relatives may have been duped by the smart operators behind the controls. You can save their prestige as well as your own—plus your money—by being watchful.

Finally, don't fall for the black-mail racket. Don't subscribe to any project or organizational function that puts the squeeze on you. You will find that black-mail fails if it is forced into the open. Let your conscience, not another's opinion, be your guide.

Methods such as these must be practiced diligently by every member of the community if we are to rid our society of the leeches of society who profit from charity rackets.

More than 250 members of the Congregation and civic and religious leaders of Rhode Island and New York were present at the dinner arranged this year as tribute to Rabbi Chill, spiritual leader of the Congregation for the past six years.

Among the speakers were Gov. John O. Pastore; Mayor Dennis J. Roberts; the Rev. Moses C. H. Chill of Brooklyn, the Providence Rabbi's father; Rabbi Samuel J. Chill of Kingsway, N. Y., his brother; and the Rev. Abraham Kaplan of Brooklyn, his father-in-law; Walter Sundlun, Alter Boyman and Archibald Silverman.

A framed copy of the resolutions embodied in the life contract, which were adopted by the board of directors and officers of the Congregation, was presented to the Rabbi by Samuel Mossberg, president of the Congregation.

Rabbi Aaron Goldin of Pawtucket, president of the R. I. Rabbinical Association, gave the invocation, and Rabbi Kaplan said grace. Rabbi Chill's father sang traditional songs of blessings for the occasion in Hebrew. Mitchell Shulkin of the congregation's board of directors was toastmaster.

Rabbi Chill, mindful of the honor bestowed upon him, prayed for guidance, wisdom, and health to carry on his work.

New Ahavath Sholom Ready For Passover

The new Ahavath Sholom Synagogue, now rapidly nearing completion, will be formally opened for religious services this Passover. In conjunction with the opening, a series of dedicatory exercises will be held, starting on Sunday, April 10, with the ritual of the transfer of the Holy Scrolls or Torahs and climaxed with a banquet in the new auditorium. Most of the exercises will be opened to the general public, which contributed so generously to make possible the building of the modern edifice.

The committee planning the program arrangements is headed by A. Louis Rosenstein, with Samuel Olshansky as co-chairman. Other members of the committee are Samuel Kaplan, Dr. Irving Kaplan, Morris Ross, Morris Fishbein, Irving Koffler, Sol Koffler, Dr. Aaron Gershkoff, Dr. Benjamin Garfinkel, David Steingold, and Samuel Orenstein, with Benjamin Winicour in charge of publicity. Rabbi Morris G. Silk and Archie Smith, president of the Congregation, are serving ex-officio.

Mrs. A. L. Rosenstein, president of the Congregation's Sisterhood, will designate a committee from that group to assist the program committee. Dr. Irving Kaplan will head the banquet committee.

Olympic Bowling

By SIDNEY GREEN

The Gordons really re-enacted the almost forgotten Black Sox scandal in their match against the front-running Rodyn five by dropping four very important points—important, that is, to the Levines and the Cohens. Capt. Gordon's alibi is that he's been up every nite with the new addition, but ALL the others couldn't have been keeping him company.

The Avens finally stopped the on-rushing Schwartzes by taking two points, while the Lobels lost 3-1 to the Jacobsons. Only two men were available at the start so the Jacobson subs included the Misses Kaplan and Carlin, and Mrs. Jacobson... the all-important fight for second place ended in a stalemate as the Cohens and Levines split.

The Rodyns took HT3 honors with 1539 and the Avens' 539 was tops for team single. Misch Sattloff's total pinfall of 347 was high for the nite and Reeve Zatlloff and Winn shared high single honors with 128. Other good scores included J. Hochman—124, S. Hochman—123, Rodyn—119, H. Cohen—122, I. Levine—116, and Jacobson—114.

SYD COHEN:

Baseball Is Reborn

The boys are exchanging mazel-tovs around town this week, and with good cause. Baseball has returned to our Jewish community.

Abe Lobel's announcement last week that there would be a baseball league at the Jewish Community Center was a significant milestone in the local history of sports. It marked the first time in eight or nine years that an actual attempt has been made to get the boys playing hard ball.

Previously, there had been considerable talk about forming a baseball league, and several men expressed themselves as being genuinely interested in helping, but not until now has there been any real action in that direction.

This column has plugged baseball from time to time, and several of the boys have asked if anything could be done about it. Last year, following the formation of the softball league, baseball became my pet project. And many of the older set of softball players urged the up and coming kids to concentrate on hard ball, the game with a future.

The point I am attempting to make is that slowly but surely the background for a baseball league was being fashioned, and interest in the game was being heightened. All that was needed was the spark to light the fuse, and Lobel has supplied that with his leadership and initiative and Center facilities.

Reaction to the new Center league was instantaneous. Six teams immediately organized, and operational details were worked out. Now another consideration has arisen. The old junior division of the softball league, floundering because of lack of leadership, has been persuaded to turn to baseball instead, and all the clubs are being invited to join the new league. That is very sensible.

The softball commissioner is supposed to operate the junior division as well as the senior group. Organization of the older boys is such a full time task, however, that there simply has been no time left for the youngsters, and it would be a shame if the boys were made to suffer on that account. They should be our primary consideration.

Banquet Chairman

LOUIS SWEET

Louis Sweet and Jack Glantz are chairman and co-chairman of the 52nd annual Banquet and Purim Dance of the Congregation Sons of Jacob, to be held Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Narragansett Hotel.

So it all turns out for the better. The kids should be playing baseball, anyway. They have no business with softball, which will not develop their talents to the utmost. They may be assured that they will get all the help they need. Those of us who will never play baseball again are tickled pink that the game is being revived, and we intend to see that it stays this time.

This being written before Tuesday night's meeting of the softball league, there is no report on that subject in this column. There should be a news story on it, however, elsewhere in this issue. And a full report will be given within a few weeks.

In a fairly recent column, I blasted away at the special committee appointed by Mayor Roberts three years ago to determine the project that would be adopted by the city as a veterans memorial. Hot under the collar for the construction of a municipal stadium, I criticized the committee for overlooking the first choice of the veterans who were polled at the time. That first choice was the stadium.

A few weeks ago I met Councilman Edmund Wexler, a prominent member of that special committee, and during our conversation he set me straight on a few points regarding the matter. His reasoning was such that I felt that I owed him and the other members the opportunity to present the other side in print.

According to Wexler, the committee frowns on a stadium because it will be used mostly for promotional activities and for too small a segment of the population for too brief a period during the year. Their idea is to construct a civic auditorium with a gymnasium and swimming pool, that can be used throughout the year by the boys and young men of Providence.

A stadium is all right, says the committee, but not at the expense of the public and the young people, who they feel would be more or less exploited should the veterans memorial funds be used for a ball park.

Private capital and public subscription can build a stadium. Public funds should benefit the greatest number of persons for the longest possible period. The gym and pool, they believe, will accomplish this.

We certainly can't blame the committee for that kind of talk.

Mizrachi Plans for Membership Drive

Plans for the current membership drive of the Providence chapter of Women's Mizrachi were discussed at a board meeting held March 10 at the home of Mrs. David Weisman of Gay Street.

The drive committee includes Mesdames Morris Fishbein, Archie Baker, Harry Yuloff, Samuel Bernat, Morris Eisenstadt, Harry Orenstein, David Weisman, Louis Kaplan and Morris Lecht, ex-officio.

An Unsolicited Testimonial!

Gentlemen:

I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation for the excellent reception you arranged for my Bar Mitzvah.

It was complete in every detail. Not only was there plenty of food but each little hor d'oeuvres, the dog made with cold slaw, the bible of potato salad, the liver in the form of a turkey, etc., each was an individual work of art.

It not only impressed my local guests but those that came from New York and as far West as Wisconsin.

Yours sincerely,
Rose Rosenberg

A Talk With The Rabbi

By RABBI J. GOLDSTEIN
("A Talk with the Rabbi" is a series of commentaries made by Rabbi J. Goldstein, upon various scriptures and literature found in his personal library. Presently, the talk will be devoted to the works found written in the book, "The Commandments", by N. Mindel, published by Kehot Publication Society, N. Y.)

The Divine Revelation on Mount Sinai took place in the presence of ALL Israel.

To quote Maimonides (Hilchoth Yesodei Hatorah, Ch. 8):

"Not because of the signs that Moses performed did Israel believe in Moses... but at the Revelation on Mt. Sinai, when our own eyes, and not a stranger's, saw; and when our own ears, and not any one else's, heard, the fire, thunder and lightning, and he (Moses) entered into the cloud, and the Voice spoke unto him, and we heard, 'Face to face did G-d speak unto you...' Thus, they to whom Moses was sent were the attestors to his prophecy..."

Maimonides goes on to say that should any "prophet" attempt to refute the prophecy of Moses by any sort of "proof", we would not listen to him, for it would be the same as if some one were to try to convince us against something we had seen or heard with our own eyes and ears. We should regard his "proof" as nothing but trickery and deceit.

Says the author of Sefer Ha-chinuch in his preface: "It is the established practice of all civilized peoples of the world to accept the evidence of two or more witnesses as conclusive proof, even to the extent of sentencing a man to his death... That is why G-d gave the Torah to Israel in the presence of 600,000 male adults, so that they could bear testimony to the fact."

As for the generations following the Revelation on Mt. Sinai down to our present day, all those generations of Jews who did not themselves see the Revelation but heard about it from their fathers and grandfathers, acceptance of the Torah is for them not just a

Auxiliary Bowling

By TEDI GREEN

With the championship of the second half depending on the outcome of each ball rolled, the Steingolds fought back after dropping the first two strings to win the final string from the Hochmans and the right to meet the Levines in the play-offs. The final standings of the teams showed the Steingold's with 26 points, the Hochmans—25, the Cohens—11, and the unpredictable Levine five—10.

With defeat staring the Steingold gals squarely in the eyes, and with the chips definitely on the line, Louise Boren and Helen Lehrer really showed the stuff that champs are made of by bowling 105 and 90 respectively, and this proved to be the margin of victory.

To finish off our first season in grand style, an informal banquet will be held on Thursday night, March 24, at Johnson's Grill, at 7 o'clock. All league members are cordially invited to attend, and trophies will be given out at that time.

Despite statehood being a fait accompli, Rabbi Wise said, the work of Zionism must continue.

"Jews who are timid and non-Jews who are unfriendly," Dr. Wise said, "profess to fear that Jews will be guilty of dual allegiance now that the state of Israel has been established. Nothing could be remoter from reality. My Americanism compels me to seek for Jews everywhere the freedom and equality which are my own."

"To that end the state of Israel is established. It belongs to its own citizenship. Jews in other lands, such as these United States, have no political or national connection with it. They are—or ought to be—well meaning friends and generous supporters of it as it becomes the home for homeless Jews."

matter of trust and tradition, but a fact, the authenticity of which has been continually reaffirmed by the daily prayers and the observances of the commandments by all Israel, generation after generation.
