B'nai B'rith to Assist Offers Hospital Facilities to Doomed Godfrey Brothers

NEW YORK CITY (AJP)—A national Jewish organization's hospital facilities this week held out the only hope of survival for four non-Jewish brothers, the Godfrey boys, doomed to death by progressing muscular dystrophy.

Mrs. Amonice Godfrey, mother of the boys—George, 24, Roy, 21, Robert, 16, and Michael, 12—was overwhelmed at the offer of assistance from B'nai B'rith. Whether the offer would be accepted, a grateful Mrs. Godfrey told AJP, depended upon the decision of the brothers' physician, Dr. Ade T. Milhorat. Doctor Milhorat has cared for the brothers at his own expense since their affliction with the fatal disease became known.

B'nai B'rith offered the facilities of its Hot Springs, Ark., hospital and research department to the Godfrey brothers through the organization's chairman of the budget and finance department, J. A. Robinson, of San Pedro, Calif.

Robinson said, "We'll turn heaven and earth to try and save these boys. We'll foot the entire bill. In fact, I've also contacted some of the top men in the medical profession who will fly down there and take a look at the boys."

He disclosed that research experts at the B'nai B'rith Hospital had discovered a "new physiological substance" which promises a fair measure of relief for sufferers of muscular dystrophy and multiple sclerosis, another deadly, crippling disease.

The plight of the Godfrey brothers has been well-publicized here in connection with the forthcoming drive of the Muscular Dystrophy Assn.

Silver Writes President Urges Full Defense, But Warns Against Bankrupting Ourselves

WASHINGTON (AJP)—An address by Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland, in which the veteran Zionist leader warned President Truman that America must avoid bankrupting "ourselves by trying to arm half the world against the other half" was inserted in the Congressional Record this week by Senator Robert A. Taft, Republican leader.

Entitled, "A Letter to Mr. Truman," Silver's address urged that we "make sure how far the other nations are prepared to go along and how much they are prepared to pay out of their own resources to strengthen their own defenses. Of course, they will permit us to help finance their military establishments, but they may not be willing to use them every time we think they should."

"Our resources are not limitless," Silver warned. "Our Government is already $257,000,000,000 in debt. It is the hope of the Soviet Union that we will destroy ourselves through bankruptcy and sink our military strength into the great Serboonian bog of Asia."

Discussing Truman's mobilization program, the Zionist leader added that "the President urged us further to build up our Army, Navy, and Air Force and to make more weapons for ourselves and our Allies. By all means, let us build up to full strength, but let us not bankrupt ourselves by trying to arm half the world against the other half."

Vet Auxiliary Issue Protest

NEW YORK CITY (AJP)—An offensive to rid the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense of minor fascist group affiliates was being planned here this week by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Jewish War Veterans as an answer to the introduction of hate-spreader Joseph Kamp at the Conference's recent national convention in Washington.

Kamp's appearance during which he flayed the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith as "a worse threat to Americanism than Communism," coupled with the refusal of Mrs. William A. Becker, former DAR president, to apologize for presenting Kamp at the conference, set off a wave of reaction here.

The Jewish War Veterans Ladies Auxiliary said that "they took proper organizational steps to oppose the allegations of Mr. Joseph Kamp. It protested the use of the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense as a platform for Mr. Kamp and insisted that a spokesman for the Anti-Defamation League be given the opportunity to answer Mr. Kamp's slanders."

"The conference," the Ladies' Auxiliary statement continued, "refused to accept the protest and the Auxiliary is now examining in association with the Jewish War Veterans all the circumstances surrounding the patriotic conference and the Auxiliary's future role in it."

Officials of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the JWV strongly favored remaining within the conference in order to root out the small fascist-like groups which they claim have infiltrated the huge conference of Patriotic Women in recent years.

The Jewish War Veterans Ladies Auxiliary will assume a second Vice chairmanship at the next year's conference. The second vice-chairmanship will afford them a seat on the Conference's advisory committee which supervises selection of speakers.

Jr. Hadassah Girl To Attend Study Course In Israel

MISS BERNICE BAUMAN

Bernice Bauman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Bauman, of 140 Lancaster Street has received a National Hadassah Scholarship for the Jewish Agency Institute for Youth Leaders from the Diaspora. The course which begins on February 28, will include six months in Jerusalem, where that time will be given over to study and organized tours through Israel. Five months will be devoted to living on a collective settlement and a month of summation.

During this time, one month will be spent in Meier Shfeyah, Junior Hadassah's children's village.

Miss Bauman is one of four Junior Hadassah girls throughout the country who are being sent by Hadassah.

She became active in Junior Hadassah three years ago and is now president of the Providence Unit of Junior Hadassah. Al-

FACTS... OUR PEOPLE SHOULD KNOW!

ALL KOSHER MEATS are KOSHER ONLY after the butcher removes the NON KOSHER FATS and the BLOOD-VESSELS, and only if the meats are RINSED prior to the expiration of the three days period.

These are basic KOSHER LAWS and the WAAD HAKASHRUTH EMPLOYS A TRAINED SUPERVISOR to see to it that these basic laws are followed. The supervisor also watches that no DOUBTFUL OR TREIFA MEATS shall enter the butchershop.

When a butcher is not supervised he may be tempted to break the above basic laws, and to sell treifa meats or meats of doubtful origin. His display of Kosher labels is no evidence that he sells Kosher. He may use old or false labels, as the public knows no difference between labels. Even the testimony of a dealer (that the butcher buys from him Kosher meats) is no evidence, as he may buy from the dealer only a part of his meats in order to have evidence. In short, when a butcher is not religiously supervised, he may circumvent the kosher law in many ways, and he is tempted to do it because he saves, thereby, work and money.

The only Rabbinical supervision in Providence is that of the Waad Hakashruth of Providence.

The following butchers displaying the Kosher Symbol are not under the supervision of the Waad Hakashruth:

INDICT RABBI

BOSTON (AJP)—A Federal Grand Jury this week indicted two men, one of them a Brooklyn rabbi, on charges of attempting to smuggle gold bullion out of the United States by air.

The indictment charged Rabbi Joel Beer, 31, and Sol Beinstock, also of Brooklyn, with attempting to export the gold to foreign countries, including French Morocco, without an export license. Rabbi Beer earlier denied the charge.

Ronny's Expansion Spolite To Aid A Huge Success CJCC Carnival

This is a sincere note of thanks from Marian and Lou Goodman of RONNY'S REJECT DRESSES, corner Empire and Westminster Streets, to their many friends and customers for the wonderful, spontaneous reception given their expansion opening last week.

Ronny's, in case you haven't visited the store within the past two weeks, has gone into larger quarters, taking over the adjoining shop formerly occupied by Strong Furs. We realize that only the continued patronage of satisfied customers has made this expansion possible. We are very grateful for it.

It is Ronny's pledge to maintain the same policy that has made our cancellation and reject dresses so popular in the past. We will strive to maintain the good will that has made us so many friends.

Our heralded new line of outstanding sports wear that was expected to arrive on time for the expansion opening was held up because of the recent rail embargo. The hundreds of skirts, blouses and sweaters that were so delayed are now in stock. We do feel sure you will agree this new sports line was well worth waiting for.

Drop in at Ronny's to see our new displays. There is lots of room to browse around and select the dress or sports outfit that will do you justice. And... thanks again.

of Spolite's best wishes to the CJCC, it will by no means mark the Delicatessen's only contribution to the Carnival and Monte Carlo. For, in addition, Mac and Saul of Spolite Kosher Style Delicatessen will donate to the Cranston Club all the pickles, tomatoes, sauerkraut and frankfurts that will be sold at the gala affair on behalf of the new building campaign.

Furthermore, Spolite's own personnel will be on hand both nights to operate the delicatessen booths free of charge.

Spolite Kosher Style Delicatessen, which has been accepted by the community as a welcome addition to Cranston, thus salutes the Cranston Jewish Community Club, whose activities, plans and new building are providing, and will provide, such a welcome and essential part of Cranston community life.

A Victory for Two Joes

It is difficult, if not impossible, to understand what intelligent or moral purpose has been served by the reprieve from the gallows of 21 Nazi war criminals. Underscoring this judicial anomaly is the fact that the justice of the original death sentences leveled against these Nazis was in no way questioned by John J. McCloy, U. S. High Commissioner for Germany, Gen. Thomas T. Handy, U. S. Commander in Chief in Europe, and New York State Supreme Court Justice David W. Peck, who headed the clemency board of review.

If anything, their statements emphasize that beyond doubt these war criminals deserve execution and that the commutation of their sentences to life imprisonment, as well as the freeing of industrialist Alfred Krupp, is a weird miscarriage of justice.

Gen. Handy's decision, for example, specifically referred to the engineered delay in the execution of sentence against the SS officers and men who were found guilty of the Malmedy massacre of American prisoners-of-war in Belgium in December, 1944. Despite repeated and intensive re-investigations of the Malmedy slaughter, he declared, nothing was uncovered to support even "a reasonable doubt as to the guilt of these prisoners." Gen. Handy went so far as to refer to the "continuous and organized flood of accusations and statements made to discredit the trial."

But—these murderers have had their sentences reduced to terms of life imprisonment, a brilliant victory for Senator McCarthy, whose single-handed battle on the floor of the Senate in behalf of the SS men helped to smirch the reputation of the U. S. Army abroad. McCarthy's dubious achievement may be a cause for rejoicing among some of the Nazi incorrigibles and fascist sympathizers who still infest Western Germany, and it may also delight some of his admirers on this side of the ocean.

Apart from them, however, one group alone, the communists, stands to benefit tremendously from the misdirected leniency shown in war crimes cases. Surely Stalin's most perversely adept liar, word-twister and truth-distorter could not have wished for a more generous gift of grist for his propaganda mill.

Through All the Days

At Anzio and Okinawa, and Inchon and Taegon—no man asked of his comrade on his right or on his left: "Are you a Catholic or Baptist; Jew or Episcopalian?" No man asked aught. All had faith—and understanding.

A wounded comrade cried for help from the battle zone. Those two, or half dozen, who crawled through enemy fire to rescue him never paused to question his religion, his color or his race.

In Korea, too, as in the battle zone of that last World War, fighting men paused in the rear lines to listen to the "Mammy" singing of a man now dead—Al Jolson. Nobody called Al Jolson a Jew though his father had been a cantor in the synagogue. They called him great—a great American.

Yet back home there are those who divide themselves from others who are as loyal to democratic ideals, as faithful to American dreams. They mentally point a scornful finger to say: "They are not like us; they are Jews"—or Methodists or Catholics.

That is where brotherhood must begin—in the minds of men and women. Superficial surface fraternizing is meaningless. It serves no lasting purpose to gather once a year with arms entwined and to dwell vocally upon the virtues of brotherhood—if what is said and done then ends there.

The true spirit of Brotherhood Week is based on understanding. It must be deep in the heart and in the mind, functioning not just today or in Brotherhood Week but through all the days and weeks—functioning for America in the American pattern of tolerance and understanding.

"One Man's Opinion"

BY BERNARD SEGAL

The Birth of a Community

Supposing someone came upon an old bundle of yellowed notes written by a secretary of a Jewish society of a hundred years ago, in Providence. In these notes the secretary records the early days of our people in this community. He tells us of the time when the number of Jewish families was small indeed, and the secretary knew them all. He knows where they came from, how they happened to land in Providence, what they did for a livelihood, where they lived, how they brought up their children, and how they formed their first congregation.

Many of us would walk more than the proverbial mile to look at that bundle of notes and to study it carefully.

Such a record did in fact exist, but was lost, and all we have now is a hazy sort of a picture of our beginnings in this city.

But we are today living witnesses to a Jewish community in the making right here in our backyard. Should we not be curious to watch the birth and the growth of this community?

At the Park Avenue entrance to Roger Williams Park lies a plot of land of considerable size. On this site will soon rise the structure of the Cranston Jewish Community Center. This land, this structure, will house the first visible evidence of an organized community existence.

The plans call for a House of Worship, a children's school, a recreation hall, club rooms, and facilities for leisure time activities for young and old. All of these things are as necessary for a healthy community climate as are the supplies of light and heat and water.

How are these needs satisfied at present?

The House of Worship is a High-Holiday event only, in a hired hall. The scrolls of the Torah, which the Cranston congregation inherited from the dismembered congregation of Olneyville, are housed in the Artich synagogue. The prayer books are stored away in a warehouse. The Sunday school is carried on in a public school. The meeting of the Community Club and Ladies Association are held at Legion Hall, a place which is too small for the purpose and not always available, at that. As for recreation and social affairs, of these no planned program is possible until a permanent center is at the disposal of the community.

But the primary concern of the Cranston Jewish Community Club are the needs of the young, those of school age, and the young adults who seek the companionship of their age group. These needs are felt acutely, and they are the main reason for the urgency of a Center.

The greater number of the Cranston Jewish Club, now speaking for 250 families, are young people. Young married couples and young parents. When they speak of the needs of children and young adults, they speak of it with the urgency of a real problem. They think of their own children, and also of their own needs and those of their friends, who crave for social ties in their own community.

A few facts about this community-in-the-making are worth noting; both, for the record, and for a better understanding of the intense craving for a Center.

It is a fast-growing community. With the East Side at a saturation point, and no neighborhood developments in other sections, many young couples turn to the relatively open spaces of Cranston. It is estimated that the Jewish community in Cranston more than doubled since 1945.

The youthfulness of the group is a characteristic feature, as is also the fact that most of them own their homes. This gives the community an atmosphere of permanence. There is every reason to expect a greater stability of neighborhood than was the case with the immigrant population of Providence.

Community spirit is on a high level. Even now, lacking all the means of cementing the group, a meeting of the Club attracts from two hundred to three hundred people. The Women's Association is a lively and active unit. The Sunday School has an enrollment of over a hundred children, engaging a director and seven teachers. Festivals are celebrated in their seasons, and no occasion is overlooked to bring the children together. One can only infer from all this that even greater activities are in store when the Center becomes a reality on Park Avenue.

The Jewish Community Club of Cranston expects to break ground in the spring. We hope they build on a firm foundation. All of us, on this side of the city line, will watch with the greatest interest the progress of the building. I would not be surprised if many of us, here in Providence, will gladly lend a hand to our neighbors in Cranston.

They will need more than Good Luck wishes.

Name Judges

For Essay Contest

Reverend William B. Sharp of the Ruggles Street Methodist Church in Providence, Chester Spooner, business manager of the Pawtucket Times, and Robert Stewart of the Blackstone Valley Gas and Electric Co. will act as Senior High School judges in the annual Essay contest of the Reback-Winsten Post No. 406, Jewish War Veterans, to be held in conjunction with Brotherhood Week.

Junior High School judges are Rev. Egbert C. Prime of First Baptist Church in Pawtucket; James J. Murphy, city editor of the Pawtucket Times, and Raymond C. Larsen, general secretary of the Pawtucket and Central Falls Y.M.C.A.

The writer of the best Senior High School essay will be given $100, and three gold medals will be given to the writers of the three best essays in the Junior High School group.

Joseph Elowitz, chairman, and Herman Braff are in charge of the contest.

High singles were bowled by Shirley Factor 110, Mimi Lozow 106, Charlotte Miller 102, Sally Gilstein 100, Arlene Slack 98, Helen Geishman 95, Marsha Schaffer and Edith Millen 95, Esher Kaplan, Rita Levine and Estelle Genzer 93, Lillian Greengus 92, and Helen Lehrer and Anita Weitzner 90.

A. E. PI BOWLING
 By Jerry Freiberg

The Hornets lead the league at the halfway mark by six games as a result of a 3-1 decision over the Barons. The runner-up Bisons were blanked by the flyers 4-0, the Mohawks upset the Bears 3-1 and the Eagles battled the Indians to a 2-2 deadlock.

The Flyers registered second best team three with 1504 and third best single with 525. Lloyd Turoff set the evening's pace with 337, followed by Burt Himelfarb 308, Sid Dressler 306, Murray Hahn 304, Babe Gertz 303, Leon Temkin and Jerry Freiberg 302 and Irv Berman and Bob Gittle-man 300. Good singles were rolled by Turoff 124, Himelfarb 120, Dressler 119, Don Cohen and Jerry Port 118, Bernie Bieder 117, Charlie Cohn 116, L. Temkin 114, Berman 113, and Irv Silverman 110.

BETH-EL BOWLING
 By Joe Gutterball

The top teams, captained by Dave Ettine and Norm Tillis, squared off last week. Ettine's bowlers took three of four points. The Tillis team, however, still retains its lead in the American Division, followed by Percy Newman and Aaron Sutton's keglers, who are tied for second. Following Ettine in the National Division are Joe Postar's bowlers in second place.

Phil Shaulson turned in the top individual effort last week, with a single of 151 and three-string pinfall of 370. Sheldon Bloomberg helped Shaulson's team with a total of 359 for the night.

Steady bowling by Sam Gordon kept him in the top spot in individual averages. Joe Schwartz was close behind Shaulson with a single of 155 and 364 three-string total. Lou Feldman rolled 349, Julie Bloom and Jack Bilow each had 340, and Morris Feldman II helped his average with a 320 pinfall.

News About Dues

We have mentioned before that more than half of your twelve dollars of annual dues is required by the Grand Lodge.

These payments are made to the Grand Lodge in quarterly instalments of $1.75 for each member. Our first payment was made in your behalf on January 1, 1951.

The prompt payment of your dues will help to keep the lights of the Menorah burning brightly in the service of—

- Anti-Defamation League
- Hillel Foundation
- B'nai B'rith Youth Organization
- Vocational Service
- Armed Services Program
- And the many philanthropies of B'nai B'rith

A total of 521 members have paid their 1951 dues at this early date. There is still time for YOU to become a Gold Menorah member!

Roger Williams Lodge is pleased to welcome as new members the following: Bernard Roseman, investigator; Ben R. Albert, executive; Morris Kritzman, social worker; Louis Simonson, executive; Saul Ashkenazie, merchant.

Coming Attraction . . . Annual Hillel Meeting

While it is still too early to list the details, Roger Williams Lodge is planning an unusually attractive March Meeting, which will be dedicated to Hillel.

Lacking verification as this issue goes to press, we can only report that an outstanding literary figure has been invited to appear. If he can make it, the mere mention of his name and latest book will be sufficient to draw a capacity audience.

At any rate, this scant information is enough to inform all Lodge members that the program committee is active and working overtime to provide the finest possible programs for the benefit, entertainment and education of the members.

ATTENTION-- All Members

Are you getting your B'nai B'rith mail every month? Is your name spelled correctly on our mailing list? And your address? How about your friends?

If there is ANY discrepancy, please contact George Katz, PL 1-3649, or P. O. Box 58, East Side Station, Providence.

WANTED—ACTIVE MEMBERS

The work of B'nai B'rith embraces many phases of activity. All of it is important, all of it would profit by having more personnel involved.

If you are interested in any phase of Lodge activity, if you would like to help, if you would prefer to become more active as a member, simply call President Sidney L. Rabinowitz.

ANNIVERSARY PROGRAM

Brown University's Hillel Foundation will present Bill Johnson, famed Negro folk singer, and Sonya Austin, his accordionist, and the dance team of Valentina and Marek at its fourth anniversary celebration next Thursday. The event is open to the public.

Fathers and Sons Sports Nite Next Wednesday

Magician, Comic Band to Appear; Bike, Ping Pong Table, Boat Among Gifts; Sports Greats Galore

WARREN WALDEN
Master of Ceremonies

BEN RUTTENBERG
Program Chairman

Strike up the band! Spread the good word! Circle the big date on the calendar and alert the kids! It's Here again . . . that biggest of all-male social events—B'nai B'rith's annual Fathers and Sons Sports Nite!

Yes, it's time for the kids of two generations to thrill again to the awarding of great prizes, the chance to meet all the sports celebrities, to enjoy the best in entertainment, to load up on gifts and refreshments.

The annual Fathers and Sons Sports Nite sponsored by Roger Williams Lodge will take place this year on Wednesday evening, Feb. 21 at Plantations Club auditorium, just above Loew's State Theatre in downtown Providence. The program will start promptly at 7:30 P.M.

How to start describing the contents of the star-studded program is a real problem. Headed by the genial Warren Walden, perennial master of ceremonies and honorary member of Roger Williams Lodge, the line-up of guests for this 1951 extravaganza will include Coach Terry Reardon and several members of his Providence Reds; Paddy Byrne, long-time goal tender for the Reds, and now associated with Walden in the hockey broadcasts; Rocky Marciano, Rhode Island's favorite contender for the heavyweight boxing title; George Araujo, up-and-coming young boxer who already holds two New England championships; Ralph Zannelli, the fighter who refuses to become old and has been credited with doing the most for Rhode Island boxing in recent years; a prominent big league ball player, and many others.

That is only the beginning. For entertainment there will be Manny Williams, magic maker supreme in the modern manner, who mixes his program with plenty of side-splitting humor, fun and laughter—and audience participation. Manny comes highly recommended—his show is fascinating and different.

Then there are the fabulous Quarry Heights Quintet and Co., a pocket-sized vaudeville show in the manner of Spike Jones and his City Slickers. Here is a 40-minute novelty act featuring a comedy routine of acrobats, singing and dancing—or, if you prefer, mirth, melody and madness.

That brings us to the feature of the annual program—the prizes that are so diligently gathered by Ben Ruttenberg, the only chairman Fathers and Sons Sports Nite has ever had. Ben and his committee have an outstanding array of gifts to present to the boys who are lucky enough to attend.

Top prizes will include a shiny new bicycle that will make the winner the pride and envy of his neighborhood; a ping pong table; a rubber boat of the type that is carried by pilots for emergency landings on the ocean—easily inflated, it holds about 20 persons; and 150 other gifts, including Louisville Slugger baseball bats, official National and American League baseballs; baseball gloves, basketballs, beautiful ping pong sets; boys' jewelry sets of all kinds, including tie clasps, pen and pencil sets and the like; leather novelties, such as brief cases, etc.

In addition to these gifts, the first 300 boys to enter the auditorium each will receive three extra special door prizes.

MANNY WILLIAMS
Magic Maker Supreme

Who May Attend

Every member of Roger Williams Lodge is invited to bring his sons—and if you don't have sons of your own, bring someone's else. Nephews, cousins, the neighbors' boys—all are welcome if they come with members of the Lodge.

And a special invitation goes out from Roger Williams Lodge to all members of AZA. They are always welcome.

Special Door Prizes For Early Arrivals

An added feature of the Father and Sons Sports Nite program will be the presentation of special door prizes to the first 300 boys who arrive at Plantations Auditorium next Wednesday evening.

What is more, each of the 300 prizes will consist of three gifts. That's right—900 separate gifts will be distributed to the first 300 boys! That means the boys have added reason to get there early.

Incidentally, the program is scheduled to start promptly at 7:30 o'clock. It would be advisable for all boys to be seated by 7:20.

SYD COHEN:

Is Williams Bad For the Red Sox

In 1948 the Boston Red Sox picked themselves up off the floor in mid-season to make a great stretch drive and narrowly miss winning the pennant. Ted Williams' mighty bat was of invaluable assistance, but Billy Goodman got the credit.

In 1949 the same thing happened at just about the same time—the week of the All-Star game. Again Williams contributed a major share of the momentum for the drive. He got no credit—just a heap of censure for not hitting in the final two weeks, when none of his teammates could hit, either.

In 1950 the same Red Sox made the same stretch drive at exactly the same time. This time Williams, with a cracked elbow, couldn't contribute. But the Red Sox, regardless of who was in the lineup, spurred for the third straight year. The drive petered out, as it had petered out for two years—but with one difference. This time it sputtered as an ailing

Williams returned to the lineup too soon.

What happened? The blame for the collapse was placed on him. The entire club had stopped hitting again, as it had done for two previous seasons. But they blamed Williams.

It's a peculiar paradox. Williams gets no credit no matter what contributions he makes while his team is winning. But when the club loses, he gets all the blame. That is the tragedy of Ted's career.

Now, in my attempt to lay all the blame for Williams' actions at the feet of Tom Yawkey, Sox owner, and Joe Cronin, let's turn about and accuse Ted of all the things they say about him—that he is not a good team man, that he refuses to tip his hat, that he won't shake hands, that he creates dissension, that he is obscene to the fans. Let's assume that all of this is true. Why, then, do I lay the blame on Yawkey and not Williams?

First, if The Kid is the spoiled brat they say he is, it is the owner's fault. Who spoiled him in the first place? Who caters to him, infers that he can do no wrong? Tom Yawkey. If Ted is not a good team man and is creating dissension, what would you do if you ran the club—sit back and let nature take its course? Would you keep on giving him raises and announcing he is the highest paid player in the game; or, knowing that hasn't worked before, would you give him a battle over salary, stop coddling him?

Ted made that classic gesture last year that has been termed "obscene." If the front office feels an apology is in order, why not insist that Ted himself meet the press and issue his own apology and try to set it right? If Williams could permit the apology to be made in his name, he certainly could be made to do the thing himself—the proper way. Instead, the front office issues one of those shabby, hollow communiques—and the baseball world climbs all over Williams for his obvious insincerity. I blame the owner.

Williams won't tip his hat when hitting a home run? A smart, firm front office would insist on it, with a fine, if necessary, or a bonus, to back it up. It should be included in the contract, if you please. If Ted likes his owner as much as he says he does, then he could be appealed to in this matter.

The same with shaking hands. Vern Stephens says there is no hard feeling between him and Ted—that Ted just doesn't like to shake hands. Well, is that why Stephens frequently walks up to the plate by way of the screen so that he won't meet the Thumper at the end of his round tripper? Things like that are painfully obvious to the fans. It has gone on too long to be funny or insignificant. It's a matter for the manager, and if he can't handle it, then the front office. The Red Sox should demand—and make it stick—that the man hitting a homer be congratulated when he crosses the plate.

If, in a crucial spot, a bunt or a blooper to left would do some good, the manager should call it—not be so afraid of his ace that he doesn't dare order him to stoop to such tactics. If the manager refuses to signal for the strategy, then he and the front office have no business permitting the press and the fans to fry Williams in oil because he doesn't do it. And if the manager signals, and the player ignores the signal and does what he wants, instead—well, there is only one answer to that, and you don't have to be a big league manager to figure it out.

Williams, and his illustrious teammates, are satisfied ball players. They don't put out. So, if you were the owner and that's how you felt and the fans felt, shouldn't you change your tactics and try the opposite approach? And, barring all else, wouldn't you be better off trading off the big star in the interests of peace and harmony—and a couple of pennants? Instead, all the "hungry" players are traded away. The second place complex remains. The players get raises. No further action is taken.

My summary is this: If Ted Williams is at fault for all these things he does or does not do, then it is definitely up to the front office to do something about it. If they cannot do anything about it, then they should at all costs sell the offender.

On the other hand, if Williams is not at fault—and this column believes he is innocent of at least 75 percent of the charges levied against him—then the front office should back him up, issue remedial statements to the press, call a press conference and explain their position and their actions toward the Splinter. Why, they should even hire a smart public relations man to try to offset some of the damage being done to Ted's temper, career—and the Red Sox' pennant chances.

The Boston front office definitely should do something to take Ted off the hook. He has brought too many people through the turnstiles, given more thrills to more fans, proved too great an attraction, to be permitted to be run out of baseball as an embittered and discouraged ball player. Is Williams bad for the Red Sox? I think it is the other way around. In my opinion, the Red Sox are bad for Williams.
