Plan Conference For BIG Day Here

An enthusiastic response on the part of most major Jewish organizations in Providence resulted from the invitation for the entire community to make Sunday, March 9, literally a "BIG (Bonds of the Israel Government) DAY."

Benjamin R. Albert, chairman of the Providence Committee for Israel Bonds announced that Saul Abrams, a co-chairman of the committee, had accepted the post of Marshal for BIG DAY.

The job of co-marshal has been taken by Mrs. Bertram Bernhardt. She has been Israel Bond chairman for Roger Williams Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women.

Mr. Abrams, a Providence businessman, is well known in local communal activities. He is a member of Roger Williams Lodge, B'nai B'rith, and a director of the (Continued on Page 2)

Pawtucket to Have "Night in Israel" Program Next Wednesday

Among the guest artists to appear will be Benjamin Oren, left, Varda Razy and David Lein.

Two functions to be held in Pawtucket soon in connection with the sale of Bonds of the Israel Government were discussed at a recent meeting held at the home of Max Alperin, 40 Nottingham Way, Pawtucket.

One was the gala "Night in Israel" festival, on the evening of Wednesday, Feb. 20 at West Senior High School.

The other is Pawtucket's participation in "BIG (Bonds of the Israel Government) DAY" on Sunday, March 9. The occasion will mark a national effort to augment sales of securities of the new nation's $500,000,000 Independence Bond Issue.

Headquarters for BIG DAY in Pawtucket will be in the vestry of Congregation Ohave Sholam and chairman for BIG DAY will be Mrs. Mollie Glick.

Those attending the meeting at Mr. Alperin's home included: Mrs. Glick, Julius Robinson, co-chairman of the Pawtucket Israel Bond Committee; Mr. Alperin, Marvin Rumpel, Harry Cokin, Isaac Cokin, Samuel Cokin, Joseph Elo-witz, David Chernack, Morris Espo, Abraham Barnet.

Also, William Goldberg, Harry Goldberg, Philip Hak, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. A. Friedman, and Mrs. Eli Levine.

Chairman of the Pawtucket B.I.G. Committee is Melvin Berry.

Highlighting the Feb. 20 program at West Senior High will be the piano playing of Ray Leizer, who performs with artificial hands. His own were lost defending Israel from enemy raiders during the War of Independence.

Sharing top billing with Leizer will be Jan Bart, whose singing in seven languages on recordings, in films, and on radio and stage have made his name a by-word in show business.

Leizer and Bart are returning to this area because of big popular demand. Many unable to see them previously have expressed a desire to do so now.

New and old music of Israel will be interpreted by costume dancer Varda Razy, pianist Benjamin Oren and violinist David Lein.

Welfare Funds Face Serious Inflation Problem

Gas Bomb Tossed At Shule; 60 Escape Death

A 15-year-old toughie who openly bragged of hatred for Jews and whose only regret was that capture had thwarted a chain of planned bombings against synagogues, was one of two youthful hoodlums nabbed here this week by police on charges of attempting to burn down a local synagogue during services ushering in the Sabbath.

Sixty Jews attending services miraculously escaped injury when a gasoline bomb hurled by the vandals crashed against the building.

Nabbed 24 hours after they hurled a gasoline bomb at the B'nai Israel Synagogue while 60 members were in prayer, the youths were charged with arson. Originally, questioning disclosed, four youths hatched the plot, but two withdrew on the eve of the attack after a gas-filled bomb—a Molotov Cocktail in Army slang—had been meticulously prepared to explode and ignite when hurled at the building.

Fear Curtailment Of Vital Services

Despite the "record prosperity" of the United States, the inflationary trend of rising prices is posing a serious problem to the philanthropic efforts of Jewish communities in meeting their responsibilities in Israel, overseas, nationally and at home, Harold Glasser, Director of the Institute on Overseas Studies of the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds, declared this past weekend at the 17th annual Assembly of the Council's East Central Region, held in Toledo.

Quite apart from the additional support required for serious unmet needs, unless there is at least an increase in contributions to 1952 local welfare fund campaigns corresponding with inflationary rises, Mr. Glasser informed 200 delegates representing Jewish communities in six states and central Canada, many vital services would have to be curtailed.

Turning to the overseas scene, Mr. Glasser pointed out that Israel has the capacity to solve its present-day economic problems. "An analysis of Israel's economic structure proves conclusively that the country has the full potential to achieve a decent standard of living for its present population and for an even larger citizenry in the future," he stressed.

In this connection, he emphasized, American philanthropy has been assigned the task of meeting Israel's most important need—development of the country's large-scale agricultural program. "Israel will be successful economically only if its agricultural program is a success," he stated.

Council Urges Probe Of Doctor Firing

LOS ANGELES (AJP) — A resolution calling for a full probe into the failure of a Jewish sponsored hospital here to re-appoint three doctors, dismissed for "political reasons," to its staff was passed here by delegates to the 18th annual meeting of the Jewish Community Council of Los Angeles.

The dismissal by Cedars of Lebanon Hospital here of the physicians without a formal hearing or detailed charges touched off one of the hottest controversies in recent local Jewish community history.

Another important stand placed the JCC in support of a forthcoming mass meeting by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People aimed at protesting the Florida reign of terror, the B'nai B'rith Messenger here reported.

Another resolution lauded the area's English-Jewish newspapers for exhibiting "adherence to the basic tradition of freedom of the press" and urged the entire Jewish community to increase its support of the weeklies.

Hirschberg Wins Bridge Competition

NEW YORK (AJP)—For the second time in three years, Jewish card star Ralph Hirschberg came from behind in a swift final session this week to capture the Life Masters Pair Championship, an event limited by the American Contract Bridge League to the highest ranking bridge experts in the country.

Another champion in the life masters competition here was Edgar Kaplan, a bridge partner of Hirschberg's. In second place in the tournament competition was another Jewish team, Mrs. Edith Seligman, of New York City, and Alvin Roth, of Washington.

Denies Motion To Kill $600,000 Kashruth Dispute

ATLANTIC CITY (AJP)—One of the biggest law suits on record involving kashruth appeared headed for the higher courts this week with the rejection of a motion here by a New Jersey Superior Court Judge to dismiss a $600,000 damage suit against two local rabbis, seven kosher butchers and the Vead Hakashresh.

The libel suit, an outgrowth of charges by the rabbis and the Vead that a poultry market operated by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Cabnet failed to meet the standards of kashruth, was brought here last November. The motion for dismissal was made by the defense a month later.

The plaintiffs claimed that the rabbis and the Vead attempted to create a monopoly and damaged their reputation and business at the start of last summer by circulating throwaways stating their poultry was not kosher and unfit for human consumption.

Much hinged on the interpretation of the word "nevaillah" used by the Vead in its circulars citing the market. The defendants have introduced the testimony of several Orthodox leaders to substantiate their contention that the word was generally applied to non-kosher meats and held no other meaning.

Rankin Charges Plot in Re-election

WASHINGTON (AJP) — The uncrowned monarch of American bigots, Cong. John Rankin, of Mississippi, charged a Communist-inspired plot was being hatched this week to thwart his seeking re-election.

"Sure I'm gonna run again," Rankin roared at newsmen who checked a report that he would not seek re-election.

Rankin was unsuccessful last year in an attempt to have a portrait of Maimonides—he referred to the famed scholar as "that rabbi"—removed from the Halls of Congress. In the fore of Jew-baiting forces, Rankin also attacked Assistant Defense Secretary Anna Rosenberg as "that Yiddisha woman."

Not many months ago, the daily press of the whole western world carried screeching headlines about a piece of stone that was stolen.

Diamonds are also stone, but this piece of stone was no diamond, although it was probably rated above the value of diamonds. It was just a piece of plain, ordinary rock, the kind that you might see passing over on a country road without giving it a second thought.

The thing that made it important for the headlines was that for some centuries it had been incorporated as part of the throne of the English monarch, and the second thing important about it was that legend had it that it was a piece of the pillar of stone on which Jacob—had slept and dreamed those dreams of angels going up and down from the skies. Tradition had it that the stone was carried off to Jerusalem and finally was brought to England where it had been hammered into the royal throne.

That the British monarchy should thus seek to tie itself up with ancient Israel need not surprise us, when we remember the influence of the Bible upon English thought. It was a British monarch, King James, whose name is associated with the classic King James translation of the Bible, which for literary style has never been surpassed and which has been instrumental in weaving into English language and consciousness a thousand images and ideas of the Jewish Bible. The impress of this Biblical tradition has extended even today when we remember that the first name of the Duke of Windsor, the favorite in his own family, is David—and the name of the new queen, Elizabeth, also derives from the Bible. Elizabeth is the anglicization of a Hebrew name—Elisheba, meaning consecrated to God.

England had a Queen Elizabeth before the present one of course, and she had some very important relations with one Jew, but his story is not of the cheerful kind. This goes back to the 16th century when a young Jewish physician by the name of Roderigo Lopez immigrated into England. He rose to importance in a very short time. He became the physician to an important nobleman. Later, he was offered a special honor as lecturer in the College of Physicians and declined it. Finally, he was made physician to Queen Elizabeth herself. Then his troubles began. He was charged by the Earl of Essex with conspiring to make a peace with Spain and with trying to poison Queen Elizabeth. He was tried and denied all guilt. Finally, he was placed on the rack and under torture "confessed" the guilt of plotting but said he had only been playing a game seeking "to gull" the Spanish monarch. Later, he recanted the confession altogether.

It is significant that Elizabeth herself first upbraided the Earl of Essex for making the charges, and even to the end, delayed as long as possible in carrying out the execution. Her manner of acting would lead one to believe that she was far from convinced of the truth of the charge, but that she yielded because the public was bitterly anti-Spain and was ready to believe anything about it. The English masses did not realize that Lopez, whose family were themselves fugitives from Spain, was hardly likely to love Spain (Continued on Page 6) that the court should not assume jurisdiction since the issues involved were of a religious nature and fell into the domain of the ecclesiastical court of that religion.

Another point advanced by the attorneys for Rabbi Moshe Shapiro, resort rabbinical authority, Rabbi Jacob Zuckerman and the Vead Hakashress, was that the plaintiffs had their poultry slaughtered out of town in violation of an ordinance adopted by the resort's Jewish community as represented by the Vead Hakashress.

The plaintiffs' attorney, on the other hand, maintained that the court held jurisdiction because both civil and property rights were involved.

Judge Woods' ruling in favor of the plaintiffs contended that "laws are made for the government of actions and while they cannot interfere with mere religious beliefs and opinions, they may with practices.

"Can a man excuse his practices to the contrary because of his religious beliefs?"

"To permit this would be to make the professed doctrines of religious beliefs superior to the law of the land and in effect permit every citizen to become a law unto himself.

"The principles involved here are not purely of an ecclesiastical nature since civil and property rights are involved."

A feature of the New Miriam Hospital will be a coffee and gift shop for visitors, staff members and convenience of the patients.

BOWLING

CRANSTON MEN'S
by Phil Chopak

The Dodgers remained on top as they came up with 3 wins against the Senators. Len Chernack with 323, and Hy Wasserman 312 led their team. The Pirates, winning 4 from the White Sox, climbed from 3rd spot to tie the Dodgermen for the lead. Jim Shocket with 320 and Doc Fershtman 329 led the Pirates, while Moe Cofman was tops for the losers with 325. The Yanks took a 3-1 verdict from the Giants and held onto 3rd position. Hal Warren's 352 was high for the victors and topped all other triples for the session. The Tigers, in splitting with the Phils, dropped back to second place, a game behind the leaders. Ed Lang's 335 and Ed Berman's 313 highlighted this match.

The Braves helped their cause again as they took the Red Sox 3-1, with Joe Cohen's 327 leading the way. The Indians, in taking 4 from the Cubs, rolled up a new three string mark of 1825. Sid Levy and Ben Mellion made it easy for the winners, as they rolled identical scores of 333, while Max Levy topped the losers with 328. Moe Kessler had 314. Al Levy 311, Ernie Namerow 307 and Harry Holland 305.

Double strikes were rolled by Warren, Ed Charon 113, and Al Silverstein 131. High singles were scored by Ed Feinberg 119, Moe Bernstein 115, Joe Potemkin 114, Bernie Wexler 111, Moe Messing 110, Sam Feingold 109, Irwin Rubin, Arobie Kapstein, and Henry Stampel 108, Leo Sackin 107, Dave Hoffman 106, Seymour Kriss and Phil Chopak 105, Len Slavik, Joe Agar and Milt Lovett 104, and Jim Abeshaus 103.

The Battling Brownies looked like the Baffled Brownies this week as they lost four points to the rejuvenated Yankees who were led by Marty Ross' 135, 113, 130 and aided by Joel Kaplan's 125, 111, 100.

The Indians assumed their familiar role of league leaders again by taking a 3-1 win from the Cards. Cardinal Henry Markoff tied his own high three mark of 390 only to see Sherm Price break it with a hot 394, and then go on to spark the Indians to a new team total pin-fall of 1632.

The added handicap of four points proved the difference in the Dodgers 3-1 win over the Red Sox as the Dodgers two winning strings were decided by two and three points.

The Tigers climbed closer to the top with a 3-1 win over the Braves as Lou Chase's 330 proved high for the match.

Billy Botvin reached new heights in his bowling career and his 127 in the first string inspired the Athletics to a clean sweep against the White Sox. Some good three string scores were chalked up by Miles Goldberg, 387; Solmer 338; Woiler, 319; Tesler, 318; Joe Waldman, 316; Freedman, 315; and Zucker, 314.

The League held its mid-year banquet at Lindy's. Jack Platkin was elected president for the 1952-53 season with the following slate: vice-president, Jerry Tesler; treasurer, Milton Stollman; secretary, Sidney Green; publicity director, H. Dayton Cohen; the three man board of directors includes Mal Paynor, Jack Broadman, and George Miller.

Kathleen Miller's Greens are still holding top place with the aid of such scores as Irene Messing's 97, Edith Litchman's 95, Ida Bernstein's 94 and Esther Wasserman's 91. The Yellows have their eyes on that leading team and are now behind by only four points thanks to Sippy Kessler's 110, Mickey Asher's 98 and Gloria Cohen's 97. Sippy now holds third place for high three with 308.

Other highs were Fran Rodinsky 115, Kay Jagoliner 109, Melba Kaplan 107, Fran Sadler 104, Belle Feinberg 98, Ida Falk 97, Cookie Shwartz 95, Gert Charon, Isabel David and Doris Kirshenbaum 94, Gert Lang and Lil Silverman 93, Hope Mellion and Bev Sugerman 92, Bea Sydney 91, Elayne Chopak, Rosella Lovett, Gert Smith and Charlotte White 90. Fran Wexler changed her style and rolled up an 89.

BROTHERHOOD
Know ye not why We created you all from the same dust? That no one should exalt himself over the other. Ponder at all times in your hearts how ye were created. Since we have created you all from one same substance it is incumbent on you to be even as one soul, to walk with the same feet, eat with the same mouth and dwell in the same land, that from your inmost being, by your deeds and actions, the signs of oneness and the essence of detachment may be made manifest.

The next regular meeting formerly scheduled for Feb. 17, has been postponed until further notice so that members may attend the New England Labor Zionist conference of the Jewish National Fund in Boston.

JFCS Seeks Job Opportunities
Aids Adjustment of Young People

(The following article presents case illustrations and informative material concerning the types of service offered by the Jewish Family and Children's Service. The Jewish Family and Children's Service, a Red Feather Agency, receives its operating budget from the Providence Community Fund.)

Three young socially handicapped individuals have been assisted by the Jewish Family and Children's Service to take their rightful place in the general community. They are now seeking available community resources to channelize their capacities adequately.

These young Jewish people, who are currently receiving counselling services by experienced and competent social workers at the agency, feel that they have been moved to contribute constructively to industry. It is in this light that the Jewish Family and Children's Service is appealing to the community to assist in finding a place in the sun for these individuals.

Take the case of R—a young man of 22 with a lack of friends and no parental love; shunned by his parents and fellows, R began to question his own adequacy. His social frustrations, complicated by an inadequate physical appearance, depressed R so that he was completely incapacitated. An understanding case worker has been helping R make a healthier adjustment to his family and to neighbors. His physical appearance has been improved; his own adequacy has been partially restored. A part time job would brighten some of R's darkness sustain his own self-adequacy, and broaden his horizons.

Then there is the case of G—a young lady of 20, who on first coming to the agency gave the impression of being twice her age. She was obese, untidy, and could not maintain conversation because of her social inadequacies. Her counsellor, after 25 interviews, now describes G in a more positive light. Now she presents a more attractive appearance. She can look you in the eye. Her basic handicap has now become an accepted part of her personality. For the first time in her young life, she has expressed a desire for employment, as she no longer wishes to be a burden to her family. We can assist in this wholesome desire by providing employment with understanding people. If she could be occupied a few hours a day, her future adjustment would be assured.

It is not difficult to appreciate these situations. Here are young people who have been saved from disaster. Their self-images have been partially changed. They know and we know that they have strengths.

Can you help a young man like R to help himself? He has the tools now. Permit him to do a job. The Jewish Family and Children's Service, whose offices are at 100 North Main Street, will be eager to hear from you. Call DE 1-1244.

The New Miriam Hospital will be one of the most modern hospital buildings in America—completely fire proofed and sprinklered.

Receive Awards at Emanuel Service

Rabbi Eli A. Bohnen pins the Ner Tamid Award on Norman Jacobs, as Stanley Leibo, another recipient of the award, looks on. The presentations were made during the Scout Services at Temple Emanuel last Friday evening.

England's Rulers
And the Jews

any more than they.

Historians for a long time took opposite sides on the question of Lopez' guilt. It was only fairly recently when the Spanish government made accessible the archives of King Philip of Spain that the complete innocence of Lopez was definitely established.

The English monarch to have the longest associations with a Jew was, of course, Queen Victoria. Benjamin Disraeli was her favorite prime minister. What she seemed to like about Disraeli above all was, she said, that he remembered she was a woman. He didn't like Gladstone, who made long, formal, dry speeches to her. He recognized her humanness and her femininity. But she had other reasons also to love Disraeli. It was Disraeli who made Victoria the Empress of India and it was Disraeli who brought the Suez Canal under the English sovereignty.

There were rumors afloat that Victoria's royal consort, Prince Albert, had some mixture of Jewish blood. There seems to have been no real basis for this, although many Jewish families intermarried with the British nobility. Some years ago, when a new biography of Prince Albert appeared, it was whispered that the real reason for the publication of the book was to disprove charges that he was of Jewish descent.

Cranston Women
Hold "Men's Night"

The Women's Division of the Cranston Jewish Community Club held a "Men's Night" program at a meeting on Feb. 7 at the Dutemple School, Cranston. Joseph Potemkin presided after Mrs. Potemkin opened the meeting.

Entertainment was provided by Arthur Siegel, Albert Samdperil, Ben Lerner and Harry Ballon. Mrs. Stanley Manne was program chairman, and Mrs. Al Silverstein and Mrs. Morris Messing were in charge of refreshments.

LUCKY STRIKERS BOWLING
By Evelyn S. Weinberg

Sally Ludman started the entire league with a series of two spares, a strike and two more spares, thus bringing her score to a high single of 124, and beating Blanche Berman's 106 high by a large margin. Other highs were Harriet Kraus 100, Bunny Feldman 96, Lulu Sorenson 95, Sylvia Krasner and Lynne Rubin 93, and Bea Shectman and Pat Wasserman 91. High threes included Sally Ludman 289, Lulu Sorenson 265 and Bunny Feldman 263.

The Texans and Rebels are tied for first place with 41 games each.

For the protection of foods and other perishable materials the New Miriam Hospital will have seven walk-in refrigerators and coolers.

BASKETBALL

PEE WEE LEAGUE

East Side AC won its fourth game in a row, defeating the Eagles 23-17. Kenny Perlow scored 7 points for the winners, while Lester Sandler notched 9 for the losers. The Globetrotters, with Arthur Moyle scoring 10 points, defeated the Comets 21-15.

TEEN-AGE LEAGUE

The Center Rollers continued to dominate first place as they defeated the Rangers 30-22. Nate Kadsivitz scored 11 points for the winners, while Moe Solomon's work under the boards kept the Rangers from scoring. Bob Yanover and Don Glecklen kept the Rangers in the game.

The East Siders, with Marshall Winograd scoring 16 points, set back the South Providence Reds 32-20. Sam Schneider and Paul Goldsmith tallied 18 apiece as the Greys set back the Wildcats 50-46. Moe Silverman also had 18 tallies, but in a losing cause.

The Streeks, a contender for first place, defeated the Pawtucket Warriors 39-21. Joe Stone scored 14 points for the winners, and Alan Zura had 11. Moe Small threw in 8 for the losers.

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE

The Rams came from behind in the fourth quarter to defeat the Rebels 34-25. Bobby Gleckman came up with 9 points after a scoreless first half to put the Rams out in front. Bob Pliner's jump shot in the first half accounted for 12 points and gave the Rebels a 17-12 lead at half time.

Narragansett AZA gave the league-leading Rockets a scare, but Sidel scored a field goal in the last 40 seconds and Alan Swartz threw in a foul shot to down the Rockets 39-36. Paul Young with 14 points and Alan Klibanoff with 11 were leading scorers in the losing cause.

The Cranston Bombers beat Roger Williams AC 50-31. Dave Colbert tallied 18 points and Don Lazarus 10 for the winners. Joe Rubin had 12. Sessions AC scored an easy win over Pawtucket AZA 46-22. Len Blackman and Lester Yuffee scored 12 points each for the winners. Gene Bernstein scored 14 for AZA.

GIRLS TEAM

The JCC Girls Basketball team has won three and lost two games in the City Recreation League. Among the players who have helped in the wins are Teri Rosenblatt, Etta Ray Lisker, Margie Lesnick, Lori Swartz, Eleanor Warren, Livvie Young, Marcia Zura, Marilyn Stone and Cynthia Robinson. Games are played every Wednesday at the City Recreation Pool on Prairie Avenue.

There will be installed in the New Miriam Hospital thousands of feet of stainless steel counters and cabinets in treatment rooms, surgical areas, X-ray rooms, and laboratories.

Originators of Heart Fund Bowling Tourney

These three men are responsible for the creation of the annual Jewish Heart Fund Bowling Tournament, which was held on Feb. 3 and netted more than $80 for the Heart Fund. Left to right, Leonard Cort, manager of the Casino Bowling Alleys, Sherman Price and Ed Lang. Lang originated the series with his Cranston-Emanuel tournament for the March of Dimes. Price and Cort adapted that idea to the seven-league match to help combat heart disease.

Emanuel Expects Record Blood Take

Temple Emanuel's Blood Donors committee put finishing touches on preparations for Bloodmobile Day on next Wednesday, with a new record contribution of blood a strong possibility. Starting with an original goal of 200 volunteers, the committee's list of potential givers early this week totaled 224. Of this number, 179 represented the efforts of the Temple committee, 32 came from members of Fineman-Trinkel Post, Jewish War Veterans, and 13 from JWV Post 23. More pledges were expected to swell that total even further before Wednesday.

In a further attempt to insure a new record in the number of pints of blood actually collected, the committee urged neighbors of the temple to walk in unannounced and make their contributions.

Among the donors who are scheduled to appear at the Bloodmobile headquarters at Temple Emanuel are Arthur Gladstone, who returned from service in Korea only three weeks ago, and his two brothers, Bernard, an attorney, and Lawrence, a student at Brown University.

Heading the Emanuel Committee are Julius Zucker for the Temple, Howard Greene for the Men's Club, and Mrs. Jacob S. Temkin, Sisterhood. Herman F. Feinstein is co-ordinator of Jewish organizations for the blood drive, which is sponsored by the American Red Cross.

Pioneer Women To Aid Israelis

Pioneer Women held a special committee meeting at the home of Mrs. Lewis Blumenthal, president. Mrs. Henry Efron was appointed chairman of the forthcoming Donors Affair, to be held in May at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel.

At the last regular meeting Mrs. Blumenthal announced that Pioneer Women, along with its sister organization, the Moatzot Hapaolet, will launch a rummage sale, proceeds to go to the Emergency Fund needed to help the Transit Tent Villagers, left desperate by the recent floods in Israel. Members of this committee will be announced at the board meeting to be held Tuesday, at 1:30 P. M. at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel.

The New Miriam Hospital will provide facilities for ten resident internes. There will also be a fully equipped interne's recreation room.

Center Varsity Downs Brockton

The JCC Varsity Basketball team defeated the Brockton JCC Varsity 47-38 at Nathan Bishop gym on Saturday night. A crowd of 75 saw the locals pile up an 11 point half time lead. Joe Rubin scored 13 points and Wesley Briggs 12 to lead the team to its fourth win.

Tomorrow the Varsity will play the Boston YMHA Varsity at Nathan Bishop, starting at 8:30 P.M. Boston has won eight straight and is expected to meet New Haven for the New England championship.

In last week's Pee Wee preliminary contest, the Eagles set back the Jets 31-25. Lester Sandler's 10 points and Louis Chuton's 10 paced the winners, while Burt Jagolinzer, Barry Alperin and Sumner Fishbein stood out defensively for Pawtucket.

Cultural Study Group Meeting Tonight

A meeting of the Jewish Community Center's Cultural Study Group will be held this evening at the home of Mrs. Leo Borenstein, 34 Marbury Street, Pawtucket.

Mr. and Mrs. Beryl (Bernard) Bell will lead a discussion on Purim. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Weiss will give instruction and information on Jewish folk dancing.

Anyone who is interested in the group's activities is invited to attend. Mrs. Borenstein requested, however, that those planning to attend communicate with her first, at PL 1-7003.

Synagogue's 50th Anniversary Sunday

The South Providence Hebrew Congregation will celebrate its golden anniversary at a dinner to be held Sunday, Feb. 17 at the Narragansett Hotel. Seymour Reichtzeit, known as one of the foremost singers of Jewish ballads in this country, will entertain. Max Tippe and his orchestra will provide music during the evening.

Fred Spiegel, president of the congregation, has issued an invitation to the Jewish community to attend the affair and participate in the celebration. He specifically directed his appeal to former members, and the children of former members.

Reservations will be accepted through tomorrow evening, Spiegel said, and may be made with him at GA 1-8555, or Joseph Grossman, MA 1-4314.

Sisterhood to Install Officers Wednesday

The following officers of the Sons of Jacob Sisterhood will be installed Wednesday at 2 P. M. in the Synagogue:

Mesdames H. B. Stone, president; J. Bilsky, M. Snow, and I. Gladstein, vice-presidents; H. Kopit, treasurer; Louis Sweet, financial secretary; Morris Lecht, recording secretary; Jack Glantz, corresponding secretary; Louis Steinberg, chairman of the sunshine committee, and G. Zaidman, S. Ludman and F. Markowitz, trustees. Rabbi Morton Berkowitz will be installing officer.

The Sisterhood is helping raise funds for the Sons of Jacob Hebrew Academy, and plans for the purchase of a stove for the congregation will be discussed at the meeting.

COUPLES CLUB

Dr. Herman Marks, pediatrician, addressed the Couples Club of Temple Beth Israel at their meeting last Sunday. A short business meeting was conducted. Julius Krasner, vice-president, and chairman of the program committee, announced that a Purim Dance will be held on Saturday, March 8.

BRITH SHOLEM MEETING

What Cheer Lodge No. 183, Independent Order of Brith Sholem, will meet on the first and third Thursday of every month at 8 P. M. at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel.

Colors used in the New Miriam Hospital have been scientifically selected. The walls of patients' rooms will be painted for eye-ease and quiet cheerfulness. There will also be ceilings of sound absorbent material.

Lose to Woonsocket

Roger Williams 283 A.Z.A. basketball club dropped a close game to a tall Woonsocket quintet, 69-66. A foul shot in the final minutes of play iced the game for Woonsocket.

Woonsocket enjoyed a 25 point lead at the end of the half, but Roger Williams climbed to within two points of a tie with Marshall Winograd and Bob Pliner scoring frequently. Charlie Carter, Paul Gross, and Alvin Solomon played sound defensive ball and set up many scores.

I just finished reading the first "Children's Page" in today's Herald and I want to offer my congratulations on this valuable addition to your paper.

I particularly like your invitation to the children to take an active part in collecting the local news from their schools, Temples and clubs and to write original stories or articles. I am eagerly looking forward to reading the results of the children's creative ability.

It makes me very proud to think that my letter to your paper suggesting such a page may have had a small part in bringing the "Children's Page," into being.

Best wishes for success in maintaining the high standard set by this first page.

Religion In Schools

The controversy in New York state over the state Board of Regents' recommendation that public school sessions daily open with prayer is one in which all of us have an interest.

Well-grounded in American democracy is the principle of separation of church and state; our Constitution itself provides for that separation.

The step which New York's regents now propose is one which, in our judgment and that of many others, infringes upon the principle.

The question is not which prayer shall the children of New York public schools utter as they prepare to begin their classroom routines, but rather whether any prayer shall be uttered, at that time and under those conditions.

The difficulties are manifold. If one could devise a prayer equally acceptable to all religious groups—unlikely in itself—the problem arises, "How shall the prayer be recited?" Prayers in some houses of worship are offered with heads covered; not so in other houses of worship. Some worshippers stand while praying; others kneel. Some cross themselves; some do not.

What we have is a picture either of classroom chaos or of socially-enforced compliance with certain standards which can only have the effect of stirring antagonisms and resentments among children who, by training and inclination, prefer to pray in other ways.

These considerations, however, beg the major issue, which is whether there shall be any prayers in the schools.

In the Virginia Declaration of Rights, Thomas Jefferson wrote, "Religion, or the duty which we owe to our Creator and the manner of discharging it, can be directed only by reason and conviction, not by force or violence."

The New York plan violates Jefferson's definition of religious freedom, for it contemplates a school-enforced obligation to pray at a certain time, and to recite a standard prayer.

Traditionally in the United States, religion has been a responsibility of the home and the synagogue or church—not the state-operated schools; for if the state can decree a time of prayer and a kind of prayer, then the door is wide open for it to take action in other spheres pertaining to religion. This is intolerable to American concepts of religious freedom and independence of thought.

We share in our concern the grave misgivings already expressed by such groups as the New York Board of Rabbis, the American Jewish Congress, the American Civil Liberties Union, the Association of Liberal Protestant Ministers, and others.

Prayers have no place in our public schools.

Broadway Tales

BY BEN FEINGOLD

Some of the boys along Bashed Beezer Boulevard were talking about the late Benny Leonard and his habit of talking to opponents in the ring, belittling their punching power and gaining a psychological victory. One chap averred—"I remember the yaks Benny would get at sports gatherings when he said—"Y'know, folks, I fought Johnny Dundee eleven times—that's how I learned to speak Italian."

It's so true—some people believe in law and order as long as they can lay down the law and give the order . . . Leonard Lyons, the famed Broadway scribe, started his career by writing a Broadway column in English for a Yiddish-language newspaper . . . Joe Besser, who plays those hilarious comedy bits in the movies, is a Jewish lad from Long Island City, N. Y. . . The despicable Reds are putting their slogan—"Religion Is The Opiate Of The People"—into concrete action. They've closed down all but three of the synagogues in Moscow. And the portent is that they'll be closed soon, too. "Slapsie Maxie" Rosenbloom, former lightheavy champion, takes a trip around the world every year. He's been doing it for the past five years. "Slapsie Maxie" is a firm believer in the adage—"See the World—Before You Leave It."

BIRDS OF A FEATHER: The brigands in Baghdad are chortling with joy and glee over their cold-blooded hangings in the public square of two Iraqi Jewish youths, allegedly connected with an underground Zionist group. All the impartial evidence pointed to the innocence of these two unfortunate kids born under the sign of the crescent instead of the Star of David. The civilized world is aghast at this spilling of innocent blood by savages who legalize murder under the heading of so-called "justice."

There's not much difference between the robes of the Koo-Koo Klux Kowards and the Iraqi beasts. They both cover an area where the heart beats—but there is no heart there.

HERE AND THERE: A man's worst tumble—is the fall over his own bluff . . . The correct tag of movie star Dane Clark, a Jewish lad, is Bernie Miskovitz . . . Mike Kaplan, former top-notch Boston scrapper, is now refereeing in Florida . . . Aaron (Rosy) Rosenberg, the All-American grid star at U.S.C. way back in 1932, has become a top-flight movie producer at Universal-International, we're told . . . Handsome movie sparkler Tony Curtis (nee Bernie Schwartz of the Bronx) is a remarkably talented amateur painter . . . Wasn't that a nice gesture by Joe Weinstein, the Brooklyn department store biggie, in presenting a check for $900 to a local Roman Catholic Church for the installation of a needed public address system. Joe's a big giver to Jewish causes . . . Broadway Observation: Luck generally rides with the man—who doesn't count on it!

"One Man's Opinion"

The Teachers Speak

BY BERYL SEGAL

In the years to come, we may be able to say:

"In the month of January, 1952, the General Jewish Committee decided to establish a board of Jewish education in our city. That was the dawn of a new day for our schools. Under the guidance of the board we now have more and better Jewish schools for our children and youth. The schools have more and better teachers, because the board provides training for young people interested in teaching Jewish subjects.

"With the help of the board the schools have developed a unified program of studies, and are applying the most effective methods and tools of teaching. Our schools are housed in suitable buildings, as specified by the board. The parents take the schools seriously, and the number of pupils is increasing steadily. No longer is every school a little world apart, and every teacher doing what is right in his own eyes.

"Truly, a new day dawned for the schools of Providence when the Board for Jewish Education was created in that month of January, 1952."

But then, we may not have such good fortune. It is quite possible that we will just shake our heads and sadly say:

"Well, we have tried. We made an earnest effort to improve the lot of Jewish education in our city. That was way back in 1952. But it didn't work. The people weren't interested. The schools did not cooperate. The Board of Jewish Education was no more than a name on the stationery. And now we are back where we were in the days before the board was established."

These are the two possibilities. Which will it be?

The General Jewish Committee initiated a detailed study of our schools two years ago. The study revealed what we have and what we ought to have in the way of Jewish schools. A plan was pointed out by the study committee. The first step is to create an agency, call it a board of Jewish education, or by any other name. The agency is to put the schools and their needs before the eyes of the community. Let the Jewish school be the concern of the whole com-

Astoria, L. I., is the same Walter Kaner who broadcast records and chatter to our boys in the South Pacific under the impressive pseudonym of "Tokyo Mose." . . . Three brothers were nabbed the other day after throwing a garbage pail through a pane of glass in a Brooklyn synagogue. The punks whined they had been drinking. Sure, they'd been drinking—a vicious concoction composed of 1/3 Bigotry, 1/3 Ignorance and 1/3 plain out-and-out cussedness. As a chaser, the cops should give them—a Mickey Finn . . . With income tax time just around the corner, we've just been informed that the theme song of the Internal Revenue Department of the State of Texas will be—"The Eyes Of Taxes Are Upon You!"

COVERING THE BEAT: Jack Carter, the very funny Jewish comedian from Brooklyn, was complaining about the trouble he'd experienced with his Tee Vee set. "Would you believe it!"—he asked—"when I turned the knob, the stations flew by so fast—The Goldbergs were playing Notre Dame!" . . . Sid Gordon, Boston Braves baseball star, is a salesman for a men's clothing concern in Brooklyn during the off season . . . Jack Dempsey's favorite aria is "Yiddishe Mama" . . . Dave Soden, whose name sounds Jewish, is a devout Catholic, known as Brooklyn's No. 1 Citizen. He is, not incidentally, the godfather of Jack Dempsey's offspring, and a headliner among all faiths for his charitable undertakings . . .

community, just as the hospital, the Home for the Aged, and the Center are. Let this agency be endowed with the proper means and with the needed authority to correct what is wrong, and to supply what we lack in the area of Jewish learning.

And so the General Jewish Committee, aroused by the findings of the school survey, acted to create this agency, a Board of Jewish Education.

Now it is up to us. Without the full-hearted welcome of our existing schools, the Board is doomed to failure. Without the interest of the community in the work of the board, all the good intentions of the GJC will be shattered against a wall of indifference.

But it is obvious that the co-operation of the schools, and the support of the community can be obtained only through a thorough discussion of the aims and purposes of the Board of Jewish Education. Fortunately, we have in our midst educators, now teaching in our schools, who can give us first hand information on the workings of such boards in other communities. Let us hear from them. Let them tell where they succeeded and where they failed.

There may be others, not necessarily teachers, who came to us from communities where such boards existed. Let them tell us of their experience. They are invited to do so in the interest of the community welfare.

I am happy this time to share this space with Mrs. Miriam Makiri, director of the school of Temple Beth El.

Mrs. Makiri Speaks

"G.J.C. Establishes Board of Jewish Education"

What a blessing for the Jewish community of Providence! May this great historic step in the history of the Jewish community of Providence create an atmosphere (among lay leaders and educators as well) of devotion, cooperation, tolerance and enthusiasm, which is so essential for a democratic, dignified, successful program of Jewish Education!

We know of many other Jewish communities in America which have succeeded in vitalizing Jewish education by the formation of such a central agency. As a matter of fact, one is making headlines this very week. The Jewish Education Association of Essex County, New Jersey, celebrates its 15th anniversary. Inasmuch as it was my good fortune for the past nine years to be active in the field of Jewish Education in Essex County, New Jersey, I feel that I can sincerely testify as to the progress and service of the association (J.E.A.).

There is no doubt in my mind, nor in the minds of my colleagues and lay leaders of that community, that the J.E.A. has been instrumental in making its affiliated Jewish schools acceptable and desirable. It is not always smooth sailing. It took a great deal of effort and genuine sacrifice from those community-minded Jews who braved the initial steps in this consecrated venture. In fact, one such ardent pioneer for the cause of Jewish Education, Sylvan H. Kohn, is being honored on this 15th anniversary.

Now that I have been working in Providence for the past six months, I fully realize that Jewish educators here are on an island—no joint administrative functions, no community standards on Jewish education, no assistance for securing personnel, etc., etc.

In short, "Yeder Einer Macht Shabbas Far-sich", and what a sad Shabbas!

It is precisely because Jewish education is voluntary that we can't afford to move along in such dangerous complacency. We need concrete, professional assistance in order to make our schools dynamic and desirable.

At last, Providence too is striving for self improvement—"for maximum Jewish education, for the maximum number of children"—recognizing of course, that each school must retain its autonomy and its ideological differences, the latter accounting for necessary differences of emphasis in curriculum; yet always remembering that we all study the same Torah, the same heritage and worship the same God.

Perhaps one of the most significant and glowing lessons that we can teach our youngsters, all the Jewish children of Providence, is the lesson of "K'lal Yisrael," fellowship of Israel, and what better illustration can there be than this one!

"See, my child: 'All Jews are responsible for one another,' and so, in order to have the best type of Jewish education for you and your friends, they all work together pooling their efforts, ideas and personnel, despite the many differences in interpretation and emphasis."

I should like the individuals of the planning committee of the G.J.C. to know that I personally shall be happy to "lend a hand" in laying the foundation for this structure; and in so doing, not only will I be making my humble contribution to the Jewish Community, but ultimately to my very own responsibility—Beth El Religious School.

B & P Women Plan Musical Program

Business and Professional Women of Hadassah will be treated to a musical evening: "Israel in Dance and Song," on Wednesday, Feb. 20 at 8:15 P. M. at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel.

Miss Belle Rubinstein, featured speaker, will describe her recent trip to Israel. The IZFA Dance Group of Brown and Pembroke Chapters of Hillel, led by Miss Doyve Cohen, will present Israel dances and songs. Participants will include the Misses Eleanor Brown, Carla Newman and Phyllis Rome, and Andrew Blazar, Gerald Borodach, Norman Orodenker and Ori Sherman.

Miss Evelyn Greenstein, president, will open the meeting with comments on Hadassah Youth Services, and Mrs. David Hassenfeld will be chairman of the evening.

In the New Miriam Hospital operating rooms, delivery rooms, and X-Ray rooms will have modern air conditioning.

Celebrities and Gifts Galore at B'nai B'rith Sports Day

Sons and "adopted sons" of Roger Williams Lodge, B'nai B'rith were entertained at the annual Fathers and Sons Day sports program Sunday at Plantations Club Auditorium. Approximately 350 youngsters attended the affair, which included a community sing led by Leo Weiss and his accordion, a new bagful of hilarious tricks by Manny Williams, the Magic Maker, Sandy Stoller's dog Buttons, who seems to be able to count up to four --plus a panel of local and national sports celebrities, and literally hundreds of prizes. Highlights of the program are shown here.

LOOKING OVER THE PRIZES—This group of youngsters, representing several races and creeds, managed to get up on stage for a closer examination of the prizes. Special guests of the Lodge included AZA, Boy and Cub Scouts, and groups of boys from the CYO, Fox Point, and the State Home and School. One Fox Point boy had the rather pleasant task of taking home a huge ping pong table.

DOOR PRIZES WERE AWARDED to all boys as they entered the auditorium. Handing out the hockey tickets, yo-yo pencils, knives and candy were, left to right: Archie Bellin, Herman F. Feinstein, Saul Hodosh, Henry Husserl, Coleman Zimmerman, Burton Finberg, Dave Yanover, and George Goldsmith.

HIS NUMBER CAME UP: Howard Rabinowitz receives a basketball from Bertram L. Bernhardt. Joe Stanzler, on the stage, and Coleman Zimmerman lend a hand.

Foods To Remember

SWEET AND SOUR POT-ROAST

Number 1

- 3 pounds fat brisket
- salt and pepper
- dill and bay leaf
- 1 thin-sliced onion
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Season meat with salt and pepper, place in a pan, add a little dill and bay leaf, add onion and boiling water, cover pot tightly and let simmer over a slow fire two hours or until almost tender. If necessary to add more water, add it a little at a time. Add sugar and lemon juice to taste, and let simmer 15 to 30 minutes longer. Use stewed or strained tomatoes or tomato juice instead of water, if desired.

Number 2: with Honey

- 2 pounds fat brisket
- salt and pepper
- 1 cup boiling water
- 6 medium onions, sliced
- 1/2 pound honey
- 1 slice honey cake or rye bread
- juice of 1 lemon

Season meat with salt and pepper, place in a pot, add onions and boiling water. Cover pot, and let simmer over a slow fire an hour and a half or until meat is almost tender, adding more water as necessary. Remove onions if desired, add honey and let cook with meat, stirring frequently to prevent burning. Soak honey cake or rye bread in a little water, mash when soft, and add to honey, mixing well. Add lemon juice. Let cook until meat is tender.

Paints Canvas for Discussion Group

Members of the Thursday Night Discussion Group, meeting last night at the Jewish Community Center, saw the development of a painting on canvas from start to finish as the feature of their program.

The painting was created by C. Gordon Harris, prominent Rhode Island artist, who painted one of his New England snow scenes in one hour, starting with a bare canvas. Harris explained the use and application of color and composition during his demonstration.

He was introduced by Dr. Aaron R. Nemtsov, chairman for the evening. Miss Beatrice Levin headed the refreshments committee and Miss Marilyn Kagan was in charge of publicity.

The auditorium of the New Miriam Hospital will be used for medical meetings, health lectures and exhibits to the public. It will seat 250 people.

The office of the New Miriam Hospital will be equipped with modern business machine accounting system for financial control, statistics and perpetual inventory.

Plans Holiday Affairs

Arrangements for the annual Purim party were completed at a meeting of the Gabrilowitz Family Circle Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Maurice Cohen of 57 Higgins Avenue. Samuel Alperin, president, appointed the following committees for the affair, which will take place on Sunday, March 9 in Sons of Zion Synagogue: Mesdames Faye Alperin, Irma Silverman and Gloria Cohen, refreshments, and Syd Cohen, program.

Plans also were made for the fourth annual Seder.

The evening's program consisted of readings by Philip Gabrilowitz, chaplain, and Syd Cohen.

The New Miriam Hospital will have a department of physical medicine to cooperate in community rehabilitation programs.

Labor Zionist Council Arranging Israel Bond Rally

MEN AND WOMEN VOLUNTEERS OF LABOR ZIONIST COUNCIL put the finishing touches this week to plans for their big Bonds for Israel rally on Sunday evening, Feb. 24, at the Plantations Auditorium. Sharing the spotlight will be the famed "$64 Question" man himself, Phil Baker; and Yaacov Shapiro, Israel's first Attorney General and a member of the second Knesset (Parliament).

ENTHUSIASM AND SPIRIT have been displayed by Pioneer Women in shaping up their organization's participation in the Council's Israel Bond activities. Some of their number are shown at a recent meeting at the Narragansett Hotel.

THE "$64 ANSWER" to the Israel Bond question is more than a catchy gimmick for these Labor Zionist Council officials and Bond volunteers, who met recently at the home of the Council's veteran chairman, Alter Boyman.

"WITH A SUN LIFE POLICY, NOBODY WORRIES!"

BURTON S. HIMELFARB, Representative

Pardon My Glove
By CHARLES W. PINE

A. J. LEIBLING, in the Feb. 9 issue of the New Yorker Magazine, somewhat plaintively calls attention to two regrettable shortages in boxing today—the virtual dearth of bantamweights (the little men who might fight at a top weight of 118 pounds in their division) and the lack of outstanding Jewish boxers in any division.

Leibling, who gets around quite a bit—as you might suspect from the column head to which he usually signs his name, "A Reporter At Large"—is a remarkably well-informed patron of boxing. Recently he spent several days at the famed Stillman's gymnasium in New York, interviewing a host of managers, trainers, promoters, fighters and the usual lot of hangers-on, before he attempted to set down the answers to the two above-mentioned present peculiarities of the game.

There is a lack of Jewish fighters today, he decided, because "times are good and a Jewish boy can make a dollar" without submitting himself to the gruelling routine still demanded of competent ringmen. In contrast, he notes, the depression period of the early thirties brought forth a number of capable Jewish fighters—"particularly in cities like New York, Philadelphia and Chicago where they were among the best drawing cards."

Leibling's findings in this last direction were underscored by an unnamed manager lounging about Stillman's who said with considerable feeling: "With a good Jewish fighter now, you could make a fortune of money."

He quotes Whitey Bimstein, still one of the best trainers in the game, as observing: "The only fighters who work hard today are the colored boys, because for them it's still tough outside. The good white fighters you got coming up, you could count them on your fingers," the inference being, of course, that the "good" Jewish boxers could be counted rather easily on one's thumbs.

In trying to determine why the once-plentiful bantamweight is now nearly as extinct as the duck-billed platypus, Leibling is forced to fall back on the anthropological contention that the human race, as a whole, is growing heavier faster. He notes, too, that the boxing public's fancy is presently concentrated on the featherweight through heavyweight divisions and that, even if a clever "natural" bantam came along, his managers would attempt to build him up to a featherweight "in order to get him enough work."

AS SYD COHEN will testify, this column was written prior to the Marciano-Savold fight of Feb. 13 in Philadelphia. But it's hardly going out on a limb to predict that Rocky will have little trouble in disposing of the ancient mariner from Paterson, N. J. "Ox" Da-Grosa, the boxing commissioner in Philly, has a penchant for putting his large feet in his mouth when he sounds off, but the other day he came forth with the question that should have been emphasized by more boxing scribes—namely, why was the match made in the first place?

The truth, we suspect, is that Rocky can use the conditioning he'll get from training for the bout while he awaits the result of next June's slow foxtrot between Walcott and Charles for the heavyweight title. And, of course, both Rocky and his handlers can always use the money he'll pick up for stiffening the aging veteran. That the fight will draw comparatively well is due solely to the public's desire in those parts to get a glimpse of the mighty-punching Marciano in action—and not because there's the slightest danger of Savold emerging the victor.

Incidentally, why did so many boxing writers in New York and Philly make so much mention of the fact that Savold was still regarded in Britain as the world's heavy champ (by virtue of a 1950 KO over the even more decrepit Bruce Woodcock) and so little mention of the fact that even the fast-fading Joe Louis found little trouble in chilling Savold as recently as last June?

SINCE WE SEEM to be in rather a complaining mood this week, let's train our guns on Joe Walcott's pious indignation at being told by the New York boxing commission that world titles should be defended more often than once a year. Personally, we're in complete agreement with the hard-hitting opinion expressed by Bob Christenberry, the dapper, dynamic New York commission chairman who has done more to win back honest respect for boxing than virtually anyone except Nat Fleischer, Abe Greene and Rhode Island's own Tony Petronella.

The "Marquis of Christenberry" said it was unfair to other aspirants for a so-called "champion" to monopolize a title for periods of a year or more by refusing to sign for a title match with a logical contender. Rightfully, he pointed out that boxing's welfare is in direct proportion to the frequency with which "title" bouts are held in the various divisions, particularly the heavyweight class. Indirectly, he handed a deserving orchid at Joe Louis when he noted that the Brown Bomber, while champ, was always willing to meet any logical contender at any time and almost any place.

While he was at it, Christenberry tossed a verbal left hook squarely at the chin of the "return match" deals worked out between fading champions and up-and-coming hopefuls. The result too frequently, Christenberry inferred, has been a series of dreary waltzes between the principal paychecks of the various managerial combines "in" at the moment, with the public paying for the orchestra, as it always does.

But to get back to Jersey Joe Walcott. We don't question the sincerity of his religious fervor but we do sharply question his statement that he "hasn't made $15 since winning the title." Walcott has taken part in a goodly number of exhibition matches, and has refereed many more, since catching Ezzard Charles with a lucky haymaker last June. In addition, he has lent his "endorsement" to a number of commercial commodities that enjoy wide sales among colored people. Frankly, we don't think he's done it just for "publicity and peanuts." His new home, his educational foundation and his purported tavern—to mention just three enterprises that come to mind—all required or will require more than "peanuts" to finance.

Some people attempt to condone Walcott's bleatings by reminding us that "Jersey Joe had a tough life." Undoubtedly he did, but so did a number of other champions—and a lot of forthcoming champs like George Araujo, for example. But how many ultimate titleholders ever had as many chances at the crown as did Walcott—five to be exact—before they registered "beano"?

Sure, we have an inherent liking for Walcott but, in the interests of boxing, we reserve the right to question him about a number of things—such as his true income, his correct age and his self-asserted right to tie up the title until he sees fit to defend it against somebody of his own choosing!

Touro to Request Bloodmobile in April

Touro Fraternal Association is making arrangements to have a special Bloodmobile Day at Touro Hall early in April, it was announced at the last meeting by Alfred Weinstock and Joseph Block, co-chairmen of the blood donors committee. The Bloodmobile drive is under the auspices of the American Red Cross for men in the armed forces in Korea and elsewhere throughout the world.

A minimum of 200 donors will be needed before arrangements for the Bloodmobile can be completed, the chairmen said. Donors cards may be obtained from Weinstock and Block, Dr. Harold Hanzel, Touro president, or Charles Coken, secretary.

Jewish Flag Hangs for Buller

NEW YORK CITY (AJP)—The mystery of a huge Jewish flag draped in a bleacher section of majestic Madison Square Garden during home games of the New York Rangers ice hockey club was solved this week in the person of puckstar Hy Buller.

Buller, a Cleveland, O., favorite, is one of the very few professional Jewish hockey players in the big leagues today. A defenseman, Buller is rated one of the Rangers' most valuable properties.

Jewish hockey fans—and there are many in the Big Town—have gone all out for swift Buller. Whenever the Rangers play the home rink, a group of Jewish blade enthusiasts drape their section with a large flag bearing the Star of David and shout encouragement to Buller.

For the protection of foods and other perishable materials the New Miriam Hospital will have seven walk-in refrigerators and coolers.

SYD COHEN:

Pitching With the Head

Many a manager would have drooled at the sight of the array of pitching talent on the stage at Plantations Club auditorium Sunday afternoon for the annual Fathers and Sons Day sponsored by Roger Williams Lodge, B'nai B'rith. It isn't every day you can see two such outstanding young prospects as Chet Nichols and Clem Labine, along with a trusty veteran like Max Surkont, on the same platform.

That was just the pitching brigade, of course. The sports panel that answered questions from the youngsters in the audience also included George Araujo—properly introduced, I think, as next lightweight champion of the world; Terry Reardon, a very tired hockey coach, who had just returned from a long trip to Hershey and whose wife was home ill—yet, who managed to show up on schedule and stay the full distance.

We can't omit Jim Duffy, sophomore umpire of the American League, if only because Jim was the target of a nifty crack pulled by young Nichols, who really thinks fast. More of that later.

Other details and names will be found on another page of this issue.

Backstage, a group of us talked to Clem Labine, a most personable fellow with an engaging smile, a ready and frank answer and a very healthy attitude. As might have been expected, Clem had been asked a few touchy questions from the audience—what he thought of Chuck Dressen's removing Newcombe for Branca in that big game of 1951—how he felt when he saw that home run of Bobby Thomson's sailing into the stands, etc.

Labine defended Dressen, saying that everyone could see that Newcombe was weakening, while Branca had good stuff in the bullpen. No, he did not think he had been held back during the latter part of the season. During that crucial series with the Braves, he pointed out, the veterans like Roe and Newcombe and Branca were rested and ready, and they had to be used at a critical time like that.

As for the home run, "that was the first time I ever saw $5,000 fly into the stands". Told that Sugar Ray Robinson almost passed out, because he had a big bundle of cabbage wagered on the Brooklyn side, Clem grinned: "I almost passed out too."

Labine thinks very highly of Jackie Robinson. You must include him right up there with Stan Musial as a great hitter, he said. Nichols, too, termed Jackie a very tough man to get out.

I asked Clem for his reaction to the ballyhoo going around that he is being groomed to take Newcombe's place as the ace hurler on the Dodgers staff. Yes, he had heard something about that. He warned that replacing a pitcher like Big Don was no cinch, and he didn't expect to match his feats. But "it would be wonderful" to get a chance to start every fourth or fifth day, and he is confident he has the stuff to win.

Clem is deceptive looking in the weight department. Our guesses ranged from 175 to 185. He told us he goes 201 at present, but will be at 185 for the season.

Duffy told me he already has been assigned to tour with the Red Sox for the first part of the spring training grind. He leaves for Florida on March 1.

But that Nichols—it's difficult to realize that he is only 20 years old. He was quick-witted at the recent Words Unlimited dinner, and he had the classic remark Sunday afternoon.

One youngster in the audience asked Duffy to define a balk. Jim reminded the kid that there are several different kinds of balk, and suggested that the question be turned over to the pitchers, who are always making them. Nichols grabbed the mike, and said sweetly to the umpire:

"He wants to see if YOU know what it is."

On a public relations basis for the Jewish people, the affair was a huge success. Not only did many of the prizes go to the young guests from the CYO, State Home and School and Fox Point (including the prize ping pong table), but one youngster, who had his shoe shine kit with him and was very shabbily dressed, touched the heart of one B'nai B'rith father so deeply that the gentleman made arrangements for the kid to get a complete new wardrobe.

There's my nominee for the mythical title of "Father of the Year."

Back to Little League

There hasn't been much noise about it as yet, but the Providence Little League organization is moving along at decent speed. Three meetings already have been held, and the actual setting up of four or five leagues is about to get underway. There is plenty of support from potential sponsors, supporters and workers.

Now the time has come to call a meeting for everyone who is interested in any and every phase of Little League. Whether you want to be a coach, instructor, umpire, administrative official, sponsor or just a spectator at Little League games—if you know of an area that can be cleared for a suitable field, or can help in getting other workers, sponsors, coaches, etc., or if you are merely an interested parent, this meeting is for you.

The meeting will be held on Thursday, Feb. 21—next Thursday—at 8 P. M. in the fourth floor auditorium of the Journal Building.

The time has come at last for action. Those of us who have worked and dreamed of this setup will be most happy to see you there.

Sumner Pearl Moves Up

Sumner Pearl, who used to do the color on the Providence Reds hockey broadcasts over WDEM, has given up his job at the microphone during the games. Sumner has been promoted to the position of program director by Lou Pieri, Reds' and WDEM owner.

BOWLING

FINEMAN-TRINKLE
by Jack Jacobson

The mighty low Senators caused the season's most surprising upset by drubbing the league-leading Phils for a clean sweep of 4 points. This unexpected defeat was a deeper humiliation for the Phils as it knocked them out of first place. Members of the heroic Senators are Capt. Sid Brown, Murray Segel, Harvey Stein, Bob Greene and George Feldman.

Gene Silverman bowled 375 for the night's honors and was followed by Justin Robinson 348, Morris Factor and Reeve Zatlloff 339, Al Resnick and Charlie Steingold 336, Chookie White 331, Nate Gordon 328, Mort Kilbanoff 324, Harry Shore and Irv Datz 321, Harold Levin and Max Cohen 319, Art Pivnick 314, Bob Greene and Phil Shaulson 312, Sam Miller, Lou Millen and Dave Allen 310, Sid Brown 308, Sam Price and Max Runstein 306, Morris Zatlloff, Leo Schwartz and Norm Bernstein 303, Danny Saltzman, Len Sumner, Don Cohen, George Feldman and Moe Goldman 301.

High single leader was Al Resnick with 160, which became second best for the league. Other single honors were Sam Shaver 127, Allan Silverman 124, Sam Feldman 114, Jerry Resnick 112, Murray Gordon, Speed Kessler and Jack Jacobson 107, Abe Lobel, E. Blonder and Gene Aronson 109, Benton Goldblatt, Irv Kaplan, Ed Lief and Irv Schaeffer 105, Joe Fishbein, Harry Goldberg, Murray Zuckerman, Stuie Steingold, Lenny Levin, Aaron Burrows and Phil Feldman 102.

By Invitation...

In a few seconds my friend will open the door.

I think I know why he asked me to come over tonight.

I know — because he has been my friend for a long time.

I know his fine character. I know how he feels for the fellow less fortunate than he.

Tonight my friend is going to tell me that he is going to establish a memorial in the New Miriam Hospital.

As a member of the hospital's Memorial Committee, I'll thank him and tell him that there is no better way he could find to honor his loved ones and at the same time do a grand thing for his neighbors and for his community.

Those things I'll tell him, and, if I knew how —
I'd also tell him how proud I am to have him for a friend.
