ADL's Civil Rights Chief to Speak

ARNOLD FORSTER

When the recent wave of anti-Semitic bombings broke out in Miami, Florida, one of the leading figures in the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith quickly boarded a plane and was on the scene within 24 hours of the time the first bomb had smashed a Jewish building.

This man, Arnold Forster, noted as the author of the widely-read book, "A Measure of Freedom," will appear in Providence next week as the guest of Roger Williams Lodge, B'nai B'rith.

Forster will address Roger Williams Lodge and Chapter at a meeting on Thursday, March 20 at Churchill House, 155 Angell Street. The meeting will start at 8 P. M.

Prepare Plans to "Normalize" Raising of Money for Israel

JERUSALEM — Plans to "normalize" fund-raising for Israel by abolishing all drives, except the United Israel Appeal and the sale of Israeli bonds, are being prepared by the Keren Hayesod here, it was revealed this week at a press conference by Eliahu Dobkin.

A leading member of the Jewish Agency executive, he classified the fund-raising campaigns as follows:

1. "Pointless drives" for institutions whose existence is not important for the development of Israel. Such drives, he said, serve the interests of either private persons or small groups. The Keren Hayesod and the Jewish Agency will fight them "mercilessly," he declared.

2. Drives approved by the World Zionist Congress. They will receive the fullest support of the Jewish Agency. These include the Hadassah drives, Youth Aliyah and others, Dobkin said.

3. Drives which were not authorized by the Congress, such as drives for the Hebrew University, the Weizmann Institute of Science, Haifa Technion, WIZO, American Fund for Israeli Institutions and others. The Jewish Agency is negotiating with leaders of these campaigns for "normalization" of fund-raising, Dobkin stated.

4. World fund-raising organizations, such as the American Joint Distribution Committee, ORT, OSE, HIAS, all of which now operate in Israel. (The Joint Distribution Committee and United Israel Appeal are constituent agencies of the United Jewish Appeal, whose campaign is now going on.)

The Jewish Agency leader pointed out that in order to "normalize" the situation in worldwide Jewish fund-raising, all the above institutions should receive their allocations from Jerusalem, or the Keren Hayesod in Jerusalem should decide on allocations for each agency or institution which is now raising funds separately.

Dobkin said that he has no illusions that his proposal will be accepted at this time, adding that it will take a considerable time to achieve his aim.

Nathan Temkin, newly appointed membership chairman of the Zionist District of Providence, announced this week that March 16 through April 16 will be ZOA Membership Month for Providence, Cranston and neighboring communities.

The first meeting of the membership committee will be held at Temkin's home, 137 Laurel Avenue, Sunday at 10:30 A. M.

Belle Baker Coming Here for Touro Drive

Belle Baker, a headliner in show business for years, will come to Providence on Sunday, March 30. She will be the top attraction at a show sponsored by the Touro Fraternal Association, at the R. I. School of Design Auditorium.

La Belle started her career as a street singer and, at the tender age of 12, graduated to vaudeville. Since then she has made an unforgettable mark in radio, vaudeville, "legitimate" stage, films and recordings.

Lately she's been the toast of the supper clubs, and her appearance at the Touro-sponsored function, according to Club president Dr. Harold Hanzel, should be a red-letter occasion for all of the organization's members and their friends.

Leo Miller is chairman of Touro's Israel Bond Committee, which is in direct charge of the March 30 entertainment.

$150 Million Israel Aid Bill in Congress

WASHINGTON—A bill to grant Israel $150,000,000 outside of Mutual Security funds has been introduced in Congress by Rep. Charles A. Buckley, of New York, who said that he will do everything within his power to secure passage of the measure, to be known as the "Israel Aid Act of 1952." The bill was referred to the House Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Chart Historic Boat Line's Revival

BOSTON (AJP)—The son of a Jewish immigrant who rose from a penniless youth to construct more miles of subways than any other living person, was revealed this week as the key man in a project to revive Boston-to-New York ship service.

The ship service, which had its beginning in Revolutionary Days, and which for more than two centuries was traveled by commuters, was discontinued during World War II. Behind the plan to resume its operation, is Nat Rogoff, son of the late subway contractor Sam Rogoff.

$42,300 in Bonds Sold In Canvass

Hundreds of men and women volunteers who rang door bells throughout Rhode Island last Sunday—"BIG DAY"—ran up total Israel Bond sales of approximately $42,300, with Providence alone responsible for more than $20,000, it was announced this week.

Inspired by messages piped in by a special telephone hookup from Israel's Minister of Labor, Golda Myerson, and other top officials in the Bond drive, the Providence canvassers used the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel as an all-day base of operations.

According to Saul Abrams, marshal, and Mrs. Bertram Bernhard, co-marshal of BIG Day in Providence, approximately 200 volunteers canvassed hundreds of families who had not previously purchased Bonds.

They were urged to "follow up" this week and next, and the week after if necessary, on Providence area Bond prospects who were not at home last Sunday—or who, for other reasons, are still potential Bond purchasers.

The Rhode Island sales of Israel Bonds, Mr. Abrams stressed, ought, when final figures are tabulated, to compare favorably with BIG Day campaigns in other communities throughout the United States.

Benjamin R. Albert, Providence Israel Bonds Committee chairman, added a fervent appeal: "There must be scores of Providence families able and willing to buy thousands of dollars in Bonds."

"Many told us last Sunday morning they wanted a little (Continued on Page 4)

A Letter of Thanks From Israel To The Providence Community

On the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Silverman a gift of $10,000 was presented by the Jewish community of Providence for the purpose of having a synagogue built in Israel in their honor. Alvin A. Sopkin, president of the General Jewish Committee of Providence, this week received the following letter of thanks and acknowledgement from the Israel Synagogue-Center Building Fund in Jerusalem, of which Mrs. Archibald Silverman is organizer and chairman.

This Fund is sponsored by the Keren Hayesod (Israel Foundation Fund), of which M. Ussoskin, whose signature is on the letter, is treasurer. He is also treasurer of the Israel Synagogue-Center Building Fund. The letter, dated February 22, reads as follows:

"We acknowledge with many thanks the gift of $10,000, which the Jewish Community of Providence handed over, on February 25, 1951, to Rabbi Judah L. Maimon, for our Fund, in honor of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Silverman.

"This sum is to be utilized in the erection of the projected synagogue in the cultural center to be built at the entrance to the eternal city of Jerusalem. A plaque commemorating the benevolence of the Jewish Community of your city will be affixed to the synagogue when it is completed. "The generosity of your Community is greatly appreciated by all concerned."

When interviewed this week, Mrs. Silverman informed that she had received latest news that the plaque has already been placed at the entrance of the synagogue to be viewed by visitors to this cultural center. She stated, "It will undoubtedly be most gratifying to the donors to the above mentioned synagogue to learn that it is part of the newly constructed Rabbi Kook Cultural Center, and stands in a commanding position at the entrance to Jerusalem from the Tel Aviv road. All tourists, for generations to come, will visit this beautiful edifice, upon whose wall has been placed the tablet with its inscription. Thus, until the end of time will the Jewish community of Rhode Island be linked with the spiritual upbuilding of Israel, our Holy Land!"

Court Order Halts Distribution of Bibles

HACKENSACK, N. J.—A Catholic and a Jewish parent won a temporary injunction restraining the Rutherford, N. J., Board of Education from implementing its recent resolution to permit the Gideon Society to distribute the King James Protestant version of the New Testament in the Rutherford public schools.

The injunction, granted by Judge J. Wallace Leyden in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Bergen County venue, also ordered the Board of Education to show cause as to why the restraining order should not be continued pending the final outcome of the case. A hearing on the restraining order was set for the end of this month.

The action came on a complaint of Ralph LeCocque and Bernard Tudor, who asked the court to enjoin the proposed distribution of the Gideon Bible and to declare the action of the Board of Education an illegal infringement upon the constitutional requirement that state and sectarian interests are to be kept separate and apart.

Alter Boyman introduced Major Maxwell Cohen of Boston, who spoke on his recent trip to Israel. Others participating in the program were Rabbi Abraham Chill, and Joseph Lengyel, Yiddish and Israeli folk singer, assisted by Arthur Einstein.

Pick Hedy Lamarr For Esther Role

HOLLYWOOD (AJP)—A Viennese Jewess is being prepared for the second time in two years to play a lead role in cinemaland's profitable excursion into the Old Testament.

Attractive Hedy Lamarr, it was learned, will star in an independent production entitled "The Story of Esther," another in a series of films centering about Biblical themes and which have sent theater "takes" soaring to a near-time record pace.

Miss Lamarr, the female star of "Samson and Delilah," was credited with helping that film gross more than $7,000,000. A second Biblical film, "David and Bathsheba" led the box office train during 1951.

The latest in the series built around Jewish heroes and heroines, "The Story of Esther," is expected to be filmed in Italy.

In addition to Forster's address, the joint meeting will feature election of officers for the 1952-53 season. Reports of B'nai B'rith activities will be given.

Our Best Wishes...

are extended to our dear Rabbi, David Werner, on his trip to Israel, with three purposes in mind: 1—Seeing the Holy Land; 2—Visiting and Honoring his Dear Mother, whom he hasn't seen in 27 years; and 3—Joining his family in performing the marriage of their dear daughter, Sylvia.

We hope that our Rabbi and his youngest daughter, Saralee, will enjoy their trip, and upon his return will bring us happy news from our brethren in the Holy Land.

We cordially invite the entire Rhode Island Jewish community to send their regards as well as their financial aid to their relatives and friends by contacting our Rabbi. We likewise beg to send Mo'oth-Hittim for the poor inhabitants in Israel. Our Rabbi will do his best to distribute the funds to the most needy there, thus bringing in rays of light in the poor dwellings on the Holy Passover.

People are asked to contact our Rabbi until Wednesday, March 19, by calling PL 1-6140 or by visiting him at his residence on 25 Mulberry Street, Providence.

A farewell party for Rabbi Werner will take place in the vestry of the Congregation on Tuesday evening, March 18 at 7:30 P. M. Everyone is invited and welcome.

With best wishes for a Happy and Kosher Passover.

Editor's Mailbox

Defends Segal

By a strange coincidence, I am now in a position to judge who is right about "Bagels and Yox." During the weekend I visited some friends in Boston who had tickets for the show, and I saw the revue unexpectedly.

I must say that the audience made me feel very uneasy with the wild outbursts of wild yoxing at every word and suggestive gesture from the comedians. I was glad that it was strictly for Jeus only.

As for "Indignant," who was so upset with Mr. Segal's article about the show, I must say that she puzzles me. I don't play the piano, and I don't paint, and as for books, I leave it to the Book-of-the-Month Club to choose them for me. But I know when a play is good or in bad taste.

"Bagels and Yox" isn't even a comedy play. Comedy must have a plot and have action. This show is just a conglomeration of shady anecdotes and remodeled funny routines so overworked on television, and then suddenly they wax melodramatic and sentimental of the "shmaltziest" kind. How people who insist that they are cultural can recommend this show to friends and guarantee a good time is quite beyond me.

In conclusion, let me say that I do not know Mr. Segal in person. All I know of him is from his writings, and I don't think that "Indignant" was fair to him. Moreover, I am not ashamed to put my full name to all I said here.

Regional CJFWF Conclave Here Mar. 22

Julian Freeman, of Indianapolis, national president of the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds, will make his first appearance before New England Jewish leaders this year at the 18th annual conference of the Council's New England Region, to be held March 22-23, at the Hotel Sheraton-Biltmore, Providence. It was announced this week by Bernard P. Kopkind of New Haven, Regional president.

More than 150 delegates from 24 Jewish communities in the area will participate in the two-day conference. Joseph W. Ross is chairman of the program committee for the Conference, which will be opened by a message of greetings to the delegates from Alvin A. Sogkitt, General Jewish Committee president.

Key issues facing the Jewish communities of America in 1952, including efforts to coordinate local programs in behalf of Israel's Four Point Program campaign organization and leadership, Jewish community relations programs and strengthening of local social services will be discussed by the delegates. They will outline plans and recommendations to aid the communities in meeting their world-wide Jewish responsibilities. Freeman will set the keynote for 1952 welfare fund objectives at the opening Conference session, Saturday evening, March 22. His address will encompass the full range of problems and needs which must be met this year in Israel, overseas, nationally and at home.

Two concurrent workshops on health and welfare planning and community organization will highlight the Sunday morning program.

The session on local social services will aid large cities in developing and coordinating present programs in behalf of their constituents. It will further help the communities to keep abreast of latest developments and trends in the fields of care of the aged, health and medical, leisure-time activities, child care and Jewish education.

"The Role of the Federation in Face of Local Conflict or Controversy" will be explained at the meeting for smaller cities.

At the Sunday business luncheon, final session of the Conference, delegates will study Jewish community relations in America. This issue has received major attention from Jewish communities in recent months as a result of Professor Robert M. MacIver's study of national and local programs in this area of service.

The delegates will review recommendations voted at the Council's 10th General Assembly and the NCRAC's Plenary Assembly to implement the MacIver Report, and the progress made in carrying them out on the national level. In line with this, they will appraise the role and responsibilities of Jewish community relations councils on the local scene.

Three other major sessions on youth, women and family service programs will round out the Conference's survey of the local picture.

The young adult meeting will place the spotlight on training increasing numbers of young people for communal service and developing them for future leadership in the community. Similarly, the women's participation discussion will emphasize the role and responsibility of women for year-round service, instead of solely on a fund raising basis. The family service session will concentrate on adjusting programs to provide greater assistance to those persons who need counseling, psychiatric care and guidance.

BOWLING

FINEMAN-TRINKLE

Upsets have again bunched the American division and in the National division the unexpected loss of the first place Phils to the White Sox has tightened the race somewhat in that circuit.

Gene Silverman (322) has been the "money bowler" for his Yankees and after a long step-by-step haul has finally put them in second place just 3 points behind the leaders. Reeve Zatliff (319) and captain Al Resnick (320) helped the Indians take the series from the slipping Dodgers.

Abe Lobel (325) rolled double strikes in every string and the Cubs were the team to finally stop the Senators who had the best team record during February. For the Senators, George Feldman rolled 356 but it gave them only 1 point.

Other leading bowlers were Murray Gordon 352, Phil Shaullson 334, Charlie Steingold 330, Alan Silverman 328, F. Resnick 326, Sam Tapper and Speed Kessler 321, Moe Goldman 319, Art Pivnick 315, Morris Sattloff 313, Harry Goldberg and Justin Robinson 310, Sam Feldman 308, Sam Miller and Irving Levine 306, Jack Jacobson, Nate Gordon, Sid Brown and Dave Allen 304; Phil Feldman, Stule Steingold, Lew Kaplan, Billy Edelman, Lennie Levin and Lou Millen 301.

Better single strings were rolled by Irving Schaefer 115, Les Friedman 113, Sam Price 111, Max Runstein and Sam Shaver 109, Arnold Kleinman, Joe Fishbein, Don Cohen and Gene Aronson 106, Milt Israeloff, Norm Bernstein, Danny Saltzman and Arky Burrows 104, Jerry Resnick, Norman Gordon, Murray Segal, Bob Greene and Wally Genser 102, and Harold Golden 100.

CRANSTON MEN'S

by Phil Chopak

With but six nights left on the season's schedule, the problem for the rest of the league seems to be how to stop the Tigers. Moe Bernstein's gang looks the one to beat as they retained their hold on first once again, protecting a 3-point advantage. Seymour Kriss' Pirates, in and out of first place in the past few weeks, came roaring back to grab second spot, two games in front of the third place Dodgers. The Yanks hold fourth position, one game back of the Straussmen and two in front of Wally Shwartz' Cubs.

Ed Lang topped the high three and single divisions for the night as he registered a 366 triple and 137. Moe Cofman rolled 340, Ed Feinberg 337, Nate Shwartz 334, Mike Miller 332, Al Samdperil 330, Moe Filler 329 and Harold Warren 327.

The better high singles were Al

Sydney 126, Irv Rubin 119, Sid Levey 117, Al Cohen 116, Art Seigel 116, Jerry Fish 114, Al Silverstein and Al Levy 110, Aaron Davis 110, Max Levy 108, Al Marks 107 and Murray Potemkin 105.

BETH EL BOWLING

By Joe Gutterball

Vin DeCesaris rolled 393, including a single of 140, as he increased his lead in the race for high individual average. At the same time, Howie Fain's team moved into a first-place tie in the National Division with Mal Mickler's bowlers. Lou Feldman's team, with a record of 60 wins and 27 losses and a team average of 506, sets the pace in the American Division.

Lou registered a 354 total, with a 131 single. His brother Morris rolled 358, including a single of 125. Other high scores included Joe Postar 350, H. Pierstone 347, Al Gordon 346, Allie Shatkin 346, Murray Trinkle, 333, Frank Supnick 332, Perry Shatkin 325, and Aaron Sutton and Dave Swerling 324.

EMANUEL BOWLING

by Sid Green

The league leading Indians only managed a split in their match with the fifth place Tigers, but they didn't lose any ground to the second place Athletics who also split with the Pirates. Sherm Price 349 and Lenny Waldman 343 were the big guns for the Indians, while Vitty Dwares' 327 was tops for the Tigers. Milt Stallman's 345 was the big noise in the buccaneers' tie with the A's who were kept in the match by Mal Paynor's 343. The Browns moved to within five points of first place with a 4-point sweep against the Reds. Miles Goldberg's 327 and Milt Price's 322 were high for the losers, while the Brownies were paced by Howie Cohen's 357 and Sid Green's 350.

The Cubs kept a one point hold on fourth place with a 3-1 win over the Yanks as Jack Broadman played the hero with a 355. Marty Ross 113, 102, 116 tried hard for the Yanks. Pappy Platkin 329 and Feldman 325 saved the Braves from a shut-out as they lost 1-3 to the Dodgers. Lefty Goralnik's 127, 93, 159 was best for the winners, while team-made Woiler came up with 121, 122, and 112.

The Cards were white-washed again. Goldstein 348, Jagolliner 328 and Whitman 326 were the big three in the Giants' 4-0 victory. The White Sox took four from the Red Sox, and so kept 3 points ahead of them. Leo (TV) Miller 374, Gollis 368 and A. Press 345 did the trick for the W. S., while I. Solmer 349 and H. Berman 323 rolled well for the losers. Good single strings were chalked up by M. Davis 133, Greenberg 129, George Miller 117, Mann 116, Nussenfeld 115, Gerber 114, Samdperil 112 and both Morris Waldman and B. Chase 111.

The New Miriam Hospital will employ full time scientists in laboratory and X-ray departments.

BOWLING

PROVIDENCE FRATERNAL by Ben Medwin

It took a one week layoff for some bowlers to get going and post some pretty good scores. Buzzie Labush with 127-101-138 for 366 took over as top man of the league. With help from yours truly with 102-104-128 for 334, and Jagolinzer with 314, Liberty took three from Fraternity, although Brown tried to help them with a 346 score. Loyalty had to take four from Security to hold on to top spot by only one game over second place Unity who had to take three from bottom team Justice.

Other high threes were Shaw 328, Jaffa 325, Rose 320, Chaiken 319, Goldenberg and Seltzer 316, Lazarus 312, Kitzes 311 and Sklaroff 305.

R. I. J. F. A. BOWLING by Louis Sacarovitz

I. Baker surprised everyone by racking up 106, 103 and 107 for a high 316. Other high scores were made by Arden Klar 102, 102 and 88 for 292, Refkin with 101, Irv. Kotlen 111, and Aaron Seigal 104. Aaron Seigal still leads the league with 133 for high single and 332 for high three. Arden Klar leads in high averages with 95. He is also in third place for high single and in second place for high three. Team 2 lost all three games to team 3 and team 1 won two games and lost one.

LUCKY STRIKERS BOWLING

The Atomizers defeated the Firebugs by winning all three games and total pinfall. The Rebels and the Texans are still running extremely close for top honors. The Rebels are one game ahead.

SUNNYSIDE DEBS by Estelle Weiner

CRANSTON PLAIDS by Elayne Chopak

Sippy Kessler, Gladys Filler and Belle Feinberg each bowled a spare on a strike. Bev Sugerman rolled three spares in a row to make high single of 115. The Green Team is still leading although they had to roll off two extra boxes on the last string to gain their one point for the evening, giving them a two point lead over Yellow.

At a time when the Jewish Community is being called upon to support many fund-raising campaigns in behalf of the new Jewish state, we are confident that it will remember its role as an active, well-informed segment of the area at large and that it will give unstintingly to the Rhode Island American Red Cross Campaign, currently participating in the national drive.

Every part of our American community is the benefactor of the Red Cross. We need not re-emphasize the organization's work in times of national and local disaster and as an agent for the dissemination of medical knowledge and social service. The Jewish community here will thus show its faith in a truly democratic venture by giving to the limit of its means.

Travel Notes

The State of Israel Bond Drive is searching for the prettiest coed, for the Purim Festival at Madison Square Garden, to be crowned Queen Esther—the Jewish maiden who liberated her people from the tyrant Haman of ancient Persia . . . The search has narrowed to 20 beauties. The winner will get a free trip to Israel. The favorite among the 20 contenders is Peggy McCarthy of 200 PAVONIA AVE., Jersey City.

The Jangler

Daye Binder, the bandleader and composer, has become one of the busiest jingle writers in the Radio and TV field. In the past few months advertising agencies have used over 25 of his jingles. His new career began accidentally . . . He visited a friend at an agency, to listen to a jingle which was recorded for broadcast the next morning. Binder heard the melody, that of a popular song, and reminded the agency-man that this violated the copyright laws. His distressed friend asked Binder to help him meet the deadline the next day. That's how his first jingle was born . . . His newest one, "Holiday Song," has become so popular that he's now writing new lyrics to it for release as a popular song.

Auxiliary Past Presidents Meet

A meeting of past presidents of Ladies Auxiliary Post 23, Jewish War Veterans, was held last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Lena Borod, 245 Cole Avenue. The following attended: Mrs. Anna Field, president; Mrs. Nettie Cohen, secretary; and Mesdames Anna Robinson, Rose Parizer, Winnie Mistowsky, Juliana Wolkoff, Ann Lipsey, Ida Pearl, Esther Bloom and Jessie Goldstein, president of Auxiliary 23. curious examinations of the straw, before letting the Soviet worker pass. Then he began to make more thorough inspection of the straw piled atop the wheelbarrow, but still could find nothing hidden. After a month of this the guard finally stopped the worker, who was leaving with a wheelbarrow full of straw, lifted the straw carefully and again could find nothing hidden in it. "Look," said the guard, "I'm about to be sent to the Urals, because of something I've done. So it doesn't matter, and I give you my word I won't tell. I won't tell anyone. But I'm curious—what are you stealing?" . . . "I steal," the worker confided, "wheel barrows."

"One Man's Opinion"

Three Who Laughed

BY BERYL SEGAL

Once there was a king, and he had three sons. Since he was a very busy king he had little time to give to the education of his sons. So the king hired the best of tutors to teach his three princes and to prepare them for the life of royalty.

Years passed by quickly, as years are in a habit of doing, and before the king knew it, his three sons grew up to manhood.

One day the king said to himself:

"Here are my sons, grown up, ready to take their place in the world, and I hardly know them. What kind of men did they grow up to be? What do they think? What do they feel? What do they like, and what are their dislikes?"

And since he was a great king, he summoned a wise man to tell him how he might learn to know his sons. The wise man said very wisely and very briefly:

"By their laughter you shall know your sons, my king."

So the king called his three sons together one day, and he told them to go out into the streets and the market places of the city, and to look for something that would call forth their laughter.

At the end of the day the three sons returned, and they came before their father, the king.

The older son spoke first:

"In the market where the horse traders gather, I met a jester, and I followed him. He was a little man, and there was mischief in his eyes. He watched the traders wrangle over prices, and he imitated their gestures, and he stuck his tongue out at them behind their back. He was a funny little fellow. Then he tiptoed behind a fat horse trader and he pinned a donkey's tail to the hem of his coat. It was funny, father, to see the fat man waddling among the horses' stalls, and the tail wagging from his coat, and the little jester following him and pointing at his tail.

"Everybody laughed, and the fat man looked puzzled, and he turned this way and that, until he discovered the donkey's tail, and he saw the gesticulating jester, and he ran after him. The little fellow was nimbler than the fat trader and he gave him a merry chase, and finally he tripped him, and the fat man slipped into a mud puddle.

"It was a funny sight, father, and the whole market place roared with mirth."

Then spoke the second son:

"On a busy street I met a clown and he said to me 'Give me my food and drink for the day and

I will make you merry'. So I took him inside a public eating place, and we sat at a table to await our turn.

"Next to us sat a man who had a bowl of soup brought to him. When the man bent down to pick up the napkin which slipped down to the floor, the clown quickly picked up the salt and pepper shakers and he emptied both of them into the soup. The unsuspecting man mixed his soup with the spoon, savoring the aroma, and then tasted a spoonful of the food.

"No sooner did the soup touch his tongue than the poor man jumped up, and he screamed, and his eyes were filled with mist, and his face grew red. He summoned the waiter, and shook his finger at him angrily, not being able to talk clearly, because his tongue was numb. The waiter brought over the owner and all three of them argued, and pointed, and everybody in the place turned around to watch the argument.

"Finally the waiter brought two spoons, one for himself and one for the owner, and they both tasted of the salt-and-peppered soup, and they, too, jumped and grew red in the face, and their eyes bulged, and all the people in the house rocked with laughter.

"But the clown and I laughed loudest, because we alone knew the source of the droolery."

The youngest son spoke last:

"On the square before the palace I came upon a squad of the royal guards. The men stood straight and tall and motionless, and in front of them the officer of the squad stood looking at them, inspecting them. He was a pompous fellow, and his breast arched forward, and his black mustache bristled in a curve, pointing upwards, and the medals on his chest glistened in the sun, and when he uttered a command, it sounded like the bark of a bulldog.

"The men stood in terror before him, and they looked like wax-made soldiers. At the bark from the officer they turned right and left, moved forward and backward, up with their arms and down with them—puppets moving at the tug of an invisible wire.

"Just then a little urchin stopped to watch, and after a while he lifted his right arm as if holding a sword aloft, and he arched forward his breast, and he stroked his imaginary mustache, and he puffed up his cheeks, and he stood in back of the officer, and he imitated every motion, like a shadow. The guards looked and gaped, and turned away their eyes so as not to burst out laughing. But then one of the guards could no longer hold back his laughter, and after him, like a tide, all the others let go with a ripple of merry laughter.

"The officer screamed in anger at the spectacle, and then turned around quickly and caught the urchin in his act of marching pompously with the sword aloft in his right hand and his left hand held akimbo.

"For a while it looked as if the officer would jump on the urchin like a wild cat jumps on his prey. But to everybody's surprise, the officer stopped in his tracks and he stroked his mustache, and he suddenly joined in the merriment.

"Like water over a dam, the laughter flew freely in the square, the officer's laughter ringing loudest, and it seemed that even the sun shone brighter at that moment."

The king listened to the words of his three sons, and to the things they saw in the streets and on the squares of the city, and to the manner of their laughter, and he said:

"Verily, there was great wisdom in the words of the wise man, when he said 'By their laughter you shall know your sons, my king'. Greater wisdom no man has ever spoken."

Editor:

Since the time of its organization five years ago, Parents' Association of the Jewish Community Center has been vitally concerned with the Jewish education of the children of our community. We parents have struggled with this problem individually and collectively, and with keen interest we awaited the results of the Survey of Jewish Education which was conducted last year.

When the findings and recommendations of this survey were made public, we felt confident that now the leaders of our Jewish community would make an earnest attempt to set up an overall coordinating board of Jewish education which, while recognizing the differences of all interested groups, would develop higher standards for our schools which all might strive to attain.

Therefore, we parents who are actively interested in our children's formal Jewish education through our schools and their informal Jewish education and recreational programs through the Jewish Community Center, would like to commend the General Jewish Committee on its decision to utilize community funds for such a vital community need. As a group of some 800 mothers and fathers, representing every geographic area of Greater Providence and every phase of Jewish thinking, we offer our wholehearted support to the General Jewish Committee in this effort.

Highlights of Mrs. Solomon's Speech

(Address given by the President of the Ladies Association at the Donors Luncheon last week.)

On May 10 of this year it will be exactly 20 years since the charter was granted to our organization in 1932. Together with its forerunner, the Jewish Home for the Aged, by the Ladies Union Aid, we have served as auxiliary to the Home for almost 40 years.

Since the formation of the Ladies Association in 1932, we have turned over to the Home in cash $108,675, representing the proceeds from our Annual Donors Luncheons and Membership Dues. It does not include the money we gave the Home for furnishings and equipment and contributions, from our Life Membership Fund.

In addition to these financial contributions, important as they are, we have also spent considerable effort and money for the recreational programs and activities, which provide comfort and happiness to our residents. We all realize that these financial contributions and recreational activities are important and they will be needed in greater degree in the future to give the Home financial security, as well as comfort and happiness for our aged.

Contrary to often heard rumors, the Home is giving preference to those applicants who are without means, and our Admissions Committee is very careful in selecting those applicants who need the Home for medical, social and religious reasons. Financial considerations are only secondary.

Among our 90 residents, more than half are recipients of Old Age Assistance, the income from which does not even cover half of their maintenance cost in the Home. Only 13 of our 91 residents are paying full maintenance, while all the others, about 85 percent, are either fully or partially supported by the Home. The high proportion of Old Age Assistance recipients, part-paying and non-paying residents, should prove to you that preference is given to those applicants who belong to the less fortunate group and whose health and social problems are complicated by lack of financial resources. If we admit once in a while a paying guest, you can rest assured that he or she needed the Home and that no other facility existed for his or her care.

The need for extending our facilities for the ever-increasing number of aged in Rhode Island has long been felt. The waiting list is growing and it is profoundly disturbing for any one who attends the meetings of the Admissions Committee, to sit helplessly, having to deny admission to elderly sick and lonely people, just because there is no room for them at the Home.

Soon a Building Fund Drive for a 60-bed addition will get under way. I know that the Ladies Association will be called upon to help raise these funds and I know that it will do its share in this coming drive, thereby adding another chapter in its long history of achievement and accomplishments.

President's Message

A message from Jacob I. Felder, president of the Home, was read at the annual Donors Luncheon of the Ladies Association last week. Mr. Felder, vacationing in Tucson, Arizona, sent a special delivery air-mail letter to Mrs. Irving L. Solomon, president of the Ladies Association, on the occasion of the annual event.

The letter follows in part:
Dear Mrs. Solomon:
From far-away Tucson my wife and I are sending you and the entire Ladies' Association greetings and best wishes on the occasion of the Annual Spring Festival. I know how much work has gone into the planning and preparation for this event which, I know will be a great success and a tribute to your fine leadership and the excellent chairmanship of Mrs. Thomas H. Goldberg.

Although we cannot be with you, we are with you in spirit and applaud your untiring efforts on behalf of our aged in Rhode Island. Your material and moral support has always been a source of pride and inspiration to me and the entire Board of Trustees. The Ladies' Association, ever since the establishment of the Home 21 years ago, was the actual founder and the sustaining force ever ready and willing to work for the improvement of our Home.

With kindest personal regards to you and all the members of the Ladies' Association and best wishes for its future success.

Sincerely yours,
JACOB I. FELDER

1/4 teaspoon paprika
3 eggs, hard cooked and diced or sliced
2 tablespoons minced parsley
Brown the farfel in hot melted schmaltz or shortening in a heavy skillet, stirring constantly till evenly browned and a golden yellow in color. Add boiling water slowly while stirring, cover and cook over moderate heat for 8 to 10 minutes or till liquid is absorbed. Add the salt and uncover while cooking the diced onions in the 3 tablespoons of schmaltz till transparent and a golden brown in color. Add the sliced mushrooms, prepared and cut liver and seasoning. Stir 3 to 5 minutes till the mushrooms are tender and the liver sauteed on all sides. Pardon My Glove

By CHARLES W. PINE

DAVE EGAN, the self-styled Boston sports columnist who also calls himself "The Colonel," recently unleashed one of his famous diatribes in the general direction of Jerry Prior, a columnist for the local Evening Bulletin. In so doing, Egan once again dipped his pen into his favorite inkwell—the one containing vitriol.

He quoted from a recent column by Prior explaining the relationship between Georgie Araujo and Angelo Pucci, Araujo's co-manager, and said "these come close to being the most insincere and completely corrupt words that a sports writer ever has set on paper." Prior was also termed (by innuendo, of course) a "frustrated bird-watcher and thwarted butterfly-catcher" by the breast-pounding Egan who is to sports writing what Westbrook Pegler is to political writing.

Now it so happens that Jerry Prior is one of the most honest, sincere and best informed scribes in the business—whereas Egan's taste, accuracy and ethics are questioned by scores of his fellow sports writers and thousands of sports fans. But, for the moment, that's beside the point. The issue here is whether or not Prior was correct in declaring that Pucci is a good influence for Araujo.

Last year, Pucci bought out Bobby Viti's share in Araujo—thus sharing the managerial reins with Frankie Travis. Before that time, George was fighting second and third-rate boxers, and fight fans weren't certain whether the young Fox Pointer was just another flash in the pan or a potential world's lightweight champion. Under the Pucci-Travis regime, Araujo has fought and defeated Del Flanagan, Charlie Riley and Sandy Saddler and has proved that he definitely is of championship timber. Furthermore, he has made more money under the Pucci-Travis aegis in six bouts than he did in about 30 fights under the Viti-Travis lea-

Bar Mitzvah

ALAN ROBERT DAVIS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Davis of 100 Woodbine Street, whose Bar Mitzvah was held Feb. 14 at Temple Emanuel. A family dinner was held at the Southern House in Boston on Feb. 17.

the long run his Providence and New York contacts will pay off much more handsomely than the dubious Boston set-up.

DURING WORLD WAR II, we had the pleasure of handling Joey Maxim's press and training routine for a period during which we were both stationed at the same Troop Carrier Command base. A number of folks, accordingly, have asked what we thought of Joey's performance against Ezzard Charles a few months ago and against Ted Lowry a week ago. Frankly, we were deeply disappointed in both exhibitions—especially after having witnessed the magnificent going-over that Maxim gave Irish Bob Murphy last October in the Garden.

We weren't too surprised at the outcome of the Charles fight—because Ezzard definitely has the Indian sign on Maxim—but we felt there were no excuses to be made for Joey in the Lowry bout. At his best, Maxim should be able to beat downhill Lowry with one hand—his famous left. Instead, he came into the ring carrying several pounds of excess fat and gave what can be generously described as being a mediocre performance against the New Bedford trial horse.

Joey will probably wind up fighting Harry Matthews for the light heavyweight title this summer or fall. After viewing his rather inadequate performance against Danny Nardico a few months back, we're inclined to think that Matthews is an over-rated fighter. Nevertheless, he isn't going to have too much trouble with Maxim if the latter doesn't lay off the spaghetti and go into the rigorous training that he dislikes so much. On the other hand, if Joey fights the fight he fought against Murphy, he'll explode the Matthews legend once and for all. And since we're out on the limb anyway, we'll edge out a little farther and say that Rocky Marciano can beat Matthews seven days a week—not that we think that a Marciano-Matthews match is in the offing. But that's another story, indeed!

Sisterhood PTA Plans Donors' Affair

A committee meeting was held at the home of Mrs. I. Winoker Wednesday evening to expedite plans for the annual Donors' Turkey Luncheon to be given by the Sisterhood P.T.A. Sons of Abraham, at the Narragansett Hotel on May 12.

The arrangements committee includes Mesdames I. Winoker, chairman; M. Galer and J. Hollander, co-chairmen; H. Austern, treasurer; M. Greenberg, secretary and publicity; J. Gold, merchandise, and S. Pierce, telephone squad.

A social coffee hour followed the business meeting.

An interesting section of the New Miriam Hospital will be the scientifically designed infant formula preparation center.

SISTERHOOD SERVICE

The Sisterhood of Temple Beth El will hold a Sabbath next Friday at 8:15 P. M. at the Temple. Mrs. Charles Wyzanski of Boston will speak on "The Place of Women in Congregational Life."

Colors used in the New Miriam Hospital have been scientifically selected. The walls of patients' rooms will be painted for eye-ease and quiet cheerfulness. There will also be ceilings of sound absorbent material.

while he wards off a shot at Harvey Bennett with his own stick stretched out close to the ice. Many a shot, and undoubtedly, many a goal, have been prevented in this manner.

That's what makes it all the more maddening when the same Michaluk, a tremendous defenseman, suddenly passes the puck without looking, right onto the waiting stick of some opposing player. It happens so often you begin to expect it. More than one enemy goal has been racked up because of this unexpected generosity on the part of the big defenseman.

You watch Bobby Perrault reach out with his left glove like a first baseman to spear a puck heading for the cage, and you marvel that the stands are not filled with major league scouts waiting to sign him up as a potential big league baseball player. His act is sensational.

Then check tall and lanky Harvey Bennett, who to my mind is a vastly underrated goalie. Bennett will make impossible stops, one right after another. Then some rival forward will shoot a routine long one. Harvey will get in front of it—and let it disappear between his pads into the cage. Go figure it out.

More often, though, Bennett will knock himself out chasing from corner to corner and blocking shots with his legs, body and hands—and his teammates will stand around admiringly, not bothering to clear the puck—until some enterprising player pokes it home through a mass of players who block Harvey's view, or while he is stretched flat on the ice.

By and large, the Reds have not been a good passing club this season. Instead, they seem to be content to bang the puck into the enemy zone, hoping they can keep it in there and force a goal, as the Reds of a few years ago delighted to do, to the consternation and despair of the enemy.

Which brings us to the point at which we entered. Win or lose in the playoffs, it has been a very interesting season, and a rather successful one. The Reds were the best team in the league for almost two months. Then they were one of the best for the rest of the way.

And who knows, they might whip the Barons in the playoffs, and go all the way to the title. This I gotta see.

Bowling Time

A word to all bowling leagues that hope to compete in the two Herald tournaments this spring. It's time to call a meeting to set up the rules and regulations, fix the date and arrange all details.

For that purpose, I will ask all leagues to send a representative to a meeting next Saturday morning, March 22, at 10 A. M. in the Herald office. A complete copy of each league's roster must be brought along.

This meeting will be for men only. The women's leagues will meet a week or two later.

YOUR CONTRIBUTION TO THE FUTURE . . .

MIRIAM HOSPITAL

You contribute to the future when you honor the past by establishing a memorial in the New Miriam Hospital.

An important part of your new hospital will be an entire floor devoted to maternity and pediatric services. Here our children . . . our grandchildren . . . will get a safer, better start in life.

The New Miriam Hospital will serve every part of our community regardless of race, creed or color. In every way . . . in plant and equipment . . . in staff and program . . . it will be a hospital in which you will take pride . . . a personal pride when you help the building campaign through the establishment of an everlasting memorial or with a direct gift.

A memorial in the new Miriam Hospital gives in two ways. It honors your loved ones and it gives to the community necessary additional hospital facilities. Memorial opportunities are still available. For details consult any member of the Memorial Committee.
