Israel Ambassador to Visit R. I. on May 19

To Aid Israel Bond Program

At the invitation of Israel Bond leaders in R. I., Israel's Ambassador to the United States, Abba Eban, will be the guest of honor at a dinner celebrating the fourth anniversary of Israel at the Ledgemont Country Club Monday evening, May 19.

In making the announcement, Ben R. Albert, Israel Bond chairman for Providence, said that Ambassador Eban "represents the indomitable people of Israel with an eloquence and energy which has reflected credit on all Jews everywhere. He has interpreted his country's high aims and practical achievements with such mastery as to convince all who hear him that, truly, a regenerated people has arisen in the new State of Israel."

The dinner honoring Ambassador Eban will round out the first year of the Israel Bond Drive in Rhode Island, resulting in over $1,000,000 of Bond sales in this community. National sales have been placed at $125,000,000, with campaigns now in full swing in hundreds of communities throughout the United States.

First Time Here

Ambassador Eban's visit here will mark the first time the youthful statesman has been a guest of the Rhode Island Jewish community. A world-famous orator, he is Israel's permanent representative to the United Nations. He pleaded the Jewish case before the General Assembly and the Security Council with such force that he is credited, in a large measure, with influencing these bodies decisively in the critical days which gave birth to the State of Israel.

Mr. Eban speaks Hebrew, Arabic and a number of European languages, and is the author of a book entitled "The Middle East and World Politics." He has translated into English a novel by the Egyptian author, Tewfik al Hakim. He has published a number of works on Hebrew and Arabic literature, as well as Near Eastern social and cultural problems.

The dinner honoring the Ambassador will be attended by Bond leaders throughout the State, with an anticipated 400 in attendance. It is expected that Governor Roberts will officially receive Ambassador Eban and introduce him at the dinner.

Labor Leader Protests Ballet Group's Show

NEW YORK CITY (AJP)—A leading Jewish labor leader this week protested the scheduled appearance here of a Barcelona ballet company and at the same time labeled the Franco Spain regime as "dictatorial" and denying "all civil rights to the Spanish people."

Leveling the blast was Jacob Petofsky, a leader of the Jewish Labor Committee and president of the powerful CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union.

Mailman Gives Blood 63 Times

NEW YORK CITY (AJP)—A Jewish mailman whose 63 previous donations of blood plasma to the Red Cross have meant good tidings for wounded American GIs, signed up for Number 64 this week and earned the city's acclaim.

The letter carrier, Simon H. Schneider, was presented with a citation here in the course of ceremonies marking his pledge of a 64th pint of blood.

To Vote On Major Changes In GJC By-Laws

Annual Meeting Monday Evening

Alvin A. Sopkin, president of the General Jewish Committee of Providence, Inc., emphasized this week that the annual meeting on Monday, May 5 is open to the general public.

He also noted that no solicitation of funds will be conducted at the affair, which will be highlighted by election of officers and the presence of Abraham M. Klein, well-known Canadian author, as guest speaker.

"Some of our friends apparently have the mistaken impression that the GJC's annual meeting is limited to workers and officers," Sopkin pointed out. "This is not correct. All contributors to and friends of the GJC are cordially invited to take part in the proceedings of our annual meeting."

Three amendments to the present by-laws—including two designed to broaden the base of community representation and provide "new faces" on the GJC's Board of Directors—will be acted upon at the May 5th affair, Sopkin noted.

"Klein's appearance is being eagerly awaited by those persons who had the privilege of listening to this stimulating personality last Fall in Providence," Sopkin said today.

"For his address next Monday, Klein has selected the intriguing title 'The Pit and the Pendulum,'" Sopkin disclosed.

Monday's meeting will be held in the community auditorium on the 4th floor of the Providence Journal Company at 75 Fountain Street.

A streamlined business meeting, including brief reports by present officers, will round out the evening's activities, Sopkin stated.

In addition to the election of general officers, 96 members of the Zimmerman and the new slate of officers were installed during the evening by Bertram L. Bernhardt, assisted by Joseph M. Finkle. Both are past presidents. Sidney L. Rabinowitz, retiring president, presided.

Gas Station's Receipts to Ring In Cranston Center's Register

The latest innovation in fund-raising campaigns will be on display Sunday, when the Cranston Jewish Center Bowling League stages "Fill Your Tank Day" on behalf of the New Cranston Jewish Center building.

"Fill Your Tank Day" will take place at the Jenny Service Station, corner of Reservoir Avenue and Steven's Road, three streets beyond Lindy's Diner. Manned for the occasion by members of the bowling league, the station will turn over all of the day's receipts to the bowlers as a contribution to the new Center.

Ed Lang, president of the league, said that balloons will be available for the kiddies and gifts for adults. Also, there is the promise of "deluxe" gas station service by the bowlers, who will be on hand from 9 A. M. until 9 P. M., during which time "Fill Your Tank Day" will be in effect.

Lang reported that the league is spreading the slogan "Let your gas tank run low" as the big day approaches, to remind friendly motorists to save their refueling for Sunday—and a trip to the Jenny Service Station.

Center Launches Membership Drive

The Jewish Community Center this week officially launched its 1952 Membership Enrollment Campaign, with committee chairmen and workers following a two-phase program.

The first phase of the drive consists of the re-enrollment of all Center members who are now on the books, and those who have not renewed their membership in the last year or so. Cards already have been distributed to workers, and the first report will be made at a meeting Monday evening at the Center.

David Meyers, chairman, and Irvin Bornside and Ed Soforenko, co-chairmen of general solicitations, said late this week that they are confident of good results at Monday's report meeting. Not only have all cards been distributed, they pointed out, but the spirit of the workers who took cards is "very high."

Phase two will involve a general community-wide campaign to enroll new members. This phase will get under way next Thursday, May 8 with a coffee hour for women at the Center, and will be concluded with an intensive one-day campaign to be known as CM Day (Charter Membership Day) on Sunday, May 25.

Retracts Approval Of Rankin Speech

WASHINGTON — Representative R. Madden of Indiana, who nodded assent when Congressman John Rankin charged that "Yiddish Communists" were dominating Russia and the satellite countries, has cleansed himself of affiliation with Rankin's view in a statement on the floor of the House in which he paid tribute to Jewish loyalty and patriotism.

Congressman Madden asked that his statement of approval of Rankin's charge be expunged from the Congressional Record. The Indiana lawmaker declared:

"The patriotism and the loyalty of the Jews has been tested in wartime and in peacetime. It reveals a brilliant and patriotic service to their country. The Jewish people of this country have given far more than their share of lives and money to help our country in all times of crisis. They are now sacrificing millions upon millions of dollars to help Israel survive in order to preserve their homeland and also to fight the Communist aggressor. Testimony has been presented at the Katyn hearings where a great number of heroes who died at Katyn were Polish Jews.

"These remarks of mine are not necessary to establish the position of the Jewish people as far as patriotism, liberty and freedom are concerned. Their record speaks for itself. During World War II, the Jewish representation in the armed services was far above its pro rata allotment. A large concentration of Jewish people live in metropolitan centers. Agricultural, mining, and metal industries, and so forth, which were favored by draft exemptions did not apply to metropolitan centers. Besides the relatively large proportion of Jewish boys taken in the draft, there were approximately 35,000 Jewish volunteers."

Lecture-Discussion

Sunday at Center

The second of three lecture-discussion programs presented by the Jewish Community Center will take place Sunday evening at 8 P. M. at the Center, with Prof. C. J. Ducasse of the Brown University Department of Philosophy appearing as feature speaker.

This program follows the Open House week panel discussion on the MacIver Report. The series was inaugurated by the Center under the general heading "Adventures in Ideas," in which vital and controversial topics will be discussed by experts in their respective fields.

Professor Ducasse will speak on "Religion and the Religions," touching off a provocative discussion which will cover the wide variety of religious beliefs and practices, both primitive and advanced, and some attempts which have been made to formulate a conception of religion comprehensible enough to embrace them all.

It is expected that panelists representing the major religious faiths will be present to round out the program.

There will be no admission charge for Center members, and a nominal charge for non-members.

Temple Beth El Brotherhood Bowlers—Herald Champions for 1952

Beth El's Pinfall Decides Tourney

Win Is First

In Seven Tries

By SYD COHEN

There's no doubt about it—1952 is Beth El's year.

The Temple Beth El Brotherhood bowling representatives finished on top in the first annual charity tournament held a few months ago. And as if to prove that triumph was no accident, the league's top 20 keglers won the Herald Trophy Monday night at the Casino Alleys in the seventh running of this newspaper's annual feature event.

It marked the first time that the Broad Streeters had bested the other temples—Beth Israel and Emanuel—and, starting this year, Cranston Jewish Center.

Final results of Monday's match, which must be considered an "overtime" affair, were as follows:

Beth El 7, Beth Israel 6, Emanuel 4, Cranston 0.

For the first time in the history of Herald-sponsored tourney play, the match was decided on total league pinfall. When all the team results had been added up by the scorers assigned from each competing league, Beth El and Beth Israel each had six points.

The tournament rules provide that in such cases total league pinfall shall be the determining factor; and Beth El had the necessary margin—by the respectable total of 116 pins, 6544 to 6428.

More Drama

There was drama, too, in the race for individual high three honors. Jack Epstein of Beth Israel took the PFC Bernard J. Trinkel Memorial Trophy with a whopping 385. The trophy is awarded annually by Benjamin Trinkel in memory of his son, who was killed on Iwo Jima during World War II.

Murray Trinkle, winner of the cup last year—and permanent owner of the original cup that was retired in 1951—waged a gallant battle in defense of his title. He finished second with 378. Murray's effort also was a "first" for the long series. Never before has a previous cup winner finished in contention. Trinkle, who had 389 last year, might have made it had he not missed a spare on his last box. That's how close it was.

Epstein was consistency itself in compiling his glittering mark. He rolled 123, 139 and 123, his top single being three pins lower than the 142 high singles compiled by J. Broadman of Emanuel A and M. Goldberg of Emanuel B.

How They Scored

Beth El's six "regular" points were derived in this fashion: The Third row—Maxwell Morgan, Lou Feldman, George Bressler, Nat Alterman, Howard A. Fain, Leroy Baker and Leonard Goldman.

A and C teams won their second string and total pinfall, and the B's took third string and pinfall. Beth Israel's six came from the A's winning the third string, B's and C's taking the first string, and D's knocking off the first and third strings and total pinfall. Emanuel took one string with each of its four teams.

Emanuel, incidentally, beat Beth Israel in pinfall with 6463—a margin of 35 pins. Cranston fell off with 6252.

Top team efforts were 1725 for Beth El A's and 1713 for Emanuel A's. Beth El A's also had the best single string, 617.

No less than 49 of the 60 Beth El individual strings were 100 or better, as compared with 44 for Beth Israel, 41 for Emanuel and 34 for Cranston. Eighteen of the 20 Beth El keglers posted scores of 300 or better, as did 16 Beth Israel and Emanuel bowlers and 14 Cranstonites.

In addition to those already named, these men had scores of 350 or better: L. Chase, Emanuel A, 368; P. Shaulson, Beth El B, 366; A. Gordon, Beth El A, and M. Mickler, Beth El B, 365; H. Markoff, Emanuel A, 357; J. Broadman, Emanuel A, 356; J. Wyner, Beth Israel A, 353, and W. Goralski, Emanuel C, 350.

Other high singles: Trinkle, 140; Gordon and Shaulson, 139; S. Price, Emanuel A, 138; Markoff, 137; M. Kessler, Cranston B, 136; J. Bilow, Beth El B, Wyner, M. Malatt, Beth Israel D, 135; Winkeleman, Beth Israel C, M. Susman, Beth Israel D, 134; E. Lang, Cranston A, 132; L. Chase, Emanuel A, M. Paynor, Emanuel C, and H. Warren, Cranston A, 131, and B. Deitch, Cranston C, 130.

The Jewish Community of Rhode Island welcomes most warmly His Excellency, Abba Eban, on his first historic visit to Providence where a dinner in his honor, and in celebration of Israel's fourth anniversary, will be held at the Ledgemont Country Club on Monday evening, May 19. Ambassador Eban has spoken for the indomitable people of Israel with a force and eloquence which has redounded to the credit of all Jews everywhere and, at the same time, secured his place in the history of the State of Israel forever.

Israel's Independence Day

On Wednesday, the fifth day of the Hebrew month of Iyar, the State of Israel will celebrate her fourth year of independence. Iyar 5, 5708, corresponded to May 14, 1948, and in numerous ways the events that historic day set the pattern for the ensuing years.

Israel has kept her pledge never to turn away any Jew in need of a home and succor. Despite hardships and shortages, in the face of political and economic adversities, the Israelis have voluntarily accepted a rigorously austere way of life in order to fulfill their self-imposed task of providing haven to the homeless and insecure Jews of Europe and the Moslem lands. With funds provided by the United Jewish Appeal, Israel has substantially more than doubled its Jewish population of 600,000—a fact whose enormous implications we can appreciate only if we try to visualize the problems we would face here at home if our own country attempted doubling its population in an equally short-term period.

The factor of American sympathy, assistance and encouragement, has been of incalculable aid. Expressions of American friendship have been backed up by acts of substance such as United States sponsorship of Israel's admittance to the United Nations, loans from the Export-Import bank, grants-in-aid, the facilitating of mutually beneficial commercial arrangements, official and unofficial encouragement of private investment to assist Israel's development and immigration program.

Arab hostility still exists, but it may not be too optimistic to say there are signs in the wind that even this is appearing to be susceptible of improvement.

Peace feelers, however, have been put out by such men as Sir Zafrullah Khan, Pakistan Foreign Minister, apparently at the behest of the Arab League, and it would be a mistake to regard such trial balloons as insignificant.

Heroic sacrifices and monumental achievements in the past four years have earned for Israel a unique place in history. Israel's accomplishments are on the record and have won the respect and sympathy of all countries, with the exception of those whose hostility derives from antipathies rooted either in feudalism or in a fear of having a strong democracy in the Middle East. It goes without saying that American Jewry, with very few exceptions, recognizes the fact that Israel must and should be strengthened, that from every point of view—on the humanitarian as well as politically realistic levels—a thriving and democratic Israel is singularly important in our time.

CROSS-SECTION, U.S.A.

By ALLEN LESSER

ALLOCATION VS. COORDINATION: The Evaluative Studies Committee of the NCRAC meets in New York this weekend, May 3-4, in a final effort to work out a "logical and practical division of labor" among our national defense agencies. It must in turn submit the results of its deliberations to the Executive Committee of NCRAC, which meets at the end of the month.

Stripped of all rhetoric, the basic issue facing the Evaluative Studies Committee is whether NCRAC shall continue as the coordinating body it was originally intended to be, or whether it shall now become an overall agency with power to allocate functions among defense groups along lines proposed by Prof. Robert M. MacIver.

One group, led by the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds and the Large Cities Budgeting Conference, insists upon allocation of functions by NCRAC regardless of its probable increased cost to the community. The other group, while includes representatives of the American Jewish Committee and the Anti-Defamation League will have no part of such an allocation scheme. It regards coordination as the efficient and practical way to eliminate program duplication and waste.

Proposals submitted by these two groups will reflect their views,

"One Man's Opinion"

A Story And A Plea

BY BERYL SEGAL

Is there a Junior in the house? I mean a boy or a girl in junior high school. These Juniors have an important job to do. They, and they alone, can do this job. All the rest of us are either too old or too young for the job.

The job I have in mind is to keep Hebrew alive at Hope High School. If boys and girls now in junior high express their desire to choose Hebrew as a language course when they come in to Hope High, the class in Hebrew will be continued. Otherwise the school will have to drop Hebrew from the program.

Since you who are junior high students today may not remember how the course in Hebrew was started and what it is all about, let me review for you the whole matter briefly.

In the Fall of 1951 the Superintendent of Schools, Mr. James Hanley, announced a new course of study at Hope High School. The new course was called modern Hebrew. Students could elect the study of Hebrew as one of the two languages required of every high school graduate. Students who complete the course successfully receive credit toward college entrance, the same as they would if the language were Spanish, French, or Latin.

In order to clear up misunderstandings, the course was described as Modern Hebrew, the language as it is spoken in Israel today. It is not the teaching of prayers, or the Bible, or preparation for Bar Mitzvah.

The course in Hebrew, in short, is not religious instruction. That is the work of the Hebrew school. The public school does not teach SHORT SHORTS: Attack on bigot Joe Kamp for his "Smear Eisenhower" drive which appeared in N. Y. Journal-American this week may mean that Hearst press is leaving Taft-MacArthur camp and will endorse Eisenhower for President ... Israeli rabbinate is opposed to Warsaw ghetto memorial day rites for April 22 because (1) it wasn't the only uprising by Jews in Polish ghettos and thus is unfair to the memory of those who died elsewhere; (2) Communists and Bundists are making a secular holiday out of it; (3) there is room for the memorial within the present framework of Jewish holidays, and since the Warsaw battle continued until Rosh Hashonah, Yizkor for the martyrs should be said on Yom Kippur ... The JWB seder for GIs stationed in or near Munich, Germany, was held in the Buergerhalle, the place where Hitler started his putsch ... Recipient of the Ida Rosenthal Fellowship in Judaism, recently established at N. Y. U., which carries an annual stipend of $2,500, will act as librarian of the University's collection of Judaica ... MALBEN, the $8 million JDC-supported project in Israel, which was originally set up to care for European "hardcore" DP immigrants, now provides them with rehabilitation loans as part of its service ... Israel Schen, resident of Jerusalem since 1936 and peppery editor of the "Zionist Newsletter," whose sharp criticism last year of American Jewry for failing to support chalutzut stirred up considerable comment here, has emigrated to Johannesburg, S.A., where he will take a post with the South African Zionist Federation ... Israeli fruit growers are losing money on those exports to Soviet Russia and now want a government subsidy. Davar reports ...

"When too many cooks spoil the broth, the solution practically suggests itself."

ZANGWILLIANA: Israel Zangwill's famous melodrama "The Melting Pot" will be revived for Broadway production next October if present plans of noted producer James W. Elliot are successful. A reading of the Zangwill play was given at the Hotel Commodore, in New York, last week, and among the Broadway figures present was Leo Fuchs, star of the Yiddish stage, who will play the lead role of David Quixano, the young violinist who champions the "melting pot" theory.

Zangwill based his delineation of David Quixano upon a survivor of the Kishinev pogrom named lived of the gifts of the mountain. They grazed their sheep on the slopes of the mountain, and they cut their wood in the forest of the mountain, and they raised their bread in the valley in the shadow of the mountain, fed by streams that came tumbling down from the sides of the mountain.

But years passed by, the children of the village multiplied, and many left the homes of their fathers to seek their fortune in other lands beside other mountains.

And this is how they took leave of the village of their ancestors. They climbed up to the summit of the mountain and remained there alone. The climb was made by a narrow path, beaten out in the rocks by the feet of many generations. And on the summit they who were about to depart for distant places stood in silence and looked around them as far as their eyes could see.

They gazed at the fields, at the rivers, the lakes, and the forests all around the mountain. These were the self-same fields and rivers and lakes their ancestors had beheld whenever they climbed up to the summit. And when night fell they who would soon leave the village looked up at the skies and the stars over their heads, the same skies and the same stars that had stood over the heads of their forefathers in the village by the mountain, from the beginning of time.

Then they who would soon be carried away to far-away lands and to other skies, came down from the summit, and they took their leave calmly in the stillness of the night. They turned their steps to strange roads, and they carried within them the vision of the mountain top.

For though the journey may be long and difficult, and the days ahead may be hard and uncertain, they will always draw strength from the old mountain. The climb to the summit of the mountain, and the skies over the village of their ancestors will guide them and comfort them to the end of their days. Though they may never return to the valley by the mountain, the vision will remain with them forever.

This is my story, Juniors. Does it answer your question?

I hope it does. I hope it does!

Cranston Plaids Take Bowling Honors On C Team's Pinfall Edge

By SYD COHEN

The girls who made up the C teams of Fineman-Trinkel Auxiliary and Cranston Plaids didn't know it at the time, but on their slender shoulders hung the balance of power in the Herald's first annual Women's Bowling Tournament, held Sunday evening at the Casino Alleys.

The Plaids' C's settled the issue; they took three of the four points—and most important, they took the point awarded for total pinfall by the margin of one single pin. That, as it turned out, was the match.

The Plaids' triumph gave them first honors on the Maurice S. Cooper Trophy.

Cranston won the tournament with four points (all but one of them chalked up by the C's), while Fineman-Trinkel Auxiliary and Beth Israel Sisterhood trailed with three each. Sunnyside Debs wound up with the remaining two points, leaving the Lucky Strikers without a point in this inaugural event.

Here is how the two C teams dominated the tourney. As a result of the A and B team competition, Cranston, as already noted, had but one point. Fineman-Trinkel had two, both taken in the B's. When the C teams completed their action, Fineman-Trinkel had the first string, Cranston the next two. That tied the two leagues (and Beth Israel) at three each. Only one point remained to be awarded—the C's total pinfall. Cranston C's compiled 1050. Fineman-Trinkel 1049—and that was the Plaids' margin of victory.

Beth Israel got its three points by taking the third string and total pinfall in the A's, and the third string in the B's. Sunnyside Debs A's and B's each took the second string for their two points.

In total league pinfall, the results were almost equally close. Cranston had 3215. Beth Israel 3199. Fineman-Trinkel 3193. Lucky Strikers 2895 and Sunnyside Debs 2156.

Beth Israel A's had the highest team total—1165, with Cranston A's second with 1122, and Sunnyside A's third with 1109. Beth Israel A's also had the best single string—429, while Sunnyside Debs A's had the only other 400-plus string—408.

Individual Race

On the individual front, Selma Solomon of Beth Israel took high three honors—as well as permanent possession of the M. Louis Steingold Trophy—with 311. Teammate Mildred Millman trailed with 307, but captured high single with a sparkling 129. Fran Rodinsky of Cranston was third in high three with 305 and second in high single with 125. Hope Himmelfarb of Fineman-Trinkel posted 301.

Other good single strings were Edith Hochman of Sunnyside Debs 112; Evelyn Lerner, Cranston, 116; Doris Strashnick, Sunnyside Debs, 114; Louise Azaroff, Sunnyside Debs, 112; Hope Himmelfarb, Fineman-Trinkel, 110; Selma Solomon, Beth Israel, 109 and 107; Isabel David, Cranston, 105; Arline Slack, Fineman-Trinkel, and Selma Nasberg, Beth Israel, 104; Estelle Weiner, Sunnyside Debs, 103; Renee Dreyfuss, Cranston, and Arline Abrams, Fineman-Trinkel, 102; Sippy Kessler, Cranston, and Ann Steingold, Fineman-Trinkel, 100.

A feature of the New Miriam Hospital will be seven modern laboratories with the latest scientific equipment.

Foods To Remember

Have you ever wished you could serve Tuna Fish in a new and alluring way? Well, try serving well seasoned canned Tuna Fish rolled up something like Blintzes.

TUNA FISH ROLLUPSDough:

- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/3 cup salad oil or melted vegetable shortening
- 2/3 cup milk

Sift together the dry ingredients into a mixing bowl. Combine the oil or shortening with the milk and stir into the dry ingredients with a fork till it forms a ball of dough. Knead for one or two minutes on a lightly floured board and roll out into a rectangle about 8 x 16 inches. Cut into even sections, 4 x 4 inches—8 squares. Make the filling as follows:

Filling:

- 1 7-ounce can of Tuna Fish
- 2 hard cooked eggs
- 3 tablespoons mayonnaise or thick salad dressing
- a dash of paprika
- 1 tablespoon grated onion or 2 tablespoons finely chopped green onions

With a fork or chopping knife, chop the Tuna Fish and hard-cooked eggs as fine as desired. Add the other ingredients in the order named and mix till well combined. Place about 2 tablespoons of this filling in the center of each square of dough and roll up. Place each rollup, seam side down, on a lightly buttered cookie sheet. Brush the tops with milk or melted butter and bake 12 to 15 minutes at 450° F. or till nicely browned on top. Serve hot with or without creamed mushroom sauce, tomato sauce, or top with sour cream.

Sam Tapper's Cubs gave the Red's pennant hopes a jolt as they scored a 4-0 drubbing. Leading scorers this week were: Donald Cohen, 354; Morris Factor, 339; Murray Gordon, 329; Les Friedman, 327; Mort Klibanoff, 320; Norm Bernstein and Dave Allen, 319; Sam Feldman, 317; Reeve Zatloff, 315; Elliot Dittleman and Irving Levin, 314; Max Cohen and Chockie White, 308; Speed Kessler, 307; Bob Greene and Gene Silverman, 305; Charlie Steingold and Gene Aaronson, 303; Morris Satloff, George Luber, Irving Datz and Harold Golden, 301; Harold Levin, Lenny Levin, Norman Gordon, Benton Goldblatt and Sam Price, 300.

The pennant race went right down to the third string of the last match of the season as Capt. Len Waldman's Indians took one point from the die-hard Brownies and won a very deserving championship. Lennie rolled 131 in the winning string, and really had it when the chips were down.

With only four weeks of bowling remaining, six games separate the first three teams and it is still an open race.

Unity, by beating fourth place Fraternity four games, held top spot for the second week. Loyalty is still second with three victories over fifth place Liberty. Security is third, with the help of Capt. Pedlikens 342, Smith's 322 and Paul's 301; they took a very close decision of three games over bottom team Justice.

Other high threes were Challen 324, Miller 322, Seltzer 320, Rose 318, Garrick 316, Azroff and B. Labush 315 and H. Wagner 310.

the regular season in a triple tie. Vin DeCesaris rolled 353 to pace Newman's team, while Phil Shaulson had 321 for the losers.

The other big news was the 167 single by Alie Shatkin, high for the year, replacing the 159 mark held all season by Morris Feldman I. Alie had a 384 pinfall for the night. Feldman rolled 362 with a 135 single.

Other good scores: Al Gordon and Harry Gordon 341, Howie Nelson 340, Jack Bilow and Joe Schwartz 339, Mac Morgan 336, Lou Feldman and Murray Trinkle 335, Sonny Baker and Martin Silverstein 331, Frank Supnick 326, Dr. Bud Lewis and Erwin Summer 323, and Jay Isenberg 318.

"Imagine your business...without a telephone"

A modern business could never survive, much less prosper, without the help of the telephone. And the minute a business expands, or a new business is born, up goes the demand for telephone service.

Rhode Island is a good example. In the last few years, 12,000 additional business telephones have been installed. Some went to brand new firms, others to established, growing organizations. None of these companies would have started or expanded here if they couldn't get telephones. They would have gone where they could get what they needed.

But they're here, and as they grow, so will employment and prosperity.

Telephone service must keep up with Rhode Island's demand — military and civilian, Civil Defense and industrial. All this has cost millions of dollars — will cost $17 million more in the next few years alone. This demand must be met, because the telephone is essential to Rhode Island. It is being met — but at today's higher costs — costs that cause higher telephone rates.

Is Your Living Room Papered With Rent Receipts?

Not very cheerful wallpaper . . . is it? Probably it only reminds you of the money you've been paying out for rent . . . instead of a home. Why not make your "rent money" actually buy or build that home you want—a home that will be "all yours", with no more rent, no more decorating somebody else's property?

Old Colony's 12-Point Mortgage Plan is an inexpensive and practical way to finance your home. It provides you with cash advances as your new house is built—or with a lump sum, if you're buying. All you need is the down payment. If home-ownership is your ambition, drop in at Old Colony for a talk about financing your home.

SYD COHEN:

The Women Bowl

Promptly at 10:15 on Sunday night the phone rang at the Casino Alleys. The call came from a young woman who wanted to know the result of the Herald's first annual Women's Bowling Tournament.

The tourney wasn't yet over at that time, but that call was indicative of the interest aroused by the distaff bowling competition.

To say that the women's tournament was a howling success would be slightly inaccurate. Better say it was a screaming success—for that it was. And this is not said in a derogatory or snide sense. Never was there a more enthusiastic group of bowlers. Never was there a tourney that aroused such excitement.

Even the men got in on the deal. I counted better than 30 husbands who came along to lend vocal or moral support to the little woman. And that created one chuckle for me. Usually, the girls are bedecked in the latest fashions, with every part of their wardrobe carefully chosen. The men seem to be indifferent as to what they wear.

Not so Sunday night. This time the boys looked like fashion plates straight out of some modeling agency or dancing school, while the girls wore their favorite bowling costumes. "Strictly informal."

The tournament itself was an excellent one, and the girls all co-operated to the nth degree in making it so. The scorers did their jobs well, and the scoring table was the scene of efficient operations. In fact, all the results were compiled by the five young ladies—one from each league—who sat there.

Lenny Cort and I double checked the figures, but that was all we had to do, save for assigning alleys. There were no complaints, no beefs.

It was a close tourney—as the figures listed in the accompanying story will attest. An excellent beginning to what shapes up as a fine series.

Representatives of several of the leagues said they expect more teams and individual bowlers for next season. Considering that fact and Sunday's events, it would be my recommendation that future tournaments be expanded to include 20 girls from each league—four teams with five bowlers each—instead of the 12-girl delegations that operated Sunday. Such a setup would permit a considerably larger group of women to take part in the tourney.

This and any other considerations can be thrashed out by the two representatives from each league when they meet to organize a year-round committee.

The column congratulates Cranston's Plaids, who "checked" their combined opposition and took home the trophy.

Which reminds me to thank Arline Slack, of Fineman-Trinkel Auxiliary, who personally obtained both trophies that were awarded Sunday. Thanks also to Maurice S. Cooper for the league trophy won by Cranston, and to M. Louis Steinberg for the high three award won by Selma Solo-mon.

All these efforts combined to make a fine tournament.

(This column was written prior to Monday's men's tourney. Thus, no comment on that one now.)

Opening date for the Jewish Softball League has been set back one week, to Sunday, May 11. League play originally was to start this week.

As this was written, there existed the chance that one sponsorship might be open. Here is a fine opportunity for a sponsor who wants to get his money's worth of publicity and appreciation. The cost is moderate, and the return is well worth the price. But this is the last chance.

Going . . . going . . .

The sports show held at the New Jewish Community Center during Open House Week attracted more than 400 boys of all ages. That is an all-time record for any athletic program in Center history. Which means that any trends noticeable at the affair must be considered significant.

Although Army Reserve duties prevented me from attending, I am told that the part of the program that proved of most interest to the boys was the introduction of a group of men who are, or were, well-known athletes.

It turns out that there is quite a sizeable group of these sports figures living in our midst. Many of them we know, many we have not previously heard of, probably because they are newcomers to our community and performed their athletic wares outside of Rhode Island.

In a future column I shall list some of these men and their accomplishments; and if I may bashfully say so, I'm sure you will find it an interesting column.

For now, however, mention of this subject is made merely to introduce what may be the next project to be started by this column. Namely, the formation of a Hall of Fame for Jewish athletes who are or were connected with the Rhode Island scene.

No details have been worked out on this idea. It is just that—an idea. The few men to whom I have talked about it say it is an interesting idea.

This Hall of Fame, if created, would be no one-man operation. There would have to be a large, active committee, and long, serious thought as to qualifications and method of selection; also, what kind of "Hall" would be best, and where located.

Maybe it's a good idea and maybe it is impractical. I don't know. Let's wait until we read the partial roll of some of the candidates before making up our minds.

The third of this year's Herald Bowling Tournaments is on tap for Monday evening at the Bowladrome Alleys on Smithfield Avenue. Competing leagues include Providence Fraternal, Knights of Pythias, Fineman-Trinkel and A.E.Pi Fraternity.

The time has been changed. The tourney will get under way at 9 P.M. Repeat—9, not 8, as previously announced.

As with the two tourneys held this week at the Casino Alleys, this one will have a scoring table, and each league is expected to assign in advance five scorers—one to sit at the scoring table, the other four to score for the A, B, C and D teams of its assigned league (as listed in the Herald a few weeks ago).

Signs have been painted for all teams, and a loud speaking system will be set up, so that all bowlers and on-lookers will be kept informed.

The Herald Trophy will be awarded to the winning league, and the new Trinkel Trophy to the high three champion.

Bar Mitzvah

RICHARD GARFINKEL, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Garfinkel of 235 Carolina Avenue, who became Bar Mitzvah on Sunday evening, March 16 at Sons of Zion Synagogue.

A feature of the New Miriam Hospital will be seven modern laboratories with the latest scientific equipment.
