Grobsmith Resigns as Executive Director of Miriam Hospital

To be Administrator Of New Medical Center for Hadassah

Appointment of Michael S. Grobsmith, executive director of Miriam Hospital, to serve as administrator of the building program for a new medical center that is now being planned in Jerusalem by Hadassah in conjunction with Hebrew University, was announced this week.

Grobsmith has resigned as the Miriam's director, effective Aug. 1, and will take up his new duties in Israel on Sept. 1.

Among these duties, Grobsmith will consult with the architect, and serve as co-ordinator of the building program among the contractors and architects, Hebrew University and Hadassah.

He will be responsible for the purchase of all fixed and movable equipment, as well as building materials, organization of systems of operation for the new medical center, engagement and training of personnel, and administration.

It is contemplated that the center will contain from 400-500 beds.

Grobsmith became director of Miriam Hospital, then in its Parade Street location, on Aug. 1, 1950. He assisted in the planning, construction, organization and purchasing phases of the New Miriam Hospital, which was opened last December. He supervised the installation of systems within the hospital, as well as the engagement, training and organization of personnel.

Grobsmith will vacation with his family in France, Switzerland and Italy before assuming his new duties.

Aged Home Drive Reaches $462,434

Coverage of cards still outstanding was listed as the theme of the Jewish Home for the Aged Building Fund campaign, now in its final stages, by Sidney A. Kane, campaign chairman, early this week.

"The cards are in the hands of the workers," Kane stated. "Prospects are ready to give, and they must be seen without delay. No opportunity must be overlooked to get every dollar possible for this most important work."

A total of $462,434 has been pledged to date from a total of 2347 cards covered, it was reported.

Kane announced that in deference to BIG Day for Israel Bonds, this Sunday, the usual Sunday report meeting will be postponed. There will be a report luncheon Tuesday at noon at the Home for the Aged. This day, June 9 will mark the end of "Clean Up Week," during which campaign workers have been urged to contact all the persons listed on their cards. A special mopping-up squad will take over any cards left unsolicited.

Workers may make returns either at the Home or at campaign headquarters, 77 Washington Street.

National Leaders to Attend Tribute Dinner for Mrs. Silverman, June 10

Louis Lipsky, veteran Zionist leader, and Dr. Harris J. Levine, President of the Jewish National Fund of America, will be among the guests coming from different parts of the country to attend the tribute dinner which will be given Mrs. Archibald Silverman on Wednesday, June 10 at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel on the occasion of her 70th birthday and in recognition of four decades of service to the cause of Zion. Mendel N. Fisher, executive director of the Jewish National Fund of America has also notified the committee that he will be present.

A feature of the dinner will be the establishment of Nachlath Ida Silverman in Israel on Jewish National Fund land. An area of land consisting of several hundred dunams is now being selected by the Keren Kayemeth L'Israel in Jerusalem as the site of the colony bearing the name of Ida Silverman, which is to be established in honor and link her name permanently with the State of Israel.

GJC Asks For Pledge Payments

A plea for prompt payment of pledges made during the 1952 campaign of the General Jewish Committee of Providence, Inc. was made early this week by Alvin A. Sopkin, GJC president, prior to the departure of a local GJC delegation for Washington, where the National Action Conference of the United Jewish Appeal is being held this weekend.

Sopkin said it was hoped that the Providence community could send to the Conference a sizeable donation exceeding $10,000. The money will be raised by a bank loan, and repaid with funds accruing from paid pledges.

Attending the Conference from Providence are Archibald Silverman, GJC honorary president; Joseph Galkin, executive director, and Mrs. Albert Pilavin, national chairman of the UJA Women's Division. Mrs. Pilavin will report on the progress of Women's Division activities during the 1953 spring campaign.

Britain Weighs Israel's Security

LONDON—The British government's proclaimed recognition of its obligations to the State of Israel in connection with the Middle East security situation, this week brought down upon Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill vicious attacks from Cairo and plaudits from his Labor opposition in the House of Commons.

The veteran statesman, opening a significant foreign policy debate in the House, had declared it Britain's "duty" to see that Israel received "fair play" in the Middle East. He pledged that "nothing we shall do in supplying of aircraft to this part of the world will be allowed to place Israel at an inferior disadvantage."

Many Organizations Back Bond Drive For This Sunday

"All out for Israel!" the suggested slogan for Sunday's BIG Day campaign for Bonds of Israel, is a slogan inspired by the unanimous community support accorded the drive, according to a consensus of grand marshals.

"It is most significant," Grand Marshal Coleman B. Zimmerman said to a group of workers at the Workers' Rally in the Journal-Bulletin auditorium Thursday evening, "that every important organization assigned a member to the deputy grand marshal staff upon request and that these staff members have been instrumental in getting together the largest group of volunteers to ever work for a one-day campaign."

The following organizations have stood up and been counted for (Continued on Page 8)

Center Holds Annual Meeting

A birthday party observing completion of the first year in its new building highlighted the 28th annual meeting of the Jewish Community Center Wednesday evening.

Gov. Dennis J. Roberts, who headed the list of guests, was the key speaker in a program which included progress reports from Saul E. R. Feinberg, retiring president, and Morris Kritzman, executive director.

A Scroll of Honor was presented Feinberg by Milton C. Kay. Certificates of Commendation for Community Service were presented by Feinberg to the following: Archie Fain, Mrs. Stanley D. Simon, Peter H. Bardach, Alex Miller, Mrs. Arthur M. Newman, Milton C. Kay, Raymond G. Franks, Jules P. Goldsmith, Dudley J. Block, Beryl Segal, Sydney J. Hoffman, Harold C. Sydney, Leo Borenstein, David Chernack, Joseph E. Adelson, Mrs. Leo Borenstein, Mrs. Hayim Mushnick, Simon S. Greenberg, Irvin H. Bornside, Mrs. Hyman Goldstein, Marvin Rumpel, Harold Winston, Stephen J. Siner, Jacob J. Alprin, Mrs. Jack Davis, Saul Leibow, Mrs. Benjamin Lewis, Mrs. Raymond G. Franks, and Julius C. Michaelson.

Elected as officers for the ensuing year were Julius C. Michaelson, president; Peter H. Bardach, first vice-president; Milton C. Kay, second vice-president; Lawrence Paley and Edmund Wexler, vice-presidents; Mrs. Herbert J. Cohen, recording secretary; Bertram L. (Continued on Page 5)

A united Rhode Island Jewish community is ready for an all-out assault on all previous Israel Bond selling efforts in this state on Sunday morning, according to Grand Marshals Frank Licht, Coleman B. Zimmerman and Mrs. Samuel Michaelson in a final report of pre-campaign plans to co-chairmen Saul Abrams and Dr. Ilie Berger.

Persons from all walks of life, students and elders of three score ten and more, make up the several hundred volunteers—the strongest and most zealous band of Bond Brigadiers ever organized. There is every indication that hundreds of volunteers for Israel will be on hand in the Grand Ballroom of the Narragansett Hotel at 8:30 A. M.

Special representatives from all of the social and fraternal organizations in the state will act as deputy grand marshals supervising clerical staff members, manning telephones, organizing sales crews, assigning areas, and briefing salesmen with information in capsule form.

All salesmen will be equipped with a sales kit containing an identification card, a sticker denoting a Bond sale, Bond application forms, blank checks, State of Israel Bond prospectus,—in short, everything needed to make a sale.

Upon arrival at the Hotel Narragansett, workers will be treated to a breakfast between 9 A. M. and 9:30 A. M. Saul Abrams and Dr. Ilie Berger desire that every worker be in the field by 10 A. M.

An especially active community group in Newport under the direction of honorary marshal Dr. Samuel Lippit, has plans for a record-breaking Bond campaign. Prominent members of the group there include Rabbi Lewis, Miss Ethel Lippit, Mrs. Esther Feinberg, Mrs. Gold, Mrs. Samuel Alofsin, Mrs. Edwin Josephson, Mrs. Samuel Gillson and Mrs. Edward Goldberg.

Newport has its own replica of the Providence "Israel Exposition" at Ed's Toy Shop where owner Ed Goldberg has devoted a complete window to a varied display of products from Israel ranging from heavy hardware through textiles, clothing and canned goods to toys.

Eagles to Honor Alter Boyman

Alter Boyman, for years a leader in Jewish communal affairs, will be honored tomorrow evening at the annual convention banquet of the R. I. State Aerie of Eagles at Loretto Hall, East Providence.

Boyman will be presented the Civic Service Award, in recognition of his civic and charitable work on a national and local scale. Sydney Hoffman will make the presentation to Boyman.

The State Aerie annually selects members of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths to receive this award. Honored this year, along with Boyman, will be U. S. Senator John O. Pastore and Dr. Grace Sherwood, State Librarian.

BOWLING

A.E. Pi BOWLING

by Ben Feld

The final week of league bowling produced many good three in addition to a new high three of 418 by Burt Himelfarb as he led his Hornets to a 3-1 victory over the Mohawks. He was assisted by Len Lazarus with 300. For the losers Murray Hahn hit 338, Sid Dressler 305, Leon Temkin 304 and Howie LaPidus 232 for two strings.

The Flyers took over second place by taking three from the Bisons, as the Barons were taking four from the Bears. For the Flyers Don Pokras 344, Art Flink 332, Babe Gertz 315, and Dick Klein 312 were the top klegers. Merrill Temkin 345, Irv Berman 332, and Jerry Port 311 paced the Bisons. The Barons were led by Al Jacobs 337, Si Nemzow 324, and Lloyd Turoff 309. Don Cohen 356 and Perry Deitch 307 were high for the Bears.

In the final match the Indians and the Eagles split. The former were led by Milt Zalk 339, and Warren Fish 300, while the latter were paced by Jerry Freiberg 344, Don Decof 304 and Bob Gittleman 302.

Other good singles were: Art Flink 157, Irv Berman 137, Ray Gertz 129, Milt Zalk 127, Irv, Babe Gertz 127, Si Nemzow 126, Murray Hahn 122, 110, Al Jacobs 119, 119, Don Decof and Bob Gittleman 118, Howie LaPidus 116, 116, Lloyd Turoff 113, Jerry Port 112, Sid Dressler 111, Marv Geller and Len Lazarus 110's.

Howie LaPidus nailed down top honors in the annual sweepstake with an adjusted score of 391. Buddy Flink was second with 380 and Jerry Freiberg third with 370. Competition was held on a full handicap basis.

Walt Weisman captured the first string with 135, with Flink 132, Al Jacobs 130, Si Nemzow 129 and Don Cohen and Jerry Port 128 each. Sid Dressler took the second string with 147 as he led Marv Geller 144, Dick Paster 131, Len Decof 130 and LaPidus 129. Freiberg paced the field in the third string with 149, high for the night. Merrill Temkin rolled 146, LaPidus 143, Flink 133 and Charlie Cohn 132.

Other leading triples were by M. Temkin 369, Cohen, Marv Geller and Paster 367 each, Weisman 360, L. Decof 358 and Leon Temkin 350.

Amateur Program Attracts 350

More than 350 persons jammed the auditorium and lobby of the Jewish Community Center last Tuesday evening to witness the Men's Association's amateur night program conducted by Bobby Breen, TV entertainer.

The overflow audience saw eight contestants vie for the honors. Competition turned out to be so keen, however, that no winner was chosen. Instead, all the performers were instructed to visit the WJAR-TV studios Saturday at 12:30, where the winner was to be selected by the director.

In addition to the amateur talent, Breen entertained personally at the Men's Association affair.

SCHEDULE FOR SUNDAY

M & F Insurance vs Cranston Center at Aqueduct Field, Cranston; Technoprint vs Hope St. Businessmen's Assn at Richardson Park; Esquire Formal Wear vs Broadway Auto at Hopkins Park.

by HOWIE COHEN

Broadway Auto continued its streak, taking last year's champs, Cranston, into camp by 16-4 and 7-1. Jerry Gordon pitched steady ball after his team gave him a big lead. Chaiken had a 3-run homer in the first inning.

Jack Steiner threw a 4-hitter to win the second game. A walk and two hits in the seventh inning cost him a shutout. Chaiken again was the big gun, driving in five runs with a 3-run homer and a double.

Harold Golden got fine support and turned in a well-pitched game as Hope Street downed M & F Insurance 9-2 in the opener. Backner led the Businessmen with a homer, along with some fancy fielding and throwing. Rappaport and Sid Green had three hits apiece for the winners.

Behind the effective pitching of Buzzy Labush, the Insurance men took the nightcap 5-4 for their first win of the year. M & F won out in the last half of the seventh. Trager hit well for the winners. Herb Goldis gave up only four hits, but wildness hurt him.

Terrific relief pitching by Jerry Shaulson gave Beacon a 10-9 win over Technoprint in their opener. Bergel batted in the winning run in the seventh. The printers overcame a 6-0 lead and went ahead 9-6, only to lose out because of loose outfield play.

The second game also was nip and tuck with Technoprint coming up with two runs in the eighth inning for a 7-6 win. Fine relief pitching by Ralph Winn, despite Erenkrantz' homer in the eighth, preserved the win.

You will like this very attractive and inexpensive cake. We call it

PINEAPPLE SPREAD CAKE

1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3/4 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup softened vegetable shortening
1/3 cup evaporated milk
2 egg yolks
1/2 teaspoon vanilla or almond flavoring

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into a large mixing bowl. Add the softened shortening, evaporated milk, egg yolks and flavoring and beat about 200 strokes, 2 minutes approximately. Grease well an 8-inch removable bottom tube cake pan and dust lightly with flour. Turn the cake batter into pan and bake 30 minutes at 375 deg. F. or till cake pulls away from sides of pan. Let cool on a wire cake rack, while mixing the frosting—about 5 minutes. Spread the top with the following frosting:

PINEAPPLE FROSTING

2 egg whites
4 tablespoons sugar
2/3 cup drained canned crushed pineapple

Beat egg whites at room temperature till stiff enough to hold a peak, adding a tablespoon of sugar at a time while continuing to beat. Fold in the drained crushed pineapple and spread over top of cake after removing rim. Return to oven for 6 minutes additional baking at 325 deg. F. Some of the frosting will drip down the sides of cake.

AROUND THE WORLD ROOM

SYD COHEN:

Of Twins and Triplets

Saul Rogovin is still one of the mainstays of the Chicago White Sox pitching staff; Myron (Joe) Ginsberg sees action with Detroit's Tigers; Cal Abrams is playing more and hitting better with the Pittsburgh Pirates than he ever did as a Brooklyn Dodger—Yet, the most talked about Jewish baseball players are not even in the major leagues.

Al Rosen is burning up the American League, as he has gotten off to his finest start since he made good with the Cleveland Indians; yet, the speculation over Jewish players is not about him.

The talk is about Hal and Stan Charnofsky, the twins who form a second base combination.

The Charnofskys are real twins off the diamond, just as much so on the field. Hal is a shortstop, Stan a second baseman. Both are highly regarded in the Yankee farm system, and in the Class A Eastern League. There's a good reason for the League's opinion. The boys led Binghamton to a pennant in 1952.

Making their professional debut last summer as soon as school was out at the University of Southern California, the twins were assigned to the Binghamton Triplets, and pretty soon they were installed as the regular keystone combination.

Before the Charnofskys hit the regular lineup, Binghamton was going nowhere. Once the twins started to play every day and take care of the traffic around second, the team began to move. And when the pennant was won by Binghamton, much of the credit was assigned to Stan and Hal.

Hal, the shortstop, batted just over .300, while his brother was ten points lower, at a very respectable .292. In the field, they drew the raves of most of the league's experts.

It was assumed on all sides that when the 1953 season opened, the twins would move up a couple of notches to Triple A ball, which would mean Kansas City, the polishing ground for Yankee talent. But several weeks passed, and no mention whatever was made of the boys.

Two weeks ago the mystery was cleared up. The Charnofskys, who had returned to the campus last fall to complete their education, were graduated from USC, following which they immediately reported to the Yankees at New York. They worked out at Yankee Stadium under the watchful eyes of the Yankee coaching staff, and then were reassigned to Binghamton. Before leaving, the twins got the impression that they would not remain Triplets for long.

Anyway, the writers covering the Yankees have sounded off to the effect that Hal and Stan right now are ready for Triple A ball. A month or two of solid play with the Triplets could result in their joint promotion to Kansas City. And with Phil Rizzuto slowing down, and no suitable shortstop springing up in the Yankee chain, it is possible that the boys may be doing their stuff on the Stadium green before many years have passed.

Everyone who has seen the twins claims that they are fast, excellent fielders who form an ideal second base combination, and that they bring back memories of Big and Little Poison—Paul and Lloyd Waner of Pirates fame. Praise of a high sort.

One step at a time, however; and it remains to be seen how well the Charnofskys will do at Binghamton this year. That will be their first big test of the year. This column will try to keep you posted on their progress.

Umpires always take such a beating from players and fans alike, it was refreshing to read about the headwork displayed by a pair of umpires at an amateur game in Brooklyn's Prospect Park last week. It really is not the sort of story for a sports page, but the umpire rate the notice.

Maybe you read about the disappointed suitor who chased his girl through the crowds and eventually stabbed her to death. Whereupon a mob descended on him and all but killed him. All that saved the murderer from immediate death was the quick thinking of two umpires, who saw the crime and the resultant mob action, leaped into the crowd, and protected the killer until the police arrived.

Chalk one up for the maligned umpiring profession. That one ought to offset a couple of bad calls at home plate.

With the Boston Braves having moved out of Braves Field into a park in Milwaukee that is known as County Stadium, only one ball club is left that has its team nickname as the name of its park. That club is the Yankees.

Most of the others are named for some person or family—Connie Mack Stadium in Philadelphia, Griffith Stadium in Washington, Busch Stadium in St. Louis, Briggs Stadium in Detroit, Comiskey Park in Chicago, Ebbets Field in Brooklyn, Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, Crosley Field, Cincinnati, Wrigley Field, Chicago.

Exceptions are Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds, New York; County Stadium, Milwaukee; Municipal Stadium, Cleveland, and Fenway Park, Boston.

Actually, from the name angle, it is a pity that Tom Yawkey owns the Red Sox. With his name, it would seem only fair that Tom should own the Yankees. Then they could be called "Yawkey's Yankees", or better still, "The New Yawkeys".

BOWLING

FINEMAN-TRINKLE
by Max Cohen

Following is the order in which the teams finished: Reds, Dodgers, Cubs, Athletics, Indians, Senators, White Sox, Red Sox, Yankees, Tigers, Giants, Phillies, Braves, Pirates.

After 31 weeks of bowling, the Reds won out and are the Champs of the league. Jerry Resnick was captain of this team. Other members were Murray Zuckerman, Harold Levin, Speed Kessler and Sam Miller. There were ties for second, fifth, and seventh place, and there were roll-offs for these positions.

High average for the season was Donald Cohen with 111, and Burt Himelfarb a few pins behind but also 111. Third high average was Murray Gordon 110. High three for the season was Mort Kilbanoff 440, followed by Harry Shore 404 and Donald Cohen 400. High single for the season was Murray Gordon with 166, second Phil Shaulson and Arnold Kleinman 157, and third Benton Goldblatt and Jim Hockman 156. High team single was 600 by the Phillies and high team three was 1644 by the Tigers.

CRANSTON PLAIDS

by Elaine Chopak

The Browns, with Captain Esther Wasserman, Gladys Warren, Sally Potemkin, Sally Levy and Sylvia Aven are this year's champs, dropping the Tans to second place. The Maroons, with Mildred Manne's 111, Edwyna Samdperil and Alyce Feingold 106 and Charlotte White 97, were third.

High scorers were Sylvia Sackett 123, Jeanette Silverstein 113, Kay Miller 112, Kayla Jagoliner 110, Diana Berger 107, Dot Rubin 104, Gladys Warren and Bernice Weinberg 103, Ida Bernstein 100.

High triples were Sylvia Sackett 305, Edwyna Samdperil 302, Kay Jagoliner 299, Jeanette Silverstein 296, Bernice Weinberg 292 and Kay Miller 291.

FRATERNAL BOWLING

by Phil Chopak

Moe Cofman's Indian quintet clinched first place on the final night of bowling by downing Mike Miller's Dodgers 4-0, and secured the title by a lone point. Jim Shocket's Cubs finished as 3-1 victors in their series with the Browns. The Indians and Cubs went into their final matches even-up on points. The Red Sox coasted into third place as they split with the Cards.

Final high three scores were: Mel Shanfield 360, Moe Kessler

Up From the Ranks

Philip M. Klutznick of Chicago, former Federal Public Housing Commissioner by President Franklin D. Roosevelt's appointment, is the youngest man to rise to the high position of president of B'nai B'rith. He rose to this post from the ranks—having begun his B'nai B'rith career in Aleph Zadik Aleph—AZA—B'nai B'rith's junior organization, which he served as president. He held nearly every office in B'nai B'rith, in Omaha; later was given high recognition by his district and then advanced nationally. He is, additionally, a leader in Zionist ranks, has shown keen interest in the Center movement and in Federations and has been acclaimed for his oratory. He is well qualified for his new post, and his associates are especially pleased with his understanding of the challenge that comes to him from predecessors like Henry Monksky and the other noted leaders who headed B'nai B'rith.

His rise from the ranks is part of the heartening trend in Jewish organizational activities. The young American Jew is taking his place in the community as a leader and guide in important movements. We welcome such genuine interest. It spells greater good for American Jewry in the years to come.

Planned Oversight
George Jessel recently gave Sophie Tucker a check for $5,000 for her favorite charity.

Sophie glanced at it a moment and said, "But George, you forgot to sign it."

"I know," Jessel explained, "when I give charity I like to remain anonymous!"

(P.S. Of course, George was kidding—he signed it!)

The Poor, Poor Nasis

Comedian Al (Cohen) Kelly says his brother is a police reporter—reports to the police once a week!

...The Garfield Cafeteria in Flatbush, Brooklyn, a favorite haunt of the Jewish people in this section, features tiny, delicious liver knishes—aptly dubbed "knishlets."

...George Abrams, the Jewish ex-middleweight flash from Washington, D. C. and Jimmy Carollo the heavyweight fighter, are readying a "Slapsie Maxie" Rosenbloom-Max Baer type of act. Abrams, incidentally, fought the late great Marcel Cerdan in the latter's debut in Madison Square Garden, and although losing a disputed decision, gave the flashy Frenchman a terrific battle. ... Chancellor Adenauer, of West Germany, is so, so concerned over the U. S. lag in freeing Nazi war criminals. Perhaps if the Chancellor had taken the trouble to visit Auschwitz and Buchenwald and seen the ghastly handiwork of so many of the Nazi butchers now languishing in jail, he would realize how fortunate they are merely being imprisoned—and not doing the hangman's jig—which they so richly deserve. ... Words of advice—be of good cheer. By your reflection, people shall judge you. Don't cast a shadow—shed a light.

Jewish Lad Pens Irish Lyric

Henny Youngman claims that Milton Berle has so much money, he has to use book-ends—to keep his bankbooks together. ... The boxing beat is mourning the death at the age of 70, of promoter Lew Raymond, whose right name was Lewis Malitz. Raymond, a wonderfully well-liked fellow, was a great fighter for Jewish causes. ... The sensational new Irish comedy song, "Mickey Maguire," beautifully sung by Irishman Eddie Martin, was written by Will Harris, a Jewish lad. On the strength of this song, Will has been offered a contract to write the background music for the new 4-Dimension film "House of Lux." ... Cy Reeves, the clever Jewish comedian from the East Side, commenting on the Communist delegate to the United Nations, who was taken to the hospital with a violent stomach-ache, nifted: "Something he agreed with—is eating him."

Sinatra and the Mazuzah
"Miriam Comes Home," a new book by Yehuda Harry Levin, a stirring story of our Israeli cousins, is a book of great charm and sincerity. We highly recommend it. ... Eddie Cantor points out that, contrary to popular opinion, the late Al Jolson never appeared at the famous Palace Theatre, but did get up and sing one song, unofficially, at the behest of a headliner. ... Frank Sinatra carries a Mazuzah with him at all times as a good luck piece. ... Basketball, which is played so expertly by many Jewish boys in America, has now caught on as the main sport in Israel. ... Add Truismis: one person may speak from experience—another, from experience, may not speak.

Israel Is Well-Chosen Name For New State, Says Zeitlin

The age-old question—is Judaism a race or a religion?—is the substance of a review of the controversy by Solomon Zeitlin, in an article, "The Names Hebrew, Jew and Israel," written for The Jewish Quarterly Review.

Prof. Zeitlin, a professor at Dropsie College, through reference to Scriptures, manuscripts, chapters of the Bible and Talmud, comes to the conclusion that Judaism is a religion.

He further states that the name "Israel," chosen for the re-born Jewish state, is vitally significant and well-chosen, since it indicates that the Israeli is a Jew by religion, uniting him with all Jews of the Diaspora, while Jews of the Diaspora are not bound to Israel politically, but are citizens of their respective countries, to which they owe their allegiance.

The term "Israel" begins with Jacob, who was surnamed Israel. Prof. Zeitlin points out. His descendants were known as the children of Israel, and sometimes, simply Israel.

On the death of Solomon, the kingdom was split into the south and the north, with the kings of the latter called the kings of Israel, and those of the south called kings of Judah.

The state formed after the Restoration was the Common-wealth of the Jews, and the country was Judaea, but the language now be-

This is the way our fathers and forefathers did it in the cities and towns of Poland, Lithuania, Rumania and the Ukraine. Whenever an event of great import was about to take place, they would paste a broadside on the doors of the Synagogues and on the walls of public places for all to see and to be prepared.

They called it a KOL KORAY, a Voice that calls, urges, and implores.

The Kol Koray was written in the finest of penmanships, and it was composed in the choicest of phrases. Words spoken by the Prophets were in it. Phrases from the Midrash and the Talmud were woven into it. Styles used by Medieval poets were taken as a pattern. Passages from ancient prayers were fitted into its text. Thus was the Kol Koray composed, and the urgency of its message proclaimed.

Who would pass it by, and would not stop to read?

Who would enter the portals of the Synagogue, and would not pause to take notice?

And having read the Kol Koray, who but the man whose heart is as hard as a rock would pass on and forget the message?

The Kol Koray was a call to the conscience of every Jew, a reminder of his duties as a Jew, a voice that must be heeded.

If we were to follow in the footsteps of our fathers and forefathers (and the older I get the more convinced am I that these were footsteps etched in wisdom), we would on this coming Sabbath, issue an urgent Kol Koray. We would issue a call to duty in a voice strong and compelling, so that it may reach every ear, and awaken every heart, and touch the soul of every Jew in our midst. And this is what we would say in the Kol Koray:

"Sisters and brothers, children of Israel:

"A great day is coming. Be prepared for that day. Be worthy to meet the day. The prayers of 80 generations—prayers, tears and hopes—paved the way for this day. Yearnings of centuries, deep yearnings, sanctified by suffering and martyrdom, brought this day to us. We, the least of these generations, were favored to see that day. We, the least worthy, have been chosen came Hebrew instead of Yehudit. During this period converts were not accepted.

But, during the Second Commonwealth, when converts were encouraged to join the Jewish fold, the Judeans-Jews, as they were known, were no longer an ethnic group, nor did all descendants of Israel live in Judaea.

Jews who lived in Antioch were called Hebrews, those who lived in other countries of the Diaspora were Israelis, but they were all united by their common belief in one God.

Zeitlin explains that the term Judaism which sprang up was coined not in Judaea, but in the Diaspora, which, he adds, is significant since the term Judaism, therefore, "is to be associated only with religion and not with a civilization." Prof. Zeitlin further states:

"The first government established by the Jews in the time of Saul was called Israel. He was the first king of Israel. Since the term Israel has no connotation of religion, a Moslem or Arab or a Christian Arab can be a citizen of the State of Israel; however, if the State were called Judaea, the inhabitants would be called Judaeans-Jews. The name Judaea would be exclusive; a Moslem or a Christian could not be called Jewish."

"One Man's Opinion"

BY BERYL SEGAL

to meet that great day. This great favor, denied to generations of good and just, was granted to us.

"Be prepared, therefore, Sisters and Brothers! Be prepared to be worthy of this great favor!

"On the day after the Sabbath, on the seventh day of the month of June, be prepared!

"On this day, you and your children and your children's children will bring their offerings of thanks for being chosen to live in these times and on this day.

"When the knock comes to the door of your home, open the door wide, and say to those who knocked:

"Blessed is the day when I can lend my hand and the toil of my hands to the land of Israel. Blessed is the day when I can have a share and an inheritance in the soil of Zion."

"And saying this, you will buy Bonds of Israel, so that the prayers and the tears and the hopes of generations may be rewarded.

"You buy a Bond and it is as if you were offering your shoulder to ease the burden of your Brothers and Sisters who toil to make Israel secure.

"You buy a Bond and it is counted to you as if you were among the Sons and Daughters of Israel who now—on this very day—are harnessing the waters of the Jordan to make Israel prosperous.

"You buy a Bond and in doing so you strengthen the bonds between generations past and generations to come.

"You invest in the future, while you justify the sufferings of the past!"

"Israel wants to be strong, self-supporting, free from fear; will you turn her away empty handed?

"Israel is tired of asking for gifts; will you not spare her the humility?

"Israel is weary of supplications; will you not trust her in dignity?

"Israel wants to become a nation among the peoples of the earth, working, creating, earning, rewarding; and who among us will fail her?

"In Israel there is work to do, and there are people willing to do the work, and men with skills knowing how to do it. Lands to reclaim. Powers to unleash. Mills to run. Roads to blast in the hills. Highways to pave. Ships to launch in the seas. Planes to span continents. Discoveries to make. Wealth to recover from the depths of the earth. New horizons.

"These and many more your Bonds will be harnessed to do. You, through your Bonds, will bring all this about, in our days and in the days of our children.

"You, and all who heed this voice, will rejoice in the works of their hands."

But the times of Kol Korays are gone. The words of the Prophets, and the Midrash, and the poets of old no longer linger on our lips. We have other ways, and we use other means to call, to urge, and to implore. We proclaim a BIG DAY. We send forth hundreds of volunteers to spread the message. We employ newspapers, radio, and celebrities. But the intent is the same.

On Sunday, which is BIG DAY with us, Israel speaks in a voice full of confidence:

"After five years of political independence, we want to gain economic independence as well. Political independence was obtained by the blood of the best of Israel. Economic independence requires no such sacrifices. This we hope to gain by our sweat and toil, and your Bonds. Through your Bonds will Israel become self-supporting.

On this BIG DAY the voice of Israel speaks not of HELP, but of TRUST; not of GIVE, but of BUY; not of GIFT but of LEND.

Important Studies In YIVO Annual

To the scholarly library, "YIVO Annual of Jewish Social Science," published by the Yiddish Scientific Institute, 535 W. 123rd St., NY27, has been added volume VII, the contents of which enrich Jewish research.

Edited by Koppel S. Pinson, this volume has special merit because of the splendid study of "The Ancestry, Childhood and Youth of Yitskhok Leybush Peretz" by the noted writer, S. Nigier Charney. This essay, published on the occasion of the centenary of Peretz's birth, is not only replete with many hitherto unknown facts about the great Yiddish writer, but is a notable interpretation of the man's character, his inner yearnings, his vitality as a storyteller, as a philosopher, as a man and a Jew with deep-rooted principles.

This is not all. The new YIVO annual is replete with other most valuable data. The material for a lexicon, E. Lifschutz's "Merry-makers and Jesters Among Jews," enriches the library on Jewish wit. It is a thorough study of the subject, packed full of stories to illustrate the subject. In addition to the source material, the explanatory essay describes the merry-makers' activities at weddings, their bawties with Talmudists, their origin, the place of the badkhn and marshalik in the old country.

Of considerable importance is an essay, "Ashkenazic Jewry in Italy," by Moses A. Shulvass. Chaim Wolf Reines's "Public Support of Rabbis, Scholars and Students in the Jewish Past" will be especially valuable to those who seek knowledge about the position of the man in public life in former times.

Students of economics will find additional merit in the essay, "Jews as Entrepreneurs in Weimar Germany." "The Struggle Against Jewish Immigration Into Latin America in Colonial Times" by Boleslaw Lewin is another good study of the immigration subject. There are another dozen essays in this annual, and combined they form an especially valuable addition to Jewish literature.

BOWLING CONGRESS DINNER

The Sports Night of the R. I. Jewish Bowling Congress, held Wednesday, will be reviewed next week.

Prov. Fraternal Wins Team Title

Justice team from the Providence Fraternal Bowling League had the advantage of a 69 pin handicap in the first annual team championship tournament sponsored May 25 by the R. I. Jewish Bowling Congress. But Justice prevailed, handicap or no, and the Fraternal crew romped off with the team title in impressive fashion.

Justice's 1587 pinfall was 82 higher than that of its nearest rival, Cranston Indians, so the handicap made no difference whatever in where the team finished. The official score, however, including the handicap, showed 1656 for Justice, as against 1562 for the Indians, who had a handicap of 57.

Handicaps did affect the ratings of other teams. Beth-David Hawks, for example, rated the top team on seasonal averages, and thus drawing no handicap score, registered 1510 total pinfall, second highest score recorded. Yet the Hawks finished only sixth.

Beth-Israel Brandeis team, with 1489 raw score and a handicap of 63, finished third with an official 1552. Fineman-Trinkel Reds were fourth, with 1501 and 39 for 1540; Beth El's Applebaums were fifth with 1504 and 9 for 1513.

In seventh spot were Knights of Pythias' Pythians, 1455 and 51 for 1506, followed by Post 23 Chiefs, 1395 and 99 for 1494; Emanuel Braves, 1473 and 18 for 1491, and AEPI Barons, 1458 and 21 for 1479.

Jack Steiner, Indians, posted high three of 362, followed by Noah Miller, Braves, 352; Sam Miller, Reds, 350, and Joe Zwetckhenbaum, Justice, 349.

High singles were Miller, 146; Zwetckhenbaum, 136; Miller, 135, and Steiner, 134.

B'nai B'rith Girls To Hold Installation

Roger Williams Chapter, B'nai B'rith Girls will hold their annual installation banquet Monday at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel. Mrs. Philip C. Dorenbaum will be installing officer and Rabbi Nathan N. Rosen will be guest speaker.

Nikki Rosenberg and Lenore were selected to represent their chapter as delegates at the District 1 Convention June 26-28.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS

Officers of the Women's Division of the Cranston Jewish Center will be installed at the Center, Thursday evening. Rabbi Nathan N. Rosen will be installing officer and Mrs. Stanley Manne, program chairman, assisted by Mrs. Hyman Katz and Mrs. Bernard Rakoff.

Warning To Assimilationists

by JUDAH LOEB PERETZ

(Editor's Note: The 100th anniversary of the birth of the great Yiddish writer, Judah Loeb Peretz, draws attention anew to some of his outstanding stories and essays, among them the following warning to assimilationists. Peretz, while believing that the pyres were extinguished, did not dream that Hitlerism would bring them back into action, leading to the destruction of a third of the Jewish people. This essay remains an interminable warning to all who would abandon faith or desert their people.)

In the Middle Ages there used to be disputations between us and others. The priest spoke on behalf of others. Our spokesman was the rabbi.

When the rabbi silenced the priest, the priest had him burned at the stake.

So we lapsed into silence. For years they kept arguing, while we kept silent. They seemed to be in the right even in the eyes of people of our own who, in accordance with your prescription, left home to drink wisdom from alien springs.

But now that the pyres have been extinguished and living people are no longer thrown into the flames, our tactics must change, we must not remain silent.

We must make answer, but not to you! It is so hard to take you seriously.

You chant the old "Ma Yofis" praises of every conqueror, while we present to the political world the widest demands for equalizing the rights of "majority" and "minority," of "native" and "alien." Yet you look upon yourselves as progressive and upon us as conservatives! . . .

One parting word of advice:

Whatever the language in which you speak to the people, speak with respect!

Respect more the old, the oldest people, who knew as well as others, how, better and more nobly than others, how to rule a country and defend it to the last drop of blood against the most powerful armies in the world! And then a long line of generations of fighters, fighting to the last drop of blood for their convictions. And this time not just like all the others, but more than all the others.

Respect for a people whose history is the only heroic world tragedy; a bloody tale of self-sacrifice, martyrdom, and the most inhuman suffering for the sake of an idea!

No wonder you, frivolous pleasure-seekers, have deserted; you have run away from those who preach life and must suffer to those who preach suffering and lead a life of pleasure! Better men than you, some of our standard-bearers, have grown tired and are seeking refuge far from the struggle and all the tribulation. More than one, grown "worldly wise," want to renounce the inheritance so as not to have to pay the debts; the burden is too heavy!

You have gone away altogether; good luck to you! But as if not content with that, you come, like black crows, and croak to us about impending doom.

You do not frighten us. We heard the same talk from your kind in Egypt, Persia, Assyria, Babylon, and Rome; we are used to it. Not by your word are worlds shattered or built!

Preach whatever you please—the wind will carry it—but with respect!

If you do not want to suffer with the people, go your way! If you no longer can love it, we'll do without your love! But respect it you shall, you must!

Bow your frivolous heads to the eternal fighter, to the eternal people.

Jewry's Interests in Elizabeth's Coronation

There will be a forest of 250,000 trees in Israel in honor of the coronation, June 2, of Queen Elizabeth of England. It will be known as "Coronation Forest."

To link the coronation with Israel, Queen Elizabeth also had a dress made by the 17 and 18 year old girls of the Alice Seligsberg Vocational Training School. This dress, which has been sent from Jerusalem for inclusion in the coronation wardrobe, is of dark green velvet. It has a draped hobble skirt and a backless, strapless bodice embroidered with beads.

The Alice Seligsberg School is conducted by Hadassah. The dress was on exhibit in the school, whose 10th anniversary was observed recently.

Queen Elizabeth's coronation calls attention to Jewish historical backgrounds in England. The earliest known settlers on the British Isles are said to have come there during the reign of William the Conqueror (1066-1087). They developed industries and prospered as merchants, but their prosperity ended during the third crusade.

In the reign of Richard I, towards the end of the 12th century, the London Jewish quarter was attacked and Jews suffered humiliations from that time on.

King John (1199-1216) extracted large sums from Jewish communities. There was a breathing spell under Henry III, but when the latter reached his majority, he too, began to exact heavy sums from the Jews.

Then came the frightful Ritual Murder Lie which has become known as the Hugh of Lincoln Blood Accusation, and the Jews were expelled from England by Edward I in 1290.

Oliver Cromwell, Protector of England from 1653 to 1658, was responsible for the change which led to the return of the Jews to England. He accepted the "Humble Addresses" of Manasseh ben Israel, the venerable Dutch Jewish leader who met with Cromwell in London.

It took generations to reconstruct the Jewish communities of England. In 1855 the Christian oath, required of those who were elected to the House of Commons, was made optional so that a Rothschild at last was able to take his seat there with a clear conscience. Under Queen Victoria, Benjamin Disraeli became Prime Minister. On Nov. 2, 1917, the Balfour Declaration was issued, and from that point began the realization of the Zionist ideal and the rise of the state of Israel, after the termination of the British Mandate.

One of the English rulers, King James I, was responsible for the famous translation of the Bible into English, known as the King James Version.

Some in England believe that they are the lost Ten Tribes of Israel and they point to the name —Brith Ish—the Covenant of Man in Hebrew—as proof.

COMETS CLUB ELECTS

The Comets Club elected the following officers at a recent meeting: Sam Berman, president; Shelton Golden, vice-president; Arnold Elman, secretary; Leo Greenfeld, treasurer, and Harold Greenfeld, member-at-large. The officers will be installed at a banquet to be held in June.

A. D. L. Reveals Attack On Baruch

Peddling anti-Semitism is not just a man's job, the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith revealed this week as it identified two long-time hate campaigners, Elizabeth Dilling and Lyril Clark Van Hyning as the source of an attack upon Bernard Baruch, elder statesman and advisor to Presidents.

The Anti-Defamation League stated that the two women have joined in a special message to Congress warning that Baruch was leading America to destruction on behalf of the conspiratorial "Zionist world empire." According to these anti-Semites, Baruch and his associates are planning a quick war to enable Zionists "to supplant their Soviet brethren." Recipients of this message, circulated widely through the mails, were asked to contact their Congressmen immediately to insure that true Americans are not "harnessed and slaughtered again without protest."

The Chicago office of the Anti-Defamation League identified Miss Van Hyning as leader of the frenetic "We, the Mothers" organization, whose most recent venture was to sponsor Kenneth Goff, from Colorado, has been associated with virtually all the hate-mongers, including Gerald L. K. Smith, down through the years. Goff called for a complete investigation of Zionism.

Several days later, when Goff made a similar attack while ad-

OUR KIDDIES' CORNER

CORNER

By Uncle David

Dear Boys and Girls:

Our dear friend Miriam has taken a leave of absence, but before she left she asked me to tell you not to forget the wonderful stories of the Jewish people that you learned in your religious school classes this year. Now that summer and vacation time is coming near, many of you will be going to new places or summer camps or just enjoying a vacation in the city. Try to find new experiences that you can tell your school friends in the fall.

Here is a story that someone might tell you this summer.

A Star and a Leader

Many thousands of years ago there was a big and beautiful star. It was so bright and sparkling that even the big fullness of the moon could not hide it. And night after night, when the ancient peoples looked up at it, they would say:

"How great, how lovely is this star!"

But the star began to feel that it was too great to be just a star and it went to God and spoke:

"Hear me, O God." And the light that was before the throne of God replied:

"Speak, dear star."

"O God," said the star, "of all Thy stars, is there another which has wings as large as mine?" The light before the God grew dimmer, but replied:

"There is none."

The star took a deep breath, and shone twice as brightly. "O God, is there another star as brilliant as I?" And again the light dimmed and replied:

"There is none."

"Then, O God, why am I a star?" "What wouldst thou be?" asked the light. And the star beamed with eagerness as it answered:

"O God, for many years I have watched the earth, and seen the men and women pass to and fro among their great palaces. They build, they labor, they move about, they live. God, I would be a man."

The light dimmed, before low and sad, it replied:

"Dear Star, thou dost not know what it is to be a man. But since thou dost wish it, so let it be. Yet because thou art such a great and beautiful star, so shalt thou become a great and beautiful soul among men. Men shall know by thine eyes that thou art not altogether of them. And thou shalt lead them and be master. "But he warned, "thou art proud and hasty. If thou be proud and hasty among men, thou diest."

And the light vanished and the star began to fall down and down, past thousands of other stars with outstretched wings, and then the star became a man. But wherever he went, something shone in his eyes, something beamed in his forehead that made men say:

"This is no common man, let us listen to him." And he went among the Jews, and spoke to them, and the Jewish people called him "Moses."

And that is a legend of one of the most important and interesting persons in Jewish history—Moses, to whom God gave the Ten Commandments, which we study in our religious schools.

BOWLING

BETH ISRAEL BOWLING

by Sam Eisenberg

Captain George Hochman led his Brandeis rollers to victory over Army and took the second half championship with a 3-1 victory. Play-off for the title is now scheduled against Irving Levine's Princeton team, first half winners. Brown wound up in second place, as they won over Rhode Island 3-1. Ending the season with good scores were the following: Sayre Summer, 350, Sam Segal, 350, Charlie Winkelman, 343, Jack Epstein 336, Marty Buckler 322 Harold Berman, 322, Saul Susman, 320, Arnie Green, 320, Max Susman, 320, Harold Fishman, 318, Eddie Beren, 319, Abramow, 317, and Al Abrams, 317.

Sy Aron won individual high average for the season with 111, Jack Epstein being second at 110. Aron also had the year's high three at 396. Irving Brodsky copped high single with his 159.

George Hochman's Brandeis won the 1952-1953 championship by winning the play-offs against Irving Levine's Princeton team. Brandeis won the first game by 33 pins, dropped the second by 29, having an edge of 4 pins going into the final game. Hochman bowled 119 and Walter Chucnin 111, helping win this game by a single pin and total pinfall by 1487 to 1482. Hochman rolled 348 while S. Shapiro of Princeton bowled 336. Army shut out Brown. John Wyner bested Jack Epstein 345 to 331, supported by I. Krasnoff 313 and Weisman 307. Al Abrams' Rhode Islanders won the team high single with 612 and Sy Aron's Yale five took high three with 1684.

R. I. J. F. A. BOWLING

The Dodgers won three from the Yankees. Bert Reffkin rolled 133, Louis Sacarovitz 122 and Joe Solinger 102. The Dodgers won the team trophy winning 49 games and losing 38 for a .563 average. The Yankees are in second place, winning 45 and losing 42 for .517. The Indians are third and the Red Sox fourth.

Good scores were: Bert Reffkin 133, 100, 104 for 337, Hy Kravitz 115, 103, 103 for 321, Louis Sacarovitz 122 and 310, Aaron Seigal 102, 104, A. Millman 108, J. Gordon 106, J. Solinger 102, and S. Millman 101.

PROVIDENCE FRATERNAL

by Ben Medwin

Justice won the second half series of the bowling season and beat Liberty in the final play-offs. The whole season was close up until the very end.

High man for the league was Nat Chaiken with 109 and close behind was Jack Smith with 108. High single for the season went to Sol Sklaroff and high three to Leo Lazarus with 388. High team

Name Rabbi Rosen Beth Sholom Cantor

Temple Beth Sholom announced this week that Rabbi Nathan N. Rosen, director of B'nai Brith Hillel Foundations on Rhode Island campuses, has accepted an invitation to officiate as cantor at the Temple during the 1953 High Holy Day period.

Rabbi Rosen, who is active in local cultural affairs, is a graduate of Columbia University and was ordained by Yeshiva University. He occupied pulpits previously in Savannah, Georgia and at Temple Petach Tikvah in Brooklyn, N. Y. He served during World War II as an Army chaplain in the Asiatic-Pacific Theatre of Operation, with the rank of major.

At present he is national deputy chaplain of the Jewish War Veterans.

Rabbi Rosen, who uses his own musical arrangements in the chanting of the liturgy, will be assisted by a special choral group during the High Holy Days.

Home for Aged Class "Graduates"

Residents of the Jewish Home for the Aged who are participants in the occupational therapy class were guests of honor at a graduation party held on May 19 at the Home. Each participant received a gift.

Mrs. David Litchman, a volunteer leader, complimented the participating residents. Other leaders present included Mesdames Walter Markoff, George Ludman and Samuel Arbeitsman. Hostesses were Mesdames Barney Goldberg, Morris Ratush, Samuel Garr, Albert Cohen, Aaron Caslowitz, Samuel Salmanson, Mayer Smith, Rose Kahanovsky and Evelyn Cohen and Miss Pearl Smith. Mrs. Samuel Schneider, president of Ladies Association, also took part.

Rabbi and Mrs. Nathan N. Rosen presented a program of Jewish and Hebrew songs, accompanied by Mrs. Louis Rubinstein at the piano.

Mrs. Litchman announced that the weekly occupational therapy classes have been discontinued for the summer and will resume in September.

There's Something of Genius

in the way

fulfills vacation pleasures!

Have you ever experienced a vacation period where your unspoken wish is anticipated and fulfilled... eagerly... politely... and with utter finesse?

Such a resort is The Griswold... on the picturesque Sound... prudently remote yet easily accessible. There's a velvety green 18 hole championship golf course... tennis, handball, sporty fishing, sailing, solarium sun baths, swimming in the colorful Olympic pool. There's also the gaiety of music, dancing, lavish entertainment and the Griswold food, acclaimed as culinary witchery.

No... NOT expensive... just expensive.

Weekly rates from $12 daily. American plan.

Special rates for families. Children are no problem... they are a pleasure.
