Rabbi Ende Accepts Post In N. Y.

Max Winograd, president of the Bureau of Jewish Education of Greater Providence, announced today that Rabbi George Ende, Bureau Director since September 1952, has been invited to return to New York City to set up a new department of secondary Hebrew education in the Jewish Education Committee of New York. The aim of the department will be to extend the pupil's stay at the Hebrew school through the years of adolescence.

The invitation was extended some time ago. It was felt at that time that Rabbi Ende was not free to consider it until the first phase of the development of the Bureau in Providence was completed. Mr. Winograd stated, "Rabbi Ende has now submitted his request for a release which would enable him to accept the appointment in New York. The Bureau in our community has now progressed to the point where a change of directors would not impair its program. The granting of Rabbi Ende's request was urged by the Jewish Education Committee of New York so that the development of the Hebrew High School in New York might be a forerunner of such a development throughout the country. The invitation extended to him does him great honor and represents a challenge and an opportunity that do not often present themselves in the field of Jewish education."

Rabbi Ende will remain in Providence until a suitable successor is on hand to take up the work. A committee of nine consisting of laymen, rabbis, and educators has been appointed to engage his successor.

RABBI GEORGE ENDE

"The Bureau," said Winograd, "has made notable progress in the first year of its existence although much more progress is in the planning. Enrollment in the religious schools has risen to an encouraging extent. Some schools have received financial grants which have enabled them to expand their facilities and accommodate additional children. The Bureau has built a library of instructional materials and audio-visual aids which is being used by teachers. New instructional materials have been produced to fill needs in a number of situations. We have reason to believe that parents are becoming increasingly aware of the need for sending their children for a Jewish education at an earlier age."

Secret Trials Terrorize 200,000 Rumanian Jews

NEW YORK — World Jewish Congress sources have confirmed as true the reports that five prominent Jewish leaders in Rumania have been sentenced to long prison terms for "Jewish activities" after a secret trial on July 20, by a Bucharest military court, Dr. Israel Goldstein, co-chairman of the WJC Executive, announced.

He further stated that the World Jewish Congress had received verification of reports of new outbreaks of anti-Semitism in Czechoslovakia. Thus, reports reaching the Congress disclose that on August 7, nine Czech Jews were secretly tried, were summarily found guilty and were given severe prison sentences. In addition, approximately 50 to 60 prominent Jewish and Zionist leaders who had mysteriously "disappeared" more than two years ago are now scheduled to be tried soon. The nine convicted persons, whose names are being withheld for security reasons, were charged with promoting Jewish migration to Israel and with assisting Jews in the recovery of property of which they were deprived during the Nazi regime.

"The campaign of repression of Rumanian Jews is particularly grave in the light of the fact that the largest Jewish population in the satellite lands resides in Rumania. The Rumanian Jewish community, which suffered the loss of 385,000 members as a result of Nazi persecution, now numbers about 200,000, most of them impoverished as a result of the nationalization of industries and business without compensation to their owners."

Charges Favoritism In Arab Aggression

ATLANTIC CITY—Israel "is being promptly hauled before an international tribunal" for destruction of a Jordanian village by Israeli troops or vigilantes, while excuses have been found for unprovoked Arab aggression against Israel, an Israeli diplomat stated here this weekend.

He was Eliashev Ben-Horin, attache at the Israeli Embassy in Washington and former advisor to the Israeli United Nations delegation who addressed the 28th annual convention here of the Mizrahi Women's Organization.

He replaced Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban, the scheduled speaker, who was unable to appear because of the special UN Security Council meeting called to consider charges of armistice violations against Israel.

Assailing "intolerable" Arab hostility, Ben-Horin commented that the current crisis in Arab-Israeli relations is the inevitable result of the Arab refusal to discuss any permanent peace settlement.

He declared, "It is my deep conviction that if those among our Western friends who today denounce us with such alacrity had shown and expressed similar concern over the prolonged series of Arab aggressive actions which produced the latest regrettable incident, they would have served the cause of Middle Eastern peace far better."

Ben-Horin pointed out that Jordan has been condemned some 160 times by UN authorities in the past year alone for "proven violations" of Israel's borders. He asserted that the present stand of some world powers must produce, unintentionally, the attitude in Arab lands that the Arabs may pursue their own aggressive policies with relative immunity.

GJC Initial Gifts Dinner Monday Night

Hear Morgenthau May Resign

JERUSALEM—The news that Henry Morgenthau Jr., head of the organization which is conducting the Israel bond drive in the United States, requested that he be relieved from his duties when the new issue of Israel bonds will be launched next May, was reported at a press conference here by Henry Montor, executive vice-president of the organization.

Montor said that Morgenthau favors a "younger and stronger" man in his place. He added that in his opinion "no Jew in the world has done more for Israel in the past seven years than Morgenthau." He also reported that no friction whatsoever exists now between the United Jewish Appeal and his organization.

Abba Hillel Silver Guest Speaker

Their weeks of preparation finally at an end, leaders of the General Jewish Committee today looked forward to Sunday evening's Initial Gifts dinner, which launches the 1953 fund-raising campaign. The affair will take place at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel. A reception will be held at 5 P. M. in honor of Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, featured speaker. The dinner will start at 6.

Rabbi Silver's visit to Providence comes at a time when conditions in the Middle East are at a crisis. Probably one of the most informed persons in America on the subject of Israeli-Arab relations, his address here may draw national and international attention.

Arthur Kaplan, Initial Gifts Committee chairman, said that reservations have been pouring in to GJC headquarters in the Strand Building but there is still room for more. He urged that those invited who have not already responded, make last minute reservations by calling GASpee 1-4111.

In addition to the Initial Gifts affair, work has been progressing in other phases of the campaign. Barney Kay, chairman of the Trades and Industries Division, reported that the entire structure of the Division is formed, and that division chairmen have their committees in shape and promise an invigorated and enthusiastic campaign. In all, 17 divisions have been formed, covering practically every branch of trade and commercial activity in the community.

This year's professional division again will embrace the medical, dental, legal and accountancy fields, with a chairman for each division.

On the eve of the campaign, GJC acting president Joseph W. Ress called for the cooperation of every member of the community to make this year's drive a success.

"We owe it to every Jew who has suffered hardship and deprivation, every Jew who has nursed

Young Adults Initial Gifts Dinner Sunday

The Initial Gifts Committee of the Young Adults Division, General Jewish Committee, have completed plans for the Initial Gifts Dinner to be held Sunday evening in the Garden Room of the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel.

Lewis Goldstein, chairman of the affair, revealed that 65 couples already have made their reservations, a figure far ahead of advance reservations in previous years. A special effort is being made this year to attract single young adults to the affair and for the first time single young adults are helping plan the event.

Featured speaker at the YAD dinner will be Jack Brass, former Israeli Army captain and now public relations officer for the Hebrew University. Entertainment will be supplied by Jon Silo, character comedian. Dancing will follow.

A welcoming committee will take charge of seating the guests as they arrive and to introduce new young adult residents.

Admission to the dinner is by donation of $25 or more to the GJC campaign.

Zionists To Present Israeli Caravan

The Zionist District of Providence will celebrate the 3,000th anniversary of the holy city of Jerusalem at a program that will feature entertainment by the famed Israeli Caravan, on Wednesday, Nov. 11 at 8 P. M. in Temple Emanuel's new auditorium.

The program will include the installation of the new slate of District officers.

The Israeli Caravan, which is also known as "Here's Israel—1953 Edition," includes three Jewish musical personalities who present an hour and a half show of the songs of Israel, as well as Hebrew translations of famous operatic arias.

The show includes Hannah Zamir, coloratura opera star; Shmuel Fershko, prominent Israeli composer who is concert-pianist and musical director of the Israel Armed Forces Radio Station; and Mort Freeman, American baritone, who also serves as master of ceremonies for the troupe.

Nathan Yale Temkin will be installed as president of the Zionist District, along with Harry Jagolinzer and Louis Baruch Rubinstein, vice-presidents; Dr. Ilie

BV Women's Division M-Day Sunday

Blackstone Valley Women's Division one day solicitation drive will be held this Sunday, it was announced this week by Mrs. Arthur Newman, Women's Division chairman, who stated, "I am confident that the M Day drive will be sparked by the same enthusiasm and generous giving which made the Initial Gifts dinner such a huge success."

Mrs. Charles Jagolinzer is chairman of "M" day and her associate chairman is Mrs. William Fellner. Mrs. Philip Hak is transportation chairman; Mrs. Louis Cokin, hospitality chairman assisted by Mrs. Maurice Miller. Mrs. Irving Wiener is telephone squad chairman.

Labor Zionists To Mark Anniversary

The 40th anniversary of the Farband Labor Zionist Order will be celebrated Sunday evening, Nov. 8 at the Narragansett Hotel. Louis Segal, national secretary, will be the guest speaker, and Rabbi and Mrs. Nathan N. Rosen will entertain with "Jewish Folklore in Song."

Local branches of the Farband 41-A and the Ben Gurion Branch 41-B will be hosts to the delegates from District X, of the New England Region.

Branch 41-A was one of the several branches which made it possible for the charter to be granted to the Order.

The Farband was organized on the following three principles:

1. Fraternal rates—Every member pays according to his age. This made possible its existence at a time when many orders with great memberships were reduced to almost nothing.

2. The Farband from its inception has placed the rebuilding of a Jewish homeland as an obligation for its members.

3. Jewish education is one of its main objects, and the Farband together with Poale Zion has organized schools in Yiddish and Hebrew in the United States and in Canada.

The arrangements committee consists of Alter Boyman, chairman; Samuel Black, treasurer; Herman Wenkart, secretary; Max Berman, Harry Chaet, Harry Finkelstein, Harry Hoffman, Mrs.

LOUIS SEGAL

Rebecca Kroll, Solomon Lightman, Mrs. Anna Phillips, Max Portnoy, Harry Richman and Albert Sokolow.

The celebration will be preceded by a conference of the branches of District X from New England, with Ben Hyams of Boston as chairman. Delegates will attend from Boston, Worcester, Hartford, Springfield, Fall River, New Bedford and other cities.

Election of officers for District X in which the branches of the Farband from Providence are included, will be held.

I combined a tour of Europe with my visit to Israel and nothing I saw in the major capitals of the world equalled the sights in the Homeland. I hope that every Jew who has the opportunity, will go to Israel. A visit to this land will impress anyone of the need of the people of Israel for American help. Klemer-Buckler
 At a candlelight ceremony held Sunday evening in the ballroom of the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel, Miss Edith Frances Buckler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hime Buckler of 105 Laura Street, became the bride of Bernard Harold Klemer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Klemer of 110 Warrington Street. Rabbi Morris Schussheim officiated, assisted by Joseph Schlossberg, former cantor of Temple Beth Israel. A reception followed.

Guests attended from New York, City, Albany, Connecticut, Boston, and Winnipeg, Canada.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of ivory satin, with a jewel neckline of silk net appliqued with seed pearls, and a fitted bodice with long pointed sleeves, and a cathedral length train appliqued with seed pearls. A cathedral length matching crown headpiece with a three tier French illusion net veil completed her ensemble. She carried a bible with a white orchid and stephanotis.

Mrs. Maurice Wine, sister of the bride, matron of honor, wore an aqua taffeta gown with sheer fitted bodice and matching bolero headpiece with orange blossoms. She carried a fan decorated with pale yellow rosebuds.

Jacob Katz, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man. Ushers included Samuel Buckler, Leonard Buckler, Maurice Wine, Abraham Schwartz, Irwin Chase, Fredrick Musen, Donald Jacobs and Harvey Michaels.

The mother of the bride was clad in a dusty rose gown of chantilly lace and nylon net, trimmed with iridescent sequins. The groom's mother chose a gown of Dior blue imported chantilly lace over ice blue satin trimmed with rhinestones.

Following a wedding trip to New York and Washington, the couple will reside at 36 Lenox Avenue.

Non-Partisan Committee Urges Support of Sherwin J. Kapstein

It was announced this week by Mrs. Deborah Hunt Philbrick, secretary and Mrs. Bernard Rapoport, treasurer, that a non-partisan committee of eighty-one prominent citizens had formed to promote the candidacy of Sherwin J. Kapstein for school committee from School District "A". The committee released the following statement:

"We feel strongly that everyone should take this opportunity of electing the finest possible candidate to the school committee for the next six years. It is our feeling that Mr. Kapstein is the ideal man for this position.

"Mr. Kapstein's educational background and his contributions as a private citizen to the program for better schools are matters of public record. He is a graduate of the Providence public schools—Benefit Street School, Doyle Avenue School, Nathan Bishop Junior High School, Hope Street High School—and of Brown University. He has studied also at Notre Dame and Ohio State during the war, and later served overseas in the Navy. He has taught in the school system of Providence, and later was a teacher and coach in the Warwick High Schools. He is married and the father of three children, all of whom are attending public school in Providence.

"Despite his activity as a business man over the last several years, Mr. Kapstein has made it a point to attend almost all the school committee meeting which have been open to the public during this time. For his vigilant devotion to the cause of public education in attending these meetings, Mr. Kapstein has become known as "Mr. Public" of the school committee meetings.

"His contributions as a citizen to our school system were recognized by community leaders such as Mayor Reynolds, when he appointed Mr. Kapstein as a member of the Providence School Survey Commission. His ability, competence and opinion were further recognized by the chairman of the Commission, Judge Jeremiah E. O'Connell, when he appointed Mr. Kapstein to be a member of the sub-committee which prepared the Commission's tentative final report based on the Griffenhagen & Associates' Report plus independent findings of the Commission. His activity as President of the Providence Public Education Council has demonstrated that his primary objective is to provide our youth with the best possible educational opportunities commensurate with the resources of our city.

"The record shows that Mr. Kapstein's educational philosophy and educational position do not represent a "fly-by-night" or "Johnny-come-lately" interest. It has been evolving slowly, maturely over the years, and has not appeared suddenly in this year of the election. The promotion of good education has been a part of his life for a long time. He has unselfishly sacrificed much of his time in order to help make our community a better place through better schools.

"For these reasons we believe that Mr. Kapstein should be elected to the school committee in this crucial time in the affairs of our most important community asset—our children."

The members of the Non-Partisan Committee for Sherwin J. Kapstein for School Committee are as follows: Walter Adler, Prof. George K. Anderson, Mrs. George K. Anderson, Prof. Sinclair Armstrong, Mrs. Henry C. Babcock, Mrs. Elizabeth S. Bagdikian, Abraham Belllove, Dr. Ilie Berger, Prof. Roald K. Bergethon, Richard H. Blanding, Benjamin Brier, Mrs. Sarah R. Brier, Mrs. Harry Brown, Mrs. Bertram J. Buxton, Jr., Mme. Avis Bliven Charbonnel, Dr. Ernest A. Charbonnel, Prof. Ben C. Clough, Gino E. Conti, Prof. Arlan R. Coolidge, Mrs. Arlan R. # SYD COHEN:

Behind the Mike
With Gus Parmet

Have you ever been curious about the goings-on behind a football broadcast? Ever wondered how a football announcer can keep up with the ball carrier and the position of the ball, and still tell you who broke up the play?

Well, we are going to find out right now; so just drop in behind me, and watch your step climbing way up to the top of Brown Stadium. We're going to watch Gus Parmet do a Brown game.

About Gus himself, more later. For now, we are entering the main stands on Sessions Street at the farthest gate to the right, then climbing the seemingly hundreds of little steps leading to the edge of the press box.

You don't see Gus or any signs of broadcasting activity as you enter the press box, which is a long, enclosed affair containing some 35 or 40 seats for writers, officials and guests. At the far end is a door that leads to the broadcasting booth, which is why you couldn't see the radio men from the entrance.

The Booth

Open that door and there, along with his entire crew, is Gus Parmet, with the microphone already suspended in front of, and just below his chin by means of that hoop-like affair that drapes around his neck (like you see often on TV) and keeps him "on the mike" even when he turns his head to one side to follow a play.

Seven men can be seated comfortably at the bench in the broadcasting booth (there are no individual seats). The crew requires the middle five of these spaces. At the left is Bruce Williamson, Gus' announcer who takes over for commercials, reviews of the action during time out, and who conducts interviews between the halves.

To Bruce's right is the engineer, who switches from Gus' mike to Bruce's, controls the volume of the voices and the crowd noises, etc. Gus, the play-by-play broadcaster, occupies the center of the remaining area, flanked by his spotters.

The Spotters

Every time you listen to a game or watch it on TV, you hear about the spotters. Parmet has a good, experienced pair who are accustomed to his style of broadcasting. Gus told me that unlike other college game announcers, he does not get a spotter from each school just for that day's game. He keeps these boys with him all season. In that way, they get to click like a smooth unit.

The spotters have a big job, and a busy one. To begin with, each has a chart containing the names, uniform numbers, home towns, ages, weights and high schools, among other miscellany, of every player on the roster of the school he is to cover. These names are laid out according to position—that is, all the left ends are at the left side, the left tackles next, and so forth. One quick look at the chart, is sufficient to tell Gus what name goes with number 88, etc.

The spotters stick colored pins on the chart at the name of each player who is on the field. So, despite the fact that three left halfbacks may be listed, Gus can take one glance and pick out the name of the right man.

Calling the Game

As the game unfolded (University of R. I. was upsetting Brown that day), Parmet described the play, accurately naming the ball carrier, quickly picking out the correct yard stripe at which the play ended, and often spotting the defensive moves himself. While he is finishing the play, he looks over at whichever chart he needs, and the spotter points with a pencil to the name of the tackler. So the listening audience has the whole picture, from start to finish.

Contrary to what you might otherwise believe, every broadcaster does not have his microphone right smack on the 50-yard line. Gus Parmet tells you about the game from about the 20-25 yard line (the west side, farthest from Elmgrove Avenue and close to Taft Avenue.) When play moves down to the other end of the field, he has to be pretty sharp with his call. But I didn't notice any hesitancy or deviation in the description of the play, the picking out of the players involved or the position of the ball.

To make sure that he doesn't slip up between plays, Parmet keeps his own chart right in front of him. When Brown takes the ball, he marks B for Brown, the number of the down and the position of the ball. He follows that procedure on every play throughout the game, which is why the listening audience does not hear many, if any, flubs in that regard.

Familiar With Teams

Gus shows an easy familiarity with the Brown team and its style and methods. He explains that he absorbs quite a bit of Brown and State lore by attending the Wednesday evening Gridiron Club affairs. Also, he drops around at Brown Field at various times during the week to talk with Coach Alvah Kelley and watch the team practice. As a result, he gets to know some of the mannerisms of the players, which makes his job easier and more accurate from the booth on Saturday afternoon.

On the day of the Brown-State game, Gus Parmet was worried. He had come up with a bad cold the day previous, and was loaded down with aspirins when he arrived at the stadium. Just to make sure, he brought along several packages containing life savers, lozenges, secretets and such, in case his voice went on him.

But outside of the fact that Gus mentioned the bad condition at the beginning of the broadcast, I am pretty sure nobody listening in could have detected anything wrong with his radio voice. He sounded just as strong at the end as he did at the beginning.

Next Tuesday Is A Voting Day

The School Committee election to be held next Tuesday, November third, poses an equal challenge to parents and other interested citizens who either favor or disfavor the actions of the Providence School Committee, and who have a genuine interest in public education.

Those persons who are eligible to vote but who are not parents should not sit back and let the parents do all the work. This is hardly the manner in which to determine how the future generation shall be raised, how it shall learn to govern. There should be no alibis for non-voting. The candidates have made themselves known, and have been fully presented to the public through the press. Transportation to and from the polls is available for those who desire it. A trip to the polls requires but a short break in the day's routine.

Above all, voters should not assume that the issues were settled at the caucus that was held on Oct. 6. A victory or a defeat in that election does not make it so on Nov. 3. Past events have proved that the winner of a caucus may be soundly defeated if his supporters take his election for granted, and that a caucus loser, by marshalling his forces and "getting out the vote" can ultimately be returned victorious.

If you support a particular candidate, and want to translate that support into action, there is but one course to be followed. Go to the polls next Tuesday, and vote.

Condemn New British Policy of Arab Appeasement; Ignores Israel

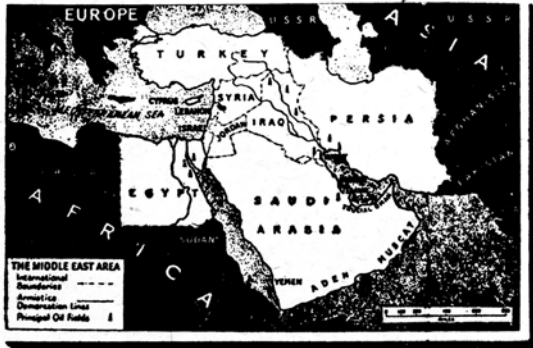

Strong condemnation of a new British Middle East policy, which, apparently, aims at a new effort to appease the Arabs by completely forgetting and ignoring the existence of Israel, the Israel-Arab and Israel-British wars and the Balfour Declaration, is featured in the Jewish Observer and Middle East Review of London, England.

The front page reference to the editorial reads:
"Israel and Egypt Distortions—Central Office of Information 'White Paper' — Recent history falsified; Israel Facts suppressed; and Egyptian dates juggled in the an authoritative picture has long been wanting. To use the reviewer's stock phrase: it filled a gap.

But what gap-filling! After an auspicious beginning, it proceeds to paint a Middle Eastern fantasy composed of carefully selected examples mingled with scrupulously suppressed facts and embellished with purely imaginary events. Any resemblance which this has to the actual situation in the Middle East is not merely accidental; it is miraculous.

The paper, entitled "The De-official Government Information Service survey on Middle East Defense.

Accompanying this analysis is the map shown here, which illustrates the position of the Arabs and the tiny spot occupied on the map by Israel.

The editorial excoriating the British Information Service which bore the heading "Central Office of Suppressed Information," is reprinted from the Jewish Observer and Middle East Review in full, as follows:

At long last, almost at the same moment as President Eisenhower addressed to Congress his outspoken report on the Middle East, the "Central Office of Information" of Her Majesty's Government distributed throughout the world a thirty-page White Paper explaining the situation in the Middle East as the British Government sees it. A note on the cover says that the material in the booklet "is derived from authoritative sources and may be freely used in preparing articles, speeches, broadcasts, etc." Such fense of the Middle East," opens with a lucid, informative and reasonably honest description of the strategic importance of the Middle East. It describes how the British Empire during the last 155 years has fought four major wars against the French, Russian, Turkish, Austro-Hungarian and Italian Empires and against the German Reich (twice) to deny a foothold in this area to would-be conquerors.

It shows, and this is important, that the Middle East was always an essential element in Britain's Balance of Power policies. It shows particularly how the "neutralisation" of the Middle East was an essential element of this policy before the first world war. Mr. Churchill's now famous House of Commons speech was in effect an attempt at a new and revised version of this traditional British policy applied to a world today dominated by the two Russian and American blocs.

But if this new Churchill policy is to have the slightest chance of success, it has to be accompanied by a realistic appreciation of the

Israel, Dulles, and We

The voice of reason and the gush of oil wells, which of the two is mightier?

The appeal to fairness and the jingle of the cash register, which of the two is more heeded?

Painful as it may be, we can not avoid the conclusion that the allure of Arabian oil fields and the promise of big profits, rather than moral indignation, were behind the actions taken by the State Department against the government of Israel.

The English Foreign Office was shocked, and Mr. Dulles was horrified by the attacks on the Jordan village.

Were the events not so tragic for Israel and for peace in the Near East, the shocked and horrified faces of the diplomats would be amusing indeed.

Shocking Events
The English Foreign Office shocked at acts of retaliations? Remember the news reels of recent months showing the hunting and ambushing of the Mao Mao natives of Kenya? Neither the London nor the Washington diplomats were known to be shocked by these retaliations.

And Mr. Dulles, who was horrified by the attack on an Arab village, and who acted so swiftly, too swiftly, to punish Israel, showed no horror at the recent killings and assassinations in Egypt, Iran, Syria, and Saudi Arabia.

Washington and London, the shocked guardians of the peace in the Near East, somehow failed to be shocked by the 421 acts of violence committed by the Arab neighbor against Israel. They were all duly and fully reported by Israel, and they were just as fully and completely fled away and forgotten.

Can it be that Israel was chosen to be the offering of appeasement to the gods of the Arab oil fields?

Convenient Pretext?
Can it be that the unfortunate border incident was only a convenient pretext for a policy decided upon long before the raids?

Why such haste in meting out justice? The United Nations represitation, not by a make-believe attempt to fool ourselves and the world—such as this Central Office of Information White Paper does.

For its account of the history of the last thirty years is characterized by a major suppression of fact with regard to Palestine, and a general distortion with regard to relations with Egypt in particular, and the Arab States generally.

Thus there is an account of the promises made and the treaties concluded after the first world war. All the familiar undertakings to the Arab rulers are recalled; the exceptional role played by Ibn Saud, Hussein, Feisal and Abdullah in defeating the Turks and the Germans is recapitulated; the new states which were set up as a result, are all listed—all, that is, except one undertaking, one people and one country: there is not one reference to the Balfour Declaration, not one to Zionists, not one to the Jewish National Home, just a shame-faced fleeting mention of the "territory of Palestine." As for the word "Jew," that clearly was taboo on each one of the thirty pages.

And so the fantasy continues. Step by step the British set up independent states: starting with Iraq in 1921 and Egypt in 1922 and ending with Palestine in 1948. This change was helped by the conclusion of new Treaties with Iraq, Egypt and Jordan. There was never any difficulty, any difference or any conflict between the British and the Arabs.

There was of course no Arab rebellion in Palestine and no Jewish clash with the Mandatory and, for sure, no Arab-Israel war. Never a ripple disturbed the smooth amicable Anglo-Arab relations, unhampered by the existence of the Arab League—which sentative was still on his way with his on-the-spot report. The Israel ambassador had not as yet been able to state the case of his government, but Mr. Dulles wasted no time to act in anger.

Since when are peoples condemned on the basis of newspaper stories alone? Since when do nations sit in judgment upon friendly nations without the courtesy of a hearing?

No one is more pained by the raids than are the Jews. We curse the night when this abominable act was committed. Not for this did Jews return to Israel. Not of reprisals and bloodshed did Jews dream when they longed and prayed for the rebuilding of the land of Zion.

Jews are not killers of children and old men. The government of Israel does not consist of ribbon bedecked, sabre-rattling militarists. The president of Israel is not a scar faced dictator, but a scholar and a man of high morality.

The guilty ones in the shameful raid will be punished, and all possible measures will be taken to prevent a repetition of such atrocities. Of this we can be sure.

That guarantee the diplomats of the foreign offices can and should demand of Israel, if the interest of peace in the Near East is all they crave for. Peace and order in the Near East can surely not be encouraged by singling out Israel for punishment and siding openly with those who have been provoking these raids ever since the Holy land was partitioned. It can only give aid and comfort to the intrigues of the leaders of the Arab League who thrive on strife and disorder.

Short Memories
Amusing also, if only these were days fit for amusements, is the farce of speaking of the Arab League as forces of democracy against dictators. Comic opera kings, illiterate Sheikhs, oil peddling Shahs, and a budding dictator of Egypt, what has democracy to fear when entrusted in the hands of such loyal guardians? Pour therefore millions into the treasuries of the Arab League, train their armies and equip them, give them all the aid and council. They are the faithful guardians of Democracy in the Near East. But not a penny to Israel, the one place where the money is used for economic growth.

How short are the memories of diplomats!

Where were these friends of democracy when the world was in a life and death struggle with dictators and tyrants? Where was Egypt then? In which camps were the Shahs and the Sheikhs of Arabia?

Mr. Dulles and Mr. Churchill are both Bible reading gentlemen, and they can both profit by re-reading the words of a certain prophet in Israel whose name was Isaiah, and who said:

"Now on whom dost thou also receives no mention in this "authoritative" survey.

When we come to the more recent relations with Egypt the picture is wholly twisted by the substitution of later dates for earlier events and by the attribution of policies to the British negotiators which, in fact, they scorned and rejected at the time. Thus, this paper claims that in 1950 the British Government's view was that Middle East defense was no longer an exclusive Anglo-Egyptian concern, but one for the free world as a whole. Yet at that very moment Field-Marshal Slim was telling the Egyptian Premier that the Americans were not concerned with this problem; it was one purely for the U.K. and Egypt.

This extraordinary "authoritative" survey then proceeds to claim that Egypt was formally approached with this new international conception of Middle East defense "in the spring" of (Continued on Page 10) trust, that thou hast rebelled against me? Behold thou trusted upon the staff of this bruised reed, even upon Egypt, whereon if a man lean, it will go into his hand, and pierce it. So is Pharaoh king of Egypt, to all who trust on him."

Diplomats have short memories, and their senses are often befogged by the smell of oil. But the people of America have not lost their sense of fair play. When the screams of the well planned propaganda operation will subside, the final words of judgment will be said not by the State Department but by the representatives of the people. To them we must appeal for a hearing. Free them we put our trust.

Operation Truth
Israel must now embark upon an Operation Truth. And the truth is that the rulers of the Arab League, far from being a bulwark of democracy, are the bitter enemies of Israel only because this little land is the home and the example of a democratic society in the Near East.

What of us, the Jews of America? Are we to be discouraged by this diplomatic setback Israel is suffering?

If that were to happen, the calamity would be even greater than losing favor in the eyes of the State Department. In this trying hour we must not forget for one moment that:

Mr. Dulles is not America. The United Nations is not drenched in Arabian oil. Public opinion in the end gravitates toward the truth.

And in the meantime we must make up the losses and heal the wound inflicted upon Israel by the decision of the State Department.

Industrial, Union
Banks to Merge

Creation of New England's second largest bank, operating under the second oldest bank charter in the United States, will take effect on Dec. 31 if stockholders of the Providence Union National Bank and the Industrial Trust Co., at their meetings on Dec. 1, vote in favor of the proposed merger approved this week by the directors of both institutions.

The new bank should the consolidation take effect, will be known as the Industrial National Bank of Providence. It will have total resources in excess of $471,670,000, and deposits of more than $431,278,000, handled through 32 offices in this state.

Since the new institution would be formed under the national bank charter now held by the Providence Union National Bank, it would continue to be the second oldest bank in the country. Providence Union presently is Rhode Island's oldest bank, Industrial the largest. Headquarters will be in the banking quarters of the present Industrial Trust Co.

The affirmative vote of shareholders holding two thirds of the stock of each bank is necessary to effect the consolidation, according to the joint announcement of the move. The merger, if voted, is proposed to become effective as of the close of business on Dec. 31.

Announcement of the proposed consolidation was made by T. Dawson Brown, president of Industrial Trust, and Rupert C. Thompson Jr., executive vice-president of the Providence Union National Bank. Walter F. Farrell, president of the latter banking institution, did not attend the meeting because of illness.

Farrell would become chairman of Industrial National Bank, ac-ording to the planned consolidation, and Brown its president.

The consolidation is by far the largest in Rhode Island banking history. Both banks have participated in similar transactions in the past. The Providence Union National Bank was formed through the consolidation of The Providence National Bank and the Union Trust Company in January, 1951. The present-day Industrial Trust Company represents the combination of some 40 banks over the years.

"As the second largest bank in New England," Mr. Brown said, "the new bank puts tremendous resources at hand for businesses in the State. It will be in a position to make larger loans to corporations than either bank would have been able to do before—thus eliminating the necessity of out-of-state banks coming into Rhode Island and loaning to our industries."

"The purpose of the new bank will be to give more and better services to the customers of both banks, through the same people and the same offices."

"All directors of both banks," he added, "will continue to serve the new bank."

1951, and again in the summer and that the Egyptians rejected this. The facts, of course, are that the new approach was not made until October 13, a week after Egypt abrogated the Treaty.

These are but a few examples of this remarkable exercise in distortion. What good does the "Central Office of Information"—and the Government—think can come from this crude falsification of recent history, from the pretense that there is no Israel problem and that there are no Anglo-Arab differences in the Middle East? It is difficult to imagine a greater disservice which they could have rendered at this stage to the search for a solution of the many unsolved problems in the area.

Isserlis Wins Golf Trophy

The Second Flight became the first of the three divisions of the Jewish Herald Annual Golf Tournament to name its champion last weekend, when Milton Isserlis bested Harry Chase 1-up in the final round of match play.

Isserlis' victory was his fifth of the tournament, which began with 32 contestants (in that Flight). Milt qualified for the finals by downing Ben Weiner 2-up in the semi-finals, after Ben had assured his place in the next to the last match by winning on default over Joe Chernick. Chase had fought his way up to the concluding round by downing Walter Serge.

The First Flight, meanwhile, reached the finals, which will be decided between Howard Fain and Max Bender. Fain beat Lloyd Turoff 1-up and Bender downed Moe Kessler 2-1 in the semi-final round. Howie and Max had not played their match as this week's Herald went to press.

In the Championship Division, there was little to report, except that defending champion Dick Loeenberg gained the finals as expected, by winning over Saul Lerman 2-1. Dick will settle the title issue against Julie Bloom.

In the beaten sixteen division, these results had been posted as we went to press:

First Flight—Lester Bernstein over Phil Shaulson by default; George Gerber over Howie Nelson by default; Moe Borad over Maurice Frank by default; Jack Bilow beat Ben Abrams 3-2.

Results here are incomplete, but Dr. S. Lenzer and Mel Frank were to play each other in the semi-final round, the winner to take on Bilow, who won on default from Gerber.

Second Flight—Nat Alterman beat Peter Bardach 4-3; Judah Semonoff won from Warren Foster on default; Gene Aaronson took Jack Broadman 6-5; Don Cohen won on default over Paul Heymann; George Reizen took H. Shore 6-4.

Aaronson will meet the winner of the Alterman-Semonoff pairing, in the semi-final, while Reizen and Cohen tangle in the other semi-final match.

Emanuel Men Mark 25th Anniversary

The Men's Club of Temple Emanuel celebrated its 25th Anniversary last Sunday at a meeting which included the installation of officers for the coming season and the presentation of a gift to the Temple's Religious School. The photos below depict scenes at the silver anniversary affair.

At the left—In commemoration of the Men's Club's 25th anniversary, Dr. Kumins presents to Mr. Aaron Klein, director of the Emanuel Religious School, a four purpose projector to be used in the school's visual education program. Mrs. Klein looks on.

Jimmy Goldman Says:

Although I was greatly impressed with the beauty of all Israeli cities, my visit to Israel convinced me that the future of the nation lies in the region of the Negev. A trip through the first 5 miles of this area is an awe-inspiring sight. Villages have sprung from the barren land. Beersheba, the capital, in less than five years has increased its population more than five times. The reclamation work is proceeding at a rapid rate with the installation of irrigation pipe lines. During my visit I was fortunate enough to witness the dedication of the new road from Beersheba to Sdom on the Dead Sea — opening vast new opportunities for settlement. In Beersheba, thousands of years ago, Abraham built the famous seven wells. It was the thrill of my trip to see two of the wells which are in good condition even today.

The development of the Negev is, nevertheless, still in its infancy. Israel needs not only immigrants to build and safeguard the country but increased financial help. A donation to Israel today will yield priceless returns to the Jewry of the world tomorrow.

Dear Friends:

Before I decided to handle Church Wall Tile at Albert's, I made a careful analysis of all the wall tile on the market in order to be sure I offered my customers the most beautiful, the most practical, and the best value in wall tile the market had to offer. I found all of these in Church Plastic Wall Tile.

Let's take beauty for instance. Church tiles come in 12 beautiful decorator colors which permit installation in solid colors or in combinations to meet the most fastidious taste. Church Wall Tile is practical too. It's a carefully formulated plastic which is impervious to chipping, cracking, warping or fading. It is proof to acids or alkalis. As a practical matter, once installed it's beauty will outlast the house. Now as to cost, Church tile - installed by our experts - is so reasonable in cost as to suit the tiniest budget. An average bathroom can cost as little as $110. And, naturally, every installation carries Albert's famous guarantee.

Since I have tested Church Wall Tile in hundreds of installations, I can recommend it without reservation.

If you're thinking of new walls in your home or store, drop into Albert's and let us show you the beauty, the efficiency, the wonderful value Church Plastic Wall Tile has. Or, if you prefer, call us at Gaspee 1-5513 and I'll have one of our decorators call at your home with samples - no obligation, of course.

Easy payment arrangements are part of our service. I'm looking forward to seeing you.

Excellent Suggestion
 Comedian Bobby Byron was sitting with Eddie Cantor in Madison Square Garden watching the bouts recently. The feature scrap was rather dull, and a fellow sitting behind them started to scream, "I want blood! I want blood! I want blood!" Bobby smiled as he related the incident to us. "Y'know, Ben, Eddie got so miffed at this display of savagry that he turned toward the excited fan and properly squelched him with this, "My dear fellow, if you want blood so badly—may I suggest—you go to the nearest blood bank?"

Benny Leonard's Father Still Going Strong
 Overheard at the Club Samoa: "What a family! She's a backseat driver and he cooks on the dining room table!" . . . Songwriter Al Hoffman, composer of "If I knew You Were Coming, I'd Have Baked A Cake," believes that the most beautiful melody ever written is Rodgers & Hammerstein's "It Might As Well Be Spring." . . . And speaking of songs, the Marlin Sisters have a beaut in the Yiddish Song, "An Eishes Chayil." It's about a good wife . . . The father of the late Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion of the world, who in his prime was the idol of every Jewish youth, recently celebrated his 85th birthday. He's a mentally alert and highly interesting man.—Of his five sons and two daughters, only one son and the women are living. Incidentally, the Leonard surname is Leiner . . . At Lindy's, a comedian whom we hadn't seen for quite a spell sat down at our table. "Where've you been?" we asked. He quipped, "At a Catskill Mountain resort all summer—working—for room—and borscht."

the land that waits for a river...

ISRAEL'S SOUTHLAND — THE NEGEV — thirsts for water and for people. It waits for settlers, for manpower to dig its mineral wealth and grow food in its potentially rich soil, food that will end Israel's shortages.

Now Israel calls for an end to waiting, an end to the Negev's long and fruitless slumber. It is a clear call that you can help answer through the United Jewish Appeal.

A great new plan has been blueprinted. It combines ancient wisdom, modern scientific skill and the vision of democracy.

The plan: to change the course of the Yarkon River now flowing to the sea at Tel Aviv and divert it southward to the Negev.

Think of what this could mean: A giant pipeline transforming now dead land into green fertility. Settlers by the thousands, leaving the squalor of the immigration camp to live with pride and independence on the verdant soil. Food to feed a nation, homes, schools, and youngsters with a future.

Here, too, the endangered and oppressed from other lands could be absorbed by the tens of thousands.

Imagine the power that lies in your hands, the power to change the course of a river, and the course of human lives. So give to the United Jewish Appeal through your local campaign. Give more than ever before... today.
