100 Attend T. And I. Meeting

Some 100 workers attended a breakfast meeting of the Trades and Industry Division of the 1956 campaign of the General Jewish Committee last Sunday morning at the Ledgemont Country Club.

The Trades and Industry division covers practically all of the businesses and industries in the Greater Providence area and plays an important role in the overall campaign of the GJC.

Joseph K. Levy, chairman, outlined the plans for the division in the drive and urged all the workers to extend themselves this year in view of the urgent needs of Israel, the Jews of North Africa and of the local agencies that are dependent on the General Jewish Committee.

Following the speaking and briefing program, cards were distributed to the workers for solicitation.

Others who spoke briefly to the gathering included Benjamin Brier, general campaign chairman; Henry J. Hassenfeld, GJC president; Alvin A. Sopkin, honorary campaign chairman, and Archibald Silverman, honorary president. All the speakers urged quick coverage of cards by the workers.

GJC Total Now At $338,379

The first report luncheon of the 1956 campaign of the General Jewish Committee will be held this noon at the Narragansett Hotel.

Results of today's report is expected to bolster the total combined amount of $301,981 at the Men's and Women's Divisions' Initial Gifts dinners on Sept. 23 at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel. This figure represents a combined increase of more than $40,000 over 1955. Additional gifts since then have brought the combined total to $338,379 prior to the report luncheon.

GJC officials said that the response thus far in this year's campaign has been most gratifying and gifts are running well ahead of last year.

Henry J. Hassenfeld, GJC president, and Benjamin Brier, general campaign chairman, urged the people of Greater Providence to "continue this excellent showing and make this campaign one always to be proud of."

Israel Feels Canadian Jets Will Lessen Tension

TEL AVIV—The recent sale to Israel of 24 Canadian Sabre jet fighter planes has generated the feeling here that any aggression on the part of Egypt could be dealt with. Moreover, any use by Egypt of Soviet bombers would bring a prompt offer by Britain to send bombers to Israel, according to a dispatch to the New York Times by Joseph O. Haff.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said that the planes would "increase the chances of peace by serving as a deterrent to aggression."

Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent declared that his government's decision was "greatly influenced" by the fact that Egypt had received a great number of jet fighters and bombers from the Soviet Union. He revealed that Israel had assured the Canadian government that the interceptors would be used only for defense against aggression.

Military observers estimated that the delivery of the 24 Canadian jets would put Israel's fighter strength on a par with Egypt's.

Israel Ambassador Michael S. Comay, who carried through the six-month-long negotiations in Canada, said the sale of the planes would have a "healthy and stabilizing effect on the tense Middle East situation," and would "correct the dangerous imbalance in armament and deter potential aggression."

The planes are expected to cost $6,000,000.

Canada Rejects Egypt's Protest

OTTAWA — Canada's Minister of Trade, C. D. Howe, rejected this week Egyptian and Syrian protests of the Canadian decision to sell Israel 24 Sabre jets. The matter is a "purely commercial transaction" between the purchaser and a Canadian manufacturer, Howe asserted. "So far as I know, Egypt could do the same thing but hasn't applied."

In Vancouver, Israel Ambassador Michael S. Comay characterized Egyptian protests as "preposterous" and asserted that the acquisition of 24 jet fighters "only partially corrects a dangerous situation created by Egypt." He charged that the Egyptian-Czech arms deal of last year had "inflamed the whole situation" in the Middle East.

Term Agron 'Foe of Torah' As He Arrives; LZOA Replies

NEW YORK—Over 100 Jewish youths picketed the arrival last week of Mayor Gershon Agron of Jerusalem at Idlewild Airport in protest against "his recent activities against religion and religious Jews in Jerusalem."

The demonstrators carried picket signs declaring that "a foe of Torah is not welcome" and denouncing Mayor Agron for "fighting the Sabbath with clubs." Other signs carried by the pickets scored the Jerusalem mayor for permitting the opening of a Reform temple in Jerusalem as a "blow to Judaism."

In a leaflet distributed by the pickets they declared that Mayor Agron is visiting the United States at the invitation of the Israel Bond Organization, in defiance of the request of all major Orthodox organizations that this trip be cancelled.

They also stated that such organizations as the Union of Orthodox Rabbis, Rabbinical Alliance of America, Mizrahi and Hapoel Hamizrachi had officially informed the bond organization that Agron is "persona non grata" with the religious elements in the United States and that his visit here, after setting off such a controversy in Jerusalem, would be considered an insult to Orthodox Jewry.

Claim Incident Involving Army Band Violinist Was Distorted

The case of the Jewish violinist who reportedly was fired from an Air Force orchestra at Bolling Field, Washington, D. C. because he refused to play at a party on Yom Kippur Eve was officially closed this week, when national officials of the Jewish War Veterans disclosed that the story, which appeared in newspapers across the country, was not factually correct.

According to Paul J. Robin of Providence, JWV national adjutant, a careful sifting of the facts by the JWV established that no overt anti-semitism was involved in the incident, and that the story was "unnecessarily distorted at its original writing" and further distorted by wire services.

Joseph F. Barr, JWV National Administrator, said in a letter to Robin that Colonel George S.

Howard, chief of Air Force bands, the Air Force official around whom the controversy stormed, "was simply in the position of not understanding the significance of the Day of Atonement. When this was explained to him . . . the problem was eliminated."

It was learned that the violinist, as well as four other Jewish musicians who allegedly had been coerced into playing on Yom Kippur, actually did attend Holy Day services in Washington synagogues. And the fiddler who started the nation burning when it was thought he was being punished for his refusal to play on Yom Kippur left on Sept. 17 for a 30 day furlough to Europe.

The furlough had been granted previous to the incident—by Col. Howard.

Will Not Permit Mass Migration

LONDON — Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz made it clear at a press conference in Warsaw that the Polish Government will not permit mass emigration of Jews to Israel, although it will permit Jews to leave the country if they can prove that they wish to emigrate to Israel to join their families.

The views expressed by the Polish Premier, are reported in Folkshtimme, a Jewish newspaper reaching here from Warsaw. The paper quoted the Premier as giving the following answer to a question on the possibility of the emigration of Polish Jews to Israel:

"Where the case concerns family reasons, we make no difficulties in granting emigration permits. This can best be seen from the individual permits granted. However, we have no intention to organize mass emigration. This could, among other things, be given false political interpretation. Justified applications are being given positive consideration."

Sharett Embarks On Asian Tour

JERUSALEM — Moshe Sharett, former Premier and Foreign Minister, embarked this weekend on a two-month tour of Asian countries, at request of the Israel Government.

While Sharett carries no specific proposals on this trip, his purpose is to create friendly ties and sound out possibilities in a number of spheres. During the two months he will head an Israeli delegation to the forthcoming Asian Socialist conference in Bombay and will attend the Interparliamentary Conference in Bangkok. His itinerary includes Burma, the Philippines, Japan, Singapore, Ceylon, Nepal, Siam and perhaps several other states.

Deny Report of Delayed Delivery

NEW YORK—El-Al Israel Airlines here issued a denial last week of a report from London which stated that the delivery of Bristol Britannia turbo-prop aircraft to the Israel Airlines will be delayed by three to six months due to technical difficulties.

The El Al statement said that there is a slight delay in the introduction into service of "Britannia 100," but the production of the long-range "Britannia Mark 310" ordered by El Al — is continuing without any delay and that there are no grounds to assume that a delay in delivery will occur. "The current delay on the short-haul version of the Britannia does not affect in any way the production of our own models," the El Al statement emphasized.

tary installations in the Middle East.

The reply of the government, which now bars U. S. servicemen of Jewish faith from the Dhahran Base in response to Arab demands, has not yet been received. Carmen told Sec. Wilson he would also like to visit Western defense bases in Iraq, Iran, Turkey, Morocco and Libya.

WHICH CEMETERY WOULD YOU RATHER VISIT?

Most Americans select their family burial plots in traditional cemeteries that allow them the privilege of erecting a monument of marble or granite. Forever beautiful, always visible, it is not only an eternal tribute to the Dead, but an inspiration to the living.

The park plan cemetery permits only flush metal markers. Devoid of distinction, subject to corrosion, covered with leaves in the Fall and snow in the Winter, the family plot so marked is difficult to find, suffers from monotony.

Moreover, for what it costs to mark the average non-monument cemetery plot with individual flat metal markers, you can purchase a beautiful family monument of granite or marble.

Bridal Dinner
 Miss Evelyn Granoff was honored at a bridal dinner on Sept. 24 at the Wayland Manor. Approximately 80 guests attended. Mrs. Marvin Leon Granoff and Miss Bernice Ruth Hornstein were hostesses.

Miss Granoff will become the bride of Abner Hornstein on Oct. 14 in Temple Emanuel chapel.

Alberts-Schechter
 Miss Adele Schechter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Schechter of 287 Sayles Street, last Sunday became the bride of Franklin Joshua Alberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Alberts of 428 Hope Street. Rabbi Eli A. Bohnen performed the 7 P. M. candlelight ceremony in the Garden Room of the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel. A reception followed there.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in an ivory satin and lace gown, styled with a bodice of imported lace, long sleeves, matching lace motifs embroidered in seed pearls, and with a full skirt ending in a long train. Her cap trimmed with seed pearls held a fingertip veil of imported English illusion. White orchids and streamers of stephanotis marked her white Bible.

Mrs. Albert Surdut, the bridegroom's sister, was matron of honor. She wore a champagne beige gown of imported Chantilly lace with silk tulle accordion pleated trim. She carried an autumn bouquet.

Albert Surdut was best man for his brother-in-law, and ushers were Howard L. Adler, Marshall I. Edelston, Robert Engle, Stanley P. Flink, Marvin M. Konopky, and Lawrence Schechter, the bride's brother.

Mrs. Schechter chose a pink brocaded princess line gown, trimmed with velvet. She wore a white orchid corsage. The mother of the bridegroom was gowned in silk pleated chiffon in a soft candlelight shade with scalloped braiding throughout. Mrs. Alberts also wore a white orchid corsage.

After a wedding trip through the Southern states, the couple will reside in Miami, Fla.

Myerson-Robinson
 At a 6 P. M. candlelight ceremony in a setting of pink and white gladioli at the Crown Hotel last Sunday, Miss Annette Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robinson of 223 Oakland Avenue, was married to Albert Myerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Myerson of Chelsea, Mass. Rabbi Morton Berkowitz officiated at the ceremony, which was followed by a reception in the Empire Room of the Hotel. Miss Selma Malinou was soloist.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was gowned in princess lines of blush pink peau de soie, with a sabrina neckline of Alencon lace, decorated with pearls and sequins, with a chapel length train. Her illusion veil was attached to a crown of sequins. She carried a prayerbook marked with a white orchid.

Mrs. Irving Dworman, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore ballerina length aqua lace and tulle and carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations with white chrysanthemums. Miss Arlene Pierce, another cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing ballerina length blue nylon tulle, and carrying a cascade bouquet of pink carnations. Rhonda Kessler, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She was gowned in pink and carried a basket of pink carnations.

Robert Myerson was best man for his brother. Ushers were Joseph Kessler, Philip Cutler and Albert Levine, all of Chelsea and all brothers-in-law of the bridegroom; Gerald Robinson, the bride's brother; Alvin Gilden, the bride's cousin, and Fred Andler, also of Chelsea, cousin of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride wore a cocktail length dress of mauve lace. Mrs. Myerson chose a cocktail length dress of powder blue lace. They both wore white, orchid corsages.

After a wedding trip to New York, the couple will reside at 1874 Commonwealth Avenue, Brighton, Mass.

Bank Employees To Share Profits

Details of a proposed Employees' Profit-Sharing Plan at Industrial National Bank were announced today by T. Dawson Brown, president. The plan has been recommended by the Bank's board of directors and will be submitted for approval by shareholders at a meeting on Oct. 24.

The bank's contribution to the plan would be based upon a percentage of the bank's net operating earnings before taxes. The formula calls for 7/10ths of 1% to be multiplied by the number of millions of dollars of net operating earnings in order to arrive at a percentage to be applied to such earnings. Thus, as earnings increase, so would the percentage; if earnings decrease, the reverse would be true.

MOM'S NIGHT OUT...

On Israel's 8th birthday, Mom made a night of it standing guard on the settlement watchtower.

Put yourself in Mom's place. It wasn't much of a way to celebrate her country's birth of freedom.

But on Israel's frontier there's no half price for liberty. You still pay in full in eternal vigilance, sweat, tears — and often blood.

Beyond the border is an enemy. In his hands are late-model Communist arms — swift jet bombers, sleek fighters and heavy tanks — weapons for attack.

If Mom thought about these things in the long night on the tower, wouldn't it be natural? If she worried that Israel's people have no arms to match the enemy's, wouldn't one understand?

But Mom — being Mom — thought about the kids. She thought about her own and all the kids who should be growing up healthy and free.

Mom knows her job is on the border, guarding freedom. Just now she can't help bring the kids — and adults — who plead to come from lands of danger. Because she can't — we must. Many tens of thousands must be rescued now.

For freedom — their freedom — give more than before to the General Jewish Committee Campaign and to the United Jewish Appeal.

The Diplomacy of a Fist

The Canadian Government decision to sell Israel 24 Saber Jet fighters will be welcomed by all sober-thinking people acquainted with the current Near East crisis.

Initial announcement of the decision indicated that the sale had been consummated with the full knowledge and consent of our own State Department and Secretary Dulles.

But a high Canadian official now observes that Mr. Dulles did not concur in the decision at all — indeed expressed great reluctance over Canada's move.

After all of this time, when it should be apparent to our Secretary of State that his foreign policy in the Near East has been a total failure, he is still attempting to straddle the fence and court Arab "favor."

His many trips to London during the past weeks in an effort to take the edge off the Suez Canal blow-up were long ago charted by his "expediency." Now desperately trying to stem the fire of Arab nationalism which he originally fanned, Mr. Dulles still isn't sure that the Canadians were right.

All of which reminds us of the Dutch lad who kept the waters of the Zuider Zee from flooding Holland by sticking his small fist into a hole in a dyke. Mr. Dulles may have a fist as effective as that in the fairy-tale; but it would seem to us that he shouldn't object to others — like the Canadians — who have more constructive methods for repairing damage in mind.

This Is My Story How The U.J.A. Helped Me

By PETER BARDACH

Ever since I came to this country I have worked very hard for the United Jewish Appeal. Perhaps some feel I am a little over-zealous in my efforts . . . a little pushy . . . a little too positive in my feelings toward giving. Perhaps they are right, but to me, giving to the United Jewish Appeal is more than a charitable contribution, it is a way of life.

I want to tell you why.

This is my story.

We will have to go back to Vienna in 1938 when I was 17 and I saw the nazis march through my country singing songs of Jewish hatred and carrying out the order of the day—extermination of the Jewish race.

Overnight American Jewish agencies sprang up in Vienna to help the Jews emigrate to kinder lands. I was one of the lucky ones—I got out and went to England.

In London there were at least 100,000 others just like me. Grateful, scared and very hungry. We were not permitted to work by the British government since we were considered transients and the burden of support was all on the Jewish Welfare Agency. Bloomsbury House, its headquarters, had a most efficient organization to help us find ways and means of earning a living in a country that did not permit us to do so.

In my case, two part-time jobs were suggested and between both of them I was able to earn my keep. The employment counselor at Bloomsbury House was in contact with school teachers who were teaching German to English children and a group was organized to meet two evenings a week and converse in German. I was in charge of this group helping the teachers to speak a better German.

The other job was most heart-warming. The small children of European Jewish parents, who had either been killed or were in concentration camps, were sent to England, again under the auspices of the Jewish Welfare Agency, and placed in English foster homes. It was my job to meet the train that arrived several times a week, and to contact each child and unite child with foster parent; introduce children who spoke no English to parents who spoke no German. Not a very easy job, but a most rewarding one.

The Jewish Welfare Agency obtained a scholarship for me at London University where I could study while doing my two jobs.

While I was in England the pogroms were taking place in Austria and I was sure I would never see my father again. But, thank God, he too was spared and arrived in America—devoid of everything he ever possessed.

He sent me an affidavit to come here but we had no money for the fare. The United Jewish Appeal lent me, but did not give me, the money to come here. I signed an obligation to repay as soon as I could afford to do so. And, thank God, I have been able to pay it back many times over. But I will never feel I have paid enough.

From my story, you can see the United Jewish Appeal uses the money it is given wisely. Nothing is wasted and every dollar is stretched to do the most possible good for as many as possible.

My story is a very simple one, it is not a story of concentration camps and sufferings. But,

The Hanging Gardens of Babylon

By BERYL SEGAL

On a Sunday, in the late afternoon, we gathered at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel to initiate the 1956 drive of the General Jewish Committee. We also came to listen to Abraham A. Ribicoff, Governor of Connecticut, who was the principal speaker at the dinner. In the course of his talk Mr. Ribicoff told a little story which somehow stays with me, now two weeks after the dinner, and will no doubt remain with me as the highlight of all that was said and done during the five-hour long gathering in the ballroom.

This story I wish to repeat to you who were not present at the initial gifts dinner.

Before his election as Chief Executive of the State of Connecticut, Abraham A. Ribicoff was a congressman in Washington, and served on the Foreign Affairs committee. In 1951 Mr. Ribicoff and the other members of the Foreign Affairs Committee made a tour of Europe and Asia to see first hand and to report on how the aid sent by America to the many lands is being used and what are the needs of these countries in the future.

At that time Ribicoff visited Israel and the Arab lands, and upon his return he made certain recommendations based on his observations.

An Arabian Visitor

One day he was visited in his office by an ambassador of an unnamed Arab land who came to present the requests of his country. In the course of the conversation Mr. Ribicoff spoke of the remarkable development he saw in Israel. To which the Arab ambassador remarked:

"Israel is like the hanging gardens of Babylon."

Now, you remember the story of the hanging gardens of Babylon, one of the seven wonders of the ancient world. Babylon was a fabulous city built on a grand plan on both banks of the Euphrates River, in Mesopotamia. To protect the city from invaders, the king built a wide wall around the city and diverted the waters of the river to fill a deep we have heard many speakers on that subject.

The United Jewish Appeal returned to me man's most priceless possession—human dignity. Not charity, because that weakens a man's spirit, but a chance to work and a helping hand toward a new life.

I will never forget.

This was many years ago. Hitler is only a horrible memory. But history repeats itself and we are again faced with a crisis. Nasser and his kind are only another Fascism in a new decade and more Jews must suffer.

Please, if it weren't for Jews in America—groups just like you—I would never be here, asking you to help others as I was helped.

Please, open your hearts to the great need of today.

most outside the wall. So immense was the wall that a chariot driven by four horses, so the story goes, could drive comfortably on top of the wall. An ancient freeway.

But the top of the wall was not used as a highway. Instead the stones were covered with soil and planted with trees and flowers. The wayfarer approaching the city saw before his eyes parks and gardens in the air. The hanging gardens of ancient Babylon.

Luxury and Whim

And the Arab ambassador explained his comparison of modern Israel with the hanging gardens of ancient Babylon:

They were both a luxury and built on a whim. The gardens by the whim of a luxury loving king, and the republic of Israel by the whim of the Zionists.

The gardens were kept alive by the labor of thousands of slaves. They carted soil to the top of the wall, they tilled and they planted, and they carried the water laboriously day and night. But when Babylon was defeated, and the king was led in exile, the slaves no longer attended to the garden and the plants withered, the soil dried up and was blown by the winds off the walls, and the very walls crumbled in ruins.

So will be the fate of Israel. The Jews of America are the slaves who fill the soil and till and plant and bring the water for the dream gardens of Israel. But the American Jews will not go on forever with their slave labor for Israel. What if they refuse to carry the burden endlessly, if they get tired of this year-in-year-out giving? What will become of Israel then, asked the Arab ambassador triumphantly.

To this congressman Ribicoff replied:

"But you don't know American Jews. What makes you think that they will get tired?"

And as if to confirm Governor Ribicoff's reply to the Arab ambassador the American Jew in the ballroom of the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel gave generously, willingly, and gave more than the year before.

Getting tired, indeed!
And Mr. Ribicoff might have said to the Arab ambassador:
"And you don't know the Jews of Israel."

In the September number of the monthly magazine Commentary we read an eye witness account of Israel at this moment. After a frank report on the difficulties facing the land—financial, political and economic difficulties, the author of the report, Benno Weiser, ends with these words:

"Under the circumstances, the optimism with which new buildings, new settlements, new factories spring up everywhere in Israel is, even for the most hard-boiled, a stirring expression of persistent courage, as is also the faith which brings, even at the height of its difficulties, thousands of immigrants to Israel's shores.

"Most of the immigrants are refugees from Arab nationalism. Most of them go straight to new border settlement to face Arab nationalism again.

"But now they have a chance to defend themselves."

Do not hasten to compare the hanging gardens of Babylon with the living gardens of Israel. I believe with perfect faith that long after the oil fields of Arabia will have been deserted because there will no longer be any use for them, and the Suez Canal will be a stagnant swamp because no ships will need pass through it, the gardens of Israel will blossom and bring fruit, because they will be tilled and planted, and watered by a living creative people.

10 Ford to Offer
19 New Models

DEARBORN, MICH. — For the first time in its 53-year history, Ford Motor Company will produce two sizes of Ford cars, the company announced today. The 19 new models unveiled by Ford dealers Wednesday, have the highest performance engines ever offered in the low price field.

The new Ford line divides into two basic sizes, Fairlane and Custom, plus the station wagon series, each with its own body and chassis. In addition, the Fairlane series has been expanded to offer "Fairlane 500" models, which have extra luxury features.

The 1957 Fairlane and Fairlane 500 sedans are nine inches longer and four inches lower than last year's comparable models. Custom and Custom 33 sedans are more than three inches longer and nearly three and one-half inches lower than the 1956 models. Station wagons are three and one-half inches lower and nearly six inches longer. Fairlanes and Fairlane 500's are built on a 118-inch wheelbase. Station wagons, Custom and Custom 300's have a 116-inch wheelbase.

There has been no sacrifice of headroom inside the car, in spite of their reduced height. The new frame extends to the sides of the car, and this permits the floor to be lowered inside the frame rails. The design and styling are new from the ground up. Every dimension is changed. Riding ease has been greatly improved by using a longer, wider frame with lower pressure tires on wider treads, and employing redesigned ball-joint suspension in front and outboard-mounted longer leaf springs in back. Because there is more spring length ahead of the rear axle, front end dip on quick stops is checked better than ever before.

THE ULTIMATE DEMOCRACY

At SHARON MEMORIAL PARK, the first all-jewish cemetery of its kind in New England, the beautiful grounds have been consecrated serenely, thoughtfully, with consideration of human dignity. No careless feet shall trample here. No weeds, no broken down tombstones, no unsightly things shall mar the peace and serenity of these rolling acres.

There shall be no rich and no poor here, no mighty and no lowly, no wise and no simple. Here is the ultimate democracy. Dignified, uniform bronze markers in place of headstones of various sizes and shapes. All are equal in death . . . and all the tumult, the joys and sorrows, the honors and hurts that man knew in the world . . . all are gathered up in Eternal silence.

Plan a visit to Sharon Memorial Park with your family. See for yourself how it is developing its wonderful garden plan cemetery where every family resting place is a landscape architect's dream . . . a lovely haven that comforts those who come to revere their loved ones.

The board of directors of the Bureau of Jewish Education will hold a regular meeting on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Bureau library, according to an announcement by Alter Boyman, president.

Special attention will be given to the forthcoming historic conference on "The Manpower Crisis in Jewish Education" to be held in Washington, D. C. under the auspices of the American Association for Jewish Education, of which the local Bureau is an affiliate.

The Providence Bureau was one of six communities in the country which last spring held pre-conference regional programs to lay the groundwork for the national gathering.

For the latter there is a statement, "Your Child's Health and Jewish Education", prepared by Dr. Nicholas M. Loewy, discussing children's capacities for study and recreation.

For teachers, a summary of the last Pedagogic Conference on the "Teaching of Jewish History" is available. A library bulletin, listing the most recent acquisitions to the library, has also been issued.

Curriculum outlines for the pre-Hebrew school and the Hebrew school programs have been prepared, in advance of discussions on curriculum developments in our schools.

Copies of all the materials are available at the Bureau office.

Doctor Discusses Child Development

Dr. Eric Denhoff, pediatrician, discussed differences in abnormal and normal development of children at the Sept. 24 meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Warwick Jewish Community Association.

Plans for the annual dessert bridge, which will be held on Oct. 23 at 8 P. M. at the Warwick Columbus Club, were announced by Mrs. Rubin Zeitman, chairman. There'll Be Some Changes Made

When the golf trophies are awarded a few weeks hence, a new group of champions will be crowned. That much is certain as the result of the happenings to date, particularly in the semi-finals, which were played last week.

The championship division, for example, is already sure of a new champ. Last year's title holder, Murray Trinkle, was eliminated in the semi-final round, along with Maurice (Moe) Kessler, who won top honors two years ago. The two finalists, Saul Lerman and Julie Bloom, are gunning for their first win in this tournament.

Similarly in the other divisions, Ralph Semonoff, Maynard Burt, and Phil Shaulson never have won before, and neither have Ronald Rose and Joe Dickens or Harold Aven, Walt Weisman and Joe Chernick.

Rather unusual, isn't it, for so many new finalists to emerge, especially when the field was so generously spotted with previous winners!

Lerman and Trinkle engaged in a hard-fought match that went to the 19th hole before Saul won out. An oddity here is that when Murray won his championship a year ago, it was at the expense of young Marvin Lerman, Saul's son.

Julie Bloom has been in the finals previously—this column remembers that he went to the last round during the first two tournaments sponsored by this newspaper. On each of those occasions, Dick Loebenberg won out. Last week, Bloom took the measure of Moe Kessler by 2 and 1 in another tough match to gain his third try at the big title.

In the first division, Phil Shaulson edged Irv Chase 1-up, while the battle between Ralph Semonoff and Maynard Burt was unreported at this writing.

Second Division — Ronald Rose downed Frank Supnick in another thriller that went 20 holes before the decision could be reached, while Joe Dickens took a 1-up match from Jack Bilow, who has been in the finals before.

Third Division — Harold Aven beat Jack Swartz 5 and 4, and Walter Weisman and Joe Chernick were still unreported at this column's press time.

Finals Contestants

So the recapitulation for the finals — the championship matches — looks like this: Saul Lerman vs Julie Bloom, Phil Shaulson vs the Semonoff-Burt winner, Ronald Rose vs Joe Dickens, and Harold Aven vs the Weisman-Chernick winner.

We'll know the champs by name next week.

What Price Managers?

The years have proved that most baseball managers usually win with good clubs and lose with poor clubs. To that extent, it is fashionable to deride any manager who is set up in the public prints as a genius, one of the best of all time, etc.

Casey Stengel is the prime example. With poor Brooklyn and Boston National League teams, Casey was able to achieve distinction only by virtue of his clowning. With the mighty Yankees, it is a different story. Stengel now is setting records for winning. The team makes the manager — that's the popular refrain.

On this one point, at least, all must agree. That is, the manager doesn't live who can take a bunch of mosquitos—a definitely inferior club—and win the pennant over clubs that have good players right down the line.

On other points there is room for disagreement, and the events of the past few weeks point up, it seems to me, that there is a difference in managers, and that some can achieve better results than others.

Fred Haney has been around a long time, mostly with poor, discouraged teams. Yet, he picked up the Braves when they were floundering, quickly got them into first place, and kept them there—until last Saturday. That the Braves lost was not due to any strategic errors on the manager's part. There was nothing that could be done that he didn't do in those two disastrous games with the Cards.

Only one thing! Fred Haney was unable to inspire the Braves.

All throughout the pennant battle, the Milwaukee club stayed cool, calm and collected (well, not quite collected—The Dodgers will do the collecting). There was little, if any, outward excitement, practically no emotion (until the pennant had been lost), and even the loss of the title did not seem to affect the team. "Why get excited?" said Del Crandall a few weeks ago.

How different it would have been with a guy like Leo Durocher at the helm! Excitement! You're darn right there would have been excitement! Milwaukee would have been fired to fever pitch each day down the stretch. There would have been arguments, and fights—the players with Leo, Leo with the players, Leo with the fans, and with the umpires, the players among themselves — snarling, bickering, insults, maybe some fist fights.

But the point is that the Braves would have been a FIGHTING outfit — and they would have taken the field every day MAD, and they would have taken out that mad at the expense of the daily enemy.

And you know something? Milwaukee would have run away with the pennant. It's as simple as that.

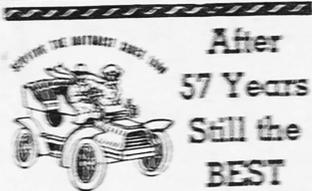

Basically, Fred Haney and Leo Durocher and Bucky Harris and Casey Stengel are equally adept at handling a ball team. But when it comes to lighting a fire under a really GOOD team, as the Braves were, The Lip has, or had, no peer. Given a second division club like last year's Giants, Durocher was at a complete loss, a square peg in a round hole. But, oh boy! What he could do with a contender!

On that basis, I hope he returns to the big leagues.

TOURO OPENS SEASON

Plans for the coming season, including an old fashioned vaudeville show scheduled for the next meeting were presented at Touro Fraternal Association's first meeting of the fall last Wednesday at Touro Hall. William Goldstein, president, presided.

ZIONIST CELEBRATION
The traditional Succoth celebration of the Poalei-Zion and the Farband-Labor Zionist Order was held recently at Temple Emanuel. Max Berman presided.

Mrs. A. Klein spoke briefly of Succoth reminiscences. Dr. A. Klein, back from a trip to Israel, gave an account of the multiple facets of the land, state and people of Israel, and the problems facing that area today. Israeli songs were conducted by Cantor Jacob Hohenemser.

Here Today!

FROM A NEW "INNER CAR" PROVED IN ACTION

came the magic that made possible so wonderfully different a Ford. In the toughest on-the-road tests ever given to a car, this "Inner Ford" demonstrated that a '57 Ford rides you sweet and low . . . that it takes the bumps without a bobble, the curves without the pitch . . . and, that in power, it "takes nothing from nobody!" Nothing on wheels hurries, handles or holds up like a Ford!

A new kind of FORD with the mark of tomorrow

Lowest family car on the road

Only four feet eight inches tall

Everywhere you look it has the "Touch of Tomorrow"

Six or V-8 the going is great!

The Fairlane 500, finest Ford series, features five of the 19 longer, lower, beefier Fords for '57.

Wow! over 17'

You're in for a thrill when you see this new knock-out named Ford! But save your superlatives till you drive it! That's where the fun really starts.

It's fun just knowing that others who see you wish they were you. For you're commanding the longest, lowest, heaviest, biggest car ever to sport such a low price tag. There's head room to spare for a new fall bonnet . . . stretch-out space for a "Daddy Longlegs."

You'll find that the tough and ready new "Inner Ford" is built to take the roughest road you'll care to travel. New outboard rear springs and ball-joint front suspension let Ford take the turns without the tilt. New swept-back control arms help take bounce out of bumps.

Best of all, Fords library-like quiet is built in. And the new "Inner Ford" is why. For never before in Ford's field has there been a body with so much extra bracing so firmly anchored to its foundation. And you can choose from three big Silver Anniversary V-8's with up to 245 horsepower. There's also a new Mileage Maker Six with 144 horsepower, the most modern Six in the industry.

You can pick your Ford tailored to your desires and your budget, too! Choose from nine Fairlane or Fairlane 500 models or from five Custom or Custom 300 models. Or take your pick from Ford's five longer, lower, new station wagons. Whichever model you select, you'll get a car that's been re-invented from the wheels up!

So there's the new kind of Ford. Big! Gracious! Spacious! A luxury car true—but one that any new-car buyer can easily afford. Come in! See what wonder-cars you can buy now at low Ford prices.
